WELCOME BACK

The Massachusetts Daily NEW ENGLAND'S LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY

Collegian

Volume CXIV, Issue 72 UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AMHERST (545-3500) Wednesday, September 5, 1984

Collegian photo by Pam Madnick

The decision will be made tomorrow whether this North Pleasant Street sign will remain.

Bellotti to rule on nuclear act

By TOM MIDDLETON
Collegian Staff

Massachusetts Attorney General Francis X. Bellotti will rule tomorrow on the constitutionality of the Nuclear Free Amherst Act, which was passed by a 101-60 vote at town meeting May 17.

If the entire act is ruled constitutional, it will prohibit not only the production of nuclear weapons or their components within Amherst, but will also prohibit town investment or town contracts which any business produces nuclear weapons or components.

Without waiting for the attorney general's decision, the Amherst Board of Selectmen passed a nuclear-free Amherst resolution by a 4-1 vote Aug. 13. The resolution directs the town manager to grant all new town contracts whenever possible to companies that "are not involved in the production of nuclear weapons."

According to the resolution, the town manager should also consider the needs of the town, as well as quality and price, when awarding contracts.

If implemented, the law would not affect the University of Massachusetts at Amherst because the University already has a policy of refusing to do classified research.

According to UMass director of community relations Gerald Grady, UMass Chancellor Joseph D. Duffey feels the intent of the town meeting act "was understandable and to some extent laudable, (but) he could not support it as written because of its implications for academic research and freedom."

"After several meetings with University amdinistrators," Grady said, "the sponsoring the proposal submitted to the chancellor a revised article. The revisions eliminated most of the objections. There remains some doubt as to whether or not the proposed citizens' committee to monitor research has too much authority."

In effect, the original (town meeting) article was watered down in a manner similar "to the selectmen's resolution," Grady said.

A group of about 20 residents calling themselves "Citizens for Common Sense" has opposed the act in columns in local newspapers and at public meetings.

Andre Ryerson, a member of this group said, "The issue can be contested on two broad grounds. One is constitutional, the second is the issue itself."

"The act would prohibit transportation of nuclear weapons through the town," Ryerson said. This is questionable with regards to the interstate commerce clause and prohibiting scientific research."

"Amherst citizens can't enter into contracts with the United States government? Since when can a town do that?" Reyerson said. "The defense of the nation, of which nuclear weapons are a part, under the constitution is an exclusively federal matter. It is not up to municpalities," he said.

Revisions planned for student code

Arson crisis inspires change

By JOHN O'CONNELL
Collegian Staff

The Code of Student Conduct, the final word on campus rules, regulations and judicial procedures, is going through a process of revision that should result in a changed and "vastly improved code" by next fall, according to Dean of Students William F. Field.

The code is being rewritten for the first time in at least 25 years to bring it up to date with recent campus problems, and to bring it in line with changes being made in residential judicial policies, academic honesty rules, and the revised Student Goverment Assocation constitution, Field said.

Field and Associate Dean Robert Brooks rewrote the code last spring and sent that revised version out to University of Massachusetts administrators, faculty and student leaders. This summer, a group of SGA leaders submitted their own draft, and the two groups are now working out a final draft of the revision.

The two drafts are similar in most parts, and the only source of conflict may be in the "procedural rights of students" section, where there is a disagreement over students' right to be represented by an attorney during disciplinary hearings.

The new rules will contain "language which reflects the current campus concerns with factors of race, religion, sex and sexual preference," according to a memo sent out last spring by Field and Brooks. The new code will also prohibit accessing computer files to tamper with records or invade another person's privacy, and will have stricter and more detailed rules on misuse of UMass ID cards.

"A lot of circumstances have changed (since the code was written) and some things have become unclear," Field said in an interview. For instance, "computer crime didn't exist when the code was written," he said, and "the whole idea of harrassment has changed."

One new section of the code, "Interim Action," appears to have been created in response to confusion over the suspension without hearing a student arrested an arson charges December. Those charges were later dropped for lack of evidence, and the student has filed a $13 million lawsuit against the University and law enforcement officials.

According to the Field/Brooks memo, "the lack of clarity and commonly understood procedures in the current (code) became a broad source of campus concern during the unusal an painful events associated with the residence hall fires during the fall (1984) semester."

Field said that "the procedures for immediate suspension and interim suspension in the current code...could be subject to two different meanings."

The current code states that all suspensions or dismassals "shall be heard by the (University Discipline) Board before becoming effective as a disciplinary action,"

Continued on page 12

Pond polluted over summer

By MICHELLE HYDE
Collegian Staff

Concern for the fish and ducks in the campus pond led to a $5,500 cleanup last June after a "very lightweight oil" spill, according to Physical Plant officials.

The University contracted a Southampton sanitation engineering company to install dams across the spillway to prevent the 10 gallon spill from filtering downstream, and physical plant personel removed and replaced soil near the contaminated part of the pond, said project engineer James Fox.

Since the early June cleanup, the pond has not been tested for oil content, Fox said.

The oil spill was caused by pond water flooding the stage lift and hydraulic equipment inside the Fine Arts Center during June's heavy rainstorms, said Physical Plant operations Director Peter Wozniak.

"It was a very lightweight oil and once it hit the water it spread out into a light film," Fox said. "A very small amount of this type of oil will disperse itself over a very, very large area. It probably looked like there was much more oil."

"Our initial evaluation was that it was somewhat serious, a threat to the pond wildlife, and a more serious threat if the oil filtered downstream," he said.

Continued on page 4

Inside:

Amherst may put fluoride in its water.p.3
Glen Gordon Becomes dean of the social sciences.....p.3
First Week is upon us.....p.5
Black Affairs page welcomes back third world students.....p.8

"Welcome to the human race, with its wars, disease and brutality."

—The Pretenders

Southwest loses furniture

By NANCY A. BUKAR
Collegian Staff

Southwest residents will have now have more trouble than usual looking at themselves in the morning.

Mirrors, lamps and other furniture items have been removed from all Southwest dormitories under a proposed five-year capital improvement plan suggested by the University of Massachusetts Residential Committee.

John Findlay, the assistant director for maintenance operations, said the items have been removed to equate the type and amount of funiture in dormitories across campus. He said items would be removed from only one residential area at a time, beginning with Southwest, because of the limited amount of storage space.

"There are a lot more pieces of property in service in Southwest than anywhere on campus," Findlay said. "We hope to be consistent; everyone should get the same amount of furniture."

The five-year plan has not been approved by the University Board of Trustees, and is not on their current agenda.

The items that have been removed are the property ofa UMass trust fund; permission must be obtained from the Board of Trustees in order to sell the stored items. Findlay would like to sell all the old furniture and credit the money earned by the sale to the trust fund to buy new furniture for the dormitories.

According to the UMass housing contract, which all dormitory residents must sign, the University is not obligated to provide any of the items that have been removed.

"There are too many pieces of property to manage well," Findlay said.

Rick Patrick, co-president of the Student Government Association, said he spoke with Findlay and Joseph Zannini, the executive director of Housing Services, about the students' need for the items that have been removed. Patrick said he sees the removal as a "misuse of resources."

Continued on page 17

WE BUY USED LP'S & TAPES WE BUY USED LP'S & TAPES WE BUY USED LP'S & TAPES

★pond Continued from page 1

Tests taken by the Department of Environmental Quality and Engineering determined that the "small amount of oil picked up did not have a serious effect" on the pond, he said.

After physical plant workers discovered the spill and reported it to the Environmental Health and Safety Department, the primary concerns were gaining control over the "physical fouling" that results from an oil spill, and monitoring the wildlife contained in the pond, he said.

Fox said protecting the ducks that live there was "critical" because they are exposed directly to an oil spillage and are more vulnerable. But Fox said neither the ducks nor the fish were affected by the spill.

"There was a certain amount of knowledge with respect to the magnitude of the problem. As it turned out, I think the judgment was a correct one," Fox said.

"That pond is a very important part of the campus and we'll spend whatever is necessary to maintain it and its aesthetic appearance," he said.

USSA congress 'poorly run'

By JOHN O'CONNELL
Collegian Staff

Five University of Massachusetts students came away disappointed from a United States Association congress in Oregon this summer, and the Student Government Association could be reevaluating its membership in the national student lobbying organization as a result.

Two members of the UMass group said they thought the workshops at the conference were "poorly run," and didn't offer as much new information or as many new ideas as they expected.

The group's travel, housing and conference meal costs were paid for by a $2,151 grant from the SGA, which was approved this summer by the coordinating committee of the Undergraduate Student Senate.

George Vasquez, chairman of the Senate's Third World Caucus, said he would file a report on the trip to the SGA saying the trip "wasn't really worth the $2,000 we spent to get out there."

"Most of the workshops were really poorly run," Vasquez said. He said the workshops are "basically the heart of the conference," and the reason most students go there.

Vasquez said he would "lay out the facts and let (the senate) decide whether they want to continue membership" in the USSA.

Since UMass student government "is so well organized," and "so far ahead" of most schools, the USSA conference had little to offer the UMass students, Vasquez said.

Besides electing new officers and deciding lobbying issues, the 223 delegates to the congress, held Aug. 4-9 at the University of Oregon at Eugene, also caucused, listened to speeches by student and government leaders, and participated in 32 workshops on voter registration, student organizing, financial aid and other student issues.

Vasquez said he did set new ideas on how to "start building or solidifying the (student) coalitions on campus."

Other members of the UMass group were Martha Porter, Bob Cohen of the Campus Center Board of Governors, and Gustavo Guevarra and Lucy Martinez of the Hispanic student group, Ahora.

Martinez was elected as one of two New England representatives to the USSA board of directors during the conference. She said she thought the conference was "kind of poorly run."

"I thought I would go there and learn a lot," Martinez said, but she said she learned almost nothing that she didn't already know from her work at UMass.

USSA, originally founded by World War II veterans going to school on the GI Bill, has a full-time staff in Washington, D.C. that lobbies Congress for legislation that will benefit students.

Read the Collegian !

FUNNYBONES
COCKTAIL LOUNGE
FUNNY HOUR 1 - 7
7 days a week
!!!!! 99¢ Drinks !!!!!
watch our
Comedy Matinee Movie
Mon-Fri at 2:00 PM
Rt. 9 Hadley

HAMPSHIRE BUSINESS MACHINES
SALES TYPEWRITERS SERVICE
Authorized Dealer
BROTHERS, SMITH CORONA
new, used and rentals
321-R Main Street
(corner of Main & Dickinson)
Amherst 549-6177

Campus Card.
Welcome, University of Massachusetts students!
No matter what your schedule or workload is, you can now do your banking at a nearby X-Press 24. There's only one card that lets you do all your regular banking at more than 500 X-Press 24s around Massachusetts – the BayBanks X-Press 24™ Card.
To get your card, just visit our Amherst Office at 75 East Pleasant Street, today. Look for us in the green and white tent there.
You'll receive Free Campus Gifts when you open your account.
Try Something Better.

ROCKY'S
299 Russell St., Rte. 9, Hadley
Hours: M-W 8-6, Th. & Fri. 9-9, Sat. 8-6

4 CUP ELECTRIC HOT POT
Great for students, travelers, singles, etc UL Approved.
4.99

GLIDDEN SPRED LATEX FLAT WALL PAINT
6.99 Gallon
Reg. 9.99

KEY WOUND ALARM CLOCK
63280
EASY TO READ WHITE PLASTIC
5.88

SHARP SOLAR CALCULATOR
Full function. Operates w/natural or artificial light.
6.99
90461

SINGLE BURNER HOT PLATE
60334
Easy to Use Table Stove
9.88

6 FT. EXTENSION CORDS
30139
30140
3 Outlet-2 Wire Cord, White or Brown
69¢

EVEREADY BATTERIES
"C"s (2 pack)-30103
"D"s (2 pack)-30104
9-Volts (single)-32899
Your Choice 1.69

PORTABLE TABLE LAMP
32734
For camping, boating, power failures.
6 volt batt. not incl.
4.99

STEAM & DRY IRON
66744
Light, takes top water. Features SmoothGlide™ satin Soleplate.
15.88

PROCTOR SILEX 2-SLICE TOASTER
66608
Toast pops up automatically. Snap on crumb tray cleans quickly. T620B
10.88

ACE 4 PACK LIGHTBULBS
60 watt-32949 75 watt-32950
100 watt-32951
Your Choice 1.49 Reg. 2.99

ROOM DARKENING WINDOW SHADES
37¼". Provides insulation. Cut to size free.
2.99 Each

TRASH BAGS
65588
65590
Choice of tall kitchen or 33 gallon plastic trash can bags.
99¢

COMBINATION PADLOCK
EASY TO REMEMBER COMBINATION
99¢ Reg. 1.49

BALL POINT PENS
(91643)
6/$1.00

ADJUSTABLE SHELVING
20% OFF
Sturdy shelf hardware goes up in minutes. Brackets top in-support shelves.

Goessman and eight dorms renovated

By MICHELLE HYDE
Collegian Staff

The painting and repairing of eight University of Massachusetts dormitories were among the projects completed over the summer with $2.5 million of a $3 million repair contract from the fiscal year 1984 budget.

In a separate $1.5 million contract, Goessman Laboratory underwent a total renovation, including the replacement or construction for the Physical Plant.

At the cost of $556,000, the laboratories in "new" Goessman, which was built in 1959 behind the original laboratory with interconnecting heating and plumbing systems, were also completely renovated, Ryan said, with new ventilation hoods, electrical wiring and pipes.

In addition to the Goessman project, Webster and Dickinson dormitories received new roofs at a cost of $46,000 each, he said. All the roofs in the Orchard Hill area are slated for repair, he said.

"Complete interior painting" now covers the ceilings, repair of all gas and water pipes and electrical wiring, according to Edmund Ryan, director of contracts and walls and doors in Brown, Coolidge, and Washington dormitories, at a combined cost of $352,000, he said.

In Wheeler, Gorman and Baker dormitories, contractors replaced the toilet seats at a total cost of $89,000, and refinished all the doors in Gorman dormitory.

The exteriors of University and Lincoln Apartments were also painted, at a cost of $73,000.

Goessman Laboratory, which was the scene of an explosion during a chemical experiment last fall, had been scheduled for the repairs before the explosion occured, Ryan said.

Some of our classrooms aren't classrooms.

1. Marksmanship - Instruction in basic rifle marksmanship. Includes range and safety procedures, firing positions, techniques of firing, competitive firing and record qualification. (fall & spring semester)

2. Bay State Rangers - Intensive training and field exercises, to include small unit tactics, patrolling, land navigation (night and day), rappelling, airmobile operations, leadership reaction courses, field problem tests, physical conditioning,and practical leadership experience. (fall & spring semester)

3. Orientation Trip to West Point - Weekend visit to USMA with a look at academic military and social life of an alternative officer producing program for the U.S. Army; review a parade and attend a home football game. (fall semester)

4. Field Training Exercise to Fort Devens - Weekend visit to an active Army post. Orientation to life on a military installation with emphasis on visiting facilities (museum, commissary, PX, family quarters, troop billets, open mess) and an introduction to M-16 familiarization firing and the sport of land navigation. (fall semester).

5. Mountaineering - Instruction in rope management, knots, rope bridges, rappelling, and rock climbing techniques. Advanced student may progress to more challenging individual climbs. Includes a bivouac and overnight exercise. (fall & spring semester)

6. Cold Weather Survival - Attendance at a U.S. Navy 4½-day winter survival school in Brunswick, Maine. Instruction includes shelter building, food and water procurement, edible vegetation, terrain association, snowshoeing, emergency signaling, and land navigation. (intersession)

7. Color Guard - Participate in area parades and with University Band at home football games. Includes precision drill, the manual of arms, and movements with colors. (fall semester)

8. Physical Readiness - A structured program designed to progressively improve individual conditioning. Includes conditioning drills, running exercises, competitive group conditioning activities, and fitness tests. (spring semester)

9. Land Navigation - Progressive land navigation training, beginning with a basic/familiarization land navigation course and ending with a land navigation course that will challenge the most competent navigator (fall semester)

For More Information Contact:
Major James C. Mahoney
545-2321/2322
ARMY ROTC.
BE ALL YOU CAN BE.

First week welcoming us back

The University of Massachusetts will begin the school year with the fourth annual First Week celebration, featuring movies and other entertainment.

The celebration began last night in the Student Union Ballroom with a "Frosh Video Dance."

Delphine Quarles, Student Activities Office coordinator for First Week 1984, said the focus of the event is to "welcome new and returning students to the University and to share with them the kinds of resources available at UMass."

Tonight, Robert White, former U.S. ambassador to El Salvador, will speak at 8 p.m. in the Student Union Ballroom. The lecture will be preceded at 7:30 by the film "Americas in Transition." Both events are free.

A Referral Fair is planned for 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. tomorrow on the library lawn, when Registered Student Organizations will distribute information and demonstrate what they have to offer. The Real Steel Drummers, an authentic Trinidadian Steel band, will perform at the fair.

Also tomorrow, two movies will be shown in the Campus Center. "Local Hero" will be shown in Room 163 at 7 and 9 p.m. "Breaker Morant" will be shown at 7 and 9 p.m. in Room 101.

Two more movies will be shown Friday night. "Educating Rita" will be in the Campus Center Auditorium at 7 and 9, and "Testament" will be in Room 163 at the same time.

The First Week Planning Committee is represented by many on-campus factions, Quarles said, but "the SGA has a lot of people on the committee, and they worked very hard on this."

She said the total cost of the event was $7,500, which came from Program Support Funds.

ABRAXAS◆GALLERY
199 N. Pleasant Street Amherst, Mass. 01002 253-7401
Discover ABRAXAS
For Jewelry
Custom Jewelry
Gemstones
Jewelry Engraving
Mon-Sat 10-5:30 • Thur 8:30 • Sun 12:30-4:30

Computer Works
TERMINAL RENTALS
- RCA - 80 COLUMN TERMINAL - BUILT IN MODEM - MONITOR - SINGLE KEY SIGNON $150
- HAZELTINE 1401 - 80 COLUMN TERMINAL - DIRECT CONNECT OR ACCOUSTIC MODEM $135
- COMMODORE COMPUTER / TERMINAL $99
ALL EQUIPMENT BETTER THAN 3 SEMESTERS NEW 228 TRIANGLE ST.
MON - SAT 10 - 6
549-7133

DELANO'S

"Who loves ya! Baby?"
We do
Welcome Back Twofers
2 for 1 St. Pauli Girl

Plus Our Original
twofers & Hors d'oevres
7 days 7 nights

4-6 pm 10-midnight

Proper ID a MUST
57 N. Pleasant St.
253-5141

WILDWATER OUTFITTERS
93 Boltwood Walk
Amherst, MA 01002
413-253-7779

20% OFF ON ALL PACKS BY: DIAMOND BRAND

KELTY

Caribou MOUNTAINEERING

COMPLETE LINE OF TENTS, SLEEPING BAGS, X-C SKIS AND CLIMBING EQUIPMENT

RUGBY SHIRTS
$35.95
GOOD SELECTION RUGBY SHORTS AND PANTS

WILDWATER OUTFITTERS
93 Boltwood Walk
Amherst, MA 01002
413-253-7779

20% OFF ON ALL DAY PACKS

COUPON EXPIRES 9/30

WILDWATER OUTFITTERS
DOWN FROM BART'S

HAPCO AUTO PARTS

BACK TO SCHOOL SPECIAL

PICK UP YOUR FREE STUDENT DISCOUNT CARD AT ANY HAPCO AUTO PARTS STORE
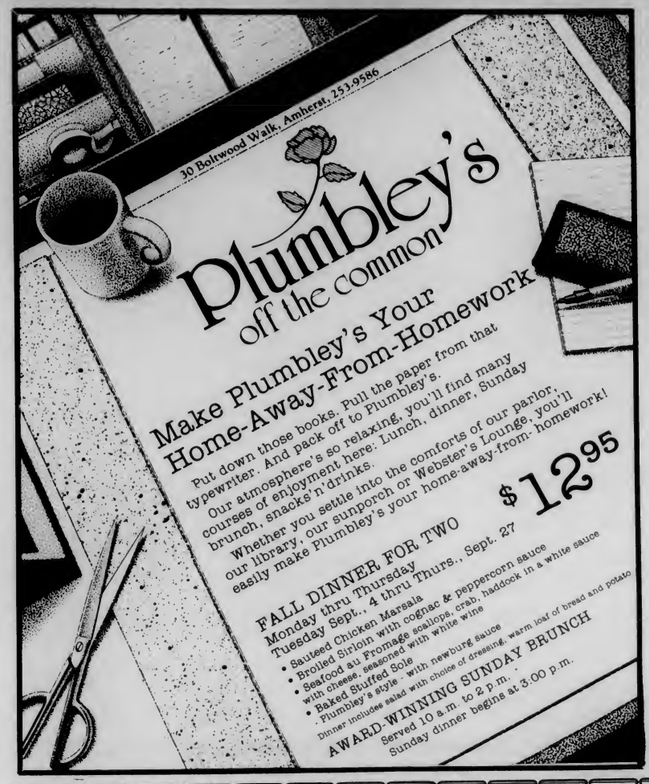
ALL YOUR AUTOMOTIVE NEEDS
FOREIGN and DOMESTIC

AMHERST 534 Main St. 256-6414
BELCHERTOWN 9 Main St. 323-7887
HADLEY 99 Russell St. (Rte. 9) 586-6464

FREE GALLON OF
Pre-Mix Windshield Wash Solvent
This coupon entitles bearer to a free gallon of pre-mix windshield wash solvent a $5.00 purchase.
Offer good thru Sept. 29, 1984. One Coupon Per Customer.



30 Boltwood Walk, Amherst, 253-9586
Plumbley's
off the common
Make Plumbley's Your Home-Away-From-Homework
Put down those books. Pull the paper from that typewriter. And pack off to Plumbley's.
Our atmosphere's so relaxing, you'll find many courses of enjoyment here: Lunch, dinner, Sunday brunch, snacks 'n' drinks.
Whether you settle into the comforts of our parlor, our library, our sunporch or Webster's Lounge, you'll easily make Plumbley's your home-away-from-homework!
FALL DINNER FOR TWO $12.95
Monday thru Thursday
Tuesday Sept., 4 thru Thurs., Sept. 27
• Sauteed Chicken Marsala
• Broiled Sirloin with cognac & peppercorn sauce
• Seafood au Fromage scallops, crab, haddock in a white sauce with cheese, seasoned with white wine
• Baked Stuffed Sole
• Plumpley's style - with newburg sauce
Dinner includes salad with choice of dressing, warm loaf of bread and potato
AWARD-WINNING SUNDAY BRUNCH
Served 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.
Sunday dinner begins at 3:00 p.m.

How to make it in the beginning

By LAURA YEE
Collegian Staff

First year and transfer students, and some upperclassmen who may have forgotten how, can successfully maneuver through the first week of red tape and bureaucracy at the University of Massachusetts.

Add/Drop and Pass/Fail forms are available at Herter Hall, the Campus Center Reading Room and the School of Management this week only. Afterward, forms can be picked up at the Registrar's Office, and all forms must be returned thereby Sept. 18. For some majors, forms may be returned to their major department.

The Records Office will be closed until Sept. 10. There will be an information center in the lobby of Whitmore Administration Building for students who need assistance.

Only students with registration problems should venture to the Registrar's Office during the first week of classes, according to supervisor Marion Markwell.

"To avoid crowds and confusion, students who don't have their registration packets should come to the office. Those who know that their bill has not been paid should go to the Bursar's Office first and get a clear card before they will be given a packet," Markwell said.

For the first week only, student ID cards may be obtained from the Hampden Dining Commons in Southwest. After that, IDs must be paid for at the Bursar's Office and then picked up at the ID office.

An open course list, which will be updated daily, can be found in the lobby of Machmer Hall. The list will also be shown on video in the Student Union Building.

Students with work study awards must have an ID to pick up forms in room 239A Whitmore. An open job list is now available. For those without work study, there will be a job matching service at 9:30 a.m. Sept. 10 in Campus Centerroom 919.

Financial aid excess checks are being processed daily and may be picked up Sept. 12 in the Financial Aid Office, 243 Whitmore. Those in desperate financial need can apply for a short term loan that must be paid back within a month. Certain criteria must be met to be considered for a loan.

the UNIVERSITY STORE'S
TEXTBOOK ANNEX
@ physical plant bldg.

We will be open the following hours for your shopping convenience:

Sept. 4	Tues.	9-5
Sept. 5	Wed.	9-9
Sept. 6	Thurs.	9-9
Sept. 7	Fri.	9-5
Sept. 8	Sat.	10-3
Sept. 10	Mon.	9-7
Sept. 11	Tues.	9-7
Sept. 12	Wed.	9-5
Sept. 13	Thurs.	9-5
Sept. 14	Fri.	9-5

* Remainder of the semester * hours are:
Monday-Friday 9 am-4 pm

Black Affairs

Student enrollment increases

By YADIRA A. BETANCES
Collegian Staff

Third World student enrollment at the University of Massachusetts has increased 1.7 percent over last year, according to the Admissions Office at UMass.

Third World and minority students now make up 8.8 percent of the total student population. As of June, there are 380 Third World students at UMass.

Juan Caban, associate director of admissions, said Third World people add an important aspect to the University. "The added element of diversity allows positive experience for others and an opportunity to partake in the vast resources of the University."

Caban, also coordinator of the minority recruitment program, said he is satisfied with the accomplishments made by the recruitment program, and predicts more increases in the future.

Rudy Jones, assistant director of admissions and coordinator of the recruitment program, said there are three recruitment programs to attract Third World students to the University; a college awareness day, a UMass Preview and a challenge program.

The first two are an attempt to raise student's consciousness about college. The challenge program is an early intervention program used throughout high school seeking to attract talented. But unprepared students to UMass. The program has had a "tremendous effect in the recruitment process. If students are not encouraged in high school, there is no way to recruit them," Caban said.

Third World professionals agree the increase is a concerted effort and commitment to correct past imbalances in student enrollment, but they are cautious.

Although Benjamin Rodriguez, director of the Bilingual Collegiate Program, increase (BCP), is positive about the increse, he said there will be both positive and negative effects. "There will be advancement in education and politics, but what's negative about it is that there will be a lot of frustration due to financial aid cutbacks."

He said there might be students motivated into continuing their education, but due to lack of finances they will be lured to look for alternatives, like the armed forces.

"But I am positive about the future, there is more educational commitment and more desire to get involved in the political process in the state and nationwide. There would soon be a period of equal opportunity for all and progress in all areas," he said.

Sherwood Thompson, director of the office of Third World Affairs, said there should be superior academic support services, more counseling and greater encouragement to complement students' career objectives with activities in order to broaden their academic years at UMass and retain students.

Thompson recommends new students to adapt and maintain a serious attitutde about their academic career and stay out of trouble. He also advises them to study the history of their culture and join campus-wide organizations.

"It will brighten their scope and give them a better feeling of purpose and a stronger commitment to success."

Students tell: why get involved?

By YADIRA BETANCES
Collegian Staff

Coming in from Puerto Rico to the University of Massachusetts, Linda Velazquez found in AHORA "the only little corner where I found familiarity and my own language."

Marilyn Bou wanted to partake in the decision making process vital to the Third World community's future on campus. She joined the Third World Caucus of the Student Government Association.

Eon John, a mechanical engineering sophomore, has found practical experience in theater while working with UHURU and the THIRD WORLD THEATER SERIES.

These three students are among countless others who have found personal growth, invaluable experience and a sense of doing and becoming while working with an organization. But, what does it feel to be involved, to represent one's people, to be a leader•

Bou, an economics sophomore, said joining an organization is "the most rewarding, consciousness raising, cultural enlightened experience a student is handed in life."

Jaqeline Perez, a junior French major, said being involved is getting educated.

"There's a lot of growing into it. If you just get into your books, you're an unaware student. You're not getting educated as much as if you get involved.'9

Perez should know. She was a counselor for the BCP/CCEBMS Summer Program and has been involved in cultural centers on campus residential areas. She also has been a volunteer at the Student Federal Credit Union, the Residential Committee of the Student Cen ter for Educatioal Research and Advocacy (SCERA) and was a Resident Assistant in McNamara dormitory.

Students said being involved means "sharing, knowing, meeting people, making strong friendships and making contacts for job reference.

Perez said being active doesn't take time away from her studies. On the contrary, she said a student learns how to manage time, be more responsible and meet dealines.

Marc Elliot Giles, a junior sociology student and a dee jay for WMUA agrees. He said being involved means "knowing what to deal with when you're out there."

Giles does a record review for WMUA and is BMCP's music director. He also has a show on WTCC in Springfield. "The more you do, the more you can become," he said.

"It makes a difference. You're not seen as a person, you're seen as a member of the caucus, of the senate or whatever."

For others, being involved means gaining a wealth of experience, facing tribulations and gaining personal growth. Inolia Harris, a junior math major, has found all that while working with Spectrum in Motion, a Third World dancing ensemble. She joined looking for an avenue of self expression as a member of the Third World community and as a human.

Aside from obtaining practical experiences, gaining future contacts and a sense of accomplishment, joining an organization "perpetuates the work people have done," John said.

John's active involvement helped him decide a major incorporating theater and technology.

"Anyone not taking an active responsibility in their people's future should take a long hard look at the grave of someone in the struggle," Bou said.

She said university life is all about learning how to survive in the real world and one gets a share of that joining an organization. "By being an active participant in the community you're showing that you care and that counts," Perez said.

Third World organizations on campus:

AFRICAN STUDENTS ASSOCIATION, New Africa House, devises and cultivates closer relationships among African students in the five college area so they may study fundamental problems facing African countries and find solutions.

AFRIK-AM, New Africa House, provides students of color with a support network which strives to meeet the educational, social and cultural/political need so that their experiences at the University may be well-rounded.

AHORA, Student Union, seeks to unite and voice the opinions of different cultures tied together by their common language, Spanish. They provide both the Spanish and the general community with educational and political information in the Latin community throughout the world.

ASIAN AMERICAN STUDENT ASSOCIATION, Student Union, provides the UMass campus with educational, social and political activities from the Asian perspective.

BLACK MASS COMMUNICATIONS PROJECT, Student Union, provides the five college area radio audience with a wide variety of black classical programming, and trains its members in radio broadcasting.

CAPE VERDEAN STUDENTS ALLIANCE, New Africa House, is commited to promoting cultural, political and historical programs in order to maintain a sense of cultural identity at the University.

CONCEPTO LATINO, Student Union, provides the five college radio listening audience with a wide spectrum of traditional and contemporary music from Latin America.

DRUM MAGAZINE, New Africa House, is an award winning Third World student literary magazine that educates the reader on the cultural, social and political lifestyle of Third World people.

NATIONAL SOCIETY OF BLACK ENGINEERS, was formed to advance, stimulate, and develop Black and ethnic minority interest in engineering and to assist with all levels of responsibility in the advancement within the engineering disciplines.

NUMMO NEWS, New Africa House, is a progressive newspaper which expresses the voice of the Third World community.

Leader leaves inspirations behind

By YADIRA A. BETANCES
Collegian Staff

Robert Teixiera has left the Amherst area. "The community is losing a great leader," said Marilyn Bou, external coordinator of the Third World Legislative Caucus of the Student Government Association (SGA) for the 1984-85 school year.

"He is someone I respected and admired. Someone I look up to as a role model," Bou said.

Teixiera graduated last June with a bachelor of arts degree in Afro-American studies. He struggled for two and a half years to institutionalize the Caucus within the SGA.

Teixiera joined the Caucus because he wanted to ensure the validity of the SGA's claim of representing all students.

"I saw a crucial need for Third World students' representation in the SGA."

He was active in the SGA for two years, acting as chairperson of the caucus and once as chairman of the SGA's budgets committee.

George Vazques, internal coordinator for the caucus said he feels Teixiera leaving. "We're losing a dedicated, energetic and commited person."

But he said he is both excited and sad about leaving. "I am excited because I don't know what to expect and I am sad because of the friendships I'm leaving behind.

He said he is also laying many memories to rest, like "people trying to impede the progress of Third World students on campus, especially in the SGA."

Although the memories of UMass will linger, Teixiera is "excited about the new face in life." His immediate goals are to attend law school in two to three years and concentrate in civil liberty and civil rights.

His long range goal is to return to his community in Boston's South End and work that community. "I'll be among real people. People I have struggled with and made progress with. They have had a hard life and a better understanding of what life as about," he said.

For him, this is a natural decision.

"I can easily go to the suburb and get a job," but he said living among his people is a more "satisfying lifestyle than rotting away in a suburbian pit."

He said his experiences at UMss and the SGA helped him grow immeasurably. He learned about himself and his potentials and about the art of politicking. "I have a clearer understanding of the role of politics in the country due to my role in the SGA."

Vazques describes Teixiera as a humble person who took responsibility seriously and often made sacrifices for the welfare of the caucus. He sees Teixiera as both a leader and a role model.

"I'm sorry to see him go. He will no longer be coming and standing up for us but it will now be up to JR (John Ruddock) and Marilyn Bou, (Caucus' external coordinators)," Vazques said.

THIRD WORLD SCIENTISTS SOCIETY, unites under graduate Third World students who have a common goal in science.

VIETNAMESE STUDENTS ASSOCATION serves to strengthen discussions for the challenges and aspirations of Vietnamese students.

UHURU, a performing arts ensemble, offers an opportunity for Third World community members at the university to acquire a broad-based knowledge of procedures neccesary to execute a full scale stage production.

UNION OF IRANIAN STUDENTS, provides an educational forum on the social realities in Iran and the Middle East.

There are also cultural centers in all residential areas offering educational resources, study spaces, film series and a number of social and cultural events for Third World students.

BCP/AHORA to celebrate 10th

By YADIRA A. BETANCES
Collegian Staff

The Bilingual Collegiate Program of the University of Massachusetts and the student Latin America organization, AHORA are celebrating their tenth anniversary this year.

Massachusetts Governor Michael Dukakis has proclaimed September 29 to October 6 as BCP Week in recognition of their anniversary.

The celebration will be highlighted by speakers, and alumni award night, movies, a salsa concert with Ruben Blades and Losseis Del Solar, an art exhibit and a culturally diverse performance.

The BCP was established by AHORA members to assist bilingual students, mainly Hispanics, in taking maximum advantage of the academic experiences at the University. Among the services offered through the BCP are recruitment, admissions, academic personal and financial counseling and tutorial programs.

Taresa Mascarenhas, anniversary chairperson said the anniversary celebration is the beginning for the future of BCP. She said the University community, BCP alumnis and BCP students have been receptive about the celebration.

Mascarenhas said the celebration has made BCP more visible. "BCP has been known to exist, but it hasn't been recognize as it should be."

AHORA's coordinator Linda Velazques said the anniversary has also given the organization more display.

BCP director Benjamin Rodriguez said the anniversary "will recognized what the BCP has done."

Although BCP has not grown as fast and as effective as he wanted, Rodriguez said there has been many gains. Among those gains are the increased staff, BCP's influence in the community encouraging education, and the diversity of students BCP now serves.

But there have also been losses like the lack of resources, space and low salaries.

Another loss Rodriguez has seen in the ten year lapse is the dropout rate among Hispanics in the United States.

The major factor playing here, he said, are the "alternatives" students find in the armed forces. "They just want to make the army as before made up of Hispanics, Blacks and Chicanos."

Velazques said AHORA's future looks promising, the organization to cover other areas of the Third World, establish a network with area colleges and opening lines of communication between the community in the Pioneer Valley and the University. Rodriguez is also optimistic about the future of BCP. "BCP is expanding," he said.

Rodriguez said if the educational arena can be further explored and more advantage is taken in the political system, ethnic minorities will be "in a fantastic position."

Welcome letter

By YADIRA A. BETANCES
Collegian Staff

Welcome to the University of Massachusetts. The 1984-85 school year promises to be the best ever for the third World community at the University. The optimism comes from the increased enrollment of Third World students for the second consecutive year.

The increase enrollment is a terrific sign that will bring long range rewards for the community. But as students and prospective leaders of the community, we must keep the promise of excelling aflame through our time at the University.

We are our community's future and we must work hard to insure its betterment. Presently there are 19 Third World organizations at the University fostering a dedication for cultural retention and professionalism. From the Black Mass Communications Project, a Black radio program, the Third World Caucus of the Student Government Assocation to the Association of Asian Students, students can volunteer their time and talents to help their community blossom.

These groups were created with the new student in mind, offering opportunities for self-development and intellectual growth. But like seeds need water to grow, these groups need people's time, efforts, commitment and dedication to keep functioning for future students.

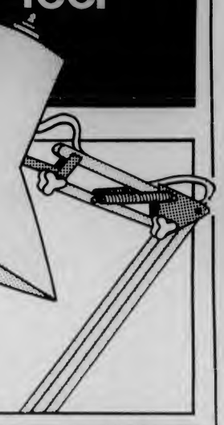
The seed of the future is in everybodys hand and is up to each and everyone to plant it, and see it grow. Do your part. Serve your time so the torch of life keeps burning in everybody should encouraged by your commitment and efforts. Serve your time to make the dream of justice and social equality a reality today.

College years are a time for growth, both educationally and mentally. Take your time to learn more about yourself, your world and your surroundings. Your years at the University may seem as a trial and error experience, but they will enable you to take on harder obstacles later in life.

Join a campus-wide organization to help yourself and yours get a better place in the Americans agenda. En la union esta la fuerza. Force is in unity. Unite to override the obstacles impeding our growth and survival. Unite to become a potent force in making decision vital to our future. Unite for us.

Have a great semester.

the 5th annual everything you need to make yourself feel at home sale.



Lamps
Desk Lamps, Wall Lamps,
Table Lamps, Hanging Lamps,
Bed Lamps, Pin Spots,
Hi Intensity Lamps, Clamp Lamps...
100 Watt Swing Arm
Red Black White Brown Beige
Reg. 18.95
NOW 14.95

TAPESTRIES
Bedspreads
Wall Hangings
Hundreds to choose from
SAVE UP TO 5.00

RUGS
Cotton Weaves, Straws and Stripes
STARTING AT 6.95

BAMBOO SHADES SAVE 20%
All sizes for windows or room dividers

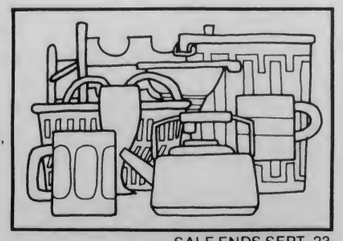
RECORD CRATE KITS NOW 6.95 and 7.95
Made of all natural wood - two great sizes

PILLOW LAP DESK NOW 5.95
Perfect for car, home or dorm

POSTERS - 500 TITLES TO CHOOSE FROM
travel, sports, scenic, photo, personalities, rock & roll...

STRAW WASTE BASKETS 1.95
BEVERAGE GLASSES ..... 89¢
STONEWARE SOLID COLOR MUGS ..... 1.29 ..... 1.99
COLORFUL PLASTIC PARTY CUPS ..... 59¢

HOOKS, HANGERS, WIRE SHELVING, WINE GLASSES, TEA KETTLES, COFFEE MAKERS, PLATES, BOWLS, PLACEMATS, FLATWARE, DISHRACKS, WINDOW SHELVES, BASKETS, ORGANIZERS, SHOWER CADDYS, MIRRORS. BATH STUFF - IS ANYBODY STILL READING THIS?



SALE ENDS SEPT. 23

Open 10-6, Mon-Sat
OPEN FRI. 'TIL 9:00
SUNDAY 12-5
Downtown Amherst

FACES
A Store-full of Ideas

University Library Schedules

LIBRARY HOURS — GOODELL LIBRARY AND THE UNIVERSITY LIBRARY TOWER

First week of semester:
Tuesday, September 4. 8 am - 6 pm
Wednesday, September 5 - Friday, September 7.....8 am - 10 pm

Thereafter, generally
Saturday.....10 am - 6 pm
Sunday.....10 am - 12 midnight
Monday - Thursday.....8 am - 12 midnight
Friday.....8 am - 10 pm

Library Tours
Tours of Goodell Library and the University Library Tower leave from the lobby of Goodell weekdays at 10:30 a.m., 1:30 and 2:30 pm during the first two weeks of the semester. Arrangements for tours at other times can be made at the Reference Desk, Goodell Library, 545-0150.

The Library System

The library system consists of Goodell Library, the 28-story University Library Tower, two science branch libraries, a music library, and several reading rooms. The card catalog is in Goodell, transferred there along with other library materials and services in 1979 after discovery of defects in the brick facade of the University Library Tower. Begin any library search in Goodell.

Goodell Library
Located opposite the Old Chapel, this library is between South College and Bartlett Hall. It contains the University library system card catalog, reference materials and staff, a book collection of about 75,000 volumes; all current periodicals in the social sciences and humanities, and backfiles since 1965 of 1,200 of these titles; more than 1,000,000 microforms; newspapers, a basic law collection; the most frequently used federal and state publications and the government documents office; the interlibrary loan, and library director's offices; course reserve materials; and about 400 study spaces.

University Library Tower
The Tower entrance is on the east side of the building, facing the campus pond. The Tower contains less heavily used material in the social sciences and humanities; the University archives, special collections and rare books, the library business office; and about 500 study spaces on the 26th floor and on the perimeter of book stack floors. It does not contain card catalog or reference services. The collection in the Tower is usually accessible to anyone with a UMass or other Five College photo ID; to a resident borrower's card with a photo ID. Others should inquire at the desk at the Tower entrance.

Physical Sciences Library
Situated on the 2nd floor of the Graduate Research Center, the Physical Sciences Library includes materials in engineering, chemistry, mathematics, water resources, computer science, food technology, wood technology, physics, astronomy, and related fields.

Morrill Biological Sciences Library
Located on the 2nd floor of Morrill Science Center, this library contains biological and geological material.

Music Library
The Music Library, in Room 149 of the Fine Arts Center, houses books and journals relating to music and a noncirculating collection of thematic indexes, scores, and recordings, as well as music listening equipment.

Catalog Information

Card Catalog
The card catalog on the 5th floor entrance level of Goodell Library lists the book and journal holdings of the University library system, including branch libraries and reading rooms.

There are separate catalogs for archival materials and government publications. The card catalog is divided into two sections. The Author/Title catalog contains cards for names of persons and agencies considered to be authors of publications, as well as title cards for most works in the collection. The Subject Catalog contains cards indicating the subject areas of publications; to find the exact terms used, consult Library of Congress Subject Headings on tables near the card catalog.

Pioneer Valley Union List of Journal and Serial Holdings
This microfiche publication lists periodicals in the UMass system (Amherst, Boston, Worcester) and in other major collections in the Pioneer Valley alphabetically by title, with locations, call numbers, and volumes held.

The librarians at the Reference Desk in Goodell will gladly provide assistance in using these catalogs and in locating library materials and information.

Locating Books and Periodicals

Books and periodicals listed in the card catalog are arranged according to the Library of Congress classification scheme. Each item has a unique call number, a combination of letters and numbers, appearing on its label and on the upper left-hand corner of its catalog cards. The call numbers may also include special location designations, which show, for instance, whether a publication is in one of the branch libraries. However, the card catalog will not indicate whether a book or periodical is in Goodell Library or in the Tower; other records must be consulted for this information.

Books in Goodell
These are listed by call number in a red-covered, multivolume computer printout, on tables near the Reference Desk. Books are shelved on four levels, in the front of the building.

Books in the Tower
Books not listed by call number in the Goodell printout are in the Tower.

Periodicals in Goodell
Recent, unbound issues of all social sciences and humanities journals are shelved in the Current Periodical Room, Goodell 506. Backfiles of 1,200 selected titles are bound and shelved on the 2nd floor, three flights down the stairs near the card catalog. Some titles are in microformat; these are shelved in the Microforms Room, Goodell 410. Both bound and microform journals in Goodell are designated in the Pioneer Valley Union List by the location UMAS-UNIV and the phrase "volumes held since 1965 or later in Goodell"; they are also listed in a single blue-covered computer printout kept near the Reference Desk.

Periodicals in the Tower
All UMAS-UNIV periodicals not shown in the Pioneer Valley Union List or the blue-covered computer printout as being in Goodell are shelved in the Tower, in the book stacks.

Library cards
UMass student, staff, and faculty IDs serve as library cards. Five College patrons and other Massachusetts residents seeking borrowing privileges should apply at the Circulation Office, Goodell 512.

Loan Period
Books circulate for four weeks. Unless they have been requested by another borrower, books may be renewed by mail (U.S. or campus), by phone (three-item limit per call), or in person at the library from which they were borrowed. Forms for book renewals are available at the circulation desk in each library. Periodicals do not circulate.

Recalls
Books are subject to recall after two weeks if requested by another reader, and at any time if needed for Reserve.

Reserve Books
Reserve materials circulate for time periods varying from two hours to several days. A photo ID is required to use these materials. They must be returned to the desk from which they were borrowed — in Goodell Library, to the Reserve Desk on the 6th floor, Goodell 615.

Book Returns
Books may be returned to the library from which they were borrowed or to Goodell Library. After hours there is a book deposit box at the Goodell entrance; do not use this to return Reserve books or interlibrary loans.

Resources and Services

Archives
Located on the 25th floor of the Tower, this collection contains several groups of personal and historical manuscripts, as well as material related to the University of Massachusetts.

Art Collection
All art books and journals are shelved in a noncirculating collection on the 9th floor of the Tower. For hours of access check the schedule of library hours, available at the circulation desks.

Audiovisual Department
This department in Goodell 308 supports classroom instruction by distributing audiovisual equipment and films to faculty members, and by producing audiovisual instructional material for them. Enter from outside the building, at the southwest corner loading dock.

Audiovisual Reserve
On the 6th floor of Goodell, this section houses course-related audiovisual materials, and the necessary viewing and listening equipment.

Computer Search Service
Inquire at the Reference Desk, 5th floor entrance level of Goodell, or at the appropriate science library for an estimate of charges and information on computerized literature searches of bibliographic and information data bases in the sciences, social sciences, and humanities.

Computer Terminals
In the Tower, computer terminals linked to the University Computing Center are available for use on the 7th floor.

Five College Libraries
UMass students, staff, and faculty have direct borrowing privileges at the main libraries of Amherst, Hampshire, Mount Holyoke, and Smith Colleges. Material thus borrowed may be returned directly, or to Goodell Library.

Government Documents
This collection includes official publications of the United States, United Nations, and Commonwealth of Massachusetts. Most of these materials are not listed in the main card catalog, but are accessible through special indexes. Consult the documents librarians, Goodell 416, about the use of this collection.

Instruction in Library Use
Course-related library sessions are conducted for graduate and undergraduate classes, at the request of instructors; inquire at the Reference Desk, Goodell.

Interlibrary Loan
Faculty and graduate students may apply at the Reference Desk, Goodell, to obtain research materials not available in the University of Massachusetts library system. Undergraduates may use interlibrary loan service only for materials within the Valley area.

Law Collection
A core collection of noncirculating legal materials is shelved on the 2nd floor of Goodell and listed in a blue-covered computer print out available there and at the Reference Desk on the 5th floor.

Library Orientation Tours
Tours of Goodell and the Tower are given several times a day at the beginning of each semester, and at other times by appointment; inquire at the Reference Desk, Goodell.

Maps
A collection of approximately 100,000 sheet maps—geological and topographic, demographic, and historical—is housed in Room 269, Morrill Science Center.

Microforms
Microtext copies of newspapers, selected periodicals, government archives, and many other types of research materials are in the Microforms Room on the 4th floor of Goodell, along with reading and printing equipment.

Newspapers
Current issues of selected foreign and domestic newspapers are shelved in the Current Periodical Room, Goodell 506. Some backfiles of these, and a number of other newspaper titles, are available in the Microforms Room.

Reference
The 5th floor of Goodell houses the noncirculating reference collection. Reference librarians are available most of the time the library is open to help in using this material and the card catalogs, as well as to provide many other kinds of assistance in making use of the library system.

Special Collections and Rare Books
Noncirculating rare and fragile materials, unusual editions, and individual manuscripts are kept in this area on the 25th floor of the Tower, and are made available for use in its reading room, Room 2563.

General Information

Bicycles, Drink, Food, and Pets are not permitted in the libraries.

Calculators may be borrowed, on surrender of your ID card in Goodell Library at the Reserve Desk on the 6th floor, at the Government Documents Desk on the 4th floor, and at the science libraries.

Change for one dollar bills is available at change machines in Goodell outside the Circulation Office, Room 512, and in the Tower on the main floor near the Circulation Desk.

Elevators in the Tower are programmed so that only 3 and 5 stop at all floors. Take the first elevator which stops, and use the stairs for adjacent floors.

Handicapped Persons who need special assistance should inquire at the Circulation Office, Goodell 512. Special apparatus for the use of partially sighted persons is available in the Tower. Inquire at the Tower Circulation Desk.

Lost and Found in Goodell is located in the Library Office, Room 514 on weekdays and at the Circulation Desk evenings and weekends. In other libraries, inquire at the Circulation Desk.

Photocopying Machines (coin-operated) are located in Goodell on the 6th, 5th, and 2nd floors; and in the Tower on the main floor. A branch of the University Copy Center on the 5th floor of Goodell provides a part-time copy service.

Restrooms in Goodell are located on the 6th, 4th, and 2nd floors; and in the Tower on main, 7, 10, 13, 16, 19, 22, 25, and 2b. There are facilities for handicapped persons in the Tower on the main floor only.

Smoking in the Tower is permitted only in Room 2604 on floor 2b. No smoking is permitted in Goodell.

Study Areas in Goodell are on the 6th floor and on the 2nd floor, and in the Tower on floor 2b and on the perimeter of each book stack floor.

Study Carrels in the Tower are assigned by academic departments most often to graduate students and faculty who are heavily involved in library research.

Telephones in Goodell (both campus and public) are on the 4th floor. In the Tower, there are campus phones in the elevator lobby on all book stack floors, and on the main floor near the exit control desk; public telephones are also near exit control.

Typewriters are provided in the Tower near the Circulation Desk, main floor.

Collegian photo by Andy Heller

Library Directory

	Location (Goodell unless otherwise designated)	Phone
Archives	25th floor, Tower	545-2780
Audiovisual Department	Room 308	5-2454 5-2458
Audiovisual Reserve	Room 615	5-2358
Biological Sciences Library	Morrill 214	5-2674
Central Serials Record	Room 503	5-0738
Circulation Desk Goodell Tower	Room 512 Main floor, Tower	5-2622 5-2138
Copy Center	Room 508	5-2622
Government Documents	Room 416	5-2765
Information	Reference Desk, floor 5 (entrance level)	5-0150
Interlibrary Loan	Room 612	5-0553
Library Instruction	Reference Desk, floor 5	5-0150
Library Office	Room 514	5-0284
Library Tours	Reference Desk, floor 5	5-0150
Lost and Found	Room 514	5-0284
Map Room	Morrill 269	5-2674
Microforms Room	Room 408	5-0150
Music Library	Fine Arts Ctr. 149	5-2870
Morrill Library	Morrill 214	5-2674
Newspapers	Room 506	5-2622
Periodicals Current Bound	Room 506 Room 206	5-2622 5-0420
Physical Sciences Library	Grad. Res. Ctr. 2nd floor — lowrise	5-1370
Reference Desk	Floor 5	5-[illegible]
Renewals	Room 512	5-2622
Reserve	Room 615	5-2358
Special Collections	25th floor, Tower	5-0274

Library of Congress Classification as used in the UMass/Amherst Libraries

A	General Works
B-BJ	Philosophy, Psychology
BL-BX	Religion
C	Includes Archaeology, Genealogy, and General Biography
D	History (General and Old World)
E-F	History (American)
G	Geography, Anthropology, Recreation, and Physical Education
H-HL	Social Sciences (including Economics and Business)
HM-HZ	Sociology, Social Psychology, and Social Problems
J	Political Science
K	Law
L	Education (including UMass theses and dissertations)
M	Music
N	Fine Arts
P-PQ	Language and Literature (Classical, Romance, Germanic, Slavic, Oriental, African), Drama and Cinema, Linguistics
PR-PZ	Literature (American, British, Germanic)
Q	Science (mostly housed in Morrill Biological and Physical Sciences Libraries)
R	Medicine (including Nursing and Public Health (Many works housed in Biological and Physical Sciences Libraries)
S	Agriculture
T	Technology
U	Military Science
V	Naval Science
Z	Bibliography, Library Science

Isn't it time you got an "A"?
The Student Note & Printing Service Can Help!

We offer Lecture Notes for the following courses...

Astronomy 100
Botany 100
COINS 121
COINS 123
COINS 250
Economics 103 B
Economics 104
FS & N 101
FS & N 130
Psychology 150 C
Physics 161
Physics 162
Zoology 102

Student Note & Printing Service
403 Student Union (upstairs)
OPEN: Monday - Thursday 9 to 8
Friday 10 to 3
Starting September 17
546-2271

HEWLETT PACKARD

41CX...$259.99
41CV...$195.99
HP11C..$62.99
HP12C..$95.99
HP15C.....$95.99
HP16C.....$95.99
HP75D.....$879.99
HPIL Module..$99.99
HPIL Cassette or Printer.....$369.99

For the Student
COMPUTER MAIL ORDER
west 800-648-3311 In NV call (702) 588-5654 Dept 500 PO BOX 6689 Stateline, NV 89449 east 800-233-8950 In PA call (717) 327-9575 Dept 500, 477 E Third Street Williamsport, PA 17701
CAMPUS REPS NEEDED
We need Sales Representatives on your campus to sell Hewlett Packard Calculators and other computer products. You'll make generous commissions selling only the finest quality name brands on the market. Call today to see if you qualify for a Campus Representative Kit. No investment is required.

Amherst Insurance and Real Estate
20 GATEHOUSE RD.
AMHERST, MASSACHUSETTS
(413) 253-9387
AUTO, MOTORCYCLE, RENTERS,
HOMEOWNERS INSURANCE
YOUR Independent INSURANCE AGENT
REALTOR

River Valley Ad FREE

CLASSIFIED ADS
call 532-9498
MON. thru SAT. • 10am - 5pm.
Advertise FREE in the locally produced Western Mass. weekly classified magazine-THE RIVER VALLEY AD.
We distribute all across Western Mass. and your ad can reach as many as 800,000 interested readers. Think of the extra cash that these items could bring in, with no risk of losing your advertising dollar if the item doesn't sell.
You can pick up your copy at the local convenience, variety, grocery, and package store. And remember, the best place to SELL is the best place to BUY!!

JB's ROAST BEEF
50 MAIN ST.
AMHERST, MA
across from the Town Hall
(32'30 longitude 46'94 latitude)

MENU

SANDWICHES
REGULAR ROAST BEEF $1.50
LARGE ROAST BEFF 2.35
HOT PASTRAMI 2.35
FISH FILLETS 1.30
CHICKEN SANDWICH 2.25
LONG HOT DOG 1.35

EXTRAS
BACON .25
LETTUCE, TOMATO, ONION .20
CHEDDAR CHEESE .20

FRIED FOODS
CHICKEN FINGERS 2.25
FRENCH FRIES Reg. .70 Lg. 1.10
ONION RINGS 1.25
FRIED CHEESE 2.00
FRIED MUSHROOMS 1.65
FRIED ZUCCHINI 1.40
FRIED PEPPER RINGS 1.75
FRIED CAULIFLOWER 1.40

CONDIMENTS
BARBEQUE, HORSERADISH, SPICY MUSTARD, MUSTARD, KETCHUP, MAYONAISE, TARTER SAUCE

HOURS: 11 AM-1 AM
7 DAYS
PHONE 253-7018

FREE SODA
Per Visit
Limit One Per Customer. Good With Val-Pak+ Coupon Only Through 9-15-84.
No Purchase Necessary.
Good For One Medium Soft Drink
JB'S ROAST BEEF 50 Main St.

★code

Continued from page 1

and says this is so even though the Dean can suspend a student because he feels "that continuance of this student would constitute an immediate threat to the safety, peace or well-being of the University community."

The new code will allow the Dean to immediately suspend students temporarily, but makes provisions for immediate meetings to decide if the suspension should continue.

Field and Brooks have met with Acting Student Attorney General Dakin Ferris, SGA co-president Rick Patrick and Undergraduate Student Senate Speaker Chris Sullivan four times over the summer.

Field said they have agreed on "most" of the document, but he added that "some points are in hot dispute." He said he would like to have the completed draft out for review by the undergraduate and faculty senates in the fall, so it can be approved by the Board of Trustees in the spring and go into effect in the fall of 1985.

The student version of the revised code has more specific or slightly changed language in the sections dealing with ID card misuse and computer fraud and academic dishonesty.

But the most significant difference between the two versions is that the SGA document allows student to be represented by a lawyer or advocate in some cases while the University draft prohibits any legal counselor from speaking for the student defendant during disciplinary hearings.

"In our opinion," Ferris said, "that's 100 percent contrary to getting a fair hearing in this University system."

The student version states that where the University brings charges against a student, or where the complaintant is a member of the University staff, "judicial advocates may represent the person against whom the charges are being brought."

Back To School Special
20% off all 14k earrings

J. AUSTIN JEWELER

on the common, amherst. 253-3986

WOST--WOST--OPEN COURSES--OPEN COURSES--WOST--WOST

187	INTRODUCTION TO WOMEN'S STUDIES MWF 9:05	Nancy Braxton
201	FOUNDATIONS OF FEMINISM: IN HISTORICAL PERSPECTIVE TuTh 2:30	Joyce Berkman
292M	MIDEAST: WOMEN, HISTORY & CIVILIZATION TuTh 1:00	Leila Ahmed
297A	RACE & WHITE SOUTHERN WOMEN WRITERS TuTh 11:15	Esther Terry
298E	CAREER PLANNING FOR WOMEN Fri 10:10-12:15 (2 credits)	Avakian & Melcher
301	FEMINIST THEORY ThTH 4:00	Leila Ahmed
301A	FEMINIST THEORY ThTh 9:30	Ann Ferguson
491F	FRENCH CINEMA lec. M 7:45-9:45 Th 2:30 plus disc. section	Porter & Portuges

FOR COMPLETE INFORMATION CONSULT WOST COURSE GUIDE AVAILABLE AT 208 BARTLETT -- 545-1922

WOST--WOST--OPEN COURSES--OPEN COURSES--WOST--WOST

Students! Work Smart.
Work Simply...With Hewlett-Packard.

Take a good look at your class schedule.

If you're in Science or Engineering, chances are your classes include Calculus, Physics, or Chemistry. Engineering Statics, or Dynamics. You're running up against some tough calculations, with statistics problems, hyperbolics, and logs. The HP-11C calculator helps you breeze through those problems with a few simple keystrokes.

Need to simplify problems that are even more complex? The HP-41CV gives you 128 built-in functions—and the HP-41CX over 200—to simplify your long homework assignments. Use up to 6,437 bytes of memory to save the programs and formulas you use often. And there are thousands of software programs, so you don't have to start from scratch next term.

If you're in Business or Finance, you're probably taking Accounting, Statistical Methods, Finance, and Investment Analysis. Classes loaded with tedious calculations. End the pencil-and-paper drudgery with the HP-12C. The most powerful decision-maker on the market! Dedicated keys make time value of money calculations, amortization, Net Present Value (NPV), Internal Rate of Return (IRR), and statistics solutions as simple as a single keystroke. And it's easy to change values or correct mistakes without reentering your entire problem.

Hewlett-Packard calculators. They help you work smart this term. And next term. And even later on the job. Get your HP today from your local HP dealer.

For the location of the dealer nearest you, call TOLL FREE 1-800-FOR-HPPC.

HEWLETT PACKARD

Count On Us...

with a new calculator compliments of Hampshire Mall! Check out our special Back-To-School issue loaded with terrific values and many coupon offers.

Hampshire Mall

...where you'll find STEIGERS, JCPENNEY, KMART and over 70 other fine shops and restaurants conveniently located under one climate-controlled roof.

FREE Calculator! While Supplies Last!

Shop during Hampshire Mall's Back-To-School Days. Save your receipts from any mall store totalling $15 and exchange them for your FREE calculator at...

★ THE COOKIE HUT
★ JOANN'S NUTHOUSE
★ THE JEWELRY STORE

THE PVTA STOPS HERE!

HAMPSHIRE MALL

SOUTH MAPLE STREET • ROUTE 9 HADLEY MASSACHUSETTS • MONDAY THRU SATURDAY 10-AM-9:30PM/SUNDAY 12-5PM

HAMPSHIRE MALL. . .the place to shop for Back-to-School!

Hampshire Mall

Jonathan Reid

Famous maker brand long sleeve oxford button down dress shirts Reg. $21.00
NOW ONLY $13.99 - $14.99
Entire stock of short sleeve knits Half Price!
Hampshire Mall, Hadley

AMC THEATRES
$2.25 MATINEE & TWILITE SHOW
HAMPSHIRE 4 : 584-7550

Welcome Back Students!
Join in the insanity at the AMC Hampshire 4 Theatres "Midnite Movie Madness" redeem this coupon for one free "Midnite" admission with the purchase of one regular "Midnite" admission
coupon expires 9/15/94

Etonic* Puma* Brooks* Pony* Saucony* Asics Tiger* Converse* Nike* Olympian™ Nike* Puma* Broo

Buy One Pair, Get The Second Pair At Half Price

Saucony Running Shoes · converse · PUMA · PONY

At Olympian We Compete To Win.
Right now buy any of our top quality, brandname shoes at regular price and get the second* pair at half price. If you want only one pair, bring a friend and share the savings!
Olympian has what it takes to win: the best footwear at the best prices.

*second pair is of equal or lower price

OLYMPIAN
We thrive on competition.
Hampshire Mall, Rte. 9, Hadley

Sale ends 9/8/84.

Do you need to rent or buy a telephone?

AT&T Phone Center will be in the Campus Center room 177
Sept. 4 thru Sept. 8
from 10 to 5

Ask about the Free Gift!!

Ask about the three month FREE lease!!

For more information call 584-6666
Hampshire Mall, Hadley

HAMPSHIRE MALL. . .the place to shop for Back-to-School!

Hampshire Mall

Moondance
COMICS
September Welcome Back Sale
FREE POSTER*
with this coupon
see us at the Hampshire Mall, Hadley while supplies last • one coupon per customer

THE Pierced Ear
10% Discount
with this coupon
On Any Non-Sale Item
Free ear piercing with purchase of ear piercing earrings
Good thru Sept 22
Hampshire Mall, Hadley

Fashions of India
Large selection of Manisha Jeans & Cords
50% off 14kt gold silver chains ½ prices
Holyoke Mall, Holyoke, MA 01040, 532-5494
Hampshire Mall, Hadley, MA 01035, 586-3812

LOGO PARIS FRAMES. SHEER ELEGANCE.
High-Fashion Nylon Rimless Frames
- Lightweight for all-day comfort
- Extremely strong and flexible
- World's leading rimless frames.

Ask for FREE Contact Lens Demonstration

COUPON
$15.00 off Complete set of Eyeglasses or Contact Lenses or 40% OFF the second set of prescription eyeglasses or sunglasses when purchased with a complete set of eyeglasses at the regular price. Offers preclude previous discounts. (Discount applies to lesser price.) pair Offer good thru Oct. 15th, 1984
Vision Showcase
Your locally owned Optical Shop
Hampshire Mall/Hadley, MA.
(Across from KMART) 584-8324

Custom Hairstyling for men and women
PRECISION HAIRCUT $12.50
Complete with shampoo & styling
Hampshire Mall
Hadley, MA
Mon.-Sat.
10:00 - 9:30
586-6182
NO APPOINTMENT NECESSARY
GREAT EXPECTATIONS
PRECISION HAIRCUTTERS

RUG REMNENTS
Rainbow of colors
A dazzling sweep of plush carpeting in breath-taking colors.
4x6 at 12.99
3x5 at 7.99

---

lamps
Everybody's looking at our lamps in a new light. Here is a sample of our beautiful brighteners.
desk lamp $20.
swing arm lamp $30.

JCPenney
Hampshire Mall
586-5505

---

creative tee-shirts
CUSTOM PRINTED SPORTSWEAR
☆ T-Shirts ☆ Painters Caps ☆ Jackets ☆ Baseball Hats ☆ Sweatshirts
☆ GREEK LETTERING
☆ LETTERING WHILE YOU WAIT
☆ QUANTITY DISCOUNT
Fraternities Sororities Clubs & Teams
Hampshire Mall 586-9205 Hadley

THEO'S AUDIO ANNUAL
99¢
Back to School Sale
Purchase any home receiver, receive a turntable for 99¢
Purchase any car stereo and get your choice of speakers for only 99¢
Purchase any portable "Boom Box" and receive headphones, batteries, and lifetime service warranty all for 99¢
Come by and see what less than a dollar can buy you this week only at Theo's Audio in the Hampshire Mall, Hadley

YOU'RE HUNGRY!

IN FACT YOU'RE STARVING, STARVING FOR SOMETHING OTHER THAN BURGERS AND PIZZA. SO WHY NOT TRY WHAT THE "IN" CROWDS EATING.

YAMATO
JAPANESE FOOD

AND WITH MANY THINGS TO CHOOSE FROM INCLUDING TERIYAKI CHICKEN, YAMATO BEEF AND SUSHI YOU'RE SURE TO FIND YOUR OWN FAVORITE. SO GET WITH IT, EAT AT

YAMATO'S

HAMPSHIRE MALL
HADLEY

New! At the Hampshire Mall

Homemade Waffle Cones

Homemade Ice Cream

Make Your Own Flavor
with our fresh ice cream & fruit, nut, candy or cookie mixins.

You can create hundreds of different flavor combinations as well as yummy combinations of sundaes
TRY ONE TODAY!

JOLLY GOOD
ICE CREAM & MIXINS
Cafe Square, Hampshire Mall, Hadley

Zaca Trading Company

Hampshire Mall
Hadley

End of Summer Special

Wicker Peacock Chairs

only $29.95

Short on Space? Try our wicker barrel back chair $19.95

Buy the Best—
Eastpak Back Packs $12.99

Case-hardened Chains to secure your bike 3ft. $1.59 & 6ft. $2.99

Glassware, bakeware cups, glasses. . .always cost less at Zaca's.

TOOLS !
$1.99 - $22.99

One Dollar Off
any purchase of $3.00 or more with this coupon.
Good thru 9/30/84
VALUABLE COUPON

Greeting Cards & Giftwrap... always HALF-PRICE!

ZACA! We always sell for less!

Rent a VCR or Disc Player
WITH THIS COUPON
only $9.95* per day
Includes One Movie
*Deposit Required

Student/Faculty SPECIAL. . .
One-year video club membership
reg. $49.95
$24.95
with this coupon
(2 VALID ID'S REQUIRED)

Sylvania 13" Color TV
only $229.95
while supplies last!!!

Dealer and Service Center for Canon, Philco, Quasar, RCA, Sylvania and other video set recorders.

the VIDEO EXIT inc.
Hampshire Mall, Hadley 586-9400

THERE'S STILL TIME.

Late registration for fall day and evening credit courses is held Sept 5 - 18. Day courses are on a space-available basis; written permission is required.

Records & Registration Office
University Library, Rm. 104
Mon. - Thurs. 9 a.m. - 7 p.m.
Fri. 9 a.m. - 5 p.m.
Sat. (Sept. 8 - 29) 10 a.m. - 1 p.m.

Registration for Credit-Free Workshops may be made by telephone 545-0587 or in person.

Records & Registration
University Library, Rm. 111
Mon. - Fri. 8:30 a.m. - 5 p.m.

or in the

Records and Registration Office
University Library, Rm. 104
Mon. - Thurs. 5 p.m. - 7 p.m.
Sat. (Sept. 8 - 29) 10 a.m. - 1 p.m.

Payment may be made by cash (until 5 p.m.), check, VISA, or MasterCard.

DCE DIVISION OF CONTINUING EDUCATION
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AT AMHERST

Summit Leather

Back to School Specials and a great layaway plan

SUMMIT LEATHER
we service what we sell

Hampshire Mall
Top Quality Leather clothing & accessories at reasonable prices
586-2014

★southwest

Continued from page 1

"The restocking money (for the new furniture)is not accounted for. The money must be raised and the students will probably end up paying for it," he said.

"As a service to the students, they should leave the furniture there and give the students the option to buy," Patrick said. The unused furniture is now stored in Southwest.

Zannini said, "I think it is our intent to improve residential halls for the students." But he conceded the loss to the students.

"We did not do the job as well as we could have," he said.

This summer, the Housing Office notified all dormitory residents by mail that mirrors, bulletin boards, soft chairs, telephone tables and desk lamps would not be provided. Mirrors would be replaced during the semester and intersession, Findlay said.

Furnari Keepsake Diamond Center
Welcomes Students Back with a

20% Discount
on everything in stock
Diamond and Birthstone Earrings, Necklaces, Pendents, Rings & Watches Including many of the top watch makers
Seiko
Pulsar
Citizen

This offer will expire Sept. 31, 1984 so stop in today!!

Furnari Jewelers
Hampshire Mall, Hadley
10% discount for students on all non-saleable merchandise

TYPEWRITERS: A THING OF THE PAST?

I want your papers, yesterday!
My Keypro is printing it now, you'll have it today!
My typewriter is broken! How about an extension?!

Extinct
A single word for the typewriter that seems to say it all.
But there's a monstrous reason why we at KAYPRO can make such a bold statement.
The KAYPRO Writer's Pak bridges the gap between the past and the future...between typewriters and computers.
Finally the complete system for all your school needs!
• KAYPRO's "TYPE-IT" allows this system to be used as a typewriter while you learn its' other capabilities.
• The Writer's Pak will type more than 200 words per minute! (You probably type about 60wpm.)
• The Writer's Pak will correct all your spelling errors. Just think! No more whiteouts, typeovers or misspelled words! Every correspondence is letter perfect!
• The Writer's Pak will show you a full 13 lines of script and REMEMBER almost 200 pages of text!
• The Writer's Pak will also do super-scripting, sub-scripting, bold face type and more!
• The Writer's Pak will do full text editing, inserting and even format your pages!
• The Writer's Pak will run your form letters and collate your mailing lists!
• Financing and store credit available.
The best part is that the KAYPRO Writer's Pak is complete! There is nothing else to buy, and the total price for the Writer's Pak is probably LESS than most so-called memory typewriters.
If you've been contemplating the purchase of an electronic memory typewriter at the prices they're asking for them, you're living in the stone age.
Look into KAYPRO's Writer's Pak and bring yourself up to date.

Printer shown has optional tractor feed.

KAYPRO
WRITER'S PAK
$1895. COMPLETE!*

*Suggested retail price

RAILROAD SALVAGE

RAILROAD STORES

EVERYTHING IN THE STORE

RAILROAD STORES

SALE
NOW GOING ON

• VISA • MASTER CHARGE • PERSONAL CHECK OR CASH •

WHEN YOU BRING YOUR PURCHASE TO THE REGISTER
CASHIERS WILL DEDUCT

25% OFF

EVERY ITEM IN EVERY DEPARTMENT
EXCEPT MOPEDS WHICH ARE ALREADY PRICED AT 25% BELOW DEALERS COST

BROADLOOM CARPET • FURNITURE • HARDWARE • DOMESTICS
FAMILY CLOTHING • SHOES • TELEPHONES • STEREOS • TOYS
HOUSEWARES • SPORTING GOODS • LIGHTING • LUGGAGE • PAINT

HERE'S A FEW EXAMPLES

Corelle CORNINGWARE DINNERWARE
72% OFF
20 PIECE SET SERVICE FOR 4
VALUE $52.99 YOU PAY $14.99

MATTRESS AND FOUNDATION

TWIN SET	FULL SET	QUEEN SET
YOU PAY $75.00	YOU PAY $89.99	YOU PAY $119.99

TOP OF THE LINE MATTRESS AND BOX SPRING

TWIN SIZE	FULL SIZE	QUEEN SIZE	KING SIZE
$760.00 VAL.	$900.00 VAL.	$1090.00 VAL.	$1380.00 VAL.
YOU PAY $240.00	YOU PAY $315.00	YOU PAY $366.75	YOU PAY $496.00

11'6"x11'8" DINING CANOPY
COMPLETE WITH ROPES, POLES AND STAKES
VALUE $39.95 YOU PAY $14.99

SORRY NO LAYAWAYS • ALL SALES FINAL • NO RETURNS

HAMPSHIRE MALL RT 9 HADLEY, MASS				CANAL STREET TURNERS FALLS, MASS
Weekdays 10 - 9:30	Sat. 10 - 9:30	Sun. 12 - 5	SALE ENDS SEPT. 12	Weekdays 10 - 9	Sat. 12 - 6	Sun. 10 - 6

RAILROAD SALVAGE

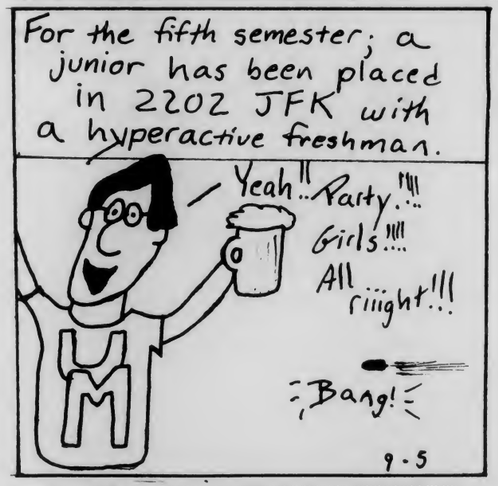
BLOOM COUNTY by Berke Breathed

CINEMA 32
WANNA CATCH A FLICK?
POSSIBLY.
UH. OH. HERE'S SOMETHING RATED "PG-13".
WHAT'S "PG-13"?
"WARNING: NOBODY EVEN NEAR THE AGE OF 13 STARS IN THIS FILM. THIS MOVIE CONTAINS INTELLIGENT DIALOGUE, REAL-LIFE THEMES AND NOTHING THAT RESEMBLES A PARKED MUPPET."
CINEMA 64
UGLY TREND.
I DO NOT LIKE THIS.

Salutations by Gorde

FALL, 1984, BAKER HALL AT U.MASS
PAYDAY
UNDA-DAY UNDA-DAY UNDA-DAY OH!
HMM, I THOUGHT I HEARD YOUR LOUD VOICE
FINKO! WHAT'S HAPPNIN?
HEY!
JUST CONVERSING WITH OUR NEW NEIGHBORS
GREETINGS, LADIES! I'M MANGO JAKE!!
TRY ONE OF MY TROPICAL DRINKS AND YOU'LL SEE WHERE I GOT THE NAME

Ultra Mass
E.L.M.
Hey Swan Don't Talk to a Loser.
Can't Be THAT Bad Kid, Hey Morton Come over here a sec.
Ducks Pushing Me From Behind... Mom told me to stop talking to Swans.
GLUPPP!
Strange and Powerful Chemicals ooze into his body, tormenting both mind and soul transforming this poor man into a paradox of his time!



For the fifth semester; a junior has been placed in 2202 JFK with a hyperactive freshman.
Yeah!! Party!!!... Girls!!!! All riiight!!!
Bang!
9-5

THE AMHERST DELICATESSEN
In the Carriage Shops, Amherst, since 1975!

On-Campus & Apartment Delivery Available • 549-6314

• Overstuffed Sandwiches
• Foot-Long Subs
• Fresh Soups & Salads
• Bagels & Lox
• N.Y. Cheesecake

THE AMHERST DELICATESSEN
233 No. Pleasant St., Amherst • 549-6314
Open Mon.-Sat., 9 a.m.- 10 p.m. ...Sun., 9-6

DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE

Edited by Trude Michel Jaffe

ACROSS
1 Barn pests
5 Poultry pen
9 Maltese and Manx
13 Unknown: Abbr.
14 Lamp dwellers of legend
15 Take on
16 Posh home, London style
17 Ding ——
18 Ready for publication
19 Part of a curve
20 Member of the flock
22 Part of 16 Across, formerly
24 —— Park, Col.
25 Volcanic rock
27 Glacier
31 Permitted
33 Rivulet
36 Gardener's need
37 Wimbledon winner, 1975
38 Trot and canter
39 Clue
40 Shoshonean
41 Sex appeal
42 Cuts into cubes
43 El ——, Conquistador's quest
45 Beef cut
47 Overcomes
50 Milk snakes
53 Oater
56 Women's gp.
57 —— dancers
58 Musical composition
59 Word for a Ranger
60 Word on a ristorante menu
61 Polo and chess
62 Kind of ranch
63 Sow
64 Country's Campbell
65 Street sign

DOWN
1 Family members
2 Passive
3 Locomotive attachment
4 USNA grad
5 That: Fr
6 Postpone (with "put")
7 Pen noises
8 Farm enclosures
9 Before cake
10 Helper
11 Tour
12 Tennis point
14 High winds
20 Calf's cry
21 Mild oath
23 Fromagerie purchase
26 Swindle
28 Get cold feet
29 Tops
30 Family favorites
31 Praise
32 Ratio term
34 Place to mend
35 Old English letters
38 Zero
39 Hart's partner
41 Lyric poems
42 Art style
44 Overseas
46 Rabbits' kin
48 Add up
49 Froth
51 Musical movement
52 Overwhelming victory
53 Gopher's habitat
54 Watch the pretty ones go by 55 Utopia
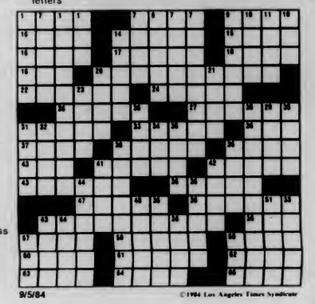
57 Bombast
59 Brit. peers

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE:

C	A	B	A	L		S	A	I	C		P	R	O	P
A	G	O	R	A		T	I	N	C	A		H	O	N	E
F	O	L	K	S	I	N	G	E	R		R	U	S	E
E	G	O		C	A	G	E		O	N	A	G	E	R
			S	A	G	E		C	L	O	S	E	T	S
G	I	G	O	L	O		P	E	V	I	S
A	V	I	L	A		M	O	I	R	A		T	O	M
L	A	L	O		T	I	L	L	S		O	I	N	E
A	N	A		S	U	L	K	S		R	A	T	E	O
			L	A	N	K	A		C	E	R	I	S	E
S	A	T	I	R	E	S		A	R	F	S
C	L	A	N	G	S		E	M	I	A		C	A	B
R	A	F	T		T	R	O	U	B	A	D	O	U	R
A	M	I	E		E	I	N	S		L	A	A	T	E
G	O	A	L		R	O	S	E		N	Y	L	O	N

9/5/84



9/5/84 ©1984 Los Angeles Times Syndicate

Today's DC Menu

LUNCH
Italian Hoagie
Eggroll/Soy Sauce, Duc Sauce

BASICS LUNCH
Vegetable Grinder
Eggroll/Soy Sauce, Duc Sauce

DINNER
Devonshire Sandwich
Roast Top Round of Beef/Au Jus
Tomato Torte

BASICS DINNER
Seafood Supreme
Tomato Torte

Meeting for all Collegian
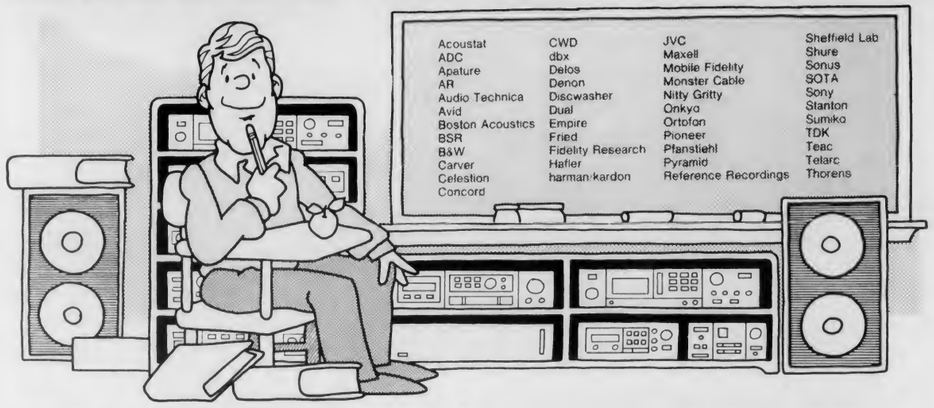
copy editors, AMEs and layout techs
2 p.m. today in the newsroom

Introducing. . . a New Course
Judaic Studies 391A
MODERN JEWISH THOUGHT
Tu Th 9:30
Tobin 422
Prof. Berkovitz
545-2550

OPEN TILL 9:00 P.M. EVERY NITE THIS WEEK

FACES
A Store-full of Ideas
Downtown Amherst

Stereo with Class.



Acoustat	CWD	JVC	Sheffield Lab
ADC	dbx	Maxell	Shure
Apature	Delos	Mobile Fidelity	Sonus
AR	Denon	Monster Cable	SOTA
Audio Technica	Discwasher	Nitty Gritty	Sony
Avid	Dual	Onkyo	Stanton
Boston Acoustics	Empire	Ortofon	Sumiko
BSR	Fried	Pioneer	TDK
B&W	Fidelity Research	Pfanstiehl	Teac
Carver	Hafler	Pyramid	Telarc
Celestion	harman/kardon	Reference Recordings	Thorens
Concord

Basic Economics

SONY. STR-VX250 Receiver
JVC LA-120 Turntable
SHURE M92E Cartridge
BBR 82 Speakers

$299

Mass Communication

SONY. STR-VX350 Receiver
PS-LX310 Turntable
Shure L727E Cartridge
Boston Acoustics A60 Speakers.

$499

Applied Physics

ONKYO TX-15 Receiver
JVC LA-120 Turntable
ortofon OM-5E Cartridge
Boston Acoustics A40 Speakers

$379

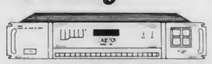
Music Appreciation

ONKYO TX-35 Receiver
TA-2022 Cassette Deck
Dual CS-515-65 Turntable
B&W DM-110 Speakers.

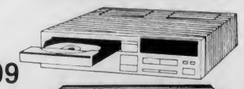
$869

Independent Study

CARVER Receiver $749



SONY. CDP-200 Compact Disc Player $399

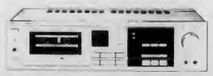


PIONEER KP-2000 $119

Library Science

harman/kardon CD-191 including calibration $330

ONKYO TA-2022 including head cleaning fluid $149

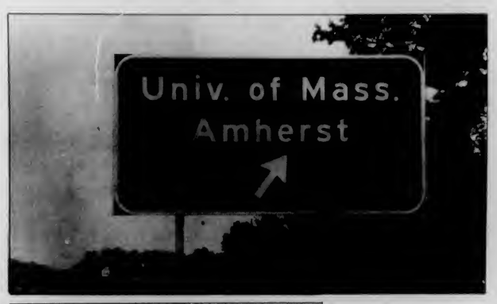


All components are pre-tested and backed by Sound & Music's factory authorized service department. A two-week return privilege and a six-week lay-away option are available.

Sound & Music

90-92 King St. (Rte 5), Northampton • Mon-Sat 10-5:30, Thu 'til 9
VISA, MasterCard, American Express • Financing Available • 584-9547

Living...



By RITA MURPHY
Collegian Staff

For many students, the first time they see the University of Massachusetts the word campus is quickly replaced by the word city. In many ways, UMass is a city. A city snuggled smack in the middle of the town of Amherst.

Amherst, with a year round population of 33,229 became about 20,000 people richer yesterday, an influx which has both advantages as well as disadvantages.

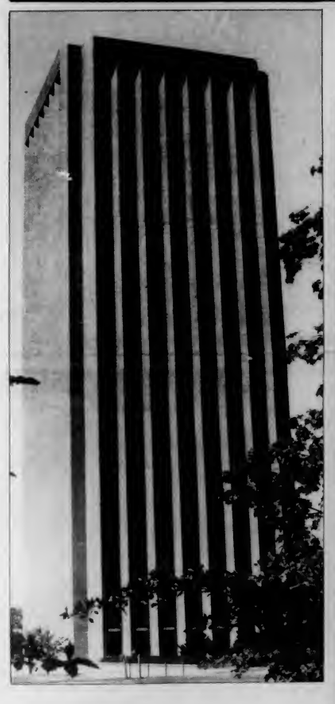
For some, particularly downtown businesses, the school year brings new customers which inevitably brings profits. The summer, which was by no means dead in Amherst, was not exactly a boom for businesses. Some businesses used the summer to get ready for the second busiest time of the year.

"When the students come back, that's when we do business. The summer is really nothing compared to school the year, especially the beginning of school," said the manager of downtown Faces, who refused to give his name.

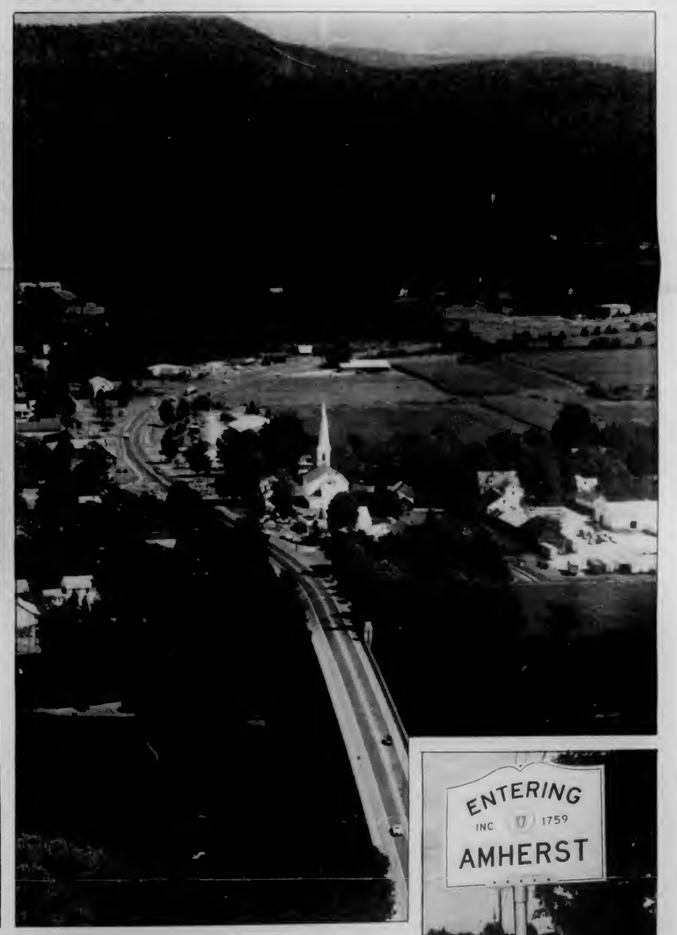
This first week is also a busy time for area banks which benefit from students who had summer jobs, or who need a place to deposit that recent student loan check.

"The students start off with pretty healthy balances, then as the year goes on they usually keep going down," said Joe Guercil, branch manager of the Amherst based Northampton Institute for Savings.

Continued on page 12



in...



a city...

INSIDE:
Possible discrimination in housing.....p.3
Closeup of Nuke Free Act.....p.5
Chancellor Duffey welcomes students.....p.8
Happy hours in Amherst.....p.15

"Give it time, and before you know it, this place will really feel like home," —Unknown

within a town...

Something new!
Something Fresh!
All leather skimmer flat accented with metal grommets.
Grey, red, tan.

SHOE BIN
187 n. pleasant st. amherst

Pioneer Valley Data Equipment

SPECIALIZING IN STUDENT RENTALS

-VIDEO TERMINALS-
-PRINTERS-
-MODEMS-

RENTALS AS LOW AS $100.00 PER SEMESTER
259 TRIANGLE STREET, AMHERST 549-1017
Mon: 8:30 - 6:00 Tues-Fri: 8:30 - 8:00 Sat: 10:00 - 5:00

La Cazuela
THE MEXICAN RESTAURANT AT RAHARS

SOMETHING NEW
Distinctive Mexican food and drink, carefully prepared and served in a graceful atmosphere evocative of the American Southwest

Try La Cazuela soon, in downtown Northampton

Lunch: Tuesday - Saturday
Dinner: Tuesday - Sunday
Closed Monday

586-0400
7 OLD SOUTH STREET • NORTHAMPTON

USED PAPERBACKS
ACADEMIC & POPULAR
LARGEST STOCK IN WESTERN MASS. OVER 35,000 BOOKS
in all subjects, old & recent.
VALLEY BOOK SHOP
Carriage Shops
Downtown Amherst
549-6052
Open Thurs 9/5 & Fri 9/6 til 8:00 pm
Regular Hours Mon-Fri 10-5:30, Sat 10-5, Sun 1-5

SPIRIT HAUS

Amherst area's largest selection of imported and domestic wine and liquor.

- Catering for all YOUR small or large parties
- Cold Kegs
- Ice
- Returnable bottles and cans welcome

OPEN 10 am - 11 pm
253-5384 or 256-8433
Rt. 9 East Amherst

Collegian photo by Andy Heller

These University of Massachusetts students find off-campus housing hard to find.

Housing tight as dormitories open

By RITA MURPHY
Collegian Staff

The annual housing crunch is on.

With roughly five to six thousand new students seeking housing in the residential halls, University of Massachusetts Housing Assignment Coordinator Gerald Quarles said he expects a "normal but hectic opening."

"The first week is a sorting out process. It's never easy but things should go about as usual," Quarles said.

Housing expects only about 10 percent of the approximately 11,500 students seeking on-campus housing to have trouble and as the first week of school progresses that number should shrink considerably.

All but about 70 students should receive housing by the end of the week and they should be housed in a few weeks, Quarles said.

"Without a crystal ball we can't really predict how things will end up. Last year there were some junior and senior students that we never could house," he said.

With limited space, first year students are given priority over upper class students in room assignments.

"We don't try to ignore upperclassmen, but when a person walks into the Pioneer Valley for the first time, well who's going to need the support the most?" Quarles said.

Housing has reserved 26 rooms in the Campus Center hotel for students not assigned a dormitory room. Other students will be temporarily housed in swing spaces in the residence halls. Swing spaces are rooms not designed as permanent living quarters but which will be equipped with at least a bed and dresser.

Last year, due to overcrowding problems several swing spaces on campus became permanent rooms for some residences, Quarles said.

The housing office has been "running hard since June" trying to get prepared for the first week but the true test, Quarles said, won't come until the first students, who arrived Sunday, are housed and fully settled.

"Our most anxious time is when they open the doors. It's hard to really say when the most hectic time is because that's like trying to answer 'which poison is strongest'," he said.

Residents who are unhappy with their room assignments may try the swap board outside of the housing office in Whitmore. A lottery will take place in a few weeks for those residences who are unable to swap or find a satisfactory solution to housing problems.

Orwell's 1984? No, UMass' 1988

By RITA MURPHY
Collegian Staff

They have been clutching onto those orange maps for three days now. They have been walking around campus a bit bewildered, a bit amazed, with their eyes wide open. Who are they? They are the newest members of the University of Massachusetts community.

They are the class of 1988.

While a few of the first year students, for one reason or another, did not show up on Sunday, for the most part they are all here and they, like the classes which came before them, have their own identity.

There are some 4,000 strong, first year students now roaming the UMass campus and 50.5 percent of them are men, for non-math or statistic majors that means 49.5 percent are women.

High hopes are attached to this new class. They have had the highest combined SAT scores of any class before them and are, according to UMass Chancellor Joseph D. Duffey "potentially the strongest class yet to enter this institution." (See story p.8).

The average verbal and math scores were 470 and 525, up six points over last year. The average high school rank of those who applied to UMass was in the upper 28 percent.

This years class is made up of 8.8 percent minorities compared to 7.1 percent last year, an increase of 36.3 percent.

The class of 1988 have traveled far and wide just to come to this campus. They are from 40 different states and 20 different countries, but still the majority, 78 percent to be exact, list Massachusetts at their legal residence.

Most of the class of 1988 are new members of the College of Arts and sciences, 65.6 percent of them in fact. The majority of the remaining are in the schools of Engineering, Management, and Food and Natual Resources.

So there you have it, the class of 1988 in a nutshell. A class that has four years to decide which path will lead to their chosen field. And a class that has four years to figure out that those little orange maps make pretty good paper airplanes but can end up getting some people lost, stuck somewhere between Cashin and Cance.

Here in the valley, there's plenty to do

by LAURA YEE
Collegian Staff

When the last class is finally added, the living situation settled and the bottles empty, it's time to get a taste of what the Pioneer Valley has to offer.

For those of us who can't get enough of what inspires us intellectually, the Valley has more museums than you can count on your fingers and toes. Just to mention a few, at Amherst College alone, there's a museum of art, natural history and the Pratt Musseum of Geology. For the area's thespian's, there's the Robert Frost Library right in Amherst along with romantic poet Emily Dickinson's home on exhibit. It's open to the public but by appointment only. The town Chamber of Commerce has that number. And don't forget about Memorial Hall Museum on Old Deerfield which has an array of relics on display.

To really get back to the basics, try the Farm Museum on Route 9 in Hadley. Here is where you can really turn back the hands of time and experience the simplicity of the earlier centuries.

And it may not be Newport Rhode Island, but Northampton has some historical homes that will make your head turn twice. The Northampton Historical Society can give you that scoop.

Then be good to your senses and sight and frolic to Smith College's Lyman Plant House. You'll be able to treat your nose to almost every delightful floral scent available. The flower and plant haven has an entrourage of many exotic and rare flowerbeds with some names you probably won't even be able to pronounce.

If your feet are still holding up at this point there's more...

Mount Sugarloaf State Reservation is every romantic's dream come true...kind of like Lovers Leap, you might say. The thighs can get a rigorous workout, especially if you choose the steeper of the two routes up, or there's also access for cars to drive right to the top, but only until dusk.

On a clear day, you can see forever; or at night, the sparkling Connecticut River and the surrounding town lights can be more enticing than imaginable. Wait for a few weeks to pass and it will be a great place to view the foliage., What's even better to the budget is that it's free of

Continued on page 13

Housing charges discrimination

By LAURA YEE
Collegian Staff

Men and minorities are having trouble finding housing this fall due to possible discrimination, according to the director of the Off-Campus Housing Office.

"Minorities and males are having the biggest problems finding housing," Joanne Levenson, director of Off-Campus Housing said. "They're victims of discrimination and prejudice."

"We'll have a minority student or family come in and tell us that a landlord says that the apartment has been taken and then we'll call and they'll say it hasn't been taken," she said. "Landlords are prejudiced."

Levenson said a Black family from South Africa had been looking for housing without avail until the office "went to great lengths in negotiating with the landlords" before the family could be placed.

"If you've got an accent, you might as well forget it. It's racism and prejudice," she said.

Levenson estimates that 90 percent of the vacancies want females rather than males.

"If landlords and roommates want women just because they supposedly know how to cook and clean, they should just say so."

Undergraduate males seem to have the worst luck finding housing, Levenson said.

David Demkl, a senior civil engineering major said he is running into "a lot of problems finding housing" because of his sex.

"Everyone emphasizes female. Sixty to 70 percent of the ads want female and it makes it much harder for me. They figure women are quieter and that undergraduate males are noisy and disruptive," he said. "They're looking for older students."

"It's sexist," art history major David Cashdan said. "Practically everyone of the listings want females and I've had no luck. I've been here (housing office) off and on all summer."

Families are also feeling the frustrations and problems of finding housing.

"One landlord said we couldn't move in because of our child. She told us that kids depreciate the house," art major Silver Singh said.

Real estate offices and landlords in the area have been plagued by students looking for housing all summer. Manager Judy Johnson of Townehouse Apartments said she has been receiving between 50 to 75 calls per day for the past three weeks.

"There aren't any apartments available and there really haven't been any since May with the exception of two," she said.

Levenson said a number of people are taking advantage of the scarcity of housing.

"Some students are renting out apartments and then renting out to others and making a profit," she said.

Office is asked to vacate space

By ANDY GOULD
Collegian Correspondent

Off-Campus Housing (OCHO) has been infomed by a Whitmore Administrator to move from its office in Hasbrouck Hall by next week, temporarily leaving it without space, according to its director.

Vice Chancellor for Academic Affairs Dennis Madson sent a letter to the Recognized Student Organizations (RSO) in July saying the office would have to leave its current space for academic reasons. Off-Campus Housing director Joanne Levenson was notified of the decision by the Director of Student Activites Division Randy Donant.

"We were told we would have to move out because academic space was claiming the area" and that "there seems to be no suitable place to put without displacing someone else," Levenson said.

Madson was unavailable for comment.

The RSO, which allocates room assignments for student organizations, is working with the Student Government Association (SGA) to help find a suitable office for Off-Campus Housing.

Randy Donant, Director of Student Activities Division said "RSO and SGA are trying to come up with a positive solution because there is no doubt of the need for a service like OCHO."

RSO is trying to beat the relocation deadline for Off-Campus Housing as mid-October because it is such a busy time at the office in September, he said.

The office was moved from Munson Hall to Hasbrouck in Fall 1981 when a rooming assignment contract was signed in which "space was contingent upon the demands of faculty need...and the University just received a major grant that has priority to the space," Donant said.

Levenson said she "is confident that some compromise site can be reached, but staying in Hasbrouck would be ideal...because a majority of the users are 'first-renters' and people who are hassled and need an environment that's client-centered so they don't feel additional stress."

"It was not clear to me why other offices that have central locations they don't need are not asked to move elsewhere. We serve a lot of handicapped people, women with children, and have a lot of daily foot-traffic," she said.

Third World Affairs plans array of events

By YADIRA A. BETANCES
Collegian Staff

Workshops and special events are among some of the Office of Third World Affairs (OTWA) plans this academic year to help develop organizational dynamics and leadership.

The development of a Third World Student Advisory Committee, a Third World film festival, a leadership development workshop a martial arts and personal development program and a conversational Kiwa Hili language course are among the innovations offered by OTWA.

OTWA's director Sherwood Thompson said this year's activities, as well as their annual socio-cultural and political events were created to expand student's academic spectrum brighten their scope.

Thompson said he views this year with optimism and new hope. He sees the incoming Third World students energetic and with a willingness to learn.

"I'm excited about the leadership development workshop," he said.

The weekly workshop will provide organizational dynamics and leadership to officers and Third World groups, Thompson said.

He said the advisory commitee will "coordinate and share the scarce resources among Third World groups." Thompson said it will also eliminate conflict of scheduling and broaden the cultural and political programs as well as "allowing the exchange the similarities and differences as groups."

Thompson said the Kiwa Hili language course is for those who are planning to go to the annual United Nations Women Conference in Kenya, Africa this summer. Kiwa Hili is an east African language spoken in Africa.

Master Abdul Mumeet Sabir Sharif, who holds a 10th degree Red Belt (grand master) will teach the martial arts class.

"It will be more to it than learning how to fight," Thompson said, "it will also bring a role model."

He said the class will concentrate on developing confidence, toning muscles, nutrition, diet and mental tranquility. "It will teach fundamental survival skills," Thompson said.

Newman Center: there to lend help

By PAMELA SEAVEY
Collegian Correspondent

Approximately 5,000 students pass through the Newman Center every day. Some go there to study, some to attend Mass at the chapel, and still others go just to enjoy those famous Newman chocolate chip cookies.

Whatever the reason, the Newman Center has something for everyone.

The Newman Center first opened its doors to the public on April 1, 1963. It was named after John Henry Cardinal Newman, who believed that every non-church related campus should have a religious center where students can choose to take part in religious-affiliated activities. To date, the Newman Center is the largest Catholic center on the East Coast in the United States, according to its director.

The chapel, which is open everyday from 7 am until 11 pm, is just one of the facilities the center has to offer. The Reverend J. Joseph Quigley, the director of the Newman Center at the University of Massachusetts, said out of the roughly 25,000 UMass students, about 9,000 are Catholic. At times, almost 3,000 students attend Mass, Quigley said.

Other facilities include two study lounges, a library, two classrooms, and a cafeteria with an adjoining social hall where many students get together to study or socialize.

The Newman Student Association is a group of students who want to develop spiritually and socially, and who wish to deepen their understanding for Catholicism. Although the group is comprised primarily of Catholics, it is not limited to only Catholics, Quigley said.

"Any student is eligible to become a member of the association. It's not a closed association — it's open to any student who wishes to join," he said.

Students are encouraged to participate in the various activities held by the association such as coffee houses, potluck dinners, and retreats.

There is also the Over 21 Club, mainly for graduate and older students. In the past, the club has sponsored guest lectures and hayrides and has held parties.

"I think people get different things out of the (Newman) Center," said Quigley. "It offers an opportunity for intellectual, social, and spiritual persuance."

Read the Collegian!

FINE YARNS & NEEDLEWORK SUPPLIES
The Creative Needle
COME IN AND BROWSE
- new Fall yarns
- over 300 knitting/crochet pattern books
- over 350 needlework pattern books
Fall classes forming, call for details
The Carriage Shops
233 N. Pleasant St., Amherst, MA. 01002
413-549-6106

Build your own bookcase or storage shelves with Cowls' cut-to-size lumber for as low as $15.75
It's easy with Cowls' pre-cut shelves, spacers, hardboard backs and handy shelf corner clips. For ideas, see the models in our store .... then build your own from $15.75 to over $30.

CUT-TO-SIZE SHELVING

Length	10" wide	12" wide
12"	.79	.95
18"	1.19	1.43
24"	1.58	1.90
30"	1.98	2.38
36"	2.37	2.85
42"	2.77	3.33
47"	3.15	3.79

ROUGH-ONE-SIDE SHELVING PINE
Available in 6', 8', 10', 12', 14' or 16'

4" wide	15¢ lineal foot
6" wide	22½¢ lineal foot
8" wide	30¢ lineal foot
10" wide	39½¢ lineal foot
12" wide	49½¢ lineal foot

PARTICLE BOARD SHELVING
3/4" x 12" x 96" each only
3.46

DARK CORK BULLETIN BOARDS
12" x 24" x 3/8" imported natural cork by Manton. Reg. price $4.27.
BOX OF 4 now only
$2.49

Benjamin Moore PAINTS
STAINS & PAINTS
• Rollers
• Brushes
• Sandpaper
PLUS LOTS MORE!
• Minwax Stains
• KV Shelf Hardware
• Cement Blocks
• Metal Table Legs
• Plywood Cut to Size

Do it yourself! Decorate your room with these 12" x 12", easy to apply, stick-on clear mirror tiles by Hirsne.
MIRROR TILE
With Mounting Tapes
Reg. $1.27
NOW ONLY 99¢ ea.

COWLS BUILDING SUPPLY INC
125 Sunderland Road, North Amherst
549-0001 Major Credit Cards Accepted
Mon.-Fri., 7 a.m. to 5 p.m.; Sat., 8 a.m. to 3 p.m.

A closer look at the nuclear free zone act

Amherst joins 58 other 'free' areas nationwide

By TOM MIDDLETON
Collegian Staff

After two hours of debate, Amherst town meeting members passed one of the most far reaching nuclear freeze zone acts in the country on May 17.

The Nuclear Free Amherst Act prohibits the transportation or production of nuclear weapons and components within Amherst as many other nuclear free zone laws do. However, the Amherst act also prohibits town investment and contracts with any company which is engaged in the production of nuclear weapons or their components.

According to Nuclear Free America, a Baltimore based group, as of July there were 58 nuclear free zones in the United States. However, only one other town besides Amherst has prohibitions on town investments and contracts. According to the Boston Globe, Maximillian J. Obuszewski, director of Nuclear Free America said, "Amherst is out there in the forefront."

The preamble of the act states, "The only defense against a nuclear war is prevention" and that in order to protect the public health, work on nuclear weapons must be prohibited within the town. "The use of public resources for nuclear weapons production prevents these resources from being used for needed human services", the act states. The town has already rejected the federal government's civil defense crisis relocation plan, it said.

Amherst College's new President Peter Pouncey said of the act, "I think it's an ambiguous step. Where weapon systems are concerned I have no problem" with the act. Dan Murray of the Hampshire College Public Relations Office said, "The school hasn't taken any position. Any decision will be forthcoming once school starts."

'The only defense against a nuclear war is prevention...The use of public resources for nuclear weapons production prevents these resources from being used for need human services,' —Amherst Nuclear Free Act preamble.

The Nuclear Free Amherst Act and the selectmen's resolution both have provisions calling for "Nuclear Free Zone" signs to be placed at all major highways leading into Amherst. Both also provide for copies of the measure to be sent to elected representatives in the State Legislature, both houses of congress, the governor of the state, the president of the United States and to embassies of all nations known or believed to possess nuclear weapons.

The Nuclear Free Amherst Act also provides for the creation of a Nuclear Free Amherst Committee. The committee would be composed of five residents. Three must be town meeting members and one must be involved in scientific research at the University. The committee would oversee adherence to the act.

"We're fairly confident that significant parts of it will be eliminated" by the attorney general's decision, Reyerson said. He added that the selectmen have "preempted a negative decision from the attorney general" by passing the resolution.

According to Selectman Barbara Griffith, if the attorney general strikes down the Nuclear Free Amherst Act then the selectmen's resolution will still stand.

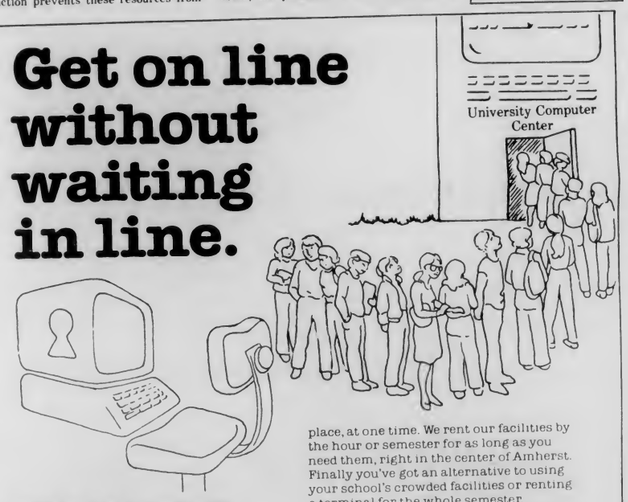
Student Government Association Co-President Rick Patrick said, "I think a community should be able to decide through their elected officials what's best for the community." He said, people "have the right to make decisions for the safety and health of the community." Patrick said he supports the act.

One of the first issues which will have to be resolved if the act is left to stand will be the purchase of a $40,000 word processing system for the town of Amherst and the school system. According to Ronald Bell, assistant superintendent of schools, three companies, IBM, Lanier, and Wang made bids on the system. Of the three, "IBM was the less expensive and the most compatible" with the need of employees and the existing system. The problem is that IBM is on the Nuclear Free America list of companies involved in producing nuclear weapons, Bell said

Town Manager Barry Del Castilho said, the school system's word processor "will probably be the IBM system and IBM will not be affected by the resolution." For the town's word processing system, "We're trying Lanier and Wang," he said. "If we should judge that the systems are equal then we'll go with Wang because Lanier's parent company, the Harris Corporation, is involved in producing nuclear weapon parts," he said. Del Castilho added that, "If the Lanier equipment best meets the town's needs we will use Lanier."

Read the Collegian!

Get on line without waiting in line.



"Unbelievable!"
It's not bad enough doing endless hours of homework for your computer courses. To make a tough situation worse you've got to plan on spending precious time standing in line every time you want to get on line. And your odds on getting a print-out by the time you need it are about as good as getting seats to a Michael Jackson concert.
That is, of course, unless you do your computer homework at the Computer Access Center.

16 chairs, no waiting!
The Computer Access Center is a unique workspace that offers everything you need to do all of your computer work, in one place, at one time. We rent our facilities by the hour or semester for as long as you need them, right in the center of Amherst. Finally you've got an alternative to using your school's crowded facilities or renting a terminal for the whole semester.
The Access Center has it all: 16 work stations fully equipped with computers and terminals, complete modem systems that allow you to tie-in to Cyber, VAX or any other mainframe that you have the access code for, on-site letter quality and dot-matrix printers for instant print-outs, and experienced and knowledgeable computer pros always on duty to help you.
Of course, the best part is that at Computer Access Center you don't have to waste precious time standing in line. Now you can plan ahead and reserve time on a terminal that will be waiting just for you.
So what are you waiting for? Call today and see for yourself how easy and inexpensive renting time on a computer can be.

COMPUTER ACCESS CENTER INC.
ON SITE HOURLY/SEMESTER RENTALS 256-1213
79 South Pleasant Street, Amherst, MA (in left rear of Peter Pan terminal building)
Mon.–Thurs. 9 am–10 pm, Fri.–Sat. 9 am–6 pm, Sun. 10 am–6 pm
2 FREE HOURS OF COMPUTER TIME!
Call today, mention this ad and use one of our computers for two hours at no cost!
Offer good during business hours Monday through Friday until October 15th.

Food, food and more food

By LISA STRATOULY
Collegian Staff

New students on campus will immediately discover that to keep a student stomach in good working order, periodic "D.C. relief" is necessary, which many students seek through other food options on campus.

The Campus Center offers many opportunities for students to seek such relief. For example, the Hatch, located near the Campus Center Craft Shop, is well prepared to meet most student cravings. Its wide menu variety, includes pasta, subs, deli sandwiches, a salad bar, grill items and a full service bar. Sunday brunches and Sunday evening dinner specials are tentatively planned by Richard Ellis, director of Campus Center Food Services.

The Campus Center Coffee Shop, which offers a variety of breakfast, lunch and snack items, may include basket food, such as fried chicken or fish-n-chips this semester, Ellis said.

The Blue Wall Cafeteria features a soup and salad bar, deli sandwiches and hot entrees. The Blue Wall bar is also open for alcoholic drinks in the afternoon.

"Quickie Lunch", located on the 10th floor of the Campus Center, provides fast lunches which include soups, salads and sandwiches.

If the cafeteria atmosphere is too much to bear, the Top of the Campus restaurant is a nice change. Lunch ranges anywhere from $3.50 to $7. The TOC offers a meal exchange program for students on the meal plan. Students will receive informational flyers with details about the program in September, Ellis said. The TOC also gives all University students a 15 percent discount off of entrees except for the meal exchange program.

Other snack bars not associated with the Campus Center include Hampden, Worcester and Whitmore snack bars. All three serve the same menu in different rotations and are managed by Shirley Stafford, director of Food Services. New daily specials available for under $2 will include one grill item, french fries and a choice of coffee or soda. The snack bars will also offer fruit salads, diet plates and raw vegetables this semester, along with croissant and pita pocket sandwiches. Ice cream, frappes, sundaes, candy bars and popsicles are offered, said Colleen Turonsha, manager of the Hampden snack bar.

Then there's always Dominos, which delivers.

Living Staff

Editor: Rita Murphy
Layout: Rita Murphy
Writers: Yadira Batances, Andrew Gould, Taara Eden Hoffman, Michelle Hyde, Diane Lane, Tom Middleton, Rita Murphy, Cris Schuster, Pam Seavey, Lisa Stratouly, Laura Yee.

Photo: Andy Heller, Pam Madnick

Graphics: Dode B. Levenson, Mark Roden, Cris Schuster

Collegian photo by Andy Heller.

Something new: Returning students will be pleasantly surprised by the recently opened Young Meadow Farm, a horse breeding farm.

Center is open to assist women

By TAARA EDEN HOFFMAN
Collegian Staff

The Everywoman's Center (EWC) at the University of Massachusetts, about to begin its 12th year, offers women and men in the community a variety of workshops, support groups, counseling services, lectures, and general information.

"There's a lot of misunderstanding about what a woman's center is," said Terry Fuentes, a coordinator at EWC. "Many men think it's just a center for lesbians."

Counselor/advocate Kathy Alexander said EWC is a resource center and a support center. "The gamut of services we provide is phenomenal," she said. "It's a great place for bonding and networking."

EWC serves 16,000 campus and community women annually in telephone calls and walkins alone, according to Aquila Ayana, the public relations and outreach coordinator. This number does not include the people who attend the 200 or more workshops, conferences, resource fairs, and support groups provided by the center, Ayana said.

Suzanne Slater, coordinator of a workshop to begin late September titled "Am I A Feminist?" described 'feminism' as "a very charged word." The workshop will deal with definitions of feminism and the difference between white and third world women's view of feminist thought. "(Various definitions) have left a lot of women wondering whether they want to be identified as feminists," Slater said.

"The Everywoman's Center is a world of information under one roof," Fuentes said. Fuentes is the Women's Admission and General Educational Support (WAGES) program coordinator. The WAGES program is an academic and personal support system for women who are re-entering school after being away from the academic community for ten or more years.

Beginning this fall there will also be a graduate WAGES program funded by the graduate student senate. "Women and men are missing out by not being aware of what's available at the Everywoman's Center," Fuentes said.

Ayana said the Center, located in Wilder Hall, will be offering numerous programs this fall including a battered women's group, a divorced and separated women's group, an eating disorders group, and a general women's support group beginning in October.

Amherst provides a number of services and organizations aiding the women's community. The following is a partial list of their names and telephone numbers:

University of Massachusetts

Police Emergency — 545-3111

24-Hour Rape Hotline — 545-2677

The Everywoman's Center — 545-0883

Everywoman's Center Hotline for Victims of Violence — 545-0800

Orchard Hill/Central Women's Area — 546-4825

Northeast Women's Center — 545-0290

Third World Women's Center — 546-6642

Southwest Women's Center — 546-0626

Women's Studies Program — 545-1558

Childcare Office — 545-1566

Lesbian Union — 545-3409

Affirmative Action Office — 545-3464

Women's Issue Team — 545-0342

Student Center for Education and Advocacy — 545-0341

Amherst

Police Emergency 911

Women's Center at College — 253-9221 (14 Grosvenor House)

Back to School Savings from your school supply store.
1. Commodore 64 Home Computer 197.82
2. Commodore Datacassette 59.72
3. Commodore Single Disk Drive 249.96
4. Smith Corona Electra XT 178.82
5. Cosmo Alarm Clock and Lamp 14.94
6. Webster's Collegiate Dictionary 12.97
7. Cross Classic Black Pen and Pencil Set 19.94
8. Panasonic Battery Pencil Sharpener 9.97
9. GE SpaceSaver Clock Radio Model 7462S 19.97
10. Compact Cube Refrigerator 84.92
11. Oversize Locker 38.97
12. General Electric Toaster Oven 34.97
13. Sunbeam Hot Shot Beverage Maker 17.97
A. Royal 8MPD Calculator 14.87
B. Sharp 8180 Calculator 16.97
C. Casio FX82 Calculator 12.97
D. Sharp 806P Calculator 16.94
E. Hewlett Packard Scientific Calculator 59.97
F. Hewlett Packard Financial Calculator 99.97
G. Casio Solar Calculator 24.97
H. Royal Solar 8" Ruler and Calculator 6.97
J. Brother EP20 Electronic Printer 89.87
K. Sharp Computer 69.97
L. Royal Print Display Desktop Calculator 89.97
M. Sharp Calculator 18.84
N. Canon Sure Shot Camera 129.94
P. Kodak Disc 3100 Camera 29.97
Q. Kodacolor 2-Pack Disc 4.27
R. Kodak Processing Mailer 2.59
SALE $1.00 AFTER $5.00 FACTORY REBATE
Register to win in our Sweepstakes
SERVICE MERCHANDISE
Catalog Showrooms
SHOWROOM ADDRESS
HOLYOKE
Ingleside Mall
I-91 & Lower Westfield Rd.
Phone (413) 534-7031
SHOWROOM HOURS
Monday thru Saturday
10 A.M. to 9:30 P.M.
Sunday Noon to 5 P.M.

College Supplies of all kinds
Greeting Cards, Stationary Newspapers & Magazines
at
A.J. HASTINGS
Newsdealer and Stationer
45 S. Pleasant St., Amherst

"Liberty means responsibility. That's why most men dread it." — George Bernard Shaw
Next year it's all up to you. Only you can decide to start an insurance program now. The longer you wait, the more it costs. Find out how easy it is to begin our college plan, chosen by more seniors than any other.
Fidelity UnionLife
Call the Fidelity Union Life Field Associate in your area:
RONALD J. NATHAN AGENCY
20 Gatehouse Rd., Amherst, Ma.
Tel: 256-8351

VALLEY BICYCLES Ltd
NEW LOCATION!
93 Boltwood Walk
Amherst
256-0880
COME IN AND TEST RIDE QUALITY!
Fuji NISHIKI SPECIALIZED •QUALITY ACCESSORIES!
•EXPERT REPAIRS!
•CORDIAL PROFESSIONAL SERVICE!
Also Featuring
·All terrain bicycles
·Indoor exercise equipment

MOLLY'S
ANTIQUE & VINTAGE CLOTHING
THE CARRIAGE SHOPS
233 NORTH PLEASANT ST.
AMHERST, MA 01002
MON-SAT 10-5
413-549-6446

Worshipping God used to be Square. Times are Changing.
Explore the Changes:
Joint Bible Study
Tuesday, 12 - 1
Newman Center
Sunday Services, 8:15 and 10:30 am
Wednesday Student Fellowship: 5:30 - 7:30 pm Worship, Food, Study, Good Times
Sunday service at noon, Gospel Music, Holy Communion at Grace Church, on the Amherst Common
Sunday Evening Fellowship: 6:30 - 8:30 pm Singing, Discussion, Worship, Dessert
Immanuel Lutheran Church
867 North Pleasant Street
Amherst
549-0322
549-1638
The Ark
Episcopal Chaplaincy at UMass
758 North Pleasant Street
Amherst
549-5929

A TOTAL LOOK for men & women on BUS ROUTE
20% OFF on a BIKINI WAX or a LASH TINT with this ad
expires 11/1/84
HAIR
• SKINCARE facials waxing
• MAKE-UP instruction application
• FREE CONSULTATIONS by appt.
Profiles
• 256-6008
ECHO HILL • ROUTE 9 • AMHERST

Welcome to UMass

By Chancellor Joseph Duffey

I want to welcome you to the Amherst campus of the University of Massachusetts and to extend to you my personal greetings and best wishes for your success.

This is, I know, a time of great anticipation and excitement for you. But it may also be a time of some reasonable uncertainty — perhaps even anxiety. I am sure you wonder, as new students, what to expect. By now you have visited the campus and have been introduced to the new envioronment. But new can also be different for many of you, and that may raise many questions. Obviously, I cannot predict how you will fare in the new writing or math programs, nor can I answer the larger question: how will the upcoming years at the University affect your individual lives, define and serve your goals? What I can do is give you my impressions of the University as a relative newcomer myself, and in general tell you what to expect, and how best to maximize your experience here.

First of all, it is important for you to understand that you are an integral part of what you will find here. Being who you are has everything to do with how the University itself evolves over the years. As new students, you bring energy, enthusiasm, high expectations, and valuable educational and social experience to this institution and to each other. You come from diverse cities and towns: from across the Commonwealth, from 40 other states and 20 foreign countries. You have different religions and socio-economic backgrounds. And in general your interests and your reasons for attending the University reflect the times and the culture in which we live. Among recent entering classes, fewer students seem to be as motivated to attend colege just to make more money, for instance. This may reflect the opinion that money is not the most important reward for pursuing a Bachelor's degree. Or it may indicate a greater interest on your part in academic, personal, or career satisfaction.

Being who you are has everything to do with how the University itself evolves over the years. As new students, you bring energy, enthusiasm, high expectations, and valuable educational and social experience to this institution and to each other.

Even more encouraging is how current students tend to feel about themselves and their ability. More entering students than ever before believe that they have a very good chance of completing a Bachelor's degree, of making at least a B average, and of being satisfied with UMass. Will you new students continue to reflect this apparent feeling of confidence and accomplishment? Again, only you know that, but perhaps it would be good for you to know that you have made a good beginning already; you can and should be proud of your admission to the University. The process was highly selective: your combined SAT scores overall are 100 points above the national average. This means that you are joining other top students in the nation.

This also means that you new students as a whole may have more of an interest in making this experience what you want it to be. You worked harder than any class before you for admission and you won. Let that sense of personal pride and worth carry over to be invested in what will be your alma mater. I encourage each of you entering freshman and transfer students — you who are more than 5,000 strong — to find out as much as you can about what this institution has to offer you, and the tradition and history upon which all this abundance rests.

Did you know that we started as an agricultural college, and in 1867, college officials opened the doors for the first time to just 56 students who had access to just four teachers and four buildings? We now have over 19,500 undergraduate students, 150 buildings, and 1400 faculty. We have 90 undergraduate programs for you to choose from on this campus alone, and you have almost every imaginalbe option for shaping your own education: by incorporating a full complement of electives, by choosing to do honors work, by electing to do a minor or certificate program, or by adding an internship or other fieldwork into your studies. Academic activities at all three of our campuses — here in Amherst, the Harbor campus in Boston, and the Medical School in Worcester — are also supplemented by academic, research, and service programs available to you off-campus.

University of Massachusetts Chancellor Joseph D. Duffey

Our Five College cooperative program also provides unique opportunities in a consortium with Amherst, Hampshire, Smith, and Mount Holyoke Colleges, University students can take courses and attend extracurricular events on any of these campuses. We have free buses to make it easier for you to do so. You not only have access to our 4,143 course offerings and to our fine faculty and student body, but also to theirs. You can also spend a semester or a year at schools in other states, or abroad, through our many fine exchange programs. We have international exchange agreements with about 40 foreign institutions, from Australia to China, from Yugoslavia to Finland. You can find out more about these programs through the undergraduate advisors at the College of Arts and Sciences, or from the Office of International Programs. It is not too early to start considering these possiblities. Indeed, you may want to use just such an opportunity as motivation, a reason to work hard and continue to excel.

College is the ideal place to experiment and then decide. Assume that you may become frustrated with your courses, your major, that you may not be able, right away, to get what you want. Have patience, persistence, and stamina.

This brings me to a very important point: as I've indicated already, the coming year will be just what you make it. You have the responsibility to make sure you are getting what you need both academically and socially. Take intellectual risks. If you are a top student, then try honors work — challenge yourself. Find out about joining the debating team, a langauge club, or student government. If you are having problems choosing a major, or finding a sense of direction, there are many people here to help you: the faculty, fellow students, heads of residences, the Career Counseling and Development Service, the undergraduate and special programs advisors. Use them. But also be reassured in knowing that only about half of you decided on a major already, and many of that number will change their minds one or more times. The rest of you are undecided, and that's good. College is the ideal place to experiment and then decide. Assume that you may become frustrated with your courses, your major, that you may not be able, right away, to get what you want. Have patience, persistence, and stamina.

Living in a residence hall is a big adjustment. While it is important for you in this regard, as in all others, to be your own person, it is also necessary for you to have respect for others, to be sensitive to your roomate's need for quiet and order, and to observe the rules and regulations of dormitory life. Do not, in essence, vandalize or foul your own nest.

Living in Amherst may also be a big adjustment for you. Yo will be part of a 1,200 acre campus, a small "city" of 25,000 situated in a New England town of about 33,000. Many of you will find part-time work in the town and surrounding area, and probably all of you, at one time or another, will patronize local business and visit the nearby farms, orchards, mountain look-outs, and pass tobacco barns and pumkin fields. Take the time to explore; the local history and cultural offerings are here for the taking. Emily Dickinson's house is in town, and some of her manuscripts and her grave-site are here, too. W.E.B. DuBois' homestead is close by in Great Barrington, and his invaluable papers are important not only to our library — which has over one million volumes, by the way — but to scholars and students all over the world.

It is the University's purpose that you become useful and productive members of society and the nation's workforce. This does not mean necessarily that professional eductions are better than educations in the art and sciences. On the contrary, because technology is revolutionizing so many professions at a rapidly changing pace, it is all the more important to cultivate your basic competencies in language and logic, analysis and evaluation, imaginative and creative expression, self-exploration and realization.

You have much to be optimistic about. You are poetentially the strongest class yet to enter an institution that offers one of the best educations in the nation, and employers and educators know that.

This is a time for being willing and open to learning; new ideas, new ways, new people will affect the evolution of your personal system of values. That need not to be frightening or overwhelming for either you or your parents, because at the same time you will be learning the self descipline required for individual research, the social skills acquired in residence halls and on intramural playing fields, and issues of civility in every aspect of campus life. And again, there is always someone ready and able to help you if you need to be helped.

I feel very good about you, all of you, and looking ahead for the next few years, I can assure you that you have much to be optimistic about. You are potentially the strongest class yet to enter an institution that offers one of the best educations in the nation, and employers and educators know that. The Massachusetts economy is today what we call "knowledge intensive." That simply means that we have a high regard for our intellectual resources and know how to put them to work. This environment provides a favorable climate for the growth of the high technology industry in Massachusetts which has insulated this state from the worst ravages of the recent economic recession.

Over the next decade Massachusetts will create over 300,000 new jobs. What is called "high tech" will account for much of that growth. But that is only part of the picture. Our other industries, such as traditional manufacturing, health care, education, communications, construction, and tourism, will continue to develop and ex-

All of you will leave here changed in fundamental ways, richer in both social and intellectual skills. You are not simply tourists in this new place. You are members of a new community.

Despite any initial uncertainties, I can assure you that most of you will begin enduring friendships here. Most of you will sample several academic majors before finding the one which suits your individual strengths and personality. All of you will leave here changed in fundamental ways, richer in both social and intellectual skills.

You are not simply tourists in this new place. You are members of a new community, a community of teachers and learners which attempts to improve the quality of life for those who dwell within it as well as beyond it. Membership in this community requires responsiblities but it also offers significant rewards.

Our name, the University of Massachusetts at Amherst, will in the future be linked with yours. You have some control over what that association will mean to you and to others. You also have the right to expect things from us — from other students, from faculty and staff. You have the right to expect good role models, good teaching, and a safe and supportive environment in which to live and study. You are fortunate to be in a state and region which values education and has a long history of citizen involvement. You have the right to demand that leaders in government and education work hard to safeguard that education for you and for future students.

I know that you are aware of the many tasks which lie before you and I am confident that you are ready for the challenges.

Welcome to the University of Massachusetts!

Joseph Duffey is chancellor of UMass, Amherst.

Who's who?

As Chancellor of the University of Massachusetts, Joseph Duffey is the highest ranking official on the Amherst campus.

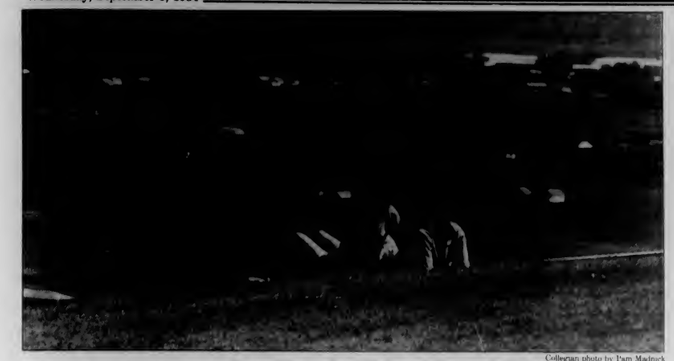
The president of the University, David C. Knapp, is located in Boston and he oversees the campuses at Amherst, Boston, and Worcester.

Duffey has been the UMass, Amherst chancellor since Fall, 1982, replacing former chancellor Henry Koffler.

The Board of Trustees, located in Boston, is the highest governing board in the entire UMass system.

Robert Quinn is chair of the trustees. The state Board of Regents oversees all public higher educational institutes. The board is also located in Boston.

David Beaubien is the newly appointed chair of the trustees.



Collegian photo by Pam Madnick

AH THE COUNTRYSIDE! — The beauty of the area as seen atop Mt. Sugarloaf.

Graduate senate welcomes students

As old and new graduate students return we welcome them and encourage participation in graduate student activities outside of their departments.

The Graduate Student Senate is one of the formally recognized goverance bodies on University of Massachusetts on the Amherst campus. The GSS advocates the views and protects the interests of UMass graduate students. It works and communicates with the University administration and Board of Trustees as well as with the other governance bodies.

The constitution of the Graduate Senate provides that senator(s) from each department be elected in September for one year term. Representation is one senator for every fifty graduate students or fraction thereof.

Sanjiv Dugal

Every spring four officers for the GSS are elected. Last Spring the President and Vice President, Sanjiv Dugal and Christos Karastamatis respectively, were elected by graduate students, and the Treasurer and Executive Officer, Alison Huettner and Greg Graham respectively, were elected by the members of the senate. The four officers make up the Executive Committee which meets weekly. This Committee reviews motions for the Senate agenda, organizes the senate office, is in charge of budgetary matters, and acts on behalf of the Senate to represent graduate student interests.

The GSS budget has averaged recently around $180,000. The money comes from the Graduate Student Senate Tax which is the responsiblity of the Senate to levey and administer. Each year at its Spring Budget Meeting, the Senate, upon reviewing the recommendations of the Finance Committee, appropriates funds for a variety of services and agencies such as: The Transit Service, The Legal Service Office (LSO), University Child Care, Off Campus Housing, various newspapers, and many others. A large portion of the budget goes for the Revenue Sharing program which returns money to departmental graduate student organizations based upon the number of fee paying graduate students in a program and on attendance requirements for senators.

The Senate's most direct form of communication and influence is through positions on University Commitees, which are constituted by the University governance bodies and the Administration. Graduate student representation on these committees is one of the key ways the GSS has to shape university policies affecting the graduate community. In all, the GSS currently appoints representatives to over 50 committees.

Since last year we have been printing a newsletter The Graduate Voice which is mailed to your department addresses. Many graduate students feel that the Collegian does not cover news and information which reflect graduate interests. The Graduate Voice hopes to fill that need.

The Graduate School and the Graduate Student Senate together sponsor the Graduate Forum which is an effort by the graduate student community to develop a better climate for intellectual and social exchange. The Forum invites outstanding members from the academic, professional and artistic communities to speak before a small inter-disciplinary audience of graduate students. We invite suggestions and names of noted speakers from graduate students.

The Graduate Senate meets every other week during the academic year, but the office is staffed every day. For assistance with a problem or question or for further information about committees, revenue sharing, elections, meetings, funded agencies, or anything else, call or drop by the GSS office, Room 919 Campus Center, 545-2896 or 545-2897.

Sanjiv Dugal is president of the Graduate Student Senate.

Students are important asset for town

To Students of the University of Massachusetts:

Welcome or welcome back.

When the Collegian editor invited me to greet you, she said, "Amherst plays a crucial role in students' lives." Students also play a crucial role in Amherst life. Citizens and residents of the Town of Amherst dearly love our town, and students make our town what it is. The quiet summer here is a welcome break, but the activity and excitement that you bring to Amherst is what we thrive on.

Barry L. Del Castilho

Most of you are now residents of the Town of Amherst because you do, in fact, reside here for most of the year. Many of you will want to register to vote. The Town Clerk and her staff will go out of their way to help you register to vote. There are, however, legal and practical considerations. The registration deadline for the November 6 election is October 9 at 10 pm. Watch for on-campus registration sessions, or contact the Town Clerk at 253-9382 if you want more information about on-campus registration sessions.

When the State Census is taken in early 1985, remember that you are a resident of the Town of Amherst even if you happen to be in your former hometown or elsewhere on January 1, 1985.

Use the Jones Library, register for programs offered by the Leisure Services and Supplemental Education Department, volunteer for work with the Council on Aging or other agencies.

You will see the Amherst Fire Department responding on campus to fire alarms and medical emergencies. They are dedicated and well-trained people, and some of your fellow students are on Engine 3 and sometimes on Ambulance 13.

If you don't know about the SAP, you'll hear about it soon. But the Amherst Police Department is as much a provider of services as it is an enforcer of laws. Amherst officers are good people helping good people.

We are not the stereotyped town government. Get to know us if you have an opportunity. Join us in serving this great town.

Good luck in the coming year.

Barry L. Del Castilho is the Town Manager of Amherst.

Get involved with the student senate

Every year as we return to school, we plan our agenda for the fall semester. I would like to offer one possible alternative that I feel is worth your while. The student senate at the University of Massachusetts represents

Chris Sullivan

18,000 undergraduates. It allocates over $1.8 million of students' money to various student organizations. It is made up of 120 student senators who have a lot of responsibility. To make it the best we can, though, we need your help. It takes only a few hours a week, but gives you valuable experience while you help shape the future of our university.

This year students face many potential problems on campus. There is a renewed threat of a tuition hike. The Code of Student Conduct, a document which outlines the rules and regulations for students, is being re-written for the first time in five years. I'm sure you all know of someone who has had discipline problems, this document will affect most of these proceedings. The SGA constitution is being considered by the Board of Trustees, and this gives the SGA its authority. The University will be starting $25 million in renovations for the campus, and students should help decide what is done. With all of these issues, the senate needs your support.

The senate and students have made a difference. Our record over the past year shows this. First, Chancellor Joseph Duffey proposed a $50 tuition hike. Students, led by the SGA President's Office, responded and the proposal was defeated. The senate ran a voter registration drive that registered a record number of students. Again in the spring a tuition hike was proposed. The Student Center for Educational Research and Advocacy and the Public Policy Committee successfully cut the rise in half. The SGA led a move to change the University's policy and it now allows the University to do business with Student Controlled Businesses.

The senate supports many organizations and provides many services to students. We offer free legal services to students, furnish an Off-Campus Housing Office to help student tenants, a radio station and many others. To continue aiding these organizations we need student involvement. I hope you will consider the option of running for the Undergraduate Student Senate; it may make your semester a lot better.

Chris Sullivan is Speaker of the Undergraduate Student Senate.

SGA works for students

Welcome to UMass. We hope you will take advantage of the many resources and opportunities that await you here. One of the things that make UMass a unique place is its Student Government Assocation.

Since the late 1960s, the UMass SGA has been known as one of the largest and most effective student governments in the nation.

The SGA is in charge of allocating the $1.8 million Student Activities Trust Fund. The Student Senate funds student groups, sports clubs, Third World organizations, concerts, speakers and many other campus events.

The senate is also the main policy-making body for students at UMass. It debates legislation and resolutions dealing with issues of importance to students, such as tuition hikes, academic grievance procedure, campus safety, and sexual harassment.

Because of its control of Student Activities funds and its dedication to student rights, the SGA is an extremely effective organization.

The UMass Administration acknowledges the SGA as an extremely effective organization.

Jim Keller/Rick Patrick

The UMass Administration acknowledges the SGA as representatives of the student body, and is aware that SGA members will not hesitate to act if student rights are in danger of being violated.

One of the SGA's strengths is the diversity of its membership. Any student can run for senate or volunteer in one of the SGA's many offices. The SGA is committed to combatting oppression on campus; the Third World and Women's Caucuses exist to insure that women's and minority issues are addressed, and that all students are adequately represented.

The SGA Presidents are elected annually, in the spring. This year, Rick Patrick is the campus president, and Jim Keller is the student Trustee. The campus president is charged with representing student interests to the campus community and administration. Rick and his staff have worked this summer to successfully restore athletic program cuts, increase student employment, and improve campus safety, among other issues.

The student trustee is the only student who is a full voting member of the Board of Trustees. The Trustees are the top governing body of UMass, so Jim's position is a very important one. It's his responsiblity to make sure that student needs are communicated to the Trustees, and that students are kept aware of Trustee decisions that affect them, such as tuition and fee increases.

The president's office is charged with advocating student concerns as they arise. We plan to write regularly in the Collegian to inform students of the issues we are working on.

We would also like to hear from students who have concerns opinions or grievances they think we could help with. Students are welcome to stop by the President's Office at 406E Student Union, or call 545-0341.

Senate elections will be held in October; students interested in running should pick up a petition in the Student Union, room 420. And if you haven't done it, register to vote in the upcoming state and federal elctions. Students must make sure that their voices are heard.

We hope you will make the most out of your remaining years here, and encourage you to become active in the SGA.

Jim Keller and Rick Patrick are the SGA Co-Presidents.

WELCOME from University Food Services

Concessions
Catering
Snack Bars
All Campus BBQ
Dining Commons
Munchys

Dining Commons

MEAL TIMES AND LOCATIONS

CALL-A-MEAL 5-2828

WORCESTER, HAMPSHIRE
(open 7 days a week)

Breakfast---------- 7:00 am to 10:30 am
Lunch---------- 11:15 am to 2:00 pm
Dinner---------- 4:00 pm to 6:30 pm

FRANKLIN, BERKSHIRE
(open 7 days a week)

Lunch---------- 10:30 am to 2:00 pm
Dinner---------- 4:00 pm to 7:00 pm

HAMPDEN
(open Monday through Friday)

Kosher Dinners------ 5:00 pm to 6:30 pm

IF YOU ARE NOT ON A MEAL PLAN YOU CAN PURCHASE MEALS SEPARATELY OR BUY STRIP TICKETS.

Cash Prices
Breakfast..... $2.00
Lunch..... $3.50
Dinner..... $4.50

Strip Prices
5-Day Breakfast Strip..... $ 9.00
5-Day Lunch Strip..... $15.75
5-Day Dinner Strip..... $20.25
5-Day Kosher Strip..... $24.75

Munchys The convenience store--a good place to pick up those little foods and sundry items. Hampden and Franklin also offer hot coffee, doughnuts and sandwiches.

Hours: Worcester and Franklin------ 8 AM - 9 PM
Hampden---------- 7 AM - 9 PM

Snack Bars In three locations:
WORCESTER open 7 AM - 4 PM
WHITMORE open 7 AM - 4 PM
HAMPDEN open 8 AM - Midnight

Serving full breakfasts, hot lunches, complete sandwich and snack selections. Take-out bakery offers pastries and decorated cakes to order. All are baked fresh in our Campus Bake Shop.

OPEN 7 DAYS A WEEK.

THE MINIMUM DEPOSIT IN OUR NEW CASH ACCOUNT IS A NICE ROUND NUMBER.

0

The plain truth is, a checking account can be a good deal when you maintain the minimum balance.

But, if you drop below the minimum, it's not as good because you get charged.

That's why Shawmut has created the Cash Account. Here's how it works: Instead of using checks to get cash, you simply use your Shawmut Card. (Eliminating checks lets us eliminate the minimum balance.) What's more, your Shawmut Card is good at dozens of locations across Massachusetts.

You only pay one dollar a month for service, and 25 cents every time you use your Card. So, by using your Card only when you need to, you control your service charges, not the bank.

So, stop at your local Shawmut Hampshire County Bank office and open your Cash Account. Because if you've been looking for a better way to bank with less money, we've got your number.

Shawmut Bank of Hampshire County, N.A.
Look to us for direction.

Get a head start on the school year—fill out a CASH ACCOUNT application today! You can sign up at the Murray D. Lincoln Center, Monday through Friday, September 3-7 and September 10-14, between 9:00 and 4:30. You only need $5.00 to open your own CASH ACCOUNT!

Member FDIC Equal Housing Lender

No time to lose!

Prices good thru Sat., Sept. 8th

Gallop on down to C & C for these specials!

BUD or MILLER SUITCASES 24 loose 12-oz. cans $10.95 plus deposit

BECK'S $4.25 6-PACK plus deposit Light or Dark 12-oz cans

REUNITE Red, White or Rose Wine 750 ML $2.35

Gallo Premium Wines 1.5 Liters $3.49

FREIXENET CORDON NEGRO Spanish Sparkling White Wine, 750 ML $4.99

All Specials in Store Cash Prices

VODKA LITER $4.99

C & C LIQUORS

61 Main Street, Amherst 253-3091

Free Off-Campus Delivery - $15 minimum

Collegian photo by Andy Heller

BUGS, GO AWAY — This worker sprays for bugs near the Young Meadow Horse Breeding Farm.

JOHN DELLARIA SALONS

Brings you only the best in hair fashion. From long locks to short takes to the most innovative fashion statement. Enjoy choosing what works best for you.

Save $3.00 on salon services of $16.00 or more with this ad. We will see you hair soon!

26 Main Street, Amherst MA 253-9293
Expires October 31, 1984

Looking for House Plants?

This is the place.

The largest selection of Tropical Foliage Plants in the Area.

Visit our Greenhouse

Montgomery Florist

Rt. 9 Hadley 584-3798

across from Burger King

Bring in this ad with student ID
Receive 10% off plant purchases

★Living in this city

Continued from page 1

Students benefit in the first few weeks of school because many area merchants offer "welcome back" sales and have other kinds of specials.

The Hampshire Mall, accessible by the PVTA, is offering a free giveaway the first week of school to entice students to shop early and often. Anyone purchasing over $15 worth of merchandise at the mall stores can receive a free calculator, according to the mall's Marketing Director Susan Weinstein.

Weinstein said the beginning of school in the Amherst area is "a very big time for the retail industry as a whole," and it is not all because of the increase in the student population. The students force an increase in other consumers in the area from faculty to other University employees.

While businesses benefit from the students coming back, not everything is golden when they return. In past years problems have surrounded the opening of the school year. One of the most memorable is the year of the "great water shortage."

It was a hot, muggy labor day weekend back in 1980 when the campus got ready to welcome students back to the area. Everything seemed to be going according to plan, except one small problem developed; Amherst was running out of water.

As quickly as they came, students were sent home until the problem was worked out.

This year, according to Amherst Town Manager Barry DelCastilho there is enough water as to prevent any recurrence of the problem of four years ago.

So Amherst changes from a quiet, kind of mellow town to a bustling cultural and entertainment center for both UMass and the other 5 College area students. And this transformation takes only a few days.

A week ago, the streets had a few cars on them, the parking lots were almost empty. There were no lines outside Delano's or the Pub, and the pace was slow and carefree.

Seven days later, it is a different world, and the tiny town of Amherst changes as a city grows right smack in the center of it. A city that for the next nine months becomes home to thousands from other cities and towns, but who now are residents of the city of UMass, Amherst that is.

$6
High quality haircuts only $6.00! Shampoo & style dry a la carte.
No appointment needed.
Great Hairstyling at Great Prices for men & women
REDKEN
HAIR EAST
103 N. Pleasant, Downtown Amherst, 256-0438

家酒園南湖
Hunan Garden Restaurant

"The Best Chinese Food" MENU
Try Our New Buffet Menu and Lunch Special
Mon - Thurs 5 pm - 8 pm
Sunday Brunch 11:30 am - 3 pm
ALL YOU CAN EAT $5.95 per person
Fish, Mushroom, with Beef
Shrimp - homemade style
Sweet & Sour Chicken
Chinese Barbequed Pork
Pan Fried Ravioli
256-0251
Broccoli in Oyster Sauce
Chicken Fried Noodles
Chicken Fingers
Chicken Wings
Fried Rice
Luncheon Special & Take-Out Service
Full Cocktail Menu
Sun - Thurs 11:30 am - 10 pm
Fri & Sat 11:30 am - 11 pm
10 Belchertown Road at Rte 9, Amherst

Campus Card.
Welcome, University of Massachusetts students!
No matter what your schedule or workload is, you can now do your banking at a nearby X-Press 24. There's only one card that lets you do all your regular banking at more than 500 X-Press 24s around Massachusetts – the BayBanks X-Press 24™ Card.
To get your card, just visit our Amherst Office at 75 East Pleasant Street, today. Look for us in the green and white tent there.
You'll receive Free Campus Gifts when you open your account.
Try Something Better.

Member FDIC

Get down to business faster. With the BA-35.
If there's one thing business students have always needed, this is it: an affordable, business-oriented calculator. The Texas Instruments BA-35, the Student Business Analyst.
Its built-in business formulas let you perform complicated finance, accounting and statistical functions – the ones that usually require a lot of time and a stack of reference books, like present and future value calculations, amortizations and balloon payments.
The BA-35 means you spend less time calculating, and more time learning. One keystroke takes the place of many.
The calculator is just part of the package. You also get a book that follows most business courses: the Business Analyst Guidebook. Business professors helped us write it, to help you get the most out of calculator and classroom.
A powerful combination. Think business. With the BA-35 Student Business Analyst.
TEXAS INSTRUMENTS
Creating useful products and services for you.
© 1983 Texas Instruments

★The valley's sights and sounds

Continued from page 3

charge with picnic grounds available.

Chances are we'll be lucky enough to be plagued by Indian Summer. In that case, Puffers Pond, in North Amherst, the water slide at Mount Tom, Holyoke, and canoe rides on the Connecticut River are nice cool off and relief measures.

If you want that apple a day to keep the doctor away, it's prime time for apple picking. Orchards and orchards of macintosh, cortlands and sweet delicious apples crowd the Valley's back yard and you can pick them by the bushel full. But if you're feeling a bit more adventurous, Whatley House Farm offers strawberry and rasberry picking. Time is running short before the last of the best is picked.

Then if you're into frequenting fairs, this is your lucky week in the Valley.

Northampton's 167th Annual Three County Fair has commenced but will continue until Sept. 81. Daily and nightly entertainment include the useual "fair-ish" activities—food, lions, tigers, leopards, rides, games, exhibits and more food.

However, if you really want something to write home about (and you'll never witness this in New York or Boston) there will be a tug of war competition between horses and oxes. An autothrill show, balloon magicians, country music, and horse racing are also included on the agenda with the closing ceremonies comprised of a demolition derby.

After this fair and you're feeling gluttonous, travel down Route 116 to Greenfield and treat yourself to the 137th Annual Franklin County Fair. (The town's Chamber of Commerce boasts that this is the longest continuing fair in the country, (although Northampton statistics differ.)

You'll basically find similar events with more agricultural exhibits and themes geared more toward that town. They're having a demolition derby, too, so now's the chance to get a head start on that compare and contrast paper you'll enventually write for Rhetoric 100C.

Both are about 20 minutes from campus and a small fee will provide you with an entire day of sights and sounds.

A hop, skip, and a jump away

By DIANE LANE
Collegian Staff

The bill has been paid, the dorm room located. Mom and Dad left for home over an hour ago and except for a new roommate you're not at all sure you like, you're alone. As if all this weren't cause enough for panic, the realization slowly dawns that you are stranded in a hick town, surrounded on all sides by mountains, and you're (gasp!) without wheels.

Yet, as isolated as Amherst may look in the first few days of settling in, there are a plethora of ways to get around, not the least of which is the 10 year old Pioneer Valley Transit Authority. PVTA operates 14 bus routes in the 5-college area during the school year, travelling 4100 miles and carrying 24,000 riders every weekday. Travel on the bus uses a no-fare system, due to pre-paid Student Activity Fees and local taxes.

In the early fall and spring, when the weather is fine, many students choose to ride bicycles and mopeds to school and into town, locking up at the many bike racks provided for this purpose. Then again there's always feet; useful for walking into Amherst, hitching or commuting from one's parking space.

There are four parking lots still available for dorm residents who choose to bring a car up, and the price is right, $8 for a year. (This may be due to the rather "far-out" locations left at this late date – one lot is behind the physical plant.) There are no class restrictions on student vehicles.

For trips of a longer nature the Peter Pan Bus line has a small station in downtown Amherst, connecting this rural town with all the points of the compass.

And if worse comes to worse, the walls are closing in, and you've just gotta het out of here, try an old favorite – "Scottie, beam me up!"

Collegian photo by Andy Heller
GETTING READY: Physical plant workers Bruce Parker (left) and Tom Thornton paint area sidewalk lines in preparation for the influx of heavy traffic.

Shumway's
Wallpaper & Paint Store
Almost everything you need for your room or apartment.
320 College St. – Amherst
Tel. 256-6753 8-6 Daily

ON-CAMPUS JOBS
VALUABLE EXPERIENCE and TRAINING

If you are an upperclassman or a graduate student, we will train you to discuss the financial needs of your University with its alumni.
Telefund will pay $4-6 an hour for your time a few evenings a week. You will talk to alumni from all walks of life, from every type of profession about the University Alumni Fund.
Telefund is located at Memorial Hall.
Stop in and pick up an application or call us at 545-3509 if you have questions.

SUN SYSTEMS by RuggedWear

The Rugby Dress by Ruggedwear Ltd. Unique design in soft cotton. Now available in new colors from the Fall Collection.

Rugby skirts, jerseys and an all new boatneck top await your approval in the Women's shop

House of Walsh

32 Main Street • Amherst
9:00 am - 5:30 pm • 253-3361

Welcome Back Students!!

Aren't You Hungry? Have it your way at Hadley Burger King.

BURGER KING

SEE THE CHANGES

This coupon good for a
FREE Regular Size French Fries with any purchase after 4 pm.

This offer not to be used with any other coupon or offer
Expires Oct. 14, 1984

BURGER KING

THE ROAD TO A COLLEGE DEGREE IS EXPENSIVE

AIR FORCE ROTC CAN PAVE THE WAY

There are a lot of scary stories about the cost of college education these days. Many high school students aren't planning to attend college because they don't have the money. BUT WAIT! Air Force ROTC can help. With our scholarship programs, we will pay for your college tuition, books, along with certain fees AND pay you $100 per month for living expenses.

After you receive your degree you'll be eligible for a commission as an Air Force officer. If you can qualify, Air Force ROTC can mean a college degree and a brighter future for you. Find out more. For your country and yourself, make Air Force ROTC a part of your plans. Contact:

AIR FORCE ROTC

Gateway to a great way of life.

BICYCLE WORLD
50 MAIN ST. REAR 253-7722

10% discount to all UMass students and faculty

$20.00 off any new bike with this ad*

WE ARE THE ONLY SHOP IN THE AREA

FEATURING THE COMPLETE LINES OF UNIVEGA AND BIANCHI CYCLES

*offer good until 9/14

Have some free time?

Make way for happy hour

By RITA MURPHY
Collegian Staff

It's Wednesday,right? Only two more days until Friday and the happiest time of the week, happy hour.

But wait. Just like orange juice isn't for breakfast anymore, happy hours aren't just for Fridays anymore.

In fact, for years happy hours in the happy valley have been a seven-days-a-week affair. And for those students 20 and older (soon to be 21, whew! Just made it) it might be tough to find the right bar to get happy in. So what follows is a summary of happy Amherst.

But keep in mind that the Massachusetts State Legislature is expected to vote sometime in October on whether or not to ban happy hours in the state all together.

Sunday—Sleep until two, then head on over to Charlie's. They have a two-for-one mixed drinks from 3 to 6 p.m. Down several before ordering a large cheese pizza. Make sure you order the pizza after you've had a few though—I'm not going to tell you why, just take my word for it.

Then head on over to Barsies (Barsalotties for you old timers) and catch the tail end of their Sunday 4 to 8 p.m. happy hour where well drinks (as opposed to good drinks) are just $1.35.

Monday—Ah, don't you just love rainy days and Mondays. For starters head on over to Judies and their 3 to 6 p.m. happy hours, where drinks are only a buck. A bit of advice, they make a real good manhattan, if you like New York drinks.

Then just hang around town for a while, catch the bus (don't drink and drive, this has been a public service announcement from this reporter), and head on over to JR's or Justin Ryans, where you can catch Monday Night Football which won't be the same now that Howard Cosell has gone to broadcast heaven. During the game, drafts are only 50 cents.

Tuesday—Skip classes this afternoon and head down to Funny Bones where they have 99 cent bar drinks from 1 to 7 p.m.

Then rest for a few hours and about 10 p.m. go to Delano's and get two for one. They make great capecodders if you're intoNew England.

Wednesday—Start off around five at the Hungry U, order a pizza, and catch the end of the 3 to 6 p.m. two for one drinks and drafts.

Then it's time for Pub Mug night. Just bring your Pub mug to the Pub and get it filled for just 35 cents, all night long.

Thursday—Time Out time. Giant bar drinks are just $1.65 from 4 to 8 p.m.

That's all for tonight, you've been drinking too much this week so take the rest of the night off.

Friday—Tonight's the night for Changes, Amherst't newest bar (formerly Poor Richards but now bigger and better). If you like 99 cent drinks and video sound you'll love Changes.

Saturday—Sleep all day and rest up for Sunday and the beginning of another happy week.

Taking the 'happy' out of hour

By MICHELLE HYDE
Collegian Staff

In 1974 when the Massachusetts legal drinking age was 18, the Blue Wall, the bar in the Campus Center, broke records for the amount of beer sold at its happy hours.

Now, the proposed national drinking age of 21, statewide concern over the sale of discounted drinks and the consequences of drunken driving and such measures as the banning of happy hours in Springfield have prompted University of Massachusetts Food Service officials to change the image of the Blue Wall, and shift the emphasis away from alcohol.

Due to recent federal legislation, all 50 states must have a uniform drinking age of 21 nationwide by 1986 or else their federal highway funding will be terminated.

William Elmore, beverage manager for Campus Center Food Services, said he does not know what changes will be made at the Blue Wall when this law is enforced.

And while Elmore said the University has not made any committment to ban happy hours at the Blue Wall, during the next few months "there will at least be some discussion." If the state mandates the banning of happy hours, the Blue Wall will oblige, he said.

"We should be prepared in case that does come down the road,"he said.

This semester, to "downplay its happy hour aspect" of using alcohol to have a good time, the Blue Wall will change the name of its afternoon happy hours to "UMass Social Hours", which will still feature live entertainment and a free snack buffet with reduced price drinks and no cover charge.

The drink specials will not be advertised, he said.

"Other than that," he said, "we don't plan any major changes."

SAP ready to zap drunk drivers

By CRIS SCHUSTER
Collegian Staff

It's past midnight and you decide it's time to leave the bar and return home. You've had one too many drinks but you decide to risk it and drive home by yourself. After all, it's only a half mile home.It's late. Nothing will happen. You'll be careful. No one will know...but then...SAP!

The Speed-Alcohol Patrol, though small, has been effective in reducing the number of serious accidents and other alcohol-related crimes because of people's fear of being apprehended for drunk driving, according to Amherst Police Chief Donald N. Maia.

"Drivers have been more cautious," he said. "People have changed their drinking and driving habits."

Maia said the patrol, whih operates from 9 p.m. to 3 a.m. on Friday and Saturday has three officers who watch for irratic operation of motor vehicles violations.

"Having officers active out there is a deterrent to various crimes," Maia said. He said he welcomes media attention because "We like to let people know what we're doing."

SAP will expand its enforcement with additional patrols, but exact plans will be announced in a few weeks, Maia said.

The program began in September 1981 after seven people died in speed or alcohol related accidents in the Amherst area in seven months.

"We had a problem. There were a lot of accidents and people dying. And we were able to identify why," Maia said. The total number of accidents in the first eight months of SAP's operation were reduced by 54 percent, according to the Amherst Police Department Annual Report. There was also a reduction in the number of alcohol-related incidents including vandalism, minor larcenies, assualts and batteries, he said.

Maia said he does not expect the first few weeks to be very busy for SAP because when students return, at first they will be more interested in hitting the books rather than hitting the bars. Usually after the first football game, business for SAP picks up.

However, Maia said, with police officers regularly patroling for irratic operation of a motor vehicle due to intoxication and the media attention SAP has received, people are more careful and drive accordingly.

GRAMPY'S
CORNER STORE

We'd like to introduce ourselves. . .We're Grampy's, your super-convenience store, and we're going to be your favorite 24-hour munchie-stop. We've got our own bakery, salad bar, a full N.Y.-style deli, plus lots of extras like fresh sandwiches, grinders, and freshly-squeezed orange juice.

Try Us...We're Lots More Fun!

This coupon good for a
FREE BROWNIE
from Grampy's Corner Store
60 King St., Northampton
offer good through Oct. 31

Open 24 Hours

60 King St.
Northampton

Computer Works

VISIT OUR

NEW LOCATION
AT
228 TRIANGLE ST.

NEW PRODUCT LINES

• SANYO 555 • EPSON QX10 • CORONA PC •
• IBM PC • NORTHSTAR'S DIMENSION •
• OLYMPIA PRINTERS •

MORE SALES PEOPLE — LARGER SERVICE AREA

SEE OUR TERMINAL RENTAL AD IN NEWS SECTION

MONDAY - SATURDAY
10 AM - 6 PM
549-7133

master charge VISA

ROOSTERS the ORIGINAL

BIGGER BETTER Faster

BREAKFAST & LUNCH SPECIALS
PRICED TO FIT A STUDENT'S BUDGET

FAST-FAST-FAST SERVICE HOME-STYLE COOKING

FULL LIQUOR LICENSE
DRAFT BEER

SENIOR CITIZEN DISCOUNTS
HANDICAP ACCESSABLE

HUGE PARKING LOT
OPEN 6-3 MON.-FRI.
6-5 SAT.-SUN.

GO PAST THE IMITATIONS & TRAPS
FOLLOW THE MAP!!

COME TO ROOSTER'S

COME AND GET THE BEST FOR LESS!!

CALL
256 - 6888

!! ONLY 1½ miles from Grad Research !!

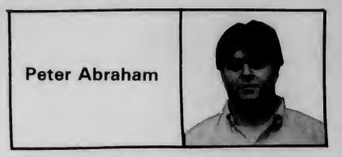
SPORTS

Volume CXIV, Issue 72 Wednesday September 5, 1984

UMass makes the move

Big changes made in May

Some questions and answers



By PETER ABRAHAM
Collegian Staff

While the rest of the campus population was preparing for finals or moving out, the University of Massachusetts athletic department was making changes, big changes.

Last May, seven varsity sports men's and women's golf, tennis, wrestling, were dropped to club sport status. With the estimated $75,000 saved by this move, the remaining varsity sports were given increased aid.

Four sports, football, men's and women's basketball and men's lacrosse, are expected by the athletic department to compete on the national level and win championships within their conferences. These sports will receive the maximum scholarship aid allowed by the NCAA.

At the next expectation level are field hockey, women's softball and women's lacrosse. These sports will receive additional scholarships, but not up to the NCAA maximum. The goal for these teams is to do well in this area of the country and to reach for national prominence.

"Four sports, Football, men's & women's basketball and lacrosse, are expected to compete on the national level."
—UMass Athletic Department

Men's soccer, baseball, and cross country and track are expected to be "respectable" in New England and within the Atlantic 10 conference. They will receive limited increases in scholarship aid.

The third level sports, women's cross country and track, volleyball, men's and women's gymnastics and men's and women's swimming, will get in-state tuition waivers and should, according to the plan, be competitive within their leagues or divisions.

For the major sports, the figures have increased considerably. The lacrosse team, long a powerhouse with only one scholarship (which coach Richard Garber didn't use) will get the NCAA maximum, 14 over four years. The football team, after a poor 3-8 record last season, will go from 58 to 70 scholarships. Both basketball teams will remain at 15.

On the coaching level, both basketball teams had new coaches last season, Ron Gerlufson and Barbara Stevens and the football team will be under Bob Stull this season after the athletic department hired him away from his assistant position at the University of Washington, a Division 1 power.

Both the UMass Board of Trustees and the Athletic Council approved the overall move, but it has since been changed.

Student Government Association co-president Rick Patrick, angered by what he termed "unfair" demotions of the seven sports reduced to club level, began a letter campaign to the Trustees over the summer calling for reinstation of the seven cut programs.

Athletes, parents, alumni and others participated in this drive and the Trustees voted to put $75,000, the amount redistributed, back into the athletic department to start was has been termed a "phase-out period" of two years in which these seven sports will gradually lose funding and become club sports. All contracts regarding coaches and tuition wavers will be met by UMass. Sports currently at the club level include crew and rugby.

Part of the $75,000 is expected to go toward the hiring of a strength coach to aid in the conditioning of all UMass athletes. Stull said last week that the position, "should be

continued to p. 3

The University of Massachusetts. You think of a nice school in the Pioneer Valley, a little liberal maybe, but all-in-all a good school.

What you don't think about are the accomplishments by UMass sporting teams. The football team went to the Division 1-AA final in 1978 and unheralded women's teams (soccer, field hockey and lacrosse) have achieved national ranking. The men's lacrosse team is another power, but again goes unnoticed. UMass sports are not big-time.

You make your money, any athletic director will tell you, from football and basketball. Television contracts, gate revenue and vending all raise money, large amounts of it.

UMass basketball and football, for the last five years anyway, have been bad. No television, little gate revenue and no money.

So, the athletic department has made changes. Seven sports were dropped to club level. Men's and women's skiing, golf and tennis as well as wrestling lost their aid. The Trustees gave it back, but only for a two year "phase-out" period. The $75,000 saved will be distributed throughout the program.

The aim is to make UMass sports better, or else. The football, basketball (men's and women's) and lacrosse teams have been told to win their leagues and make national playoffs (in other words, make money). New coaches were, in the past year, named in all of the sports except lacrosse, the only traditionally successful program at UMass.

But what about the athletes who played tennis, golf, wrestled or skiied? The athletic department, the Trustees, Chancellor Joseph D. Duffey and everyone else involved, enthusiastically approved these plans, with little apparent regard to these athletes or coaches.

If UMass' football team makes the division 1-AA playoffs next season (it won't happen this year) or the basketball teams grabs a tournament bid, these folks will be proven right and the move will be remembered as a good decision.

A lack of money, which continued losing will bring, may mean another few sports will get cut, scholarships have to come from somewhere and the $75,000 will not be there to cut next year. Potentially UMass may become a powerhouse, or a poorhouse.

Student Government Association co-president Rick Patrick, who got the Trustees to give the money back for two years, is opposed to the move.

"It isn't fair, cut some sports and give the football team more scholarships," said Patrick. "Who decides who gets what?"

But it just isn't football. The women's programs at UMass have traditionally been solid and the lacrosse, field hockey, softball and soccer teams have legitimate chances at national titles in the next few seasons.

The men's soccer and baseball teams will gain scholarships, something they never had. The track and cross country team will be able to offer a great runner more than just a nice campus and good faculty.

continued to p. 15

Collins proposes new multi-use arena

By PETER ABRAHAM
Collegian Staff

BOSTON — A new 10,000 to 12,000 seat sports arena for the University of Massachusetts is in the planning stage according to state representative James Collins of Amherst.

However, UMass dean of athletics, Dr. David Bischoff, said that any talk of a new stadium, "is just that, talk." Rep. Collins has made all of the proposals thus far and the school hasn't taken any steps."

Collins, chairman of the House Education Committee, said that the university trustees are expected to approve plans for a sports complex at their December meeting.

According to Collins, the $12-$15 million dollar complex will include a basketball and ice hockey facility and a practice rink for hockey. Presently the university does not offer hockey as a varsity sport and has no rink.

The proposal is one of many that has included doming the school's Alumni Stadium. The basketball facility on campus, the 4,200 seat Curry Hicks Cage, is undergoing a $2.3 million renovation. The basketball team has contracted the Springfield Civic Center for this season.

"Jim has spoken to some members of the Board of Trustees and some UMass administration officials about the project," said Greg Dillard, an aide to the Amherst Democrat who graduated from the Amherst campus.

Dillard said that the arena would be financed by the Building Authority which in turn uses student fees.

"UMass definitely needs to upgrade its facilities," said Dillard. "Even with the Cage renovations the space is needed for practices and the like. A new stadium would be a boost to the whole Amherst area."

Bischoff said that although he agrees UMass needs an arena, "The school isn't prepared to release any statement regarding it."

"We would possibly be making an announcement regarding an arena this fall," hinted Bischoff. "But Collins hasn't contacted anyone I've spoken with, it's still just in the very early planning stages."

Early opposition to the arena has come from the Student Government Association, Co-president Rick Patrick said "A new arena is nice to have, but not at a cost to students. We're paying millions for the Cage renovations and now they want to build a new arena. It doesn't make sense."

Any plans for an arena, if approved, would just begin a long process before completion. "It's just speculation so far. A new arena is just in the planning stages, if that," noted Bischoff.

INSIDE:

The UMass football team puts the emphasis on the offense as they prepare for the 1984 season under new head coach Bob Stull.....p.3.

Women's soccer readies for a challenging season....p.5
Field hockey looks to be consistent.....p.7.

Volleyball looks to improve with veterans returning.....p.14

Water Polo team swimming to the top in New England.....p.14

Daring Yankee Conference picks.....p.15

"They are like mosquitos back there. You don't have to ask them to dive. They'll go to the floor."

—Volleyball coach Elaine Sortino on players Debbie Cole and Tina Morello

Gazelles named All-American

Dennis Jackson

By PETER ABRAHAM
Collegian Staff

Pam Moryl and Carol Progulske, two standouts from the University of Massachusetts' women's lacrosse team, were named first team All-Americans for the second straight season.

Moryl led the Gazelles in scoring for the third consecutive season as UMass advanced to the Final Four at Boston University. UMass lost in the semifinals to Maryland, 9-3, Progulske, an Amherst resident, earned All-American honors for her defensive work. Moryl scored 51 goals and racked up 15 assists in 16 games.

- - - - -

Dennis Jackson, a former University of Pennsylvania assistant, has been named assistant basketball coach at UMass.

Jackson, 36, will replace current assistant Al Wolejko for the full-time position.

Jackson played for Florida A&M in the late 60s and has held assistantships at his alma mater, UPenn ad Monmouth College in New Jersey. He also was the head coach of the Junior College of Albany team in 1978. While at Penn, Jackson saw the Quakers run up a 81-38 record that included a trip to the Final Four in 1979.

- - - - -

Todd Comeau and Angelo Salustri have been named co-captains of the UMass baseball team.

Comeau, a linebacker for the Minutemen football team, earned all-New England honors this past season with a .372 batting average and a team record 55 hits. Salustri hit .322.

- - - - -

Perry Seale and Karl Hatton, both juniors, were named co-captains of the UMass lacrosse team. The Gorillas finished tenth in the nation with an 8-4 record last spring. Gerry Moreau was chosen most valuable player after a goals against average of 7.3 and a save percentage of .642 in the UMass net. Barry Cain finished out a fine career for the Gorilla's by being selected to play in the annual North-South all-star game at John Hopkins University.

- - - - -

On the women's basketball front, UMass coach Barbara Stevens has landed a quintet of quality players for this season.

Laura Boucher, a 5-7 guard from Westwood, averaged 14 points in high school and can run the offense. Susan Burtoft, a Lincoln-Sudbury High product, averaged 18 points and 15.2 rebounds (and nine blocks) as a senior. canadian Joanne Dupuis brings a 11 point average to UMass. Tara Lewis, a 5-9 forward, is also a scoring machine, having averaged 32 points for East Hartford's George Penney High. Juanita Andrews, a 5-10 transfer from Middlesex Community College, is the final recruit.

★ Moves

Continued from p. 1

"should be filled sometime during our season, but it's still up in the air."

There will be no inerease in the 1.2 million it takes to run UMass athletics, not counting scholarships.

The key to success, athletic directo Frank McInererney said are these scholarships.

"We see the increase in scholarships as paramount to help UMass teams attain success. It would be good to provide sports for everyone, but that is not the reality of college athletics. We think this is, and we expect Massachusetts to return to the excellence it once enjoyed," said McInerney.

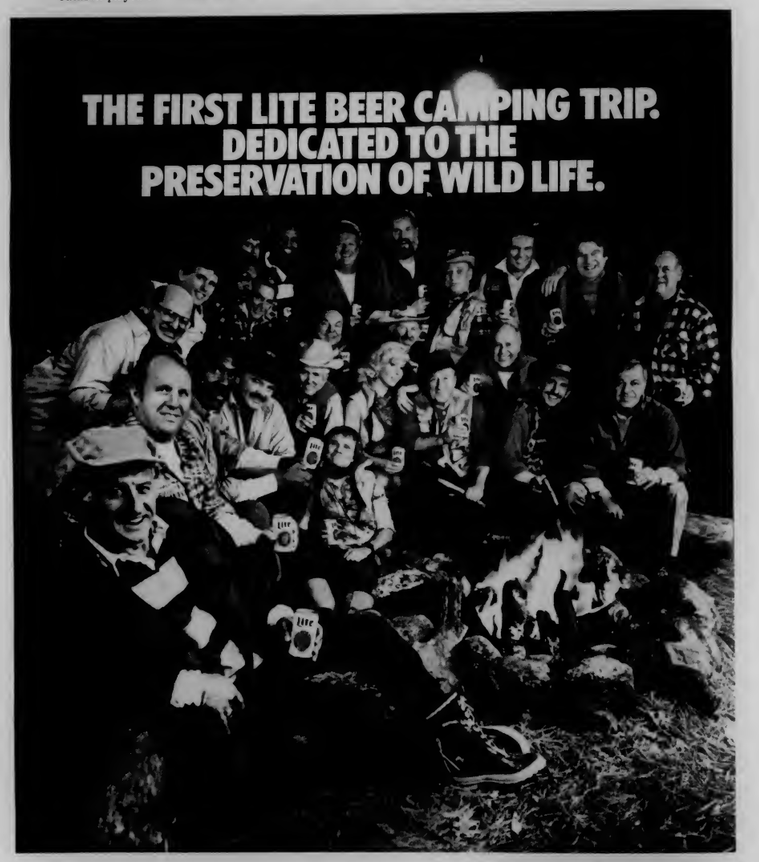
The Barber fund for scholarships almost went under in 1973 but the addition of $1 million from television appearances by the football team helped bring it back. That fund is now down to $460,000 after having to cover deficits in scholarships.

The Barber Fund gets $466,000 annually. This is made up $250,000 from the athletic trust fund, $101,000 from football and basketball gate receipts, $50,000 from vending at games, $65,000 from alumni, and $76,773 from tuition waivers. This past school year saw scholarships come to $467,73, just over the alloted amount.

This year, the expected cost is $623,495 ($157,000 more than set aside) and the waiver costs bring that amount to $214,000. 1986 costs are estimated to again climb higher and may leave the Barber Fund in the red, meaning programs would have to be cut, unless better football and basketball teams bring increased revenue, which according to the plans, they should be able to do with improved teams.

After the period of dissapointments that have characterized UMass sports (only the lacrosse team and the swimming and water polo teams had winning seasons for the men's sports), changes had to be made.

If UMass is ready to reach the level oif success it enjoyed in the 60's and 70's the scholarships were needed, but as Patrick said, "Who decided that the seven sports cut had to be cut? There has to be money available somewhere, it's a matter of finding it. Hopefully somethted out."

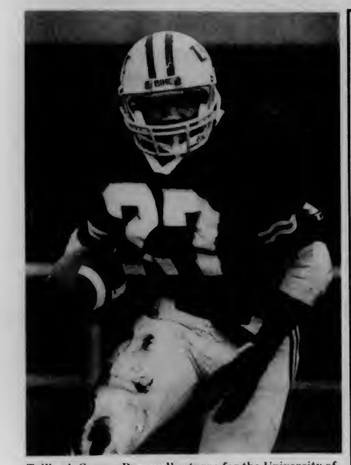


1 Ray Nitschke 2 Bert Jones
3 L C Greenwood 4 Frank Deford 5 Dick Williams
6 Buck Buchanan 7 Jim Honochick 8 Boog Powell
9 Ben Davidson 10 Grits Gresham 11 Rodney Dangerfield
12 Red Auerbach 13 Tommy Heinsohn 14 John Madden
15 Marv Throneberry 16 Bob Uecker 17 Steve Mizerak
18 Bubba Smith 19 Dick Butkus 20 Jim Shoulders
21 Corky Carroll 22 Lee Meredith 23 Mickey Spillane
24 Billy Martin 25 "Boom Boom" Geoffrion

EVERYTHING YOU ALWAYS WANTED IN A BEER. AND LESS.

© 1964 Miller Brewing Co., Milwaukee, WI

Minutemen go on the offensive



Tailback George Barnwell returns for the University of Massachusetts along with...

UMass at a glance

Last season: 3-8
Returning Letterman: 26
Lettermen Lost: 14
Type of Offense: Split back
Type of Defense: 52

Returning Starters
Offense

Player	Pos.	Ht.	Wgt.	Year
Jim Simeone	QB	6-2	220	Jr.
Don Day	LT	6-1	260	Sr.
Vince Reppert	LG	6-2	256	Jr.
Ken jRunge	C	6-1	248	Sr.
Tom McEvilly	RG	6-0	247	Jr.
Mike Briggs	OT	6-2	245	Jr.
Bon Simeone	SE	6-0	195	Sr.
George Papoutsidis	P-K	6-1	200	Jr.

Defense

Dave Cavanaugh	LB	6-4	230	Jr.
Kevin Brown	LB	6-2	215	Jr.
Peter Tracy	NG	6-2	255	Sr.
Todd Comeau	LB	6-0	236	Sr.
Michael Favreau	LB	6-0	236	Sr.
Chris Wood	CB	5-10	200	Jr.
Glenn Holden	FS	6-2	197	Sr.
Rod Turner	CB	6-2	195	Jr.

...Fullback Frank Fay. Both will have key roles in new head coach Bob Stull's Offense as will...

Stull promises "exciting football"

by PETER ABRAHAM
Collegian Staff

Don't expect miracles, but the 1984 University of Massachusetts football team will be better, much better.

"I promise you one thing, we'll be exciting," said new head coach Bob Stull. "If we execute our offense like it's planned then we'll be a tough team, it's just a matter of concentration."

Stull came to UMass from the University of Washington where he was the offensive coordinator under Don James. The Huskies were characterized by their passing attack under James and Stull and the Minutemen seem to be heading the same way.

"There are some talented receivers on this team," said Stull, "It's just a matter of getting them the ball and letting them run with it."

The responsiblity for getting the receivers the ball belongs to quarterback Jim Simeone. The 6-2, 223 pound junior started the first six games last season before being benched in favor of the now graduated Barrett McGrath. Simeone managed only a 41 percent completion rate last season and threw for three touchdowns. He was also intercepted nine times. He has a lot to prove.

"Jim's our quarterback, no doubt about it," said Stull. "He's adapting to our offense pretty well and he has a good arm. Like everyone else he just has to concentrate and minimize his mistakes. I'm very confident he can run the offense." If he can't, or gets hurt, freshman Mike Trifari is waiting.

The offense Simeone will have to run is vastly differnt than the running attack the Minutemen employed under Bob Pickett.

Two split backs will line up behind Simeone and both the split end and flaker will go in motion. The running will be quick hits into the line, the passing attack will be both a short game and, in a rarity at Alumni Stadium, UMass will throw some bombs. Boring it isn't.

The offensive weapons include tailback George Barnwell. The 5-9 steedster rushed for 402 yards last season. Fullback Frank Fay, 5-8, 180, is small for the position but is strong runner. He totaled 374 yards last year. Duckworth Grange, 5-10, 200, backs up Barnwell and will have to improve on his 204 yards rushing to see more time this fall.

Receivers include Bob Simeone, a senior split end who is his brother Jim's favorite target. The 6-0, 195 pounder caught 32 passes last season and scored three touchdowns. He had a sparkling 15.7 yards-per-catch average. Sophomore flanker John Crowley will bee seeing his first varsity action, but brings good deep speed to the attack. Tight end Paul Walsh caught only five passes last season, but will play a large role in the new offense.

The offensive line is one of the strengths of the team. All five starters return from last season along with Peter Borsari, who will be a reserve this season, but started some games last year.

Don Day (6-1, 260), Vince Reppert (6-2, 256), Ken Runge (6-1, 248), co-captain Tom McEvilly (6-0, 247) and Mike Briggs (6-2, 245) are all seasoned and ready, but must shake off the effects of a four game losing streak dating back to last season.

UMASS

"Having guys back is good" said Stull, "But a big task is shaking the losing attitude. I don't want to lose to teams we are better than, and I want to compete with teams that may be better than we are."

On defense the Minutemen are returning eight starters, four of them linebackers.

Co-captain Peter Tracy is a pre-season Division1-AA All-American. The 6-2, 255 nose guard is a force in the middle, and is flanked by two transfers, Ed Sullivan from Iowa and Mike Dwyer from Rhode Island. Both are, in Stull's words, "Capable, big, players who strengthen the line, but depth is still a question."

At linebacker, Todd Comeau, Dave Cavanaugh, Kevin Brown and Mike Favreau all return. Favreau led the team in tackles last season, Comeau started before injuring a hand, Brown started nine games and Cavanaugh has started every game in his two years at UMass.

The secondary will see cornerback Chris Wood and Rod Turner and free safety Glen Holdenback. Strong safety Paul Platek was the fifth back last year and appears ready to step in.

On special teams, placekicker George Papoutsidis nailed 15 of 15 points after last season and made ten of 16 field goals. The punting will also be handled by Papoutsidis, but he averaged a poor 31.3 average last season and freshmen Jim Tandler may see action as the season progresses.

The defense, as UMass is traditionally known for, will be strong. The offense returns a lot of players, but they are still in the process of learning a new, fairly complicated offense.

"We'll insert new stuff as the season goes on," said Stull. "But they have to concentrate on the new things first, get it down exact, that's the key to our offense, concentration on what to do, mistakes will kill us.

UMass lost several games in the late going last season after failing to score from within the 20 yard line. "This has to stop," said the coach. "Execution is always important, but within that zone its vital."

continued to p. 15

Sports Information photos

...split end Bob Simeone. The senior will be his brother Jim's main target this season.

AUGIES TOBACCO SHOP

"the Tobacco and Magazine Shop of Amherst"

108 North Pleasant St., Amherst

— Western Union Agent —

Complete lines of:

Pipes & Pipe Accessories

Tobacco -

imported/domestic for pipe or cigarettes

Cigarettes -

imported/domestic (including Indonesian clove)

Full range of domestic & imported cigars

Magazines, Paperbacks & Monarch notes

Newspapers

Mass State Lottery

Candy and sundry items

Mass souvenirs

Now Featuring: Hot Coffee to go

— New England Telephone Agent —

Open 7 days a week

Mon - Sat 6:30 - 9:00

Sunday 6:00 - 6:00

253-7896

RUSSELL'S LIQUORS

18 Main St. Downtown Amherst 253-5441

Beer

Budweiser 12 oz. cans. ..... $10.95 + dep. cse.

Narragansett 16 oz. cans. ..... $9.50 dep. cse.

Ballentine Beer 12 oz. cans. ..... $3.49 + dep. 12/pk.

Becks light or dark. ..... $4.25 + dep. 6/pk.

$16.50 + dep. cse.

Molsons Golden Ale ..... $3.69 + dep. 6/pk

$14.00 + dep. cse.

Wines

German Kabinett (assorted flavors). ..... $2.99 750 ml + up

Jug Wines (many, many brands). ..... $2.98 1.5 L + up

Champagnes (white and pink). ..... $2.99 750 ml + up

Italian Soave, Valp., Bard. ..... $3.99 1.5 L

Liquors

Vodka or Gin 80°. ..... $4.99 L + up

Piccala Coffee Liquer. ..... $6.49 750 ml

Peppermint Schnapps 60°. ..... $5.99 L

All Beer and Wine Specials are Always Cold for your Convenience

Changes

Amherst's Newest Night Club

Monday - NFL Football

Largest screen in Amherst!

50¢ Ice Cold Drafts - Hot Dogs - Much more!

Tuesday - Video Dance Music

on two picture screens.

Specials on all our drafts including

Bud, Miller & Miller Lite by the glass or pitcher!

Wednesday - Classic Night

Dance music from the past

along with drink prices from the past!

Dynasty on 2 screens from 9-10 pm

Thursday - 2 for 1 Drinks

Enter our wet T-shirt contest for guys & gals with cash prizes!

Fri and Sat - Drink Specials Continue!

Dance on our 2 level dance floor while listening to our subsonic sound system complemented by video!

Proper I.D. Required!

Andy's Pizza

Beer & Wine

Welcome Back Students

Free Delivery

from the best pizza in town

DELIVERY SPECIAL. . .

1 free liter of soda with 2 large pizzas

IN HOUSE SPECIAL. . .

Sundays between 5 - 7 all cheese pizza you can eat for $3.30

Sundays thru Thursday 3-7 Happy Hour:

Pitchers of Miller and Miller Lite $1.99

175 University Drive, Amherst

Tel. 256-8148 256-8147 Expires Sept. 30, 1984

Tough road for soccer's return to Final Four

By GERRY deSIMAS
Collegian Staff

Deceptive may be the word to describe the University of Massachusetts women's soccer team this fall.

For the third year in a row, coach Kalekeni Banda has brought in a large freshman class. And there is not a large surplus of veterans left from last year's third place finisher in the NCAA tournament.

Just seven of 14 players are back. Three seniors graduated and four starters decided not to return.

"We have to be realistic, the road to the Final Four isn't as easy as people feel. The players will have to work three times as hard."

—Coach Kalekeni Banda

The Minutemen will have to come together into a cohesive unit or it will be a long season.

For the past two seasons, however, Banda has taken similiar teams and taken them to fifth (1982) and third ('83) place finishes, nationally.

"The freshmen will be the ones who make a dent," Banda said. "We have to be realistic. The road to the Final Four isn't as easy as people feel. The players will have to work three times as hard (to earn a return trip)."

Massachusetts worked hard in preseason with triple sessions.

"We are playing high caliber soccer. We have to work hard to maintain with everybody else. We are trying to play soccer at its best," he said.

Two All-Americans head up the seven remaining veterans. Seniors Lori Stukes and Chris Taggart are both four year veterans and experienced players.

In the past four years with the duo, UMass has participated in two NCAA and AIAW championship tournaments.

"Lori has moved up one notch above everyone else," Banda said. Stukes is a two-time All-American pick.

Other returning veterans include juniors Sue Bird, Jamie Watson, sophomore goalies Lisa Ellis and Jean Paul, and Michele Rodney.

Debbie Harackeiwicz, Beth Semonik, Kristi Kelly and Nadia Komarowski, all starters in 1983, decided not to go out for the team this fall.

But Banda won't be crippled by this with an outstanding crop of freshmen coming in.

"The fishing trip was good," Banda said. "We got everyone we went after."

UMass recruited four high school All-American women and another that had played on the National Select team.

"The girls are living up to their billing," Banda said." The All-American girls are All-American girls. In pre-season, I have been impressed, most impressed."

Some of the top freshmen in training camp include Chris Schmitt, Carla Mitchell, Jolie DePauw, Chris Bowsher and Debbie Burkin. Schmitt, DePauw and Burkin all have experience on the National Select team.

Transfer Sandy Stripp from Middlebury (Burlington, VT) has also been impressive.

"The adjustment shouldn't be too much of a problem for them (the top frosh)," Banda said. "They've done their homework on the game. They want to play soccer."

The Minutemen, the defending New England Champions, have drawn a challenging slate. UMass faces Connecticut who took fourth in the NCAA's last year under the lights in Farmington, CT. in early October. They also face traditional rivals Brown, Harvard and Boston College.

UMass also faces Cortland State and the University of California, Berkley, who along with BC and Brown made the NCAA's last fall.

"If we come out of the Cortland Tourney .500 or better, I'll be happy," Banda said. UMass faces UCal-Berkley, UCal-Santa Barbara and William and Mary at the Cortland Tournament Sept. 22.

They tune up for the tourney with dates at Keene State and Plymouth State. The minutemen, who end the season with four consecutive home games, don't have a home date until Sept. 29 against Vermont.

"It's a young team," Banda said. We are going to have to work hard as a team. It's a rough road. Getting to the Final Four will be icing on the cake.

Collegian photo by Gerry deSimas

Junior Sue Bird (right) beats freshman Chris Schmitts in a drill during pre-season workouts. The Minutemen, 12-3-3 and 3rd in the nation in 1983, endured triple sessions in training camp.

UMass football facts

The Massachusetts football team is third in New England in winning percentage over the past six seasons with a .563 (36-28-0) mark. Boston University is first and Holy Cross second.

If Minuteman split end Bob Simeone can duplicate his 32 catch effort of last season he will finish his career second on the all-time list behind Tim Berra. Simeone currently has 56 receptions, Berra has 99.

Simeone is also eighth on the yards pass receiving list with 777 and could move up to third, and if coach Bob Stull's promise to pass more holds true, maybe first. Berra is again the leader, with 1,486 yards.

Geographically UMass has 55 Massachusetts players, and only 14 from outside New England, all from New York and New Jersey.

SIGN-UP NOW

Sept. 4 - 7
Boyden and NOPE Gyms
8 - 9 am
11 - 1 pm
4 - 6 pm

BODY SHOP

Co-ed Fitness Centers at 2 ON-CAMPUS LOCATIONS
NOPE and BOYDEN GYMS

SIGN-UP NOW

Sept. 4 - 7
Boyden and NOPE Gyms
8 - 9 am
11 - 1 pm
4 - 6 pm

Featuring 34 New Omnikinetic Exercise Machines

* unlimited use during open hours

Open Hours: Mon - Fri
7 am - 9 am Boyden
7:30 - 9 am NOPE
Noon - 1 pm
4 pm - 6 pm
7 pm - 9 pm (NOPE only)
Sat. 12 pm - 3 pm (NOPE only)

$45. per semester

COME IN FOR A FREE WORKOUT

during sign-up hours (see above)

* Strength Training
* Aerobic Fitness
* Muscle Testing
* Body Fat Testing
(burns more calories than jogging)

Open to Students Faculty and Staff

For more information call: 545-1555

Workouts Begin Sept. 10

Then get in on the ground floor in our undergraduate officer commissioning program. You could start planning on a career like the men in this ad have. And also have some great advantages like:

- Earning $100 a month during the school year
- As a freshman or sophomore, you could complete your basic training during two six-week summer sessions and earn more than $1100 during each session
- Juniors earn more than $1900 during one ten-week summer session
- You can take free civilian flying lessons
- You're commissioned upon graduation

If you're looking to move up quickly, look into the Marine Corps undergraduate officer commissioning program. You could start off making more than $17,000 a year

Want to move up quickly?

Maybe you can be one of us.

The Few. The Proud. The Marines.

Marines

See your Officer Selection Officer, Capt. Aumen when he visits your campus, on Sept. 24, 25 at the Campus Center, or call him at (203) 722-2168

Young players hope to continue tradition

By GERRY deSIMAS
Collegian Staff

It's the way with college athletics. People come and go. Transformations occur and yesterday's accomplishments soon get dusty and old.

No one wins on their reputation alone. Consistent winning is the objective. Those who don't consistently produce are simply a flash-in-the-pan.

"We will be inexperienced but I'm sure we'll see definite improvement as the season goes on."

The University of Massachusetts field hockey team has a lofty tradition to uphold. In the past three seasons, UMass has finished 3rd (1983), 10th (1982) and 2nd (1981) in the NCAA tournaments.

The 1984 edition of the Minutemen is one in transition. Last year's Final Four squad graduated seven seniors including All-American goalie Patty Shea and Carol Progulske.

Just six players return but two, Pam Moryl and Megan Donnelly, are All-American. The rest of the squad is freshmen and players up from junior varsity.

"The squad is pretty young," Hixon, now in her seventh year at the helm of the Minutemen said. "We will be inexperienced but I'm sure we'll see definite improvement as the season goes on.

"This is a definite rebuilding year," Hixon said. "We will definitely be making changes as the season goes on."

One change already made is the move of second team All-American Moryl from forward to midfield. Hixon said UMass hopes to spread the goal scoring around.

Junior Chris Kocot, Moryl and rookie Tonia Kennedy from New Boston, New Hampshire are hoped to be scoring. "Kennedy is very strong around the neck (the goal)," Hixon said. "She'll tally a few."

Goal production is also expected to come from defensive back Donnelly, a two-time All-American selection. Donnelly, a junior, often scores off of the penalty corner play.

Donnelly's goal in the semi-finals with 10 seconds left in regulation sent UMass and Old Dominion into overtime last fall at the Final Four. OD eventually won, 3-2.

Other veterans back include sophomore Lil Hultin and seniors Maura Coughlin and Andrea Muccini.

The freshmen will make a big contribution to the Minutemen squad. Besides Kennedy, the staff is very high on Ronni Coleman from Chesire, Ct. "She's done a good job in the midfield," Hixon said. Amy Robertson, from Colorado is also looking good after the first week of pre-season.

Two freshmen are competing with junior

continued to p. 13

Photo courtesy of Sports Information

A rebuilding year is in store for the UMass field hockey team in 1984. But UMass still has a great shot to advance to the NCAA tourney. Above, Judy Morgan swings while graduated Patti Smith watches.

WELCOME BACK

Two T.V.'s

TIME  OUT

Free Popcorn

Amherst's Biggest Little Bar

Happy Hour Daily 4 - 7

Super Sandwiches 11:30 - 1:30

37 N. Pleasant Street

SPORT SPOT

the SPOT For Your SPORTING Needs

Features

Footwear

Etonic, Tretorn, Lotto, Converse, Patrick, Mitre, Saucony, Pony, Riedell

Activewear

Bike, Danskin, Paja, Ektelon, Speedo, Swimstar, Topseed, Winning Ways

Equipment

AMF, Ektelon, Ivanko, Jofa, MacGregor, Prince, STX, Pinseeker, Titan, Pro Kennex

IN THE CAMPUS PLAZA
(Next To Super Stop & Shop)
Rte. 9, Hadley/Amherst Line

Open Sundays 12-5
Mon-Wed 10-7
Th & Fr 10-9 Sat 10-6

I'm going to Wickles! They always meet my deadlines!

Pads, Collating, ENLARGEMENTS, Typesetting, Reductions, Raffle Tickets, Letterheads, Envelopes, Raffle Tickets, Business Cards, Stapling, Postcards, Printing, Brochures, Napkins, Booklets, Printing, Flyers, Booklets, Posters, Thesis, Layout, Offset, Mailers, Labels, Stapling, Mailers, Printing, Posters, Design, Matches, Offset, Resumes, Labels, Calendars, Flyers, Newsletters, Brochures, NCR Forms, Pamphlets, Reductions, Stats

Wickles Fine Print
Amherst
1 Boltwood Walk
256-0148

can do (just about) anything!

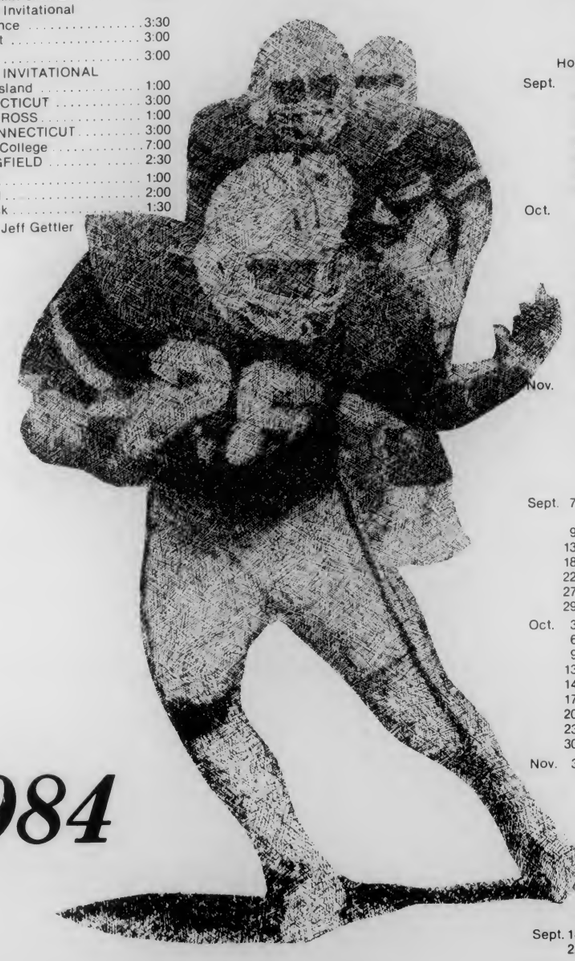
Fall Season
Athletic Schedule
1984



1984

VARSITY FOOTBALL
Home Games: Alumni Stadium

Sept.	1	BALL STATE	1:30
	8	LEHIGH	1:30
	22	at Holy Cross	1:30
	29	NORTHEASTERN	1:30
Oct.	6	at Rhode Island	1:30
	13	RICHMOND	1:30
	20	at Maine	1:30
	27	at Boston University	1:30
Nov.	3	CONNECTICUT (Homecoming)	1:00
	10	at Delaware	1:30
	17	NEW HAMPSHIRE	1:00

Coach: Bob Stull

MEN'S VARSITY SOCCER
Home Games: Upper Boyden Field

Sept.	11	BOSTON UNIVERSITY	3:30
	13	at Fairfield	4:00
	15	at Dartmouth	2:00
	19	NEW HAMPSHIRE	3:30
	21-22	at Rutgers Invitational
	26	at Providence	3:30
	29	at Vermont	3:00
Oct.	3	at Yale	3:00
	6-7	UMASS INVITATIONAL
	13	at Rhode Island	1:00
	17	CONNECTICUT	3:00
	20	HOLY CROSS	1:00
	23	SO. CONNECTICUT	3:00
	26	at Boston College	7:00
	29	SPRINGFIELD	2:30
Nov.	4	MAINE	1:00
	6	at Harvard	2:00
	10	at Hartwick	1:30

Coach: Jeff Gettler

WOMEN'S VARSITY CROSS COUNTRY

Sept.	14	at Boston College	4:00
	22	at Rhode Island Invitational	12:00
	29	at Rutgers Invitational	10:45
Oct.	6	NORTHEASTERN	11:00
	13	at Holy Cross Invitational	10:30
	20	NEW HAMPSHIRE/RHODE ISLAND/ VERMONT	1:00
	27	New Englands at Franklin Park, Boston
Nov.	10	ECAC/NCAA Div. I Qualif. at Penn State

Coach: Julie LaFreniere

WOMEN'S VARSITY SOCCER
Home Games: Upper Boyden Field

Sept.	12	at Keene State	3:30
	15	at Plymouth State	3:00
		at CORTLAND TOURNAMENT
	22	UMass vs. UCal-Berkeley	10:00
		UMass vs. UCal-Santa Barbara	4:00
	23	UMass vs William and Mary	12 Noon
	26	at Brown	7:00
	29	VERMONT	2:00
	30	COLORADO COLLEGE	11:00
Oct.	3	at Connecticut	7:30
		Tunxis Mead Field, Farmington, CT
	9	NEW HAMPSHIRE	3:00
	11	at Springfield	5:00
	14	at Cortland	1:00
	16	DARTMOUTH	3:00
	20	ADELPHI	2:00
	22	HARVARD	2:30
	27	BOSTON COLLEGE	1:00

Coach: Kalekeni Banda

VARSITY VOLLEYBALL
Home Games: AT N.O.P.E. and Boyden

Sept.	12	AMERICAN INT.	7:00
	14	UMASS INVITATIONAL	6:00 pm
	15	UMASS INVITATIONAL	9:00 am
	18	LOWELL	7:00
	22	at Central Conn. Tournament	9:00 am
	26	HOLY CROSS	7:00
	28	UMASS CLASSIC	6:00 pm
	29	UMASS CLASSIC	9:00 am
Oct.	2	MOUNT HOLYOKE	7:00
	6	at Northeastern	2:00
	10	at New Haven	7:00
	12	at Southern Conn. Tourn.	6:00 pm
	13	at Southern Conn. Tourn.	9:00 am
	19	at Delaware Tourn.	6:00 pm
	20	at Delaware Tourn.	9:00 am
	24	SMITH	7:00
	26	at West Point Tournament	4:00
	27	at West Point Tournament	9:00 am
	31	at Southern Connecticut	7:00
Nov.	3	MAIAW Tournament
	6	at Springfield	7:30
	10	at Northeastern Tournament	1:00

Coach: Elaine Sortino

VARSITY FIELD HOCKEY
Home Games: N.O.P.E. Field

Sept.	7	North Carolina-Chapel Hill at Springfield College	7:00
	9	Univ. Virginia at Boston College	10:00
	13	MICHIGAN	3:30
	18	at Boston College	7:00
	22	at Rhode Island	1:00
	27	at Providence	3:30
	29	SPRINGFIELD	10:00
Oct.	3	YALE	3:00
	6	MAINE	11:00
	9	NORTHEASTERN	3:30
	13	Temple at Old Dominion	1:00
	14	at Old Dominion	1:00
	17	at Harvard	3:00
	20	NEW HAMPSHIRE	1:00
	23	at Dartmouth	3:00
	30	BOSTON UNIVERSITY	2:30
Nov.	3	at Connecticut	1:00

Coach: Pam Hixon

MEN'S VARSITY CROSS COUNTRY

Sept.	14	at Boston College	4:00
	22	YALE	11:00
Oct.	6	CONNECTICUT	11:00
	13	Northeastern/Keene State/Lowell at Franklin Park, Boston	1:00
	20	Atlantic Ten Championship at Belmont Plateau, Fairmont Park Phil., PA
	26	Manhattan College/St. John's/ Rhode Island	4:00
		at Van Cortlandt Park, NY
Nov.	3	New Englands at Frankin Park, Boston
	10	IC4As at Lehigh

Coach: Ken O'Brien

This is the famous Budweiser beer. We know of no brand produced by any other brewer which costs so much to brew and age. Our exclusive Beechwood Ageing produces a taste, a smoothness and a drinkability you will find in no other beer at any price.

THE WORLD RENOWNED
AUSTRALIA EUROPE AFRICA AMERICA ASIA
BUDWEISER LAGER BEER

Budweiser®
KING OF BEERS®

INTRAMURAL HIGHLIGHTS

Intramural Activities

Activities	Entry Date	Starting Date	Manager's/Player's Meeting
Flag Football *†	9/7/84	9/17/84	9/13, 9/14
Frisbee*†	9/7/84	9/17/84	9/13, 9/14
Tennis Singles	9/10/84	9/17/84	9/10
Track & Field	9/24/84	10/2/84
Ice Hockey *$	10/1/84	10/15/84	10/11
Cross Country*	10/1/84	10/11/84
Badminton Singles	10/4/84	10/15/84	10/4
Volleyball †	10/15/84	10/25/84	10/23, 10/24
Racquetball*†	10/15/84	10/24/84	10/15
Foul Shooting	10/16/84	10/24/84
One on One	10/16/84	10/23/84
Swimming	11/14/84	11/14/84
Three on Three	11/14/84	11/26/84
Basketball†	(11/26/84)	(1/30/84)	12/11, 12/12
Ice Hockey*†	12/6/84	1/30/84	12/10

Co-Recreational Intramural Activities

Activities	Entry Date	Starting Date	Manager's/Player's Meeting
Flag Football*†	9/7/84	9/17/84	9/13, 9/14
Soccer*†	9/7/84	9/17/84	9/13, 9/14
Volleyball†	10/15/84	10/25/84	10/23, 10/24
Foul Shooting	10/16/84	10/24/84
Three on Three	11/14/84	11/26/84
Basketball†	(11/26/84)	(1/30/85)	12/11, 12/12

* HEALTH CLEARANCE FORMS ARE REQUIRED
$ Non-refundable Entry Fee is REQUIRED
†Re-entry bond required after each forfeit
()Please note the expanse of time between entry and starting dates!

this Bud's for you!

We'd like to welcome you back with a
SPECIAL
STUDENT DISCOUNT on Nautilus, Racquetball, and Indoor Tennis

Just use the coupon below for $5.00 off our already low student memberships.

$5.00 OFF

This coupon entitles bearer to a special membership discount from

THE RACQUET AND FITNESS CENTER

Rt. 116 Sunderland (3 miles from UMass.)

Good until Sept. 15th 549-4545 C

First and Best in Amherst

PIZZA

	Lg.	Sm.
Plain	$5.25	$2.90
Mushroom	$7.05	$4.00
Olive	$7.05	$4.00
Onion	$6.95	$3.90
Pepper	$6.95	$3.90
Salami	$6.95	$3.90
Sausage	$6.95	$3.90
Pepperoni	$6.95	$3.90
Hamburg	$6.95	$3.90
Anchovies	$6.95	$3.90
Pastrami	$6.95	$3.90
Ham	$6.95	$3.90
Bacon	$6.95	$3.90
Pepper & Onion	$8.05	$4.45
Two-way comb.	$8.05	$4.45
Three-way comb.	$9.05	$4.95
Four-way comb.	$9.60	$5.30
House Special	$11.95	$6.45

SPAGHETTI

With Sauce	$2.60
With Sausage	$3.00
With Meat Balls	$3.00

	Lg.	Sm.
Extra Cheese	$1.40	80¢
Extra Meat	$1.50	80¢

GRINDERS

	Lg.	Sm.
Salami	$2.85	$1.75
Meatless	$2.70	$1.65
Genova Salami	$3.10	$1.95
Meat Ball	$3.05	$1.90
Sausage	$3.05	$1.90
Ham	$3.05	$1.90
Italian	$3.05	$1.90
Tuna Fish	$3.50	$2.15
Roast Beef	$3.70	$2.30
Pastrami	$3.70	$2.30
Ham & Egg	$3.05	$1.90
Pepper & Egg	$3.05	$1.90

SALADS

Tossed Salad	$2.20
Greek Salad	$2.75

"12 years of quality in every bite"

Bell's Pizza House

Tel. 549-1311 Tel. 253-9051

65 University Drive
Amherst, Mass.

Bell's Pizza, it's not just for breakfast anymore!!

COMPUTERIZED BUY-BACK

CASH FOR BOOKS

ONLY AT

The Campus Center Concourse

next to the University Store

Tuesday 9/4 - Friday 9/7

9:00 am - 4:00 pm

Saturday Sept. 8 10:00 am - 3:00 pm

FAST • EFFICIENT • RELIABLE

Coming this week:

Soccer, crew and golf previews

Sports Staff Meeting

come on downtown

There's no place like downtown Amherst, Massachusetts.

New players will need to produce

Ultimate

Anyone interested in playing Ultimate Frisbee for UMass should attend the first practice of the season in front of Alumni Stadium on Monday at 3:30.

For more information contact Jordan at 549-5590 or Taara at 256-6709.

Football

All candidates for the University of Massachusetts football team, including freshmen, should attend a meeting today at 7:30 in Boyden Building, room 249.

Collegian

All members of the Collegian sports staff should attend a staff meeting on Monday at 4:30 at the Collegian newsroom in the campus center. Anyone interested in a beat or column writing must attend this meeting.

Prepare Yourself!
For a clash of cultures. The exciting premier collection from In Wear • of Denmark blends the functional palette of Chinese workwear with the classic elegance of Europe in the 30's. Combine the elements to create your own personal style. See it all now At Chona.
Chona
CONTEMPORARY FASHION AND SHOES
Thornes Marketplace, Northampton 584-7803

SPORTSMAN'S MARINA

• Grumman Canoes
• Alcort Sunfish
•CANOE RENTALS

Located at the foot of the Coolidge Bridge

ROUTE 9, HADLEY

1-584-7141

Campus Card.

Welcome, University of Massachusetts students!

No matter what your schedule or workload is, you can now do your banking at a nearby X-Press 24. There's only one card that lets you do all your regular banking at more than 500 X-Press 24s around Massachusetts—the BayBanks X-Press 24™ Card.

To get your card, just visit our Amherst Office at 75 East Pleasant Street, today. Look for us in the green and white tent there.

You'll receive Free Campus Gifts when you open your account.

Try Something Better®

IS THIS ANY TIME TO THINK ABOUT ARMY ROTC?

It's the perfect time.
You're a freshman, right? And you want to make college a real learning experience?

Well ROTC can add a valuable dimension to your college education. A dimension of leadership and management training. And that'll make your degree worth more.

ROTC offers scholarship and financial opportunities, too.

Plus, the opportunity to graduate with a commission and begin your future as an officer.

For more information, contact your Professor of Military Science.

ARMY ROTC. BE ALL YOU CAN BE.

For more information contact: Jim Mahoney 545-2321/2322

Cross-country prepares

By PETER ABRAHAM
Collegian Staff

To many, it seems like a highly individual sport, a lone figure running through the woods, alone in planning strategy. But cross country, for winning teams, takes a group effort.

"You need to set a tactic, stay with it, and to do that you need a group of runners who know each other and themselves," said University of Massachusetts coach Ken O'Brien, an 18 year coaching veteran.

The Minutemen, both the men's and women's team, are coming off of sub-par duel meet seasons. The men went 3-13, the women 2-3. However, both O'Brien and new women's coach Caroline Gardiner have high hopes for the coming season.

"We have a young team, and a tough schedule," said O'Brien. "But we've got some quality runners returning."

A trio of sophomores, Paul Stanislawzyk, Wayne Levy and John Novak are expected to pace the men.

"All three of these athletes were big parts of the team last season and should be our top three this year," noted O'Brien.

Juniors John Panaccione and Jack Marinilli complete the top five. A group of 17 freshmen, who O'Brien termed "the best recruiting class since I've been here," will undoubtedly figure into the picture.

"Several of these guys will crack the top and make definite contributions," said O'Brien. "We'll work them slowly and platoon a lot of the team to rest some guys. The development of this team, because it is so young, will pay off big in the future and even this season for the winter and spring track seasons." said the coach.

The women's team, now under another UMass grad in Gardiner, went fourth in New England last year. They return three top runners and a host of sophomores who can break into the lineup.

Seniors Kim Baker, Maureen O'Reilly and Chris Pratt will battle it out for the top three positions. Senior Doreen Erickson and sophomores Sally Howes, Eileen Kelly, Diedre Doyle and Julie Ott all have experience and will be factors according to Gardiner.

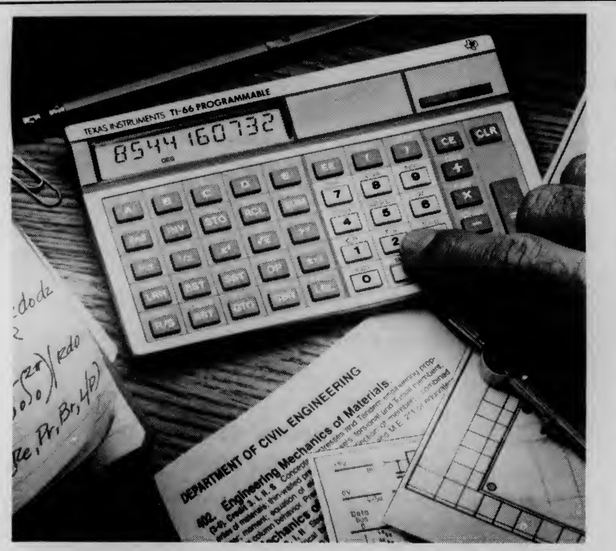
A pair of freshmen prospects, Sarah Kitchell and Sandra Storey, have "The potential to make a big splash for us," said Gardiner. "They're good runners and will really help."

The women face a tough schedule that includes Boston College and Northeastern.

With only the first ten days of school to prepare, both O'Brien and Gardiner have some work ahead of them. "It's tough at first, but once we get going we'll be able to tell a lot about this crew," said O'Brien.

"All I can ask for is that they push themselves and become better as the season progresses," said Gardiner. "If they do that, the team will get better, and that's all I can expect."

Collegian photo by Jim Powers
Senior Chris Pratt is one of the top runners on the women's cross country team. The women hope to improve on their fourth place New England finish.



Is your calculator in the same class you are?

Move up to the TI-66. The easy 512 step programmable.

You're into higher math and your old calculator helped get you there.

But now it's time for something more. The TI-66 from Texas Instruments. The TI-66 offers full programming power and flexibility so you can solve complex and repetitive math problems quickly, easily and with fewer keystrokes than you thought possible. Its 512 merged program steps and over 170 built-in scientific, engineering and statistical functions make for powerful programming. And the sleek, streamlined design makes for easy use.

Its Algebraic Operating System makes it easy on your brain by allowing you to key in problems as they are written, left to right. And a 10-digit angled Liquid Crystal Display not only makes it easy on your eyes but provides alphanumeric notation of your program steps so you can make easy modifications as you go along.

There are large, readable keys for your fingers, and an easy-to-follow guidebook so you shouldn't get confused. And last, but certainly not least, at a suggested retail of $69.95, there's a price that's easy on your pocketbook.

All in all, if we made the TI-66 programmable calculator any easier to use, it would deserve its own degree.

TEXAS INSTRUMENTS
Creating useful products and services for you.

Test the waters. Do an internship.

Office of Internships
16 Curry Hicks Bldg.
545-0727

Paul's Shoe Service

Repairs of Men's and Women's Shoes

Put "sole" in your shoes with Vibram and Crepe Soles!

Invisible Soles & Heels
Tennis & Docksider Soles

No. 10, 103 No. Pleasant St., Amherst
(Downstairs)

STUDENTS ROOM SIZE RUGS

FOR YOUR DORM OR APARTMENT

BACK-TO-SCHOOL RUG SALE

PLENTY OF STOCK TO CHOOSE FROM

322 College St.
Amherst, MA.
Rte. 9
1 mile East of Amherst Center
253-3946

FLOOR TRENDS

ERIC'S GIANT SUBS

— BREAKFAST —
lunch - supper
open Mon thru Fri
6 am to 6 pm
Sat 6:30 am to 3 pm

— Eat In or Take Out -
314 College Street, Rte. 9, Amherst
Call 253-9521

★Field hockey

Continued from p. 7

Kathryn Rowe for the starting goalie's job. Rowe saw limited action playing behind the now-departed Shea last year.

"We have some good goalies," Hixon said. "They just need some experience just like Patty (Shea) did a few years ago." Shea was a four-year starter for the Minutemen.

The freshmen will have to grow up in a hurry, though. Massachusetts opens its regular season Friday against North Carolina on the artificial turf at Springfield College. UMass and UNC Played to a 0-0 tie last year, as UMass posted a 15-3-2 record.

And then on Sunday, UMass faces Virginia at Boston College.

"It's a tough one (schedule)," Hixon said. "It's good. We worked hard to get it. When your in Division I field hockey, you have to play the best."

Besides UNC, UMass faces four other NCAA tournament qualifiers in 1983—Temple, New Hampshire, arch-rival Connecticut and defending National champion Old Dominion.

Matches with Michigan, Boston College and Rhode Island are also on tap.

"My philosophy ever since I took this job-seven years ago," Hixon said, "was to play one game at a time, play our best and then prepare for the next one.

"It's the only way to do it."

UMass has been preparing for the upcoming campaign with triple sessions on alternate days. Pre-season camp also included workouts on the turf at Springfield College. Both of the season's first two games will be on turf.

"We need to scrimmage on the turf, especially with so many younger players," Hixon said.

"If we can keep being simple," Hixon said, "we'll be able to see through the inexperience easier. I think this will be a young and exciting team this fall."

And if things can hold consistent as in past years, the UMass field hockey team could be competing in the Final Four which will be held at Springfield College this November.

Friday Afternoon at Mikes

MIKE'S WESTVIEW CAFE

A HAPPY HOUR YOU CAN LIVE WITH FOOD - ALL YOU CAN CARRY FOR $1.

Eggplant Parmesan
Sausages
Beef Stroganoff
Cold Cuts
Salads
Swedish Meatballs and more
Marinated Chicken
tax and tip included

Welcome Back UMass

Coming October 1st to Clark Olds Pontiac in EASTHAMPTON

The New Oldsmobile Calais and Pontiac Grand Am for 1985

Also avail: a large selection of Firebirds, Trans Ams, Fieros, Olds Firenzas and Cutlass Supremes also CLEAN, LOW MILEAGE USED CARS

*Make the drive to EASTHAMPTON, you'll probably save hundreds$!

1985 Fiero SE 2M6 6 cyl.

Clark OLDSMOBILE PONTIAC Est. 1928
32 Union St. Easthampton
527-4461/584-3544

PIZZARAMA

253-3808
or 256-0115

PIZZARAMA with its friendly and experienced personnel
WELCOMES YOU BACK!
PIZZARAMA is ready to serve you
QUICKLY AND EFFICIENTLY its delicious PIZZAS and GRINDERS which for ten years have won over numerous gourmets and have always satisfied their appetite.
Try our PIZZAS and GRINDERS and you will agree!
FREE DELIVERY

356 COLLEGE STREET
AMHERST, MA 01002

The following RSO Groups have Accounts in the Student Activities Trust Fund that have been suspended and are pending withdrawal from the RSO System. To reactivate the RSO Accounts listed below contact the Business Manager in the Student Activities Office, Room 416 Student Union Building, 545-3600, between 1:00 pm and 4:00 pm weekdays.

Sims
Air Force ROTC
Dart Club
Karate-Isshinryn
Tai Chi Chuan Club
Mens Vs Viol Vs Women
Arab Organization
Union Iranian St.
Young Workers Liberation Lea.
Pre Medical Society
Solar Energy Coll.
Kappa Delta Pi
Phi Eta Sigma
Pi Lambda Phi
Sigma Alpha Mu
Roister Doisters
Christian Science Club
SCANN
Wu Shu Club
Pioneer Valley L-5 Society
Naiads
Volleyball Club
Democratic Student Comm.
The Real Majority
Center for Women of Color
Circle K Club
Iranian Student Association
Big Business Club
Beta Chi
Micron Nu Society
Phi Mi Delta
Sigma Alpha Epsilon
Theta Chi
New Testament Fellowship
Navigators

Volleyball, experienced and ready

By GERRY deSIMAS
Collegian Staff

The United States women's Olympic volleyball team won a silver medal at the Los Angeles Olympics because they had a solid core of players that were experienced and knew what each other was doing.

The University of Massachusetts women's volleyball team has a chance to have a successful season this fall because for the first time in coach Elaine Sortino's six years here, UMass has a solid core of returning veterans to build around.

"We have a core back which is nice," Sortino said. "With a core back, it takes away some of the uncertainty. It makes the younger people more relaxed."

The minutemen have a tough road ahead of them if they hope to repeat last season's 38-16 record and first-ever ECAC championship.

Seven veterans are back and Sortino said that the team is working on things now that they did late last season.

"It's nice to pick up and move on instead of going back to square one," Sortino said.

The veterans are led by senior Patti Grant, a four-year starter. Grant, and her sister Susie are the team's setters.

Juniors Sally Maher (5'8) and Ann Ringrose are looking very strong overall, the coach said. 6'0 Leslie Smith, recovered from a shoulder injury last season "will be a nice big wall," Sortino said.

Sophomores Mickey Barys, Susie Grant, Debbie Cole and freshmen Dana Parker, Sarah Ryan Marcie Guiliotis, Cheryl Alves, and Tina Morello round out the roster.

"I've been very pleased with the first week of practice (triple sessions). We have been doing a lot of good things," Sortino said. Cole (5'1) and Morello (5'0) the two shortest players on the team, will be defensive specialists for the Minutemen.

"They are like mosquitoes back there," Sortino said. "I don't have to ask them to dive. They go for the floor. They'll kill themselves to get the ball."

Ryan and Guiliotis will be sharing the middle blocker position. "We lost three middle blockers last year," Sortino said. "It's a key position." One graduated and two others, Kirsten Smith, a starter, and Ellen Deady, decided not to return to the team.

Collegian photo by Jim Powers

Sally Maher, shown here last season, is one of the keys to the UMass attack.

"The whole team has a good attitude and they are all working hard," Sortino said. And they'll have to if they want to attain the goals Sortino wants them to reach.

Sortino wants the team to better last seasons winning percentage of .692, make MAIAW State championship finals and qualify for post-season play.

And they also want to have a good showing in the tournaments, including a top four finish in the UMass Classic and UMass Invitational.

"We have a very hard schedule," Sortino said. "We play every weekend. From start to finish we play about 50 matches."

The majority of the Minutemen's matches will be on the road. Only the UMass two tournaments and dual meets against Lowell, AIC Holy Cross, Smith, and Mt. Holyoke will be at home in Boyden Gym.

It's a tough schedule but with veterans Sortino feels the Minutemen can handle it.

UM water polo hunts for title

By PETER ABRAHAM
Collegian Staff

They play in anonymity.

The water polo team at the University of Massachusetts finished with an 18-9-1 record last season on the way to a third place finish in New England and an eighth place finish in the East.

Outside of coach Russ Yarworth and the 17 players, few people probably know this.

"We had a great season, and outside of lacrosse, few men's teams at UMass can say that," said Yarworth. "And this year I expect we'll do better."

Despite the graduation of top scorer (64 goals, 16 assists) Chris Porter, the team has solid prospects to make the Eastern Championships again this season.

UMass garnered an at-large bid to the Easterns last season after its third place NE finish. The top two regional teams get bids along with two at-large teams. New rules call for only varsity programs to be eligible for the Easterns, but the club UMass team, if they finish second in this region, may force an exception.

"Brown is an automatic first place, that's definite," said Yarworth. "Last year, second went to Harvard, they're weaker this year and the other teams haven't improved, that leaves the door open to us."

This year's team will be paced by senior driver Paul McNeil. With a strong outside shot and skills developed by a 1982 visit to the Junior Developmental Camp in Colorado Springs, Colorado, McNeil should be one of the top scoring threats.

Sophomore Mike Hoover has the potential, according to Yarworth, to be the most dominant player in New England. He is returning from Colorado Springs and this year's camp.

The defense rests on the ability of untested goalie Fred Marius. Marius played in just two games last year and must replace the steady Andre Lamontagne in the nets.

Other key players include holeman Bill Feeney, Phil Surette, Bob Cameron and sophomores Owen McGonagle and Bob McGillicuddy. Freshmen who should contribute include Bob Shephard and John Geanacopulos.

Yarworth swam at UMass before becoming coach in 1979. UMass finished sixth in NE in 1982, third last year, "and the logical progession is second," said Yarworth. "We can do it if everything comes together."

UMass opens its season at home (Boyden Pool) next Tuesday at 3:30. The UMass Tourney will be October 13. Rhode Island, Connecticut and Queens College are expected to attend.

What's the condition of YOUR student body?

We will offer you a 10% membership discount to improve it!

Long hours in a classroom, and more hours buried in textbooks will benefit your mind, but your body may suffer. We want to help you relieve the stresses of academia while you shape a better body.

We have the most extensive line of exercise equipment and free weights in the Northampton-Amherst area. Our aerobics/exercise room is custom-designed with resilient flooring, mirrored walls and a great sound system.

Our facilities include:

- A complete line of free weights and benches
- A wide range of cam resistance machines
- Personalized workout plans for all levels
- A clean, spacious, well-organized exercise area and separate locker rooms
- A complete selection of vitamins and supplements
- Therapeutic massage by licensed technicians
- Professionally trained fitness instructors
- Classes in aerobics, jazzdance exercise,and body shaping.

Open to members and non-members.

Come in to meet the staff and see our club! Or call 584-2175 for more information on our programs and classes.

PIONEER WEIGHT CLUB

"For The Body You Want!"
139B Damon Road • Northampton • 584-2175

BUB'S Bar - B - QUE

PIONEER VALLEY
SPRINGFIELD NORTHAMPTON BRATTLEBORO
RESTAURANTS

NEW REVIEW | Bub's BarBQ looks like a place devoted not to Dining Out but rather to Eats — plain wood-paneled walls, picnic tables decorated with rolls of paper towels, and a generally post-WW II ambience. Behind the counter is a scene from the Inferno. Bub, or a lesser demon, pitching huge racks of ribs onto a fiery grill. Ah, but the results are divine: rich, bounteous barbecued pork and beef, unlimited quantities of brothy vegetable soup, jambalaya, black-eyed peas, and plenty of Rolling Rock on tap to wash it down. Rte 116, Sunderland, (413) 253-9932. Mon-Thur 4-10, Fri-Sun 12-10. Inexpensive. N, personal checks.

$3.95 - $7.95 Includes Bub's Famous Hot Bar & Soup

"If you like Bar-B-Que, You'll LOVE Bub's!"

Daily:
11:30 - 10:00
Sunday:
1:00 - 9:00

Route 116
Sunderland, Mass.

Collegian photo by Andy Heller

Massachusetts football coach Bob Stull

Yankee Conference: BU is it

By PETER ABRAHAM
Collegian Staff

It's difficult for a college newspaper not to select its own team as first in a preseason football poll. But as the Yankee Conference season approaches, certain facts stand out.

UMass was better than its 3-8 record indicated last season. But the Minutemen are not ready to claim another Yankee Conference title.

Both Boston University and the University of New Hampshire boast outstanding running backs, Paul Lewis and Andre Garron respectively, and back them up with veteran defenses.

The University of Connecticut has quarterback Larry Corn returning along with solid receivers and backs. Maine has quarterback Rick Labonte returning and Rhode Island has a good transfer quarterback and receiver Dameon Reilly.

The selections:

1. Boston University: The Terriers went to the quarterfinals of the Division 1-AA championship last season thanks to Lewis, and the All-American tailback is coming back to run over the Yankee Conference.

A quarterback is needed to replace Jim English but 16 starters return including nine on defense. 5-0.

2. New Hampshire, a surprising tenth in the Sports Illustrated poll, UNH will depend on Garron to carry their conference hopes. The junior tailback rushed for over 1,000 yards last season on way to 18 touchdowns. Rick Leclerc returns as quarterback and defensively the linebackers and defensive ends are tough. 4-1.

3. Connecticut: Gone are linebackers John Dorsey and Vernon Hargreaves but the Huskies have Corn at quarterback and two solid receivers in Brian McGillicuddy and Mike Walsh. The running is set with tailback Billy Parks. 3-2.

4. Massachusetts: Fourth isn't so bad in this league. The questions are: Can Jim Simeone be the quarterback everyone thinks he can be? Will the team adjust to new coach Bob Stull with success? Does UMass have the receivers to go to the air more often? The offensive line is strong, the running backs have talent, but UMass is at least a year away. 2-3.

5. Rhode Island: CW Post's loss was URI's gain. The Rams picked up transfer Tom Ehrhardt to quarterback this season and the junior has Reilly to pass to. The RI speedster caught 32 passes for 588 yards last season. But one offensive weapon and a suspect defense mean a tough time in Kingston. 1-4.

6. Maine: Stick to baseball up there guys. The Black Bears Quarterback Rich Labonte was an All-American but sat out much of last season with injuries. When the media guide boasts about the kicking game, things are tough. 0-5.

★ Football

Continued from p. 3

The Minutemen face, in addition to the Yankee Conference, powerful Holy Cross, Northeastern and Lehigh (on Saturday). The going will not be easy, but Stull isn't starting to worry about the future.

"I don't know anything about the conference," said the coach. "BU and New Hampshire both are strong, but after that it's pretty balanced. We could be right in there, maybe not, I don't know to tell the truth. There are a lot of question marks in my mind, about us and about other teams."

UMass should average more than the weak 12.8 points-per-game they had last season, the offense is innovative, the defense is strong. It should be, if nothing else, interesting.

★ Abraham

Continued from p. 1

The reality is this: schools like Harvard, BU, Brown, Holy Cross, every Atlantic 10 school, and all UMass opponents in every sport, spend money to make their teams better.

If the administration isn't ready to put more money into the athletic department, but still demand better teams, than something had to be done, sports had to be cut. It's too bad that the seven varsity programs were dropped, but they had little potential for success, they were not popular. Athletic director Frank McInereney had to do something and like any team, those who can't cut it are released.

Personally, I like the idea, I think it was done in kind of a lousy fashion, the athletic department should have given the phase out period for the seven cut sports, not the Trustees. But until the administration comes up with the money needed to properly run a respectable athletic department, it had to be done.

Good friends keep you going when all you want to do is stop.

Your feet hurt. Your legs hurt. Even your teeth hurt.

But your friends thought you looked terrific. And with them urging you on, your first 10 kilometer race didn't finish you. You finished it.

Now that you have something to celebrate, make sure your support team has the beer it deserves. Tonight, let it be Löwenbräu.

Löwenbräu. Here's to good friends.

THE SOUND COMPANY'S

STORES OPEN THURSDAY• FRIDAY NITE

BACK TO SCHOOL SPECIALS

STORES OPEN THURSDAY• FRIDAY NITE

AKAI JENSEN AM/FM Stereo Cassette & Phono Component Music System
SAVE $200 399.99

Emerson
AM/FM Stereo Cassette Phono Music System
SAVE $100 249.99

Technics COMPACT STEREO DISC PLAYER
SAVE $200 299.99

AVID 80 TOP RATED SPEAKERS
SAVE $70 79.99 ea.

Panasonic AM/FM STEREO (box) CASSETTE
SAVE $30 $89.99

Emerson
12" B & W T.V.
SAVE $30 59.99

Technics LINEAR TRACKING TURNTABLE
SAVE $60 109.99

AKAI SOFT TOUCH DOLBY CASSETTE
SAVE $30 109.99

Technics DOLBY & DBX CASSETTE RECORDER
SAVE $40 129.99

Technics SEMI AUTO BELT DRIVE TURNTABLE
SAVE $20 69.99

CROWN CAR AM/FM STEREO CASSETTE
SAVE $40 39.99

JENSEN JENSEN CAR AM/FM STEREO CASSETTE
SAVE $80 89.99

ALPINE AM/FM STEREO AUTO REVERSE CASSETTE
SAVE $20 139.99

Technics TECHNICS 35 WATT AM/FM RECEIVER
SAVE $40 129.99

SINCE 1961

The Sound Company

AMHERST 201 N. PLEASANT STREET 256-0744 Open Thurs. & Friday Evenings 'til 9 P.M.

CHICOPEE FAIRFIELD Mall near Caldors 593-5330 Open Every Evening 'til 9:30 P.M. Open Sunday 12-5

SPRINGFIELD 477 SUMNER AVE (at the x) 736-3626 Open Thurs. & Fri Till 9 P.M.

SPRINGFIELD BOSTON RD Marshall's Plaza 782-7082 Open Thurs. & Fri Till 9 P.M.

NO RAIN CHECKS Quantities Limited All items not available in all stores and NO DEALERS

the other voice

Volume CXIV, Issue 72 Wednesday September 5, 1984

DON'T TALK DOWN TO ME. DON'T BE POLITE TO ME. DON'T TRY TO MAKE ME FEEL NICE. DON'T RELAX. I'LL CUT THE SMILE OFF YOUR FACE. YOU THINK I DON'T KNOW WHAT'S GOING ON. YOU THINK I'M AFRAID TO REACT. THE JOKE'S ON YOU. I'M BIDING MY TIME, LOOKING FOR THE SPOT. YOU THINK NO ONE CAN REACH YOU, NO ONE CAN HAVE WHAT YOU HAVE. I'VE BEEN PLANNING WHILE YOU'RE PLAYING. I'VE BEEN SAVING WHILE YOU'RE SPENDING. THE GAME IS ALMOST OVER SO IT'S TIME YOU ACKNOWLEDGE ME. DO YOU WANT TO FALL NOT EVER KNOWING WHO TOOK YOU?

Inflammatory Essay by Jenny Holzer

An exhibition of the offset posters, electronic message boards and a banner by JENNY HOLZER will be on view at the University Gallery, University of Massachusetts at Amherst from September 15-October 26, 1984.

Theater for a new age

By CHRISTINE MARINI
Collegian Staff

After five years of successfully showcasing the theatrical works of non-European peoples, the Third World Theater series at the University of Massachusetts is changing its name to the New World Theater. According to Program director Roberta Uno Thewell, a member of the UMass Theater Department faculty, the name-change is symbolic of the evolution the series has experienced since its inception in 1979.

"We felt a name-change was timely because the program has grown beyond our original need to identify the type of theater we project. After five years, I think the community knows we offer a comparative look at the various theaters of Black, Hispanic, Asian, and Native American peoples; however, theater-goers and actors have sometimes felt our former name indicated a separist philsophy. Our new name more accuratley reflects our reality as a multi-racial program and also our optimism about the future of the American theater," Thewell stated.

The New World Theater series presents theatrical works by touring companies, and in addition stages two original productions yearly. These are presented by the New World Theater Ensemble, an acting troupe of local students which was established in 1983. Dian Mandel, administrator for the New World Theater, is enthusiastic about the opportunities the Ensemble provides for students.

"The Ensemble allows people of color to experience theater as European theater could not. It provides them with weekly training in theater production and acting, working from materials with the kind of substantial roles (for people of color) that traditional European plays rarely provide," she said. The multi-racial Ensemble is cast each year from area students and forms the core of an expanding actor pool for the New World Theater productions held in the Valley. Auditions for the Ensemble are held each September.

The New World Theater also sponsors an internship program in areas of theatre production and administration, and a colloquium/workshop series, which has been very successful. "The colloquium was designed to promote cultural diversity along with a better understanding of productions," Mandel said. "The workshops privide a context where guest artists can interact with their audience." This one-credit colloquium involves readings and a final paper as well as attendence at the semester's productions and workshops. Those interested can register at the first production.

The fall 1984 New World Theater series, which marks its tenth season, will open with Love to All, Lorraine, a touching drama based upon the life of the late playwright Lorraine Hansberry, on October 13. On November 17, the New World Theater presents Life in the Fast Lane, starring Japanese-Hawaiian poet Lane Nishikawa. The final production will feature the New World Theater Ensemble in Miguel Pinero's Short Eyes, a powerful look at racial tension inside a prison. The show will run November 29 through December 8 under the direction of Smith College faculty member Patricia Gonzales, with Lee Elliot Hammond, a UMass student, as assistant director. In its efforts to be accessable to all of the commnunity, the New World Theater keeps ticket prices low and provides free childcare at all Bowker Auditorium shows.

Other voice photo by Andy Heller

Eon John, staff assistant with Dian Mandel, administrator of the New World Theater.

The Smith College Theater Department has announced its fall 1984 schedule. Moliere's The School for Wives will run October 25, 26, 27, 31, and November 1, 2, and 3. Michel Tremblay's comic/tragic Canadian masterpiece Les Belles Soeurs will be presented December 6, 7, 8, 12, 13, and 14. All performances begin at 8 pm and are staged in Theatre 14. For ticket information call 584-3023.

River Valley Crafts

FIND THE NEW YOU AT RVC

Men's and Women's clothing and accessories
14 K and sterling silver jewelry and gifts

River Valley Crafts at the Triangle M-S 10-5:30

HOWARD JOHNSONS

Welcomes All Students with great Weekly Specials!!

★ All You Can Eat SUNDAY Brunch
$4.99
Bacon
Sausage
Scrambled Eggs
Waffles
Pancakes
Fruit

★ Monday Night
Veal and Spaghetti Night!!
Order any $3.95 plate
of veal and spaghetti
and you receive a free glass of wine, not to mention seconds on the house!!

★ Also ★ Wednesday - All You Can Eat
$3.99 Clam or Fish Fry

50¢ Drafts in 12 oz. Mug!!

HOWARD JOHNSONS
Today's Quality
At Yesterday's Prices
these specials in Hadley store only
(Rte. 9)

Black Uhuru hits the SUB

Union Program Council (UPC), the folks that brought such musical artists to the UMass campus last year as UB40, the B-52's, and Elvis Costello, have announced this semester's first concert. On Wednesday, September 19, Black Uhuru, with Sly Dunbar, Robbie Shakespeare, and special guests, will appear in the UMass Student Union Ballroom. The concert is a joint production of UPC and the Duke Ellington Committee. Ticket prices are $9.50 for UMass students and $11.50 for the general public. Tickets go on sale Friday, September 7, and are available at the Fine Arts Center box office (starting at 10:00 am) and at all Datatix outlets in Stop'n Shop locations in Northampton, Holyoke, Pittsfield, Greenfield, and at the Springfield Civic Center box office. For more information about the concert call UPC at 545-2892.

The first Union Program Council general meeting of the fall 1984 semester will be held on Tuesday, September 11. Anyone interested in joining UPC should be there. The meeting will be held in room 163 of the Campus Center (downstairs) at 6:30 pm. New students are welocme and encouraged to join. For more information call UPC at 545-2892.

Black Uhuru

the other voice

113 Campus Center
University of Massachusetts
Amherst, Massachusetts, 01003

Editor: Christine Marini
Contributing Staff: Peter Abraham, Mary Cresse, Andy Heller, Peter Wissoker
Production: Mark Roden, Dode Levenson, Ansel Zinter

Tenors, Basses with sightsinging skills wanted.
Mount Holyoke Chapel Choir.
Eight Wednesday evenings, five Sunday mornings thru December.
$3.90/hr. Audition.
538-2343.

SAVE AT ELEK-TEK
TEXAS INSTRUMENTS
BA 2 $33 TI-55-2 $33
TI-MBA 25 TI-57 22
BA 55 43 TI-LCD-PROG 50
TI-94 52
BA-55
EL 5100T $43 PC 1250A $80
EL 5500T 70 SHARP CE 125 119
CE 126P 55 PC 1500A 160
EL 512T 28 CE-150 165
HEWLETT-PACKARD
LCD PROBLEM SOLVERS
HP-11C Scientific $56
HP-15C Scientific 90
HP-12C Financial 90
HP-16C Programmer 90
HP-41CV $168
HP-41CX 245
Optical Wand $ 95
Card Reader 145
Printer (82143A) 283
HP-IL ACCESSORIES
HP-IL Module $95
HP-IL Printer/Plotter 335
Acoustic Modem 395
Dig. Cassette Drive 335
Thinkjet Printer 375
DS/DD Disk Drive 600
HP-41CV $168
TOLL FREE ORDER LINE
800-621-1269
EXCEPT Illinois, Alaska, Hawaii
ELEK-TEK, inc.

THE ARTS ARE WAITING
Music, Theater and Dance Instruction
Private and group instruction with special classes for UMass students, children and senior citizens.
PERFORMING ARTS DIVISION
Old Chapel/UMass
Register by Sept. 13
(413) 546-0519

Barsie's

43 N. Pleasant St.
Amherst, MA 01002

FALL SEMESTER SCHEDULE

M	T	W	T	F	S	S
PINK DAY	BEER MUGS $3.25	$1 OFF	S.	BARSIES		RECUPE DAY
PINKS $1	MUG DAY	ALL PITCHERS	H APPY	BLACKBOARD		$1 DRINK
PITCHERS $4.50	REFILLS .50	HUMP DAY	I T'S	SPECIALS		SPECIALS
PINK DAY	MUG DAY	HUMP DAY	T HURSDAY			RECUPE DAY

Change the way you see yourself

Solar Nails
Body Waxing
Hair Design
Tanning Booth

Marjon Hair Design Inc.

MARJON HAIR DESIGN
RT. 9
MOUNTAIN FARMS MALL
HADLEY, MA 586-4551

Drive down or hop on a Northampton Bus
(check bus schedule for details)
Hours: Mon, Tues, Wed, Fri 9-6; Thurs 9-8; Sat 9-4

Brattleboro's Newest Night Club

Cheers Calendar

SEPTEMBER 1984

Sunday	Monday	Tuesday	Wednesday	Thursday	Friday	Saturday
	CLOSED					1 ABBEY ROAD "Beatles Night"
2 Straight Flush	3	4 DJ MUSIC No Cover	5 HAPPY HOUR All Nite Free Movies No Cover	6 "SCREW NIGHT" DJ MUSIC No Cover	7 SING SING	8
9 Sing Sing	10	11 DJ MUSIC No Cover	12 HAPPY HOUR All Nite Free Movies No Cover	13 "SCREW NIGHT" DJ MUSIC No Cover	14 SAMURI	15
16 The Stockwell Brothers	17	18 DJ MUSIC No Cover	19 HAPPY HOUR All Nite Free Movies No Cover	20	21 WITNESS	22
23 Witness 30 CAYENNE	24	25 DJ MUSIC No Cover	26 HAPPY HOUR All Nite Free Movies No Cover	27 "SCREW NIGHT" DJ MUSIC No Cover	28 THE TRANSFORMERS	29

Landmark Hill Putney Road Brattleboro, Vermont (802) 257-1778

Outstanding Rock Bands
Friday - Sunday

Starting in September
music on Wednesday
along with happy hour all night

Positive Photo ID's Required

Directions: Take Brattleboro Exit 3 off I-91. Bear right at lights by HoJo's. Go ½ mile on Rte. 5 South. Take first left just past Perkins Home Center. Turn left at top of hill.

If You Love Music. . .

Come to FOR THE RECORD
(located in FACES, downtown Amherst)

Amherst's Most Complete Record Store featuring - all the new releases as well as our comprehensive selection of ROCK, CLASSICAL, JAZZ, SOUL, FOLK, REGGAE, ETC. on LP and cassette. Lots of 12" Dance records, Imports, Cut-outs, 45's, and lots more. . .

Albums Pictured on Sale
5.99 each
LP or Cassette
Sale Ends Sept. 12

You'll find the Music You Want at FOR THE RECORD

Mon-Sat 10-6; Friday 'til 9
Sundays 12-5

THE WOK
Restaurant & Lounge

gives you a choice:

Dine In -
Be tempted by our new menu of exotic delights and traditional oriental favorites

Take Out -
Our entire menu is available for take out - ready in ten minutes

Drink & Dance
Enjoy live entertainment in our lounge every Friday & Saturday night

Different Dinner & Drink Specials Every Night

For a delicious dining experience, it's...

THE WOK

Rte. 9, Hadley 586-1202
Open 11-10 Daily, Friday & Saturday 'til 12

Brighten Your Room!!

Now 2 Stores! Amherst Carriage Shops
Northampton - next to Iron Horse

POSTERS
Largest Selection Ever

Bamboo
BLINDS

BEDSPREADS
cover walls, furniture, windows from $7.95

Paper
LAMPSHADES

RUGS & MATS
colorful, durable
Greatly Expanded

CARDS
over 1400 designs

SKIRTS & BLOUSES
lots of comfortable cotton
DRAWSTRING PANTS

Sterling and Gold Filled
JEWELRY
Earrings, Ear Cuffs, Rings, etc.

CLOTHING SALE
20% - 50% OFF
SELECTED BLOUSES, SHORTS
SKIRTS, DRESSES, T-SHIRTS

CHINESE SHOES
Wide Assortment

Mon - Sat 10 - 6
Sunday 12 - 5

THE MERCANTILE
AMHERST CARRIAGE SHOPS
GREAT GIFTS — GREAT PRICES

Dizzay Gillespie Appears at the Fine Arts Center October 17.

UMass music for fall

SEPTEMBER
Wednesday — Faculty Recital: Charles-David Lehrer, Oboe, and Dorothy Ornest, piano
Bezanson Recital Hall, 8 pm

11 Tuesday — Guest Artist: Andrzej Dutkiewicz, Polish pianist and composer.
Bezanson Recital Hall, 8 pm

19 Wednesday — Faculty Recital: Rodney Gisick, baritone, and Dorothy Ornest, Piano
Bezanson Recital Hall, 8 pm

OCTOBER
11 Thursday — Faculty Recital: Nigal Coxe, piano
Bezanson Recital Hall, 8 pm

12 Friday — Multiband Pops
FAC Concert Hall, 8 pm

16 Tuesday — Jazz Ensemble I and Chapel Jazz Ensemble
Bowker Auditorium, 8 pm

18 Thursday — Faculty Recital: Laura Klock, horn
Bezanson Recital Hall, 8 pm

NOVEMBER
1 Thursday — Faculty Recital: Salvatore Macchia, string bass
Bezanson Recital Hall, 8 pm

2 Friday — Alumni Concert featuring Jazz Ensemble I and "Minuteman" Marching Band
FAC Concert Hall, 8 pm

4 Sunday — Madrigal Singers and Chamber Winds
Bezanson Recital Hall, 8 pm
8 Thursday — Five College Orchestra
FAC Concert Hall, 8 pm

16 Friday — University Wind Ensemble and Chamber Choir
FAC Concert Hall, 8 pm

19 Monday — Faculty Recital: Julian Olevsky, violin
Bezanson Recital Hall, 8 pm

27 Tuesday — Jazz Faculty Concert
Bezanson Recital Hall, 8 pm

28 Wednesday — University Wind Ensemble and Symphony Band
FAC Concert Hall, 8 pm

December
2 Sunday — Opera Workshop and Vocal Jazz and Afro-American Music Ensemble
Bezanson Recital Hall, 2:30 and 5 pm

4 Tuesday — Jazz Ensemble I
Bowker Auditorium, 8 pm

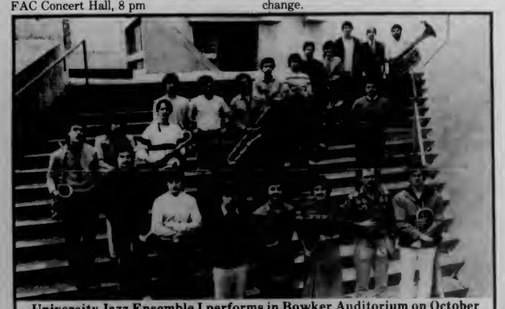
7 Friday — Youth Wind Ensemble
Bowker Auditorium, 8 pm

9 Sunday — Choral Union and Chamber Choir
Bowker Auditorium, 4 pm

11 Tuesday — Chapel Jazz Ensemble
Bowker Auditorium, 8 pm

13 Thursday — University Chorale and Brass Choir
Bowker Auditorium 8 pm

The concerts presented by the Department of Music and Dance are free of admission charge. For further information call 545-2227. All programs are subject to change.



University Jazz Ensemble I performs in Bowker Auditorium on October 16.

Music at Amherst

Tickets for the 1984-85 Music at Amherst Concert series will go on sale beginning Monday, September 10. The nine concerts in this year's series will include early classical, and contemporary music. All concerts will begin at 8:15 pm and will be held at Buckley Recital Hall, Amherst College. Tickets for the concert series are $60 ($40 for senior citizens and area students) and may be purchased at the box office in the lobby of the Amherst College Music Center from 10 to 14, from 11 am to 2 pm, or by mail with payment and a stamped, self-addressed envelope before September 12 to Evelyne Tiersky, Concert Manager, Music Center, Amherst College, Amherst, MA 01002. Subscribers to last year's series who wish to renew their subscriptions must do so before September 8. Individual concert tickets will go on sale at 7:30 in the evening of each performance at a cost of $8 or $9 (discounts for senior citizens).

The first concert will take place on Saturday, October 6, when violinist Arnold Steinhartd and pianist Lydia Artymiw will combine talents in a program of sonatas by Beethoven, Faure, and Grieg. On Friday, October 12, the Masterplayers, a 17-piece European chamber orchestra led by internationally acclaimed Swiss conductor Richard Schumacher, will perform works by Handel, Bach, Vivaldi, Rossini, and Haydn.

On Saturday, November 3, the Kalichestein-Laredo-Robinson Trio, made up of three internationally acclaimed artist, pianist Joseph Kalichstein, violinist Jaime Laredo, and chellist Sharon Robinson, will present Mozart's Trio in G Major, Mendelssohn's Trio in C Minor, and Schubert's Trio in E-flat Major. David Lesner will present the first-ever guitar recital in this series on Friday, November 9, featuring works by Bach, Sor, Ginastera, and Villa-Lobos. On Friday, November 30, the Greenwood Consort, a vocal and instrumental quintet specializing in European music of the 16th and early 17th centuries, will present its popular program "In Priaise of Folly," a unique show combining satrical Renaissance music with the wit and wisdom of Erasmus.

On Friday, February 1, the Empire Brass Quintet with Rolf Smedvig, trumpet, will present works by Handel, Bach, Gershwin, Mozart, and Bolling. On Friday, February 15, the Da Capo Chamber Players will present a concert of 20th-century music including works by Darius Milhaud, George Perle, and featuring Peter Maxwell Davies' masterpiece "Image, Reflection, Shadow."

On Friday, March 8, the Ridge String Quartet will present and evenining of music by Hadyn, Bartok, Bach, and Wolf. Concluding the series, on Sunday, April 21, Danish recorder artist Michala Petri will present a program of Baroque and contmporary recorder music.

Marcel Marceau returns to the Fine Arts Center February 9.

Herter Art Gallery

Foundations Show September 6-October 5, 1984. An exhibition of work of last year's Freshman Class/Art Department.

Exploring Society Photographically October 15-November 2, 1984. An exhibit of the work of fourteen social photographers.

Dale Schlappi November 6-23, 1984. Sculpture and graphics/Art Faculty sabbatical exhibit.

Russell Jacques November 6-23, 1984. Sculpture exhibit/stainless steel and brass.

Sam Gillian December 2-21, 1984. New paintings.

Ricardo Viera January 7-25, 1985. Computer graphics.

Hanlyn Davies February 1-17, 1985. Offset lithography/Art Faculty sabbatical exhibit.

Jewish Arts Festival February 22-March 15, 1985. "Ten Jews of the Twentieth Century" Silkscreens by Andy Warhol.

Shopping Bag Graphics February 22-March 15, 1985. International exhibition of shopping bag graphics.

Master of Fine Arts Thesis Exhibitions March 24-May 3 1985.

Art Students Show May 6-18, 1985. Interdepartmental student art and awards exhibition.

Ray Charles will appear at the Fine Arts Center on May 11

Umass Theater '84

The UMass Department of Theater has announced its 1984 Rand Theater season. Eugene O'Neill's Desire Under the Elms will be presented October 11-13 and 17-20. Shakespeare's A Midsummer Night's Dream will be presented December 6-8 and 12-15. Curtains for all performances are 8:00 pm. Tickets are available through the Fine Arts Center box office at 545-2511, as well as at all Datatix outlets and Stop and Shops.

A special discount is available for those who purchase tickets to both productions in advance. These special subscriptions are available at the FAC box office starting September 4. Purchasers of subscriptions save 25% off their ticket prices. Students and senior citizens pay only $4.00 for both shows. The general public pays only $6.00.

The Fall 1984 production schedule in the Curtain Theater, presented by the UMass Department of Theater, is as follows. From October 18-20, Donald Barthelme's Porcupines at the University, and Other Comic Diversions, a chamber theater production, will be presented. The Seagull, one of Anton Chekov's most compelling dramas, will be staged October 30-31 and November 1-3. In addition, a play yet to be announced will be presented November 13-17. All curtains are at 8:00 pm. Tickets may be purchased through the Fine Arts Center box office at 545-2511.

At the University Gallery

The first American exhibition of the site sculpture of Italian artist Mauro Staccioli will be on view in the University Gallery (downstairs in the Fine Arts Center) from September 15 to December 16, 1984. The exhibition includes three major new sculptures, created by Staccioli specifically for the University Gallery. The artist's simple, massive geometric forms built of wood, iron, and concrete are provocative presences that invite interaction between the viewer, the work, and the site.

An exhibition of offset posters, electronic message boards, and a banner by Jenny Holzer, offering statements that reflect a diversity of ideological political opinions will be on view at the University Gallery from September 15 to October 26, 1984. Holzer's "Truism" posters are internationally provocative one-line statements, and her "Inflammatory Essays" (see cover of this other voice for an example) are aggressive texts that assault the viewer with their outrageous extremist positions.

Prints and Drawings of the New York School, selected from the University's permanent collection of 20th century American works on paper, will be on view at the University Gallery from September 15 to October 26, 1984. This exhibit consists of 30 works dating from 1942 through 1977, including Abstract Expressionist prints and drawings by first generation artists of the New York School as well as abstract works by a younger generation of New York artists.

FAC listings

OCTOBER

October 9 — Houston Ballet's "Swan Lake"

October 13 — Boston Chamber Music Society

October 14 — Duke Ellington's "Sophisticated Ladies"

October 17 — Dizzy Gillespie

October 19 — Peter Nero with the Philly Pops

October 26 — Springfield Symphony Orchestra with Peter Serkin, Piano, and Robert Gutter, Conductor

NOVEMBER

November 1 — Shakespeare and Company's "Romeo and Juliet"

November 18 — Springfield Symphony Orchestra, Alexander Schneider, Conductor and Violin Soloist

DECEMBER

December 1 — Sarah Vaughn

December 7 — Paul Neubauer, Viola

December 12 — Marsha Norman's "night, Mother"

JANUARY

January 31 — James Barbagallo, Piano

FEBRUARY

February 4 — Les Ballets Trocka dero de Monte Carlo

February 7 — Minnesota Orchestra, Neville Marriner, Conductor

February 9 — Marcel Marceau

February 10 — Neil Simon's Brighton Beach Memoirs"

February 20 — Demon Drummers and Dancers of Sado

February 23 — The Negro Ensemble Company in Charles Fuller's "A Soldier's Play"

February 27 — Julliard String Quartet

MARCH

March 12 — The Chamber Music Society of Lincoln Center

March 26 — "Prelude to Death in Venice" with the Mabou Mines

March 27 — Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra with Andre-Michel Schub, Piano, and Michael Gielen, Conductor

March 29 & 30 — Mabou MInes production of Beckett's "Company"

March 31 — Handel's Messiah

APRIL

April 3 — Robert Davidovici, Violin

April 11 — Pilobolus Dance Theater

April 17 — The Texas Opera Theater's production of Rossini's "The Barber of Seville"

April 21 — Jazz All-Stars featuring Mongo Santamaria and Max Rioach

April 25 — Portland String Quartet

MAY

May 11 — Ray Charles, the Raelettes,and the Ray Charles Orchestra.

Seating in the Fine Arts Center Concert Hall will begin thirty minutes prior to performance time. The Fine Arts Center box office is located at the main entrance of the Concert Hall. Box office hours are Monday-Friday 12 noon to 4 pm and one hour before perfomance time. Tickets will go on sale at the box office for each event three weeks before the performance date. For more information call 545-2511.

"BE THERE"
with
ARTS

The Ridge String Quartet will appear as part of the Music at Amherst series on Friday, March 8

Lehrer opens series

Charles-David Lehrer, oboe and English horn, and Dorothy Ornest, piano, will perform on the season's first faculty recital at the University of Massachusetts. The program of oboe repertory from the 19th century will begin at 8:00 pm on Wednesday, September 5 in Bezanson Recital Hall. Admission is free.

Lehrer appears frequently as a soloist throughout the region, presenting concerts renowned for their unique programming. Wednesday's concert will feature music of the oboists Stanislas Verroust, Josef Sellner, Apollon Barret, and Carlo Yvon, as well as works by Louis Spohr and Carol Nielsen. Appearing on the program will be Lehrer's wife, oboist Nancy Lehrer.

Cited by the New York Times as "an excellent player, with incisive ideas and a sure command of his instrument," Lehrer has been on the music faculty at the University since 1968. Besides joining Lehrer and other colleagues in recitals as soprano and as piano accompanist, Dorothy Ornest has coached and accompanied on tour in Ecuador, Canada, Romania, the Soviet Union, and this past summer in Spain. Both Ornest and Lehrer are featured in two recent recordings on the Orion label.

For a complete listing of this season's offerings from the Department of Music and Dance, see page six.

Charles-David Lehrer

Five-college students... HALF-PRICE!
HIGH PERFORMANCE
Subscribe by September 24 & Save Money!
BOX OFFICE: 545-2511

Broadway
"Sophisticated Ladies"
"Brighton Beach Memoirs"

Theater
"Romeo & Juliet"
"Night, Mother"
"A Soldier's Play"

Dance
Houston Ballet's "Swan Lake"
Royal Winnipeg Ballet
Pilobolus Dance Theater

Sampler
Philly Pops, Peter Nero
Les Ballets Trockadero de Monte Carlo
Ray Charles

Orchestra
Springfield Symphony Orchestra, Peter Serkin, piano
Minnesota Orchestra
Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra, Andre-Michel Schub, piano

Jazz
Dizzy Gillespie
Sarah Vaughan
Jazz All-Stars

Chamber
Springfield Symphony Orchestra, Alexander Schneider
Juilliard String Quartet
The Chamber Music Society of Lincoln Center

Winners Circle
Boston Chamber Music Society
Paul Neubauer, viola
James Barbagallo, piano
Robert Davidovici, violin
Portland String Quartet

Plus
Marcel Marceau
Handel's Messiah
Mabou Mines
"Prelude to Death in Venice"
"Company"
Demon Drummers & Dancers of Sado

Fine Arts Center
Concert Hall
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AT AMHERST

★ Mary Wentworth ★
Progressive Democratic Leadership for United States Congress

VOTE
Tuesday, Sept. 18
State Primary

Guided Minds. . .Not Guided Missiles

Mary Wentworth believes in the students of the Pioneer Valley. She also believes the right to higher education isn't just for the rich. Yet while our military budget reaches "Star Wars" proportions, Reaganomics is making college a privilige for those who can afford it.

Thousands of students in The Valley depend on their Federal Financial Aid package to help pay for their education. This year, Reagan has cut even more funds from Federal Financial Aid to pay for unprecedented military expenditures. For many students, what's left over for their tuition won't be enough.

Wentworth's opponent, Republican Silvio Conte, has consistently voted for Reagan's budgets - massive military increases with across the board cuts in social services, including student assistance.

Mary Wentworth is out to restore these cuts and to ensure no student ever be denied the right to higher education.

Join Wentworth's grassroots campaign for Peace through Economic Justice - supporting the rights of students, women, minorities, the elderly and the handicapped, and endorsing an end to the arms race, a halt to military interventionism, and a clean, safe environment.

Office Address: 15 North Pleasant St.
Amherst
Phone: 256-8497

Elect Mary Wentworth
Paid for by Wentworth for Congress Committee, Deborah Jacobson, Treasurer

WELCOME BACK
THE PLACE TO DANCE
Pearl Street
10 PEARL STREET NORTHAMPTON

The art of writing

A CERTAIN LUCAS
Julio Cortazar
160 pgs. $12.95, Knopf

By PETER WISSOKER
Collegian Staff

It is unusual to come across someone who knows their field well and is able to take each element of their knowledge, separate it, weigh its meaning and then recombine it with other elements to create something very new, which by common logic would never have been produced. And then to have it easily understood...OK, enough.

Julio Cortazar is one such person. His latest book, A Certain Lucas, draws in reality, recognizes its complexity on many levels, breaks it down into smaller pieces (each chapter is no longer than four pages), and allows the reader to reconstruct it along with Lucas as we see the world through his eyes.

Like the story by Borges where a man rewrites Don Quixote word for word giving the new version more meaning, so Cortazar brings you back to where the story started with a new meaning to and understanding of a situation. Often, by changing points of view or by showing that different points of view are the same, Cortazar shows the reader that in life one never goes in a circle, but always a spiral.

The Late Julio Cortazar, Author of A Certain Lucas.

Unlike Borges, Cortazar, who died earlier this year at age 70 in Paris, entertains the reader with whimsical, yet acute stories of Lucas' life. The book is divided into three sections. The first and the last are anecdotes about Lucas — his trip to the hospital, his feelings about consumerism, his dismay at finding a table on the stage where he is about to give a speech. The middle section is a collection of Lucas' essays, about different musical experiences, (cats playing pianos and the like), the art of Polygraphy (the knowledge of many different things), and the idea of swimming in gray grits.

Each essay is written using alliteration or any of a dozen other wonderful literary tricks. There is one story where everything is written twice, as a man thinks to himself. By the time the story is over everything is being written three times, and it makes perfect sense.

With this, one of his last works, Cortazar has brought back the art of writing, making the art of reading both fun and interesting again.

Keep Cool while you Cram rent a mini-refrigerator!
TAYLOR RENTAL Center
Rt. 9 (next to Rocky's Hardware) Hadley 586-4250

read the "ARTS" page

2 eggs
2 pancakes
2 strips of bacon or links of sausage bottomless cup of coffee
all for just
$2.
Mon.-Thurs. 6am-3pm
Fri. & Sat. 6am-5pm
Sunday 7am-5pm
The Dove's Nest
Rte. 116 • Sunderland
Tel. 665-7969

QUICK COPYING
5¢
XEROX 8200
• Manuscripts • High Print Quality
• Two-sided Copies • Reports
• Various Reduction Sizes • Automatic Sorting & Collating
Student Note & Printing Service
Monday - Friday
9 - 5
401 Student Union Building
545-2271

TELEVISION CENTER
TV Sales & Service
ZENITH
ZENITH DEALER
TV RENTALS • Hi-Fidelity Repairs
SERVICE ON ALL MAKES & MODELS
MASTER TECH. # 534
ANTENNA REPAIRS & INSTALLATION
GEORGE J. ROUTHIER, Prop.
55 NORTH PLEASANT STREET,
AMHERST
Phone 253-5100

The unexpected Elvis

Elvis Costello and The Attractions
Tuesday August 21
Worcester Centrum

By PETER ABRAHAM
Collegian Staff

WORCESTER — Elvis Costello had every reason not to put on a good show.

His latest US tour to promote a, for him, poor ablumn (Goodbye Cruel World) followed a critically successful solo acoustic tour. Historically, Elvis has followed up good tours with fair ones, like the overproduced, glitzy Punch the Clock shows last summer.

But expect the unexpected from Elvis. His August 21 show at the Centrum was one of the strongest, most emotional shows he's done in New England.

After a solid country-pop set by Nick Lowe and his Cowboy Outfit, Elvis started slowly but worked the close-to-sold-out audience like the master he's quickly becoming.

Never the greatest live (remember the 40 minute sets in the 70s?), Elvis actually talked to the crowd, encouraged dancing, and characteristically took shots at music far below his level ("We're going to play a Motley Crue tune for you now.").

Backed by the Attractions, Elvis unleashed his old standards with some fire (Green Shirt, Pump it Up, Girls Talk, Watching the Detectives, and Getting Mighty Crowded) and made his new stuff (Inch by Inch, and Only Flame in Town) shine.

A cover of the Byrds So You Want to be a Rock and Roll Star? and his namesake's "His Latest Flame", as well as a pair of as yet unrecorded songs, Young Boy Blues and I hope You're Happy Now," may have befuddled some of his new MTV fans, but these songs pleased the people who picked up My Aim is True when it was released.

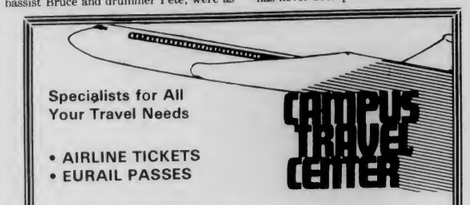
Gone from his show are the overpowering TKO horns and saxophonist Gary Barnacle is present only for a few songs. The Attractions, especially the omnipresent Steve Nieve (who is going by the moniker of Maurice Worm these days) on keyboards, backed Elvis' gasping rhythm guitar nicely. The Thomas Brothers, bassist Bruce and drummer Pete, were as usual right on target.

His arrangements, or rearrangements, of his old songs enhanced the original versions. Nieve's pop-organ-piano swipes, Elvis' sharp wordplay and even a good joke ("So they finally closed down the Cape Cod Coliseum, what good news") made this as David Letterman would say, "A fine, fine concert."

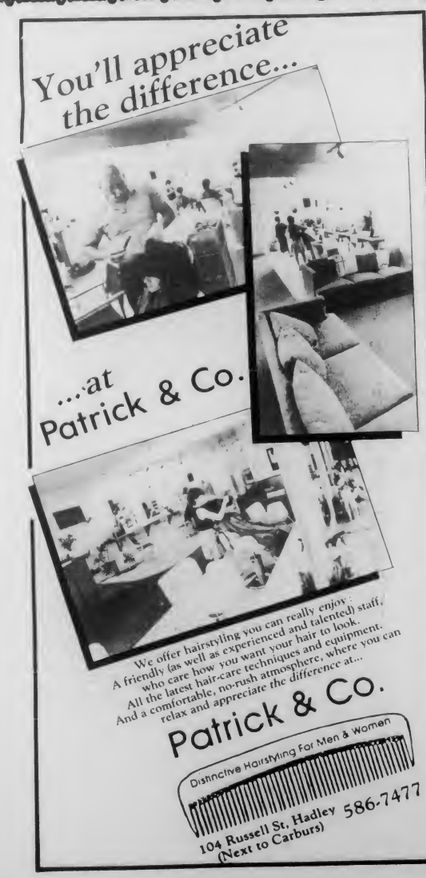
A solo encore and an eight song final encore, including a spirited Getting Mighty Crowded and of course his lash at Top 40 radio, Radio, Radio, ended the show on a high note.

Elvis writes his songs motivated by revenge, guilt, and sometimes a bitter love, but he belts out a song with a little more emotion now. The "angry young man" still burns inside, but even people with a message can be human. The pop medium has never been put to a better use.

Just Fun Arcade
Welcomes
ALL STUDENTS
with FREE TOKENS with this coupon
Just Fun Arcade in the Mt. Farms Mall is only a few minutes away from UMass. Drive down Rt. 9 west to the malls or check a bus schedule for details.
Mt. Farms Mall
Free — Just Fun Arcade — Mt. Farms Mall, Hadley — Free
2 FREE TOKENS
with presentation of this ad
Offer limited to one coupon per person per day
Free — Offer expires Sept. 21, 1984 — Free



Specialists for All Your Travel Needs
CAMPUS TRAVEL CENTER
• AIRLINE TICKETS
• EURAIL PASSES
• HOTEL RESERVATIONS
• CHARTER PACKAGES
• CAR RENTALS
• CRUISES
• AMTRAK
Daryl V. Storrs
M.F.A. Thesis Exhibition
Hampden Gallery
Campus Center (2nd floor)
U of Mass Amherst 01003
545-0500



You'll appreciate the difference...
...at Patrick & Co.
We offer hairstyling you can really enjoy.
A friendly (as well as experienced and talented) staff, who care how you want your hair to look.
All the latest hair-care techniques and equipment.
And a comfortable, no-rush atmosphere, where you can relax and appreciate the difference at...
Patrick & Co.
Distinctive Hairstyling For Men & Women
104 Russell St, Hadley 586-7477
(Next to Carburs)

THE UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS
DEPARTMENT OF THEATER
BRINGING THE BEST IN THEATER
Eugene O'Neill's
DESIRE UNDER THE ELMS
October 11-13, 17-20
Into the harsh but beautiful New England countryside O'Neill weaves a powerful tale of love, lust, and murder. One of the world's greatest tragedies by one of America's greatest playwrights.
William Shakespeare's
A MIDSUMMER NIGHT'S DREAM
December 6-8, 12-15
Spend a summer night in December at the Rand Theater. Warm yourself with one of Shakespeare's most scintillating works of genius, offering in profusion a procession of frolicking faeries, kings, queens, and lovers in the most bewitched forest you will ever visit.
All Curtains are at 8:00 PM
Hand Theater, Fine Arts Center
University of Massachusetts Department of Theater
FOR TICKET INFORMATION CALL
THE FINE ARTS CENTER BOX OFFICE AT 545-2511.
THE RAND THEATER
FINE ARTS CENTER

Arts Staff Meeting

Anyone interested in writing for the Collegian Arts section, doing film, theater, book, or music reviews and features, please come to an introductory arts staff meeting Monday, September 10 at 6:30 pm at the Arts desk. New writers are welcome!

007
AMHERST CINEMA
$2.50
Coming this Fall
FOOTLOOSE
FLASHDANCE
D I V A
KING KONG
SUSPICION
ENTRE NOUS
THE RETURN OF MARTIN GUERRE
and more!
DOUBLE FEATURES!
BOGART Casablanca
AMITY ST. 253-5426

Love & lust

Love's Reckless Rash
By Rosemary Cartwheel
St. Martin's Press, $3.95, 132 pgs.

By MARY CRESSE
Collegian Staff

Get comfy on the couch, hon, and pull out the Russell Stover candies — Lady Vanessa Shirwin-Williams is here, breasts abobbing, hormones flickering, in Love's Reckless Rash, the latest Charlatan Romance novel by Rosemary Cartwheel.

This is Rosemary's first book; her future novels (including Sweet and Sour Love, Hot and Spicy Love, Bald Breathless Love, and By George, It's Love), combine her flair for beating already dead buzzwords with a forte for dangling participles, mixing metaphors, and punning for all she's worth as she follows Vanessa through predictably chaste romances. And it's fun as all hell.

Reporting these trysts with the verve of a voyeuristic Connie Chung, Rosemary spares nothing and no one. The scenario in short:

Lady Vanessa Sherwin-Williams is betrothed to the walleyed, flea-scratching Lord Gastleigh by her father, the Duke, who dribbles food and nods for a living. Vannessa, baffled by the onset of puberty, thinks in her pristine way about sex as often as Carl Lewis looks in the mirror and smiles.

At the Duchess of Winston's masquerade ball (with the Lord of Marlborough, the Duke of Kent, the Earl Tareyton in attendance), Vanessa's estrogen levels leap at the sight of the Duke of Earl, who has reportedly "violated the purity of several county virgins." Vannessa naturally, wants his body.

She and the Duke meet and fall in love. But her father mysteriously nixes the coupling by carting Vannessa off to New Orleans to his brother's estate, where she disconsolately marries Beauregard Weevil. Beau Weevil loses her in a steamboat poker game to a trapper who smells like his fur.

But Vanessa is not happy. Will no one appreciate her perfect body, her heart shaped birthmark, her "green" eyes, the color and texture of the most precious sapphires... a flawless set of ruby-red heart-shaped lips that, when parted, allowed her to speak or consume food." What's more, her one True Love is reportedly dead. Depressing huh? Makes you want to kill yourself. Well, Vannessa tries that, too.

Amor Vincit Omnia?! — Rosemary Cartwheel's Love's Reckless Rash

But miracle of all miracles, Love presides, (and I'm not telling you how, either) but suffice it to say that the Duke of Earl has so much resiliency as Bill the Cat and Ack! Everything turns out okay.

Is it time, now? Should we give it away? Love's Reckless Rash isn't quite what you think it is. (Maybe it is; hell, I can't read minds...) Anyway, acting on a subtle realization that a culture mired in Dark Shadows reruns and Bud Lite commercials isn't reaching for the likes of Profiles In Courage, the publishing industry has discovered parody. Rosemary Cartwheel knows her stuff.

And you thought Danielle Steele was safe...

Professional Consultation & Style Haircut
only
$7.00
With Shampoo & Blowdry $10.50
Featuring: Design Perming and Dimensional Highlighting
Styles by Deborah
65 University Dr.
Amherst, 549-5610
Please call for an appointment
with this coupon, expires 9/30/84

Now serving beer and wine to complement our great tasting meals!!
Open Sunday - Thursday til 3 am
Open Friday and Saturday
24 hours!!
Sun.-Thurs. 6 a.m.-3 a.m. Fri & Sat 24 Hrs
Super Stop & Shop Campus Shopping Center Rte. 9, Hadley/Amherst 256-6889
James H. McManus eating place
Senior Citizens Discounts 2-5 PM 20% All Other Times 10% Does not apply to specials

FUNNYBONES
COCKTAIL LOUNGE
Every MONDAY
NICKEL NITE
Every other drink 5¢ 7 - 1
Every TUESDAY
LADIES NITE
Ladies first 2 drinks 99¢ 7 - 1
Always Live Entertainment
Every WEDNESDAY
PENNY DRAFT NITE
Every other 12 oz. Draft 1¢ 7 - 1
Every THURSDAY
GRAB BAG NITE
Check for drink specials and entertainment 7 - 1
Every FRIDAY & SATURDAY
DJ's or LIVE ENTERTAINMENT
to party with 'till 2 AM
(doors close 1 am)
Every SUNDAY
SPORTS ACTION starts 1 pm
in our Sport Pub
w/99¢ Drinks 1 - 7
"FUNNY HOUR" 1-7 7 DAYS A WEEK
Rt. 9 Hadley (across from Mt. Farms Mall)

"THE STEREO PROFESSIONALS"

adirondack music

Welcomes You Back to the Best Audio/Video Deals Around

MAXELL UDXLII 90 and TDK SAC90 $1.99

SUPER SYSTEM VALUE
Nikko NR 320 Receiver - 30 watts/ch
Ohm E2 Speakers
Nikko NP500 II belt drive Turntable
Shure presence Cartridge
$750.00 value - $399.95 WOW!!!

Ohm mygosh!

Ohm C3 Speakers $650. value - $375.00 pr

TECHNICS SUPER SALE
SA 150 new 25/watt/channel receiver $149.95
SA 350 new 40 watt/channel receiver $179.95
SA 450 new 50 watt/channel receiver $219.95
SA 810 80 watt/channel receiver $349.95
SLP 7 Digital Disc Player $287.39

BOSE BLOW OUT
201 ½ price $131.00 pr
601 originally $944 - $499.00 pr

15 EAST PLEASANT ST., AMHERST
(413) 253-3100

Parasound Graphic Eqiualizer
10 band/channel, tape monitor
$249.95 value $98.75

Nikko ND700 II
DBX and Dolby Cassette Deck
a $300.00 value
$169.95 below original cost

Phaselinear DV250
100 watt integrated amp
400 watts per channel peak
$850.00 value $387.85

Discwasher D4 record cleaning kit
$9.95

Sanyo RD7
Dolby Cassette Deck metal tape, LED meters
$53.77

Video Clerica
VHS cleaning cassette
$19.95 value $5.00!!!

Cobra 205
Cordless Telephone
$49.95
1000' range cosmetic blemish

Cobra 260
Cordless Telephone $79.95
speaker phone intercom
9# memory cosmetic blemish

FALL

Massachusetts Daily Collegian September 5, 1984

Back to School Issue Fall '84
UMass and Five College news in four sections:
News, Living, Sports and 'the other voice'

PIONEER VALLEY TRANSIT AUTHORITY

The Way To Go.

MT HOLYOKE COLLEGE/HAMPSHIRE-AMHERST/U MASS 301

301 MT HOLYOKE COLLEGE/HAMPSHIRE/AMHERST/U MASS

Saturdays

LEAVE MT HOLYOKE COLLEGE	HAMPSHIRE COLLEGE	AMHERST COLLEGE	LEAVE UMASS CAMPUS CTR	AMHERST COLLEGE	HAMPSHIRE COLLEGE	ARRIVE MT HOLYOKE COLLEGE
—	—	—	9:15	9:25	9:35	9:50
			9:55	10:05	10:15	10:30
10:00AM	10:15	10:25	10:35	10:45	10:55	11:10
10:40	10:56	11:05	11:15	11:25	11:35	11:50
11:20	11:36	11:45	11:55	12:06	12:15	12:30
12:00PM	12:16	12:25	12:36	12:45	12:56	1:10
12:40	12:56	1:06	1:15	1:25	1:35	1:50
1:20	1:36	1:46	1:55	2:05	2:15	2:30
2:00	2:15	2:25	2:35	2:46	2:55	3:10
2:40	2:56	3:06	3:15	3:25	3:35	3:50
3:00	3:36	3:46	3:55	4:05	4:15	4:30
4:00	4:16	4:25	4:35	4:45	4:55	5:10
4:45	5:00	5:10	5:20	5:30	5:40	5:55
5:30	5:46	5:55	6:05	6:15	6:25	6:40
6:08	6:20	6:25	6:35	6:45	6:55	7:10
6:50	7:06	7:10	7:20	7:30	7:40	7:55
7:20	7:36	7:40	7:50	8:00	8:10	8:25
8:00	8:15	8:20	8:30	8:40	8:50	9:05
9:35	8:50	9:55	9:05	9:15	9:25	9:40
9:10	9:25	9:30	9:40	9:50	10:00	10:15
9:50	10:05	10:10	10:20	10:30	10:40	10:55
10:25	10:40	10:50	11:00	11:10	11:20	11:35
11:05	11:20	11:25	11:25	11:45	11:55	12:10
11:45	12:00	12:10	12:20	12:30	12:40	12:55
12:20AM	12:35	12:40	12:50G
1:05	1:30	1:40	1:50G	1:50	2:00	2:15
2:15	2:30	2:40	2:50G

Sundays

			8:50AM	9:00	9:10	9:25
9:30AM	9:45	9:50	10:00	10:10	10:20	10:35
10:45	11:00	11:05	11:15	11:25	11:35	11:50
12:00PM	12:15	12:20	12:30	12:40	12:50	1:05
1:30	1:45	1:50	2:00	2:10	2:20	2:35
2:45	3:00	3:05	3:15	3:25	3:35	3:50
4:00	4:15	4:20	4:30	4:40	4:50	5:05
5:15	5:30	5:35	5:45	5:55	6:05	6:20
6:50	7:05	7:10	7:20	7:30	7:40	7:55
8:50	8:05	8:30	8:40	8:50	9:00	8:15
8:05	8:20	8:50	10:00	10:10	10:20	10:35
8:25	8:40	11:10	11:20	11:30	11:40	11:55
10:45	11:00	12:10	12:20
12:00AM	12:15

301 MT HOLYOKE COLLEGE/HAMPSHIRE-AMHERST/U MASS

Weekdays

LEAVE MT HOLYOKE COLLEGE	HAMPSHIRE COLLEGE	AMHERST COLLEGE	LEAVE UMASS CAMPUS CTR	AMHERST COLLEGE	HAMPSHIRE COLLEGE	ARRIVE MT HOLYOKE COLLEGE
—	—	—	7:00	7:10	7:20	7:35
			7:25	7:35	7:45	8:00
7:05AM	7:20	7:30	7:40	7:50	8:00	8:15
7:40	7:55	8:05	8:15	8:25	8:35	8:50
8:10	8:25	8:35	8:45	8:55	9:05	9:20
9:00	9:15	9:25	9:35	9:45	9:55	9:45
9:30	9:45	9:55	10:05	10:15	10:25	10:40
9:55	10:10	10:20	10:30	10:40	10:50	11:05
10:20	10:35	10:45	10:55	11:05	11:15	11:30
10:50	11:05	11:15	11:25	11:35	11:45	12:00
11:15	11:30	11:40	11:50	12:00	12:10	12:25
11:40	11:55	12:05	12:15	12:25	12:35	12:50
12:10PM	12:25	12:35	12:45	12:55	1:05	1:20
12:35	12:50	1:00	1:10	1:20	1:30	1:45
1:00	1:15	1:25	1:35	1:45	1:55	2:10
1:30	1:45	1:55	2:05	2:15	2:25	2:40
1:55	2:10	2:20	2:30	2:40	2:50	3:05
2:20	2:35	2:45	2:55	3:05	3:15	3:30
2:50	3:05	3:15	3:25	3:35	3:45	4:00
3:15	3:30	3:40	3:50	4:00	4:10	4:25
3:40	3:55	4:05	4:15	4:25	4:35	4:50
4:10	4:25	4:35	4:45	4:55	5:05	5:20
4:36	4:50	5:00	5:10	5:20	5:30	5:45
5:00	5:15	5:25	5:35	5:45	5:55	6:10
6:30	5:45	5:55	6:05	6:15	6:25	6:40
6:15	6:35	6:25	6:35	6:45	6:55	7:10
6:20	6:35	8:40	8:50G	—	—	—
6:50	7:05	7:10	7:20	7:30	7:40	7:55
7:20	7:35	7:40	7:50	8:00	8:10	8:25
8:00	8:15	8:20	8:30	8:40	8:50	9:05
8:35	8:50	8:55	9:05	9:15	9:25	9:40

Evening Schedule: Monday-Thursday

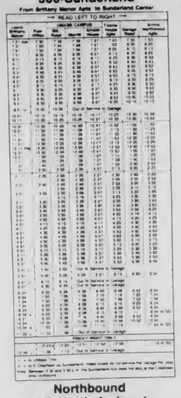
9:15 PM	9:30	9:35	9:45	9:55	10:05	10:20
9:50	10:05	10:10	10:20G	—	—	—
10:30	10:45	10:50	11:00	11:10	11:20	11:35
11:45	12:00	12:05	12:15	12:25	12:35	12:50
12:50 AM	1:05		1:10	1:20G

Evening Schedule: Fridays only

8:10PM	8:25	8:30	8:40	8:50	10:00	10:15
8:50	10:05	10:15	10:25	10:35	10:45	11:00
10:25	10:40	10:50	11:00	11:10	11:20	11:35
11:10	11:25	11:35	11:45	11:55	12:05	12:20
11:45	12:00	12:10	12:20	12:30	12:40	12:55
12:30AM	12:45	12:55	1:05G
1:05	1:20	1:30	1:40	1:50	2:00	2:15
2:15	2:30		2:40 2:50G

Northbound
380-Sunderland

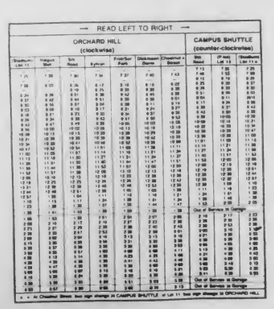
From Brittany Manor Apts. to Sunderland Center



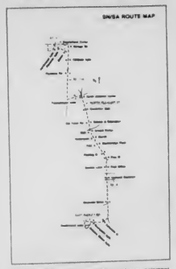
Northbound
360-North Amherst

From Rolling Green Apts. to Puffton Village Apts.

UMASS TRANSIT SERVICE
WEEKDAY SCHEDULE



UMASS TRANSIT SERVICE
WEEKDAY SCHEDULE
effective
Sept. 12, 1983-May 25, 1984



For schedule changes or cancellations during inclement weather, please tune to WMUA 91.1 FM or WTTT 14.30 AM or call the UMTS Business Office at 545-0056.

Pets (except seeing eye dogs), food, drinks, alcohol, skis, bicycles, and smoking are not permitted on the buses.

SCHEDULE INFO: 586-5806

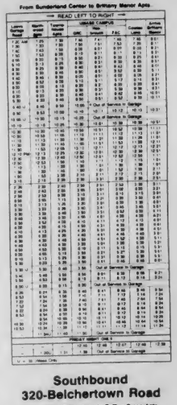
UMASS TRANSIT SERVICE
WEEKDAY SCHEDULE
effective
Sept. 12, 1983-May 25, 1984

Operates on UMass class days only
Refer to separate Weekend Schedule for weekend and non-class days

Holiday = Saturday Schedule
Holidays: Oct. 10, Nov. 11, Feb. 20, and Apr. 18
No Service: Nov. 24-Nov. 27, Dec. 26, Jan. 2

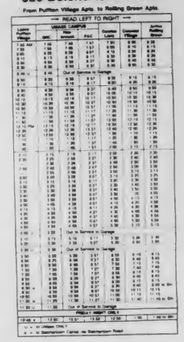
Southbound
330-South Amherst

From Sunderland Center to Brittany Manor Apts.

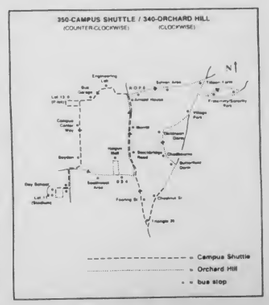


Southbound
320-Belchertown Road

From Puffton Village Apts. to Rolling Green Apts.



UMASS TRANSIT SERVICE
WEEKDAY SCHEDULE

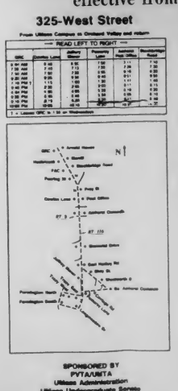


SPONSORED BY PVTA/UMTA
UMass Administration
UMass Undergraduate Senate
UMass Graduate Senate

All 1983-84 PVTA bus line schedules will remain effective from Sept. 4, 1984 through May 23, 1985

325-West Street

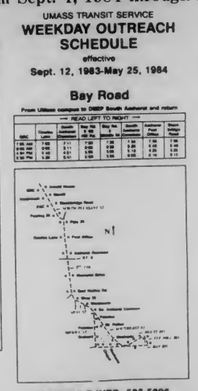
From UMass Campus to Orchard Valley and return



UMASS TRANSIT SERVICE
WEEKDAY OUTREACH SCHEDULE
effective
Sept. 12, 1983-May 25, 1984

Bay Road

From UMass campus to DEEP South Amherst and return



315-Gatehouse Road

From UMass Campus to Echo Hill and return

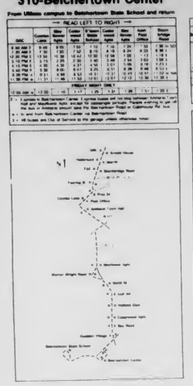
Pine Street

From UMass Campus to Clubhouse Corner and return

SCHEDULE INFO: 586-5806

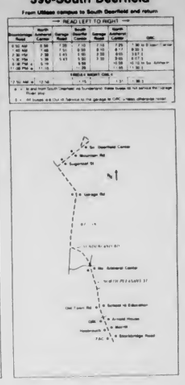
310-Belchertown Center

From UMass campus to Belchertown State School and return



390-South Deerfield

From UMass campus to South Deerfield and return



UMASS TRANSIT SERVICE
WEEKDAY OUTREACH SCHEDULE
effective
Sept. 12, 1983-May 25, 1984

Operates on weekdays only

No Weekend Service on Bay Road, Pine Street, Echo Hill, and Gatehouse Road Routes

Please refer to separate Weekend Schedule for weekend Belchertown Center and South Deerfield Routes

Belchertown Center and South Deerfield buses operate on Saturday Schedule
Oct. 10, Nov. 11, Feb. 20, and Apr. 18

No Service: Nov. 24-Nov. 27, Dec. 26, Jan. 2

Alt service operates on Intersession Schedule
Dec. 27-Jan. 27 and Mar. 17-Mar. 25

For schedule changes or cancellations during inclement weather, please tune to WMUA 91.1 FM or WTTT 14.30 AM or call the UMTS Business Office at 545-0056

Pets (except seeing eye dogs), food, drinks, alcohol, skis, bicycles, and smoking are not permitted on the buses

Lost and found, suggestions, and complaints call the UMTS Business Office at 545-0056

Schedules available at the Campus Center Information Desk and on all UMTS buses

SCHEDULE INFO: 586-5806

UMass Transit Service
Weekend Inbound
Effective Sept. 12, 1983-May 25, 1984

No weekend service on Bay Road, Pine Street, Gatehouse Road, West Street, Campus Shuttle, and Orchard Hill routes

SNOW POLICY
For schedule changes or cancellations during inclement weather, please tune to WMUA 91.1 FM or WTTT 14.30 AM or call 545-0056

310-Belchertown Center / 320-Belchertown Road

Batch Co	Batch Vill	Quab Rd	Bay Rd	Cedar Wood	Hart Glen	Gulf Rd	North St	May Hwy	Ruti Grn	Echo Hill	Col Vill	Na East	Na West	Amh Ctr	Pest Office	Fare St	Site Rd
7:00	7:06	7:16	7:26	7:31	7:36	7:41	7:46	7:51	7:56	8:01	8:06	8:11	8:16	8:21	8:26	8:31	8:36
8:00	8:06	8:16	8:26	8:31	8:36	8:41	8:46	8:51	8:56	9:01	9:06	9:11	9:16	9:21	9:26	9:31	9:36
9:00	9:06	9:16	9:26	9:31	9:36	9:41	9:46	9:51	9:56	10:01	10:06	10:11	10:16	10:21	10:26	10:31	10:36
10:00	10:06	10:16	10:26	10:31	10:36	10:41	10:46	10:51	10:56	11:01	11:06	11:11	11:16	11:21	11:26	11:31	11:36
11:00	11:06	11:16	11:26	11:31	11:36	11:41	11:46	11:51	11:56	12:01	12:06	12:11	12:16	12:21	12:26	12:31	12:36
12:00	12:06	12:16	12:26	12:31	12:36	12:41	12:46	12:51	12:56	1:01	1:06	1:11	1:16	1:21	1:26	1:31	1:36
1:00	1:06	1:16	1:26	1:31	1:36	1:41	1:46	1:51	1:56	2:01	2:06	2:11	2:16	2:21	2:26	2:31	2:36
2:00	2:06	2:16	2:26	2:31	2:36	2:41	2:46	2:51	2:56	3:01	3:06	3:11	3:16	3:21	3:26	3:31	3:36
3:00	3:06	3:16	3:26	3:31	3:36	3:41	3:46	3:51	3:56	4:01	4:06	4:11	4:16	4:21	4:26	4:31	4:36
4:00	4:06	4:16	4:26	4:31	4:36	4:41	4:46	4:51	4:56	5:01	5:06	5:11	5:16	5:21	5:26	5:31	5:36
5:00	5:06	5:16	5:26	5:31	5:36	5:41	5:46	5:51	5:56	6:01	6:06	6:11	6:16	6:21	6:26	6:31	6:36
6:00	6:06	6:16	6:26	6:31	6:36	6:41	6:46	6:51	6:56	7:01	7:06	7:11	7:16	7:21	7:26	7:31	7:36
7:00	7:06	7:16	7:26	7:31	7:36	7:41	7:46	7:51	7:56	8:01	8:06	8:11	8:16	8:21	8:26	8:31	8:36
8:00	8:06	8:16	8:26	8:31	8:36	8:41	8:46	8:51	8:56	9:01	9:06	9:11	9:16	9:21	9:26	9:31	9:36
9:00	9:06	9:16	9:26	9:31	9:36	9:41	9:46	9:51	9:56	10:01	10:06	10:11	10:16	10:21	10:26	10:31	10:36
10:00	10:06	10:16	10:26	10:31	10:36	10:41	10:46	10:51	10:56	11:01	11:06	11:11	11:16	11:21	11:26	11:31	11:36
11:00	11:06	11:16	11:26	11:31	11:36	11:41	11:46	11:51	11:56	12:01	12:06	12:11	12:16	12:21	12:26	12:31	12:36

Sunday

360-North Amherst

Puff Vill	Na Town	Town Rd	ORC	Hasbr	FAC
7:00	7:06	7:16	7:26	7:36	7:46
8:00	8:06	8:16	8:26	8:36	8:46
9:00	9:06	9:16	9:26	9:36	9:46
10:00	10:06	10:16	10:26	10:36	10:46
11:00	11:06	11:16	11:26	11:36	11:46
12:00	12:06	12:16	12:26	12:36	12:46
1:00	1:06	1:16	1:26	1:36	1:46
2:00	2:06	2:16	2:26	2:36	2:46
3:00	3:06	3:16	3:26	3:36	3:46
4:00	4:06	4:16	4:26	4:36	4:46
5:00	5:06	5:16	5:26	5:36	5:46
6:00	6:06	6:16	6:26	6:36	6:46
7:00	7:06	7:16	7:26	7:36	7:46
8:00	8:06	8:16	8:26	8:36	8:46
9:00	9:06	9:16	9:26	9:36	9:46
10:00	10:06	10:16	10:26	10:36	10:46
11:00	11:06	11:16	11:26	11:36	11:46
12:00	12:06	12:16	12:26	12:36	12:46

SATURDAY SERVICE: ALL SCHEDULED TIMES.
SUNDAY SERVICE: TIMES BETWEEN SOLID LINES ONLY!

390-South Deerfield / 380-Sunderland

So Old Rd	Mt Rd	Sgtf St	Sund Ctr	North Rd	Pro wood	Squ Mdw	Plum Hdw	Town Hgts	Nos Apts	No. Amh	Old Town
7:00	7:06	7:16	7:26	7:36	7:46	7:56	8:06	8:16	8:26	8:36	8:46
8:00	8:06	8:16	8:26	8:36	8:46	8:56	9:06	9:16	9:26	9:36	9:46
9:00	9:06	9:16	9:26	9:36	9:46	9:56	10:06	10:16	10:26	10:36	10:46
10:00	10:06	10:16	10:26	10:36	10:46	10:56	11:06	11:16	11:26	11:36	11:46
11:00	11:06	11:16	11:26	11:36	11:46	11:56	12:06	12:16	12:26	12:36	12:46
12:00	12:06	12:16	12:26	12:36	12:46	12:56	1:06	1:16	1:26	1:36	1:46
1:00	1:06	1:16	1:26	1:36	1:46	1:56	2:06	2:16	2:26	2:36	2:46
2:00	2:06	2:16	2:26	2:36	2:46	2:56	3:06	3:16	3:26	3:36	3:46
3:00	3:06	3:16	3:26	3:36	3:46	3:56	4:06	4:16	4:26	4:36	4:46
4:00	4:06	4:16	4:26	4:36	4:46	4:56	5:06	5:16	5:26	5:36	5:46
5:00	5:06	5:16	5:26	5:36	5:46	5:56	6:06	6:16	6:26	6:36	6:46
6:00	6:06	6:16	6:26	6:36	6:46	6:56	7:06	7:16	7:26	7:36	7:46
7:00	7:06	7:16	7:26	7:36	7:46	7:56	8:06	8:16	8:26	8:36	8:46
8:00	8:06	8:16	8:26	8:36	8:46	8:56	9:06	9:16	9:26	9:36	9:46
9:00	9:06	9:16	9:26	9:36	9:46	9:56	10:06	10:16	10:26	10:36	10:46
10:00	10:06	10:16	10:26	10:36	10:46	10:56	11:06	11:16	11:26	11:36	11:46
11:00	11:06	11:16	11:26	11:36	11:46	11:56	12:06	12:16	12:26	12:36	12:46

Sunday

330-South Amherst

Brit Manr	River Apts	Cot Lane	Meth Ctr	Amh Hgts	Pest Office	Fare St	Site Rd	Mann Arm
7:00	7:06	7:16	7:26	7:36	7:46	7:56	8:06	8:16
8:00	8:06	8:16	8:26	8:36	8:46	8:56	9:06	9:16
9:00	9:06	9:16	9:26	9:36	9:46	9:56	10:06	10:16
10:00	10:06	10:16	10:26	10:36	10:46	10:56	11:06	11:16
11:00	11:06	11:16	11:26	11:36	11:46	11:56	12:06	12:16
12:00	12:06	12:16	12:26	12:36	12:46	12:56	1:06	1:16
1:00	1:06	1:16	1:26	1:36	1:46	1:56	2:06	2:16
2:00	2:06	2:16	2:26	2:36	2:46	2:56	3:06	3:16
3:00	3:06	3:16	3:26	3:36	3:46	3:56	4:06	4:16
4:00	4:06	4:16	4:26	4:36	4:46	4:56	5:06	5:16
5:00	5:06	5:16	5:26	5:36	5:46	5:56	6:06	6:16
6:00	6:06	6:16	6:26	6:36	6:46	6:56	7:06	7:16
7:00	7:06	7:16	7:26	7:36	7:46	7:56	8:06	8:16
8:00	8:06	8:16	8:26	8:36	8:46	8:56	9:06	9:16
9:00	9:06	9:16	9:26	9:36	9:46	9:56	10:06	10:16
10:00	10:06	10:16	10:26	10:36	10:46	10:56	11:06	11:16
11:00	11:06	11:16	11:26	11:36	11:46	11:56	12:06	12:16

Sunday

UMass Transit Service
Weekend Outbound
Effective Sept. 12, 1983-May 25, 1984

No weekend service on Bay Road, Pine Street, Gatehouse Road, West Street, Campus Shuttle, and Orchard Hill routes

SNOW POLICY
For schedule changes or cancellations during inclement weather, please tune to WMUA 91.1 FM or WTTT 14.30 AM or call 545-0056

320-Belchertown Road / 310-Belchertown Center

GRC	Health	FAC	Fare St	Cave Lane	Town Hall	Univ Apts	Nic. East	Cot Vill	Echo Hill	Ruti Grn	May Hwy	Nic St	Gulf Rd	Cedar wood	Bay Rd	Quab Rd	Batch Co	Batch Site
7:30	7:41	7:51	8:01	8:06	8:11	8:16	8:21	8:26	8:31	8:36	8:41	8:46	8:51	8:56	9:01	9:11	9:16	9:26
8:30	8:41	8:51	9:01	9:06	9:11	9:16	9:21	9:26	9:31	9:36	9:41	9:46	9:51	9:56	10:01	10:11	10:16	10:26
9:30	9:41	9:51	10:01	10:06	10:11	10:16	10:21	10:26	10:31	10:36	10:41	10:46	10:51	10:56	11:01	11:11	11:16	11:26
10:30	10:41	10:51	11:01	11:06	11:11	11:16	11:21	11:26	11:31	11:36	11:41	11:46	11:51	11:56	12:01	12:11	12:16	12:26
11:30	11:41	11:51	12:01	12:06	12:11	12:16	12:21	12:26	12:31	12:36	12:41	12:46	12:51	12:56	1:01	1:11	1:16	1:26
12:30	12:41	12:51	1:01	1:06	1:11	1:16	1:21	1:26	1:31	1:36	1:41	1:46	1:51	1:56	2:01	2:11	2:16	2:26
1:30	1:41	1:51	2:01	2:06	2:11	2:16	2:21	2:26	2:31	2:36	2:41	2:46	2:51	2:56	3:01	3:11	3:16	3:26
2:30	2:41	2:51	3:01	3:06	3:11	3:16	3:21	3:26	3:31	3:36	3:41	3:46	3:51	3:56	4:01	4:11	4:16	4:26
3:30	3:41	3:51	4:01	4:06	4:11	4:16	4:21	4:26	4:31	4:36	4:41	4:46	4:51	4:56	5:01	5:11	5:16	5:26
4:30	4:41	4:51	5:01	5:06	5:11	5:16	5:21	5:26	5:31	5:36	5:41	5:46	5:51	5:56	6:01	6:11	6:16	6:26
5:30	5:41	5:51	6:01	6:06	6:11	6:16	6:21	6:26	6:31	6:36	6:41	6:46	6:51	6:56	7:01	7:11	7:16	7:26
6:30	6:41	6:51	7:01	7:06	7:11	7:16	7:21	7:26	7:31	7:36	7:41	7:46	7:51	7:56	8:01	8:11	8:16	8:26
7:30	7:41	7:51	8:01	8:06	8:11	8:16	8:21	8:26	8:31	8:36	8:41	8:46	8:51	8:56	9:01	9:11	9:16	9:26
8:30	8:41	8:51	9:01	9:06	9:11	9:16	9:21	9:26	9:31	9:36	9:41	9:46	9:51	9:56	10:01	10:11	10:16	10:26
9:30	9:41	9:51	10:01	10:06	10:11	10:16	10:21	10:26	10:31	10:36	10:41	10:46	10:51	10:56	11:01	11:11	11:16	11:26
10:30	10:41	10:51	11:01	11:06	11:11	11:16	11:21	11:26	11:31	11:36	11:41	11:46	11:51	11:56	12:01	12:11	12:16	12:26
11:30	11:41	11:51	12:01	12:06	12:11	12:16	12:21	12:26	12:31	12:36	12:41	12:46	12:51	12:56	1:01	1:11	1:16	1:26

Sunday

360-North Amherst

Sch Rd	Cres Vew	Puff Vill
7:30	7:36	7:46
8:30	8:36	8:46
9:30	9:36	9:46
10:30	10:36	10:46
11:30	11:36	11:46
12:30	12:36	12:46
1:30	1:36	1:46
2:30	2:36	2:46
3:30	3:36	3:46
4:30	4:36	4:46
5:30	5:36	5:46
6:30	6:36	6:46
7:30	7:36	7:46
8:30	8:36	8:46
9:30	9:36	9:46
10:30	10:36	10:46
11:30	11:36	11:46

SATURDAY SERVICE: ALL SCHEDULED TIMES.
SUNDAY SERVICE: TIMES BETWEEN SOLID LINES ONLY!

380-Sunderland / 390-South Deerfield

Sdh Rd	Mann Arm	Sch Ed	Coach Hse	No. Hadley	Town Hgts	Plum Hdw	Cliff Dr	Squa Wds	North Rd	Pine wood	Sgtf St	Sq Old Rd	Old Town
7:00	7:06	7:16	7:26	7:36	7:46	7:56	8:06	8:16	8:26	8:36	8:46	8:56	9:06
8:00	8:06	8:16	8:26	8:36	8:46	8:56	9:06	9:16	9:26	9:36	9:46	9:56	10:06
9:00	9:06	9:16	9:26	9:36	9:46	9:56	10:06	10:16	10:26	10:36	10:46	10:56	11:06
10:00	10:06	10:16	10:26	10:36	10:46	10:56	11:06	11:16	11:26	11:36	11:46	11:56	12:06
11:00	11:06	11:16	11:26	11:36	11:46	11:56	12:06	12:16	12:26	12:36	12:46	12:56	1:06
12:00	12:06	12:16	12:26	12:36	12:46	12:56	1:06	1:16	1:26	1:36	1:46	1:56	2:06
1:00	1:06	1:16	1:26	1:36	1:46	1:56	2:06	2:16	2:26	2:36	2:46	2:56	3:06
2:00	2:06	2:16	2:26	2:36	2:46	2:56	3:06	3:16	3:26	3:36	3:46	3:56	4:06
3:00	3:06	3:16	3:26	3:36	3:46	3:56	4:06	4:16	4:26	4:36	4:46	4:56	5:06
4:00	4:06	4:16	4:26	4:36	4:46	4:56	5:06	5:16	5:26	5:36	5:46	5:56	6:06
5:00	5:06	5:16	5:26	5:36	5:46	5:56	6:06	6:16	6:26	6:36	6:46	6:56	7:06
6:00	6:06	6:16	6:26	6:36	6:46	6:56	7:06	7:16	7:26	7:36	7:46	7:56	8:06
7:00	7:06	7:16	7:26	7:36	7:46	7:56	8:06	8:16	8:26	8:36	8:46	8:56	9:06
8:00	8:06	8:16	8:26	8:36	8:46	8:56	9:06	9:16	9:26	9:36	9:46	9:56	10:06
9:00	9:06	9:16	9:26	9:36	9:46	9:56	10:06	10:16	10:26	10:36	10:46	10:56	11:06
10:00	10:06	10:16	10:26	10:36	10:46	10:56	11:06	11:16	11:26	11:36	11:46	11:56	12:06
11:00	11:06	11:16	11:26	11:36	11:46	11:56	12:06	12:16	12:26	12:36	12:46	12:56	1:06

Sunday

330-South Amherst

| GRC | Health | FAC | Fare St | Cave Lane | Univ Apts | Cot Vill | Echo Hill | Ruti Grn | May Hwy | Nic St | Gulf Rd | Cedar wood | Bay Rd | Quab Rd | Batch Co | Batch Site |

WELCOME BACK
The Party Begins Again
at

JUSTIN RYAN'S
The Meeting Place

"The Place to Meet"
old and new friends

This coupon entitles you to
$1.00 OFF
food or beverage

This coupon entitles you to
FREE ADMISSION

This coupon entitles you to
$1.00 OFF
food or beverage

This coupon entitles you to
FREE ADMISSION

The Massachusetts Daily NEW ENGLAND'S LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY

Collegian

Volume CXIII, Issue 32 UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AMHERST (545-3500) Thursday, September 6, 1984

Collegian Photo by David Deuber

SUMMER SPACESHIP? No, this cucumber picker which houses 15 cucumber pickers glides slowly through a cucumber field in Amherst.

Housing changes still scheduled

By RICHARD MARTIN
Collegian Staff

Seventy-three University of Massachusetts students will be moving out of the Campus Center Hotel and into dormitories over the next 48 hours, to make room for approximately 30 more temporary residents.

Those 30 students should get housing by the end of September, according to Housing Director Gerald Quarles. "Last year everyone had housing by October, but we started school a week later: last year, so I don't know what that means for this year," said Quarles.

The Housing Services Office looked like an auction house on Wednesday afternoon. Housing staff stood in front of a large chalkboard illustrating the number and types of opening for each dorm on campus. As the staff called out numbers to students, the studetns would then see what was available and take it or pass on it. "We find that putting the board out in the open lets people know that we're being fair, and not playing favorites," said Quarles.

"You have to admit, it's not a free-for-all out there," said UMass student David Zeller, vice-deputy chair of the Residential Committee.

"Things are proceeding as we expected. It's a painful situation for the people out there (waiting outside his office) and we recognize that. Most folks will feel that they've been fairly treated," he said.

What had been a milling line of about 150 students at 3 pm, stretching from outside Housing Services to just outside the Dean of Students Office, had dwindled to 15-20 students just 45 minutes later.

Those students having problems with on-campus housing fall into three categories; those didn't pay their bills on time, or sign the housing contract on time, plus those who were accepted as UMass students late in the spring.

In turn, they were given three options by Housing Services on Monday; move into swing rooms (rooms not normally used for housing such as lounges and storage areas) for 4-6 weeks, move into the hotel, or go home and return on Thursday.

Quarles said that there have been about 170 no-shows so far, and that another 30-40 spaces need to be found for those students who will be moving into the hotel on Thursday.

El Salvador policy criticized

US harasses , former ambassador says

By REBECCA THATCHER
Collegian Staff

In a speech that drew heated response from the audience, Robert E. White, career diplomat and former ambassador to El Salvador described recent United States policies in Latin America as a "return to gunboat and big stick diplomacy."

White said the United States policies in Latin America in the 20th century have been "characterized by a fear of change."

"We have been so petrified of change that we have endorsed corruption, violated treaties, and participated in a perversion of the democratic process," he said.

White said there have been four social forces in El Salvador: the rich, the poor, the church, and the military. He said the military, directed by the rich, has destroyed "all the institutions which normally mark a civilization."

In response to a new bishop's charter in 1968, which stated that the poor have a right to participate in the direction of the society, White said the rich accused the church leaders of being Marxists and communists "and sent in the military to maim and kill and literally decapitate" the people's movements, such as peasant organizations and unions.

White said that circumstances in El Salvador improved temporarily when "the young military threw out the old military" in 1979 and invited intellectuals and revolutionaries to join their government.

White was appointed at that time by President Carter "with instructions to insist on human rights, back reform and look for opportunities to help (the El Salvadorans) work out compromise and reconciliation."

He said he knew progress was being made when the right wing in El Salvador attacked the U.S. embassy, carrying placards saying that President Carter and Ambassador White are "commies."

When President Reagan was elected, White was removed from his post in a change of policy which "abandoned reform, rejected accomodations and reconciliation and insisted on a military victory," he said.

In response to White's suggestion that Cuba and the Soviet Union do not respect democracy in Latin America, John Fisher, a resident of Northampton, shouted: "How can you say Cuba and the Soviet Union would not respect democracy when the United States killed Allende, the democratically elected president of Chile and supported dictators Batista in Cuba and Somoza in Nicaragua?"

Another member of the audience said White seemed to ignore the fact that student activism can affect U.S. foreign policy and was arrogant and patronizing.

The speech was held in the Student Union Ballroom as part of First Week.

Collegian photo by Andy Heller

Former ambassador Robert E. White

Inside:

Mary Wentworth Conte for U.S. House seat.....p.3.

Busses will return to the Campus Center Circle.....p.3.

President Reagan is compared to Richard Nixon.....p.7

UMass kicks over Ball State.....p16.

"The schools aint what they used to be and never was."

—Will Rogers

World and National News

Chernenko appears during ceremony

MOSCOW (AP)— President Konstantin U. Chernenko on Wednesday made his first public appearance since July, at a ceremony honoring Soviet cosmonauts. His long absence from public view had provoked rumors he was seriously ill.

But the 72-year-old Soviet president was shown on Soviet television at a Kremlin ceremony to honor three cosmonauts and in a brief speech renewed Soviet calls for a ban on space weapons.

The official Soviet news agency Tass reported Chernenko's participation in the ceremony and several hours later Soviet television broadcast film of the Kremlin event. Tass also released still photographs of the ceremony.

Western reporters in Moscow were not allowed at the ceremony.

On television's evening news program, Chernenko was shown walking into the Kremlin Palace slowly but steadily. He appeared slightly tanned and wore spectacles as he read his five-minute speech clearly.

Chernenko, known to suffer breathing difficulties, was said by a Foreign Ministry official on Monday to be carrying out his duties. But he had not been seen in public since July 13, when he was photographed greeting U.N. Secretary-General Javier Perez de Cuellar.

Catholic Bishops decry abortion stand

BOSTON (AP)— The Roman Catholic bishops of four New England states said Wednesday that a candidate's position on abortion is a critical issue in this year's political campaigns, but said their statement was not an endorsment of any candidate.

The statement, two weeks before the Massachusetts primary and two months before the general election, was the most potent on the sensitive question that the church leaders have issued. It reiterated the church's often-stated opposition to abortion, which in effect was declared a constitutional right in a controversial 1973 Supreme Court ruling.

Bishop Bernard F. Law, archbishop of Boston, who said he wants the abortion issue taken off the "back burner" and given more public attention, denied the statement was aimed at U.S. Rep. Geraldine Ferraro, the Democratic vice presidential candidate. She has voted in favor of abortion funding in Congress, while stating she personally opposes the procedure.

"I am singling out an issue," the prelate said at a Boston news conference. "I am not singling out a candidate."

Looting, arson in Johannesburg

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — Scattered looting and arson were reported Wednesday in three black townships devastated by the worst rioting in eight years. A bomb went off at a Johannesburg courthouse, and an explosion shattered an electrical substation, blacking out eight towns.

South African officials said 147,000 black students stayed away from classes because of continuing unrest or to honor boycotts.

Police said 29 people were killed and as many as 300 were reported woundded since the fiercest rioting started Monday over government-imposed rent increases.

The rent hike, about $3.10 on a monthly rent of about $18.60 for a four-room, cinder block house, was the spark for new unrest after eight months of sporadic student boycotts to protest inferior black education.

Shuttle returns

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP)— Discovery came back from its much-delayed debut run yesterday after delivering three satellites to space, and NASA told its customers: "Now we are back on schedule."

The shuttle's sunrise landing on this desert lakebed was an upbeat end to a shakedown flight that suffered from prelaunch problems and troubles in orbit.

Discovery's five-man, one-woman crew accomplished all it set out to do. The astronauts launched the three communications satellites and made extensive tests on a solar array.

Drivers, proofreaders and typesetters needed to work in Collegian GRAPHICS

See Mark Roden or Dode Levenson for details

Today's Staff

Night Editor: Michelle Hyde

Copy Editor: Larry Bouchie

Layout Technician: Amy Constant

Photo Technician: Andy Heller

Production Supervisor: Mark Roden

Production: Dode Levenson, Pete Soderberg, Cris Schuster

Personals Autos Babysitters Help Wanted Entertainment Lost & Found Services

50% Off our already low student cost

Attention Students

50% Off our already low student cost

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian is undergoing an experimental structural change in our classified rates. We are making a conscientious effort to limit the expenditure that all of us, as students, will undertake. In order to make this a successful effort, we need your support. We are located at the opposite end of the check cashing service in Room 113 Campus Center. Please support us as we continue to support you.

50% OFF Student Classifieds

(Now 10¢ per word)

Personals For Rent For Sale Rides Wanted

Wentworth challenging for congressional position

By MICHELLE HYDE
Collegian Staff

Mary Wentworth, a former University of Massachusetts employee, is for the second time challenging Republican Silvio O. Conte in his bid for a seventh term in the U.S. House of Representatives.

Wentworth hopes to beat the First District congressman in the Sept. 18 primary and the general election Nov. 6 with an issue-oriented and "populist" campaign.

From December 1979 to September 1983, Wentworth was the Poor Women's Task Force coordinator at the Everywoman's Center, where she provided women with assistance on housing, child care, welfare, medical and legal needs. She left the centerr last fall after a contract renewal controversy.

Wentworth's platform includes full employment during a peacetime rather than a military economy, tax programs to "reduce the tax burden of working people," a nuclear freeze, an end to military intervention in Central America, a national health program, and programs for the poor, the elderly, education and the environment.

Wentworth is also pro-choice, and said Conte is "staunchly anti-choice, and a very key figure in restricting women's rights to choose."She said Conte voted in 1977 for the original Hyde amendment, which cut off all federal funding for abortions except in cases of rape or incest.

"One of the reasons why we have to get off this military economy is because more and more of production is going to the military, affecting jobs," she said.

There is enough work to be done and the people to do it, she said. 'If the private sector can't provide jobs, it's the role of the government to come up with a plan."

Wentworth said her campaign is "populist" because she places the interest of the average person against corporations, and will receive her political and financial support from large numbers of people and not businesses.

So far, her supporters include Freeze Vote '84, the Amherst Disarmament Coalition, and Sojourner Magazine.

Wentworth was formerly a member of the Valley Women's Center, Women for Economic Justice, and the Coalition of Basic Human Needs. She served as a delegate to the Massachusetts Issues Convention held in Springfield last February.

As an Amherst Town Meeting member, Wentworth has supported issues such as child care, rent control, and Nuclear Free Amherst.

Collegian photo by Andy Heller

Mary Wentworth, candidate for the First District seat, U.S. House of Representatives.

Photo by Judy Fiola

COOL IT — Students contemplate the rental of dorm refridgerators near the Southwest pyramids.

Lighting and paving plans approved for campus sites

By TAARA EDEN HOFFMAN
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts Physical Plant is planning about $75,000 worth of site improvements, and have already added 22 new lampposts to the parking lot behind Butterfield dormitory.

One of the three major site improvements, two new bus pulloffs to be put on Massachusetts Avenue, will re-route the buses that travel to the Haigus Mall back to their original stop at the Campus Center Circle.

Physical Plant Director Roger Cherewatti said the construction of the two new bus stops should be complete by October, and the Campus Center Circle will be in use again by Columbus Day.

Also included in the improvements:

•a new blacktop walkway at the northern end of Stockbridge Road, near Skinner Lab. Completion is expected in mid-September.

•the resurfacing of Parking Lot #21, across from the Southwest area. Alternate parking for those students with a Lot #21 parking sticker will be on the grass fields next to the lot. Completion is expected in mid-September.

Cherewatti said he anticipates that students will be patient and cooperative while the improvements are taking place. He said the benefits of the work will outweigh the inconvenience.

"The additions will create a much safer environment,"Cherewatti said. "We're happy we got the money for the projects."

In addition, 22 new lampposts now surround the parking lot behind Butterfield dorm in the Central area, but poor lighting on campus "remains a problem," according to Student Government Association Co-President Rick Patrick.

"We've communicated our concerns (about campus lighting) to the Physical Plant since we've been in office," Patrick said. He said he feels confident that the lighting issue will be given proper attention this fall and called it a priority in campus safety.

"I think it's a real positive project because Western Mass. Electric went out of their way to install the lights before the students arrived," said Cherewatti.

Larry Perry, project engineer for light installation on campus, said the University's monthly electric bill is approximately $135,000, and the additional cost for these new lights will be $449.94 per month.

"This will be a drop in the bucket compared to the overall electric bill for the University," Patrick said. "It's a worthwhile investment."

The parking lot surrounded by woods below Butterfield dorm also has additional lights. "It's pitch black (in that area), especially on a rainy or foggy night," Cavanaugh said.

UMass professor appointed to new academic position

By JEANETTE DeFORGE
Collegian Staff

Stephen Oates, a University of Massachusetts historian, was appointed this summer to the first academic chair of biography in the United States.

The UMass professor said he "seriously doubts" that another U.S. biographer has received a job as a professor of biography.

There are "kissing cousins to this in small colleges, but certainly no such chair in any major institution," Dates said. "It's quite a feather in UMass's cap."

"I'm delighted that UMass has such respect for literature and biography," he said.

Oates has been a professor in the history department for 16 years. He worked as an assistant professor at the University of Texas and came to the University after receiveing his doctorate.

"I had many teaching offers, but I thought UMass was the University which would make things happen."

Oates is now a Paul Murray Kendal Professor of Biography. This award was named for the late Paul Kendall whose book "The Art of Biography" was Oates' "guiding spirit" when he was writing his books, Oates said.

He has published 12 books and 65 essays. Oates is best known for his "Civil War Quartet" series which includes To Purge This Land With Blood: A Biography of John Brown, The Fires of Jubilee: Nat Turner's Fierce Rebellion, With Malice Toward None: The Life of Abraham Lincoln, and Let the Trumpet Sound: The life of Martin Luther King, Jr. He is now writing a biography of William Faulkner.

He teaches the history of civil war heroes and a year-long graduate seminar in writing biographys. This spring he plans to begin teaching an undergraduate biography course.

Oates has been a Fellow of the John Simon Guggenheim Foundation and a Senior Fellow of the National Endowment for the Humanities. He has lectured on biography writing and has appeared on numerous national television shows.

Oates has won many awards and prizes, "I most appreciate the Distinguished Teaching Award because it was the first year the students took it over," he said.

Oates is an Amherst resident who enjoys traveling and is a self-proclaimed "jazz freak". He has a daughter and a son, who is a sophomore at the University.

UMass educators awarded

By LAURA YEE
Collegian Staff

Educators at the University of Massachusetts are once again being recognized for their work this year with awards and fellowships.

Distinguished Teaching Awards are given to faculty, teaching associates and assistants to honor exceptional classroom teaching, especially on the undergraduate level.

Andy B. Anderson, associate professor of sociology, Julius Lester, professor of Afro-American studies and Seymour Shapiro, a professor of botany, each received the award for outstanding classroom teaching.

Anderson teaches data collaboration and analysis, statistics, self, society and interpersonal relationship courses. He has been a faculty member for eight years and has co-authored a number of publications in his field. Anderson also spends time advising and contributing to research conducted at the University.

Anderson received a bachelor of arts degree from Southern Methodist University and a Phl). from Tulane University. He also taught at Purdue University before joining the faculty here.

Julius K. Lester, who is director of the Afro-American studies department, teaches courses on the history of blacks, Jews, civil rights and African literature. His books have earned critical acclaim and he has recorded two albums of original songs.

Before coming to UMass in 1971, Lester was co-host of a television show and producer and host of a radio show, both in New York City. He has a bachelor of arts degree in English from Fisk University.

Shapiro has been teaching at the University since 1964. In addition to being a frequent guest lecturer at many colleges across the country, he has served as a scientist and advisor to several international forums on the peaceful use of atomic energy.

Shapiro earned his bachelor of science and doctorate at the University of Michigan and taught there and at Brooklyn College before coming to UMass.

The three teaching associates selected for the awards are Mary Brydon-Miller, department of psychology, William Rising, mathematics and statistics, and W. David Snowball, communication studies.

Brydon-Miller teaches a number of introductory and graduate level classes in the psychology department.

Rising is a doctoral candidate in the mathematics and Pstatistics department. He has taught statistics in the School of Management for two years.

Snowball teaches debate courses and has coached the debate team since 1978. With a bachelor of arts in speech and theater from UMass, he will take the position of director of forensics at Augustana College in Illinois.

Other educators at the University have been recognized with this year's Faculty Fellowship Awards.

Fellowship recipients are chosen on the basis of their outstanding accomplishments and their potential for continued excellence in research and scholarly or creative activity.

Professor of philosophy Robert J. Ackerman, polymer science and engineering Professor William J. MacKnight, sociology Professor Peter H. Rossi, and physics and astronomy Professor Edward R. Harrison were all recipients of the $3,000 award.

Democratic senate candidates debate

BOSTON (AP) — After bashing each other for an hour on taxes and defense, the four Democratic candidates for U.S. Senate said their televised forum helped each man while serving to highlight the ideological cleavage in the crowded race.

"Everyone had an opportunity to get his message across," U.S. Rep. James Shannon of Lawrence said immediately after the League of Women Voters broadcast the debate Wednesday evening at historic Faneuil Hall.

"There are still a lot of undecides, but it's clear that annual debate is seen as the I and Lt. Gov. John Kerry are out front," Shannon said. With less than two weeks before voters choose one Democrat and one Republican in the Sept. 18 primary to replace Sen. Paul Tsongas, the League's starting gun for the final sprint.

"The tax issue is emerging as a key issue, and that plays to my strength," said former House speaker David Bartley of Holyoke.

Bartley and Secretary of State Michael Connolly have been trailing Kerry and Shannon in fund-raising and in most political polls, and they spent a larger-than-usual share of their time Wednesday night attacking the front-runners.

Kerry and Shannon, meanwhile, aimed most of their rhetorical salvos at each other, wrangling repeatedly over federal tax policy.

HAMPSHIRE BUSINESS MACHINES
SALES TYPEWRITERS SERVICE
Authorized Dealer
BROTHERS, SMITH CORONA
new, used and rentals
321-R Main Street
(corner of Main & Dickinson)
Amherst 549-6177

Try Us First
Selected list of course titles:
Elements of Style
Psychological Testing
On Death and Dying
Norton Anthology of Poetry
Oedipus Cycle
Leviathan
Foreign Language Dictionary
Many more titles to numerous to mention
Every book 50 - 75% off publishers list price
The Reading Remedy
NEW BOOKS AT HALF PRICE
71 No. Pleasant St. Amherst, MA 01002
Open: Mon, Tues, Wed, Sat 10-6
Thurs, Fri 10-8

Duke Ellington Committee
UPC Productions
presents
BLACK UHURU
WITH SLY DUNBAR & ROB SHAKESPEARE
AND SPECIAL GUEST
REGGAE

WED.
SEPT. 19
S.U.B.
UMASS
tix on sale sept 7
STUDENTS $9.50
PUBLIC $11.50
UMass ID required to enter with Student ticket
Tickets on sale at Fine Arts Center, Springfield Civic Center, and Stop & Shop locations in Northampton, Holyoke, Greenfield and Pittsfield.
No cans, bottles, cameras or recording devices.

Campus Center Food Services Presents -
'Culinary Lifestyles'
Some Short Takes - Featuring:
the hatch
So Much to Enjoy under One Roof
SALAD BY THE OUNCE
Salad Bar Monday-Friday 11:30 am-1:30 pm
Deli Garden
Sandwiches & Deli Meats Open 7 days 11:30 am-6:30 pm
Deli Carryout Monday-Friday 3 pm-6 pm Saturday 11:30 am-5 pm
the MINUTE LANE
A Quick Breakfast Lunch or Snack
Open 7 days 8 am-10 pm
La Cuchina
Serving a Variety of Pasta Dishes, Pizza and Italian Specialties
Monday-Friday 11:30 am-1:30 pm
Open 7 days 5 pm-11 pm
THE VINEYARD
Monday-Friday 11:30 am-12 am
Saturday & Sunday 5 pm-12 am
Coffee Shop
Monday-Friday 7 am-3 pm
Offering a Variety of Menu Items
• Full Breakfasts
• Grill Items
• Salads
• Snacks
Monday-Friday 5 pm-10 pm
Offering a Limited Menu
Flagstone Cafe
Located Outdoors on the 3rd Floor Terrace
Lunch 11:30 am-2:30 pm Monday-Friday
Weather Permitting
QUICKIE LUNCH
Tenth Floor of the Campus Center
MONDAY-FRIDAY 11:30 am-1:30 pm
TOP of the CAMPUS
RESTAURANT & LOUNGE
Luncheon: Monday-Friday 11:30 am-2 pm
Dinner: Tuesday-Thursday 5 pm-8 pm
Friday & Saturday 5 pm-9 pm
For Reservations Please Call 549-6000, ext 639
Ask about the TOC Dinner of the Month Club
Lounge Hours: Monday-Friday 11:30 am-1 am
Saturday & Sunday 4:30 pm-1 am
CAMPUS CENTER CATERING
Personalized Attention • Flexible Service
Off-Premises Catering Call 545-0418
BLUEWALL CAFETERIA
Monday-Friday 11:30 am-1:30 pm
New York Style Deli
Hot Entrees Prepared Daily
BLUEWALL BAR
Monday-Friday 11:30 am-1 am
Closed Sunday

Collegian photo by Andy Heller

Robert Burns escorts a friend towards Whitmore Administration Building yesterday where hundreds of students worked their way through registration hassles.

Alumni Relations to acquire new employees, computer

By GREG BROWN
Collegian Staff

The Office of Development and Alumni Relations will hire eight new employees and install a new computer system this year with $535,000 allocated last May by the Board of Trustees.

The increase in the office's budget comes in response to "one of the biggest single-year increases in alumni donations in the history of the University of Massachusetts," said Deidre A. Ling, vice-chancellor for University Relations and Development.

UMass alumni donated $1,232,634 last year, compared with $774,000 the previous year Ling said.

The budget increase for the Alumni Office was approved by the Board of Trustees at their May 21 meeting.

Dallas Darland, director of the office, said he is awaiting approval by Univeristy President David C. Knapp of a proposal to revamp the office over the next two years. That approval may take up to six weeks, he said.

The eight new staff positions will be phased in slowly, Darland said. "We haven't begun the search process yet," he said.

The budget increase was "a comprehensive plan to put us (the University's alumni office) on a par with the best public schools," Ling said.

"Our information system was in the Dark Ages." "We had two full-time professionals serving the needs of some 100,000 alumni."

The new computer system, expected to cost between $150,000 and $200,000, was a priority for the office, Darland said. Two of the new staff positions are employees to work with the information system.

Ling said this year's alumni soliciting was so successful that she plans to enter the office in a nationwide competition for alumni fundraising sponsored by the U.S. Steel Co.

Everywoman's Center recruiting

The Everywoman's Center at UMass is looking for university and community women volunteers and interns to staff its resource room this fall.

Work, includes providing information aobut area services and events, medical and legal referrals, and occasional crisis intervention.

Credit and work study are available for most UMass undergraduate students.

Fall applications must be received by September 14 at 4: pm.

For more information, a job description and an application, see Sandy Mandel, Resource/Referral Coordinator, Everywoman's Center Wilder Hall, or call 545-0883.

Calendar presented

The following events are scheduled by the Everywoman's Center. For more information, call 545-0883. Upcoming Events at the Everywoman's Center at UMass.

•Sept. 6: Counseler Advocate Training Session begins.
•Sept. 11: Graduate WAGES first meeting, CC174-176, 7:30 pm.
•Sept. 12: First graduate WAGES brown-bag lunch, CC805-809.
•Sept. 19: Educator Advocate Training Session begins.
•Sept. 19: Speaker on "The Balancing Act- Juggling The Personal, Professional, and Academic," CC805-809, 12-1 pm.
•Sept. 20: "Celebration coffee", EWC, 3-4:30 pm.
•Oct. 2: "Building Confidence" workshop, EWC, 6:30-9 pm.
•Oct. 3: Annual Openhouse, EWC, 4-6 pm.
•Oct. 15: General Women's Support group begins, EWC 7-9 pm.

Taara Eden Hoffman

Graduate orientation

The Minority Graduate Student Recruitment Office will sponsor a series of workshops and orientation sessions for students deciding whether to go to graduate school and for incoming graduate students today through Monday.

Today at 3 pm and 7 pm potential graduate students can learn about application procedures and requirements in the Graduate Research Center, room A-221.

In the same room tomorrow and Monday, incoming graduate students can hear about the university and its surrounding community fom 7-8:30 pm.

What Do You Want From College?
Management Training?
Add It To Your Schedule.

You're career oriented. You're interested in management.
You're an individual seeking experience in problem analysis, requiring decision-making results. You want management training and leadership experience. Experience that will be an asset in a management career — or any career you may choose.
If you are this individual, you can get all of this experience through the adventure of Army ROTC.
ARMY ROTC
LEARN WHAT IT TAKES TO LEAD
For More Information Contact:
Jim Mahoney
545-2321/2322

Random notes

Invading another's territory and rights

I was waiting yesterday, for a bus across the street from the Graduate Research Center when a car skidded 25 feet in front of the bus shelter.

About four women in the car laughed and called out to some men standing on the grass behind the curb. The men piled into the car and the car pulled away.

People at our bus stop and the one across the street smiled when they saw the long skid, made about three feet abreast of a car parked in close to the bus shelter.

"Can you believe it?" A young woman next to me said.

"Believe what?" I said, turning to look at her.

"Those guys just (urinated) over there." She pointed where the guys had been standing before they piled into the car. I didn't see if it was the same men.

"I can believe it. I've lived in Amherst all my life, but never before starting at UMass have I felt territorial about it. Now I feel territorial everytime I see this stuff."

She had grown up in Amherst, too. She arrived in 1973, lived elsewhere for two years, returned and graduated from Amherst High in 1982.

"I'm taking a big risk, riding a bus," she said. "I'm afraid that if I get on I'll throw up."

She didn't look sick.

"Yes," she said. "I think I should just walk. I think the public humilation would do me in. I've been sick all day."

I told her that along North Pleasant Street, past the GRC, there were plenty of places where she could get sick without being seen.

She smiled and thanked me and then began to walk home.

Dan Miller
Amherst

UMass selling out it's sports for money

I am writing to express my disappointment in the decision of the powers that be at UMass concerning the new emphasis on "major sports" at the University. I have tried unsuccessfully to comprehend the direction of the intercollegiate athletic programs at UMass since my years as a student there from 1970 to 1974. During that time I covered the hockey team for the Daily Collegian when that team won the Div. II championship, and did so while borrowing Amherst's Orr Rink. There was talk back then of "big time" football following that team's success and bowl victory.

However, I must disagree with the decision to eliminate some of the sports in favor of "revenue-producing" sports. Coach Garber seems to have the proper perspective on the true value of intercollegiate competition. A diminished emphasis on the baseball program, one of the most successful programs at UMass having produced several major league prospects, further confirms the Board of Trustees' blindness of the meaning of sports and reveals the greediness which pervades all of sports in America today.

If UMass wants a piece of the big money such as that which Boston College has sold itself out for, then it must be prepared to accept the further deterioration of its academic reputation, just as B.C. has surrounding the Martin Clark situation.

If there is a petition circulating to protest this decision, I wish to add my name to it. I would also suggest that the issue be presented in The Alumnus and that the opinions of other alumni be considered. This is a matter which will have an impact on the integrity of the University. Do we want to trade the responsibility of producing well-rounded, well-educated graduates for a shot at a regional ABC back-up Game of the Week?

Thomas W. Plant

Collegian Fall Board of Editors:

Editor in Chief	James Shanahan
Managing Editor	John O'Connell
Production Manager	Mark Roden
Editorial Editor	Rita Murphy
News Editor	Greg Brown
Women's Issues Editor	Rebecca Thatcher
Arts Editor	Christine D. Marini
Black Affairs Editor	Yadira A. Betances
Photo Editor	Andrew Heller
Sports Editor	Peter Abraham
Business Manager	Andrew May

FRIDGE RENTALS
2 cu. ft.
Free Delivery
call R & P RENTALS
253-9742

OPEN TILL 9:00 P.M. EVERY NITE THIS WEEK
FACES
A Store-full of Ideas
Downtown Amherst

the
UNIVERSITY STORE'S
TEXTBOOK ANNEX
@ physical plant bldg.
We will be open the following hours for your shopping convenience:

Sept. 4	Tues.	9-5
Sept. 5	Wed.	9-9
Sept. 6	Thurs.	9-9
Sept. 7	Fri.	9-5
Sept. 8	Sat.	10-3
Sept. 10	Mon.	9-7
Sept. 11	Tues.	9-7
Sept. 12	Wed.	9-5
Sept. 13	Thurs.	9-5
Sept. 14	Fri.	9-5

Remainder of the semester hours are:
Monday-Friday 9 am-4 pm

Get on line without waiting in line.
University Computer Center
"Unbelievable!"
It's not bad enough doing endless hours of homework for your computer courses. To make a tough situation worse you've got to plan on spending precious time standing in line every time you want to get on line. And your odds on getting a print-out by the time you need it are about as good as getting seats to a Michael Jackson concert.
That is, of course, unless you do your computer homework at the Computer Access Center.
16 chairs, no waiting!
The Computer Access Center is a unique workspace that offers everything you need to do all of your computer work, in one place, at one time. We rent our facilities by the hour or semester for as long as you need them, right in the center of Amherst. Finally you've got an alternative to using your school's crowded facilities or renting a terminal for the whole semester.
The Access Center has it all: 16 work stations fully equipped with computers and terminals, complete modem systems that allow you to tie in to Cyber, VAX or any other mainframe that you have the access code for, on-site letter quality and dot-matrix printers for instant print-outs, and experienced and knowledgeable computer pros always on duty to help you.
Of course, the best part is that at Computer Access Center you don't have to waste precious time standing in line. Now you can plan ahead and reserve time on a terminal that will be waiting just for you.
So what are you waiting for? Call today and see for yourself how easy and inexpensive renting time on a computer can be.
COMPUTER ACCESS CENTER INC.
ON SITE HOURLY/SEMESTER RENTALS 256-1213
79 South Pleasant Street, Amherst MA (in left rear of Peter Pan terminal building)
Mon - Thurs 9 am - 10 pm, Fri - Sat 9 am - 6 pm, Sun 10 am - 6 pm
2 FREE HOURS OF COMPUTER TIME!
Call today, mention this ad and use one of our computers for two hours at no cost!
Offer good during business hours Monday through Friday until October 15th.

EDITORIAL/OPINION

The opinions expressed on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the university unless otherwise noted.

ONE KILLED, $200 MILLION UP IN SMOKE! AND ALL TO TEST AN DEFENSIVE WEAPON SYSTEM WE DON'T EVEN NEED!
($1Gb) WASTED UNEC. WASTED RESOURCES — THE NATION CAN'T SUPPORT THIS HEMORRHAGE FOREVER!
INDEED! LOOK AT THE DEFICIT — AND ALL PENTAGON BOYS IS WORRIED ABOUT IS HIGH-COST TOYS! RIDICULOUS!
THINGS YOU PROBABLY WON'T HEAR.

The closing of summer

The stifling heat and humidity of this August evening seem somehow, an afterthought. Unmistakable sounds of summer; the hypnotic ring of an ice cream truck and squeaking sneakers from a pick-up basketball game, float through my open window. On back porches in apartment complexes women sit with a beer, escaping after dinner dishes and the airless feeling of too many people living in too few rooms. I cannot tell whether I am 12 or 24, so generic is the season of late summer.

There is a sense of regret in the air—late summmer has the same stale quality of a cluttered coffee table on Sunday afternoon. Smudged glasses, half full, share exile with some stale corn chips and a Newsweek two months old. A wet bathing suit lies, molding, on the bathroom floor.

Diane Lane

Without looking, I can tell the date is somewhere near September first—conversations that once circled aimlessly around parties and beers and barbecues and swimming, have taken on a crisp, business-like quality. There are three-ring binders and spiral notebooks and bic pens on sale at K-Mart, and "Welcome-Back Student" signs have spawned promiscuously all over town. My schedule of classes came in the mail the other day.

The metamorphis from August to September is quiet and reluctant, much like that from caterpillar to butterfly. They are two months whose neighborly position on the calendar conceal a merely surface friendship. One minute you're at summer camp and the next you're sitting bleary-eyed in a new homeroom looking for a familiar face.

In most schools, while you're growing up, someone asks you to write a composition titled, "What I Did On My Summer Vacation". I would stare for hours at the blank page, trying to remember the blur of hot and sweaty days; to distinguish one from the other. Yet my summers were always more remarkable for what I didn't do than for what I did. I didn't wake up early, I didn't wear dress-up clothes, and I hadn't, as yet, had a job. We played War in the days before war didn't seem such a game and argued endlessly and loudly over the path of imaginary bullets (You're dead! Am not! Are too!...)

In August, though, the flow of things changed, imperceptibly. Games would be cut short (we had to be home when street lights came on), whole neighborhoods would be gone on family vacations and the three boys next door would inevitably be hauled home by their shrill mother after the eldest had beaten up one of the brothers for whining. It was a stable rite of summer and I have always felt somewhat incomplete since their having grown up and made peace.

This summer, as with others in the recent past, I worked. Every morning I joined glassy-eyed commuters on a bus that rattled with protest and tried to come to terms with the seasons of life. And when my 84 year-old Nana died, I went to her funeral and played grown up when I felt like crying instead. What game should I play today has long since been replaced with knotty questions of wardrobe and money and whether or not to take the 8:35 this morning or the 8:15.

The coming of fall is associated indelibly with the idea of change. People move, they switch jobs—some go off to school for the first time. Always we leave behind a part of ourselves in the summer sun; the child that longs to stay at the beach for "just another hour", now packs up his stereo and his clothes maybe a book and turns inward, with the community, to prepare for the chill of fall; the coldness of winter. The child moves on, in sync with nature's mood, and makes peace with the idea of change.

Diane Lane is a Collegian Columnist.

Letters to the Editor

Amendment signing only a step

An open letter to Chancellor Josepth Duffey:

First, I would like to applaud your signing of the ammendment last semester prohibiting discrimination by the University or University affiliated groups against persons because of sexual preference. It was a just, humane, brave thing to do.

It was my understanding that one immediately visible consequence of that amendment would be that the Armed Services would not be allowed to have tables on the Campus Center concourse. They openly dieriminate against gay men and lesbians. I was shocked to see both ROTC and Air Force tables on the councourse today. The ROTC representative informed me that they will be there Thursday and Friday as well.

I wanted to bring this to your attention; I realized I could not assume you were aware of this.

I understand that out-and-out kicking ROTC off campus is unreasonable, since issues of classism and financial aid come into play. Many financially needy people find the Armed Services one avenue of escape from their environment. It is a regretable but understandable choice made in desperation.

I don't, however, believe it is reasonable to allow the Armed Services to recruit in the Campus Center. I don't belive the amdendment you signed leaves room for that. Thank you for your consideration in this matter.

Bob Brigham
Central

Welcome Back

Welcome and welcome back. Another year, another nine months at the University of Massachusetts, Amherst. The beginning of the school year, despite the hectic pace and usual long lines that pop up everywhere on campus, is relatively carefree, filled with optimism and high expectations by both the individual and the University itself.

Each year at this time, promises are made. And like New Year's resolutions they are usually not kept.

We, as students of UMass should expect and receive much from this institution. We should expect a sound, intellectually stimulating education taught by professors and other educators whose main purpose is teaching.

We should expect an education that is not limited to a few, but one that is open to all who are deserving regardless of race, sex, natural origin, religion, physical disability, sexual preference, or financial hardship.

We should expect a campus which is not only aware of racism, sexism, anti-Semitism, handicapism and homophobia, but which continually strives to see an end to their existence.

As members of this community much should also be expected from us. We should be expected to conform to the best of our abilities to the rules and regulations set forth by the University administration.

We should be expected to act as adult members of this community, and take care in the things we do.

We should learn to respect the rights of others and not infringe upon them.

We should expect to start the year off positively and with much optimism and we should expect that it will end that way.

Unsigned editorials reflect the majority opinion of the Collegian Board of Editors.

Richard Nixon, who?

This summer marked the 10 year anniversary of Richard Nixon's resignation as the President of the United States. On August 9th, 1974, as Nixon boarded a helicopter to take him away from the tempest of Watergate, the American public saw him for what he really was: a disgraced, villified public figure, one step ahead of the law. Ten years later, Nixon is not doing time in San Quentin, but is quietly returning to the political stage as an "American elder statesman." The people of Vietnam and Cambodia will never be able to forgive him, but the American people just may.

John Gilman

The most discouraging aspect of this treatment of Nixon revolves around the public's perception of proper presidential conduct. After Nixon, presidents are no longer expected to comply with the law, as an ordinary citizen would be, let alone aspire to the higher moral standards that high school history books will credit them with in the years to come. Purpose, mission, vision; these are no longer the prerequisites of the presidency. With the emphasis now placed on image-making, rather than decision-making, the caliber of people running for and attaining the presidency has fallen dramatically. In these post-Nixon years, dishonesty, conflict of interest and obstruction of justice are now acceptable as long as the damage to the "presidential image" can be minimized. No one has benefitted more from Nixon and Watergate than Ronald Reagan.

The "Teflon Presidency" of Ronald Reagan has been riddled with scandals, resignations and malicious policies. And yet, according to the most recent polls, a majority of Americans would prefer to see him back on the job in January of 1985. In an article in The New York Times Magazine, written in April of this year, Steven Weisman attributes this to Reagan's ability to distance himself from the policies and perjuries of his subordinates. However, the American public's political apathy has been equally to blame for the success of Ronald Reagan, in spite of the numerous illegalities that have spun from his administration.

Reagan has not distanced himself from such controversial figures as James Watt and Ann Burford. He publicly backed both, even while privately seeking their resignations. He has refused to withdraw Ed Meese's nomination for attorney general in the face of charges of illegal, interest-free loans in exchange for high-paying government positions, and the falisifying of financial disclosure statments. Nor should the Carter briefing book scandal, (or "Debategate" as it is often called) be frogotten. High Reagan administration officials, including Meese and CIA director William Casey, had divergencies of memory under oath concerning the Reagan campaign's acquisition of the material. Some might term this perjury.

The list of similarities between the Nixon and Reagan administrations can go on and on. There is the illegal, undeclared "secret war against Nicaragua, which is quite like Nixon's war in Cambodia. there is the "secrecy" paranoia which prompted Reagan to call for lie detector tests for government officials to halt leaks to the press. It is an open question as to whether he will go as far as Nixon and order secret wiretaps. There has already been illegal, secret tapings of conversations by administration officials.

The difference between the Reagan and Nixon misdeeds, if appreciable, is one of degree. However, there is an immense difference in the public's reaction to the corruption. There is little or no public's reaction to the corruption. There is little or no public indignation. Watergate deeply affected the way the majority of Americans viewed the actions of their government officials. But the post-Watergate morality has given way to business as usual, with hardly a murmur from the oveters. Personal profits outweigh the public interest in the age of Reagan. If Nixon had stated that "I am no the only crook," he would have been correct. The "Me Generation" has reached the oval office.

John Gilman is a Collegian Columnist.

All letters must be signed and include the writer's address and telephone number, which will not be published. Please type double spaced at 67 characters per line. Due to space limitations and the volume of mail, we regret we are unable to acknowledge unpublished letters. All letters are subject to editing for clarity and length.

Some Banks think you're looney.

You don't bank on the moon. You know it. We know it. But apparently some of the Amherst banks don't know it.

"Get cash anywhere" they shout. Ones in Wyoming. Fives in Florida. Tens in Texas. Why, they'll just about promise you money on the moon.

Well, we at the UMass Federal Credit Union are students just like you. We know that you don't want to keep a $1000 minimum balance in your N.O.W. checking account. And we know that you don't want to pay extra fees to bank in Wyoming.

So what we offer you is banking right on campus.

Checking and savings accounts. Certificates of deposit and car loans. Even American Express Traveler's Checks!

All at affordable prices.

Start your future right. Open an account at the Credit Union today. You'd have to be looney not to.

THE UMASS STUDENT CREDIT UNION

Student Union Bldg. 545-2800 Member NCUA

read the "ARTS" page

U.S. Department of Transportation Ad Council

DRINKING AND DRIVING CAN KILL A FRIENDSHIP.

FIRST WEEK 1984

Skills and Information Workshops

SEPTEMBER 6, 1984

11:00-11:55 AM	Room 805-09 Room 811-15 Room 803	5-College Info Off-Campus Housing - Living with a Roommate Western Mass Food Bank Hunger in our area
12:00-12:55 PM	Room 811-15	Bilingual Collegiate Program
1:00-1:55 PM	Room 805-09 Room 811-15	International Program Men's Center
2:00-2:55 PM	Room 811-15 Room 803	Men's Center Bike Coop

come on downtown

There's no place like downtown Amherst, Massachusetts.

Arts

This is the place

By CHRISTINE D. MARINI
Collegian Staff

Piano. Ballet. Tap dancing. Acting. If you've wanted to try these or any number of other performing arts but have never had the opportunity, you need not wait any longer. The Performing Arts Division (or PAD), located in the Old Chapel on the UMass campus, offers classes in many performing arts to people of all levels of expertise. There are programs for people of all ages, from Suzuki violin for three and four year olds to a free introductory piano class for senior citizens.

Now entering its 12th year, PAD, which is co-sponsored by the Fine Arts Center and the department of music and dance, is stronger than ever, offering a variety of private and group lessons in the arts.

"People come in to see us, and they say 'I've always wanted to play the piano' or 'Am I too old to start dancing?'", said Susan Huetteman, director of the Performing Arts Division. "We are an open door to creative learning. Participating in the arts is a thing people do for themselves."

PAD is a self-sustaining organization run for the most part by a work-study student staff. The instructors include undergraduate and graduate students, as well as post-graduates and UMass and Five College faculty.

"We are one of few such organizations in the country that incorporate student-teaching in the program," Huetteman said. "Student-teaching provides tremendous opportunities for all involved. The peer-as-teacher relationship is a unique one."

PAD draws its students from a 50 mile radius involving interested members of the community. In some cases, students can elect a paid credit-option through the Division of Continuing Education.

Fees for classes vary. This semester, a grant from the University Arts Council has made it possible for PAD to offer UMass students five introductory classes (in ballet, jazz, voice, basic acting and piano) with the only cost for students being the $20 registration fee. Special classes this semester offered on a regular fee basis include South African Folk Music and Classical North Indian Dance.

Walk-in registration at PAD's Old Chapel office runs until noon on September 14. On Sunday, September 9 a general meeting for students and faculty, You at UMass: The Arts are Waiting, will be held in Bezanson Hall at 2 p.m. followed by a faculty recital at 3 p.m. For more information call PAD at 545-0519.

Photo by Andy Heller

Susan Huetteman, director of the performing Arts Division

Arts Writers Wanted!

No experience or prior knowledge required. We train! Good benefits. Great hours. Apply in person between 3 & 5 p.m., M-F at the Collegian Arts Desk!

ARTSLINES ...

Coming soon in the Collegian

ELEVEN

Convenience Store
Rt. 116 Sunderland
Open 24 Hours

We welcome back Faculty and Students with special prices on these losse "Suitcase" 12 oz. cans.

Bud	$9.99	Schaefer	$8.99
Miller	$9.99	Schlitz	$8.99
Lite	$9.99	Meister Brau	$8.95
Strohs	$9.49	Black Label	$7.49
Strohs Light	$9.49

Check out all our low case beer prices when you take advantage of this loose can sale. . .

Prices DO NOT include deposit.

BODY SHOP

Exercise Facilities
sign up at NOPE and Boyden

still only $45.00

Come in NOW for a Free Workout during Sign-Up hours

sign up now — Boyden - NOPE — sign up now

8 am - 9 am
11 am - 1 pm
4 pm - 6 pm

M-F Workouts begin Sept. 10 thru Dec. 21

7:30-9 am 12-1 pm 4-6 pm 7-9 pm	NOPE Sat 1-4	* strength training * aerobic fitness * muscle testing * body fat testing	Boyden Sat 12-3	M-F 7-9 am 12-1 pm 4-6 pm

Auditions. . .Auditions. . .Auditions. . .Auditions. . .

Do you sing?

So do we!!!

Audition for the

UMass Chorale

Thurs. Sept. 6th

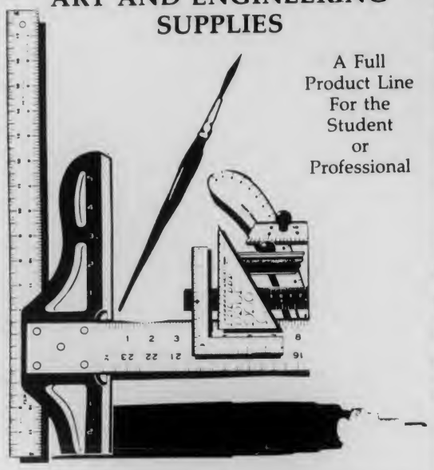
3:30 - 5:30

Rm 277 Music Dept. FAC

(Prepared song not required)

Auditions. . .Auditions. . .Auditions. . .Auditions. . .

ART AND ENGINEERING SUPPLIES

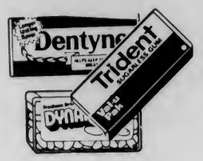


A Full Product Line For the Student or Professional

OTHER PRODUCTS AVAILABLE

- Cards
- Postcards
- Jewelry
- Calculators
- Computers
- Posters
- Records and Tapes
- Blank Tapes
- Souvenirs
- Stationary
- Plant Supplies
- Cleaning Products
- Back Packs
- Hardware items
- Luggage
- Carry-All Bags
- Gifts
- Calendars
- Clothing
- Special Order Books
- Decals
- Banners
- Glassware
- Childrens Clothing
- Danskin
- Bathing Suits

CANDY DEPARTMENT



- Candy
- Gum
- Natural Foods
- Chips
- Cookies
- Crackers
- Snacks

TOBACCO

- Cigarettes
- Cigars
- Chewing Tobacco
- Pipe Tobacco
- Lighters

HEALTH AND BEAUTY AIDS

Including a Full Cosmetic Line

STOP

the Mini Store

Located in the Student Union

There's no need to hurry! Our convenient hours allow you to shop early or late.

- Candy
- Tobacco
- Cards
- Calendars
- Cassette Tapes
- Books
- Backpacks
- Clothing
- Gifts
- Cosmetics
- Health & Beauty Aids
- Film
- Film Processing
- Clocks
- Batteries
- Electrical Supplies
- Lamps
- Magazines
- Memo Board
- Pens and Pencils
- Binders
- Notebooks
- Paper
- Newspapers
- Tote Bags
- School Supplies
- Typewriter Ribbons
- Glassware
- Cups
- Decals
- Pennants
- Chips
- Cookies
- Popcorn
- Umbrellas

Many other items available
545-2528

CONVENIENT HOURS

7:30 am - 10 pm Monday-Friday
8:30 am - 10 pm Saturday & Sunday

UNIVERSITY STORE

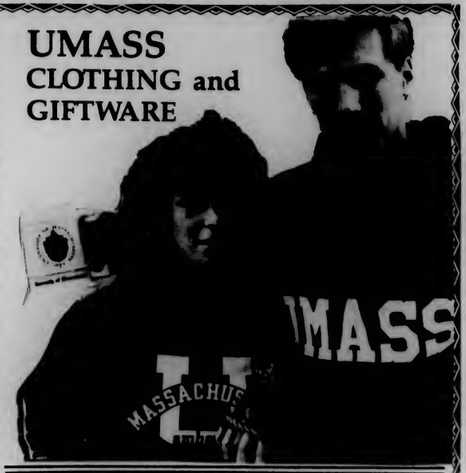
All Are Welcome
Located in the Campus Center

Store Hours:
Mon.-Fri. 9:00 am-5:00 pm
* Saturday 11:00 am-4:00 pm
On Campus: 5-2619

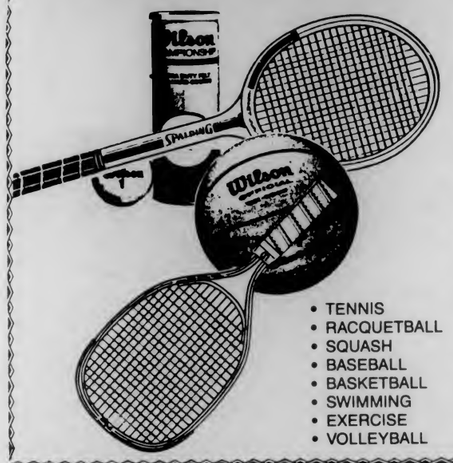
413-545-2619

* Home Football Games - Saturday 10:00-3:00

UMASS CLOTHING and GIFTWARE

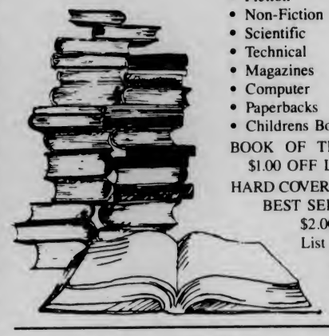


SPORTING GOODS



- TENNIS
- RACQUETBALL
- SQUASH
- BASEBALL
- BASKETBALL
- SWIMMING
- EXERCISE
- VOLLEYBALL

GENERAL and REFERENCE BOOKS

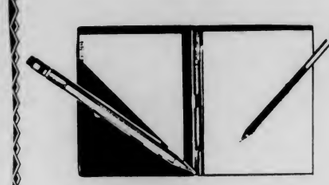


- Fiction
- Non-Fiction
- Scientific
- Technical
- Magazines
- Computer
- Paperbacks
- Childrens Books

BOOK OF THE WEEK
$1.00 OFF List Price
HARD COVER NY TIMES BEST SELLERS
$2.00 OFF List Price

TEXTBOOKS are sold at the Annex

SCHOOL and OFFICE SUPPLIES



A FULL LINE OF School and General Office Products

FILM and PHOTO DEVELOPING

*Kodak or Standard photo developing available.

- Kodak Film
- Polaroid Film
- Flash
- Batteries
- Mailers
- Cameras
- Dark Room Supplies

CHECK CASHING POLICY

With a purchase at Main Store you Must Spend:
10% of checks up to $20.00
20% of checks $20.00 to $50.00
50% of checks over $50.00

Money Orders, Travelers Checks & Certified Checks may be cashed with any purchase.

No two party checks.

*Checks taken at the Mini Store must be for the exact amount of purchase.

VISA MasterCard

Accepted at The Main Store ONLY

UNIVERSITY STORE

All Are Welcome
Located in the Campus Center

Store Hours:
Mon.-Fri. 9:00 am-5:00 pm
* Saturday 11:00 am-4:00 pm
On Campus: 5-2619

413-545-2619

* Home Football Games - Sat. 10:00-3:00

RT. 47 SUNDERLAND
You must be 18 to enter.
Open til 2
665-4937
24 Hour Taped Message

The rusty nail Inn PROUDLY PRESENTS

Friday, September 7
WHITEWALLS
$1.00 cover

Saturday, September 8
LOADSTAR
$2.00 cover

Sunday
JOHN CAFFERTY
and BEAVER BROWN BAND from Eddie and the Cruisers featuring the hot single
On the Dark Side
$5.00

All tickets available Wednesdays in the Campus Center

Professional Consultation & Style Haircut
only
$7.00
With Shampoo & Blowdry $10.50

Featuring: Design Perming and
Dimensional Highlighting

Styles by Deborah
65 University Dr.
Amherst, 549-5610
with this coupon, expires 9/30/84

Please call for an appointment

THERE'S STILL TIME.

Late registration for fall day and evening credit courses is held Sept 5 - 18. Day courses are on a space-available basis; written permission is required.

Records & Registration Office
University Library, Rm. 104
Mon. - Thurs. 9 a.m. - 7 p.m.
Fri. 9 a.m. - 5 p.m.
Sat. (Sept. 8 - 29) 10 a.m. - 1 p.m.

Registration for Credit-Free Workshops may be made by telephone 545-0587 or in person.

Records & Registration
University Library, Rm. 111
Mon. - Fri. 8:30 a.m. - 5 p.m.

or in the
Records and Registration Office
University Library, Rm. 104
Mon. - Thurs. 5 p.m. - 7 p.m.
Sat. (Sept. 8 - 29) 10 a.m. - 1 p.m.

Payment may be made by cash (until 5 p.m.), check, VISA, or MasterCard.

DCE DIVISION OF CONTINUING EDUCATION
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AT AMHERST

USED PAPERBACKS
ACADEMIC & POPULAR
LARGEST STOCK IN WESTERN MASS. OVER 35,000 BOOKS
in all subjects, old & recent.
VALLEY BOOK SHOP
Carriage Shops
Downtown Amherst
549-6052
Open Thurs 9/5 & Fri 9/6 til 8:00 pm
Regular Hours Mon-Fri 10-5:30, Sat 10-5, Sun 1-5

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIED

Monday - Thursday 8:45 - 3:45 • Friday 8:45 - 2:30 • Cash in advance • 5 consecutive days 5% discount • 10 consecutive days 10% discount • 15 consecutive days 15% discount • phone number free

ADVERTISING

Advertise FREE in the RIVER VALLEY AD Advertise items you want to sell or buy. Call 532-9498

ATTENTION

WE'RE HIRING DJ'S

RACK-A DISC RACK-A VIDEO is hiring DJ's Send resume to: PO Box 48, Amherst MA 01004

AUDIO

Introducing Pres Speakers to campus If you're interested in loudspeakers you can not afford not to listen To set up an appointment call Rob 548-5897 after 5 PM

ENTERTAINMENT

VIDEO VIDEO VIDEO VIDEO Rack A Video entertainment giant 10 and 15 foot screens for dorms and Greeks "MTV" video music call 549-7144

Rack A Disc Rack-A-Video entertainment guaranteed events for Disc Jockeys, Bands and Video Call 549-7144

Wicked and Wild DJ's audio and visual entertainment for the 80's 584 6712

FOR RENT

3 bedrooms, on bus route Belchertown Center 323-7246 evenings

FOR SALE

Bed and/or Kitchen Set for sale Call 253-7854 Borth good condition

Refrigerstor 6 cu ft used 1 yr $90 00 253 2833 nights

Small refrig for sale excellent cond $35 or best offer call 253 7345

SOUNDESIGN STEREO Originally $900 2 years old $469 Dresser $40 253-3682

Sanyo Refrigerstor Excellent condition, 3 feet tall $100 Debbie S at 545-2152

HELP WANTED

Regional & Local Reps wanted to distribute posters on college campuses Part-time work or more Requires no sales Commission plus piece work Average earnings $6.00 per hour Contact: Americen Passage 500 Third Ave West, Seattle WA 98119 1 800 426-2836 M F Network

Earthfoods Resteurant is hiring for part time positions 10 hrs week 3 50 hr Mendistnv Mon night meeting 5 7 2 hrs cmm mittee work per week Highly motivsted people please apply! We ere an EOE and follow affirmative action Pick up applicastons at kitchen eround corner from ride board in Student Union

Interesting part-time opportunity for competent programmer experienced in Macro 11 or Macro 32 on PDP 11 or VAX Small Amherst based company developing communications and realtime control soft were is looking for 10 hours a week for school year with possibility of intersession employment Contact Berne Volz PO BOx 746 Amherst MA 01004 send resume or 549 6994

Need meals? Sorority needs kitchen help lunch and dinners weekly. Call Kathy 545-2152

Housekeepers, part time weekdays, weekends, flexible hours, experience helpful, apply in person Howard Johnsons Motor Lodge, Hadley

Earn good money working flexible hours Harvest help needed to pick squash in Hedley near UMass Call 549-0016 between 6:30 and 8:30 PM

Tenors, Basses with sightsinging skills wanted Mount Holyoke Chapel Choir Eight Wednesday evenings, fifte Sunday mornings thru December $3 90 hr Audition 538 2343

Human Service Positions part time evenings and weekends Services for Community Living, a small innovative residential agency is seeking a few mature, creative individuals who enjoy working with people No experience necessary we will train AA EOE call 538-8176

Housepeople wanted - to help serve meals weekdays weekends call Jean 549-0539

On campus non worksteudy M F 7 12 AM call Diane at 6-3220 or Ray 549 1092

INSTRUCTION

Know your car. Basic Automobile Workshop 28 hours including classroom and shop. Limited enrollment. 253-2098

LOST

One Santa Barbara Savings Bank book If found call Craig O'Bryant at 549-1895

PERSONALS

Aerobic Experience First Class FREE! Mon Sept 10 6 7 or 7 8 PM Campus Center Rm 165 reserve a spot! 586-1898

PERFORMING ARTS DIVISION Music Theatre Dance Instruction Old Chapel UMass 545 0519 Register by September 14

Is it true you can buy jeeps for $44 through the US government? Get the facts today! Call 1-312-742-1142 ext. 5831-A

Cash for College available $16.5 million unclaimed. Send $1.00 (refundable) Results guaranteed S.D.R. 49-10 Downing St. Fall River, Mass 02723

CONTACT LENSES REPLACED Most brands $20 - $25. Dr Spenser University Drive 256-8561

RIDE WANTED

Grad student wants ride to/from Boston on Thursdays during fall term. Share expenses Doug 584-5720

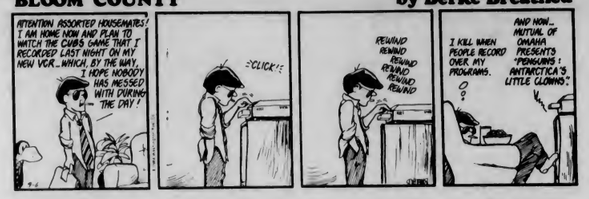
ROOMMATE WANTED

Female to share double rm in Puffton non-smoker call 549-0388

One female Moslem to share a room in a fully furnished apt in Brittany Manor from Sept JUne 1985 rent 127.50 (heat included) call Su or Jas at 256-0673

Wanted female roommate for Brandywine apartment 549-1669

BLOOM COUNTY by Berke Breathed



ATTENTION ASSORTED HOUSEMATES! I AM HOME NOW AND PLAN TO WATCH THE CUBS GAME THAT I RECORDED LAST NIGHT ON MY NEW VCR...WHICH, BY THE WAY, I HOPE NOBODY HAS MESSED WITH DURING THE DAY!
"CLICK!!"
REWIND REWIND REWIND REWIND REWIND
I KILL WHEN PEOPLE RECORD OVER MY PROGRAMS.
AND NOW... MUTUAL OF OMAHA PRESENTS "PENGUINS: ANTARCTICA'S LITTLE CLOWNS."

Gorde By Gorde

FIRST "FINK" AND NOW "MANGO?"
PARDON HER, GUYS. SHE'S NOT USED TO PEOPLE WITH WEIRD NAMES! I'M LESLIE AND SHE'S JEN!
WELL, FOLKS, THE DRINKS ARE ON ME, C'MON OVER TO MY ROOM SHIP!
OOO, YES!
AND I THOUGHT SOUTHWEST WAS WILD!
NICE ROOM!
NICE DRINK!
SLURP
AHH! NOW THAT'S WHY THEY CALL ME "MANGO" JAKE!

Ultra Mass
E.L.M.
Ultra Mass!
OOOO! THE WATER'S COLD
I Better Oe Getting Home!
Now it really doesn't work!
Sorry!
POWW!
After Fixing the Library Tower our new wave hero returns to his warm Kennedy home
ZOOOMM!
Do I have to wash this hair?

DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE

Edited by Trude Michel Jaffe

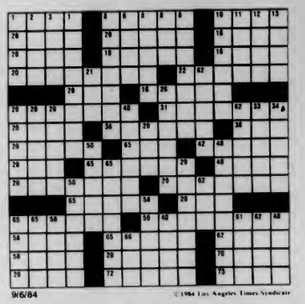
ACROSS
1 Rain heavily
5 Plot another way
10 Evened the score
14 Surprising words
15 Helen's cousin
16 Preminger
17 Waterways
18 "...eaten —— grape...": Jeremiah
19 Wimbledon units
20 Deli dish
22 Wrapping paper
24 Crumb
25 Fisherman's equipment
27 Spray propellant
31 Kind of salad
35 Winter condition
36 Lay a new floor
38 Berwick negative
39 Ever
41 Jose or Juan
42 Lopez of music
44 Federal agcy
45 Commission
48 Religious image
49 Salad feature
51 Nail polish remover, i e
53 University of Maine locale
55 Society page word
56 San Diego's neighbor
59 Picnic salad
64 Specialty
65 Composer Montemezzi
67 Ran, as madras
68 Ultimate
69 Book of the Bible
70 Green land
71 "—— Perpetua," Idaho motto
72 Family members, for short
73 Condemn

DOWN
1 Meat on a French menu
2 River to the Mississippi
3 Singular
4 January 1st arena
5 Land man
6 Literary lioness
7 Pet's plaints
8 Babylonian god
9 Unfair
10 Kind of salad
11 Residents: Suffix
12 "——, Brute"
13 Patient's portion
21 Relative
23 Small stream
26 "Dallas" family
27 Ancient Mariner's sighting
28 —— nous
29 Honor humorously
30 Abate
32 Ready
33 Continued
34 Deceptive move
37 Indo-Chinese language
40 Petrarch's inspiration
43 Water channel
46 Tallying touchdowns
47 Certain officers, for short
50 See 49 Across
52 Grazing land
54 —— Beach, Normandy
56 Knight's counterpart
57 February 14th celebrity
58 "—— we forget"
60 Sr. of past times
61 Miscellany
62 Stout detective
63 Bibliography word
66 Seaman

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE:

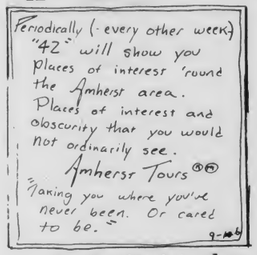
M	I	C	E		C	O	O	P		C	A	T	S
A	N	O	N		G	E	N	I		H	I	R	E
M	E	W	S		A	L	L	I	N	E	D	I	T
A	R	C		B	L	A	C	K	S	H	E	E	P
S	T	A	B	L	E		E	S	T	I	E	S
		T	R	A	S	H		I	C	E	C	A	P
L	I	C	I	T		C	R	E	E	K		H	O	E
A	S	H	E		G	A	I	T	S		H	I	N	T
U	T	E		D	O	M	P	H		O	I	C	E	S
O	D	R	A	D	O			S	H	A	N	K
		G	E	S	T	S		A	O	E	R	I	S
	H	O	R	S	E	O	P	E	R	A		N	O	W
G	O	G	O		E	T	U	D	E		L	O	N	E
A	L	L	A		G	A	M	E	S		O	U	D	E
S	E	E	D		G	L	E	N		S	T	O	P

9/6/84



9/6/84 ©1984 Los Angeles Times Syndicate

"42"



Periodically (every other week) "42" will show you places of interest 'round the Amherst area. Places of interest and obscurity that you would not ordinarily see.
Amherst Tours®®
Taking you where you've never been. Or cared to be.
9-10

By D. Christopher

Dear Freddy-Bob

By Roskey and Ashby

Today's DC Menu

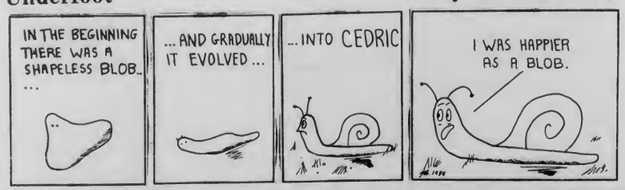
LUNCH
Hamburg on Roll
Spinach Noodle Casserole

BASICS LUNCH
Golden Burgers
Spinach Noodle Casserole

DINNER
Chicken Hawaiian with Hoomalimali
Sausage Grinder

BASICS DINNER
Stir Fry Vegetables and Tofu
Chicken Hawaiian with Hoomalimali Sauce

Underfoot By Joe Bradbury



Today's Weather

Today: partly cloudy, cool with temperatures in the mid-60s. Tonight: clear, temperatures in the 40s. Friday: sunny, continued coolness, highs near 70.

Be a Star for the Collegian

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Positions opening in News, Sports, Arts, Ed-Op, Photo and Black Affairs

Write for the Collegian

Get Involved!!!!!
Referral Fair!!!!! Get Involved

ENTERTAINMENT
Real Steel DRUMMERS
EXHIBITS

Look up in the sky! It's a bird, it's a plane, no it's. . . .
Michael Cooper
Stilt Walker

The First Week referral fair will happen on Thursday, September 6th, on the lawn between the tower library and the campus pond. The fair will be between 11 am and 3 pm. In case of rain, it will be in the SUB.

Sponsored by FIRST WEEK '84, the Dean of Students, and the SGA.

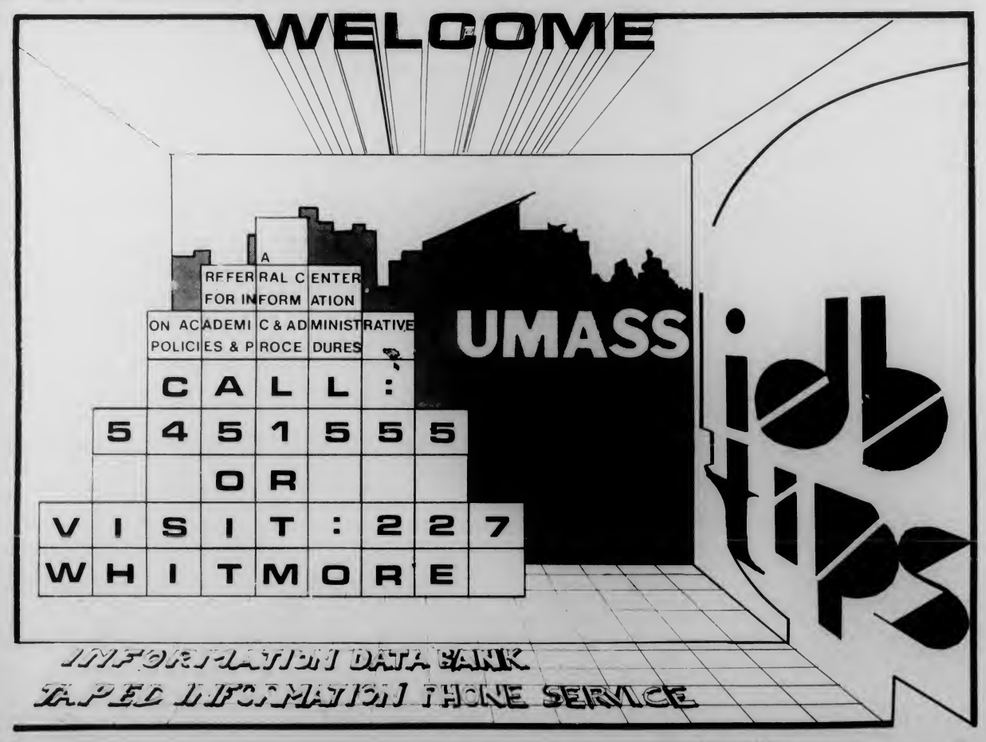
COMPUTERIZED BUY-BACK

CASH FOR BOOKS

ONLY AT
The Campus Center Concourse
next to the University Store
Tuesday 9/4 - Friday 9/7
9:00 am - 4:00 pm
Saturday Sept. 8
10:00 am - 3:00 pm

FAST • EFFICIENT • RELIABLE

WELCOME



Collegian's NFL picks

	Peter Abraham (0-0)	Tony Betros (0-0)	Scott Hood (0-0)	Gerry deSimas (0-0)	Kevin DeLuca (0-0)
Patriots-Dolphins	Miami	Miami	Miami	Miami	Miami
Bills-Cardinals	St. Louis	St. Louis	Buff	St. Louis	Buff
Cowboys-Giants	Dallas	Dallas	Dallas	Dallas	NY
Broncos-Bears	Chic	Chic	Chic	Chic	Chic
Lions-Falcons	Atl	Atl	Atl	Det	Det
Chiefs-Bengals	KC	KC	KC	KC	Cin
Vikings—Eagles	Minn	Minn	Phil	Phil	Minn
Bucs-Saints	TB	NO	NO	NO	NO
Browns-Rams	LA	LA	LA	LA	LA
Colts-Oilers	Hou	Hou	Indy	Hou	Hou
Packers-Raiders	Raiders	Raiders	Raiders	GB	Raiders
Chargers-Seahawks	SD	SD	SD	SD	Sea
Redskins-49ers	Wash	SF	SF	Wash	SF

Those fearless prognosticators of professional football, the Collegian sports staff, are at it again. Starting with this, the second week of the all-powerful NFL season, the fabulous five will make their weekly selections.

A-10 rule changes:

Three-pointer reinstated

By PETER ABRAHAM
Collegian Staff

The Atlantic 10 basketball conference will reinstate a three point field goal and leave the 54-second shot clock running for the entire game during the coming season.

The conference, consisting of UMass, Duquesne, George Washington, Penn State, Rhode Island, Rutgers, St. Bonaventure, St. Joseph's, Temple and West Virginia, employed a three-point line two easons ago.

Massachisetts forward John Hempel led the conference in three point shooting. He has since transferred to St. John's University in the Big East.

The line will be 19 feet, 9 inches away from the basket. The 45 second clock will be in use for the second straight season, but was turned off during the final four minutes of every game last year.

In another rule change mandated by the NCAA, all conference coaches will have to stay within the confines of a designated "coaches box" that will be requir on all basketball courts.

The Minutemen will play all their home games at the Springfield Civic Center, due to renovations of the Curry Hicks Cage.

UMass well-represented at LA Olympic Games

By PETER ABRAHAM
Collegian Staff

Field hockey player Judy Strong wasn't the only University of Massachusetts representative at the recent Olympic games in Los Angeles.

Baseball coach Dick Berquist served as the official host of the Korean baseball team. Berquist escorted the Korean unit around the games. Baseball was a demonstration sport in L.A. and played in front of large crowds at Dodger Stadium.

A former Minuteman pitcher, Lou Colabello, pitched for the Italian team. Colabello, who pitched for several years in Italy, was touched up for two home runs and seven runs in his only inning.

Field hockey coach Pam Hixon served as a volunteer assistant for the United States team, but did not coach at the games.

Marathoner Peter Pfitzinger is the final UMass Olympic participant. Pfitzinger was the coach of the women's track and cross-country team in 1979 while working on his masters degree. He finished 11th in the race.

In other baseball news, another ex-Minuteman, Mark Brown had a bad major league debut. Brown was hit by a line drive off the bat of Cleveland Indian shortshop Julio Franco while pitching in his first for the Baltimore Orioles in early August. Brown went on to take a 7-5 loss.

In five college news, two Smith College seniors, Maura Fitzpatrick and Margaret Broenniman, swam the English Channel. After training a month, the pair became the 273rd and the 274th people to swim the fabled distance.

Broenniman, of Chevy Chase, MD, was clocked in 10 hours and 37 minutes, Fitzpatrick, of Westwood, took 11 hours and 15 minutes.

UM wins, 26-10

UMass	0	10	7	9	-	26
Ball State	0	7	3	0	-	10

	UM	BS
First Downs:	16	13
Yards Rushing:	175	4
Yards Passing:	133	229
Total Yards:	308	233
Passing:	15-33	23-42
Penalties:	5-39	1-15
Possession:	24:17	35:23
Punts	7-217	6-89

Individual Statistics:
Passing: J. Simeone (UM) 15-33, 133, 0, 1. N. Britt (BS) 21-40, 223, 0,3. B. Adams (BS) 2-2, 6, 0, 0.
Rushing: (UM) F. Fay, 17-78; G. Barnwell, 16-55; D. Grange, 9-29. J. Simeone 1-3.
Receiving: B. Simeone, 6-51; P. Walsh, 3-32; G. Barnwell, 2-18; J. Crowley, 1-16; F. Fay, 1-12, D. Grange 1-4.
Field Goals: (UM) Papoutsidis 25, 21, 30, 39. Missed 37.

Mountain Farms FURNITURE
Rugs Chairs
Hutches, Tables
HOURS:
Fri 5 PM to 9 PM
Sat 12 PM to 9 PM
Sun 10 AM to 5 PM
Mon 5 PM to 9 PM
Located at
Mt Farms Mall
Hadley, MA

Are you wondering what to register for?
...Consider the Health Aide Program

As a Peer Health Promoter, you
★ LEARN ABOUT YOURSELF
★ TEACH YOUR PEERS ABOUT HEALTH
★ GAIN CAREER EXPERIENCE

For more information about this 3 credit course sponsored by the University Health Services, call the Health Education Office at 549-2671 ext. 181

Truck load plant sale.

All types, hangers, floor plants

FLOWERS-TO-GO
The areas only discount florist.
Free delivery to the Campus Center.
388 King Street, Northampton
584-6930

FUNNYBONES
COCKTAIL LOUNGE

Every MONDAY
NICKEL NITE
Every other drink 5¢ 7 - 1

Every TUESDAY
LADIES NITE
Ladies first 2 drinks 99¢ 7 - 1
Always Live Entertainment

Every WEDNESDAY
PENNY DRAFT NITE
Every other 12 oz. Draft 1¢ 7 - 1

Every THURSDAY
GRAB BAG NITE
Check for drink specials and entertainment 7 - 1

Every FRIDAY & SATURDAY
DJ's or
LIVE ENTERTAINMENT
to party with 'till 2 AM
(doors close 1 am)

Every SUNDAY
SPORTS ACTION starts 1 pm
in our Sport Pub
w/99¢ Drinks 1 - 7

"FUNNY HOUR"
1-7 • 7 DAYS A WEEK
Rt. 9 Hadley (across from Mt. Farms Mall)

EXCITING 1984
MINUTEMAN FOOTBALL
Saturday, September 8th
Beautiful Alumni Stadium Amherst
1:30 P.M. Kickoff
UMASS vs. LEHIGH ENGINEERS

Fun • Color • Excitment
• Outstanding Collegiate Football
• The Powerful and Entertaining Marching Band!
A Great Tailgate!
Great Entertainment

LEHIGH ENGINEERS
Boosting 40 returning lettermen from a team that registered 8 wins last year, the Minutemen will be ready for a tough battle when Lehigh comes to town. The Engineers have a well-deserved reputation for a wide-open offense.

Purchase Tickets at the UMass Athletic Office or at the Stadium on game day:
Reserved tickets. . .$6.
Unreserved. . . $5.
Children (14 & under). . .$3
Call ticket office for Group Rates:
UMass students with valid ID - no charge (413) 545-0810

Sports

There will be a meeting for anyone interested in writing for the Collegian sports staff on Monday at 4:30 in the newsroom. The Collegian offices are in the Campus Center, room 113. All staff members must attend.

Men's soccer has one goal: score

Underclassmen heavily counted on to produce for booters

By PETER ABRAHAM
Collegian Staff

"Our defense is set, I'm confident in the goaltending, there's just one thing to accomplish, score some goals."

For University of Massachusetts soccer coach Jeff Gettler, this isn't a passing hope, it's a crying need.

The Minutemen lost eight games by one goal last season, throw in three ties and the record stood at 3-12-1. With a goal scorer that record could've reached .500, or better.

"That's all we need, somebody to score," said Gettler. "We were real strong on defense last season and I expect the same this year, if only my recruits come through."

"This team has potential, if we can shake off the effects of losing...there will be some surprised people."
—Coach Jeff Getler

Two freshmen and a sophomore have much of the scoring responsibility heaped on their shoulders.

Canadian Kurt Manal played on the 19-and-under World Cup team for his country. He'll be a forward for the Minutemen. "This kid's legit," said Gettler. "He's a talented player."

Parade Magazine All-American Matt Cushing from Duxbury scored 30 goals from his midfielder's position in high school his last season. Sophomore Ferdie Adoboe tripled and long jumped for the spring track team last season, he was a top goal scorer for Amherst High School two years ago and according to Gettler, has retained all of his skills.

Top returnees include senior sweeper back Mike Runeare and senior midfielder Tom Uschok, an all-New England selection. Junior goalie Don Donahue got off to an impressive start last season (two one-goal games) before injuring a leg and missing the remainder of the season. He's back for the fall and although still not 100 percent, Gettler feels that he's ready to get in the crease.

UMass faces every Division I team in New England except for Brown. They open against Boston University on next Tuesday at home on Boyden Field. The annual UMass Invitational will be October 6 and 7.

"It's tough to compete against these teams without the same number of scholarships," said Gettler. "But the soccer program here at UMass is coming along pretty well. The kids here are dedicated and want to play. We can compete with most teams and given a few goals last season, we would have had a much better record."

"If the three underclassmen can come through like I think they can, we'll do very well offensively and our defense is already very strong. It should be a better year."

"We'll be three times better, I'm shooting for .500 record," said Gettler. "This team has potential, if we can shake off the effects of losing those dozen last season and get into the winning frame of mind, there will be some surprised people. But I'm confident we can accomplish that."

Collegian photo by Peter Abraham

Ferdi Adoboe, left, and Nick Marciano go for the ball during a soccer workout last week.

One and counting, Ball State falls hard

UMass 26, Ball State 10

By GERRY deSIMAS
Collegian Staff

It was an impressive performance by the until-now lightly regarded University of Massachusetts football team Saturday afternoon in Alumni Stadium. The Ball State Cardinals, the Minutemen's Division I-A opponents and 26-10 losers, were certainly impressed.

Yet, it was the Minuteman defense that carried UMass in this game, not the offense as first-year coach Bob Stull had hoped.

Ball State quarterback Neil Britt was picked off three times, twice by Todd Comeau and once by Paul Platek. UMass recovered three fumbles, one for a touchdown. And the Minuteman defense held the Ball State offense to four yards rushing.

"They caused a lot of fumbles," Stull said. "They hit hard."

Vito Perrone and Dave Cavanaugh were named defensive players of the game by Stull. Perrone had five unassisted tackles,assisted on six others and scored a TD after a blocked punt. Cavanaugh had three unassisted tackles and sacked Britt twice.

The defense carried the day as Kevin Brown blocked another Diettrich punt to set the first UMass score. UMass drove 31 yards in five plays culminated by Frank Fay's one yard dive for a 7-0 lead with 10:04 gone in the 2nd quarter.

Fay and George Barnwell were impressive on the ground. Fay led all rushers with 78 yards while Barnwell picked up 65 yards.

Stull attributed the running success to the new type of offense UMass is using this year, the split back instead of the I-Formation.

"We were hitting the line quicker," he said. "If you break the line of scrimmage you're on your way. The safeties have to make the stops. Seven times they (runners) broke runs for more than 10 yards."

Quarterback Jim Simeone was 15 of 33 for 133 yards and one intercepion. Brother Bob led the UMass receivers with six catches for 51 yards.

The offensive star of the day went to junior George Papoutsidis, the barefooted placekicker who kicked four field goals.

After Ball State tied the score 7-7 with a ll play 80 yard drive, Papoutsidis kicked a 25 yard field goal with eight seconds left in the first half to give UMass a 10-7 lead.

Diettrich hit a 37 yard field goal to narrow the lead to 17-10 with 2:13 left in the 3rd quarter but Papoutsidis hit for field goals from 21, 30 and 39 yards to finish the scoring.

"Offensively we were a little conservative," Stull said. "A lot of the drives weren't bad drives. We just didn't want to get nailed with a sack and get knocked out of the field goal range."

As long as we controlled the ball on defense, it was all right. If we score each time we're inside the 30, we'll be OK. If we were behind, it would have been different but that's the way the game was going."

"Offensively we'll just have to execute better."

Center Ken Runge and Fay were named offensive players of the week.

Stull also named Sheldon Harrison, Dino May, Steve Robards and Billy Plant as backup players-of-the-week. "Without those guys, we wouldn't do well. It's really important to be prepared."

The preparation paid off with an impressive upset Saturday. Lehigh won't be so quick do overlook UMass.

Sports Log

Tony Betros

Just a few thoughts...

Once again, another summer has shot by, and we find ourselves shuffling from one add-drop line to another, going to Whitmore 12 times to straighten out that three dollar lab fee we mysteriously forgot to pay, and begging professors to give us that "B" instead of "BC" because —"honest, professor, I really did want to go to the final, but I couldn't miss GH. I mean, God, Laura was back." Yes, ladies and gentlemen, we are back at UMass.

A lot of interesting things developed during the summer months in the world of sports...Of course, the big story was the event they call The Olympics. I personally didn't care that the Eastern Bloc countries didn't come. It was still a great spectacle. It was obvious that we fielded our best team ever, and although we probably wouldn't have won as many medals in events as weightlifting and wrestling, we still would have mugged them in any sport that either was competetive in...

The Olympics did give us many thrills: the men's gymnastics and volleyball teams, Mary Lou Retton, who tumbled and vaulted her way into our hearts and into a brand new Corvette, and Carl Lewis, who not only equalled Jessie Owens' mark of four golds but also may play footbal for the Cowboys. In other words, it was and will be an endorsement city for Mr. Lewis, a great athlete.

ABC did a great job for the two weeks, from its candid interviews to its super slomo. I only wish Kathleen Sullivan realized that in Los Angeles in August, one doesn't wear sweaters with little fuzzy things hanging off. One other small beef is Jim McKay. I know he did great in the '72 Munich tragedy and I have tremendous respect for him, but I think his time has come. Mel Tillis wouldn't have stuttered asall, though, ABC was outstanding.

Baseball is now ready for its September drive, with surprises abounding...The Tigers and Padres have their respective divisions pretty much sewn up, the Twins lead in the Atlantic 10, I mean, the AL West, and the exciting race is the Cubs and Mets...Sure, the Cubbies have a seven game lead, but they still have six games head-to-head...For all the people who spat at me as I boldly picked the Mets last spring, this Buds for you...How about all those fights erupting from beanballs? The big one was the Braves-Padres one, where the Padres threw at Atlanta starter Pascual Perez four times, causing two brawls, a dozen ejections, and even a few arrests as fans entered the fight. The most recent one was the Angels-Yankees melee on Sunday. I think Stan Johnathon can make a comeback as a second baseman.

Finally, the summer would not have been complete without Lou Albano, Cyndi Lauper, and the battling it out in perhaps the greatest spectator sport of all time—pro wrestling...MTV even aired "The Brawl to Settle it All" live from Madison Square GArden...So when someone talks about Carl Lewis or other "athletes", ask them if they got the guts to be on Pipers Pit.

No more need be said.

sports glance

UMass schedule:
There are no UMass sports scheduled for today.

Upcoming:
Field Hockey: Vs. University of North Carolina, at Springfield, on Friday, 7 pm.

Tomorrow: Collegian's UMass picks.

Boston 7
Milwaukee2

Baltimore 0
Detroit 1

Minnesota 1
Kansas City 1

Mets 4
St. Louis 2

Toronto 3
Yankees 3

The Massachusetts Daily
NEW ENGLAND'S LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY
Collegian
Volume CXIV, Issue 33 UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AMHERST (545-3500) Friday, September 7, 1984

Collegian photo by Brian K. Goyne

A REAL STEAL — Real Steel, a steel drum band from Trinidad, plays free of charge outside the Student Union Building yesterday as part of First Week festivities.

Belotti rejects nuke-free act

By TOM MIDDLETON
Collegian Staff

The Nuclear Free Amherst Act has been rejected by Massachusetts ,Attorney General Francis X. Belotti as being unconstitutional.

The attorney general had until yesterday to rule on the act which was passed by a 101-60 vote at Town Meeting last May. Belotti's office yesterday would not comment on his objections, pending the receipt of his statement by the Amherst town clerk.

Barbara Griffith, chairperson of the Board of Selectmen, said, "I don't know what the people sponsoring the proposal will do."

"I'm disappointed," she said, adding that she didn't want to make any comment until she had read Belotti's legal objections.

"It's not wholly unexpected," said Fran Fortino, one of the sponsors of the proposal. "Regardless, we have a town contract policy" passed by the selectmen, he said.

The Board of Selectmen passed a nuclear free Amherst resolution Aug. 13 by a 4-1 vote. The resolution directs the town manager to grant new contracts to companies " which are not involved in the production of nuclear weapons" whenever possible.

Andre Ryerson, a member of Citizens for Common Sense, a group opposing nuclear free Amherst propositions, said he was not surprised by the decision.

"I sincerely hope that the Town Meeting members who considered this proposal will carefully examine the objections articulated by the attorney general," he said.

UMass-Amherst Chancellor Joseph D. Duffey said he agreed with the attorney general's decision, but "I hope this doesn't dampen our awareness that the questions that they (the legislation's sponsors) are trying to raise are very serious."

"The men and women who sponsored this proposal were starting to raise perhaps the most critical issue at this time for Americans and all people of the world," he added. "I continue to believe there must be a moral effort."

Duffey opposed the original draft of the Nuclear Free Amherst Act and said he felt the final draft was inappropriate because a town council would be appointed to review research at the public university.

The Nuclear Free Amherst Act had a provision to create a non-partisan commission of five residents to oversee adherence to the act. The act would have also prohibited town contracts and investments with any business involved in the production of nuclear weapons or components.

Production and transportation of nuclear weapons and components within the town of Amherst would also be prohibited.

Michelle Leese of Nuclear Free America, a Baltimore based group, said she was disappointed with the attorney general's decision and that any further action "would be up to town officials, who could possibly challenge the decision in court." Leese gave legal advice to the sponsors of the article.

One company's shares sold

Trustees review South African stocks

By RICHARD MARTIN
Collegian Staff

The UMass Board of Trustees has reaffirmed its commitment not to invest in companies who do business in South Africa.

The board sold 1,500 shares of stock with American Hospital Supply, a company doing business in South Africa, on Aug. 23, and University Treasurer Robert Brand said the board is reviewing the South African business ties of five other companies in which UMass has stock.

According to Thursday morning's New York Stock Exchange, the value of the stock that UMass sold was $53,430. The other companies are Proctor & Gamble, Tektronix, Foxboro, Thomas & Bett, and General Signal Corp. The value of UMass' shares with those five is $332,165.50.

Comp.	Shares	Price	Value
Thomas & Bett	1,000	35 3/4	$35,750
Foxboro	1,575	31 1/8	$49,014
Tektronix	700	65½	$45,850
Proctor & Gamble	1,600	55	$88,000
Gen. Signal Corp.	2,466	47 3/4	$115,551.50

South Africa's six million whites are the only people allowed to hold office in a country of 30 million people. The 19 million blacks are not allowed to vote, according to the World Almanac.

"We think he's (Brand) going in the right direction. Some students get up in arms and say that the trustees are moving too slow. But the trustees have a right to and should make sure that the other companies are involved in South Africa. The way I look at it, the Trustees do want to divest from (companies involved in) South Africa," said Student Government Association (SGA) co-president Jim Keller.

In his letter, Brand stated, "We are very conscious of policy and have sold any and all securities held in companies operating in South Africa as soon as all the facts have been confirmed." Brand had no further comment Thursday, saying that his letter made his position clear.

The investigation into the original six companies began April 10, with an inquiry by the Student Center for Educational Research and Advocacy and the South Africa Divestment Coalition (SADC). Relying on the Directory of American Firms in Foreign Countries as a primary source, the SADC recommended to Brand on Aug. 20 that the stock be sold. American Hospital was sold three days later, but the students' information conflicted with the trustees and UMass' investment advisers Standish, Ayer & Wood, Inc. The board is now cross-checking both sources.

Keller said he did not know whether the stock was acquired after the trustees made their commitment against apartheid in 1977, or if the companies became involved in South Africa after 1977.

"I think that because of the lack of effective monitoring, somehow the stock was acquired," Keller said.

New SCERA director starts Monday

By TAARA EDEN HOFFMAN
Collegian Staff

After reviewing 40 applications and conducting eight interviews, the search committee has selected a new director for the Student Center for Educational Research and Advocacy (SCERA).

Debra Piltch of Boston has been appointed and will be starting next Monday. Piltch graduated in May from William Smith College in Geneva, New York, with a dual major in Women's and American Studies and an honors thesis on pornography.

While in college, Piltch worked in the Women's resource center and was a finance representative for the Student Government.

Jose Tolson, director of Commuter Area Government and member of the search committee, was very pleased with the selection. "She was my first choice," he said.

SCERA will have a new structure this fall, according to Elsa Elliot, the student co-coordinator. In addition to the anti-racism team and the anti-oppression team that have been SCERA's main forces in the past, there will be eight research organizers who will review various issues of student concern.

"We will be able to mobilize more forces towards other issues such as the tuition hike or voter registration," Elliott said. "It (the new structure) gives us more flexibility."

The eight research organizers were trained over a year-long period of twice-weekly workshops in

Continued on page 5

Fan fire in Thatcher causes $300 damage

An electrical fire caused $300 worth of damage but no injuries Wednesday afternoon in Thatcher dormitory. University of Massachusetts police said that an electrical malfunction in a window fan set window drapes ablaze, charred the ceiling and blistered the paint on the walls of the first floor room.

In other police reports, a car stereo was reported stolen from an unlocked Pontiac in Lot 22 near Southwest at 11:14 a.m. Wednesday. The stereo was valued at $95.

At 9:42 a.m. Wednesday, a handbag was reported stolen from an open and unattended office in Machmer Hall. The handbag was taken between 9:30 a.m. and 2 p.m. Tuesday. It was valued at !65.

At 5:45 a.m. Thursday, police discovered an unsuccessful attempt to break and enter into Hampshire Dining Commons. The door to the loading dock had its hinges removed. The entry led into the garbage and trash room.

Inside:

Senate candidate canvassing alumni... p.3
Real steel tours U.S. p.7
Springsteen rocks Worcester..... p.13
Minutemen and Stickers top weekend agenda p.20

"No influence so quickly converts a radical into a reactionary as does his election to power."
— Elisabeth Marbury (1856-1933)

World and National News

Israeli factions will unite

JERUSALEM (AP) — The leaders of Israel's two biggest political parties, seeking to end a six-week stalemate, concluded all but the minor details of a power-sharing agreement yesterday and said they hoped to install a new government by the end of next week.

Labor Party leader Shimon Peres and caretaker Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir of the Likud bloc said they would have to meet again next week to divide some of the minor Cabinet posts in a bipartisan government.

Negotiations on a government of "national unity" have been dragging on for six weeks and the difficulties presage the obstacles such a government may face.

The ideologically opposed parties have not joined forces since former Prime Minister Menachem Begin, a Likud member, walked out of a bipartisan government in 1970 in disagreement over proposals to return parts of Israeli-occupied territories.

TYPHOON AFTERMATH — This collapsed church in Surigao, the Phillippines, is one of thousands of buildings destroyed by typhoon Ike's 115-mile-per-hour winds in this city 450 miles south of Manila last weekend. More than 1,000 people died and 200,000 others were left homeless in the typhoon's wake.

Korea, Japan ease up

TOKYO (AP) — Japan and South Korea moved toward a new relationship yesterday with the historic visit of South Korean President Chun Doo-hwan and a statement of contrition by Emperor Hirohito for the "unfortunate past" that has divided the two Asian neighbors.

Chun, the first Korean leader ever to visit the former colonial master of the Korean peninsula, arrived yesterday afternoon for a three-day visit amid the tightest security measures ever taken by Japanese police.

Several hours after his arrival, Chun met privately with Prime Minister Yasuhiro Nakasone for 90 minutes. Foreign Ministry spokesman Shiro Amaya said the Japanese leader praised South Korea both for its defense efforts and its attempts to initiate a dialogue with communist North Korea.

But the climax of the day, and probably of the trip, came last night at a state banquet when Hirohito, 83, delivered an anticipated expression of regret for Japan's past domination of Korea.

"It is indeed regrettable that there was an unfortunate past between us for a period in this century, and I believe that it should not be repeated again," he said.

Hirohito's statement stopped short of the direct apology demanded by many Koreans, who remain bitter about Japan's harsh colonial subjugation of the Korean peninsula from 1910 until 1945.

U.S. backs Israelis in Lebanon at U.N.

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The United States yesterday vetoed a Security Council resolution demanding that the Israeli army in southern Lebanon remove "obstacles to the restoration of normal conditions in the areas under its occupation."

The vote was 14-1.

The resolution called on Israel "to respect strictly the rights of the civilian population under its occupation." It demanded that Israel open all roads and lift restriction on the movement of people and goods and the operation of Lebanese government institutions.

Warren Clark, the U.S. representative at the council, cast the veto and said, "We cannot be a party to an unbalanced solution which takes a one-sided, myopic look at only one part of the problem."

"We believe it is unrealistic and unreasonable for the council to address the question of foreign forces in southern Lebanon and humanitarian and security problems there, without dealing with these same problems in all of Lebanon," he added.

He referred to Syrian and Palestinian forces that control much of northern and eastern Lebanon.

Today's Staff

Night Editor — Anne McCrory
Copy Editor — Bob Burgess
Layout Technician — Gerry DeSimas
Photo Technician — Brian Gonye
Production Supervisor — Mark Rodin
Production — Laura Zigman, Jeff Collins, Peter Forget, Ansel Zinter, Julie Marcinek, Catherine Hall

50% Off — Attention Students — 50% Off

our already low student cost — our already low student cost

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian is undergoing an experimental structural change in our classified rates. We are making a conscientious effort to limit the expenditure that all of us, as students, will undertake. In order to make this a successful effort, we need your support. We are located at the opposite end of the check cashing service in Room 113 Campus Center. Please support us as we continue to support you.

50% OFF

Student Classifieds

(Now 10¢ per word)

Personals — Autos — Babysitters — Help Wanted — Entertainment — Lost & Found — Services

Personals — For Rent — For Sale — Rides Wanted

Shannon backs unemployed DC workers' benefits fight

By LAURA YEE
Collegian Staff

University of Massachusetts dining commons workers have received the support of Senate candidate James Shannon to help regain unemployment benefits taken away last year.

Shannon is currently trying to pass legislation to aid the employees in their fight for the benefits.

"More than 150 DC workers who are laid off during summer and intersession are no longer entitled to unemployment benefits because their positions are on 'recall dates,' Jonathan Tuttle, a Physical Plant storekeeper and president of AFSCME Local 1776 Union said.

"A recall date means that these workers are not unemployed. There's a specific date when they will start working again, which means no unemployment," he said.

"DC workers have been receiving unemployment for 10 years and now Washington decides that they can no longer be classified as unemployed when they are out of work. A single parent with a household is in tough shape," Tuttle said.

Tuttle said DC workers are paid out of student trust funds.

"If there are no students to generate salaries to keep the workers on the payroll, they can't be paid," he said.

"DC workers are outraged and confused about why they lost their benefits. They are the lowest paid (employees) who work the hardest and who get the least benefits. In general, they're treated badly."

When workers were laid off last winter, the University helped them find hourly paid jobs but without benefits.

Tuttle said the Union is also trying to change the grade system for University employees.

"The grade system is outrageously discriminatory. Entry level food services jobs for men are grade eight, but grade four or five for women," Tuttle said.

The Union has filed suit to push for pay equality with the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission but has not yet achieved any results, Tuttle said.

"It's clearly discrimination. We've even gotten support from men. They know they're underpaid but see that women are underpaid even more so," he said.

"Unemployment money comes out of federal legislation. If we can get Jim Shannon, a Democrat, into office, we can receive the same benefits."

Theta Chi returns with new outlook

By NANCY A. BUKAR
Collegian Staff

The Theta Chi fraternity is back at the University of Massachusetts this semester after a two-year suspension due to various violations committed by former fraternity members.

The original house was suspended in the summer of 1982 after UMass officials decided that the house was not following the requirements of fraternity life. Some violations by the former members included pocketing the member's dues, cash bars, hazing and failure to report new members to the national office.

Theta Chi is now considered to be a "colony," a condition of probation before becoming a fraternity. A decision on its promotion to fraternity status by the national office should be made by November, according to Patrick Reyes, the house president.

Reyes emphasized the differences between the old house and the new one.

"We have nothing to do with the old group. We started from scratch," he said. All the present members are considered to be pledges by the national office.

Bob White, director of Greek Affairs at UMass, voiced his support for the new house. "It looks like a very good, strong house and the national (office) is very supportive," he said. "They're working hard to give it a good physical image."

White said the original suspension occurred due to "deterioration over a period of time; it was cumulative." He added that "the national is watching very carefully."

The house, located on North Pleasant Street next to the Newman Center, has been renovated and repainted with some of the work being done by the pledges. Former members are not permitted in the house nor are they considered to be alumni of Theta Chi.

White said the IntraFraternity Council is very supportive of the new house because they realize the burden that Theta Chi is under to improve its image on campus.

Gene Daley, president of Pike fraternity, which had conflicts with former members of Theta Chi, said this is "a new group of guys and we're anxious to meet them. It's nice to see that we're expanding the Greek area and we hope to have a few social functions with them."

One new Theta Chi member expressed the view of the house when he said, "We don't want to bring in the past. We're different."

Collegian photo by Brian K. Goyne

STUDENT ACTIVITY — Students peruse yesterday's Referral Fair while members of student activities recruit new members.

Bartley eyes fellow alumni support

By JOHN O'CONNELL
Collegian Staff

Democratic U.S. Senate candidate David Bartley is using a list of 42,000 fellow University of Massachusetts alumni in his effort to become the first UMass graduate elected to state-wide office.

Bartley, a 1956 graduate of UMass-Amherst, faces three other candidates for the Democratic nomination to the U.S. Senate seat now held by Democrat Paul Tsongas, in a primary election Sept. 18.

The winner of the primary will face Republican opponent Ray Shamie or Elliot Richardson in the November general election.

Bartley, who also received a Master's degree in education and is working on a doctorate from the University, "would be the first UMass graduate elected to Congress," said Director of Alumni Affairs John Hite.

Bartley has been running last in most polls of Democratic voters this summer, behind Secretary of State Michael J. Connolly, and front-runners Lt. Gov. John Kerry and Rep. Jim Shannon, D-Lawrence.

But Bartley, who was speaker of the Massachusetts House from 1969 to 1975, has strong ties in the State House, and a story in the Boston Globe Magazine June 3 said Bartley claimed "his secret weapon (in the election) is a list of 50,000 fellow UMass graduates."

A letter soliciting campaign contributions asks, "Dear UMass Graduate, Don't you think it's time that a UMass graduate was elected to state-wide office in Massachusetts?"

Bartley campaign press secretary Cheryl Delgreco said the letter "was sent out to classes around the time David graduated," but she wasn't sure how many were sent out.

Delgreco said the campaign is presentmg Bartley as "a person who is a product of the public education system," and a politician who has worked for a better public higher education system.

Hite said the Bartley campaign is using directory information from the University of Massachusetts Alumni Association. But he said Kerry is using lists from Yale, his alma mater, and other schools make lists available to alumni for political purposes, "so David has no unfair advantage on anyone."

Delgreco said Bartley is a political moderate compared to his Democratic opponents. He has concentrated on jobs, taxes and the economy in his campaign, and has shown little knowledge of foreign affairs when he appeared in television interviews with other candidates.

Bartley, 48, of Holyoke, received a BA in government from UMass in 1956, a Master's degree in education in 1960, and is now completing doctoral coursework in higher education for a degree from the University.

Since 1960, Bartley has been a teacher, state representative from Holyoke (1963-1975), Speaker of the Massachusetts House (1969-1975), executive secretary of Administration and Finance to the King administration, and President of Holyoke Community College (1975-present).

Collegian photo by Brian K. Goyne

LOOKING FOR COMPANY — A rare visitor to the Campus Pond observes his new surroundings yesterday.

SGA, MassPIRG plan voter registration week

A voter registration week beginning with a day of political speakers, music, and information sessions about registering to vote in Amherst will be held the first week in October at the University of Massachusetts.

The Public Policy Committee of the Student Government Association (SGA), in conjunction with the Massachusetts Public Interest Research Group (MassPIRG), are planning the week long registration drive.

The program's intent, according to Theresa Dawson, MassPIRG Campus Coordinator, is to enlighten prospective voters on the issues and policies that different candidates support. It will probably be held Sept. 29, she said.

Since this is a presidential election year, the coalition is making an extra push to register everyone on campus to produce a big turnout at the polls Nov. 6.

Rick Patrick, SGA co-president, said, "If UMass can prove that college students do vote and have a strong voice in matters concerning the state, we will have more say in state legislative decisions."

The coalition's first meeting will be held at 4 p.m. Tuesday in the MassPIRG office, which is on the fourth floor of the Student Union Building.

At the meeting, students will begin organizing events and finding sponsors for the program.

— BARBARA WILLIAMS

PUBLIC NOTICE

7 HOUR SALE

COME IN TODAY

Wed. 9/12 Noon-7 p.m.
Thurs. 9/13 10 a.m.-5 p.m.

BRAND NEW HOTEL SURPLUS
MATTRESS AND FOUNDATIONS

Twin Size Mattress	$55
Twin Size Foundation	$48
Full Size Mattress	$68
Full Size Foundation	$58

$48 AND UP

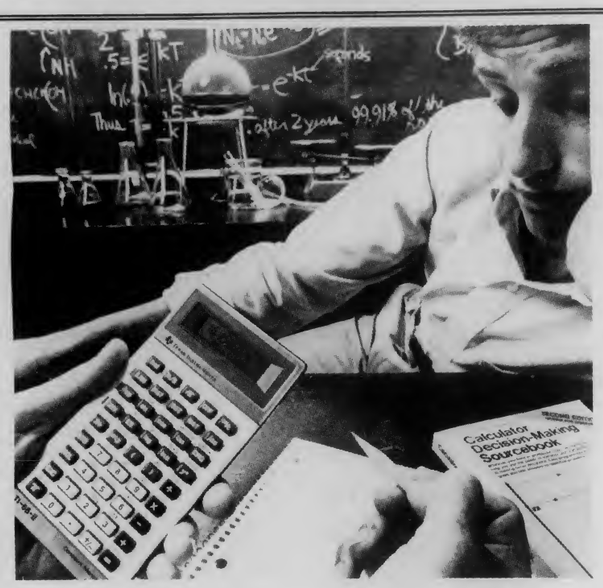
Not to be confused with bedding sold in this area. Every piece is brand new, mixed surplus, factory sealed in heavy clear plastic for your inspection and weather protection. Bring your car, truck or station wagon. We will load for you.

TWIN - FULL - QUEEN & KING AVAILABLE
WARRANTY WHEN PURCHASED IN SETS

Sale Held By RBM Sales Corp.
Be Early For Best Selection.
No Phone Orders, PLEASE.

Mastercard - Visa & Diner Club accepted.

HOWARD JOHNSON MOTOR LODGE
Rte. 9, Hadley



Get to the answers faster.
With the TI-55-II.

What you need to tackle the higher mathematics of a science or engineering curriculum are more functions — more functions than a simple algebraic calculator has.

Enter the TI 55-II with 132 powerful functions. You can work faster and more accurately with the TI-55-II because it's preprogrammed to perform complex calculations — like definite integrals, linear regression and hyperbolics — at the touch of a button. And it can also be programmed by you to solve problems without re-entering the entire formula.

Included in the Calculator Decision-Making Sourcebook it makes the process of using the TI-55-II even simpler, and shows you how to use all the power of the calculator.

Get to the answers faster. Get a TI 55-II and let us show you how.

TEXAS INSTRUMENTS
Creating useful products and services for you.

NATIONAL NEWS

Exposure laws sought

BOSTON (AP) — New legal rights for people injured by exposure to hazardous substances are being proposed by a special commission, but one member said yesterday the changes may not go far enough.

The special commission issued its interim recommendations, and announced the proposals would be reviewed at a series of public hearings across the state.

The proposals call for:

— Holding those responsible for the release of hazardous substances strictly liable for injuries, without having to prove negligence.

— Allowing groups suffering greater incidences of disease to recover losses in proportion to the harm caused.

— New rights for victims to sue for exposure that increases their risk of suffering from a disease in the future.

"The proposals...would break new ground on toxic victim compensation law, but leave many victims unaided...said Sanford Lewis, a commission member and staff attorney for the Massachusetts Public Interest Research Groups. "We have learned from week after week of testimony from experts and victims that the legal recovery system only works well under seldom-occurring circumstances."

Building costs raised at nuke plant-again

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Higher costs for the Millstone III nuclear power plant will be worthwhile even if they exceed the currently projected overrun of 6 percent to 10 percent, the president of Northeast Utilities said yesterday.

"The one thing we can't afford to have happen is to get the thing done...and then find out we can't prove it was put together right," said NU President E. James Ferland.

Last week NU predicted the cost of the plant would go $200 million to $350 million over the legislatively imposed ceiling of $3.54 billion.

But Ferland now says NU may have to ask the Legislature to increase the ceiling it imposed on Millstone III construction costs so that the company can bill its customers for the difference.

McDonald's donates summer tragedy site

SAN DIEGO(AP)— McDonald's Corp. announced yesterday it will donate to the city of San Diego the site of a restaurant where 21 people were killed by a gunman in July.

In a statement read by spokesman Chuck Rubner from company headquarters in Oak Brook, Ill., McDonald's Vice President Richard Starmann said, "After listening to the suggestion of the community, we are in agreement that the city will use this property in a sensitive and meaningful manner."

Rubner said the property is valued "in the hundreds of thousands of dollars," but he gave no specific amount.

Since James Oliver Huberty opened fire in the restaurant July 18, killing 21 people and wounding 19, community residents have been torn over what should be done with the site, which is in the San Diego community of San Ysidro.

A vocal group of residents have asked that the building on the property be razed and that a memorial park to the dead and wounded be constructed. A rough model of such a memorial was unveiled in a meeting between residents of the primarily Hispanic community and McDonald's Corp. officials last month.

Hinckley seeks ballot

DENVER — (AP) — Officials are considering an absentee ballot request from John Hinckley Jr., who says he would "very much like to vote" from the hospital where he was sent after being found innocent by reason of insanity of shooting President Reagan.

Hinckley sent a typewritten letter to the Denver Election Bureau asking that an application to vote and an absentee ballot be returned to him at St. Elizabeths Hospital in Washington, D.C.

"Although I am physically living in Washington, D.C., I have been told by the local elections board that I am not considered a resident here since I did not come here voluntarily," he said. "Therefore, I must vote in the state in which I last lived."

The request was forwarded to Jefferson County clerk and recorder Norm Allen, who said he hadn't seen it, but that a person cannot be denied the right to vote because he is in a mental institution.

★SCERA

Continued from page 1

which they learned researching, writing, and organizing skills, Elliot said.

In the past, SCERA organizers have graduated soon after becoming fully trained, so the training project was an attempt to rectify that problem, she said.

The search for an anti-oppression coordinator, the position vacated last spring by Tildy Turchinetz, is still underway. Elliot said the search committee hopes to fill that position by October.

STOP

the Mini Store

Located in the Student Union

There's no need to hurry!
Our convenient hours allow you to shop early or late.

Candy	Film	Newspapers
Tobacco	Film Processing	Tote Bags
Cards	Clocks	School Supplies
Calendars	Batteries	Typewriter Ribbons
Cassette Tapes	Electrical Supplies	Glassware
Books	Lamps	Cups
Backpacks	Magazines	Decals
Clothing	Memo Board	Pennants
Gifts	Pens and Pencils	Chips
Cosmetics	Binders	Cookies
Health & Beauty Aids	Notebooks	Popcorn
	Paper	Umbrellas

Many other items available
545-2528

CONVENIENT HOURS
7:30 am - 10 pm Monday-Friday
8:30 am - 10 pm Saturday & Sunday

UMass astronomers glimpse distant forming solar system

By ROB HOCHSCHILD
Collegian Correspondent

Stephen and Karen Strom, professors in the astronomy department at the University of Massachusetts have gathered the first pictures of what may be distant developing solar systems.

These images were taken with an infrared photometer, a device that constructs pictures of distant objects in the sky by determining varying amounts of infrared rays given off by those bodies.

After gathering data and observations last fall and this spring at both the Kitt Peak National Observatory in Tueson,Arizona, and the Infrared Telescope Facility on Mauna Kea, Hawaii, the Stroms proposed a model for an embryonic solar system. The model consisted of a young star and a disk-shaped mass of dusty material, which would eventually become the sun and planets.

The Stroms studied the potential solar systems growing around two stars, HL Tau and IRS-5. The two systems are oriented at different angles with respect to the earth, enabling the experimenters to get two different views and a more complete idea of what the protoplanetary system looks like.

As their ongoing research yields more proof for the existence of these developing solar systems, the Stroms hope to use their discoveries to make comparative conclusions about the development of our own solar system.

After 11 years as staff members at the Kitt Peak Observatory, the husband and wife team came to UMass in 1983, and were pleased with the the aid they received from the University.

"I found the administration here to be committed to excellence and willing to support our work," Strom said, referring to his faculty research grant supplied by the University last year.

Strom, chairman of the Five-College Astronomy Department, is beginning discussions with area colleges in hope of forming a consortium to build an Infrared Telescope. This would give the research faculty as well as undergraduate and graduate students of the Five-College Area access to a major research facility to complement the radio telescope located at Quabbin Reservoir.

Strom added that because of its cost, this telescope probably would not be procured

FIRST WEEK 1984

Skills and Information Workshops

SEPTEMBER 7, 1984

11:00-11:55 AM	Room 805-09	Time Management
	Room 811-15	Office of Internships
	Room 803	Western Mass Food Bank - Hunger in our area
12:00-12:55	Room 805-09	Off-Campus Housing living with a roommate
	Room 811-15	Bilingual Collegiate Program
	Room 803	Outing Club
1:00-1:55	Room 811-15	EveryWomen's Center
	Room 803	Recycling
2:00-2:55	Room 805-09	People's Gay Alliance

FUNNYBONES
COCKTAIL LOUNGE

Every MONDAY
NICKEL NITE
Every other drink 5¢ 7 - 1

Every TUESDAY
LADIES NITE
Ladies first 2 drinks 99¢ 7 - 1
Always Live Entertainment

Every WEDNESDAY
PENNY DRAFT NITE
Every other 12 oz. Draft 1¢ 7 - 1

Every THURSDAY
GRAB BAG NITE
Check for drink specials and entertainment 7 - 1

Every FRIDAY & SATURDAY
DJ's or LIVE ENTERTAINMENT
to party with 'till 2 AM
(doors close 1 am)

Every SUNDAY
SPORTS ACTION starts 1 pm
in our Sport Pub
w/99¢ Drinks 1 - 7

"FUNNY HOUR"
1-7 - 7 DAYS A WEEK

Rt. 9 Hadley (across from Mt. Farms Mall)

IS THIS ANY TIME TO THINK ABOUT ARMY ROTC?

It's the perfect time.
You're a freshman, right? And you want to make college a real learning experience?
Well ROTC can add a valuable dimension to your college education. A dimension of leadership and management training. And that'll make your degree worth more.
ROTC offers scholarship and financial opportunities, too.
Plus, the opportunity to graduate with a commission and begin your future as an officer.
For more information, contact your Professor of Military Science.

ARMY ROTC.
BE ALL YOU CAN BE.

For more information contact:
Jim Mahoney
545-2321/2322

OPEN
TILL 9:00 P.M.
EVERY NITE THIS WEEK

FACES
A Store-full of Ideas
Downtown Amherst

COMPUTERIZED
BUY-BACK

CASH
FOR BOOKS

ONLY AT
The Campus Center Concourse
next to the University Store
Tuesday 9/4 - Friday 9/7
9:00 am - 4:00 pm
Saturday Sept. 8
10:00 am - 3:00 pm

FAST • EFFICIENT • RELIABLE

Summer Series was educative

By MARANN CASSELL
Collegian Staff

They played against the wind to entertain students at the referral fair outside the Student Union Building yesterday at the University of Massachusetts.

Originally from Trinidad, the Steel Band was formed in Boston three years ago, band leader Denzil Botus said.

Botus said the idea to use steel drums came from Trinidad after the second world war.

"After the second world war the people of Trinidad were so happy the war was over they began to rejoice by beating drums and singing. In doing so they found out that the sound the steel drum made was wonderful."

Botus said the effect of the instrument was further researched and the band developed two more notes. As time progressed, more notes were added, creating a unique instrument direct from the West Indies.

The band is composed of 12 members. The youngest member is fourteen.

All members were not present at yesterday's performance.

The band has toured the western part of the U.S. and the Caribbean, Botus said.

The band put on a stimulating show for the students who cruised around the displaying organizations with its vulotic rhythm and array of pop, disco and music from different parts of the Third World.

Like other Third World people who use music to express their sentiments, the Steel Band showed its audience the joy and pain of the Caribbean.

With the beat of the fifty-five gallon oil drums, the listener was transported on a journey to the exotic lands of the Caribbean.

Through Caribbean folklore like "Old Bill Billy," Bob Marley's songs of liberation and struggle and the disco tune of Michael Jackson's "Beat It," the public was cradled into the world of Third World people.

The tunes were created by bulkiness of the indented oil drums. The highest pitch was obtained by beating on the central point of the bulkiness. The lower pitch is at the bottom edge of the bulk.

Showing a true spirit of the Caribbean, the band members lived the music they played by swaying their heads and other mannerisms. Entranced by its swirling sounds, the audience also seemed to enjoy the performance as they danced, hummed or were mesmerized by the members' abilities Positions are still open on the Black Affairs staff. Help keep your community informed!

Changes
(formerly Poor Richards)
Now Open at 4 pm on Friday and Saturday
Between the hours of 4-10 PM -
2 DRAFTS for 99¢
DRINKS for 99¢
4 HOT DOGS for 99¢
FREE MUNCHIES
Changes
Amherst's Newest Night Club
Rt. 9 Amherst
NO COVER (until 9 PM)

BODY SHOP
Exercise Facilities
sign up at NOPE and Boyden
still only $45.00
Come in NOW for a Free Workout
during Sign-Up hours
Boyden - NOPE
sign up now
8 am - 9 am
11 am - 1 pm
4 pm - 6 pm
sign up now
Workouts begin Sept. 10 thru Dec. 21

NOPE M-F 7:30-9 am 11-3 4-6 pm 7-9 pm Sat 1-4

open to students faculty & staff

* strength training
* aerobic fitness
* muscle testing
* body fat testing

Boyden M-F 7-9 am 12-1 pm 4-6 pm Sat 12-3

Professional Consultation
& Style Haircut
only
$7.00
With Shampoo & Blowdry $10.50
Featuring: Design Perming and
Dimensional Highlighting
Styles by Deborah
65 University Dr.
Amherst, 549-5610
with this coupon, expires 9/30/84
Please call for an appointment

Black Affairs

BMCP elects new manager

by YADIRA A.BETANCES
Collegian Staff

A college of arts and science junior has become general manager of the Black Mass Communications Project (BMCP) for the 1984-85 school year at the University of Massachusetts.

Cris Winslow of Upstate, New York will mediate, coordinate and direct all functions for the radio program broadcasted on WMUA.

Winslow finds his new post interesting. "It's great. It exposes me to different people, it gives me experience and a chance to taste what the management world is like," he said.

He started and dee jayed with BMCP last Spring semester. Winslow developed "Quiet Touch" show from 2 to 6 a.m. on Saturdays.

Winslow likes music, bedause "music is a journey into culture, a way to relax."

At six foot two inches, Winslow is a sports lover. He also likes arts and he likes to create. He said BMCP givs him the opportunity to create.

"BMCP is a means of creating. A chance to express myself," he said.

Winslow took the management position because he likes authority and he has an admiration for entertaining people.

He sympathizes with new students who are culturally shocked their first few days at the University, but BMCP's varied programming will make them feel at home, he said.

"BMCP enables you to identify with your own culture," he said.

Reflecting on BMCP's 14th anniversary this year, Winslow said "BmC en go far if it can go far if it has the right person stirring it." He said BMCP needs people's comefforts to grow. His main goal as manager will be "if not to increase membership to increase input."

"BMCP does not only give you a chance to play blackl, gives the opportunity to team ideas with others and to make things happen," Winslow said.

Steel Band entertains

By gmarann cassell
Collegian Staff

They played against the wind to entertain students at the referral fair outside the Student Union Building yesterday at the University of Massachusetts.

Originally from Trinidad, the Steel Band was formed in Boston three years ago, band leader Denzil Botus said.

Botus said the idea to use steel drums came from Trinidad after the second world war.

"After the second world war the people of Trinidad were so happy the war was over they began to rejoice by beating drums and singing. In doing so they found out that the sound the steel drum made was wonderful."

Botus said the fect of the instrument was further researched and the band developed two more notes. As time progressed, more notes were added, creating a unique instrument direct from the West Indies.

The band is composed of 12 members. The youngest member is fourteen.

The band has toured the western part of the U.S. and the Caribbean, Botus said.

The band put on a stimulating show for the students who cruised around the displaying organizations with its vulotic rhythm and array of pop, disco and music from different parts of the Third World.

Like other Third World people who use music to express their sentiments, the Steel Band showed its audience the joy and pain of the Caribbean.

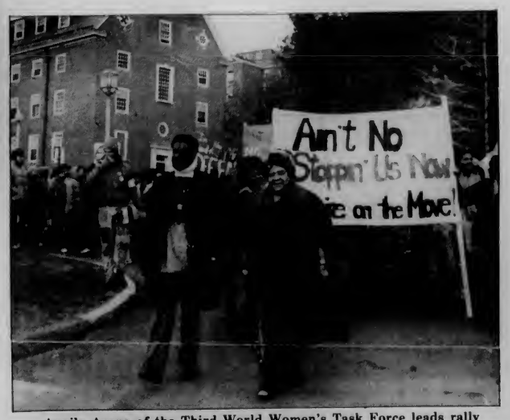
With the beat of the fifty-five gallon oil drums, the listener was transported on a journey to the exotic lands of the Caribbean.

Through Caribbean folklore like "Old Bill Billy," Bob Marley's songs of liberation and struggle and the disco tune of Michael Jackson's "Beat It," the public was cradled into the world of Third World people.

Acting and doing is the art of living...

The struggle will not cease until there's peace and justice...

Pola Duval...



Aquila Ayana of the Third World Women's Task Force leads rally commemorating the death of Seta Rampersad, a twenty year old Trinidadian UMass student found dead, on Oct. 13, 1978.

Random Notes

Interesting but just not the Cape

Everyone who goes to the University of Massachusetts has heard at least one dreadful description of what Amherst is like in the summer. Last September one of my classmates explained in painful detail, the greenhouse humidity that settles in the valley, condensing the sun and vapor to a point where breathing is a luxury instead of a necessity. Another friend cried heart-wrenchingly about the bar scene. Cheap drinks, she insisted, were not worth the invasion of "townies" that settled upon such previously beloved hangouts as Barsies and Delanoes. "All the guys were 30 years old!" she wailed. And one New York-born acquaintance said there was never anything to do out here in the "middle of this hick state" without the Zoo.

I would like to put an end to all these unfair and heinously cruel stories.

In late May I decided I should make the horrible sacrifice and stay here. After all, I couldn't stand the thought of dealing with my family for three months and I couldn't spend another summer on the Cape because I just had to save money this time. I already had my apartment here, and it would be no problem finding a job, I assured myself. After some creative conniving I was able to talk the most gullible of my roommates into staying here with me.

With relatively little trouble I found a job working on a farm. "I might as well do something good for myself, get a tan, and find out what it really means to work hard," I said, feeling more virtuous than I had in years. I looked forward to the summer as a learning experience. My first discovery was that my neighbors, instead of being young fellow students, were very young toddlers with noisy Big Wheels.

I philosophically convinced myself that I would eventually meet other interesting people as the summer wore on. I was really excited to check out the night life downtown. Suffice it to say that for the first time in my life, I was able to dance at the Pub on a Friday night without getting trampled. There was no line at the door, and even though it was 90 degrees outside, it wasn't nearly the sweatbox indoors that we all know the Pub to be, even in February. Boy were we bored. We even played pool with guys we normally would have glared at for speaking to us.

Still I remained open-minded. Okay, so my social life would be non-existent for a few months. I figured I could always catch up on my reading and I'd save money if I didn't go out too often.

The farm life, at least, was good for me. After my first day, weeding pepper plants on my hands and knees for eight hours my back ached and the muscles in my legs screamed. I had a sun burn on my neck that was so bad I couldn't turn my head for days. "Boy is this great for me!" I encouraged myself. As the summer dragged on I realized that my money situation wasn't nearly as encouraging as I thought it would be. For the first eight weeks it rained so much that I worked barely enough to feed myself and pay the rent. "Don't worry," my boss kept promising, "soon everything will be ready to harvest, and then you can work all the hours you want." He wasn't kidding. By the firs. of August I was working 10-hour days as the tomatoes and peppers poured in. Once again my mind was saying, "This is good for you," and my body was saying, "You're going to die any day now." I ended up earning just enough to pay back the debts that had accumulated during the first part of the summer. Even after my three months in Hyannis last year, I was able to buy my books. The only thing I got out of my life as a farm girl was a vocabulary limited to "ayup," "golly gee," and "howdy." Drinking gin and tonics overlooking the Atlantic Ocean and Martha's Vineyard seemed like a dim vision from another life.

I really don't mean to complain, though, because the summer here proved to be full of rewarding educational experiences. Early in August I was lucky enough to catch the annual "Teddy Bear Rally." This in itself made a summer in Amherst worthwhile. Teddy Bear lovers from around New England collected on the town common to celebrate their devotion to these brown acrylic objects of affection. I will never forget this momentous event, for it was here that I realized finally, after lying to myself all summer, what a gullible and idealistic person I am. That Teddy Bear Rally was the biggest thing going all summer, and when I realized this, it dawned on me that next summer I'd be back on the Cape, squandering my money productively.

Barbara Williams is a Collegian correspondent.

Collegian Fall Board of Editors:

Editor in Chief	James Shanahan
Managing Editor	John O'Connell
Production Manager	Mark Roden
Editorial Editor	Rita Murphy
News Editor	Greg Brown
Women's Issues Editor	Rebecca Thatcher
Arts Editor	Christine D. Marini
Black Affairs Editor	Yadira A. Betances
Photo Editor	Andrew Heller
Sports Editor	Peter Abraham
Business Manager	Andrew May

Commentary

It keeps the campus thinking

Students! Work Smart. Work Simply...With Hewlett-Packard.

Take a good look at your class schedule.

If you're in Science or Engineering, chances are your classes include Calculus, Physics, or Chemistry. Engineering Statics, or Dynamics. You're running up against some tough calculations, with statistics problems, hyperbolics, and logs. The HP-11C calculator helps you breeze through those problems with a few simple keystrokes.

Need to simplify problems that are even more complex? The HP-41CV gives you 128 built-in functions—and the HP-41CX over 200—to simplify your long homework assignments. Use up to 6,437 bytes of memory to save the programs and formulas you use often. And there are thousands of software programs, so you don't have to start from scratch next term.

If you're in Business or Finance, you're probably taking Accounting, Statistical Methods, Finance, and Investment Analysis. Classes loaded with tedious calculations. End the pencil-and-paper drudgery with the HP-12C. The most powerful decision-maker on the market! Dedicated keys make time value of money calculations, amortization, Net Present Value (NPV), Internal Rate of Return (IRR), and statistics solutions as simple as a single keystroke. And it's easy to change values or correct mistakes without reentering your entire problem.

Hewlett-Packard calculators. They help you work smart this term. And next term. And even later on the job. Get your HP today from your local HP dealer.

For the location of the dealer nearest you, call TOLL FREE 1-800-FOR-HPPC.

HEWLETT PACKARD

Small Compact Refrigerators for rent or sale. SPIRIT HAUS Refrigerator Rental Rt. 9 East

253-5384

Mountain Farms FURNITURE
Rugs Chairs
Hutches, Tables
HOURS:
Fri 5 PM to 9 PM
Sat 12 PM to 9 PM
Sun 10 AM to 5 PM
Mon 5 PM to 9 PM
Located at
Mt Farms Mall
Hadley, MA

SAVE AT ELEK-TEK
TEXAS INSTRUMENTS

BA-2	$33	TI-55-2	$33
TI-MBA	25	TI-57	22
BA-55	43	TI-LCD-PROG	50
		TI-66	57

BA-55

EL 5100T	$43	PC 1250A	$80
EL 5500T	70	CE 125	119
CE 126P	55	PC 1500A	160
EL 512T	28	CE 150	165

HEWLETT-PACKARD
LCD PROBLEM SOLVERS

HP-11C Scientific	$56
HP-15C Scientific	90
HP-12C Financial	90
HP-16C Programmer	90
HP-41CV	$168
HP-41CX	245
Optical Wand	$ 95
Card Reader	145
Printer (82143A)	283
HP-IL ACCESSORIES
HP-IL Module	$95
HP-IL Printer/Plotter	335
Acoustic Modem	395
Dig. Cassette Drive	335
ThinkJet Printer	375
D.S/D.D. Disk Drive	600

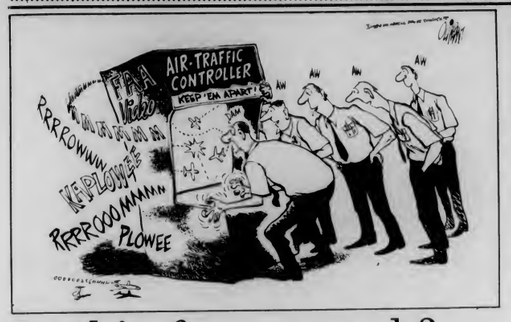
HP-41CV $168

TOLL FREE ORDER LINE
800-621-1269
EXCEPT Illinois, Alaska, Hawaii

ELEK-TEK, inc.

EDITORIAL/OPINION

The opinions expressed on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the university unless otherwise noted.



Is this free speech?

President Reagan has made passage of the school prayer amendment a political issue. His reason for doing this is obvious: he wants to tap the religious passions of millions of Americans who sincerely believe that God has been outlawed from our classroom. What these people need to understand is that it has never been illegal to pray in school, or for that matter, anywhere. However, it is currently illegal to force an entire class to listen to somebody else pray to a God they might not happen to believe in.

If this nation is to survive as a democracy, then the majority must be very careful to protect the rights of the minority. A majority of people in this country favor passage of the school prayer amendment. I believe this is because they do not understand what is meant by school prayer. This amendment, if passed as it was presented, would have allowed vocal prayer in the classroom. Now if you can tell me how vocal prayer will not infringe upon the rights of others, I will be very impressed. But you can't, because vocal prayer can be very offensive to people.

Oh sure, the proponents of this bill claim nobody has to pray, they can look out the window if they want. But sensible people know better. I lived for a few years in the "Bible Belt." Let me give you an example of a typical Jerry Falwell, Baptist style vocal prayer: "Oh dear Heavenly Father, we come to Thee in Jesus's name to ask Thee to guide over us in our daily lives. Pour on the Holy Spirit that we might be a strong, powerful witness unto Thee. And dear Father, if there is any one in this classroom who doesn't know the saving power of your Son Jesus, who doesn't know where they will spend eternity, then convict their heart, oh Lord, that they might know Thee and the peace that only Jesus can provide. We ask this in Jesus's name. Amen."

So that is a typical prayer. How would you like to listen to something like that every day? If you happen to be somebody that enjoys vocal prayers like that, then how would you like to listen to some Satanic ritual like the reading of the Lord's Prayer backwards, or maybe the "Hare-Hare" chant of the Hare Krishna? The point is that vocal prayers infringe on the rights of others, and anybody that advocates this bears a strong resemblance to the people many of our ancestors came to this country to escape from.

And why are these people so eager to, as Jerry Falwell puts it, "exercise their right to free speech." Jesus, in his Sermon on the Mount (Matthew, 6:5-13), said we ought not pray in public, but that we should go behind a locked door and pray in secret. Perhaps Jerry Falwell and his so-called Moral Majority ought to spend less time demanding that they be heard when they pray, and more time following Jesus's advice.

It is my hope that in the upcoming election the sincere members of the Moral Majority will understand exactly what they want to impose on the rest of us; and that they reconsider and vote for the democratic ticket.

Larry Soucie is a UMass student.

Larry Soucie

The Lawrence ordeal

The cause of the rioting in Lawrence last month can be explained in sociological terms beyond the conventional excuses of high unemployment, housing shortages and poor living conditions. The two-night incident caused by an argument between a Hispanic and a French-Canadian resulted in 11 injuries and over 50 arrests. The turmoil was quieted by a three day curfew.

The above factors were only sparks to the fire ignited by a wandering people's desire of being accepted as they are: bicultural and bi-lingual.

Hispanics in Lawrence have created a sub-culture where they hide in protection from a society which denies their existance, because they are not willing to give up their customs and their culture; their only means of survival in America.

For the past decade, Hispanics lived in a constant struggle with a society which accepts no change for fear of being at a disadvantage.

"The Immigrant City" is a conservative town composed of Irish, Italian, French Canadian and Jewish.

For these groups who filtered through the American mainstream and have lost their ethnic identity to be "American," seeing Hispanic get away with maintaining their customs and their language is staggering.

Statements questioning Hispanic's "Special treatments" in education, housing and welfare bring about prejudice attitudes. Hispanics, in turn, feel alienated and look for alternative ways for acceptance.

The riots were one of these alternatives. In their search for self-identity, they show an attitude revealing an obstinate, sheer, negative impulse, a tangle of contradictions brought about by society's rejection.

Through their veil, they are not merely looking for attention. They are looking for understanding, and a chance to be a member of the society.

Until the American society becomes aware of people's customs and cultures and come to understand their differences, there will be many Lawrences.

Yadira A. Betances is a Collegian staff member who lives in Lawrence.

Yadira Betances

The best of the best

I feel sorry for the first-year students. They don't know how to add-drop. They think you're supposed to buy your textbooks in the University Store. Some of them even think you can park in the wrong lot and not get towed. But the most pathetic thing is that new students don't know the best places to hang out at UMass.

The Best Place to Hide Out: Amherst Cinema wins this one, hands-down. Pay $2.50, cuddle up to a large bucket of popcorn, and hang out for a double feature starring Bogey, Gene Kelly, Lauren Bacall, Marilyn Monroe or Errol Flynn. You'll feel much better when you return to the "real" world, a few hours later.

The Best Place to Waste a Half Hour: The University Store. I usually go there and read all the birthday cards, if I have some time in between classes. Of course, just finding the birthday cards takes a little while, since they rearrange the merchandise every other week. A word of caution: do not give them a bad check. I was mistakenly put on the bad check list this summer, and was subjected to having my name shouted and spelled across the store. Now I know how John Zaccaro felt about having his personal finances made public.

The Best Place to Eat: The Newman Center, which is to the Greek area what Arnold's was for the Fonz. Most of these folks wear Calvins and polo shirts to study in, so the fashion show is as good as the food.

The Best Place to "Mellow Out": Durfee Conservatory, the greenhouse right near Health Services. It's the perfect place to poke around if you've had an aggravating day. Even if you're not the "commune-with-nature" type, you'll have lots of fun walking across the little bridge that spans a small pond there. The people who work there are very friendly and willing to answer any questions about what certain plants are named, and scientific things like that.

The Best Place to Put this Column: On your bulletin board or around fresh cod, depending on whether or not you liked it.

Elizabeth Luciano is a Collegian columnist.

Elizabeth Luciano

Letters to the Editor

Summer memories 'written muzak'

I'd like to know exactly what the Collegian thinks it's doing by printing such articles as Diane Lane's "The Closing of Summer" (Thursday). I do not need to hear about her stale attitude toward life or her resignation into a style of living which she finds tiring. If she's feeling old and weary, tough. It's her fault. If she stuffs herself into a bus with "glassy-eyed commuters", too bad for her and the commuters both. If she has to play a role at her grandmother's funeral, it's a shame, but I don't want to hear about it.

Diane Lane neither struggles against the changes she dislikes or fights the feeling of "regret" which late summer seems to bring upon her. She complains, but without one ounce of protest or anger. In other words, she has nothing at all to say to the reader. Surely, the counseling center would be a more fitting place for her to express herself than on the editorial page of the school paper.

I hope that the Collegian doesn't think her perceptions to be somehow poetically universal. Either an accepting happiness or a strong disgust would be a healthier attitude than the one she presents. In the future, I would hope that the Collegian would save us from such articles which are really little more than written muzak.

Craig Brown
Sylvan

Center sets the record straight

In the Collegian article (Wednesday) titled "Center is Open to Assist Women" concerning the Everywoman's Center, there are several errors which I feel merit correction.

The article states that Terry Fuentes is coordinator of WAGES (Women's Admission and General Educational Support), and that this program serves women who have been out of the academic community for 10 or more years. Leona Sidman-Phillips is the coordinator of the WAGES program, which serves re-entry and non-traditional women students, regardless of how long they've been out of academia.

In the same article, Kathy Alexander is called a Counselor/Advocate, whereas she is actually the coordinator of Direct Services and Training Against Violence Against Women, which oversees the Counselor/Advocates.

Suzanne Slater is coordinator of the Counseling Program at EWC, which is sponsoring the support group "Am I A Feminist." The group will be facilitated by Deb Kalkstein, not Suzanne.

Thank you for letting us set the record straight.

Aquila Ayana
Everywoman's Center

All letters must be signed and include the writer's address and telephone number, which will not be published. Please type double spaced at 67 characters per line. Due to space limitations and the volume of mail, we regret we are unable to acknowledge unpublished letters. All letters are subject to editing for clarity and length.

Now serving beer and wine til 12 midnight
to complement our great tasting meals!!

Open Sunday - Thursday til 3 am
Open Friday and Saturday
24 hours!!

Sun.-Thurs.
6 a.m.-3 a.m.
Fri & Sat
24 Hrs.
Super Stop & Shop
Campus Shopping Center
Rte. 9, Hadley/Amherst
256-6889

James H. McManus eating place

Postive ID Required

Coca-Cola

Duke Ellington Committee presents

UPC PRODUCTIONS

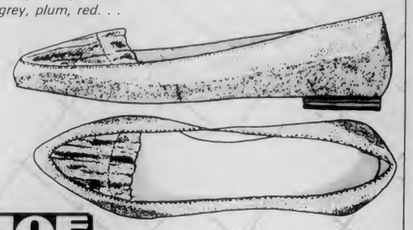
BLACK UHURU
WITH SLY DUNBAR & ROB SHAKESPEARE
REGGAE AND SPECIAL GUEST

WED. SEPT. 19
S.U.B. UMASS
tix on sale sept 7

STUDENTS $9.50
PUBLIC $11.50
UMass ID required to enter with Student ticket

Tickets on sale at Fine Arts Center, Springfield Civic Center, and Stop & Shop locations in Northampton, Holyoke, Greenfield and Pittsfield.
No cans, bottles, cameras or recording devices.

All leather skimmer flat - with pleated vamp - perfect with cropped pants, skirts, slacks. . . Blue, tan, grey, plum, red. . .



SHOE BIN
187 n. pleasant st amherst

WILDWATER OUTFITTERS
93 Boltwood Walk
Amherst, MA 01002
413-253-7779

20% OFF ON ALL PACKS BY: DIAMOND BRAND, KELTY, Caribou MOUNTAINEERING

COUPON EXPIRES 9/30

TELEPHONES and accessories

Pulse Dialing
Last # Redial
In-use Light
Mute Control
Modular Plug
On-Off Ringer
Automatic Hold
Wall Mount Ability
Ivory Finish

SPECIAL PRICE! 8.95

SX7400
Holder Included

Limited Quantity
No Rainchecks

Other phones available

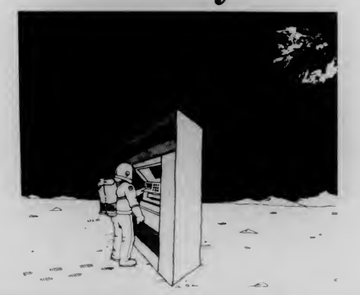
A full line of accessories available

Located in the Campus Center

Open Mon-Fri 9-5
Sat 10-3

UNIVERSITY STORE

Some Banks think you're looney.



You don't bank on the moon. You know it. We know it. But apparently some of the Amherst banks don't know it.

"Get cash anywhere" they shout. Ones in Wyoming. Fives in Florida. Tens in Texas. Why, they'll just about promise you money on the moon.

Well, we at the UMass Federal Credit Union are students just like you. We know that you don't want to keep a $1000 minimum balance in your N.O.W. checking account. And we know that you don't want to pay extra fees to bank in Wyoming.

So what we offer you is banking right on campus.

Checking and savings accounts. Certificates of deposit and car loans. Even American Express Traveler's Checks!

All at affordable prices.

Start your future right. Open an account at the Credit Union today. You'd have to be looney not to.

THE UMASS STUDENT CREDIT UNION

Student Union Bldg. 545-2800 Member NCUA

RUSSELL'S LIQUORS

18 Main St. Downtown Amherst 253-5441

Beer

Budweiser 12 oz. cans	$10.95	+ dep. cse.
Narragansett 16 oz. cans	$9.50	dep. cse.
Ballentine Beer 12 oz. cans	$3.49	+ dep. 12/pk.
Becks light or dark	$4.25	+ dep. 6/pk.
	$16.50	+ dep. cse.
Molsons Golden Ale	$3.69	+ dep. 6/pk
	$14.00	+ dep. cse.

Wines

German Kabinett (assorted flavors)	$2.99	750 ml + up
Jug Wines (many, many brands)	$2.98	1.5 L + up
Champagnes (white and pink)	$2.99	750 ml + up
Italian Soave, Valp., Bard	$3.99	1.5 L

Liquors

Vodka or Gin 80°	$4.99	L + up
Piccala Coffee Liquer	$6.49	750 ml
Peppermint Schnapps 60°	$5.99	L

All Beer and Wine Specials are Always Cold for your Convenience

---

THERE'S STILL TIME.

Late registration for fall day and evening credit courses is held Sept 5 - 18. Day courses are on a space-available basis; written permission is required.

Records & Registration Office
University Library, Rm. 104
Mon. - Thurs. 9 a.m. - 7 p.m.
Fri. 9 a.m. - 5 p.m.
Sat. (Sept. 8 - 29) 10 a.m. - 1 p.m.

Registration for Credit-Free Workshops may be made by telephone 545-0587 or in person.

Records & Registration
University Library, Rm. 111
Mon. - Fri. 8:30 a.m. - 5 p.m.

or in the

Records and Registration Office
University Library, Rm. 104
Mon. - Thurs. 5 p.m. - 7 p.m.
Sat. (Sept. 8 - 29) 10 a.m. - 1 p.m.

Payment may be made by cash (until 5 p.m.), check, VISA, or MasterCard.

DCE DIVISION OF CONTINUING EDUCATION
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AT AMHERST

U.S. Department of Transportation Ad Council

DRINKING AND DRIVING CAN KILL A FRIENDSHIP.

USED PAPERBACKS

ACADEMIC & POPULAR
LARGEST STOCK IN WESTERN MASS. OVER 35,000 BOOKS
in all subjects, old & recent.

VALLEY BOOK SHOP
Carriage Shops
Downtown Amherst
549-6052

Open Thurs 9/5 & Fri 9/6 til 8:00 pm
Regular Hours Mon-Fri 10-5:30, Sat 10-5, Sun 1-5

Five-college students... HALF-PRICE!

HIGH PERFORMANCE

Subscribe by September 24 & Save Money!

BOX OFFICE: 545-2511

Broadway
"Sophisticated Ladies"
"Brighton Beach Memoirs"

Theater
"Romeo & Juliet"
"Night, Mother"
"A Soldier's Play"

Dance
Houston Ballet's "Swan Lake"
Royal Winnipeg Ballet
Pilobolus Dance Theater

Sampler
Philly Pops, Peter Nero
Les Ballets Trockadero de Monte Carlo
Ray Charles

Orchestra
Springfield Symphony Orchestra, Peter Serkin, piano
Minnesota Orchestra
Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra, Andre-Michel Schub, piano

Jazz
Dizzy Gillespie
Sarah Vaughan
Jazz All-Stars

Chamber
Springfield Symphony Orchestra, Alexander Schneider
Juilliard String Quartet
The Chamber Music Society of Lincoln Center

Winners Circle
Boston Chamber Music Society
Paul Neubauer, viola
James Barbagallo, piano
Robert Davidovici, violin
Portland String Quartet

Plus
Marcel Marceau
Handel's Messiah
Mabou Mines
"Prelude to Death in Venice"
"Company"
Demon Drummers & Dancers of Sado

Fine Arts Center Concert Hall
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AT AMHERST

the 5th annual everything you need to make yourself feel at home sale.

Lamps
Desk Lamps, Wall Lamps,
Table Lamps, Hanging Lamps,
Bed Lamps, Pin Spots,
Hi Intensity Lamps, Clamp Lamps...
100 Watt Swing Arm
Red Black White Brown Beige
Reg. 18.95
NOW 14.95

TAPESTRIES
Bedspreads
Wall Hangings
Hundreds to choose from
SAVE UP TO 5.00

RUGS
Cotton Weaves, Straws and Stripes
STARTING AT 6.95

BAMBOO SHADES
All sizes for windows or room dividers
SAVE 20%

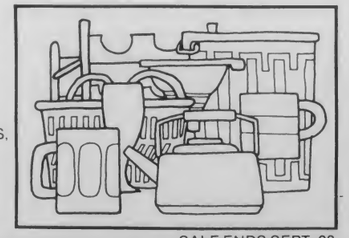
RECORD CRATE KITS
Made of all natural wood - two great sizes
NOW 6.95 and 7.95

PILLOW LAP DESK
Perfect for car, home or dorm
NOW 5.95

POSTERS - 500 TITLES TO CHOOSE FROM
travel, sports, scenic, photo, personalities, rock & roll...

STRAW WASTE BASKETS 1.95
BEVERAGE GLASSES ..... 89¢
STONEWARE SOLID COLOR MUGS ..... 1.29 ..... 1.99
COLORFUL PLASTIC PARTY CUPS ..... 59¢

HOOKS, HANGERS, WIRE SHELVING, WINE GLASSES, TEA KETTLES, COFFEE MAKERS, PLATES, BOWLS, PLACEMATS, FLATWARE, DISHRACKS, WINDOW SHELVES, BASKETS, ORGANIZERS, SHOWER CADDYS, MIRRORS, BATH STUFF - IS ANYBODY STILL READING THIS?



SALE ENDS SEPT. 23

Open 10-6, Mon-Sat
OPEN FRI. 'TIL 9:00
SUNDAY 12-5
Downtown Amherst

FACES
A Store-full of Ideas

Hypercurricula

T.G.I.F. — Join us for music, fellowship and instruction from God's Word. Also information on small group Bible Studies. (Campus Crusade for Christ) 7 p.m. Campus Center.

WSYL — FIRST MEETING — Mandatory meeting for new shift assignments for old and new members. On the agenda: equipment upgrade, SYL benefit at SUB — publicity and security people needed. 7:30 p.m. Cashin Basement Rec Room.

PUC LIGHT WEAPONS PRACTICE — Medevil weapons simulation. Practices are informal and novices are welcome, all materials will be provided. Wear comfortable, non-restrictive clothing. Mon. Wed. Fri. 8-9:30, NOPE Fencing Room 23.

OUTING CLUB MEETING — Everyone invited! Interested in woodsy, snowy, rocky, cavey and/or watery outdoor activities? Come by and learn about our trips, equipment rentals, and memberships. 7 p.m. Campus Center Auditorium.

FRENCH PROGRAMS IN FRANCE — Informal meeting about UMass French Program in Angers for spring semester and in Dijon for Summer 1985. Programs open to non-majors, all levels. 4:30 p.m. Herter Lounge 301.

SHABAT SERVICES — Join us for a joyous celebration of Shabat Friday evening and Shabat morning services followed by traditional meals. 7:00 p.m. Chabad House.

STUDENT HEALTH ADVISORY BOARD — An informal meeting to meet officers and to find out who and what SHAB is. Also to find out the role SHAB members play at the Health Services. 5:30 p.m. Room 302 University Health Services.

UMASS BIKE CLUB MEETING — Organizational meeting this Wednesday night. More information about the club, its meetings and events can be found on the club bulletin board in the Student Union Building. 7-9 p.m. Campus Center.

KARATE DEMONSTRATION — Prof. Sara Grimes, JKA 3d degree black belt, will give a Karate/Self-defense demonstration at 7 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 13 in Room 917 Campus Center.

UMASS KARATE CLUB BEGINS CLASSES — UMass Karate Club, a member of the Japan Karate Association (JKA) will beging classes at 6 p.m. Tuesday Sept. 11 in Room 22 NOPE. All welcome.

TRACK AND FIELD FOR WOMEN — Organizational meeting for varsity women in track and field — any women interested in running or throwing or jumping for the UMass Track Team. 7 p.m. Rm 223 Boyden.

SUPPORT FOR GRADUATE WOMEN — The Women's Admission and General Educational Support (WAGES) Program of Everywoman's Center has begun a new program called Graduate WAGES. Graduate WAGES will address the specific needs of graduate women through support groups, workshops, speakers, social events, brown-bag lunches, resources and advocacy.

There will be a graduate women's First "Get Together", Tuesday, September 11th at 7:30, Campus Center 174-76. Brown-bag lunches will be held every Wednesday from 12 noon to 2 p.m. in Campus Center room 805-809. These noon time lunches will begin September 12th through December 12th. At the September 19th lunch from 12 to 1, there will be a speaker. The topic is "The Balancing Act — Juggling the Personal, Professional and Academic".

For more information contact Graduate WAGES at EWC, 545-0883.

"Hypercurricula," a listing of events held at the University of Massachusetts and surrounding area, is published daily in the Collegian. Events are listed the day before they take place except Monday which will carry Monday's and Tuesday's events. Friday will carry Saturday and Sunday.

AmHERST CINEMA
DOUBLE FEATURE $2.00
Friday and Saturday
Footloose 7:00
Flashdance 9:00
Sunday thru Thursday
The Return of Martin Guerre 7:00
Captain Courageous 9:00
DOWNTOWN AMHERST

Arts

The Boss rocks 'Woosta'

By MATTHEW BERMAN
Collegian Staff

Bruce Springsteen & the E Street Band
Worcester Centrum
Tuesday, September 4

Bruce Springsteen, the so-called "king of rock and roll," is back on the circuit, crooning out his usual schtick of rock cliches and working class platitudes to packed houses of naive adolescents who chant his name adoringly. Bruce and his disciples showed up last Tuesday for a four hour endurance test of bad vocals and boring solos.

Of course I don't mean any of that. The concert was magnificent. From the opening chords of "Born in the USA" to the final encore of "Twist and Shout", Bruce and the E Street Band put on a show unrivaled by anyone. For twenty-nine songs and three encores, the music, the energy, and the sincerity pulsated through the packed Worcester Centrum.

Songs from the new album, Born in the USA, made up about half of the songs of the two sets. Interspersed were such classics as "Jungle Land", "Badlands" and "Rosilita", and an incredible version of Jimmy Cliff's "Trapped." Bruce also did some of his lesser known songs from his acoustic album "Nebraska."

The E Street Band, with new guitarist Nils Lofgrin and back up singer Patti Scialfa, matched Bruce's power note for note. Nils was especially hot, and his solos added new dimension to such songs as "Prove it All Night" and "Cadillac Ranch." Saxophonist Clarence "the Big Man" Clemons was still the number two man on stage and his solo in "Jungleland" was one of the high points of the night.

Actually, there were no low points. None. Every song completely enraptured the audience, whether Bruce's new hit "Dancing in the Dark" or the less popular "Highway Patrolman." At one point during "Thunder Road" Bruce stopped singing and the audience continued, word for word. There was no division between performer and audience. We were all in this together. Bruce didn't have to play until midnight, or thank us for all the effort we went through to get there, but he did. He even mastered the local dialect, giving his praise to "Woosta."

The second set concluded with one of Bruce's most popular songs, "Rosilita", during which Bruce introduced the band: Clarence, Nils, bass player Gary Tallent, Roy Bittan and Danny Federici on keyboards, Max Weinberg on drums, and Patti Scialfa singing back up. Keeping up to date, Bruce added new lines to the song, proudly joking, "I just got my picture on the cover of People Magazine!"

Shortly after Bruce and the band departed, they were back, doing "Jungleland," "Born to Run", "The Detroit Medley" and finally a beautiful Spanish-sounding version of "Twist and Shout." By midnight the concert had ended and Bruce had once again proved that he really is the king of rock and roll.

A strong vinyl comeback

By FIELDING REINBAUM
Collegian Correspondent

STEVE MORSE BAND
The Introduction
Elektra/Musician Series Records

The breakup of the Dregs in early 1983 left many fans wondering what would become of Steve Morse, the band's leader and chief composer. Although Morse remains a virtual unknown, it is safe to say that he is the best overall guitar player anywhere. Need proof? Consider the fact that Morse has been voted Guitar Player magazine's number 1 Guitar Player two years in a row. Need more? Give a listen to any Dregs album you can get your hands on. If you still aren't convinced, check out this latest effort from Morse, bassist Jerry Peek and drummer Rod Morgenstein.

This disc comes out smoking, with "Cruise Missile", a foot-stompin' rocker with an opening lead guaranteed to put a smile on any boogie fan's face. Country-rock superpicker Albert Lee joins the band to trade solos with Morse in "General Lee." The title cut, a very interesting arrangement, displays tight syncopation between all 3 band members, and the trio breezes its way through "V.H.F. (Vertical Hair Factor)" released "in concurrence with existing pop trends."

"On The Pipe" gets the second side in gear with a simple punchy bassline, perfect for the song's high-end melody. Here Morse is at his best, alternating between smooth, clean lines and crunching, balls-out lead, the kind capable of causing one's hair to fall out. "The Whisper", a short airy piece, features Morse on classical and acoustic guitars, and ex-Dregs keyboardist T Lavitz makes an impressive guest appearance in "Mountain Waltz." An updated version of the moody "Huron River Blues", (the Dregs' in-concert dedication to ZZ Top) closes out the album.

This is a strong vinyl "comeback" for Morse, who is, as always, in top form; newcomer Jerry Peek gives an excellent debut performance, displaying styles ranging from Van Halen-like finger tapping (on bass!) to slow-down country and blues; Rod Morgenstein hasn't lost a stride since the Dregs' layoff, and has some of his most creative moments here; what impresses one most, however, is the fact that as a whole this band is damn tight. Morse's distinctive compositional style is marked by ultrafast runs, gritty choral changes, and difficult syncopation, which the band handles with ease.

Fortunately, The Introduction, an entirely instrumental record, will be inaccessible to most. However, if you are tired of pop-radio mush and mindless metal, this could be what you are looking for.

Artslines...

The Hampden Theater at UMass will be holding auditions for the premiere production of "Columbus", an original play by playwright-in-residence Bob Kornhiser. This play about Columbus and his Conquistadores will be directed by Richard Hardin, who holds numerous off Broadway and regional credits. Auditions will be held in the Hampden Theater, Southwest College, UMass on Sunday, September 9 from 2 to 5 p.m., and at Amherst and Smith Colleges. For more information or scripts phone Eugene Warner during the day at 545-2803.

The Smith College Theatre Department will hold auditions on September 10 and 11 at 7:30 p.m. in Theatre 14 for Moliere's The School for Wives, and for Les Belles Soeurs in the TV Studio. The directors ask that all participants be familiar with the script and be dressed to move. Scripts are available for perusal in the Theatre Department office, T205, 8:30 a.m.-4:30 p.m., weekdays. Callbacks are scheduled for September 13 at 7:30 p.m. in Theatre 14 and the TV Studio.

Auditions for Musical Chairs will be held at 7:30 p.m. on September 16 at Emily Dickinson Hall, Hampshire College, and on September 17 and 18 in Hallie Flanagan Studio Theatre at Smith College. The director requests that all auditioners be familiar with the script, which is available for perusal in T205, the Theatre Department office, Smith College, weekdays from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Participants should be prepared to sing and dance and should bring with them music with which they are comfortable. A simple dance combination will be taught at auditions. Callbacks are September 19 at 7:30 p.m. in the Hallie Flanagan Studio Theatre.

Tickets go on sale today for the UPC/DEC presentation of Black Uhuru at the Fine Arts Center box office. The concert will be held on September 19th.

Progressive Film Series Fall '84

The Commuter Area Government has announced its Progressive Film Series for fall 1984. Each semester such a series is presented. This collection of films, from and about many different parts of the world, is the longest running film series of its kind in the area.

September 27 Report from the Front An in-depth first-hand look at U.S. foreign policy toward Nicaragua as it is being played out along the border. Dawn of the People This is the first film available in this country on the Nicaraguan Literacy Crusade, which for three months in 1980 turned the country into a giant classroom. Americas in Transition This award-winning film explores what's behind the upheaval in Central America. Narrated by Ed Asner, the film provides a concise fast-paced introduction to the history and forces at work today in this region. (Shown in CC Complex 168)

October 4 El Norte is the story of two young Guatemalans who are forced to flee their little village and journey through Mexico to "El Norte" (Los Angeles). El Norte is presented as part of the Bilingual Collegiate Program/AHORA's 10th anniversary. (CC 163)

October 11 The Good Fight chronicles the international solidarity of the 40,000 volunteers from around the world who went to fight the armies of Franco, Hitler, and Mussolini in the Spanish Civil War. (CC 163, 7 and 9 only)

October 18 Blood and Sand Through careful research and documentation Blood and Sand examines the conflict between the Polisario guerrillas, native peoples of the Western Sahara, and the kingdom of Morocco which now occupies the territory. (CC 101)

October 25 Letter from Morazan looks at the preparation for battle in Morazan Province. Captive in El Salvador, a production of the PBS series "Front Line", looks at America's allies in El Salvador and explores questions about them. (CC 101)

November 1 Advise and Consent The best and worst of Washington politics comes to play in this story of the bitter conflict surrounding a president's controversial nomination for Secretary of State. Stars the late Henry Fonda. (CC 101)

November 8 Fail Safe One of the early movies to explore the possibility of nuclear war, Fail Safe examines the plots and counterplots within the corridors of government powers when a U.S. aircraft is sent on a mission to bomb the USSR. (CC 101, 7 and 9 only)

November 16 Roses in December examines the brutal 1980 murder of Jean Donovan and 3 nuns by members of the government security forces in El Salvador. (CC 163, 7 and 9 only)

Unless otherwise noted, all films will be shown at 3, 7, and 9 p.m. in their specified rooms. All films are free and open to the public. For more information call 545-2145.

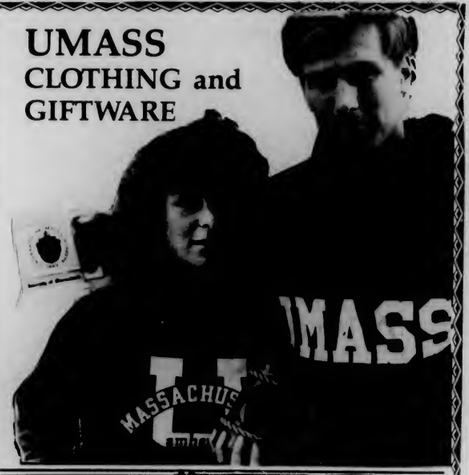
On September 9 (this Sunday) at 8 p.m. the Commuter Area Government presents the Dance Collective of Boston. Now in its 11th year, the Dance Collective has earned the reputation of being one of the most intelligent and mature dance companies in New England. The artistic directors produce a provocative variety of choreography which has been produced nationally and internationally. The company and its members have received prestigious grants and awards from the National Endowment for the Arts, the Massachusetts Council on the Arts and Humanities, the Artists Foundation, and the Arts Lottery as well as individual choreography commissions and support from corporations and foundations. For ticket information call the Commuter Area Government at 545-2145.

Arts

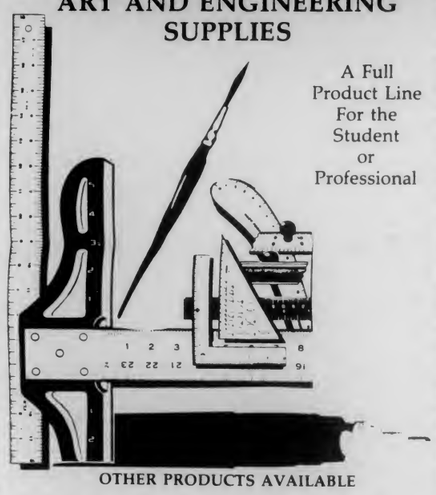
An introductory arts staff meeting will be held at 6:30 p.m. Monday, sept. 10 at the arts desk at the Collegian.

All are welcome.

UMASS
CLOTHING and GIFTWARE



ART AND ENGINEERING SUPPLIES



A Full Product Line For the Student or Professional

OTHER PRODUCTS AVAILABLE

Cards	Hardware items
Postcards	Luggage
Jewelry	Carry-All Bags
Calculators	Gifts
Computers	Calendars
Posters	Clothing
Records and Tapes	Special Order Books
Blank Tapes	Decals
Souvenirs	Banners
Stationary	Glassware
Plant Supplies	Childrens Clothing
Cleaning Products	Danskin
Back Packs	Bathing Suits

CHECK CASHING POLICY

With a purchase at Main Store you Must Spend:
10% of checks up to $20.00
20% of checks $20.00 to $50.00
50% of checks over $50.00

Money Orders, Travelers Checks & Certified Checks may be cashed with any purchase.

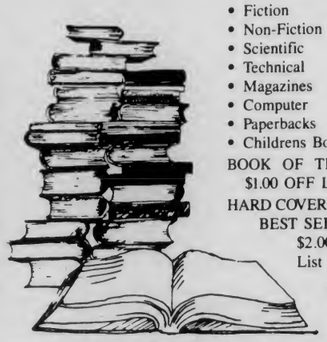
No two party checks.

*Checks taken at the Mini Store must be for the exact amount of purchase.

VISA MasterCard

Accepted at The Main Store ONLY

GENERAL and REFERENCE BOOKS

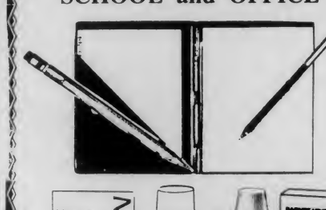


- Fiction
- Non-Fiction
- Scientific
- Technical
- Magazines
- Computer
- Paperbacks
- Childrens Books

BOOK OF THE WEEK
$1.00 OFF List Price
HARD COVER NY TIMES BEST SELLERS
$2.00 OFF List Price

TEXTBOOKS are sold at the Annex

SCHOOL and OFFICE SUPPLIES



A FULL LINE OF School and General Office Products

HEALTH AND BEAUTY AIDS

Including a Full Cosmetic Line

UNIVERSITY STORE

All Are Welcome
Located in the Campus Center

Store Hours: Mon.-Fri. 9:00 am-5:00 pm
* Saturday 11:00 am-4:00 pm
413-545-2619 On Campus: 5-2619

* Home Football Games - Saturday 10:00-3:00

COLLEGE PIZZA

FAST, FREE DELIVERY OF PIZZAS and HOT OVEN GRINDERS
TO ALL
UMASS DORMS, FRATS & SORORITIES

 Wide Screen TV with MTV, ESPN*
 Large Selection of Video Games*
LOCATED at PATTERSON CORNER of SOUTHWEST at the CORNER of SUNSET & FEARING ST.

CALL
549-6073
549-6098

$1.00 OFF
with 1 or more items on a large pizza
with this coupon
(one per pizza) 9-25-84

expires 9-25-84

W.M.U.A. Presents an EXHIBITION AND SALE OF FINE PRINTS
featuring the works of Dali, Matisse, Monet, Picasso, Wyeth, Beardsley, Chagall, Rembrandt, Seurat, Warhol, Renoir, Magritte, Durer, Bierstadt, Degas and many others.

SPECIAL FEATURES:
M.C. Escher Prints
Travel Posters
Norman Rockwell Collection
Movie Posters
American Classics
Japanese Prints
Contemporary Graphics and Matte-Frames!

DATE: Tues. Sept.4th - Fri. Sept 7th
TIME: 9:00 a.m. - 6:00 p.m.
PLACE: Commonwealth Room/Earth Food Cafe (Next to Student Union Ballroom)

Over 600 different prints!
Low student prices!!

WELCOME
from

Dining Commons

MEAL TIMES AND LOCATIONS

WORCESTER, HAMPSHIRE
(open 7 days a week)
Breakfast---------- 7:00 am to 10:30 am
Lunch---------- 11:15 am to 2:00 pm
Dinner---------- 4:00 pm to 6:30 pm

FRANKLIN, BERKSHIRE
(open 7 days a week)
Lunch---------- 10:30 am to 2:00 pm
Dinner---------- 4:00 pm to 7:00 pm

HAMPDEN
(open Monday through Friday)
Kosher Dinners------ 5:00 pm to 6:30 pm

Concessions
Catering
Snack Bars
All Campus BBQ
Dining Commons
Munchys

University Food Services

IF YOU ARE NOT ON A MEAL PLAN YOU CAN PURCHASE MEALS SEPARATELY OR BUY STRIP TICKETS.

Cash Prices
Breakfast..... $2.00
Lunch..... $3.50
Dinner..... $4.50

Strip Prices
5-Day Breakfast Strip..... $ 9.00
5-Day Lunch Strip..... $15.75
5-Day Dinner Strip..... $20.25
5-Day Kosher Strip..... $24.75

Munchys The convenience store--a good place to pick up those little foods and sundry items. Hampden and Franklin also offer hot coffee, doughnuts and sandwiches.

Hours: Worcester and Franklin------ 8 AM - 9 PM
Hampden---------- 7 AM - 9 PM

OPEN 7 DAYS A WEEK.

Snack Bars In three locations:
WORCESTER open 7 AM - 4 PM
WHITMORE open 7 AM - 4 PM
HAMPDEN open 8 AM - Midnight

Serving full breakfasts, hot lunches, complete sandwich and snack selections. Take-out bakery offers pastries and decorated cakes to order. All are baked fresh in our Campus Bake Shop.

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIED

Monday - Thursday 8:45 - 3:45 • Friday 8:45 - 2:30 • Cash in advance • 5 consecutive days 5% discount • 10 consecutive days 10% discount • 15 consecutive days 15% discount • phone number free

ADVERTISING

Advertise FREE in the RIVER VALLEY AD Advertise items you want to sell or buy. Call 532-9498

ATTENTION WE'RE HIRING DJ'S

RACK-A-DISC RACK-A-VIDEO is hiring DJ's. Send resume to PO Box 48, Amherst, MA 01004

AUDIO

Introducing Pres Speakers to campus. If you're interested in loudspeakers you can not afford not to listen To set up an appointment call Rob 549-5897 after 5 PM

EDS GIRLS

Don't forget the CAPE of COD. It was BIG, bigger than BIG, it was HUGE! I had an awesome summer "THANKS" NOW more great times at UMASS Debbie

ENTERTAINMENT

VIDEO VIDEO VIDEO VIDEO Rack A Video entertainment giant 10 and 15 foot screens for dorms and Greeks "MTV" video music call 549-7144

Rack-A-Disc Rack-A-Video entertainment guaranteed events for Disc Jockeys Bands and Video. Call 549-7144

Wicked and Wild DJ's audio and visual entertainment for the 80 s 584-6712

MIDRANGE PRODUCTIONS Professional Disc Jockeys any occasion reasonable rates call 253-3980

FOR RENT

3 bedrooms, on bus route Belchertown Center 323-7246 evenings

FOR SALE

Bed and/or Kitchen Set for sale Call 253-7854 Borth good condition

Refrigerator 5 cu ft used 1 yr 190.00 253-2633 nights

Small refrig for sale excellent cond. $35 or best offer call 253-7345

SOUNDESIGN STEREO Originally $100 2 years old $40 Dresser $40 253-3682

Sanyo Refrigerator Excellent condition. 3 feet tall. $100 Debbie S at 545-2152

Desk Set $50 or best offer call 256-0924 excellent condition

HELP WANTED

Earthfoods Restaurant is hiring for part time positions 10 hrs week 3.80 hr. Mandatory Mon night meeting 5-7 2 hrs. committee work per week. Highly motivated people please apply! We are an EOE and follow affirmative action. Pick up applications at kitchen around corner from ride board in Student Union

Interesting part time opportunity for competent programmer experienced in Macro-11 or Macro 32 on PDP-11 or VAX Small Amherst based company developing communications and realtime control software is looking for 10 hours a week for school year with possibility of intersession employment. Contact Bernie Volz PO BOx 746 Amherst MA 01004 send resume or 549-6994

Need meals? Sorority needs kitchen help lunch and dinners weekly Call Kathy 540-2152

Housekeepers, part time weekdays weekends, flexible hours, experience helpful, apply in person Howard Johnsons Motor Lodge, Hadley

Earn good money working flexible hours Harvest help needed to pick squash in Hadley near UMass. Call 549-0016 between 8:30 and 8:30 PM

Tenors, Basses with sightsinging skills wanted. Mount Holyoke Chapel Choir Eight Wednesday evenings, Nine Sunday mornings thru December. $3.90/hr Audition, 538-2343

Humen Service Positions part-time evenings and weekends. Services for Community Living, a small, innovative residential agency is seeking a few mature, creative individuals who enjoy working with people No experience necessary we will train. AA/EOE call: 538-8176

Housepeople wanted to help serve meals weekdays weekends call Jean 549-0539

On campus non workstudy M-F 7-12 AM call Diane at 6-3220 or Ray 549-1092

GOVERNMENT JOBS $16,559 - $50,553/year. Now hiring Your area Call 1-805-687-6000 ext R-9616

Drivers wanted for College Pizza. Earn up to $8 an hour Must have own car Call 549-4527

Waitresses apply at Rusty Nail Wed thru Sun eves

The Town of Amherst Leisure Services and Supplemental Education Department is seeking seasonal part time employees to work as recreation leaders, assistants, swimming instructors and gym supervisors Four to 20 hours per week Previous work in recreational sports setting with youth and/or adults helpful Afternoon, evening and weekend hours Salary range $3.35-$4.05/hour Apply to Town Manager's Office Town Hall, Amherst, MA 01002 by 4:30 PM September 14 1984 EEO/AA employer

Housepersons wanted for Sorority free meals in exchange for kitchen cleanup call 256-0874 ask for Renay

INSTRUCTION

Know your car. Basic Automobile Workshop 28 hours including classroom and shop Limited enrollment 253-2098

LOST

One Santa Barbara Savings Bank book If found call Craig O'Bryant at 549-1895

PERSONALS

PERFORMING ARTS DIVISION Music, Theatre, Dance Instruction Old Chapel/UMass 545-0515 Register by September 14

Cash for College available $16.5 million unclaimed Send $1.00 (refundable) Results guaranteed S.D.R. 49 10 Downing St. Fall River, Mass 02723

ATTENTION! Earn up to $550 in DC rebate while gaining access to fraternity meal plan. Call Jim Houston at 545-2150

UMMB Let's make Lehigh the opener of our best season ever! Get psyched! Good luck Neil

Happy Birthday Doobie Smith Thinking of you! Love, Smitty

Fitzy, have a very happy 20th birthday! Let's have a great year! Love, Pam.

Felice Happy Belated 21st Birthday! We're all ready for an excellent fall semester! Love, the Sisters and Pledges of Chi Omega

RIDE WANTED

Grad student wants ride to/from Bosto on Thursdays during fall term. Share ex penses Doug 584-5720

ROOM WANTED

I'm a senior PolSci/JS student, serious but outgoing, responsible and homeless Want own rm. in house near UMass. Nor smoker Call 253-9434 or lv rmssag w/Collegian: 5-3500 ten

ROOMMATE WANTED

Female to share double rm in Puffto non-smoker call 549-0388

One female Muslem to share a room in fully furnished apt in Brittany Manor fror Sept - JUne 1985 rent 127.50 sheet inclus edl call Su or Jas at 256-0873

Wanted female roommate for Brandywine apartment 549-1669

Two bedrooms in basement of house Come to 157 East Hadley Road male c female accepted 256-0084

WSYL RADIO

First meeting Monday, 9/10! Mandatory meeting for new shift assignments new members encouraged to attend Cashin Re Room 7:30

the
UNIVERSITY STORE'S
TEXTBOOK ANNEX
@ physical plant bldg.

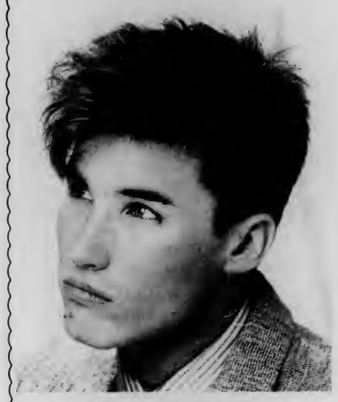
We will be open the following hours
for your shopping convenience:

Sept. 4	Tues.	9-5
Sept. 5	Wed.	9-9
Sept. 6	Thurs.	9-9
Sept. 7	Fri.	9-5
Sept. 8	Sat.	10-3
Sept. 10	Mon.	9-7
Sept. 11	Tues.	9-7
Sept. 12	Wed.	9-5
Sept. 13	Thurs.	9-5
Sept. 14	Fri.	9-5

Remainder of the semester hours are:
Monday-Friday 9 am-4 pm

Change The Way You See Yourself

Solar Nails
Hair Design
Body Waxing
Tanning Booth



Marjon Hair Design Inc.

MARJON HAIR DESIGN
RT. 9
MOUNTAIN FARMS MALL
HADLEY, MA 586-4551

Drive or hop on a Northampton Bus
(check bus schedule for details)
Hours: Mon, Tues, Wed, Fri 9-6; Thurs 9-8; Sat 9-4

FOUR SEASONS

Kegs ice

BEER SPECIALS

Busch	12 oz. cans.	$8.99 case
Budweiser	12 oz. cans.	$10.50 case
Schlitz	12 oz. cans.	$9.99 case
Strohs	12 oz. cans.	$9.99 case
Genessee	12 oz. bottles.	$6.99 case
Utica Club	12 oz. botles.	$5.99 case

VODKA & GIN	1.75 L.	$7.99
BOOTH'S GIN	1.75 L.	$11.99
DEWARS SCOTCH	1.75 L	$19.99

WINE

SEBASTIANI	3 L.	$5.99
RIUNITE	750 ml.	$2.50

WE DELIVER
584-8174
333 Russell Street (Route 9), Hadley, Mass. 01035
in front of the malls

BLOOM COUNTY by Berke Breathed

...SO WITH THE BASES LOADED, YASTRINSKI COMES UP TO BAT... PLEASE, OH PLEASE, DON'T HAVE LET ANYONE RECORDED OVER THIS.
HERE COMES THE FIRST PITCH AND— COME OUTTA THAT HOLE, RABBIT, OR I'M A-COMIN' IN AFTER YA!!
NOBODY DOWN HERE BUT US CARROTS!
OOOOO THAT DOES IT, YA LONG EARED VARMINT. GIT READY TO GIT FILLED WITH LEAD!!
BLAM! BLAM! BLA— AND YASTRINSKI SLIDES HOME. THAT'S THE GAME. GOOD NIGHT!

Gorde By Gorde

ARE YOU AND PINK ROOMMATES?
NO, MINE SHOULD BE... ERR, FLYING IN TONIGHT
GORDE
LATER...
WOW, THIS IS SAD! FOLKS, WE GO NOW TO THE FIRST OF ANOTHER YEAR OF D.C. MEALS
SADD IT'S PITIFUL!!
WHAT'S THAT NOISE?

Ultra Mass
E.L.M.
Later
I'm a Superhero now Ma. No I don't think I'll get my tuition back. Goodnight.
BERRWEETT!! BERRWEETT!!
HUM, a typical evening for a fire drill.
I guess I'll go downstairs
But when will I get to use these Awesome powers?!?
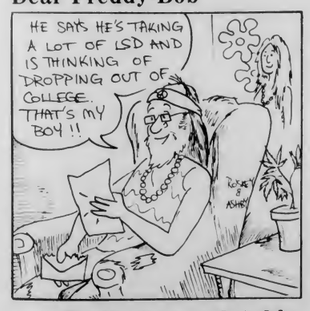
When!
Sooner than you think

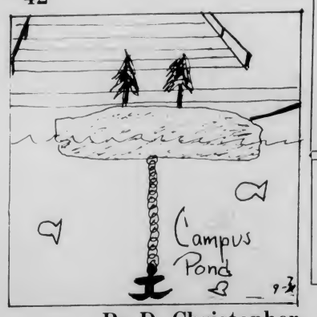
Underfoot By Joe Bradbury

Dear Freddy-Bob



By Roskey and Ashby

"42"



By D. Christopher

DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE

Edited by Trude Michel Jaffe

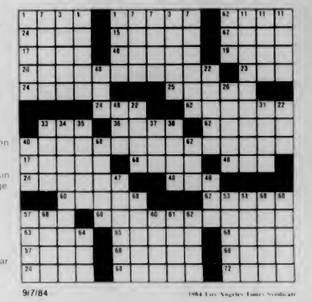
ACROSS
1 Autocrat
5 Caesar or Waldorf
10 Wood dresser
14 Kimono
15 N Florida city
16 Grow impatient
17 Wings
18 — — Poverty LBJ program
19 Fish in a tin
20 Rain phenomena?
23 "I've — A Secret
24 Trapped
25 Fido's nemeses
27 German article
30 — — Eden'
33 Seaman's acad
36 Perry, the singer
39 Owego, N.Y.'s county
40 Sellers 1959 film (with "The")
43 Harangue
44 Norse god
45 Once called
46 Signs up Var
48 The South, 1861-65 Abbr
50 Common contraction
52 Damp
57 Reg.'s colleague
59 Hare cut?
63 Dobbin's fare
65 Metrical com position
66 Ending with joke
67 Three, in Essen
68 Loosen
69 Sea eagle
70 Sacha's cousin
71 — — porridge hot
72 Behind schedule

DOWN
1 Leaflet
2 System or year
3 Ebb
4 Baseball's PeeWee
5 Seeded
6 Sch. or coll.
7 Grocery pur chase
8 Distant
9 What some participles do
10 Fore's partner
11 Main Street shop
12 Stoic philosopher
13 State, in Caen
21 Total
22 Treaty org
26 Man from Mandalay
28 Play part
29 London's restaurant area
31 Molding
32 Rage
33 Vaudeville staple
34 Underwrite
35 Nancy — — M.P.
37 Like the Hatter
38 Of the ear
40 Norwegian poet 1813-82
41 Fisherman
42 MD's aids
47 Take quickly
49 Elec. measure
51 Cut of meat
53 Blackbird Var.
54 Before-state or mural
55 Aroma
56 A crowd, in a way
57 Jerk's concoction?
58 NFL's Campbell
60 Key letter
61 Egyptian goddess
62 Chief Chinook style
64 Touchdown number

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

P	O	U	R		R	E	M	A	P		T	I	E	D
O	H	N	O		E	L	E	N	A		O	T	T	O
R	I	A	S		A	S	O	U	R		S	E	T	S
C	O	L	E	S	L	A	W		T	I	S	S	U	E
			B	I	T		S	E	I	N	E
A	E	R	O	S	O	L		W	A	L	D	O	R	F
S	N	O	W		R	E	T	L	E		N	A	E
A	T	A	L	L		S	A	N		T	R	I	N	I
I	R	S		A	S	S	I	G	N		I	C	O	N
L	E	T	T	U	C	E		S	O	L	V	E	N	T
			O	R	O	N	O		N	E	E
D	E	L	M	A	R		M	A	C	A	R	O	N	I
A	R	E	A		I	T	A	L	O		D	I	E	D
M	O	S	T		N	A	H	U	M		E	I	R	E
E	S	T	O		G	R	A	M	S		D	O	O	M

9/7/84



9/7/84 1984 Los Angeles Times Syndicate

Today's DC Menu

Friday, Sept. 7

LUNCH
Fishburger on Roll
Turkey Divan

BASICS LUNCH
Fishburger on Roll
Pineapple Yogurt Stuffed Peppers

DINNER
Baked Cod/ Newburg Sauce
Cheese Lasagna with Tomato Sauce

BASICS DINNER
Baked Cod with Newburg Sauce
East West Lasagna

Today's Weather

Today – Sunny, high temperature in the 60s and low 70s. Clear tonight, not as cold, low in the 40s and low 50s. Sunny and a little warmer Saturday, high in the 70s.

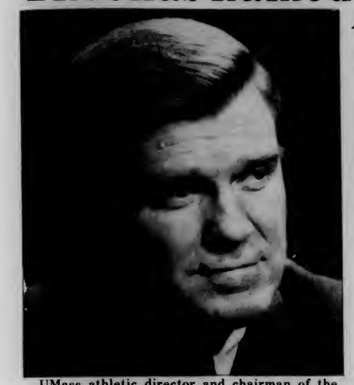
Writin g positions now available in News and most other departments.
Contact Larry Bouchic at 545-3500 or stop by CC 113.
General recruitment meeting 8 p.m. Monday. Location to be announced.
Immediate openings for drivers!!! See Mark Roden in the Graphics Dept.

The Collegian - it's not just a job, it's a way of life!

Rock Miller High Life Network
Presents
the Neighborhoods
Fireside Comforts
Coming to the Blue Wall
Friday, September 7, 1984
Admission $2.00
Miller Rock Series Prizes
T-shirts - Hats - more!!
Rock102
WAQY FM

Theokas named A-10 commissioner

League looks for more TV revenue



UMass athletic director and chairman of the Atlantic 10 Search Committee, Frank McInerney is pleased with the choice of UMass alumnus Charlie Theokas as commissioner of the league.

By PETER ABRAHAM
Collegian Staff

With an eye towards negotiating a more lucrative television contract, the Atlantic 10 conference has named former University of Massachusetts student Charlie Theokas commissioner.

The conference, which includes UMass among its ten teams, selected Theokas commissioner, "to improve our prospects as far as obtaining a contract with television," said league president Frank McInerney, UMass athletic director and chairman of the search committee.

Theokas attended UMass in the late 50's and played football. He played professional football for the Patriots, Colts and Jets before becoming involved in management.

He lists experience with the New York Nets of the defunct American Basketball Association and the New Jersey Generals of the United States Football League.

"Charlie has tremendous experience in dealing with the media, in business and in administrating professional sports," said McInerney.

"Our goal in selecting him was, like any other conference, to aid in getting a television package. Theokas is great with the television people and I hope he can help the league out."

The Atlantic 10 was one of the few Division I basketball conferences that received limited television exposure last season.

Theokas, 45, takes over for Leland Byrd as commissioner of the conference. Byrd had been commissioner since the conference's inception in 1979. He cited personal reasons in resigning.

McInerney had no information about a lawsuit the conference filed against the TVS television network over non-payment for television basketball games last season.

TVS, which has filed for bankruptcy, owes the A-1 $640,000.

★Abraham

Continued from page 20

foolish owner, in the National League, pay Jim, wish him well, and wave bye.

The Sox, everybodysays, have potential to win the East next season. I thnk they have even more potential if they get another arm out of the bullpen and a youngster to learn the Wall and maybe contribute 50 RBI and 10 homers. Reid Nichols can do it if the youngster can't.

Rice has been a credit to Boston sports, an all-star outfielder, ad a pleasure to watch, but his greed should get him nothing more than a plane ticket.

For A Great Haircut
At A Great Price!
Only
$6
No Appointment Necessary
Shampoo & Style A La Carte
HAIR EAST
HAIR DESIGN FOR MEN & WOMEN
103 N. Pleasant, Downtown, Amherst
at the NEW REDKEN
256-0438

Are you wondering what to register for?
...Consider the Health Aide Program
As a Peer Health Promoter, you
★ LEARN ABOUT YOURSELF
★ TEACH YOUR PEERS ABOUT HEALTH
★ GAIN CAREER EXPERIENCE
For more information about this 3 credit course sponsored by the University Health Services, call the Health Education Office at 549-2671 ext. 181

DELANO'S
SEPTEMBER
HAPPY HOUR SPECIAL
2 for 1
St. Pauli Girl
plus our original
twofers and hors d'oevres
7 days 7 nights
4-6 pm 10-midnight
Proper ID a MUST
57 N. Pleasant St.
253-5141

Try Us First
Selected list of course titles:
Elements of Style
Psychological Testing
On Death and Dying
Norton Anthology of Poetry
Oedipus Cycle
Leviathan
Foreign Language Dictionary
Many more titles to numerous to mention
Every book 50 - 75% off publishers list price
The Reading Remedy
NEW BOOKS AT HALF PRICE
71 No. Pleasant St. Amherst, MA 01002
Open: Mon, Tues, Wed, Sat 10-6
Thurs, Fri 10-8

Sports

There will be a meeting for anyone interested in writing for the Collegian sports staff on Monday at 4:30 in the newsroom. The Collegian offices are in the Campus Center, room 113. All staff members must attend.

Challenging weekend for Minutemen

Football looks for second

By PETER ABRAHAM
Collegian Staff

Bob Stull isn't kidding himself, one victory doesn't mean anything.

"The way I see it," said Stull, "we played pretty well against Ball State (a 26-10 victory last Saturday), but we'll probably have to play even better to beat Lehigh."

The Minutemen face the Engineers at 1:30 Saturday at Alumni Stadium hoping to go 2-0 for the first time in three seasons.

UMass has shown an impressive defense, an improved offense, and generally may have turned around from last season's 3-8 mark.

But Lehigh, the ninth winningest team in Division 1-AA history, will be a battle. They feature the pass/catch duo of quarterback Marty Horn and wide receiver Rennie Benn. Horn tossed for 18 TD's last season...15 to Benn.

"The secondary will be tested again, no doubt about it," said Stull. "I'd like to see the defense maintain their performance, and the offense to improve on theirs. We'll be inserting some new wrinkles and there should be a lot of excitement in the game, both of us like to pass."

Stull said that depending on the situation, the Minutemen will be passing more often. "We controlled the game last week and didn't want to hurt our field position by risking a sack," said the coach.

"This week, if we get behind or are in a closer game, we'll look to throw on third down, not just first. We may open it up a lot."

Offensively, UMass will be looking to quarterback Jim Simeone (15 of 33, 133) and running backs Frank Fay and George Barnwell. On defense, the UMass linebacker corps played well against Ball State led by Todd Comeau. Player-of-the-game Vito Perrone will also be counted on. Kicker George Papoutsidis tied a Yankee Conference record with four field goals on Saturday and adds a dimension to the UMass offense.

"Lehigh is tough, but I think we're ready," said Stull. "For us, every game is a big one right now and I'd like to go into the Holy Cross game (September 22) with a 2-0 record. I really can't say what kind of team we are yet, but you'll be able to tell a lot after the game."

Lehigh coach John Whitehead said that his team, "is expecting a lot from UMass, they seem to have improved a lot."

Lehigh beat UMass last season 21-20 with a touchdown and two-pointer by Horn and Benn with 20 seconds left to play. Revenge could be sweet for the Minutemen.

Collegian photo by Dave Drucker

UMass linebacker Todd Comeau will play a big role against Lehigh tomorrow.

UMass vs. Lehigh

Where: Alumni Stadium
When: Saturday, 1:30 p.m.
The line: UMass by 2½
UM injuries: Fl. John Crowley (Hamstring) should play.
Players to watch: LB Todd Comeau, SE Bob Simeone, LB Vito Perrone, NG Peter Tracy, QB Jim Simeone.
Radio: WMUA-FM (91.1) and WTTT-AM
Last year: Lehigh 21, 20.

UMass vs. UNC

Where: Springfield College
When: 7 p.m.
Last Year: UMass and North Carolina played to a double overtime 0-0 as the Minutemen outshot the Tar Heels 23-2. UNC was buoyed by the super play of goalie Jane Myers.
Players to Watch: Midfielder Pam Moryl is an explosive scorer. Back Megan Donnelly shoots on penalty corners and scored seven goals last season.

Field hockey faces UNC

By GERRY deSIMAS
Collegian Staff

A few things will be different for the University of Massachusetts field hockey team as they open the 1984 season tonight at Springfield College.

First, the Minutemen start off the season with two pseudo-home games, tonight against North Carolina at Springfield and Sunday against Virginia at Boston College at 10 a.m.

Second, in a new change this year, players can score from outside the circle instead of from inside the circle as in the past. Only on penalty corners will the ball have to be shot from inside the circle.

The new experimental rule, is an NCAA championship rule and teams are not forced to use it, explained UMass head coach Pam Hixon.

The young Minutemen, who return six players from last year's 16-3-4 third place team nationally, face the Tar Heels at 7 p.m. on the artificial turf at Springfield College.

North Carolina opened it's season last week with a convincing 6-0 win over Virgina Commonwealth. UNC, which has been practicing since August 18th, are led by high scorer Louise Hines.

Last season, UMass tied North Carolina 0-0 at Springfield with Tar Heel goalie Jane Myers playing fantastic ally Myers stopped 23 UMass shots while Minuteman goalie Patti Shea had only two UNC shots to stop.

UMass hasn't faced Virginia before, but they will meet for the first time at Boston College at 10 a.m. on the turf at Alumni Stadium.

Hixon anticipated the new shooting rule will result in more scoring.

"It will create a lot more shots on goal," Hixon said. "The scoring will be a little bit higher. It will create a lot more rushes on goal."

Hixon said that UMass will use a very deep upfield forward or maybe even two. "We are still in the experimental stages, "Hixon said. "it will be more exciting."

Second team All-American Pam Moryl, was the team's second leading scorer with 12 goals and 16 points. Patti Smith, also with 12 goals, had 15 points last year and the corner shooter Megan Donnelly, another All-American pick had seven goals and eight points.

In goal Hixon hasn't decided which of the three goalies will start. Junior Kathryn Rowe is competing with two freshmen for the job.

Whoever starts, it will be different than last year. Just like the new rules and pseudo-home games.

Despite the differences, UMass still faces the smae challenges to win and North Carolina and Virginia will be no easy task.

He's worn out his welcome, trade Rice for some pitching

PETER ABRAHAM

Jim Rice. He's a terrific hitter, a solid outfielder, and seems like a decentenough guy. But for $2 million a year?

The Red Sox have offered him a contract that would make him the highest paid player in their history, a contract nearly double what any other player has made for playing for Boston.

The Atlanta Braves were reportedly offered the services of Rice in exchange for reliever Steve Bedrosian and young outfielder Brad Komminsk. Ted Turner has money, I say let him pay Rice, not the Red Sox.

The Sox prove every year that power hitting does not win pennants. Losing Rice, although not the best of ideas, isn't the calamity may people make it out to be.

He's 30 years old, doesn't have any speed and doesn't seem like a vital ingredient to winning. Look at the Cubs, Mets, Tigers, or Twins, the divisional leaders or runners-up, they get along line with a good cleanup man and another good run producer.

Tony Armas, Dwight Evans, Mike Easler and Bill Buckner can drive in plenty of runs. Wade Boggs and Marty Barrett will hit .300 (at least) and get on base. Rich Gedman will hit 20-plus homers and drive in a good 70 runs. Trade Rice.

Pitching and defense are the name of the game in baseball. A team of home run hitters will not win ballgames, they'll be fun to watch, but come October, they'll be home.

Baseball is becoming a game for the fast; ming and by getting men in scoring psition. Rice will bring a good pitcher (hopefully a lefthanded reliever) and the Sox will lose 31 (at ls count) grounded-into-double-plays.

OOB Stanley, the ex-stopper out ot the bullpen, isn't what he used to be. Let's get a strong reliever a la Orosco, Gossage, Le Smith, or Quisenberry, and trade the disgruntled Rice. I'm sorry, $2 million for anybody is too much. Ted Williams, or Yaz never dreamed of $2 million, and Rice shouldn't aspire to these heights. Let some

Continued on page 19

★ ★ ★ Sports notices ★ ★ ★

Baseball tryouts will be held at the junior-varsity diamond on Monday through Thursday from 3:30 to 5:30. Contact coach Dick Berquist for more information.

There will be a meeting for anyone interested in playing field hockey on Monday at 4:30 at NOPE. Contact coach Pam Hixon for more information.

There will be a meeting for all Stockbridge soccer candidates on Monday in Boyden Room 253 at 4:30. Contact Jack Leamen in Boyden 228 for more information.

Sports at a glance

UMass schedule: Football vs. Lehigh, Saturday, 1:30. Field Hockey vs. UNC, at Springfield College, today at 7:00.

Upcoming: Field Hockey vs. Virginia, at Boston College, Sunday at 10:00 a.m.

pro scores

NL

Chi 4 Mont 1
Pitt 2 NY 0
LA 2 Atl 0 (6)

The Massachusetts Daily NEW ENGLAND'S LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY

Collegian

Volume CXIII, Issue 33 UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AMHERST (545-3500) Monday, September 10, 1984

MASTERS AT WORK — Mauro Staccioli, artist, left, and helper George Trakus construct an Italian sculpture at the Fine Arts Center as curious students observe. The final product will be completed by Sept. 14.

Collegian photo by Mitch Drantch

Shannon chosen by SGA leaders for Senate race

By JOHN O'CONNELL
and LAURA YEE

Democratic candidates for US Senate Jim Shannon and John Kerry came to Amherst Saturday morning to speak at a breakfast fundraiser, and Shannon also picked up the personal endorsements of four University of Massachusetts Student Government Association leaders.

SGA co-President Rick Patrick said he and the other SGA officers endorsed Shannon in the four-way Democratic primary race because the Congressman from Lawrence "has a 100 percent record on financial aid," among other reasons.

"It's a matter of experience and it's also a matter of who's been there for students in Washington," Patrick said. He cited Shannon's six years on the House Ways and Means committee and his readiness to meet with the UMass group Students Against Financial Aid (SAFA) over the years, as reasons for the endorsement of Shannon over Lt. Gov. Kerry, Secretary of State Michael J. Connally or former Massachusetts House Speaker David M. Bartley.

Patrick also said that when students lobbied against a 15 percent tuition hike proposed by the Board of Regents last spring, Kerry "didn't have time for us."

SGA co-President Jim Keller, Senate Speaker Chris Sullivan and SGA Treasurer John Mooradian also endorsed the candidate, but the four "really haven't looked into the possibility" of making a formal SGA endorsement, Patrick said.

Sullivan said any endorsement by the Senate "might cause hard feelings"

Shannon and Kerry have taken similar stands on women's equal rights, a nuclear freeze and US military involvement in Central America, issues that concern the SGA leaders and other student groups on campus.

The four Democratic candidates are vying for the Democratic nomination in the Sept.18 primary to the Senate seat now held by Paul Tsongas (D-Lowell). The winner of the primary will face either Republican Ray Shamie or Elliot Richardson in the November general election.

Shannon thanked the students and told them the "next 10 days is just crucial" to the campaign. He picked up endorsements from the Boston Globe, the Boston Herald and the AFL-CIO.

"We're really rolling now. If you can give us a push we can win this thing," Shannon told the students. He said the Tsongas Senate seat "is the only seat presently held by a Democrat that has a chance of winning."

Later in the morning Kerry and Shannon spoke at a breakfast fundraiser for the Amherst Town Democratic Committee. The candidates came at different times and concentrated on promoting a Democratic victory in November instead of their own primary campaigns.

"Never before have the lines between Democrat and Republican been so well drawn," Shannon said at the breakfast. "Our attempt to regain the US Senate hinges on our success in Massachusetts."

Kerry said President Reagan "has walked away from women's rights, walked away from daycare, walked away from civil rights." Of social spending cuts, he said, "every single program that is important...has been cut in the last three years," and a Democratic majority in the Senate could reverse those trends.

Kerry did take a swipe at Shannon in saying that the "Washington status quo" prevented real opposition to Reagan. He also claimed that "every poll in the state shows that I am the only Democrat who can defeat Elliot Richardson."

About 150 local Democrats attended the fundraiser, and 200 $10 tickets were sold in all, according to Floss Frank of the Democratic Town Committee. The money will pay for pamphlets for the Mondale-Ferraro presidential campaign, she said.

Deficit results from Southwest concert

No money for hunger groups

By GREG BROWN
Collegian Staff

Last semester's Southwest Week, planned for raising awareness of world hunger, failed to raise any money for hunger organizations, according to University of Massachusetts officials.

"Last-minute planning" and "bypassing the normal rules and guidelines for this sort of event" were the reasons for the financial failure of Southwest Week, according to Randy Donant, director of the Student Activities Office (SAO). He called the April 28 weekend, which included a five-band concert of the Southwest playing fields, "a melee."

The Southwest Area Government (SWAG), which proposed and funded most of the events to the SAO now has a $4,237 deficit.

Donantsaid the program originally "got its legitimacy from the world hunger campaign. Cancellor Joseph Duffey and Vice Chancellor Dennis Madson approved the event because they were under the impression that money would be raised for Oxfam America," he said.

"I am concerned that they didn't raise any money for the World Hunger Project, but I'm more concerned with the behavior of the participants in Southwest Week," Madson said. Madson said he approved the concert when SWAG representatives told him they woul solicit funds for world hunger.

Donant said Southwest Week, including the concert, as initiated and largely "pushed for" by SWAG co-Presidents David McCarthy and Michael Bean. McCarthy has graduated and Bean is not at the University this semester. Neither were available for comment.

In a memo to Madson, Public Safety Director Gerald T. O'neil said over $5,000 was spent on security, and seven arrests were made, including several for assault and battery.

Madson is now drawing guidelines for any future outdoor concerts which will affect any group that plans an outdoor event at the university.

Madson's new rules include a requirement that all SAO and RS procedures and deadlines must be net and adhered to by concert planners. Also, there will be a limit of four bands per area government show and planners must now hire outside vendors to clean up after the shows.

Donant said the cost for cleaning up after the April 29 Cheap Trick concert was more than $3,000.

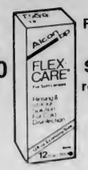
Inside:

Religious group offers assistance to everyone..... p. 3
UMass alumnus becomes soap star and seeks students help..... p. 11
Minutemen give a decent fight to Lehigh but no cigar..... p. 16

"Drunkenness is nothing but voluntary madness"
—Seneca

HEALTH and BEAUTY SALE

Colgate Brushes 2/$1.00 reg $1.15



Alcon Flex-Care 12 oz $2.79 reg $3.84

Good News 6's $1.43 reg $2.22

Gillette Foamy Gel 7 oz $1.43

Colgate Pump Gel 4.5 $1.09

Oxy 10 $2.53 reg $4.14

Q-Tips 170 $1.09

Flex Shampoo or Conditioner 15 oz $1.79 reg $2.71

Introducing DOUBLE MANUFACTURER'S COUPONS on all Health and Beauty Aids Products

Sale items are also available in the Mini Store M-F 9-5 Sat 11-4

Located in the Campus Center
UNIVERSITY STORE

DIGEST by The Associated Press

'Mr. Flare' pleads guilty

BOSTON (AP) — A man who calls himself "Mr. Flare" will testify against companions accused of setting nearly 25 fires in the Boston area after turning state's evidence in exchange for a 30-year prison term, a prosecutor says.

Gregg M. Bemis, 23, a former Stow police and fire dispatcher faced a life term.

He will receive the leser sentence by cooperating with state and federal arson investigators, as long as no one is found to have died in any fires Bemis "knew about or participated in," Assistant U.S. Attorney Mark E. Robinson said.

Bemis pleaded guilty Thursday before U.S. District Judge Rya Zobel to involvement in 68 counts of conspiracy to set 16 fires in the Boston area during 1982 in an effort to spur the hiring of more firefighters, said Robinson.

No date for sentencing was set.

Bemis was one of seven men accused of setting during 1982 and 1983 nearly 250 fires, "nearly setting a record for fires," Robinson said.

Hepatitis in Worcester

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP) — Three more cases of hepatitis B were reported in Worcester last week, bringing the total known cases of the disease to 89 since Sept. 1, 1983, Health Department Director Walter C. Irvine says.

Some of the recently reported cases occurred toward the beginning of the outbreak, but had gone unreported, Irvine said. Health officials said publicity about the outbreak and letters sent to doctors last month led to better reporting.

Irvine said it appears the number of hepatitis B cases is "leveling off, but at a fairly high rate."

Officials of the federal Centers for Diease Control in Atlanta are scheduled to visit Worcester this week to help the Health Department set up vaccination clinics for hepatitis B and Delta hepatitis, Irvine said.

The health officials will begin working out when and where the clinics will be held, who will operate the clinics and administer the vaccine, Irvine said.

They will be considering ways to encourage drug users and their sexual contacts — the group most susceptible to hepatitis B — to be inoculated, and to protect the privacy of the people who come to the clinics.

Today's Staff

Night Editor Laura Yee
Copy Editor Nancy A. Bukar
Layout Tecnician John O'Conell
Photo Technician Mitch Drantch
Production supervisor Peter Soderberg

Production Dode B. Levenson, Nanette Dory, Mathew David Atkins, Maria Cahillane, Chris Meagher, Robert Skelton

The collegian incorrectly reported the time of MassPIRG's voter registration coalition's first meeting Tuesday. The meeting will be held at 5:30 p.m.

50% Off our already low student cost — Attention Students — 50% Off our already low student cost

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian is undergoing an experimental structural change in our classified rates. We are making a conscientious effort to limit the expenditure that all of us, as students, will undertake. In order to make this a successful effort, we need your support. We are located at the opposite end of the check cashing service in Room 113 Campus Center. Please support us as we continue to support you.

50% OFF
Student Classifieds
(Now 10¢ per word)

Personals Autos Babysitters Help Wanted Entertainment Lost & Found Services

Personals For Rent For Sale Rides Wanted

Fluoride in Amherst water? Town will decide Nov. 6

By TOM MIDDLETON
Collegian Staff

The final decision on whether to add flouride to Amherst water will be decided by Amherst voters on Nov. 6.

A petition to settle the issue by referendum was turned in at the Town Clerk's office on Aug. 28. The clerk's office validated more than the 1,618 required signatures by the Sept. 6 deadline.

Elinor Morton, a member of the group sponsoring the petition, called signature verification "a good thing." She said the group has "not really formulated a plan yet" on what they might do to influence the election.

Norton said she opposed flouridation because she believes it creates unhealthful side-effects.

Amherst Health Department Director Bettye Anderson Frederic was not available for comment. Joan Keenan, a staff assistant at the department said, "I'm sure Ms. Frederic has planned something." She added that she felt she was not in authority to speak on the subject.

On May 24, the Amherst Board of Health voted 5-0 in favor of ordering the town's water supply flouridated.

According to a statement released by the board, water flouridation has proven to be the most effective method to prevent tooth decay. The statement also says that flouridation will help prevent dental problems and expensive dental and insurance bills.

According to the statement, more than 123 million Americans are receiving controlled flouridation. For the past 50 years studies have failed to show any connections between water flouridation and health problems.

The statement adds that flouridation is supported by "virtually every health organization in Massachusetts and the United States, includig the World Health Organization."

A feasibility study conducted last April by the State Health Department estimates the cost of flouridation at 45 cents per resident every year. Frederic said a state grant for part of the cost enhanced the board's decision to order flouridation.

Hillel and Chabad House assist and advise UMass

By NANCY A. BUKAR
and RITA MURPHY
Collegian Staff

They bring the Jewish community warmth and understanding. To others they bring education and information about what Judaism is all about. Together, Hillel and Chabad House serve the entire University of Massachusetts community.

Hillel, formed at UMass during the 1940's, is here "to serve the needs of the Jewish student community," according to director Rabbi Saul Perlmutter.

Collegian photo by Andy Heller

Rabbi Israel Deren

Chabad House, which has been at UMass for about 10 years, serves a slightly different function than Hillel, which focuses on the cultural and religious aspects of Judaism, according to Rabbi Israel Deren of Chabad House.

"Our view of being Jewish is not just cultural or one of nationalism. We view it as a way of life. We view it as belonging more in the home than in the synagogue," Deren said.

Both organizations provide services to the roughly 3,000 Jewish students on campus and also serve non-Jewish students.

Hillel provides movies, informal "lunches with the Rabbi" and various lectures, including one later this month by Yaffa Eliach titled, "The Art of Survival: Hasidic Tales of the Holocaust."

Hillel does not have a mandatory fee but there is a voluntary registration fee of $15 for the academic year. This entitles the student to free admission to many of the events and a half-price discount on their tee-shirts, Perlmutter said.

Chabad House offers "lunch and learn" sessions where students get together informally to discuss Judaism, and the house also offers counter action groups which deal with the Jewish response to Christianity's teaching of missionaries.

Although the two groups have slight differences in political ideaology and outlook, they are not in competition, Deren said.

"We don't view (Hillel) as competitors, we work together. We present a particular articulated view of Judaism. We don't ask for commitments. We accept people as they are."

"Ours is a clearly articulate view enabling people to experience what being Jewish is all about. There's depth as well as breath to what we offer," Deren said.

With the upcoming holy days of Rosh Hashana and Yom Kippur, both groups said they expect a busy few months, but they are both ready, willing and able to listen and offer help to those in need, regardless of their religion. Both Rabbis emphasized the need to let Jewish and non-Jewish students become aware of their presence and their desire to offer assistance.

"We have never turned anyone away. We want students to come and come again. We want them to know about us and we want to talk about the beauty and depth of Judaism,"Deren said.

Collegian photo by Mitch Drantch

KEG DAZES PROHIBITED — But not for Pete Paterson, left, Joe Haley, Dwayne Head and Steve Moore who spend the day soaking up the rays and the beer in cans at Saturday's football game.

Collegian photo by David P. Deaber

ONE ON ONE — Two UMass students silhouetted by the sun appear to play two on two cast by their shadows at Amherst courts.

Women's Forum

Women's Forum is a weekly listing of events relating to women's issues. Notices should be sent to the Women's Issues Editor, care of the Collegian, the Friday before the event.

Tuesday — Ameeting for women interested in attending the "Not in Our Name" resistance action in New York City will be held at 7:30 p.m. on the third floor of Thorn's Market in Northampton. For more information, call Karen Schweitzer, 367-2649.

Thursday — The Women's Leadership Project will have an introductory meeting at 4 p.m. in room 811 of the Campus Center.

The Lesbian Union Rap Group will meet at 7p.m. in room 406G in the Student Union Building.

The first meeting of the Feminist Collective will be held at 6p.m. in the Hatch.

The rape hotline number is 545-0800.

Belgian exchangers find burgers, TV at UMass

By JOHN VINCENT
Collegian Staff

Two new students at the University of Massachusetts are rather outspoken about their new surroundings.

"When I was in Belgium, I thought of America as a country of hamburgers and where the television is crazy. It is like I thought it was," said Vincent Yzerbyt, on of two graduate students involved in a one-year exchange program between UMass and Louvain-la-Neuve College in Belgium.

"On the news here they have commercials after two pieces of information, that's crazy for us," said Yzerbyt.

Christian Bailly is also on exchange to the Polymer Science and Engineering department, said Seymour Berger, chair of the psychology department, who created the exchange program. Yzerbyt said the exchange program, which is only funded for this year, provided him with "an extraordinary opportunity to improve in my knowledge of psychology." He believes that America, particularly UMass, has done more research and are more knowledgeable in social psychology than Belgium.

Berger said he arranged the exchange with Chancellor Joseph Duffey and the Louvain-la-Neuve College through the Belgium Fullbright Commission with a grant the U.S. made to Belgium to encourage scholastic exchange between the two countries.

Berger said he and a professor from the Belgium school collaborated when Berger was teaching there last year and wrote a proposal for the exchange which was accepted by the commission.

The agreement gave $20,000 for two students from Louvain-la-Neuve to attend UMass and two UMass professors to teach at Louvain-la-Neuve.

"We're still looking for two professors from any department to teach there, for next semester or this semester if it doesn't conflict with their present teaching committements," Berger said.

Yzerbyt said he had to pay for expenses with his own money and that he expects to be refunded about $6,000 when he returns to Belgium.

Domino's sign and bike stolen

Amherst Police reported the theft last week of a triangular sign that read "Domono's Pizza Delivers" from atop a delivery car.

The sign was valued at $125.

Also this weekend, a Fuji 12-speed bicycle was reported missing from Townhouse Apts. at 1:45 p.m. Thursday. The bicycle was valued at $200.

—PHIL SERAFINO

SALE!

BEDSPREADS
WALL HANGINGS
LAMPS
BAMBOO WINDOW SHADES
RUGS
RECORD CRATE KITS
PRINTS

FACES
A Store-full of Ideas
Downtown Amherst Open 10-6, Mon.-Sat.

CAUTION!

BANNED BOOKS WEEK
SEPT. 8-15, 1984

Co-sponsored by American Booksellers Association
American Library Association
National Association of College Stores
Association of American Publishers
American Society of Journalists and Authors
Endorsed by The Center for the Book

SOME PEOPLE CONSIDER THESE BOOKS DANGEROUS

Catcher in the Rye, Slaughter House Five, Our Bodies Ourselves, Of Mice and Men... are only a few of hundreds of books that have been challenged in libraries across the country.

COME IN AND SEE OUR "BANNED BOOK" DISPLAY

Located in the Campus Center
Open M-F 9-5 Sat 11-4
UNIVERSITY STORE

UNIVERSITY STORE
*CONCOURSE SALE
5 DAYS ONLY
55% OFF
Ticketed Prices of
14K GOLD CHAINS and BRACELETS
Pearl Earings $8 - $10
Bronze and Brass Earings $8 - $12
Pearl Bracelets $20
Amethyst Earings $6

Prices from $6.00 to $150.00

Starts Monday Sept. 10
thru Friday Sept. 14
9 am - 5 pm

Sale Located in Front of the Store
* This sale does not include jewelry sold at the jewelry counter in the store.
UNIVERSITY STORE

WE'VE MOVED
NEXT TO SUPER STOP & SHOP

PAINT ON SALE!

DESK LAMPS
EXTENSION CORDS ALARM CLOCKS
MILK CRATES
HOT POTS
HAMMERS NAILS
MOPS
BROOMS
COOKWARE
HOOKS
HOT PLATES
PICTURE HANGERS
KITCHEN ACCESS.
WOOD CLOTHES DRYERS
LAUNDRY BASKETS
KEYS

WE'VE GOT ALMOST EVERYTHING YOU NEED

AUBUCHON HARDWARE

"The Globe's here!"
For just $1.40 a week you can have
The Boston Globe
delivered to your door on campus

University of Massachusetts — Fall Term Rates
SPECIAL CAMPUS RATES — $17.10
Daily & Sunday $1.40 a week — $11.10
Daily Only $.90 a week — $6.00
Sunday Only $.50 a week — Sept. 16 - Dec. 14

☐ Daily Only
☐ Sunday Only
☐ Daily & Sunday

Please fill out form and return with check made payable to:
RON HUBERDEAU, P.O. Box 959, Amherst, MA 01004
Tel. 253-7009

Your Name:_____
Campus Address:_____

NE schools show increase

(AP) — In colleges and universities around New England, administrators who expected empty beds this fall are instead seeking out extra space for an unexpected glut of freshmen.

The rise in enrollment at many institutions has come despite a decrease in New England high school graduates, and college officials are — in the words of one — "happy, but mystified."

Among the theories offered to explain the increase are a stronger economy that has made parents more confident they can pay the bills; more students from the Sunbelt states; a higher percentage of college attendance among hight school graduates; and harder work by college recruiters.

"New England colleges really believed the sky was falling, so they've been out hustling — not scrounging but hustling," Amherst College Admissions Dean Henry Bedford told The Boston Sunday Globe.

Admissions officers got their first indication that fall enrollments might be higher than predicted when they noticed an unexpected increase in applications — as much as 1 percent at some schools.

Suspecting that the same number of students were simply filling out more applications, some college officials admitted more students with the expectation that fewer would show up in the fall.

Spread the good word. For good grades and more good times in college, come to one of the free One Hour Evelyn Wood Seminars. It will cost you nothing except your time.

In return, we'll show you how you can triple your reading effectiveness. So that you will then be able to cut your study time in half, cut all-night cramming out altogether, and cut yourself in for better grades and more free time.

Now's the time to make your move. Come to our free seminar. Bring your friends, too. It's only an hour. It's free. And it's a smart move on your part.

1 WEEK ONLY!!!

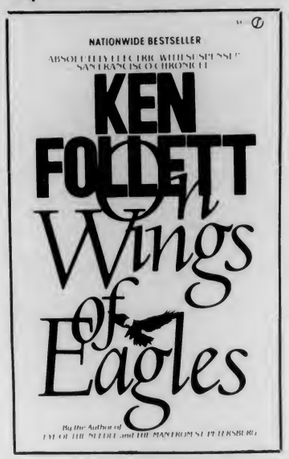
Free Seminar Schedule LOCATION: MURRAY D. LINCOLN CAMPUS CENTER

MONDAY 9/10 3pm & 5pm ROOM 162-175
TUESDAY 9/11 12pm, 2pm, & 4pm ROOM 174-176

EvelynWood™ College Programs

Choose the day and time most convenient for you. Reservations not necessary. For more information call 1 (800) 447-READ.

BOOK OF THE WEEK
$1.00 OFF



NATIONWIDE BESTSELLER
ABSOLUTELY ELECTRIC WITH SUSPENSE" SAN FRANCISCO CHRONICLE
KEN FOLLETT
On Wings of Eagles
By the Author of EYE OF THE NEEDLE and THE MAN FROM ST. PETERSBURG

Ken Follett
On Wings of Eagles

Located in the Campus Center
UNIVERSITY STORE

"RUSH THE CHAMPS"
BKΦ
OPEN RUSH
ALL UNIVERSITY MEN INVITED

RUSH DATES:
Sept. 11, 12, 13
17, 18, 19
9:00 PM

BKO
388 N. Pleasant St.
253-9071

The brothers of BKO invite you to see what fraternity life has to offer. BKO is a brotherhood of 60 young men living and growing together. We hold in high regard academics, social and intramural activities. We are currently Greek and campus intramural champions. Come down and see what BKO is all about. Get more out of college in your four years here.
RUSH BKO!

the UNIVERSITY STORE'S
TEXTBOOK ANNEX
@ physical plant bldg.
We will be open the following hours
for your shopping convenience:

Sept. 4	Tues.	9-5
Sept. 5	Wed.	9-9
Sept. 6	Thurs.	9-9
Sept. 7	Fri.	9-5
Sept. 8	Sat.	10-3
Sept. 10	Mon.	9-7
Sept. 11	Tues.	9-7
Sept. 12	Wed.	9-5
Sept. 13	Thurs.	9-5
Sept. 14	Fri.	9-5

Remainder of the semester hours are:
Monday-Friday 9 am-4 pm

EDITORIAL/OPINION

The opinions expressed on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the university unless otherwise noted.

Questioning the Blue Wall

The question of raising the drinking age is no longer one of if, but rather when. By law, all 50 states must have a uniform drinking age of 21 by 1986 or lose federal highway funds. Massachusetts has until then to raise its drinking age from 20 to 21. While the governor and legislature ponder the implications of that new law, it is time for University of Massachusetts officials to accept the inevitable and make changes accordingly.

The biggest question officials would address is what to do with the Blue Wall. The Blue Wall, famous for its Friday afternoon happy hours with lines extending throughout the Campus Center Concourse, has changed considerably since the drinking age went from 18 to 20 in 1978. With the threat of elimination of happy hours statewide the bar will change even more.

With a new increase in the drinking age inevitable the time has come to reassess the direction and future of the Blue Wall.

When the drinking age goes up, for the most part, only graduate students, seniors and older juniors will be able to legally drink in the Blue Wall.

It would be bad business to assume only a few changes would keep the bar in the black and out of the red, but the hard truth is that the Blue Wall could not continue effectively. Keeping the establishment open and run as it currently is would only serve to hurt the students and taxpayers who must foot the bill for the money lost.

One solution would be to close the Blue Wall entirely. There are many problems with that suggestion; loss of student jobs, a major social gathering place, and a bar which keeps students on campus, increasing the likelihood that drinking would not be mixed with driving.

Another solution, one which was tried with moderate success last year by the Blue Wall, would be to let underaged patrons into the bar while giving wristbands to those legally able to drink. One problem with that was that no special arrangements were made to accomodate the underaged.

The addition of a soda and juice bar, a much wider food menu, and better entertainment would increase the likelihood of attracting both younger and older students.

Whatever the final solution is, there is little question something must be done with Blue Wall, the time to make those decisions is now, and those decisions must be made with the student input.

Unsigned Editorials reflect the majority opinion of the Collegian Board of Editors.

Eliminating the poison

William Spain

Something really beautiful happened in America this summer. An event took place that gave even this hardened cynic a measure of hope for the future. While attending it, I saw an exciting new consciousness and sense of community developing among some of our fellow citizens. I like to think of it as an inkling of things to come if the human race can manage to keep from blowing itself up.

It did not occur in Los Angeles, amid the nationalistic chanting and patriotic fervor of the Olympics. It was not in Dallas, or San Francisco, either. The posturing and rhetoric of those conventions, while amusing to watch, only helped me to choose the lesser of two evils.

It was a sunny Saturday. The place was a North Chicago neighborhood. Far from hollow pledges and vicarious triumphs, local residents got together for an all-American block party. The street was closed to traffic, a country-rock band was set up, and a few kegs were rolled out. The city arranged fire-engine rides and a giant trampoline for the kids. The weather was perfect, of course.

You might be starting to imagine some kind of 1980's Norman Rockwell scene. It certainly had many of the elements of one. The big difference was that old Norm probably never saw so many different skin-tones. From lily-white to charcoal-black, all the colors of the red, white and blue were smiling together.

The most wonderful thing was that this did not happen in a community where supporting ethnic diversity actually provides employment for some people. No, this was in a working class area of a city where racism is edged out in popularity only by baseball. A new tolerance seems to be growing in sections of modern, urban America. Let us hope that it will spread outward from there.

I am disturbed by the tendency of some of our leaders to call for a return to the "good old values of God and family." In the times of which they speak with such affection, interracial couples would have been driven out of town for the crime of falling in love. Ah, to return to the days when justice for non whites was meted by cloaked men in the middle of the night. Do we actually want to "bring back that spirit?"

Some of us obviously do. They are putting on their arm bands and rallying their followers with grandiose speeches. What they do not realize is that their time is over. It is clear now that we are all going to sink or swim together. What we must do is make sure that there will be no room in the boat for concessions to this kind of tragic ignorance. It has plagued our souls and poisoned our spirit for too long.

Bothered by life in general

Mary Cresse

Parsley wagging, ricotta dripping, they'll shove an entire slab of manicotti into their mouths while complaining about the quality of the food. They'll buy a bag of chocolate-chip cookies, gripe about the price, and proceed the stuff the stained wrapper between the counter and a pole so they won't have to move three feet to the left to throw the thing away.

Maybe they'll go to Pizzeria Regina. Balancing sagging hot paper plates, they'll trip children and step over baby carriages on their way to the stall selling soda three cents cheaper.

My doctor says I should stop working in Faneuil Hall. (Faneuil Hell, I call it.) But I can't. I need the money. He says also if I don't watch the Gilbey's and the Hershey bars and the Coca-Cola, I'll have to have my stomach out by the time I'm 40.

So, to relieve the stress, I write. On days when even winning Megabucks wouldn't cheer me up; when my roommate will visit her boyfriend in Connecticut just to get away from me, I make a list like the one I started with.

Now it's UMass' turn.

To the following people, I ask your understanding in this matter; how therapeutic this all is; how you probably feel this way too, lots of times. I ask that you take it lightly.

Then I want you to either a) go to hell, or b) get away from me. This is for:

The people who play frisbee by the campus pond who nearly impale me while I'm trying to get a much-needed sunburn. "Hey, Jason! Didja see me do my double-spin with a twist when I caught that? Good, huh? Yo!"

The people in the coffee shop who stare derisively at me while I choose my lunch, a peanut butter and jelly sandwich, large Coke, and potato chips, while they nibble their brought-from-home-tofu.

People who cut through a line and ignore the open space and cut through me instead.

People in the dining commons who: a) speak ignorantly about a subject I happen to know an awful lot about, b) wait until I've placed the first morsel of food in my mouth before lighting up, c) bring up subjects they know will render me without an appetite, like the school I used to go to but left because it was too expensive.

People who practically have sex with each other in public. Most of the time, they're in line for ice cream at Bart's or standing in front of me while I'm trying to return an add-drop form.

People who use the word "wholistic."

People who rip down posters in dorms, especially those highlighting "alternative" events, or those labeling bathrooms. The other day, in a hurry, I found myself in a "Ladie's" room with a bunch of urinals.

Doubtless, someone who can't take a joke will write a letter back say he or she doesn't like "columnists who make lists of their pet peeves." To that, I give a raspberry, and an open invitation to write.

It'll make you feel a whole lot better. Really. It's hot down there, isn't it?

Mary Cresse is a Collegian staff member.

Random Notes

Fed up with tasting dining Communism

I'm finally a junior and, with relief, I've expelled myself from the meal plan. There's no question about it, I'm a D.C. dissident. For two years I was required to eat food I always suspected came from a Purina Puppy Chow bag. Now I can enjoy culinary asylum at Stop & Shop and Price Chopper. Without fear of retribution, I can now speak freely about something suspicious I've noticed — the D.C.s are remarkably similiar to Communist countries.

First of all there's the name — Dining Commons. Why, that's a dead give away. They could have just called them "The Peoples' Nutritional Ingestion Centers." If they were truly democratic, they would be called cafeterias. Hampden Cafeteria — doesn't that sound more American to you?

Another hallmark of the Communist block is their preoccupation with propaganda. Sometimes you need a shovel to clear all those cardboard messages off the D.C. tables. At the beginning of a semester, there are usually two nutritional signs on each table. Soon they begin breeding and multiply faster than rabbits. Each day you sit down, you are encircled by an arm of propaganda mini-posters. How can you not help noticing then while you eat? "Are your EYES bigger than your STOMACH?" "Don't take more than you can eat!" "Each french fry contains 4½ of the USRDA of sodium chloride." "There are hundreds of students starving in Orchard Hill!" One of these days someone is going to find a copy of Pravda buried with the other junk.

Communist countries are paranoid. They spend hefty percentages of their G.N.P.s to buy sophisticated security systems, but none can match the D.C.s'. Every time there is a food fight, it only lasts for 15 seconds. Then, out of nowhere, an older woman in a white lab coat appears and walks up to the individual who started the fight. How does she always know who started it? For months I scrutinized every inch of the ceilings and walls for hidden microphones and TV cameras. There were none to be found. One day I noticed a huge antenna on the roof of a D.C. and the answer his me — spy satelites! Every minute you're eating, the D.C. is monitoring you on their own Sputniks!

These observations are certainly biased, and some may not even be true, but they serve to make my point. This expose does not prove that the D.C.s are Comunist, but I'd bet willing to be that whoever set up the D.C.s had a favorite color that was a shade of pink.

On the other hand, some D.C. rumors are completely false: D.C. workers do not address each other as "Comrade." Amherst does not have the Nation's highest number of missing pets. Pre-Med students do not practice on the chickens. Rumors like these only divert attention from the real problems.

Finally, remember this tip, fifteen minutes before eating, wrap your tongue in an icepack. This will freeze your tastebuds for 20 to 25 minutes. Then, while you are eating, pretend that you are enjoying the food. Remember, they are watching you!

Joseph McCormack is a Collegian Correspondent.

! ATTENTION !

Subject: Refrigerator Rentals

To Any Student who did not receive their pre-paid rental refrigerator as was promised by Student Refrigerator Agency Inc., the school selected refrigerator vendor:

We have learned from the University that you may now immediately request a full refund. You may inquire further of the company (Student Refrigerator Agency, Inc.) that has your money, phone 617-924-8266.

In order to further serve you, as we have hundreds of your classmates this week and also to serve any other students wishing to rent a refrigerator, below is a schedule of prices, delivery times and places:

Price Schedule:
school year rate	$35.24
tax	1.76
refundable deposit	5.00
total payable upon return	$42.00

Delivery date - Tuesday September 11th

Delivery Schedule
U-haul truck locations:

In front of J.Q.A.	1-4:30 p.m.
between Kennedy and Coolidge	4:30 - 8 p.m.
Sylvan	1-4 p.m.
Orchard Hill	4-5 p.m.
Van Meter	5-5:20 p.m.
Baker, Chadbourne, Greenough	5:20-6 p.m.
Brooks, Brett, Wheeler	6-6:30 p.m.
Gorman	6:30-7 p.m.

You may call our office, 586-1430, to order, however, no advance order is needed. Simply be at our delivery trucks at the specified times.

CAMPUS RENTALS, INC.
586-1430

Change the way you see yourself

Solar Nails Hair Design
Body Tanning
Waxing Booth

Marjon Hair Design Inc.

MARJON HAIR DESIGN
RT. 9
MOUNTAIN FARMS MALL
HADLEY, MA 586-4551

Drive down or hop on a Northampton Bus
(check bus schedule for details)
Hours: Mon, Tues, Wed, Fri 9-6; Thurs 9-8; Sat 9-4

GREAT BIKE GIVEAWAY

WIN A FIRENZE 12 Speed Bike only one bike to be given away
bike is on display in our Sporting Goods Dept.

OFFICIAL CONTEST RULES
1. To enter, complete the official entry form and bring it to the store. Enter as often as you wish by using only original entry forms. Enter by Sept. 27, 1984 to be eligible.
2. The winner will be selected in a random drawing on Sept. 28, 1984.
3. Employees of the University Store and their families are not eligible. Taxes on the prize are the sole responsibility of the winner.

BICYCLE BONUS
Register to win a FIRENZE 12-SPEED BIKE. Fill out the coupon & return it to the Bookstore. No purchase required.
NAME
ADDRESS
PHONE

UNIVERSITY STORE

The New York Times
Best Sellers

New York Times	BEST SELLERS
Fiction	NonFiction
1. First Among Equals	1. The Kennedys: An American Dream
2. The Fourth Protocol	2. In God's Name
3. "...And Ladies of the Club"	3. Wired
4. Lincoln	4. The Nightmare Years 1930-1940
5. The Aquitaine Progression	5. One Writer's Beginnings
6. Tough Guys Don't Dance	6. Good Morning, Merry Sunshine
7. The Butter Battle Book	7. MotherHood
8. Full Circle	8. D.V.
9. The Walking Drum	9. The Bridge Across Forever
10. The Miko	10. The Fire From Within

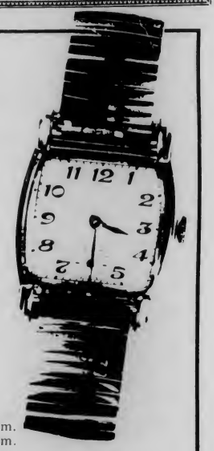
$2.00 OFF List Price

All New York Times Best Sellers

*Hardcover editions only

Located in the Campus Center
UNIVERSITY STORE
Open M-F 9-5 Sat 11-4

THERE'S STILL TIME.



Late registration for fall day and evening credit courses is held Sept 5 - 18. Day courses are on a space-available basis; written permission is required.

Records & Registration Office
University Library, Rm. 104
Mon. - Thurs. 9 a.m. - 7 p.m.
Fri. 9 a.m. - 5 p.m.
Sat. (Sept. 8 - 29) 10 a.m. - 1 p.m.

Registration for Credit-Free Workshops may be made by telephone 545-0587 or in person.

Records & Registration
University Library, Rm. 111
Mon. - Fri. 8:30 a.m. - 5 p.m.

or in the

Records and Registration Office
University Library, Rm. 104
Mon. - Thurs. 5 p.m. - 7 p.m.
Sat. (Sept. 8 - 29) 10 a.m. - 1 p.m.

Payment may be made by cash (until 5 p.m.), check, VISA, or MasterCard.

DCE DIVISION OF CONTINUING EDUCATION
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AT AMHERST

Duke Ellington Committee
UPC PRODUCTIONS

BLACK UHURU

WITH SLY DUNBAR & ROB SHAKESPEARE
REGGAE AND SPECIAL GUEST

WED.
SEPT. 19
S.U.B.
UMASS

STUDENTS $9.50
PUBLIC $11.50

tix on sale sept 7

UMass ID required to enter with Student ticket

Tickets on sale at Fine Arts Center, Springfield Civic Center, and Stop & Shop locations in Northampton, Holyoke, Greenfield and Pittsfield.
No cans, bottles, cameras or recording devices.

Hypercurricula

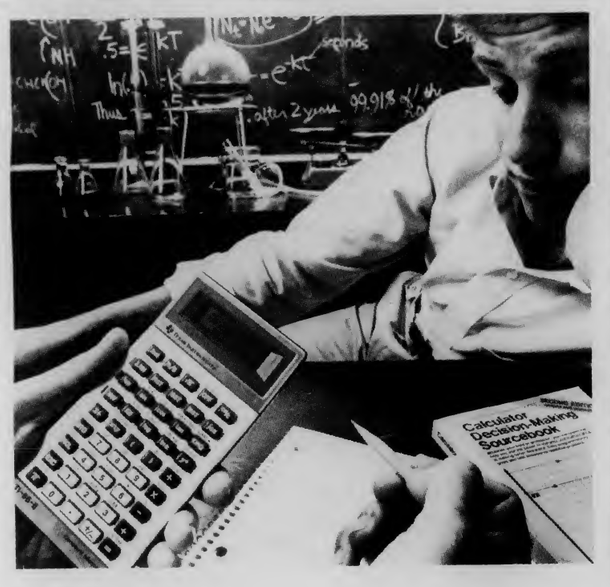
WSYL RADIO /ST MEETING — Mandatory meeting for sift assignments for old and new members (freshpeople welcome). On the agenda: WSYLbenefit at SUB — security and publicity people needed. 7:30p.m. at Cashin basement rec room.

E.M.T. CLASS — Become and emergency medical technician course includes state registry exam. Runs Tuesday and Thursday nights. Attendance mandatory. Come and ask questions. 6:30p.m. and 161 Morrill South.

UPC GENERAL MEETING — Help bring rock concerts to UMass! Come find out what UPC is all about. Join the largest student organization on campus. Everyone is welcome! 8:30p.m. at CC163.

Student Health Advisory Board
First Fall Meeting
Wed. Sept. 12th at 5:30 pm
Room 302 Univ. Health Services

SHAB is the Student Health Advisory Board whose members are the official liasions between the University Health Services and the students. Care to get involved? If you are a student and have enrolled in the basic health plan you can join SHAB.



Get to the answers faster.
With the TI-55-II.

What you need to tackle the higher mathematics of a science or engineering curriculum are more functions – more functions than a simple slide-rule calculator has.

Enter the TI-55-II, with 112 powerful functions. You can work faster and more accurately with the TI-55-II, because it's preprogrammed to perform complex calculations – like definite integrals, linear regression and hyperbolics – at the touch of a button. And it can also be programmed to do repetitive problems without re-entering the entire formula.

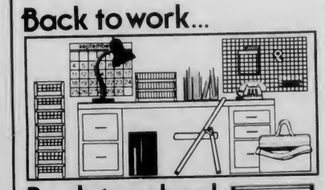
Included is the Calculator Decision-Making Sourcebook. It makes the process of using the TI-55-II even simpler, and shows you how to use all the power of the calculator.

Get to the answers faster. Let a TI-55-II show you how.

TEXAS INSTRUMENTS
Creating useful products and services for you.

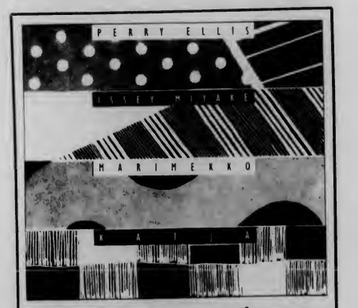
© 1983 Texas Instruments

Back to work...



Back to school

Back to ESSENTIALS
Furniture, lighting, storage, stationery, desk accessories
THORNES MARKET, 150 MAIN ST., NORTHAMPTON



artful expressions
SHEETS AND TOWELS
Cedar Chest
Thornes Marketplace • 150 Main St. Northampton MA • 413-584-3860

Arts

Sean's Hope

By CHRISTINE D. MARINI
Collegian Staff

Have you been feeling powerless lately as if nothing you do has any effect upon the real world? If you have, you're certainly not alone. Many college students feel a sense of detachment of isolation, even. And that's a crying shame, because it's absolutely unnecessary. There are lots of ways to "connect" with the rest of humanity and enjoy the warmth, peace, and contentment of helping your fellow man. Heck, I'll give you a chance to help someone out right now.

No, I am not starting a cult or a commune. See the handsome young man at the right? That's UMass alumnus Sean McGuirk, who graduated in 1975 with a Bachelor of Science degree in Hotel, Restaurant and Travel Administration. The strange Wings of Fate, however, have blown him to a different course.

The 6'1", 175 lb., blue-eyed blond, shortly after graduation, moved to New York City and enrolled at the American Academy of Dramatic Arts, following, like so many others, dreams of stardom.

Since then Sean (who sings as well as acts) has performed in numerous Off-Broadway theaters and New York nightclubs specializing in musicals and revues. He's also performed the leads in top-flight dinner theater productions and summer stock companies throughout the East Coast. Some of his many credits include Sky Masterson in "Guys and Dolls", Frank Butler in "Annie Get Your Gun", and Lt. Joe Cable in "South Pacific." Why, this versatile performer even appeared in Ghostbusters!

Here's where you and I come in. After working hard and balancing on the edge of stardom for so long, Sean McGuirk has a chance for regular work but only if we help. Sean is currently appearing as Simms the butler on the popular ABC-TV soap "Ryan's Hope." The role of Simms marks his national daytime television debut. The role starts out as an "under five" (which means five lines or less per episode) and depending upon the producer, writers, and viewing public's support, has the potential to develop into a featured character.

Sean's (or Simms") scheduled air dates thus far include September 10 (that's today!!!) 13,14,17,18,19,21,24, and 25. Now here's what you can do to help this deserving UMie. Catch "Ryan's Hope (it airs at 12:30 p.m. on Channel 40) and evaluate Simms. If you think he deserves a break, drop a line to his producers (address below) or, even easier, clip and sign the one below and send it in.

Dear "Ryan's Hope" producer(s):
I am a long-time fan of your program. Recently, I have noticed a new face in the case that of Simms the butler, played by Mr. Sean McGuirk. I have enjoyed his performances and believe that he shows great potential. Don't let this talented actor get away I'm sure another program would snatch him up in a minute if you did. Keep up the good work!

Sincerely,

(your name)

Mail this to: ABC-TV, 1330 Ave of the Americas, New York, N.Y., 10019, Attn: Simms the Butler.

It's as easy at that! Isn't it worth 20 cents to help out a fellow Umie? Come on HRTA people! Rally together, residents of Chadbourne and Johnson dormatories, where Sean lived while at Umass! Let's see Sean McGuirk join Richard Gere (who also attended UMass) on the list of successful UMass actors. Come on! Give it the old college try!

UMass alumnus Sean McGuirk

This is your final notice! Anyone interested in writing for the Collegian arts section, please come to a meeting tonight at 6:30 at the Arts desk in the Collegian offices, in room 113 of the Campus Center. We need writers to do reviews and features; in addition some assistant arts editorships are open. For more information, call the Collegian Arts department at 545-3500.

YOU'VE HEARD ABOUT US
NOW CHECK US OUT FRATERNITY RUSH

Alpha Delta Phi
395 N. Pleasant St.
545-3117
Tues. Sept. 11, 8-11
Wed. Sept. 12, 8-11
Thurs. Sept. 13, 8-1
Tues. Sept. 18, 8-11
Wed. Sept. 19, 8-11

Alpha Epsilon Pi
Campus Center
546-7051
Thurs. Sept. 13, 8-11
Wed. Sept. 19, 8-11

Alpha Tau Gamma
375 N. Pleasant St.
253-9974
Thurs. Sept. 13, 8-11

Beta Kappa Phi
388 N. Pleasant St.
253-9071
call for details

Delta Chi
118 Sunset Ave.
549-0482
Tues, Sept. 11, 9-11
Wed, Sept. 12, 9-11
Thurs, Sept. 13, 9-11
Tues, Sept. 18, 9-11

Delta Upsilon
778 N. Pleasant St.
549-3831
Tues, Sept. 11, 9-11
Wed, Sept. 12, 9-11
Tues, Sept. 18, 9-11
Wed, Sept. 19, 9-11

Lambda Chi Alpha
374 N. Pleasant St.
Tues, Sept. 11, 9-11
Wed, Sept. 12, 9-11
Thurs, Sept. 13, 9-11
Tues, Sept. 18, 9-11
Wed, Sept. 19, 9-11

Zeta Psi
23 Phillips St.
256-6845
Tues, Sept. 11, 9-11
Thurs, Sept. 13, 9-11
Tues, Sept. 18, 9-11
Thurs, Sept. 20, 9-11

Phi Mu Delta
14 Elm St.
256-6802
call for details

Phi Sigma Kappa
510 N. Pleasant St.
256-6863
call for details

Pi Kappa Alpha
418 N. Pleasant St.
545-2150
Mon, Sept. 10, 9-11
Tues, Sept. 11, 9-11
Wed, Sept. 12, 9-11
Mon, Sept. 17, 9-11
Tues, Sept. 18, 9-11

Sigma Phi Epsilon
70 Butterfield Terr.
545-2711
call for details

Theta Chi
496 N. Pleasant St.
253-9015
call for details

CALCULATOR CENTER

Basic Business Scientific

This powerful 54-function calculator performs the most-needed slide rule functions as well as pi, factorial and statistics. A liquid crystal display with scientific notation lets you work easily with even the smallest or largest of numbers.

Built-in statistical capabilities include data entry, mean and standard deviation for both sample and population data. Versatile 4-key Constant Memory™ feature lets you store, recall, sum, and exchange memory with display.

The Student Calculator Math Book offers even more information about calculator mathematics, and is filled with how-to problems, puzzles and games. Also included are a detailed owner's manual and vinyl carrying case.

TI-35 Student Math Kit
Problem-solving kit with TI-35 scientific calculator.

$19.95
List $22.00

Located in the Campus Center

Open M-F 9-5
Sat 11-4

UNIVERSITY STORE

Pi Kappa Alpha

OPEN RUSH

We are. . .
- Greek area intramural softball and football champs
- the fraternity that does not haze
- the house that raised over 60,000 for Multiple Sclerosis

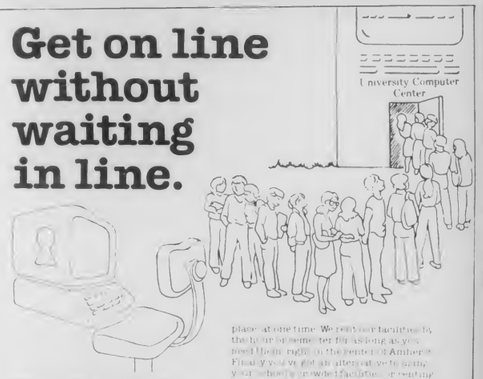
RUSH PARTIES
Mon. Sept. 10 at 9 pm
Tues. Sept. 11 at 9 pm
Wed. Sept. 12 at 9 pm
Mon. Sept. 17 at 9 pm
Tues. Sept. 18 at 9 pm

Pi Kappa Alpha

TEL. 545-2150

★★★★★★★Free Refreshments★★★★★★★

Get on line without waiting in line.



"Unbelievable!"

It's not unbelievable that you can get your homework done on your own computer. It's unbelievable that you have to wait in line to get it done. And it's unbelievable that you have to pay a fortune to get it done.

That's unbelievable unless you've never been to the new CAC at the Computer Access Center.

16 chairs, no waiting!

The Computer Access Center has enough workspaces at tables everywhere you turn to do all your computer work in one place at one time. We rent our facilities by the hour, by semester or for as long as you need them, night or day, in the center of Amherst. Finally you've got an alternative to using your school's crowded facilities or renting a terminal for the whole semester.

The Access Center has it all. It's packed to the rafters with computers and terminals, complete modem systems that allow you to tie in to Cyber, VAX or any other mainframe that you have the access code for, on site letter quality and dot matrix printers for instant printouts, and experienced and knowledgeable computer pros always on duty to help you.

Of course, the best part of all at Computer Access Center you don't have to waste precious time standing in line. Now you can plan ahead and reserve time on a terminal that will be waiting just for you.

So what are you waiting for? Call today and see for yourself how easy and inexpensive renting time on a computer can be.

COMPUTER ACCESS CENTER INC.
ON SITE HOURLY/SEMESTER RENTALS 256-1213
294 Silfuh Pleasant Street Amherst MA (in left rear of Peter Pan terminal building)
Mon - Thurs 9 am - 10 pm Fri - Sat 9 am - 6 pm Sun 10 am - 6 pm

2 FREE HOURS OF COMPUTER TIME!

Call today, mention this ad and use one of our computers for two hours at no cost!

Offer good during business hours Monday through Friday until October 15th

Know the Score... Read the Sports

BOSTON GLOBE - SPORTING NEWS - N.Y. TIMES

Red Sox, Yankees, UMASS Minutemen, Celtics, Patriots, Bruins, Whalers

Located in the Student Union

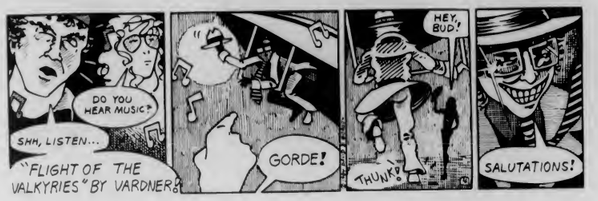
the Mini Store

Open M-F 7:30 am - 10 pm
Sat - Sun 8:30 - 10 pm

BLOOM COUNTY by Berke Breathed

YOU'RE GOING WHERE?! TO DO WHAT?!
ATLANTIC CITY. TO BE IN THE 'MISTER AMERICA PAGEANT.' I'M 'MISTER BLOOM COUNTY.' REMEMBER?
"MISTER BLOO--"? THERE AIN'T NO SUCH THING!
WELL IF THERE WAS, I'D BE IT.
STEVE! THE MISTER AMERICA PAGEANT IS A CULTURAL DINOSAUR! IT PERPETUATES A SUPERFICIAL AND SILLY MASCULINE STEREOTYPE!
IT'S ALSO A SPRINGBOARD TO A FABULOUS NEW CAREER.
WHAT COULD POSSIBLY BE MORE FABULOUS THAN BEING A LAWYER?!
"THE LOVE BOAT" HERE I COME!
VROOM.!!

Gorde By Gorde



Underfoot By Joe Bradbury

Ultra Mass
E.L.M.
HELP!!
WHAM!
(Gulp!)... Godzilla you are SHUTDOWN! Go back to Japan and play with Mothra!
But this victory may be a short one as danger approaches from the rear...
HURRAY!

DARKENS COMIC STRIP BY DARKEN

Finish your spinach, dear....
No.
#1
Don't you want to be strong like Popeye?
No!
You know, there are people in Cambodia who would love that spinach!
Who cares?
You'll burn in Children's Hell if you don't eat that @#!$!! Spinach!!
Mommy!

Dear Freddy-Bob

By Roskey and Ashby

DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE

Edited by Trude Michel Jaffe

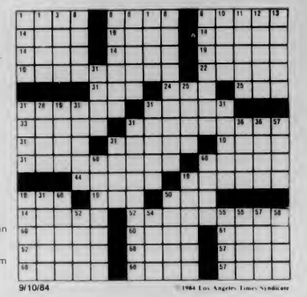
ACROSS
1 Take five
5 Do a carpenter's job
9 Roll call replies
14 Sask.'s neighbor
15 Sicilian peak
16 Soapwort
17 Caprine climber
18 Headed for home
19 Fireworks ingredient
20 After-dinner coffee
22 Rialto offering
23 Painting i.e.
24 One of the Reiners
26 Thus: Lat.
27 Fine fabric
31 Island of the Philippines
33 Eurasian range
34 Preppy's pet?
38 Unit of distance
39 Slanting
40 Parisienne's husband
41 Heritage
43 Old Roman calendar date
44 Elephant's luggage?
45 Circulate socially
46 Yes, no or maybe: Abbr.
49 Poetic preposition
50 Soda
51 Essential
53 Breakfast spread
59 Capital of Guam
60 Put-in-Bay's lake
61 Pearl Buck character
62 Nature writer Ernest Thompson
63 Lunch time
64 Small mountain pool
65 Tendency
66 Pastry tray item
67 Holds council

DOWN
1 Fridge foray
2 North Sea feeder
3 Prow
4 Get ready to take off
5 Port city in New Jersey
6 Trial of sorts
7 Wayside taverns
8 From the side
9 Satchel
10 Arab chieftain
11 Lists of persons
12 Varnish ingredient
13 Pinnacle of glacial ice
21 Kremlin press agency
25 Ignore
27 Type of truck
28 Cantata solo
29 Sweet treat, for short
30 On guard
31 Move like a siren
32 Senor's name
34 Penance
35 Distinctive flavor
36 City on the Oka
37 Greet the day
39 Manchurian border river
42 Killarney country
43 East Indian palm tree
45 Trice
46 Nautical term
47 West African country
48 Commonwealth
50 Abbot's aide
52 In a little while
54 Town near Caracas
55 Realtor's stock
56 Kirgiz mountains
57 Cupid's weapon
58 Danube tributary

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE:

F	L	I	B	S		O	G	G	I		T	R	A	M	S
A	R	I	E	A		C	U	R	S		H	E	L	O	T
T	A	L	L		T	A	I	L	E	S		E	X	T	R	A
E	N	A	T	E		A	G	U	E		S	A	R	I
		E	X	A	G	G	E	R	A	T	I	O	N
P	L	I	N	T	H			A	P	O
E	A	T		T	R	I	A	E		E	U	R	U	S
L	I	E	D	E	T	E	C	T	O	R	I	S	T
T	R	A	I	N		S	T	A	G		O	F	E
		A	V	E			R	E	P	O	R	T
S	T	O	R	Y	T	E	L	L	E	R	S
N	E	R	I		E	L	I	A		E	Y	R	A	S
I	R	I	S	H		F	A	B	R	I	C	A	T	E
F	I	R	E	T	S		I	N	E	E		L	I	K	E
F	A	I	L	S	E		N	E	I	L	L		O	L	A	N

9/10/84



9/10/84 ©1984 Los Angeles Times Syndicate

Today's DC Menu

LUNCH

Diplomat Sandwich
Squash Bake

BASICS LUNCH

Caponata with Pocket Bread
Squash Bake

DINNER

Roast Top Round of Beef/Gravy
Fried Shrimp Dinner/Cocktail Sauce, Tartar Sauce
Italian Garden Plate

BASICS DINNER

Garbanzo Cheese Loaf/Mushroom Sauce
Fried Shrimp Dinner/Cocktail Sauce, Tartar Sauce

Today's Weather

Today's Weather
Partly sunny, increasing cloudiness in the afternoon. Chance of showers in the evening and Tuesday. Highs in the low 60s.

Don't miss the first Collegian Recruitment Meeting

8 pm. tonight in Campus Center, room 168-70 (in the basement, near the Collegian offices)

All aspiring journalists and writers welcome!!!

UMass... 15 years ago today

15 years ago today, Wednesday, September 10, 1969.

Out of Washington came news that student protests on college campuses were beginning to affect the draft.

The Defense Department announced a reduction in the coming months of the draft in an effort to ease student unrest.

Construction continued on the Curry Hicks "Cage" as a new roof was added to the building.

Long lines jammed Boyden gymnasium as registration continued for the first week of classes.

FAMOUS LAST WORDS
FROM FRIENDS TO FRIENDS.

"Are you OK to drive?"
"What's a few beers?"

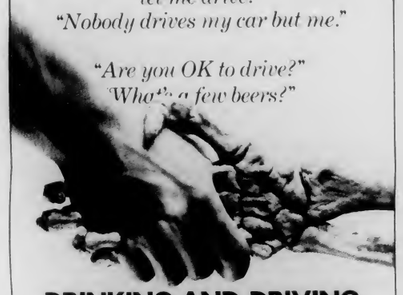
"Did you have too much to drink?"
"I'm perfectly fine."

"Are you in any shape to drive?"
"I've never felt better."

"I think you've had a few too many."
"You kiddin, I can drive with my eyes closed."

"You've had too much to drink, let me drive."
"Nobody drives my car but me."

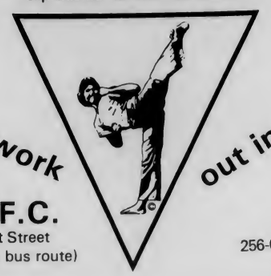
"Are you OK to drive?"
"What's a few beers?"



DRINKING AND DRIVING
CAN KILL A FRIENDSHIP.

U.S. Department of Transportation Ad Council

FREE KARATE FREE
clip this ad for one free lesson



Best work out in town

K.H.F.C.
460 West Street
Amherst (on bus route)
256-0080

Are you Jewish and wondering how to respond to challenges from Christians, to traditional Judaism?
Are you interested in knowing more about how Judaism understands the Bible?
Would you like to learn about the traditional Jewish beliefs in the Messiah, afterlife, reward and punishment?
Then this course is for you
JEWISH RESPONSES TO CHRISTIANITY
Judaic Studies 191 G
Thursdays at 8:00 PM - Herter
For information and registration call
Chabad House 253-9040 or Hillel

PARTICLE BOARD SHELVING
3/4" x 12" x 96" each only
3.95

DARK CORK BULLETIN BOARDS
12" x 24" x 1/8" imported natural cork by Mastion
BOX OF 4
now only
$3.89

MIRROR TILE
With Mounting Tapes
Pkg of 6 only $6.19

COMS BUILDING SUPPLY INC
125 Sunderland Road, North Amherst
549-0001 Major Credit Cards Accepted
Mon.-Fri., 7 a.m. to 5 p.m.; Sat., 8 a.m. to 3 p.m.

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIED

Monday - Thursday 8:45 - 3:45 • Friday 8:45 - 2:30 • Cash in advance • 5 consecutive days 5% discount • 10 consecutive days 10% discount • 15 consecutive days 15% discount • phone number free

ADVERTISING

Advertise FREE in the RIVER VALLEY AD Advertise items you want to sell or buy. Call 532-9498

ATTENTION WE'RE HIRING DJ'S

RACK A DISC RACK A VIDEO is hiring DJ's. Send resume to PO Box 48, Amherst MA 01004

AUTO FOR SALE

1979 Dodge Omni 4-door, standard, cloth upholstery, lots of extras, excellent shape, no rust 82190 or best offer Phone 584-9468

Foxy Fiat X 1/9 completely reconditioned removable hardtop low miles 1977 must sell 2500 Larry 256-0080

ENTERTAINMENT

VIDEO VIDEO VIDEO Rack A Video entertainment giant 10 and 15 foot screens for dorms and Greeks MTV video music call 549-7144

Rack A Disc Rack A Video entertainment guaranteed events for Disc Jockeys Bands and Video Call 549-7144

Wicked and Wild DJ a audio and visual entertainment for the 80's 584-6712

MIDRANGE PRODUCTIONS Professional Disc Jockeys any occasion reasonable rates call 253-3981

FOR RENT

3 bedrooms on bus route Rechertown Center 323-7246 evenings

FOR SALE

Bed and/or Kitchen Set for sale Call 253-7854 Both good condition

Refrigerator 5 cu ft used 1 yr $90.00 253-2623 nights

SOUNDESIGN STEREO Originally $900 2 years old $469 Dresser $40 253-3982

Desk Set $50 or best offer call 256-0924 excellent condition

Hondo Electric Guitar $150 Westbury Amplifier $180 both excellent condition 586-7675 or 586-2815

Brand new 26 Kent bicycle must sell $75 or BO Michelle 545-0527

Panasonic AM-FM stereo portable cassette deck Detachable speakers, metal capability, five band graphic equalizer One year old $150 Barry 665-7928

Olivetti portable electric typewriter, erasing cartridge $125 or BO, Daniel 586-9305

For Sale refrigerator perfect for dorm $60 call 549-5836 evenings

Bed for sale $15 call 549-5806

3 ft Refrigerator holds plenty of food and beer, only $65 call 549-5862

FREE MEALS

Kitchen help needed in exchange contact Paul W at 253-9071

HELP WANTED

Earthfoods Restaurant is hiring for part-time positions 10 hrs week 3 50 hr Mandatory Mon night meeting 5-7 2 hrs committee work per week Highly motivated people please apply! We are an EOE and follow affirmative action. Pick up applications at kitchen around corner from ride board in Student Union

Interesting part-time opportunity for competent programmer experienced in Macro-11 or Macro-32 on PDP-11 or VAX. Small Amherst based company developing communications and realtime control software is looking for 10 hours a week for school year with possibility of intersession employment. Contact Bernie Volz PO BOx 746 Amherst MA 01004 send resume or 549-6994

Earn good money working flexible hours Harvest help needed to pick squash in Hadley near UMass. Call 549-0016 between 6-30 and 8 30 PM

Tenors Basses with sightsinging skills wanted Mount Holyoke Chapel Choir Eight Wednesday evenings, fibe Sunday mornings thru December $3 90/hr Auditon, 538-2343

Housepeople wanted to help serve meals weekdays weekends call Jean 549-0539

On campus non workstudy M F 7-12 AM call Diane st 6 3220 or Rev 549-1092

Drivers wanted for College Pizza Earn up to $8 an hour Must have own car Call 549-4527

Waitresses apply at Rusty Nail Wed thru Sun eves

Housepersons wanted for Sorority free meals in exchange for kitchen cleanup call 256-6874 ask for Renav

Utopia Spas part-time counter work Sat & Sun days and weeknights available payment $ + tubs end tan free contact: Ron 253-7727 11 am - 5 pm

Utopia Spas part-time hot tubs maintenance & cleaning work payment $ + tub and tan free contact: Ron 253-7727 11 am - 5 pm

Maintenance person wanted 2 hrs per day, Mon-Fri, mornings Duties include cleaning office and maintaining equipment Mechanical aptitude and workstudy required. Apply in person 10-11 Mon-Fri at 113 CC (Collegian office)

Expose Yourself Looking for student willing to donate the time to put an exciting mural on a boring dorm wall. Paint provided. Contact Greg DeSart 546-4036

Help wanted housecleaning, child supervision, occasional errands Wednesdays 1:30-5 $16/wk. Experience, references required. 253-7840

Newspaper deliverers needed in dorms. Early mornings 7 days/week. Good pay for short hours Call 253-7009

Wanted doorpersons for Northampton nightclub. 584-7771

P time, experience audio bkgrnd helpful Sound Co 201 N Pleasant Amherst

Tutor for Calculus 132 needed desperately Call Rob 546-1166

INSTRUCTION

Know your car. Basic Automobile Workshop 28 hours including classroom and shop Limited enrollment. 253-2098

LOST

One Santa Barbara Savings Bank book If found call Craig O'Bryant at 549-6048

Brown framed eyeglasses in brown pocket case Lost around Boyden Gym on 9/5. If found please call Mike at 549-6122

MOTORCYCLES

Honda 350 CL w fullface helmet only 7500 mi $400 Brad 545-2150

PERSONALS

PERFORMING ARTS DIVISION Music, Theatre, Dance Instruction Old Chapel/UMass 545-0519 Register by September 14

ATTENTION! Earn up to $500 in D.C. rebate while gaining access to fraternity meal plan. Call Jim Houston at 545-2150

Lori Snapper: A late Happy Birthday, love, your old Room!!

Marian & Toni Here's to a great semester! Jeanne

Andrea, Happy Belated Birthday Jeannie

Is it true you can buy jeeps for $44 through the U S government? Get the facts today! Call 1-312-742-1142 ext 5931-A Rich R 2106 I love you!

CONTACT LENSES REPLACED Most brands $20 + $25 Dr Spencer University Drive 256-8581

RIDE WANTED

Grad student wants ride to/from Boston on Thursdays during fall term. Share expenses Doug 584-5720

ROOM WANTED

Quiet responsible senior business major, willing to share a room, very easy to get along with. Please call at 253-7200 if you have any room

ROOMMATE WANTED

Female to share double rm in Puffton non-smoker call 549-0388

One female Mosiem to share a room in a fully furnished apt in Brittany Menor from Sept - JUne 1985 rent 127 50 (heat included) call Su or Jas at 256-0873

Wanted female roommate for Brandywine apartment 549-1669

Two bedrooms in basement of house. Come to 157 East Hadley Road - male or female accepted 256-0094

Wanted Roommate, female, to share bedroom in Southwood apt; prefer nonsmoker please call 253-3619

WSYL RADIO

First meeting Monday 9/10! Mandatory meeting for new shift assignments new members encouraged to attend Cashin Rec Room 7:30

ATHLETIC TRAINER
Amherst College seeks a (student) for the fall season. Individual must be dependable with first aid background and taping experience.
Contact Stan Zieja
542-2363 days.

How the AP Top 20 fared this weekend

1. Miami, Fla. (2-1) lost to Michigan, 22-14
2. Nebraska (1-0) defeated Wyoming, 42-7
3. Clemson (2-0) defeated Virginia, 55-0
4. UCLA (1-0) defeated San Diego St., 18-15
5. Texas (0-0) did not play
6. Ohio State (1-0) defeated Oregon State, 22-14
7. Notre Dame (0-1) lost to Purdue, 23-21
8. Auburn (0-1) did not play
9. Alabama (0-1) lost to Boston College 38-31
10. Iowa (1-0) defeated Iowa State, 59-21
11. Penn State (1-0) defeated Rutgers, 15-12
12. Arizona State (1-0) defeated Oklahoma State, 45-3
13. Brigham Young (2-0) defeated Baylor, 47 13
14. Michigan (1-0) defeated Miami, Fla., 22-14
15. SMU (0-0) did not play
16. Oklahoma (1-0) defeated Stanford, 19-7
17. Pittsburgh (0-1) did not play
18. Boston College (2-0) defeated Alabama, 38-31
19. Washington (1-0) defeated Northwestern, 26-0
20. Florida State (1-0) did not play

Some of our classrooms aren't classrooms.

1. Marksmanship - Instruction in basic rifle marksmanship. Includes range and safety procedures, firing positions, techniques of firing, competitive firing and record qualification. (fall & spring semester)

2. Bay State Rangers - Intensive training and field exercises, to include small unit tactics, patrolling, land navigation (night and day), rappelling, airmobile operations, leadership reaction courses, field problem tests, physical conditioning, and practical leadership experience. (fall & spring semester)

3. Orientation Trip to West Point - Weekend visit to USMA with a look at academic military and social life of an alternative officer producing program for the U.S. Army; review a parade and attend a home football game. (fall semester)

4. Field Training Exercise to Fort Devens - Weekend visit to an active Army post. Orientation to life on a military installation with emphasis on visiting facilities (museum, commissary, PX, family quarters, troop billets, open mess) and an introduction to M-16 familiarization firing and the sport of land navigation. (fall semester).

5. Mountaineering - Instruction in rope management, knots, rope bridges, rappelling, and rock climbing techniques. Advanced student may progress to more challenging individual climbs. Includes a bivouac and overnight exercise. (fall & spring semester)

6. Cold Weather Survival - Attendance at a U.S. Navy 4½-day winter survival school in Brunswick, Maine. Instruction includes shelter building, food and water procurement, edible vegetation, terrain association, snowshoeing, emergency signaling, and land navigation. (intersession)

7. Color Guard - Participate in area parades and with University Band at home football games. Includes precision drill, the manual of arms, and movements with colors. (fall semester)

8. Physical Readiness - A structured program designed to progressively improve individual conditioning. Includes conditioning drills, running exercises, competitive group conditioning activities, and fitness tests. (spring semester)

9. Land Navigation - Progressive land navigation training, beginning with a basic/familiarization land navigation course and ending with a land navigation course that will challenge the most competent navigator (fall semester)

For More Information Contact:
Major James C. Mahoney
545-2321/2322

ARMY ROTC.
BE ALL YOU CAN BE.

★ Hockey

Continued from page 16

"It was hairy," Hixon said. "I don't think we were ready." With Virginia leading 2-0, UMass woke up. Donnelly scored off a penalty corner with 10 minutes gone in the second half and Judy Morgan followed 10 minutes later on a direct shot. Donnelly assisted on the goal.

Kennedy then took a pass from Moryl and nailed the game winner with 46 seconds to go. UMass outshot Virginia 24-7.

"If we are going to give up a goal, and its inevitable with the new rule (shoot from anywhere on the field instead of just the circle) then we better had be able to score on the other end," Hixon said.

"We have the potential to score, now it's just execution."

And Hixon would like to see it before UMass is down 2-0.

pro scores

Baseball

Kansas City 6, Seattle 5
Boston 10, New York 1
Detroit 7, Toronto 2
Texas 9, Minnesota 3
New York 5, Chicago 1 (NL)

Football

Miami 28, New England 7
New York 28, Dallas 7

Fine Arts Center Concert Hall seeks UMass students with sound mixing and set up experience. Apply in person, Production Service Office Rm 146 FAC

BODY SHOP
Exercise Facilities
sign up at NOPE and Boyden
still only
$45.00
Come in NOW for a Free Workout during Sign-Up hours
Boyden - NOPE
8 am - 9 am
11 am - 1 pm
4 pm - 6 pm
sign up now
sign up now
Workouts begin Sept. 10 thru Dec. 21

NOPE M-F 7:30-9 am 11-3 4-6 pm 7-9 pm Sat 1-4

open to students faculty & staff

• strength training
• aerobic fitness
• muscle testing
• body fat testing

Boyden M-F 7-9 am 12-1 pm 4-6 pm Sat 12-3

PLANT SALE

at UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS
date Monday through Thursday September 10-13
place Student Union Ballroom
time 10:00 AM — 4:00 p.m.
sponsor Inter Fraternity Council

QUALITY PLANTS AT LOW PRICES!

BROUGHT TO YOU BY:
FALL BROOK FARM
821 Union Street
Leominster, Mass

Sports

There will be a meeting for anyone interested in writing for the Collegian sports staff on Monday at 4:30 in the newsroom. The Collegian offices are in the Campus Center, room 113. All staff members must attend.

Lehigh flies past UMass, 21-14

4th quarter rally falls just short

By Peter Abraham
Collegian Staff

University Of Massachusetts fans couldn't even drown their sorrows.

The outlawing of kegs at tailgates in P lot added another irritation to a frustrating day for Minutemen football fans as UMass fell to Lehigh University, 21-14 before 11,871 at alumni Stadium on Saturday.

Engineer quarterback Marty Horn passed for 386 yards with a 28 of 50 day. He set a Lehigh game record for yardage and passing attempts, and broke UMass defensive records for passes completed and yardage.

The Minutemen, 1-1 on the young season, had a last second gasp for life when quarterback Jim Simeone (18 for 35, 157 yards) lofted a desperation bomb into the endzone intended for his brother Bob with no time left. A gang of Lehigh defenders mugged Simeone away from the ball to end the game.

"We needed to stop them and we couldn't," said UMass defensive coach Jim Reid, whose beleagured unit allowed 450 yards of total offense. "Give credit to Horn, we couldn't get our hands on the ball because of him."

Horn was magnificent. The junior used all of 39 seconds to put the first Lehigh touchdown on the board with a 61 yard drive.

Starting at the Lehigh 39, Horn tossed a 23 yard pass to tight end Bob Jeffries before hooking up with his favorite target, split end Rennie Benn, his high school teammate.

Benn outran the overmatched UMass secondary and hauled in a 38 yard touchdown pass. A PAT by Dave Melick made it 7-0.

Collegian photo by David P. Dreuber

UMass quarterback Jim Simeone (16) feels the pressure against Lehigh, Saturday at Alumni Stadium. The Minutemen lost 21-14 to the Engineers.

UMass - Lehigh

Lehigh	7	7	7	0	-	21
UMass	0	0	0	14	-14

First Downs: Lehigh 25, UM 15
Total Yards: Lehigh 450, UMass 283
Third Down Conversions: Lehigh 12 of 22, UMass 6 of 19
Passing: Lehigh 28-50, 386, Umass 18-35, 157
Rushing: Lehigh 88, UMass 150
Return Yards: Lehigh 16, UMass 25
Punting: Lehigh 5-146, UMass 9-290
Sacks By: Lehigh 2 for 14 yards, Umass 3 for 14 yards
Possesion Time: Lehigh 29:08, UMass 30:52

Individual Statistics:
Passing: (UM) J. Simeone (18-35, 157, 0, 0) (L) M. Horn (28-50, 0,1.)
Rushing: (UM) F. Fay (17-71), G. Barnwell (14-58), J. Simeone (1-1). (L) Screck (17-31), D. Ertz (1₄-38).
Receiving: (UM) B. Simeone (6-81), P. Walsh (4-27), J. Crowley (4-23). (L) R. Benn (9-134), B. Jeffries (8-104) T. Melton (5-99)

A Peter Schrech run of one yard and a Horn one-yard plunge made it 21-0 before the Minutemen started playing football.

After three quarters of offensive muddling UMass took to the air in the fourth quarter, with good success.

Junior fullback Frank Fay continued his one-man scoring machine (he has all three of UMass' offensive touchdowns this season) dive with 11:31 left in the game. The play capped a 75 yard drive highlighted by passes of 32 and 14 yards to Bob Simeone from Jim.

Lehigh freshmen punt-returner Sean Pitzer then onliged the sun-drenched partisans by fumbling a punt during the next Umass series which was recovered by sophomore Peter Montini on the Lehigh 24.

Seven running plays later, Fay drove in from the two. A George Papoutsidis kick drew UMass within seven, 21-14.

The Minuteman defense forced Lehigh to give it up on downs with 1:37 to play. Simeone drove UMass from its 27 to the Lehigh before heaving the final pass.

"At least we had a chance at the end, that's good," said UMass coach Bob Stull after his first loss as a head coach.

"We dug ourselves into a big hole. They had great concentration. If we are to win any games, Jim (Simeone) has to play well, better than he did today."

Fay gained 71 yards for UMass in his second consecutive solid effort, but the UMass passing game was inefficient until the final quarter.

UMass had only six first downs in the first half and only 44 yards through the air, despite having the ball only a minute less than the Engineers.

For the game, UMass gained only seven first downs passing (Lehigh had 20) and ended up holding the ball almost two minutes more. The "opened-up" offense of Stull promised to install didn't click until the final period, and was helped by the fumble.

The defense? Let a man who knows it explain it.

"We gave up about 100 yards on the ground (actually 68) and about 9,426,000 through the air," said Reid with a laugh. "He (Horn) just killed us."

The Minutemen have two weeks to prepare for Holy Cross, another team with a good quarterback, and a good running back (Pete Muldoon and Gil Fennerty respectively), a much better team, on paper, than either Ball State or Lehigh.

"We can play better, I know we can," said Stull. "Its just a matter of doing it."

Do it they must, or it may be another long season for UMass.

Field Hockey splits to open season, Virginia falls 3-2 after comeback

By GERRY deSIMAS
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts field hockey has developed a very nasty habit in their first two games, and it makes head coach Pam Hixon very nervous.

In games against eight-ranked North Carolina (in the pre-season polls) on Friday night at Springfield College and on Sunday morning against unranked Virginia, the Minutewomen fell behind 2-0.

On Sunday, the fifth ranked Minutewomen had freshmen Tonia Kennedy score with 0:46 seconds to go to give UMass a 3-2 win over Virginia. But on Friday, the tar Heels held off some intense UMass pressure to prevail 2-1.

"We're hoping that this will not become a pattern (falling behind), "Hixon said. We have to do something to get ourselves out of the gate faster."

Against UNC Friday night at Benedum Field, Norht Carolina dominated the first 15 minutes of the contest and rode goals by Betsy Gillespie and Judith Jonckleer to a 2-0 halftime lead.

Donnelly brought the game within reach converting enalty stroke at the 17:40 mark of the second half. The penalty stroke was called after UNC goalie Jane Miles sat on the ball with three UNC and three UMass players fighting for it.

"As the game went on, we took more and more control of the game," Hixon said, " and we didn't let them do the things they did in the first half." Shots on goal were even after the first half 8-8 but UMass out shot UNC 16-1 and the second half.

"They were tested out there. The more they played the better we got. In the first game you hope for the best," Hixon said.

UMass allowed just two shots on goal for the rest of the game. Junior goalie Kathryn Rowe, who played the entire UNCgame, was replaced by freshman Lynn Carlson midway through the first half eith Virginia up 2-0.

Continued on page 15

Collegian photo by Andy Heller

Field hockey coach Pam Hixon gives instructions to Pam Moryl

sports at a glance

UMass schedule: There are no sports scheduled for today.
Upcoming: Tuesday: Soccer, home vs. BU, 3:30. Water Polo, home vs. Amherst, 3:30.

For professional baseball and football scores and college football Top 20 results, see page 15.

connected with the Collegian for the sole purpose of distribution

Monday, September 10, 1984 Volume 13 Issue 1

WELCOME BACK
Fall 1984

by Segun Eubanks
Nummo Staff

First of all, on behalf of NUMMO NEWS, The Office of Third World Affairs, CCEBMS, BCP, and all the Third World organizations on the UMass campus and in the 5-College area we would like to welcome all of you to what we hope will be a very productive and positve semester - Fall 1984.

To the returning students, we hope that your summer vacation was an excellent one and that your academic efforts and successes will continue. To the Freshman class, we would like to offer a very special welcome to this area which, although filled with shortcomings and pit-falls, is prepared to offer you ideas, programs, opportunities and friendships which you may never again get the chance to take advantage of.

The first week of our new semester has been, as usual, a very busy one. A week to schedule and reschedule classes, to get aquainted and reaquainted with the University and of course to get the run-around from Oscar and the Whitmore Administration building. Hopefully, as we begin the second week of Fall 1984, the academic, financial and housing problems that most of us encounter are settling down and we can begin to work toward taking care of business.

Of course we must remember that we are not starting from scratch. While most of us were at home enjoying the summer fun, some Brothers and Sisters such as; Sherwood Thompson (OTWA), Rick Townes (CCEBMS), Chester Davis (Afro-Am), Marilyn Bou and John Rudduck (Third World Caucus), Yadira Betances (Black Affairs), Chris Winslow (BMCP), Dwight Tavada (MEP), Phil Cheung and Bobby Tam (AASA), Delphine Quarles (Student Activities), Roberta Uno-Thelwell (NTWS), Rev. Robin Harden (UCF) and many others, have been working hard all summer to make this year a successful one for all of us.

Our challenge for the coming semester/year is to assure that the work done by these Brothers and Sisters has not been in vain. I'm sure alot of you attended the 5th Annual Jeans and T-Shirt affair on Saturday and had a great time. We must remember that this event was made possible through the effort and hard work of many people. And without our cooperation and participation its success would not have beeen possible.

The Jeans and T-Shirt Affair is but one sample of the many exciting events and activities to come, none of which will be successful without all of our work, cooperation and participation.

Our responsibility begins of course with academic effort and achievement in the various areas of concentration within the University. However, we must realize that academics is just one aspect of our college education. There are many other variables to be taken into account before our "education" can be complete.

First we must be very aware of the history and circumstances which have made it possible for us to be here. We, as Third World students, are at the University, not through gratitude or pity but through struggle and sacrafice by students and staff who came before us. The Malcolm X Center, New Africa House, Afro-American Studies department and others are not here through chance but through the struggle and sacrafice just mentioned. And if we begin to take these all important resources for granted they will quickly dissappear or be taken away.

Second, we must be aware of the fact that Racism, oppression and discrimination both exsist and are practiced right here at the University. Those of you who remember the Yvette Henry case (see future editions of Nummo for updates) know that the atrocities of Racism can effect any of us at any time. For example, largely as a result of the Henry case, the University has proposed a new set of rules and regulations which would severely curtail our rights, priviledges, and powers as students. We must be aware that our rights will be protected not through apathy and ignorance but through communication, unity and struggle.

Thirdly, we must work together as a community to build and rebuild our resources so that not only us but those who come after us will have the opportunities that we now have. And in order to do this we cannot be spectators or onlookers but instead active participants and leaders. We must take control of our own destinies and not only work toward our individual success but also the succes and growth of our community.

Lastly, we must not allow self-defeatism to destroy our efforts. Negative attitudes, back-stabbing and gossip are very dangerous and can easily disrupt and divide our community. We have the ability to bring

WELCOME

Continued on page 2

All eyes are on actress/model Jayne Kennedy, who made an appearance at Price Chopper on Friday afternoon.

photo by Ed Cohen

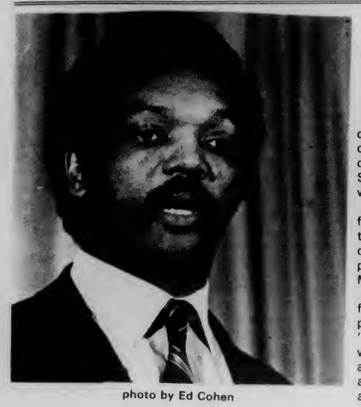

photo by Ed Cohen

Jesse Jackson Update:
The Democratic Convention

reprinted from the August Issue of The National Leader

By Ken Smilke

With one of the most memorable speeches delivered at the 39th Democratic National Convention, the Rev. Jesse Jackson brought his campaign for the party's presidential nomination to a spectacular end. As the 30,000 delegates in Mascone Center listened to the Chicago minister's emotionally charged sermon, many were moved to tears. It was Jackson's finest hour.

But even as his thundering address was being drowned in cheers and applause, some of Jackson's Black delegates were questioning exactly what the Rainbow Coalition could claim as a victory. They had come prepared to fight. Though Jackson asked that delegates vote for him on the first ballot as "a vote of conviction, a vote of conscience," many were displeased with the conciliatory tone of his remarks. Said one, "We weren't supposed to be coming here with hat in hand."

The Tally of tangible results for his supporter's efforts were perhaps best expressed by Jackson himself to a caucus of supporters prior to his convention address. "Your'e mad because the woman got a vice president, the South got Bert Lance, the West got Manatt, and you ain't got nothing."

Three of the four major planks set forth by Jackson for the party's platform were the elimination of runoff primaries, a cut in defense spending, and a pledge of "no first use" of nuclear weapons. All three planks were rejected by at least a 2-to-1 vote. A fourth plank asking for support of racial quotas was accepted only after it was changed to support of "goals, timetables and verifiable measurements."

Though Jackson is unilaterally credited with unifying the Democratic Party with his stirring words, the last days of his campaign seemed lackluster, politically, when compared with prior accomplishments.

When Mondale named Geraldine Ferraro as his choice for vice president, some of the stuffing was knocked out of Jackson organization's clout. The attention of the convention shifted away from the mystery of Jackson's eleventh hour strategy and whether he would support the nominee. With the spotlight solidly focused on the first woman on a major party's ticket, Mondale looked less toward the support of Black voters and placed new hope in the numerical strength of America's women,

Black women, on the whole were the big losers in San Fransisco. No one from their ranks, despite recommendations from Jackson, was interviewed as a possible selection for the number two post. As the primary supporters for the Jackson planks, Black women were dealt a second blow when they were overwhelmingly rejected by the delegates.

Cardiss Collins, Congresswoman from Chicago, expressed the feelings of many others: "Black women will walk away from this convention with a lot of hurt feelings. Their intersts clearly weren't considered here."

The candidate and delegates were angered by Mondales's "lack of respect" toward Jackson, and threats to walk out heightened tensions. But the former Vice President swayed little from his steadfast position. In private meetings, he offered promised to appoint a Black national co-chair to his campaign. He told Blacks would be appointed to his Cabinet.

The distance between Jackson and Mondale, however remained. In his speech, Jackson conceded, "There is a time to compete and a time to cooperate." He also reduced, perhaps eliminated, the political liability with Jewish voters by asking forgiveness. "If in my low moments...I have caused anyone discomforts, created pain, or revived someone's fears, that was not my truest self."

The ball is now in Mondale's court. With Jackson saying he's prepared to campaign for the Democratic ticket, Black voters must be given something in exchange. The convention offered the best opportunity to demonstrate to Black America a desire to repay their patronage. It will be more difficult to attract Jackson sympathizers with promises of whgat will be done for them after January.

Jackson's future is bright, if uncertain. He will likely seek permission from the Soviet Union to visit Andrei Sakharov and attempt to negotiate his release. Now that he is no longer a candidate, foreign governments may be less cooperative than they were when Syria freed Navy Lt. Robert Goodman and Castro released 48 prisoners from Cuban jails.

N·A·A·C·P·- A rich history

by Julian Tynes
Nummo Correspondent

In June of 1905, William Edward Burghardt Dubois sent out a call to a select group of black persons for "organized determination and aggressive action on the part of men who believe in Negro freedom and growth." The group of 29 people who met in a small hotel in Niagara Falls in July of 1905 became known as the Niagara Movement

The Niagara Movement's goals were, equal voting rights, and complete social equality, for Blacks in America. To accomplish these goals the leaders of this organization published a "Declaration of Principles," which had been written by Dubois and Monroe Trotter, editor of the Boston Guardian. Both of these men felt that Blacks had to fight against injustice and racism. This policy was in direct conflict with the policy of moderation, which was in vogue at the time. The policy of moderation, which was publicly advocated by Booker T. Washington, was that Blacks were to become economically independent and in that way, earn equality.

As the Niagara Movement gained more followers the difference in philosophies between Dubois and Washington became readily apparent. While the Niagara Movement had the support of masses of Blacks who were excluded from any type of political activity Washington had the support and financial backing of a White philanthropist. Because of a lack of financial resources, (among other reasons) in 1909 the Niagara Movement ended. However it left a vital impact, many reformers felt there was a need for a permanent civil rights organization.

In January 1909, Henry Moskovitz a Jewish social worker, William English Walling a socialist southern journalist, and Mary Ovington (a rich nothern white) met together, and felt that if Whites were to join the members of Niagara Movement in a permanent organization much more could be accomplished. These three people contacted the members of Niagara Movement and "The Call" was sent out on the centennial of Abraham Lincoln's birthday. This message called for the convening of various peoples to form an organization to fight for civil rights. This organization became known as the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People or the N.A.A.C.P. The organizations stated purposes were "To promote equality of rights and eradicate caste or race prejudice among the citizens of the United States: to advance the interest of colored citizens: to secure for them impartial sufferage: and to increase the opportunities for securing justice in the courts, education for their children, employment according to their ability, and complete equality before the law."

To reach the peoples the N.A.A.C.P. published a preiodical under the editorial leadership of Dr. Dubois entitled "The Crisis'.

The Crisis became a mouthpiece for the organization. As a result of Dubois brilliant editorials, by the end of its first year, the Crisis had 12,000 readers. The circulation eventually rose to 100,000 a number unprecedented for a Black publication of that time period.

However for the N.A.A.C.P. the struggle had just begun as there was much hardship, trials, and tribulations down the road.

READ NUMMO

WELCOME

Continued from page 1

together the cliques, groups and sub-groups amoung us and to build a strong, viable community that will most assuredly be beneficial to all of us. There are many obstacles we must face during our stay here. If we allow ourselves to be the biggest obstacles we will never reach our full potential.

In closing, I would like to once again welcome you back to the University of Massachusetts and invite you to participate and take advantage of the many opportunities that the University has to offer. The future is very bright and if we reach for the light together we will surely catch a rising star.
Peace and Love,

NUMMO NEWS

• • • NUMMO STAFF • • •

Segun Eubanks — Editor In Chief
Andrea Baker — Business Manager
Nina Cordova — Typesetter
Yvonne Mendez — Layout Editor
Julian Tynes — Researcher
Judi Russ — Typesetter
Marc Elliot Giles — Photographer

• • • Contributors • • •

Ed Cohen — Photographer

Special thanks to Asian American Students Association, The Afro-American Studies Department, The Collegian, and the New World Theater Series

Address all leters to the Editor to: Nummo News, New Africa House Room 103

NWT: New Name, Same Excellence

The former Third World Theater at the University of Massachusetts has changed its name to THE NEW WORLD THEATER. The program was founded in 1979 as a showcase for the theatrical works of non-European peoples, a forum to spark discussion of current issues, and to broaden the cultural experience of its audiences. According to program director Roberta Uno Thelwell, a member of the UMass Theater Department faculty, "We felt a name change was timely because the program has grown beyond our original need to identify the type of theater we project. After five years, I think the community knows we offer a comparitive look at the various theaters of Black, Hispanic, Asian, and Native American peoples; however, theater-goers and actors have sometimes felt our former name indicated a separatist philosophy. Our new name more accurately reflects our reality as a multi-racial program and also our optimism about the future of the American theater.

Housed in the administrative offices of the University's Fine Arts Center, the New World Theater employs a multi-racial staff of fifteen student workers, interns, and volunteers, a part-time administrator and a full-time program director. In addition to presenting theater works by touring companies, the New World Theater stages two original productions yearly, providing a "laboratory" environment for students to receive training and experience. This multi-racial theater ensemble is cast each year from students attending the five-college and forms the core of an expanding actor pool for the New World Theater productions in the Valley. Auditions for the ensemble are held each September (see next weeks NUMMO for times and places).

Other aspects of the New World Theater include an internship program in areas of theater production and administration and a colloquium/workshop series.

The fall theater series, which marks the tenth season, will open with" Love To All, Lorraine", a touching drama based on the life of the late playwright, Lorraine Hansberry, author of "A Raisin in the Sun", on October 13. On November 17, the New World Theater presents "Life in the Fast Lane", starring Japanese-Hawaiian poet, Lane Nishikawa. The final production will feature the New World Ensemble in Miquel Pinero's "Short Eyes", a powerful look at racial tension inside a prison. The show will run November 29 through December 8 under the direction of Smith College faculty member, Patricia Gonzales, with assistant direction by Lee Elliot Hammond, a student at the University of Massachusetts.

POETRY

Now that silence is here and I have your attention,
Lend me all ears and empty minds...
Let me tell you this.
If you reasoning for being uninformed is a result of subjugation, desecration, trepidation or even startling realization, people there is no room for rationalization. The question I ask is "Haven't you heard?" One day while walking down the street, I approached a younger brother and asked him, "Haven't you heard?" He replied of course
"I've heard - that's the latest song by the Sugarhill Gang. I heard the word, you heard the word, they heard the word and everybody say Whoa!"
On another occasion I asked a very dear lady friend that same question,
"Haven't you heard?" She replied, "Sure I've heard about Luke and Laura on General Hospital and how Erica's divorcing Adam on All My Children."
It seems as if we spend too much time paying attention to those issues of lesser importance, while those issues which dictate my life and yours remain uncontested and unidentified. So tonight, when I ask you, Haven't you heard," what will you say?
As Dynasty and Flamingo Road glorify power, wealth and so much sex...no one sense the hex of 1984 which is now upon us.
Haven't you heard about the latest fashion in nuclear war? Not an atom bomb or a hydrogen bomb but a nuetron bomb that will completely destroy your enemy but still preserve your Jordache jeans?
Haven't you heard about hunger in the world the makes new born babies chew their tongues in El Salvador, Somalia and the Sahele? Or have you forgotten that a hungy man is an angry man?
Haven't you heard about the American Dream? Being unemployed and morally destroyed with double digit inflation and chronic violation of what you think is right - as we all strive to be professional.
Well can someone awake me from this American Dream for it is now a nightmare.

Haven't you heard that there's more to life that fast cars, bass guitars and punk rock bars that rock with perpetual motion?
Haven't you heard that the Price isn't Right? So come on down Amherst landlords, college tuition and rapid transit fares - for you see these are not items up for bid and as you can see I am not Bob Barker.
Haven't you heard about majority rule? Of course you have, that's the Democratic way - one man one vote. Well then, check out South Africa and tell me what's happening on the Mother Continent?

Has anyone heard the latest spelling for relief? Its no longer
R-O-L-A-I-D-S, but
R-E-V-O-L-U-T-I-O-N. But no one wants to listen... no one wants to take the time until it's too late. Yet I thank each and every one of you for giving me this time to share my message with you.
For those of you who haven't heard about some of the issues which I've already mentioned - then my friends - you haven't been listening.

Terry Waller

BLACK BROTHERHOODS DESTINY

As they reach out to meet thier destinies

They find themselves hanging on to the world

Never letting go, never reaching their destinations

Their destiny lies in the universe, under the moon

And over the and is theirs to fint the question why

They realize that every day is an extention of yesterday,

And if they could grab their destiny today, they would

But thier destiny is intertwined with our black brotherhood

Something that they never really understood

Been too preoccupied with pretty illusions to seek the truth

To find their destiny, so that it can do them some good

Give them some use

Now they have searched, and think that they have found

Our black brotherhod, that's gathered dust just lyig around

What does it mean, our black brotherhood?

I'll tell you, as they realized and relayed it to me.

Tony Robinson

Photos of the Week

ANNOUNCEMENTS

INTER-TRIBAL POW-WOW

Date: September 15th and 16th
Place: U.Mass Amherst
Inter-tribal Drummers and Singers
Prizes for Traditional and Fancy Dancing Contests
Traditional Crafts and Foods Speakers

Rain or Shine No Drugs or Alcohol

EVERYWOMAN'S CENTER

Counseling Program has position opened as Administrative Assistant

Duties include service requests, scheduling speakers and intake appointmentsassisting with research, and some supervisory responsibilities
ke

20 hr/week and work-study student preferred. Minority students are encouraged to apply

Application deadline is September 21,1984

EVERYWOMAN'S CENTER at are looking for volunteers and interns to staff the resourceroom at EWC for the fall
University and community woman are encouraged to apply. Interns and volunteers provide information about area services and events, medical and legal referrals, do occasional crisis intervention, and up-date and maintain resource and referral information on many topics of concern to woman

THIRD WORLD CAUCUS

The Third World Caucus will be having an introductory meeting for interested Umass students on Wednesday, September 12th at 6:00 in the Dukes Room, Student Union Bldg.
For more information call 545-2517 or come to the office of Third World Affairs, 308 Student Union Bldg

SUPPORT FOR GRADUATE WOMAN

WAGES a program at the Everywoman's Center has started a graduate program. Graduate WAGES will address the specific needs of graduate woman through support groups, workshops, speakers, social events, brown-bag lunches, resources and advocacy.
For more information contact Graduate WAGES at EWC, 545-0883

New courses offered by the Afro-American Studies Department

AFRO-AM 112
SCULPTURE:CLAY&PLASTER
Prof.Hill
MWF 9:05-11:00 NAH 01, lect. 2

AFRO-AM 113
AESTHETICS OF AFRO-AMERICA ART (C)
Prof.Stevens
TUTH 4:OO-5:15 NAH 109

AFRO-AM 155
REVOLUTIONARY CONCEPTS IN AFRO-AM MUSIC I
Prof. Shepp
MWF 12:20-3:20 NAH 311

AFRO-AM 157
RESEARCH&BIBLIOGRAPHY IN AFRO-AMERICAN STUDIES
Prof. Terry,Euge
MWF 2:30-3:20 NAH 110
AFRO-AM 197A
Prof. C Packard
MWF 10:10-11:00 NAH 302

AFRO-AM 212
SCULPRUTE: SHEET METAL
Prof.Hill
TUTH 1:00-3:45 NAH 01

AFRO-AM 297A
RACE&WHITE SOTHERN WOMEN WRITERS
Prof. Terry,Esther
TUTH 11:15-12:30 NAH 109

AFRO-AM 318
BLACK MUSIC AND THEATER
Prof. Shepp
THURSDAY 19:00-21:30 FAC 152

AFRO-AM 320
CONTEMPORARY BLACK URBAN EDUCATION
Prof. Davis
TUTH 11:15-12:30 NAH 315

AFRO-AM 331
THE LIFE WRITING OF W.E.B. DUBOIS
Prof. Meade
W&F 11:30-12:30 Smith College

YVONNE'S PLACE

Monday - Friday
12:30 - 6:30 pm
A sample of treats include:

Fried Chicken
Island Curried Fish
Vegitarian Platter
Fried Rice
Curry

Thursday - Friday
Student Discount Days

Lamb
Shrimp
Beef
Curried Goat
Free Dessert

Basement of the New Africa House
Friday is Soul Food day.
Coffee and Donuts are served daily.
WEST INDIAN COOKING AT ITS BEST!!

DESIGNED FOR STUDENTS IN LEADERSHIP POSITIONS ➞ ➞ ➞ ➞ ➞

NUMMO meeting - Today at

4pm 103 NAH

Paid positions available, work-study prefered but non W/S possible call 5-0061

Name of Course: Leadership Development for Volunteer Groups (H297B)
No. of Credits: 3
When: Tuesday 4-6:30 p.m.
Where: Machmer E-10
The course will be taught by the Director of Student Activities, Randy Donant. The format of the course will consist of experimential activities, group presentations and discussions as well as lecturettes.

The Massachusetts Daily NEW ENGLAND'S LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY

Collegian

Volume CXIV, Issue 72 UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AMHERST (545-3500) Tuesday, September 11, 1984

Bellotti says nuke-free acts weaken U.S.

By TOM MIDDLETON
Collegian Staff

The Nuclear Free Amherst Act was rejected because a state or political subdivision cannot by legislative act interfere with powers given to the United States government, according to Massachusetts Attorney General Francis Bellotti.

According to Bellotti's statement, if other communities passed legislation similar to the Nuclear Free Amherst Act, it would lead to a division and weakening of the nation. The federal government would lose control over foreign policy and would be deprived its war making power, according to the statement.

"Nothing in our by-law overrules the government's ability to conduct foreign policy," said Fran Fortino, one of the sponsors of the act. "Even if others did (pass a similar law) it still wouldn't mean that the government couldn't pass a law placing nuclear weapons in Amherst," he said. "I can only disagree with his (Bellotti's) decisions," he said.

Fortino said that any further action by the sponsors is "still up in the air." "We've left open all possibilities," he said.

The Nuclear Free Amherst Resolution passed Aug. 13 still stands. The resolution prohibits the production of nuclear weapons and their components within Amherst. It also directs the town manager to grant contracts whenever possible to companies which are not engaged in the production of nuclear weapons or components.

About the resolution, Fortino said, "I'm moderately happy. In comparison to the by-law, it leaves something to be desired."

"First, the resolution has nothing prohibiting town investment," he added. "Second, the restrictions on town purchases is somewhat watered down. This gives the town manager a lot of discretion."

In this case, "I trust the personalities involved," Fortino said. "It (the resolution) could be in practical terms, just as good" as the by-law.

"Essentially, it doesn't have as many teeth as the by-law would have," Fortino said.

Belletti's statement also asserted that sections of the Nuclear Free Amherst Act which would prohibit town contracts with companies producing nuclear weapons and parts, could be in conflict with Massachusetts public bidding laws.

Collegian photo by Pam Madnick

ASPIRING GREEN THUMBS — Unidentified students carrying a rubber tree and other foliage to their rooms from the Student Union Ballroomm, where the Inter-Fraternity Council is holding a plant sale this week.

Inside:

Coalition government in Israel.....p. 3

Students lobby to keep classes affordable.....p. 3

Nicaragua: another Chile in the works?.....p. 7

The loss of a UMass tradition.....p. 16

"Just because you're paranoid doesn't mean they're not out to get you."
— Woody Allen

Budget cuts for languages cancel classes

By NEAL O'SHEA
Collegian Staff

A clash between funding cuts for teaching assistants (TA's) and an increased demand for language classes has left 600 to 700 University of Massachusetts students unable to continue working on their language requirements this semester.

According to Murray M. Schwartz, Dean of Humanities and Fine Arts, the budget allotment for TA's is $200,000 for this year, which is $81,000 less than last year's funding.

"I regret we have had to turn students away from classes they have every right to expect," said Dean Schwartz, explaining that last year's budget had the extra money because he had asked for it from the Provost's and Chancellor's reserve funds.

Compounding the problem of a reduced budget is a "9 to 12 percent larger demand for language instruction...which is our version of a national trend," he said.

Some students have been moved to different sections or even different language classes altogether, but this still leaves a large number of students out of their language classes for this semester.

he French and Spanish Depts. have been hit hardest, although Classics classes are being strained as well, Schwartz said.

Professor Dennis Porter, chairman of the French and Italian Departments, said that newcomers to those programs might have to choose another, less crowded language.

Professor Porter said twelve of the original 75 French and Italian classes for this semester have been eliminated. This shut out just under 300 students, or 12 percent of those preregistered.

"I assumed level funding from last year, but we received $20,000 less", Porter said. "That money would have paid for four or even five TA's in the French/Italian Dept."

Professor Harlan Sturm, chairman of the department of Spanish and Portuguese, said that five sections are gone due to budgetary cuts, although some schedule shifting is normal every semester. He said 100 to 150 students in his department have been cut.

Sturm added that 75 of 130 sections in Spanish and Portuguese are taught by TA's, with the 100level elementary classes losing the most sections.

Professor Ed Phinney, chairman of the Classics Department, said he has one less TA this semester, resulting in four sections being cancelled. Phinney said "enrollments have always outpaced our ability to handle them" and added that the increase in interest in languages has taxed his department to the point of needing another faculty member. The current Classics faculty numbers eight.

Dean Schwartz said he is working to accomodate students as much as possible for spring 1985. "I hope they (the Provost and the Chancellor) see the reality of the situation," once their reserve funds were the source of last years extra $81,000 that paid for the TA's, he said.

Schwartz said there was one benefit involved with the current budgetary structuring— the full financing of the Writing Program, which affects a larger number of students.

Students living off campus may pay some dormitory fees

By LAURA YEE
Collegian Staff

Off-campus residents at the University of Massachusetts may end up paying more than their share if the administration reconstructs student fees so that all students are required to help pay for room and board.

A percentage of all student fees are used to pay debt service. Debt service is used to pay back bond holders from whom the University has borrowed money to construct and maintain buildings.

John L. DeNyse, vice chancellor of administration and finance, has proposed combining the percentage of debt fees taken from room and board to make a single fee which would be assessed to all students.

The burden of the debt service is currently shared equally by all students, although a large percentage of debt service is taken from the resident hall fee, said Student Government Association co-President Jim Keller.

The reconstructing of student fees is part of a proposal to raise about $64 million in funds by issuing long term bonds for the University to repay. Twenty one million dollars of this would be used for a capital improvement project to address major deferred maintenance needs targeted at the Campus Center and garage, North Village housing, and the Curry Hicks Cage.

According to a memo from UMass President David C. Knapp to DeNyse, "the net impact of the fee reconstructuring would be to reduce on campus student fees by $161 and increase fees of off campus students by $153."

"Commuters would end up paying more if it (the proposal) goes through the way it is now'," Keller said. "The form of the University fee proposal does not tax students in just proportion to the amount of services they use."

But Keller added that Housing Director Joseph Zannini already predicts a $253 increase in housing which would "only save these students a total of about

"DeNyse's rationale for the increases is that you live on campus for two years and you live off campus for two years and it all comes out the same. But that's not true because a lot of students never move off campus and older students sometimes don't live in dorms," Keller said.

Continued on page 4

World and National News

Israeli Labor Party agrees to form coalition government

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — The Labor Party of Prime Minister-designate Shimon Peres agreed at a stormy meeting Monday to join the rival Likud bloc in a joint government rather than face the prospect of new elections.

The vote was 394-166 to back the agreement for bipartisan rule, which Peres reached last week with Likud's outgoing Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir.

In the face of repeated catcalls from the opponents to the agreement, Peres said he would rather quit as party chairman than reopen the six-week negotiations with Shamir.

"I would prefer to resign rather than pull back" from the agreement, he told a meeting of the party's Central Committee.

Labor's approval was the major obstacle threatening the pact between the two blocs. The new government could be installed Wednesday if Shamir also wins the expected approval by the Likud on Tuesday.

Peres disclosed details of the Likud-Labor accord.

-The pact guaranteed a national vote before relinquishing any territory in a peace settlement with Jordan.

-The new government "would not impose Israeli sovereignty on the West Bank and Gaza," which Israel captured in the 1967 war.

-Existing Jewish settlements in occupied territory would be developed but new settlements would need the approval of the whole Cabinet, giving Labor a virtual veto.

Earthquake in Pacific jolts San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A strong earthquake rumbled under the Pacific Ocean, sending two quick jolts throught the San Francisco area but apparently not triggering a tidal wave, authorities said.

The National Earthquake Information Service in Golden, Colo., said the quake that struck at about 8:15 registered 6.4 on the Richter scale. No damage or injuries were reported.

The earthquake was centered about 100 miles west of Cape Mendocino, according to Tom McEvilly, assistant director of the seismographic station at the University of California at Berkeley. Estimates on location of the epicenter could vary up to 5 miles, he said.

The National Earthquake Information Service, which is part of the U.S. Geological Survay, said the quake was centered 160 miles southwest of Eureka.

Two quick jolts from the quake were felt in San Francisco, Oakland, Berkeley and Inverness, and the quake also was felt in Fort Bragg, Redding, Santa Rosa and San Jose, the service said.

Mondale reveals deficit reduction plan

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Walter F. Mondale today unveiled a blueprint for cutting the federal deficit by $177 billion by 1989, primarily through higher taxes that would be legally dedicated to paying off the debt.

He challenged President Reagan to lay his cards on the table, but the White House said it has no plans to produce a deficit-reduction plan before the election.

As a news conference in Philadelphia, Mondale said: "You can't hide your red ink with any more blue smoke and mirrors. ... Mr. Reagan, all my cards are on the table — face up. Americans are calling your hand."

Mondale pledged to earmark increased tax revenues for a fund to reduce the deficit, and vowed not to undertake any new spending without finding specific new means to pay for it.

President Reagan, asked for his reaction during a photo session at the White House, said the Mondale plan is "nothing new."

"He told us several weeks ago he was going to raise the people's taxes, and now he's repeated it," Reagan said.

Asked whether he would present his own deficit-control plan, Reagan said, "I think I've said it more specifically than most other administrations in all the things we've been trying to do since 1981."

Today's Staff

Night Editor Ian Polumbaum
Copy Editor Bob Burgess
Layout Tecnician Pete Soderberg
Photo Technician Pam Madrick
Production supervisor Ansel Zinter
Production Nanette Dory, Maria Cahillane, BethAnne

RUSH THE CHAMPS
BKΦ
OPEN RUSH
ALL UNIVERSITY MEN INVITED

RUSH DATES:
Sept. 11, 12, 13
17, 18, 19
9:00 PM

BKO
388 N. Pleasant St.
253-9071

The brothers of BKO invite you to see what fraternity life has to offer. BKO is a brotherhood of 60 young men living and growing together. We hold in high regard academics, social and intramural activities. We are currently Greek and campus intramural champions. Come down and see what BKO is all about. Get more out of college in your four years here.
RUSH BKO!

NURSING:
CHECK IT OUT

At New England Deaconess Hospital School of Nursing. Now is the time to apply. You could even start planning your courses to qualify for our two-year advanced placement program.

Just call Joy Erb, recruitment coordinator at (617) 732-8359.

Come join us at our Fall Open House, October 15, 1984, 1-6 p.m. or November 4, 1984, 1-5 p.m.

NEW ENGLAND DEACONESS HOSPITAL
SCHOOL OF NURSING
One Autumn Street, Boston, MA 02215
Committed to the concept of equal opportunity in education

EVERY TUESDAY at
Changes
Amherst's Newest Night Club
VIDEO DANCE MUSIC along with
UMass Football Highlights
50¢ Drafts Lite, Bud Miller
ALL NITE
$2.50 Pitchers (60 oz.)
Free Hats, T-Shirts from Captain Morgan
Watch for Changes Grand Opening Announcement
Available for Private Parties
Route 9, Amherst 256-8284

Collegian photo by Pam Madrick
SKELETAL STRUCTURE — Posts, beams and sagging timbers are all that remain of this Hadley barn, which was destroyed by a snowstorm.

Weekend collisions reported

By RICHARD MARTIN
Collegian Staff

University of Massachusetts police responded to traffic accidents, reports of vandalism, and alcohol-related incidents over the weekend.

At 3:30 p.m. Friday, a 1979 Oldsmobile and 1979 Plymouth collided on Alumni Stadium's access road. Damage was $1,000 to the Plymouth, while the Oldsmobile incurred $200 or damage, police said.

A car chase in parking lot 21 near Alumni Stadium at 5 p.m. Saturday ended with a police cruiser and a 1972 Chevy colliding. Police said they arrested a 21-year-old man for operating under the influence of alcohol and speeding. Police said that he was driving 40 m.p.h. in the parking lot, and that each vehicle suffered $200 worth of damage.

Police said they responded to four other motor vehicle reports, with no injuries.

At 10 p.m. Friday at Haigis Mass, a person smashed a Pioneer Valley Transit Authority bus window while trying to board the moving vehicle. Damage is estimated at $100.

There were also three reports of vandalism to parked cars. All three vehicles had broken windshields worth about $100.

At 9:81 p.m. Saturday, two kegs of beer were confiscated from two underaged UMass students on the west side of the Hampden Dining Commons in Southwest. At 1 p.m. on Saturday, police also took a keg of beer and a tapping unit fromm the barbecue pits outside of alumni stadium.

At 7:14 p.m. Sunday, a Panasonic portable stereo worth $150 was reported stolen from a second floor room in Van MMeter dormitory.

At 6:05 p.m. on Sunday, a $40 men's watch was reported stolen from a fourth floor Thatcher dorm room with a defective door latc..

DuBois, Bond collections highlight UMass archives

By KENNETH B. ALPERT
Collegian correspondent

The University of Massachusetts Library is housing an extensive collection of renowned papers, the Archives and Manuscripts Collections.

Kenneth Fones-Wolf, the library's new archivist, says "several of the collections attract scholars from around the country."

Fones-Wolf says "the greatest strength (of the archives) are the collections of the works of W.E.B. DuBois and Horace Mann Bond, renowned black historians and sociologists." He says these collections "attract national attention to the archives from historians, sociologists, and black history scholars."

Although the archives are on the 25th floor of the library tower and are cramped for space, Fones-Wolf said he is eager to expand the relatively young (11 years old) department. He said he would like to "emphasize more regional and local topics. A lot of important history is being created by people around you...history that is quite often overlooked."

Fones-Wolf said the archives contain "a significant body of the University's history. We are the preserver of the University's own records historically and administratively."

He added that he "would like to see the university and library act as a clearing-house for historical manuscripts in this part of the state."

Fones-Wolf said the archives also serve as "a repository for the personal works and collections of historians, students, and professors here at the University, much of which is, unfortunately, unavailable to the general student body without the owner's consent."

Among these is a large collection of Renaissance diplomatic documents consisting of 769 reels of microfilm," he said.The collections open for use in the archives include the papers of the noted ethnologist and sociologist Jozef Obrebski and of the essayist and writer Harvey Swabe.

Fones-Wolf said he will be meeting soon with archivists from universities and historical societies in the region, to "try to work out a cooperative arrangement for the sharing of collections and information."

"There are a lot of things we can do without spending a lot of money," he added.

Fones-Wolf previously worked in the urban archives section of the Temple University Library and the Manuscripts Department of the Library of Congress.

He says he was attracted to UMass by "a professional interest in the quality and scope of the archives themselves...and a large attraction for the area itself."

Student lobbying influential in keeping tuition hike down

By JOHN YONCE and JOHN O'CONNELL

The efforts of a group of UMass students paid off this summer in the form of a lower tuition hike for the University than was originally requested by the Massachusetts Board of Regents.

Students at the University of Massachusetts are paying seven percent more in tuition this year than last year, but the Regents had proposed a 15 percent hike, as part of a comprehensive tuition policy that would eventually have students paying one-third of the cost of their education through tuition.

The Regents recommendation was rejected by the Legislature in July after members of the UMass Public Policy Committee lobbied for a compromise seven percent increase measure sponsored by Rep. Jim Collins, D-Amherst.

Public Policy Committee members Dana Pierce and Beth Harrington organized a letter drive in May and had "stacks and stacks" of letters signed by UMass students that indicated support of the Collins bill. These letters were mailed out to legislators from the students' districts.

Public Policy members and other Student Government Association leaders then went to Boston during June to lobby legislators against the Regents increase, and Governor Michael S. Dukakis also opposed the Regents tuition policy, Pierce said.

In early June, UMass students joined with representatives from the State Students Association of Massachusetts for a lobby day against the Regents tuition policy.

Greg Dillard, staff director and former aide to Collins, said the Regents plan was rejected because "increases of 15 and 12 percent are way out of line.

"Increases should be tied to the cost of living and other factors," he said.

Collins was also upset that students had so little imput into the decision to raise tuition by 15 percent, Dillard said, and he said lobbying efforts of the SGA members made legislators more aware of the problems many students have in affording school costs.

Dining halls try new plan to satisfy weekend diners

By CAROLINE SAMOILOFF
Collegian Correspondent

Due to overcrowding on the weekends in Franklin and Berkshire D.C.'s, University Food Services is making Worcester and Hampshire open to the students on weekends.

All four dining halls will be open Saturday and Sunday this semester on a trial basis, said Josephine B. Keeley, assistant director of Food Services.

"The hours are the same for all four halls, except that Worcester and Hampshire open to the students on weekends.

"The hours are the same for all four halls, except that Worcester and Hampshire are now open on the weekends. They will have the same hours, seven days a week," Keeley said.

Hampshire and Worcester will serve breakfast and feature Basics on weekends as well as during the week. The sandwich lines will also be open on weekends and the four D.C.'s will be open for lunch and dinner seven days a week according to Keeley.

Brunch on Saturday and Sunday mmornings has been replaced by the regular week's breakfast and lunch schedule. "Students will no longer be able to get eggs at one o'clock in the afternoon on the weekends," said Vic Keedy, manager at Berkshire Dining Common.

Keedy said also he did not work this past weekend, he was told by some of his employees that many students were not aware that Hampshire was open.

Berkshire served approximately 800 students this weekend while Hampshire served about 900 Keedy said.

One woman who has been working at Worcester for 18 years said, "I will be working every other weekend now. Who wants to give up their weekends? A five day work week is ideal."

Collegian photo by Michelle Segali
THE DOOR MEN — Physical plant workers Henry Sysko and George Anderson replace the cam on the bottom of a door to the Campus Center yesterday afternoon. The Physical Plant Department plans to make such improvements campus-wide.

TV SALE

19" Motel Color Portables

Incredible Low—"Take Them Away"—Prices

Selling At The

HOWARD JOHNSON MOTOR LODGE

RTE 9, HADLEY

WED. 9/12 1:00 P.M.-7:00 P.M.

THURS. 9/13 11:00 A.M.-5:00 P.M.

MasterCard & VISA Accepted — Sale Held by RBM Sales Corp.

Conn. utility receives license to run Millstone III plant

WATERFORD, Conn. (AP) — The top safety review board of the Nuclear Regulatory Commission will recommend that Northeast Utilities be granted a full operating license for Millstone III, the utility said Monday.

Roberta Bromberg, spokeswoman for Northeast Utilities, said a report by the Advisory Committee on Reactor Safety was being prepared Monday and officials have been told it will recommend that the plant be licensed.

"We have been told that the letter to the commissioners will be a 'clean letter,' and that there will be no outstanding issues that have to be resolved," Ms. Bromberg said.

The recommmendation is only part of the overall NRC licensing process, but is considered a major hurdle for a utility seeking to put a new plant into operation. The panel of scientists and experts in the field of nuclear engineering makes the decision on plant safety independently of the NRC staff reports and recommendations.

The committee met with Northeast Utilities nuclear engineering executives and NRC staff members Friday for a review of the plant's licensing application. The committee deliberated on the request Saturday.

Millstone III — the fourth nuclear power plant operated by Northeast Utilities — is schedules to become operational in May 1986. Construction on the plant is now 89 percent complete.

Northeast Utilities President E. James Ferland said last week the company is confident it can meet its scheduled startup date, despite problems that have created a 6-10 percent overrun in the previous cost estimate of $3.54 billion.

★fee

Continued from page 1

Knapp's memo says "a consolidation of all the fees would allow the University to avoid the present contraints of multiple management and service agreements restricting funds within specific projects."

The memo also states, "with lower dormitory, dining room and campus center fees, the trust funds will be better able to build reserves for renewal and replacement."

"DeNyse will come up with a proposal that can be agreed upon by the Chancellor and Knapp and then voted on by the Board of Trustees,"Keller said.

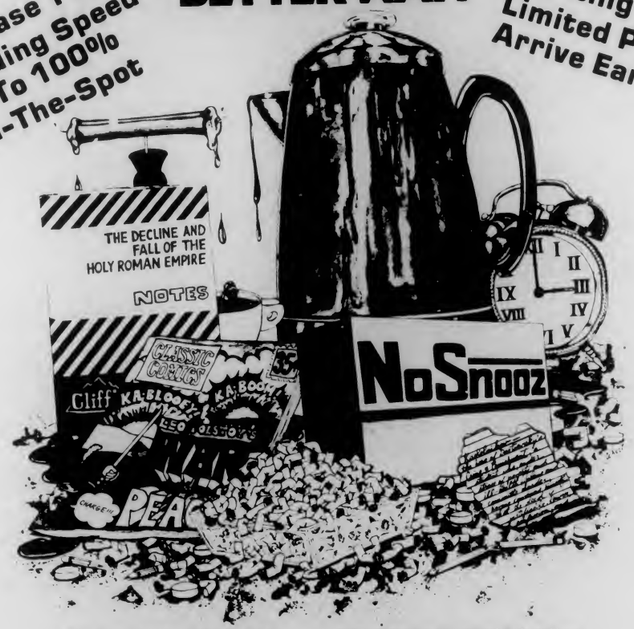
"But the trustees are definitely sympathetic to the students and will try to work it out with DeNyse," he said.

COLLEGE SURVIVAL

THERE'S GOT TO BE A BETTER WAY!

Increase Your Reading Speed Up To 100% On-The-Spot

Seating Is Limited Please Arrive Early



There is. One free Evelyn Wood Reading Dynamics lesson will prove it to you. Today take the free Reading Dynamics lesson and you can dramatically increase your reading speed in that one free lesson.

Why let the responsibilities that college demands deprive you of enjoying the college life? With Reading Dynamics you can handle both—all the reading you're expected to do and know, plus still have time to do what you want to do.

Today you can increase your reading speed, dramatically at the free Reading Dynamics lesson. You've got nothing to lose but a lot of cramming and sleepless nights. Reading Dynamics. Now you know there is a better way. Take the free lesson and kiss your "No-Snooze" goodbye

SCHEDULE OF FREE LESSONS

LOCATION: MURRAY D. LINCOLN CAMPUS CENTER ROOM 162-175

TUESDAY 9/11 12pm, 2pm, & 4pm

WEDNESDAY 9/12 2pm, 4pm, & 6pm

CHOOSE THE DAY AND THE TIME MOST CONVENIENT FOR YOU. RESERVATIONS ARE NOT NECESSARY. FOR FURTHER INFORMATION, PLEASE CALL (800) 447-READ

EVELYN WOOD READING DYNAMICS

BANNED BOOKS WEEK

September 8-15, 1984

Don't take the First Amendment for granted!

For more information visit your library or bookstore

Located in the Campus Center M-F 9-5 Sat 11-4

UNIVERSITY STORE

IS THIS ANY TIME TO THINK ABOUT ARMY ROTC?

It's the perfect time.
You're a freshman, right? And you want to make college a real learning experience?
Well ROTC can add a valuable dimension to your college education. A dimension of leadership and management training. And that'll make your degree worth more.
ROTC offers scholarship and financial opportunities, too.
Plus, the opportunity to graduate with a commission and begin your future as an officer.
For more information, contact your Professor of Military Science.

ARMY ROTC. BE ALL YOU CAN BE.

For more information contact: Jim Mahoney 545-2321/2322

Archbishop Law misses registration

BOSTON (AP) — Archbishop Bernard Law, who last week urged Catholics to vote their convictions, failed to register in time for the Masssachusetts primary election because of his mother's illness, an archdiocese spokesman said Monday.

Law had planned to register Aug. 21, but flew to Springfield, Mo., the night before to be with his mother.Helen Law, 72, was hospitalized with respiratory arrest Aug. 20 and is now recovering, said the Rev. Peter Conley.

The archbishop, who returned to Boston Aug. 31, last week joined in a statement by New England bishops that called abortion the most critical issue confronting voters.

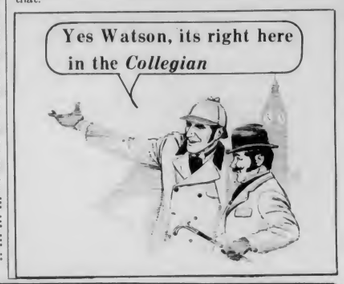
The statement asked Roman Catholics "to study the issues, to form conscientious judgments concerning them and to vote their convictions."

After releasing the statement, Law said, "The last thing I would ever want to be is a political boss. I am singling out an issue. I am not singling out a candidate."

Law is registered to vote in Missouri and plans to register in Boston this week, Conley said.

"He'll register and he'll vote," Conley said. "He'd better."

Asked why, Conley joked, "I'm not going to explain that."



"The Globe's here!"

For just $1.40 a week you can have

The Boston Globe

delivered to your door on campus

University of Massachusetts	Fall Term Rates
SPECIAL CAMPUS RATES	$17.10
Daily & Sunday $1.40 a week	$11.10
Daily Only $.90 a week	$6.00
Sunday Only $.50 a week	Sept. 16 - Dec. 14

☐ Daily Only ☐ Sunday Only ☐ Daily & Sunday

Please fill out form and return with check made payable to: RON HUBERDEAU, P.O. Box 959, Amherst, MA 01004 Tel. 253-7009

Your Name:

Campus Address:

highlight and write quick as a flash

TEXTAR more than just a highlighter

Switch from highlighting to jotting notes without changing pens. Textar comes in six bright fluorescent colors, each with a blue ballpoint pen.

Available now at your college store.

PUBLIC NOTICE

7 HOUR SALE

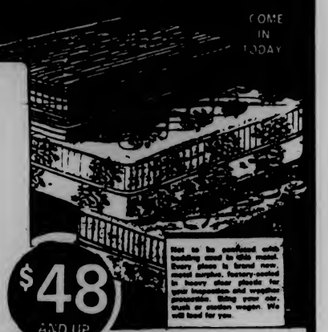
Wed. 9/12 Noon-7 p.m.

Thurs. 9/13 10 a.m.-5 p.m.

BRAND NEW HOTEL SURPLUS

MATTRESS AND FOUNDATIONS

Twin Size Mattress	$55
Twin Size Foundation	$48
Full Size Mattress	$68
Full Size Foundation	$58



Sale Held By RBM Sales Corp

Be Early For Best Selection.

No Phone Orders, PLEASE.

TWIN, FULL, QUEEN & KING AVAILABLE WARRANTY WHEN PURCHASED IN SETS

Mastercard Visa & Diner Club accepted

HOWARD JOHNSON MOTOR LODGE

Rte. 9, Hadley

TONIGHT

★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★★

Rack A Disc Entertainment

previews

"The Newest State of the Art"

MTV VIDEO

— Giant Ten Foot Screen —

No Cover - Dancing - 9 til 1

Experience our new menu.

THE PUB

15 E. PLEASANT ST. AMHERST MA 413-549-1200

CAUTION!

Banned Books Week
September 8-15, 1984

SEE OUR BANNED BOOKS DISPLAY

UNIVERSITY STORE

Located in the Campus Center
M-F 9-5
Sat 11-4

PERSONALIZED STYLE HAIRCUTS
$7.00* (with this coupon)
$10.00 with Shampoo and Blow Dry
$11.50 Long Hair
Please Call for an Appointment
FREE CONSULTATIONS
Styles by Deborah
95 University Drive
Amherst MA/549-5610

SEMINAR COURSES STILL OPEN
(to juniors, seniors & graduate students)
SEXUALITY AND SEX ROLES
ALTERNATIVE LIFESTYLES
(alternatives to the nuclear family & to monogamous marriage)
Courses are 3 credits each.
Call Roger Libby, 253-2174 or 546-2193

WAITRESS WANTED
Apply in person, 2-5 daily
At FUNNYBONES

Tropic Isle
Plant and Gift Shop
10% OFF
any plant purchase
with this coupon
through 9/17/84
HAMPSHIRE MALL
HADLEY, MASS.

FUNNYBONES
COCKTAIL LOUNGE

MONDAY
NICKEL NITE
Every other drink 5¢ 7 - 1

TUESDAY
LADIES NITE
Ladies first 2 drinks 99¢ 7 - 1
Younger Brothers Live

WEDNESDAY
PENNY DRAFT NITE
Every other 12 oz. Draft 1¢ 7 - 1

THURSDAY
BOTTLE BEER 99¢
R B Butler Live

FRIDAY & SATURDAY
PARTY to 2 AM with Crazy George (doors close at 1 am)

SUNDAY
SPORTS ACTION starts 1 pm
in our Sports Pub
w/99¢ Drinks 1 - 7

"FUNNY HOUR"
1-7 - 7 DAYS A WEEK
Rt. 9 Hadley (across from Mt. Farms Mall)

Bruno's
363 Main Street, Amherst, MA
256-0222
Quality Pizza - Subs

PIZZAS	10" SMALL	16" LARGE
CHEESE	$3.00	$5.75
Onion	3.15	6.25
Sausage	3.75	6.75
Hamburg	3.75	6.75
Canadian Bacon	3.75	6.75
Anchovies	3.75	6.75
Pepperoni	3.75	6.75
Ham	3.75	6.75
Olive	3.75	6.75
Fresh Cut Mushrooms	3.75	6.75
Salami	3.75	6.75
2 Combo	4.25	7.75
3 Combo	5.00	6.75
4 Combo	5.75	9.75
Special	7.00	15.00

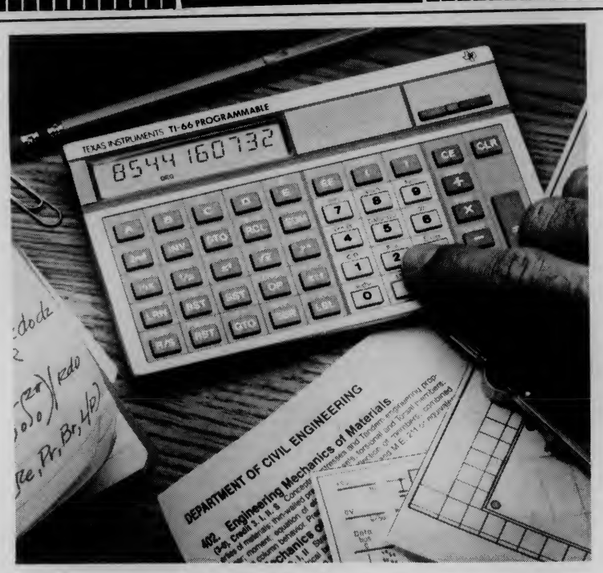
SUBS	SMALL	LARGE
Italian	$2.25	$3.50
Steak & Cheese	2.50	3.75
Pepper Steak	2.50	3.75
Muschroom & Steak	2.50	3.75
Onion & Steak	2.50	3.75
Roast Beef	2.50	3.75
Turkey	2.30	3.55
Tuna	2.50	3.75
Eggplant	2.50	3.75
Sausage	2.25	3.50
Meatball	2.25	3.50
Salami & Cheese	2.25	3.50
Ham & Cheese	2.25	3.50
Cheese	2.00	3.00

Salads. . . .1.95

Slice of Cheese Pizza $1.00

BEVERAGES
Cidar.....$ .60
Soda.....$ .55

FREE DELIVERY
256-0222



Is your calculator in the same class you are?

Move up to the TI-66. The easy 512 step programmable.

You're into higher math and your old calculator helped get you there.

But now it's time for something more. The TI-66 from Texas Instruments. The TI-66 offers full programming power and flexibility so you can solve complex and repetitive math problems quickly, easily and with fewer keystrokes than you thought possible. Its 512 merged program steps and over 170 built-in scientific, engineering and statistical functions make for powerful programming. And the sleek, streamlined design makes for easy use.

Its Algebraic Operating System makes it easy on your brain by allowing you to key in problems as they are written, left to right. And a 10-digit angled Liquid Crystal Display not only makes it easy on your eyes but provides alphanumeric notation of your program steps so you can make easy modifications as you go along.

There are large, readable keys for your fingers, and an easy-to-follow guidebook so you shouldn't get confused. And last, but certainly not least, at a suggested retail of $69.95, there's a price that's easy on your pocketbook.

All in all, if we made the TI-66 programmable calculator any easier to use, it would deserve its own degree.

TEXAS INSTRUMENTS
Creating useful products and services for you.

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian
Founded 1870

Editor in Chief James P. Shanahan

Managing Editor John O'Connell
Business Manager Andrew May
Business Manager Elizabeth Young
Production Manager Mark Roden
Exectutive Editor Rita Murphy
News Editor Greg Brown
Black Affairs Editor Yadira Betances
Women's Issues Editor Rebecca Thatcher
Arts Editor Christine D. Marini
Sports Editor Peter Abraham
Photo Editor Andrew J. Heller

OPINION

The opinions expressed on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the university unless otherwise noted.

Deja vu in Nicaragua?

Court Cline/ Mitch Gaslin

On this day exactly 11 years ago, the democratically-elected president of Chile, Salvador Allende, was overthrown and brutally murdered by the Chilean military in cooperation with U.S. government officials and corporate leaders. Chile was once a symbol of radical change within a nonviolent framework, and now Chile has become synonymous with torture and dictatorship under the head of the Chilean armed forces, General Augusto Pinochet.

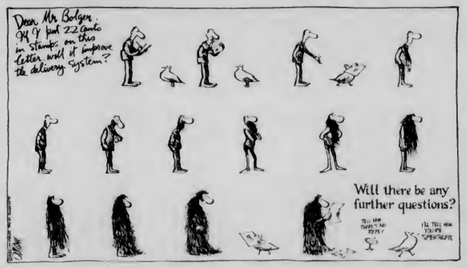
The election of Salvador Allende in September of 1970 represented an exciting change of events in Chilean politics, as well as a threat to the massive U.S. corporate interests in that country. After years of being exploited by huge U.S. corporations, the Chilean economy was an international basket case, with a huge trade deficit, high unemployment and commplete foreign ownership of major industries. These horrendous internal conditions finally gave rise to the popular movement that elected Allende. His proposals to nationalize the major copper industries, so that they would benefit the Chilean people and not U.S. investors, did not set well with the Nixon-Kissinger regime, who publicly supported democratic elections, but only as long as "our" candidate was elected.

U.S. response to the election of Allende took some time to coalesce, as various groups debated whether direct military intervention, economic blockades, or support for opposition elements would be most effective in destroying the Allende government. Since military intervention had failed so miserably in Vietnam, a play was adopted that would use the international financial community and U.S. imposed economic blockades to create shortages and economic havoc in Chile. On Sept. 11, 1973, the Allende government was violently overthrown, and Salvador Allende was brutally murdered in the National Palace. The deep and continuous covert and overt involvement in Chile by the U.S. has been well-documented by a Senate intelligence Committee report titled, Covert Action in Chile. The role that the U.S. has played in the continued death and misery of the Chilean people cannot be denied.

Nicaragua, like Chile of 1970, is preparing to hold democratic elections on Nov. 4, 1984. Nicaragua is a small country that in 1979 overthrew a ruthless family dictatorship placed in power and perpetuated by the U.S. government for over 40 years. The indepencence of Nicaragua was gained at the hands of its people and at the cost of many lives. When the ruling Sandinista council took power in 1979, they promised the people that elections would be held in six years giving ample time for the people to gain the civic skills necessary to participate in democratic elections. Due to the tremendous success of the literacy campaign that has taught almost an entire population to read and write and the other amazing gains in basic living conditions, the ruling council has chosen to hold elections on Nov. 4, 1984. There are seven political parties participating in these elections. Six of them are opposition parties to the Sandinista Front, and all parties are receiving equal financial assistance and access to the mass media. All Nicaraguans 16 years old and over are eligible to vote, and during the recent registration drive over 93 percent of the eligible populace registered to vote — an astonishing figure since less than 50 percent of the people eligible to vote in the U.S. are registered to vote. The Reagan administration, like the Nixon administration in Chile, is opposed to the democratic process transpiring in Nicragua. By continuing to fund the "contras" and bloodless mercenaries on the Honduran and Costa Rican borders of Nicaragua, the Reagan regime is determined to undermine the freedom of the Nicaraguan people like the tragedy that occurred inn Chile 11 years ago, including the repression that continues today.

This time we must admit to ourselves that we are guilty bystanders to the political manipulations by our government and corporate leaders, and that we must act to oppose the aggressive actions of the Reagan administration on innocent people at home and abroad. For the sake of humanity, we cannot allow what happened in Chile 11 years ago to happen in Nicaragua.

Court Cline and Mitch Gaslin are both UMass students.



Dear, Mr. Bolger,
My CY just 22 Cents in stamps on this letter will it improve the delivery system?
Will there be any further questions?

There's no turning back

Herb Ramy

Stepping out of the car, I had this strange feeling of belonging. Here I was, home from college for a weekend, back to the place where I had spent most of the 18 years of my existence. Everything was just as it should be, or so I thought. It didn't take me long though to realize that some things were different.

My first inkling that all had not stayed the same came when I went to the high school football game. I automatically began to walk to my reserved seats. Seats that had taken me my first three years of being an underclassman to attain. When I arrived I was astonished to find that many of the seats were occupied by people that I only vaguely remember as being juniors the year before. Luckily, my brother and a few of our friends, who all happened to be seniors, were in the crowd and I was able to find a seat. Much to the dismay, it seemed, of some of the people from this new group.

When the game started I immediately noticed two things. The first was that I could name a few of the players on the field. In the past four years I had grown accustomed to knowing the name of nearly every player. The second thing I noticed was that the 20 to 30 people in my immediate vicinity seemed to have been plugged into an endless supply of energy, and their yells of joy or dismay could be heard throughout the entire stadium. My first reaction was, how could anyone act like this in public? Then I realized that one year ago I was one of these boisterous fans. Naturally I decided that it would be best if I joined in, but I still felt uneasy about the whole thing.

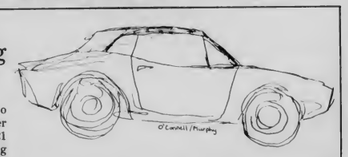
Being the weekend, it was customary for myself and my friends to go out for dinner. So after what was in my opinion a fairly boring game, we all made plans on where to go. As the time came near for us to go to dinner I became excited at the prospect of seeing friends that I was already missing. Finally everyone arrived, and we left for the restaurant. Deciding where to go hadn't been a problem, it had to be the China Tea House. Without a doubt, the cheapest Chinese food restaurant in the world. After being there for only a short time, I began to notice certain aspects of the place that I had never noticed before. For instance, I never realized how sleazy the place really was. The menus looked as if they had been printed and all the "authentic" Chinese art had MADE IN TAIWAN stamped on it. At first I couldn't figure out why I had never noticed these things before. Soon though, it came to me. I was looking around seeing details because the conversations going on around me were about subjects that didn't interest me in the least. For high school seniors topics like the upcoming senior prom or the SAT's might be exciting, but I wasn't a high school senior anymore. Conversations of this type continued for the entire evening, and needless to say i felt totally out of place.

The final indignity occurred on Monday when I entered Methuen High School for a visit before returning to UMass. As I was going from room to room saying hello to old teachers, I was approached by one of the deans of the school. I expected her to only want to say hello, but instead I was shocked when she asked for a visitor's pass. I couldn't believe that she wanted a pass from me!! mean, it was just last year that I went to this school. Then the realization hit me, this was no longer my school or my year. As I left the building I decided the past was better left where it was. I didn't mind, I still had one hell of a future left to live.

Herb Ramy is a UMass student.

Letters to the Editor

It's better than sleeping in a moped



The latest in UMass housing: UMass increases tuition in order to pay for those beautiful two door dormitories. They're economical and fuel efficient.

Having managed to usually have a roof over my head for the last 21 years, the housing shortage at UMass was never of any great concern to me. Now, as I find myself amongst the ranks of the Amherst nomads, my concern is, to say the least, overwhelming.

It is very easy to say, from the comforting confines of a warm dorm room, that those homeless students have only themselves to blame for their situation. I myself was once guilty of this naive viewpoint. But as I compare notes with other homeless students, I've found that the vast majority are victims of beaurocratic screw-ups that defy imagination of the human mind, not idiots incapable of filling out forms properly. No matter what the reason or excuse the answer is always the same: "No, you can't have your housing and I'm not going to try and get you any." Apparently compassion is not a prerequisite for employment in the housing assignments office. If you don't believe me, just ask any one of the hundreds of students who wound up without housing this September. I'm sure you'll find the answers interesting but this is a family-type paper so I won't elaborate.

Now I know I'm just a silly undergrad but I thought that I might humbly address the University with a unique and novel idea. Every year literally hundreds of students find themselves without housing. Every year more and more students fall victim to the gremlins of housing and wind up sleeping in cars. I suggest that, I know it's silly, we could (Gee, this is stupid) build more housing. Off-campus, on-campus. University or private there would be no problem filling it, just get it built.

Charles R. Forsgard

Tailgaters challenge University officials

On Saturday, University of Massachusetts police stopped all spectators from bringing kegs of beer into P-lot for pre and post-game tailgate parties. Consequently, most tailgaters were forced to trade in their convenient and cheap kegs for bottles and cans. That night the parking lot was a mess of cans, bottles and broken glass. On Sunday night at an orientation meeting for new resident hall security personnel a police speaker mentioned that pictures had been taken of P-lot after the game and that they were being sent to Whitmore to persuade the administration to outlaw tailgates. Sound like a set-up? You betcha! The police knew the parking lot would be trashed if everyone brought bottles and cans. In fact, I heard some tailgaters saying they planned to leave their returnables in order to 'show them that kegs make more sense.'

Last year's football games left P-lot with much neater, manageable rubbish, and the bottle bill brought out can collectors who cut that rubbish in half. If the administration sees those pictures and decides there is a problem, I challenge them to allow kegs into the next pre-game party (sept. 29) and let us show that we can tailgate neatly. Do not let UMass football fans be railroaded.

Brian Garity
Southwest

The Collegian's Editorial/Opinion page has changed its look. It is now the Opinion Page. While the name may be different, the page will continue to represent as many viewpoints and opinions of you, our readers, as possible. The page is still, as it always has been, open to all who wish to contribute to it. We hope you like our new look.

Hypercurricula

UPC GENERAL MEETING — Help bring rock concerts to UMass! Come find out what UPC is all about. Join the largest student organization on campus. Everyone is welcome! 6:30 p.m. at CC 163.

E.M.T. CLASS — Become an emergency medical technician. Course includes state registry exam. Runs tuesday and thursday nights. Attendance is mandatory. Come and ask questions. 6:30 p.m. at 161 Morrill South.

MAD ADVENTURES OF "RABBI"JACOB — A very funny movie about a French Catholic "rabbi" who dislikes Jews, Arabs, Belgians, Germans, and practically everybody else. Free!

1ST HISTORY CLUB MEETING — We're having ELECTIONS, and asking for NEW IDEAS for the semester. We're organizing a trip to Old Deerfield when the trees turn, and a picnic at the Summit House. Contact Amity Lee, 253-3915 for details. 7:00 p.m. at 6th Floor Lounge, Herter.

MEETING ON FULBRIGHT FELLOWSHIPS;RHODES AND MARSHALL SCHOLARSHIPS — Informational meeting for students interested in applying for Fulbrights, Rhodes, and/or Marshall scholarships. 7 p.m. at Herter 3rd Floor Lounge.

ANDRZEJ DUTKIEWICZ PIANO RECITAL — Noted Polish peanist and composer Andrzej Dutkiewicz, who has appeared as a concert pianist throughout the world, will perform original compositions on Tuesday evening, 8:p.m. at Bezanson Recital Hall/FAC.

AURORA PARTNERS INVESTMENT CLUB MEETING — Discuss the club's portfolio and scheduled events for the semester. All students and faculty welcome! 7p.m. at SBA 112.

25 PLUS CLUB MEETING—Older students' organizational session. Help plan semester activities.

Meet other older students. Open to all full-time and part-time undergraduates, U.W.W., Cont. Ed and graduafe students.

Student Union 404.

NOTICE EMT's— Join the UMass Fire and First Aid Unit. Work concerts, sporting events, etc. Come to our first meeting Wednesday at 10 p.m. in Morril North Room 406.

GRENADIER AND GAMING SOCIETY— We play many strategic and tactical level miniature and board games, including Napoleanics, star fleet battles, squad leader. Wednesday's game—modern tank and infantry miniatures. Wednesday, 6 p.m. in the Campus Center.

Students! Work Smart.
Work Simply...With Hewlett-Packard.

Take a good look at your class schedule.

If you're in Science or Engineering, chances are your classes include Calculus, Physics, or Chemistry. Engineering Statics, or Dynamics. You're running up against some tough calculations, with statistics problems, hyperbolics, and logs. The HP-11C calculator helps you breeze through those problems with a few simple keystrokes.

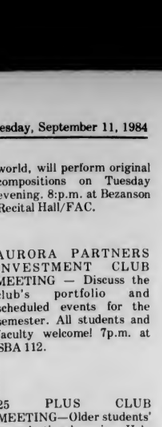
Need to simplify problems that are even more complex? The HP-41CV gives you 128 built-in functions—and the HP-41CX over 200—to simplify your long homework assignments. Use up to 6,437 bytes of memory to save the programs and formulas you use often. And there are thousands of software programs, so you don't have to start from scratch next term.

If you're in Business or Finance, you're probably taking Accounting, Statistical Methods, Finance, and Investment Analysis. Classes loaded with tedious calculations. End the pencil-and-paper drudgery with the HP-12C. The most powerful decision-maker on the market! Dedicated keys make time value of money calculations, amortization, Net Present Value (NPV), Internal Rate of Return (IRR), and statistics solutions as simple as a single keystroke. And it's easy to change values or correct mistakes without reentering your entire problem.

Hewlett-Packard calculators. They help you work smart this term. And next term. And even later on the job. Get your HP today from your local HP dealer.

For the location of the dealer nearest you, call TOLL FREE 1-800-FOR-HPPC.

HEWLETT PACKARD



BODY SHOP

Exercise Facilities
sign up at NOPE and Boyden
still only $45.00
Come in NOW for a Free Workout
during Sign-Up hours
Boyden - NOPE
sign up now — 8 am - 9 am, 11 am - 1 pm, 4 pm - 6 pm — sign up now
Workouts begin Sept. 10 thru Dec. 21

NOPE M-F		Boyden M-F
7:30-9 am		7-9 am
11-3		12-1 pm
4-6 pm		4-6 pm
7-9 pm		Sat
Sat		12-3
1-4

open to students faculty & staff

* strength training
* aerobic fitness
* muscle testing
* body fat testing

LAMBDA CHI ALPHA
OPEN RUSH
All University Men Invited
September 11, 12, 13, 18
9 - 11 pm
FREE REFRESHMENTS
374 N. Pleasant St. 253-9032
(the Blue House)

Arts

Marquez's magic

By JON STRYMISH
Collegian Correspondent

Both Gabriel Garcia Marquez and the late Julio Cortazar turn the ordinary into magic. Cortazar, in his newly released collection of stories, A Change of Light and We Love Glenda So Much describes the feelings of an actor at work:

I'd rather spend my afternoons in the apartment, rehearsing Bird in the Storm by myself with the cat looking at me, getting my vengeance on those unpleasant parts by raising them to perfection, making them mine and not Lemon', transforming the simplest sentences into a play of mirrors that multiplies the dangerous and fascinating side of the character.

Erendira, which plays at the Pleasant Street Theater in Northampton tonight at 5:45, 8:00 and 10:00, offers a simple fable in a tropical setting which explodes with color and complexity. The stories and the characters test their world with the constant risk that their questions cannot be answered.

Claudia Ohana, as Erendira, a 14-year-old girl enslaved by her evil grandmother (Irene Pappas) changes like a diamond in every scene, sometimes looking like a shy, skinny 14-year-old and other times being so shockingly beautiful that it's hard to believe Erendira and her grandmother are witches and her lover Ulysses is an angel, though they have no magical powers. The magic is sort of common and taken for granted by the people who understand it, while it is shocking and frightening to the uninvolved. Marquez calls this magic realism, meaning the magic is faced in realistic ways.

As a fable the story could be interpreted in two different ways. The first, political, gives us a view of the exploitation of South America by everyone. The land of the movie is a mythic South American wasteland crossed only by bandits, smugglers and characters straight from Don Quixote.

The cast of the movie is international: Marquez is Colombian, Pappas is Greek. The money, a low budget of two million dollars, came from France and West Germany, and it was filmed in Mexico. Director Roy Guerra and actress Claudia Ohana, who seem to have taken the movie as their own voice, are both Brazilian.

This mix creates a land where there are no easy answers. You couldn't say that Grandma was exploiting Erendira on her own, because Grandma herself, undeniably evil, was exploited and living in a swirl of turmoil.

The second reading of the film, and the one I think is more interesting, is Erendira's growth into womanhood and independence. She grows from a scared child to a woman who can resist all threats to her identity without losing anything. The first signs of this come when she stands up to Grandma and resists having her lovers take control of her. It is finished finally when she grows the fingerprints which she had lacked because she was a witch.

Erendira can be at times dark and scary and at times humorous and beautiful. It's funny when Ullysses tries to kill Grandmother by making a cake that weighs about thirty pounds and fills it with rat poison, about five pounds, and Grandma eats it all and then belches, falls asleep and dreams about love. Beautiful when handfuls of paper are thrown into the air where they change to clouds of birds.

Cortazar, whose book A Certain Lucas was reviewed in the Sept. 5 Collegian, was an Argentinian who always had something to say and could say it in three pages. We Love You So Much Glenda and A Change of Light, though a reprint of two of his older works' is new and refreshing and worth reading, especially since the length makes these stories perfect for interhomework breaks.

artslines...

A new school year always marks the end of some things and the begining of others. Andy Gordon (former Arts editor and writer of the popular "Trailers" column) has graduated, as has David Chevan, who wrote "Livewire." We'll miss them and their talents. Fortunately, some new blood will be infused into these old columns. Count Ramin Zahed will be taking over as Films editor and will begin a regular film column called "Cinemascoop" which will run on Fridays, and Don Narey will be presenting a new "Livewire" music column on Wednesdays. Look for their debuts this week.

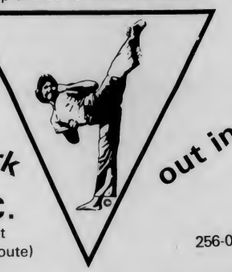
The opening reception for Red Gold: Copper Arts of Africa will be held on Thursday, Sept. 13 from 4 to 6 p.m. at the Mount Holyoke College Art Museum. A symposium will be held in conjunction with the exhibition on Saturday, Sept. 29 in Gamble Auditoriumm in the Mount Holyoke College Art Building.

Polish pianist and composer Andrzej Dutkiewicz will perform a program of his own compositions on Tuesday, Sept. 11 in Bezanson Recital Hall in the Fine Arts Center. The concert is presented by the Department of Music and Dance, is free and open to the public, and begins at 8 p.m.

Noted as a "leading representative of the thriving music scene in Poland," Dutkiewics has appeared throughout the world as a concert pianist. Currently on the piano faculty at Warsaw Conservatory, he is a graduate of that conservatory and of the Eastman School of Music where he received a DMA degree as a Fulbright scholar. For further information on the concert, call the music department at 545-2227.

ALBION BOOKS
85 Main St.
Amherst
256 - 1221
VALLEY'S LARGEST SELECTION OF NEW AND USED SCHOLARLY BOOKS
Free OP searches and special orders
Catalogs issued
Albion's used book room now offers a fine collection of used and OP scholarly titles

FREE KARATE FREE
clip this ad for one free lesson



Best work out in town
K.H.F.C.
460 West Street
Amherst (on bus route)
256-0080

Pilot.
The Better
Ballpoint
pen.
When it runs out
you won't have to.
The exciting Pilot ballpoint. It's got everything going for it. Smoother writing. Specially designed finger ribbing for continual writing comfort. Stainless steel point. Tungsten carbide ball. Perfectly balanced. A choice of medium or fine points. And best of all...you'll never throw it out.
Just slip in a 39c refill and you're ready to write again. So next time your old scratchy pen runs out, run out and get the best. The 69c Pilot ballpoint pen.
PILOT
THE BETTER BALLPOINT

PIZZARAMA

PIZZARAMA OF AMHERST
Amherst's leader for the past 10 years
Pizza Grinders
FREE DELIVERY
Mon-Wed 5:00-1:30 am
Thurs-Sun 5:00-2:30 am

Student Health Advisory Board
First Fall Meeting
Wed. Sept. 12th at 5:30 pm
Room 302 Univ. Health Services
SHAB is the Student Health Advisory Board whose members are the official liasions between the University Health Services and the students. Care to get involved? If you are a student and have enrolled in the basic health plan you can join SHAB.

TOPIC FOCUSED GROUPS
Fall Semester 1984

EXPLORING INTIMACY: DEVELOPING MEANINGFUL RELATIONSHIPS
Examines common communication problems and relationship styles that hinder intimacy.
Wednesdays 3:30 - 5:00

INCREASING SELF-ESTEEM
Learning to stop self-criticism and allow self-confidence to grow
Tuesdays 3:30 - 5:00

LEARNING ASSERTIVENESS SKILLS
How to become effectively and responsively assertive
Mondays 3:30 - 5:00

MANAGING STRESS
Presents effective coping techniques to manage your stress level
Wednesdays 3:30 - 5:00

BUILDING RELATIONSHIP SKILLS
Learn the art of meeting others and developing friendships
Mondays 3:30 - 5:00

Registration is between September 4th and 21st.
For information or to apply for a group, call 545-2337 or come to the Mental Health Service, 127 Hills North, University of Massachusetts

THE BEST BARGAIN IN MATHEMATICS

Yellow Sale 1984

Advanced Mathematical Analysis
Second Corrected Printing
R. Beals

Introduction to Theory
L. K. Hua
Translated by P. Shiu

A Course in Universal Algebra
S. Burris and H. P. Sankappanavar

Gauss: A Biographical Study
J. K. Butler

Algebraic Geometry I
Complex Projective Varieties
Corrected Second Printing
D. Mumford

The Science of Programming
D. Gries

Encounter with Mathematics
A reprint
L. Garding

Mathematical Population Genetics
W. J. Ewens

Applications of Manifold Theory
J. Carr

Deterministic and Stochastic Optimal Control
Second Printing
W. H. Fleming and R. W. Rishel

Lectures in Functional Analysis and Operator Theory
Second Printing
S. K. Berberian

Over 90 of the best books in mathematics
At savings of up to 60%

Limited Quantities Available

Located in the Campus Center

UNIVERSITY STORE

M-F 9-5
Sat 11-4

Sale Books located on Special Sale Tables in the Trade Book Dept.

ON-CAMPUS JOBS

VALUABLE EXPERIENCE and TRAINING

I WANT YOU

If you are an upperclassman or a graduate student, we will train you to discuss the financial needs of your University with its alumni.

Telefund will pay $4-6 an hour for your time a few evenings a week. You will talk to alumni from all walks of life, from every type of profession about the University Alumni Fund.

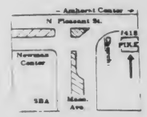
Telefund is located at Memorial Hall.
Stop in and pick up an application or call us at 545-3509 if you have questions.

Pi Kappa Alpha

OPEN RUSH

We are. . .
- Greek area intramural softball and football champs
- the fraternity that does not haze
- the house that raised over 60,000 for Multiple Sclerosis

RUSH PARTIES
Mon. Sept. 10 at 9 pm
Tues. Sept. 11 at 9 pm
Wed. Sept. 12 at 9 pm
Mon. Sept. 17 at 9 pm
Tues. Sept. 18 at 9 pm



Pi Kappa Alpha
TEL. 545-2150

★★★★★★★Free Refreshments★★★★★★★

1984 Regulations and Policies are now available in the Campus Center Concourse

HIGH NOTES

Singing Telegram & Balloon Delivery Service

FOR A GOOD TIME:
balloons, belly dancers & costume supplies
masks, wigs & make up

visit our store 2nd floor - Carriage Shops, Amherst
or call - 549-1430

A duo of textures takes the spotlight. . .in a classic silhouette accented by smooth and reptile print leather. . .by Jazz.
SHOE BIN
187 n. pleasant st amherst

Grand Opening!

Bardstown Square
Louisville, Ky
Potpourri Mall
Northampton, MA

6 mo. $59.
*plus registration
or join with a friend
6 mo. $99.
*plus registration (both)

It's happening right now the GRAND OPENING of two new Figures & Fitness exercise centers! To celebrate we're rolling back our prices for a limited time only. Join now & save!

Super FIGURES & FITNESS
*registration $10

*FREE LEOTARD:
1st 100 new members
who call. Open Sun. 1-4pm, call now!

Enfield 741-2107 | Springfield 783-0135 | Longmeadow 567-6171 | Northampton 586-6369 | Westfield 568-0993 | Chicopee 593-6406

Pearl Street

Tomorrow Night, Wed. 12th Sept.
The Legendary
SAM & DAVE
(Soul Man, Hold On I'm Comin')

Thurs. 13th Sept. slipping his discs
D.J. ANDREW WOLFE

Two Crazy Dance Nights In A Row
Yes It's
D.J. TONY KORD
Friday 14th and Saturday 15th

Positive ID's required at the door
A.B.C. Card - picture driver's license no student ID's

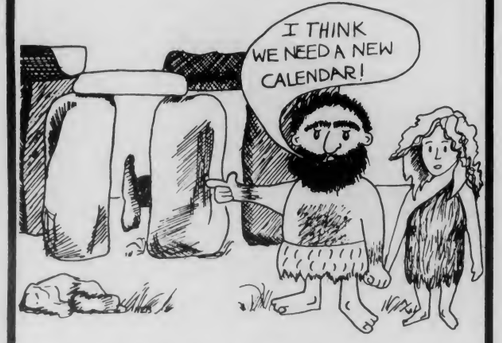
HAPPY HOUR EVERY FRIDAY 5 - 7

10 PEARL STREET NORTHAMPTON, MA. 413 584-7771

CALENDARS!



A Large Assortment
Academic 16 month Calendars
Now Available

Located in the Campus Center

Open M-F 9-5
Sat 11-4

UNIVERSITY STORE

Five-college students... HALF-PRICE!

HIGH PERFORMANCE

Subscribe by September 24 & Save Money!

BOX OFFICE: 545-2511

Broadway
"Sophisticated Ladies"
"Brighton Beach Memoirs"

Theater
"Romeo & Juliet"
"Night, Mother"
"A Soldier's Play"

Dance
Houston Ballet's "Swan Lake"
Royal Winnipeg Ballet
Pilobolus Dance Theater

Sampler
Philly Pops, Peter Nero
Les Ballets Trockadero de Monte Carlo
Ray Charles

Orchestra
Springfield Symphony Orchestra, Peter Serkin, piano
Minnesota Orchestra
Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra, Andre-Michel Schub, piano

Jazz
Dizzy Gillespie
Sarah Vaughan
Jazz All-Stars

Chamber
Springfield Symphony Orchestra, Alexander Schneider
Juilliard String Quartet
The Chamber Music Society of Lincoln Center

Winners Circle
Boston Chamber Music Society
Paul Neubauer, viola
James Barbagallo, piano
Robert Davidovici, violin
Portland String Quartet

Plus
Marcel Marceau
Handel's Messiah
Mabou Mines
"Prelude to Death in Venice"
"Company"
Demon Drummers & Dancers of Sado

Fine Arts Center Concert Hall
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AT AMHERST

WELCOME

A REFERRAL CENTER FOR INFORMATION ON ACADEMIC & ADMINISTRATIVE POLICIES & PROCEDURES

CALL: 545-1555

OR

VISIT: 227 WHITMORE

UMASS

A SERVICE BY THE DEAN OF STUDENTS OFFICE

idb tips

INFORMATION DATA BANK
TAPED INFORMATION PHONE SERVICE

BLOOM COUNTY by Berke Breathed

BACKSTAGE IN ATLANTIC CITY... WITH THE FABULOUS "MISTER AMERICA PAGEANT" ONLY HOURS AWAY, THE EXCITED CONTESTANTS JOKE AND GIGGLE NERVOUSLY AS THEY ALL AWAIT THE CROWNING OF AMERICA'S NEW MANLY IDEAL!
I'M JUST SO NERVOUS... SAY, WHAT'RE YOU GONNA DO FOR THE TALENT COMPETITION?
DRINK FOUR SIX-PACKS AND SING 76 VERSES OF "LOVE, LOVE" WITHOUT PASSING OUT ONCE NOT ONCE?
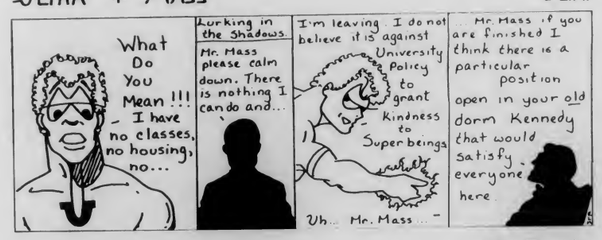
...OR THROWING UP.
WELL THAT BEATS MY TARGET SPITTING.
I HEAR "MISTER NEW JERSEY" IS BREAKDANCING.

Gorde By Gorde

MIDNIGHT...
AHH, THE FINE ARTS CENTER!
MANGO, YOU WOULDN'T BELIEVE HOW MUCH I'VE MISSED THIS PLACE
GOD... WE'RE SOPHMORES ALREADY. WHERE DID THE TIME GO?
"TIME FLIES WHEN YOU'RE HAVING FUN, EH?
AW... HELL! U.MASS...
...IT'S GOOD TO BE BACK

Underfoot By Joe Bradbury

ULTRA MASS E.L.M.



What Do You Mean!!! - I have no classes, no housing, no...
Lurking in the Shadows
Mr. Mass please calm down. There is nothing I can do and...
I'm leaving. I do not believe it is against University Policy to grant Kindness to Superbeings
Uh... Mr. Mass...
Mr. Mass, if you are finished I think there is a particular position open in your old dorm Kennedy that would satisfy everyone here.

Darrin's Comic Strip By Darrin

Hey, Stanley, come over tonight. I'm having a Jello wrestling party.
Oh boy! I'll be there!
#2
That night
Where are the rest of the cellos?
Darrin

Dear Freddy-Bob

By Roskey and Ashby

The Collegian needs drivers!!!

If you have a car and can spare 1½ hours a night see Mark Roden in the graphics dept.

DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE

Edited by Trude Michel Jaffe

ACROSS
1 Gentle one
5 Cockney's steeds
10 Scandinavian verse
14 Mine, in Marseilles
15 Biblical prophet
16 Rialto signs
17 Shopper's stop
19 Wall Street purchases
20 Spanish queen
21 Contentment
22 "—— to Remember"
24 Tire type
26 Unrestrained indulgences
28 Huntley
30 —— way (influence)
33 Rodeo items
36 Museum offering
38 "—— the ramparts..."
39 Afghanistan prince
40 Fights
41 Three, in Frankfurt
42 Head covering in Tangiers
43 Favorable planet position
44 Elvis' "Blue —— Shoes"
45 Bewildered states
47 Talks, mod style
49 Aha!
51 —— or not
55 Kept out
57 Gravitate
59 Coach Parseghian
60 Royalty, in Hawaii
61 Food store area
64 Direction, in music: Abbr
65 Contribute
66 Good It
67 Window part
68 "The Highwayman" poet
69 Stirs up

DOWN
1 Sneaker fastener, usually
2 Iowa church society
3 Unit
4 Auction action
5 Shopper's favorite sign
6 Dam it!
7 Pumps
8 ECC area
9 Finger painters
10 Noticed
11 Pharmacy
12 Biblical verb
13 Helper, for short
18 Slangy responses
23 Simple
25 Pastry person
27 Sports participant
29 Are you willing — it?
31 Pay attention to 32 Lake Indian
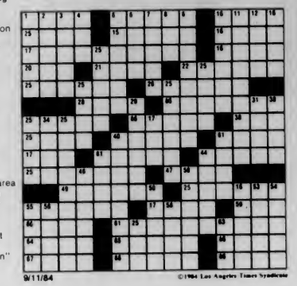
33 Oodles
34 Buddhist sacred mountain
35 Popular eating places
37 Reed-playing god
40 Emancipated person
41 Day follower
43 Car component
44 Thorn, in Turin
46 Swiss city
48 Los ——
50 "The Liner she's ——..."
52 U.S. aviator and general
53 A Forsyte
54 Poet Allen and family
55 Fisherman's reward
56 Claudia —— Johnson
58 Major ending
62 Tokyo, formerly
63 Diamond stat.

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE:

R	E	I	S	T	A	H	A	I	L	H	E	R	E	S
A	I	L	T	A	E	T	N	I	A	A	M	O	L	E
I	B	E	I	X	W	E	I	N	I	T	M	I	T	E	R
D	E	M	I	T	A	S	S	E	D	R	A	M	A
					A	R	A	B		N	O	T	S	I	C
D	A	M	A	S	K		S	A	M	A	R
U	R	A	L	S		A	L	L	I	G	A	T	I	O	N
M	I	L	L	E		A	Y	L	L		M	A	R	I
P	A	T	R	I	M	O	N	I	E	S
			T	U	N	K		D	I	N	N	I	L	E
A	N	I	S		E	R	E		P	O	P
V	I	T	A	L		M	A	R	I	A	G	E
A	G	A	I	N	A		E	R	I	E		O	L	A	N
S	E	I	T	O	N		N	O	O	N		T	A	R	N
T	R	E	N	D		T	I	A	R	T		S	I	T	S

9/11/84



©1984 Los Angeles Times Syndicate

Today's DC Menu

LUNCH

Cheeseburger
Spaghetti with Garden Vegetables

BASICS LUNCH

Bean Burgers
Spaghetti with Garden Vegetables

DINNER

Roast Turkey/Bread Dressing, Gravy, Cranberry Sauce
Frank Reuben

BASICS DINNER

Brazilian Rice Casserole
Roast Turkey/Bread Dressing, Gravy, Cranberry Sauce

Today's Weather

TODAY AND TONIGHT: Mostly cloudy, scattered showers. High 75-80, low 60.
TOMORROW: Partly to mostly cloudy chance of showers, high in 70s.

UMass... 15 years ago today

UMass...15 years ago today.
Thursday, September 11, 1969.

Nearly 100 colleges and universities around the country announced plans to hold a one-day halt to all research and classroom work in early October to protest the war in Vietnam.

A massive traffic jam stalled hundreds of cars as they attempted to leave the campus parking lots. The jam was labeled "unbelievable" by parking attendants.

The Board of Trustees were looking into a plan calling for Greenough House to be the first co-ed dormitory at UMass.

★★★ Sports Notices ★★★

All intramural entries for flag football, soccer and ultimate frisbee are due in the intramural office, (Boyden, room 215) by Wednesday. Teams will be scheduled in on a space available basis.

There will be a meeting for anyone interested in playing women's fall lacrosse on Thursday at 7 p.m. at NOPE, room 153.

All levels welcome. Contact coach Polly Keener in NOPE 158 for more information.

Baseball tryouts will be held at the junior varsity diamond through Thursday from 3:30 to 5:30. Contact coach Dick Berquist for more information.

Anyone interested in playing rugby should come to practice on Boyden lower fields on Tuesday, Wednesday or Thursday from 4 to 6 p.m.

Former baseball coach dies

Earle E. Lorden, 87, University of Massachusetts baseball coach for 19 seasons, died last Sunday at Cooley Dickinson Hospital in Northampton.

Lorden, who was honored by having the varsity baseball field named for him, was head baseball coach and a professor at UMass from 1947 until 1966.

He served as assistant athletic director and also assisted both the basketball and football programs during his years at Umass. Dick Berquist , the current UMass baseball coach, played under Lorden for three seasons and served as his freshman coach before taking over in 1966.

Lorden coached baseball and football at Turners Falls High School before coming to UMass. He earned a place in the Massachusetts high school coaches Hall of Fame for his efforts. His 1954 UMass team went to the college world series.

Lorden is in the UMass Hall of Fame and the Earle Lorden scholarship fund was established for baseball players in his name.

He leaves his wife of 58 years, the former Marion Royner, a son Joel of West Hartford, Conn. and six grandchildren.

THERE'S STILL TIME.

Late registration for fall day and evening credit courses is held Sept 5 - 18. Day courses are on a space-available basis; written permission is required.

Records & Registration Office
University Library, Rm. 104
Mon. - Thurs. 9 a.m. - 7 p.m.
Fri. 9 a.m. - 5 p.m.
Sat. (Sept. 8 - 29) 10 a.m. - 1 p.m.

Registration for Credit-Free Workshops may be made by telephone 545-0587 or in person.

Records & Registration
University Library, Rm. 111
Mon. - Fri. 8:30 a.m. - 5 p.m.

or in the
Records and Registration Office
University Library, Rm. 104
Mon. - Thurs. 5 p.m. - 7 p.m.
Sat. (Sept. 8 - 29) 10 a.m. - 1 p.m.

Payment may be made by cash (until 5 p.m.), check, VISA, or MasterCard.

DCE DIVISION OF CONTINUING EDUCATION
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AT AMHERST

Brighten Your Room!!

Now 2 Stores! Amherst Carriage Shops
Northampton - next to Iron Horse

POSTERS
Largest Selection Ever

Bamboo BLINDS

BEDSPREADS
cover walls, furniture, windows from $7.95

Paper LAMPSHADES

RUGS & MATS
colorful, durable
Greatly Expanded

CARDS
over 1400 designs

SKIRTS & BLOUSES
lots of comfortable cotton

Sterling and Gold Filled JEWELRY

DRAWSTRING PANTS
Earrings, Ear Cuffs, Rings, etc.

CLOTHING SALE
20% - 50% OFF
SELECTED BLOUSES, SHORTS
SKIRTS, DRESSES, T-SHIRTS

CHINESE SHOES
Wide Assortment

Mon - Sat 10 - 6
Sunday 12 - 5

THE MERCANTILE
AMHERST CARRIAGE SHOPS
GREAT GIFTS — GREAT PRICES

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIED

Monday - Thursday 8:45 - 3:45 • Friday 8:45 - 2:30 • Cash in advance • 5 consecutive days 5% discount • 10 consecutive days 10% discount • 15 consecutive days 15% discount • phone number free

ADVERTISING

Advertise FREE in the RIVER VALLEY AD - Advertise items you want to sell or buy. Call 532-9498

ATTENTION: WE'RE HIRING DJ'S

RACK A DISC RACK A VIDEO is hiring DJ's. Send resume to: PO Box 48, Amherst, MA 01004

AUTO FOR SALE

1979 Dodge Omni 4-door, standard, cloth upholstery, lots of extras, excellent shape, no rust. $2190 or best offer. Phone 584-9468

Foxy Fiat X 1/8 completely reconditioned removable hardtop low miles 1977 must sell 2500 Larry 256-0060

1976 Chevy Malibu, 2 door hardtop in good running condition. Best offer over $1,000. Call 549-0258

'73 Saab 96-A classic! BO 6-4648/4663

DESPERATE WOMAN

I need a place to live off campus the dorms are driving me crazy. Female, nonsmoker, clean easy to live with. Prefer N. Amherst & female roommates. Please call Maria at 546-5106 keep trying!!!

ENTERTAINMENT

VIDEO VIDEO VIDEO VIDEO Rack A Video entertainment giant. 10 and 15 foot screens for dorms and Greeks. "MTV" video music call 549-7144

Rack A Disc Rack A Video entertainment guaranteed events for Disc Jockeys, Bands and Video. Call 549-7144

WICKED AND WILD DJ's audio and visual entertainment for the 80's 584-6712

MIDRANGE PRODUCTIONS Professional Disc Jockeys any occasion reasonable rates call 253-3980

FOR RENT

3 bedrooms, on bus route, Belchertown Center 323-7246 evenings

FOR SALE

Refrigerator 5 cu ft used 1 yr $90.00 253-2833 nights

SOUNDESIGN STEREO Originally $900. 2 years old $469. Dresser $40 253-3682

Desk Set $50 or best offer call 256-0524 excellent condition

Hondo Electric Guitar $150 Westbury Amplifier $180 both excellent condition 586-7675 or 586-2815

Brand new 26" Kent bicycle must sell $75 or BO Michelle 546-0527

Panasonic AM FM stereo portable cassette deck Detachable speakers, metal capability, five b'nd graphic equalizer. One year old $150 Barry 665-7928

For Sale: refrigerator perfect for dorm $60 call 549-5808 evenings

Bed for sale $15 call 549-5808

3 ft Refrigerator holds plenty of food and beer; only $65 call 549-5862

1973 VW Bug excellent condition rebuilt engine $1800 or BO call 549-6628 or 549-1778

One beige curtain with hardware to fit sliding glass door. Great for Brandywine or Townehouse Apts. 256-8064

FOUND

Glasses found in Thompson 104 on 9/7. Call and identify 546-8638

FREE MEALS

Kitchen help needed in exchange contact Paul W at 253-9071

HELP WANTED

Earn good money working flexible hours. Harvest help needed to pick squash in Hadley near UMass. Call 549-0016 between 8:30 and 8:30 PM

Tenors, Basses with sightsinging skills wanted. Mount Holyoke Chapel Choir. Eight Wednesday evenings, fibe Sunday mornings thru December. $3.90/hr Auditiion, 538-2343

Waitresses apply at Rusty Nail Wed thru Sun eves

Housepersons wanted for Sorority, free meals in exchange for kitchen cleanup call 256-6874 ask for Renay

Utopia Spas part time counter work Sat & Sun days and weeknights available payment $ + tubs and ten free contect. Ron 253-7727 11 am - 5 pm

Utopia Spas part-time hot tubs maintenence & cleaning work payment $ + tub and tan free contect Ron 253-7727 11 am - 5 pm

Maintenance person wanted 2 hrs per day, Mon-Fri, mornings. Duties include cleaning office and maintaining equip. Mechanical aptitude and worktstudy required. Apply in person 10-11 Mon-Fri at 113 CC (Collegian office)

Help wanted housecleaning, child supervision, occasional errands. Wednesdays 1:30-5. $16/wk. Experience, references required. 253-7840

Newspaper deliverers needed in dorms. Early mornings. 7 days/week. Good pay for short hours. Call 253-7009

Wanted doorpersons for Northampton nightclub 584-7771

P time, exper necc audio bkgrnd helpful Sound Co. 201 N Pleasant, Amherst

Tutor for Calculus 132 needed desperately. Call Rob 546-1166

Experienced shoe salesperson part time apply in person only Mathews Shoes 39 So. Pleasant St. Amherst

INSTRUCTION

Know your car. Basic Automobile Workshop. 28 hours including classroom and shop. Limited enrollment. 253-2098

JOHN KERRY

Interested in Politics? Work for John Kerry, U.S. Senate candidate. Call Laura 546-8636

LOST

One Sante Barbera Savings Bank book If found call Craig O'Grant at 549-6048

Lost pair of rimless eyeglasses in brown hard case. Call 549-6726 if found

MOTORCYCLES

Honda 360 CL w/fullface helmet only 7500 mi $400 Brad 545-2150

PERSONALS

PERFORMING ARTS DIVISION Music, Theatre, Dance Instruction Old Chapel UMass 545-0513 Register by September 14

ATTENTION! Earn up to $550 in DC rebate while gaining access to fraternity meal plan. Call Jim Houston at 546-2150

To all at Chi Omega, Thanks for making my 21st B day so special. Welcome Home and here's to the best semester ever! I love y'all, Foo

Leigh-Leigh, Happy Birthdays! Let's celebrate in style. This time you'll have to ask me what you did! I love you, Foo

JDK Happy B Dey and welcome to UMass MCC

Rush tickets available for October 2, Worcester Centrum. Call 546-1461

Free Kittens call after 6 PM 253-5608

Jenis, Happy Belated Birthday love Rey

Janis Sorry its late Happy Birthday anyway love Terry

"Brain Damaged Kid", Thanks for the awesome weekends this summer!!! I'll always remember the good times and I'm looking forward to more! I love you kid!!! Me

Laura Maria Thank you for all the beautiful times I'll never forget see you next year Love Michael

RIDE WANTED

Gred student wants ride to/from Boston on Thursdays during fall term. Share expenses Doug 584-5720

ROOM WANTED

Quiet responsible senior business major, willing to share a room, very easy to get along with. Please call at 253-7200 if you have any room

1 bedroom in 2 bedroom apt Brittany Man prefer grad student bed provided. 256-1508

Ungrad. male serious responsible seeking room in apt. or house on bus route 548-0621

Female junior, desperate for a place to live serious studier but like to have fun too. Non-smoker call Theresa 549-4051

ROOMMATE WANTED

One female to share a room in a fully furnished apt in Brittany Manor from Sept - June 1985 rent 127.50 (heat included) call Su or Jes at 256-0873

Wanted female roommate for Brandywine apartment 549-1889

Two bedrooms in basement of house Come to 157 East Hadley Road - male or female accepted 256-0084

Wanted: Roommate, female, to share bedroom in Southwood apt, prefer nonsmoker please call 253-3619

Female to share double rm in Brittany call 253-5406

Female needed to share a townhouse in Sunderland if interested please call 665-4680

Female roommate wanted Townehouse Apts to share room. Call 549-4585

Female roommate wanted Brittany Manor Apts. 158G $130 + elec Maya or Todd 256-8413

TRAVEL

4 round trip tickets to Florida best offer price negotiable Ilene 549-6600

WANTED

I need to buy a television. Good small yet cheap. 546-6464

WANTED TO RENT

Apartment in Puffton or area for spring 85 rewrad $50 546-7228 Bob or Tim

WSYL RADIO

Benefit Show Friday 7:30 PM S.U.B. six live bands $3, all ages admitted come dance to Funk/Punk/Jazz/Rock

Pioneer Valley Data Equipment

SPECIALIZING IN STUDENT RENTALS

-VIDEO TERMINALS-
-PRINTERS-
-MODEMS-

RENTALS AS LOW AS $100.00 PER SEMESTER
259 TRIANGLE STREET, AMHERST 549-1017
Mon: 8:30 - 6:00 Tues-Fri: 8:30 - 8:00 Sat: 10:00 - 5:00

WITH SLY DUNBAR & ROB SHAKESPEARE AND SPECIAL GUEST

BLACK UHURU
WED. SEPT. 19
S.U.B. UMASS

tix on sale sept 7
UMass ID required to enter with Student ticket
STUDENTS $9.50
PUBLIC $11.50
Tickets on sale at Fine Arts Center, Springfield Civic Center, and Stop & Shop locations in Northampton Holyoke, Greenfield and Pittsfield.
No cans, bottles, cameras or recording devices.

See the light.

DESK LAMPS
many styles and colors to choose from a large selection of clamp-on lights also available

UL approved

Located in the Campus Center
Open M-F 9-5
Sat 11-4
UNIVERSITY STORE

YOU'VE HEARD ABOUT US NOW CHECK US OUT FRATERNITY RUSH

Alpha Delta Phi
395 N. Pleasant St.
545-3117
Tues. Sept. 11, 8-11
Wed. Sept. 12, 8-11
Thurs. Sept. 13, 8-1
Tues. Sept. 18, 8-11
Wed. Sept. 19, 8-11

Alpha Epsilon Pi
Campus Center
546-7051
Thurs. Sept. 13, 8-11
Wed. Sept. 19, 8-11

Alpha Tau Gamma
375 N. Pleasant St.
253-9974
Thurs. Sept. 13, 8-11

Beta Kappa Phi
388 N. Pleasant St.
253-9071
call for details

Delta Chi
118 Sunset Ave.
549-0482
Tues, Sept. 11, 9-11
Wed, Sept. 12, 9-11
Thurs, Sept. 13, 9-11
Tues, Sept. 18, 9-11

Delta Upsilon
778 N. Pleasant St.
549-3831
Tues, Sept. 11, 9-11
Wed, Sept. 12, 9-11
Tues, Sept. 18, 9-11
Wed, Sept. 19, 9-11

Lambda Chi Alpha
374 N. Pleasant St.
Tues, Sept. 11, 9-11
Wed, Sept. 12, 9-11
Thurs, Sept. 13, 9-11
Tues, Sept. 18, 9-11
Wed, Sept. 19, 9-11

Zeta Psi
23 Phillips St.
256-6845
Tues, Sept. 11, 9-11
Thurs, Sept. 13, 9-11
Tues, Sept. 18, 9-11
Thurs, Sept. 20, 9-11

Phi Mu Delta
14 Elm St.
256-6802
call for details

Phi Sigma Kappa
510 N. Pleasant St.
256-6863
call for details

Pi Kappa Alpha
418 N. Pleasant St.
545-2150
Mon, Sept. 10, 9-11
Tues, Sept. 11, 9-11
Wed, Sept. 12, 9-11
Mon, Sept. 17, 9-11
Tues, Sept. 18, 9-11

Sigma Phi Epsilon
70 Butterfield Terr.
545-2711
call for details

Theta Chi
496 N. Pleasant St.
253-9015
call for details

Sports

UMass goes Terrier hunting

Soccer in home opener

By SCOTT HOOD
Collegian Staff

The uphill struggle for respect in New England Collegiate Division I men's soccer for the University of Massachusetts starts today as the Minutemen open their season against the fourth-ranked in New England, Boston University Terriers at Boyden Field at 3:30.

There is no place to go but up for the Minutemen after a 3-12-4 campaign last year in which they tallied only 10 goals in the 19 games, being shutout 10 times. The one time they scored more than one goal came against BU in the season opener, which ended in a 2-2 tie.

"We're definitely going to be a lot more exciting and we're going to score some goals.

— Coach Jeff Gettler

In order to successfully gain their first win of '84, UMass must slip by a Terrier squad that on an individual basis posesses the finest players in New England. One reason for this is that there is no shortage of scholarships to be handed out by coach Hank Steinbrecker. There are 11 to be exact, the most of any school in New England.

Steinbrecker's major problem has been to blend the talents of those players, who come from every corner of the globe, including South America, Africa, Scandinavia, and England. For four consecutive years BU has failed to qualify for post-season action.

"They are great players," said UMass coach Jeff Gettler. "However, South Americans and Africans, due to their warmer climate, play a slower tempo game. The English play at 100 miles an hour, as do the Scandinavians. With all those different styles, it's difficult to get a cohesive team. That's why I like playing them so early in the season. As evidenced by the scholarships, they do have a commitment to excellence. People who come to the game won't see better individual players."

Collegian photo by Gerry deSimas

Coach Jeff Gettler (center) talks with his team during pre-season workouts. The minutemen open their season today at 3:30 p.m. against fourth ranked Boston University at Boyden.

Having lost 13 lettermen including eight starters, the unit the Minutemen put on the field today will be young but talented. Two-thirds of the starting lineup could consist of freshmen and sophomores, including Kurt Manal, a member of Canada's 19-and-under World Cup team, freshman Matt Cushing, a Parade Magazine All-American from Duxbury, and sophomore forward Ferdie Adoboe, who graduated from Amherst Regional High School. All are good scorers.

"We're definitely going to be a lot more exciting and we're going to score some goals," said Gettler. "Record-wise, to predict how we're going to do is impossible because we're so new. We probably won't hit our stride for a while. We are more homogeneous than BU, who must put up with the several playing styles, as well as communication problems. I have been impressed with how well our team has communicated on the field."

Despite the optimism, scoring problems have continued to haunt UMass in the pre-season. The Minutemen dropped a 2-0 decision to Amherst College in a full dress scrimmage last Friday on the Boyden Field, a scrimmage that Gettler said went a long way toward determining the 11 players who will start.

Following today's game, the Minutemen will hit the road for games at Fairfield on Thursday and Dartmouth on Saturday. The squad returns home to face the University of New Hampshire on Sept. 19.

Although UMass experienced problems last season, the Minutemen have had a history of success at home. In 1982, Gettler's first year, the club only lost one game at home, that being to Southern Connecticut. They managed to tie several outstanding clubs, including BU and UConn, which was coming off its national championship season of 1981.

1984 UMass Soccer schedule

MEN'S VARSITY SOCCER
Home Games Upper Boyden Field

Sept	11	BOSTON UNIVERSITY	3:30	6-7		UMASS INVITATIONAL
	13	at Fairfield	4:00		13 at	Rhode Island 1:00
	15	at Dartmouth	2:00		17	CONNECTICUT 3:00
	19	NEW HAMPSHIRE	3:30		20	HOLY CROSS 1:00
	21-22	at Rutgers Invitational			23	SO. CONNECTICUT 3:00
	26	at Providence	3:30		26 at	Boston College 7:00
	29	at Vermont	3:00		29	SPRINGFIELD 2:30
Oct	3	at Yale	3:00	Nov	4	MAINE 1:00
					6 at	Harvard 2:00
					10 at	Hartwick 1:30

Coach Jeff Gettler

Soccer: UMass vs. Boston Univ.

Where: Boyden Field
When: Today, 3:30 p.m.
Last season: The two teams played to a 2-2 tie, the only game UMass managed to score more than one goal in.
The rankings: BU-fourth in New England. UMass is unranked.
Players to watch: (UM) Kurt Manal, Matt Cushing, Ferdie Adoboe. Three scoring threats from anywhere on the field. These two freshmena and a sophomore (Adoboe) should help spark UM's offense. (BU) Every Terrier is talented and individually they are the best team in N.E. But different styles of play hinder the Terriers on the pitch.
Injuries: none for both teams

UMass has ruined my college football tailgating

PETER ABRAHAM

One of my fondest memories of high school was when a bunch of us took a keg of cheap beer, I think it was Busch, and went to Schaefer (no Sullivan) Stadium to see the Patriots.

We drank lots of beer, ate lots of Fenway Franks and watched football until late in the afternoon. It was one hell of a time.

Collegian photo by Mitch Drantch

These brave souls continue on with an American tradition, beer at tailgates, despite new UMass rules

My sophomore year of college, after transferring from a school that, shudder, didn't have football, was full of tailgates in P Lot, and yes, more beer drinking.

Beer and college students go together like peanut butter and jelly, Whitmore and red tape, Ward and June. It's a law of nature.

But no more.

Faceless, merciless UMass officials have banned kegs in parking lots before football games and even any alcoholic beverage in some parts of the lots. What is the world coming to?

Football games mean tailgates. Tailgates mean beer. The tailgate industry is growing at an amazing rate. Some people have gone from hamburgers on the hibachi to French food on the Grillmaster.

Why has UMass shot down the whole tradition of tailgating? I know, they'll say "You don't need beer to have fun." But to see UMass football you sometimes need a few beers in your system.

Football games are more than athletic contests, they are social events. Beer and other alcoholic beverages are an intricate part of that scene.

It's downright un-American to ban beer at tailgates. The people responsible should be forced to do funnels until they can't see. Don't try and hide behind your desk in Whitmore, you'll be found out. By the name of Augustus Busch III, we'll get you.

I know you teetotalers out there will be quick to criticize me on my stand in support of drinking. I don't care. There are a lot more of my kind of people here than there are of you. Drinkers at UMass football unite, write letters, get angry. We have only our sobriety to lose.

It's hard to believe. Pub mugs are up to 50 cents, now there's no beer at football games. I should transfer to BC.

FOOTBALL NOTES: I knew something was wrong when theUMass band and cheerleaders lined up next to the gate to form an aisle for the team to run through, and coach Bob Stull led the team by the band and through the goalposts. If you can't get the pre-game right, things are tough.

There were 11,871 fans at sun-drenched Alumni Stadium on Saturday, and probably another 2000 in the parking lots, despite the keg ban.C'mon folks, support the team. They are actually pretty interesting to watch and are much better than last season's 3-8 team.

Finally, where have you gone Horace Clarke?

sports at a glance

UMass schedule: Soccer, vs. Boston University today at 3:30 at Boyden Field.
Water polo vs. Amherst, postponed until Thursday, 4:00 at Boyden Pool.

Pro Scores

Chicago 3, Philadelphia 2
St. Louis 3, New York 2
Milwaukee 7, Boston 4
New York 6, Toronto 2

The Massachusetts Daily NEW ENGLAND'S LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY

Collegian

Volume CXIV, Issue 73 UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AMHERST (545-3500) Wednesday, September 12, 1984

Collegian photo by Paul Desmarais

REACH FOR IT — Richard Dort, from a local roofing company, works on the Baker Hall roof.

Kegs turned away from football game tailgates

By ROBERT NOLAN
Collegian Correspondent

In an effort to curb drinking and "enhance the university image," keg-bearing students will be turned away from future games at the Alumni Stadium parking lot, according to Gerald T. O'Neil, Director of Public Safety.

"Kegs are not being taken away, they're being turned away," said O'Neil. He said that the new policy is a combined effort by the Public Safety Board and the Physical Education office to eliminate an over-indulgence of alcohol in the parking lots.

"We want fans, not drinkers," said O'Neil, "its a big party out there...people are drinking to the point of rowdyism," O'Neil said.

"This is not the true form of tailgating," said O'Neil. "People are arriving at 10 a.m. and drinking until 5 p.m. with many people not even watching the game.

Assistant director of Athletics Chet Gladchuk said, "We want to maintain certain controls on the parties." "we're not looking to create any furvor or uproar, we're just looking for ways to correct a problem."

It's a big party out there. People are drinking to the point of rowdyism." —Gerald O'Neil,

According to Gladchuk, the issue of tailgating is "still pretty much up in the air" and he explained that future meetings are needed to set possible university policies.

"There is no program yet", said Gladchuk. "We're simply trying a heavy option by approaching certain people" who possess kegs, he said.

Although no definite policies have been set, the no-keg policy will remain in effect for the season, according to O'Neil.

O'Neil said that "preliminary meetings" will begin this Friday with the Student Affairs Office and Chancellor Joseph D. Duffey on the keg issue.

UMass party image fading: progress in school stature

By LAURA YEE
Collegian Staff

The "Zoo Mass" image of the University is fading, said Deirdre Ling, who is completing her first year as the vice-chancellor of University Relations and Development.

"I can see a tremendous progress in the stature of the University as seen in the students, academics, and in the administration," Ling said.

"We haven't sacrificed diversity to academic credit."

"As a support unit to the chancellor, our acheivements give us much to sing about," Ling said.

Ling's office has helped in several ways. $297,000 grant from the Exxon Education Foundation that funded computer graphics design system and Ling helped establish a major gifts program.

Ling's office also helped add a five percent increase for the school's operating budget, and successfully executed a variety of events including commencement, on campus meetings of the Board of Trustees, and new faculty and staff receptions.

"We are in the business of image building," Ling said. "But the perception must match the reality of the University or it's an exercise in puffery."

Ling said the University is getting positive mention and appreciation internally, externally, and in the media.

Since her appointment a year ago, Ling said she has spent much of her efforts "building a sense of identity and a clear set of goals" that has reflected in building up the reputation of the University.

"It's frightening that one bad press event can ruin months of work. People forget all the positive due to one bad story.

"Seven years ago, after the Halloween fiasco, all I heard was Zoo Mass, or 'party school' just due to that one bad weekend," she said.

Ling said that the alumni are feeling more positive about the University. She cited a 60 percent increase in alumni donations.

"We've formed more relations with industries because of the quality of our facility," she added.

But Ling said that the year wasn't without obstacles.

"It's difficult for a brand new unit when resources are tight because resources are not always available," she said.

Ling said that eight new staff positions in the office of development and Alumni Affairs has enabled her office to grow but "personnel problems and the resignation of key people has been very frustrating."

SOM dean to resign: "It's easy to burn yourself out"

By IAN POLUMBAUM
Collegian Staff

Jack S. Wolf, associate dean for external affairs in the University of Massachusetts School of Management (SOM), and Harry T. Allen, dean of the SOM will resign from their positions at the end of this academic year.

Wolf said, yesterday, that he will continue working in the SOM as a professor marketing. Allen could not be reached for comment, but the Springfield Daily News reported that he will also take a teaching position next fall.

Wolf said he will resign because he feels a change is due.

"I've been an administrator in one area or another (of the SOM) for 18 years," he said. "It's easy to burn yourself out.

"It's time for new ideas, new thrusts, new ways of making friends for the School of Management," he said.

Dean Wolf has also served as chairman of the Marketing Department, associate dean for academic programs, and acting dean during his tenure at UMass.

At his current post, he oversees job placement, executive training and relations between the SOM and corporations — part of "the marketing of the University," he said.

Wolf said he thought the most significant accomplishment as dean has been that "placement has been professionalized. We now have our own director of placement."

The SOM's placement program is supported totally by corporate and alumni contributions, he said. "There's no state money involved.

"I would have liked to have made greater progress in working out partnerships with corporations," Wolf said. "A lot more companies could know about us.

"External work is something all units of the University must work on; getting the corporate community and everyone in the public domain to understand that this is a great university and could be greater."

Inside:

Beware of what happens with a full moon pg.3
UMass men's soccer upsets Boston University 1-0.....pg. 16

"It's time we all reach out for soemthing new; that means you too."

—Prince, Purple Rain

Former UM director...

Feminist runs for seat

By REBECCA THATCHER
Collegian Staff

"Regionalizing" the economic development of Hampshire County towns is one of the main goals of a former University of Massachusetts administrator who is running for the Democratic nomination for County Commissioner.

Pat Lewis Sackrey, 46, of Westhampton, worked at UMass from 1969 to 1974 as director of Continuing Education for Women. During that time she helped start the Every women's Center and designed programs for non-traditional women students.

Three County Commissioners are elected to part-time positions for four year terms. The position, which entails supervising the Hampshire County jail, hospital, planning department and human services, has never been held by a woman, according to Sackrey.

"It's high time," she said.

Sackrey, who is now director of the Hilltown Community Development Corporation (HDC), said county government could be used much more effectively to help towns survive higher costs and proposition 2½.

She said her work and

continued to page 5

World and National News

Reagan to meet with Soviet Foreign Minister Gromyko

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan announced Tuesday he will meet with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko at the White House on Sept. 28 for his first face-to-face talk with any senior Kremlin leader since taking office nearly four years ago.

Reagan, whose political opponents blame him for rekindling an arms race with the Soviet Union, said the most important thing he hopes to accomplish by his private talk with the veteran Soviet official is "to maybe convince him the United States means no harm."

In a brief question-and-answer session with reporters at the White House after announcing that Gromyko had accepted his invitation, Reagan said he doesn't know how much can be expected from the meeting.

But he suggested that the failure of all his administration's arms control talks with the Soviets indicate it is time to start at a more basic level to reduce "suspicion and hostility."

"Maybe the time has come that anything that can perhaps get a better understanding between our two governments maybe should precede any resumption of dealings on specifics if there can be an easing of any suspicion or hostility," Reagan said.

Later Tuesday, Reagan announced an increase in the ceiling on grain sales to the Soviet Union to permit the Soviets to buy an additional 1 million metric tons of grain beginning Oct. 1, the start of the second year of a long-term trade agreement. Reagan did the same thing a year ago to increase U.S. farm exports.

Campaigning in Chicago, Democratic challenger Walter F. Mondale said he hopes the president and Gromyko make progress, but he added it was "pretty pathetic" that the session is to take place in the middle of Reagan's re-election campaign.

Republican congressional leaders who met with Reagan at the White House shortly before the announcement hailed it as a sign the Kremlin is convinced Reagan will be re-elected and has decided it must deal with him.

Ap Laserphoto

Big splash — Pat Cardwell (left) of Mayodan, N.C., and her mother Ruth Meeks from Eden, N.C. brave large waves at Fort Macon, N.C. Tuesday as Hurricane Diana heads towards North Carolina.

Hurricane Diana slams NC coast with 135 MPH winds

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP) — Hurricane Diana, whirling 135 mph winds aorund its eye, slammed into North Carolina's southeastern coast Tuesday night, with torrential rain and tree-bending wind that threatened to push tides up to 12 feet above normal. Thousands of people fled to higher ground.

At 8 pm, winds were clocked at 1 mph at Yaupon Beach on Oak Island near Cape Fear at nightfall as the eye of the first Atlantic hurricane of the season was just off the coast, about 3 miles south-southeast of downtown Wilmington. The hurricane's storm surge of high water was expected to coincide with a full moon high tide.

"Hurricane Diana is now a dangerous hurricane," the National Weather Service said.

"Further strengthing is likely."

Gov. Jim Hunt declared a state emergency and called out 2 National Guard troops to help with "traffic control and security," and urged residents of low-lying areas of five coastal counties to evacuate.

No injuries were reported as night fell.

At 6:5 p.m, winds at Holden Beach and Sunset Beach hit 7 mph and heavy winds lashing the entire coast, tearing down power lines and bending trees almost to the ground in some places.

Meteorologist Jackson Canady at Shallotte in Brunswick County reported that 2½ inches of rain has fallen Tuesday before the storm made its final rush for the coast.

The Red Cross said 7, people were in 23 shelters in the Wilmington area counties of New Hanover, Brunswick, Columbus, Pender and Onslow, said spokeswoman Martha Sellers.

Brunswick County officials said 99 percent of the residents on the beaches and one mile back from the Inland Waterway had been evacuated by 6 pm. Several evacuation centers set up in the county were filled and churches were taking in the overflow.

Pope John Paul II tells Canadians to leave modern 'spiritual desert'

MONTREAL (AP) — Pope John Paul II, parish priest for a day to this bustling northern metropolis, beckoned Canadians on Tuesday to leave the "spiritual desert" of the modern world and rediscover God.

"Nothing can fill the emptiness of his absence!" the pontiff, wagging a finger, preached to more than 30,000 people in central Jarry Park. It was the biggest crowd ever assembled in this French-Canadian city.

The pope, whose visit has stirred protests among feminists here, also took note Tuesday of the expanding role of women in the liberal Candian church.

But he said nothing to alter his staunch defense of traditional church positions against women priests, divorce, artifical contraception and abortion.

One Montreal group scheduled a march later Tuesday to demonstrate opposition to the pope's conservative stands on such issues.

Materialism and women were central themes on the third day of John Paul's 12-day Canadian tour. His evening schedule included a rally with Roman Catholic youth at Montreal's Olympic Stadium.

Tens of thousand of Montreal's 3 million people jammed the sidewalks on a gray and drizzly day to cheer the pontiff pass in his bubble-domed popemobile. Catholic schoolchildren, given the day off, waved papal flags.

But enthusiasm for the papal visit masked serious problems within Quebec province's once powerful church.

AP Laserphoto

GIVES BLESSING — Pope John Paul II blesses a member of the Sisters of the Congregation of Notre Dame during his visit to Montreal, Canada.

Hepatitis B vaccination available

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP)- Immunization clinics against hepatitis B are expected to open next week, as an effort to stem the outbreak of the deadly disease, Walter G. Irvine, director of the city Department of Public Health, said Tuesday.

Irvine said the city has "fairly quick access" to the vaccine and will have enough in stock to provide 9 people the first of three needed immunization shots.

He said immunization clinics would be for drug users and their sexual partners, who are most at risk of contracting hepatitis B, and it was hoped a clinic could be established at each end of the city.

Health officials have recorded a total of 89 cases of hepatitis B since the epidemic began in September 1983. Since mid-December, six of the cases have resulted in death. Three new cases were reported last week.

Hepatitis B is a virus which can cause liver failure and death. In less virulent stages, the disease can be debilitating. It is marked by an inflammation of the liver characterized by jaundice, fever, cramps, nausea and vomiting.

The disease mostly affects drug users and their sexual partners. It is spread by the sharing of contaminated needles or contact with contaminated body fluids such as blood, semen or saliva.

Heavy seas stop salvage mission

ONSTEND, Belgium (AP)- Wind and waves in the North Sea kept divers from determining Tuesday whether 3 containers of radioactive material have drifted out of a sunken ship's broken hull, salvage company officials said.

A gap of 12 feet has developed between the fore and aft sections of the French freighter Mont Louis, which sank last month and was torn apart by 2-foot waves and 7-mph winds late Monday, according to Henk Drenth of the Dutch salvage company Smit Tak International. Drenth said the hull broke apart at a point where divers earlier made a hole to retrieve the barrels of radioactive uranium hexaflouride.

Worsening weather Tuesday again prevented divers from going down to the wreck, Drenth said.

Today's Staff

Night Editor	Gerry deSimas
Copy Editor	Taara Eden Hoffman
Layout Technician	Andy Gould
Photo Technician	Paul Desmerais
Production Supervisor	Lesley Clark
Production	Dode B. Levenson, Chris Meagher, Fran Weinberg, Conor Plunkett, Lynn Nigro

Full moon brings strange behavior to UMass

By RICHARD MARTIN
Collegian Staff

Maybe you haven't noticed it, but University of Massachusetts security and health officials know there has been a full moon the past five nights.

They're glad to see it go, too, because they think its presence leads to increased and "unusual" activity by students on campus.

"Usually two days before and two days after the full moon (3:02 am Sunday), people with a lot of unusual complaints come out of the woodwork," said a member of the University Health Services professional staff.

"For instance, I had a young lady come in last year who was convinced she had a cough. What happened is that she was sleeping with a teddy bear and woke up after inhaling a hair ball. She was perfectly okay, but how do you convince somebody looking to be ill that there's really nothing wrong with them?" said the staff member.

UMass Police Chief Robert G. Joyce is convinced that strange activity perks up during full moons.

"There's no doubt in my mind," Joyce said. "There's more activity most of the time when there's a full moon. I can tell if there was one the night before without even knowing, I just look at the sheet (police log)."

According to a Health Services staff member, one explanation for the strange behavior is that extra light encourages people to be outside more. But Dr. E. Bruce Taub-Bynum, a clinical psychologist with the UMass Mental Health Services, thinks there might be more to it than that.

"This is one a purely speculative basis, but its not unreasonable, that since the moon is known to have an effect on water and tides, and since the human body is 98 percent water, perhaps the magnetic fields affect the water in the human body and brain," said Taub-Bynum.

"There's a great deal more research going on with this in the Soviet Union. Ancient yogis have long studied the relationship between the sun and moon and human behavior," he said.

"It's also interesting that a woman's menstrual cycle is roughly 28 days, as are the phases of the moon, and that they're related in a way not completely understood by Western science," said Taub-Bynum.

"This is on a purely speculative basis...since the human body is 98 percent water, perhaps the magnetic fields affect the water in the human body and brain."
—Dr. E. Bruce Taub-Bynum

He also said that the words "lunacy" and "lunactic" are derived from the word "lunar." Patients in mental asylums in the 18th century would often scream at the moon, and be labled "lunatics."

Collegian photo by Tom Kudla

ON THEIR WAY — Larry Puzzo (Far left), Gene O'Brien (Center) and Pim Groundstandra are on their way to band practice Tuesday.

First senate meeting to rule on summer senate action

By BOB BURGESS
Collegian Staff

Undergraduate Student Senate members are scheduled to vote on actions taken by senate officers and Student Government Association committee chairpersons over the summer.

At the first meeting of the Student Senate tonight the senators will vote approval or disaproval of the descisions of the Summer Coordinating Committee which served as the out-of-school senate this summer.

The Coordinating Commitee was comprised of three senate officers, six SGA commitee chairs, the SCERA student coordinator, an Affirmative Action officer and representatives from the Third World Affairs and Women's Caucus'.

Senate Speaker Chris Sullivan said yesterday that most of the committee's dealings "will cause little trouble," with the senators. The exception may be over funds delegated to send members to a United States Student Association (U.S.S.A.) conference in Eugene, Oregon Aug. 4-9, he said.

Sullivan said the Coordinating Commitee "debated over whether to send four or five people to the conference," and that the cost to send five "may cause a little controversy" with the regular senate.

Senators are also scheduled to vote on approval of the Third World Caucus Constitution, which was re-written over the summer, and the revised SGA Budget Act.

This will be one of the last meetings before the senate holds elections October 1-2. Sullivan said one of the biggest tasks before this senate "is to get more people involved in student government." Sullivan plans to mail out leaflets to Resident Assistants, as well as speak at House Council meetings in dorms where there are not many student representatives.

Students to earn from snow

By TAARA EDEN HOFFMAN
Collegian Staff

Students at the University of Massachusetts now have the opportunity to enjoy snow-filled winter nights while earning $5 an hour shoveling snow in the residential areas.

The Physical Plant will also pay students between $6.50 and $9.75 an hour to supervise the student shovelers, accortling to Al Potter, head of grounds and transportation at the Physical Plant.

"We'd like all students to apply," Potter said. "We'd like to encourage underclassmen as well so there will be experienced workers in the future.

Three managers and three assistants will be chosen to oversee the Southwest residential area, the Central/Orchard Hill area, and the Northeast/Sylvan area. A selection committee comprised of the Affirmative Action officer at UMass, two Physical Plant representatives, a Student Government Association representative, from the Presidents office, and a student representative from the President's office,and a a student representative will screen applications and then interview applicants for the positions.

All applicants not hired for these positions will be given first priority as snow shovelers.

SGA Co-President Rick Patrick said these managerial positions "could pave the way for future student employment."

In the past, students have shoveled snow after major storms, but they have never held paid managerial positions, Patrick said.

"This is an (important link) between students and the Physical Plant to rectify what has been a problem in snow removal in the past," he said.

The Physical Plant will contact the area mangers, who in turn will contact their assistants. The assistants will contact the needed number of shovelers for each storm. The mangers will be responsible for delegating locations in the area to be shoveled, supervising those working in the area, and reporting the Physical Plant.

"You get exposed to dealing with people. There's the valuable experience," Potter said.

Those interested in these positions can pick up applications at the Grounds and Transportation office on the first floor of the Physical Plant. The deadline for applying is September 24.

Author to discuss ethnic America

Nicholasa Mohr, author of many articles, short stories and several award winning books on Puerto Rican and Hispanic American life will speak at 8 p.m. tonight in Campus Center room 101 in the fourth part of the series, "Writers Speak: America and the Ethnic Experience."

The program is free and open to the public.

In 1981, Mohr recieved the American Book Award for Excellence in Literature. Her books include Nilda (1973)

Woman discusses in depth the experience of abortion

By LISA STRATOULY
Collegian Staff

Editor's note:

The University Health Center and most abortion clinics are confidential about information concerning the abortion process. Information for this article was provided by a woman who recently underwent an abortion while attending the University of Massachusetts and was willing to talk about her experience. Her identity will remain confidential.

The UMass Health Center assists pregnant women with informational and psycholigical counseling to inform them of the options available and to assist in their decision-making. The counseling sessions, according to the woman who recently had an abortion, help women deal with their fears, guilt, anger, and other emotions they may be experiencing.

The counselors are genuinely concerned for you, and actually really care.

If a woman decides to have an abortion, she is refered to two clinics; Hampden OB/GYN in Springfield, or the Amherst Medical Association. The Springfield clinic offers the choice of general or local anestheia, but the Amherst clinic has the facilities for local anesthesia only. General anesthesia, which puts the patient to sleep, costs about $300, and carries risks of allergic reactions or nausea.

Local anesthesia, which only anesthesizes a certain part of the body, costs roughly half that amount.

The woman providing information for this article chose the Springfield clinic.

I couldn't be awake and watch what I had to do no matter what the risks. The decision was painful enough.

According to the woman, the process at Hampden OB/GYN in Springfield was relatively simple. The counseling sessions in Springfield was helpful and provided detailed information about the risks and dangers involved in the operation, including blood clots, nausea, perforated ueterus, incomplete abortion, hemoraging, risk of infection, and continued pregnancy. The statistics of the possible occurence of these risks (relatively rare) are given to the woman.

All abortion clinics give indepth counseling and information about the risks involved, so that the woman knows exactly what's going on.

At this point in the process the counselor focuses on the confidence the woman has in her decision. If the counselor feels that the woman is not comfortable in her decision, the counselor will recommend that the operation not be performed.

Hampden OB/GYN requires a document informing patients in detail of the risks involved in abortion to be signed and witnessed before the operation.

The type of operation this woman had took about 45 minutes. For 24 hours afterwards, women shouldn't drive cars or operate other machinery, sign important papers, or drink alcohol. Normal activity can be resumed after the 24 hour period, as tolerated.

Some after effects women may experience are vaginal bleeding from two days to two weeks, minor cramps, and depression.

...my boyfriend told me I was a waste for getting pregnant. I was very surprised at his reaction...but I had a very had special person to help me through it all...to miss classes and cry with me and help me not feel like a waste of a person, and not feel alone. Just before the operation, I decided to think good thoughts of my little two year old niece, and when I woke up and realized I didn't die and wasn't pregnant with a baby I didn't want or couldn't handle, I was happy to be alive again.

AP Laserphoto

Passerbys kneel by one of the two Massachusetts men Tuesday who died shortly after their single engine plane crashed on Plum Island Beach in Newbury, Mass. Cause of the crash wasn't immediately determined.

Studds enters last week of campaign

NEW BEDFORD, Mass (AP) – Rep. Gerry Studds, D-Mass., facing the toughest re-election race of his congressional career, opens the final week of campaigning Tuesday with a debate featuring the two Democrats and three Republicans seeking to unseat him.

Studds, censured by the House last year for a 1973 affair with a 17-year-old male page, faces Plymouth County Sheriff Peter Flynn and Christopher Trundy, a financial adviser from New Bedford, in the Democratic primary Set. 18.

On the Republican side, former Environmental Protection Agency administrator Lewis Crampton; George Donovan, a Hull lawyer; and John Bennett, a Provincetown businessman, are seeking a spot on the November general election ballot.

Although the censure has ceased to be a vocal issue in the campaign, it is the underlying reason why Studds, who until the censure was considered unbeatable, faces such strong opposition.

"I'd be hard pressed to think of any other reason why they are running," Studds said in an interview earlier this year.

Parties share gov't.

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP)- The right-wing Herut Party of outgoing Prime Minister Yitzhak Shamir on Tuesday endorsed an agreement for bipartisan rule with the rival Labor Party. The vote cleared the way for Labor's Prime Minister-designate Shimon Peres to present a Cabinet to Parliament.

Labor endorsed the joint rule accord Monday after a bitter debate. A new Labor-Likud bloc government could be installed Wednesday.

Shamir on Tuesday beat back a challenge from former Defense Minister Ariel Sharon, who appealed a show-of-hands vote approving Herut Cabinet members, including Sharon as industry and trade minister.

99.3 FM HOT SPOT
Listen to 99.3 FM for further details
99¢ Specials

99¢ Bottle Beer domestic brands
(only with food purchase, good only until 12 midnight)
99¢ Overstuffed New Englander Sandwich
99¢ A Regular Order of Potato Skins
with bacon and cheese sauce

Sun.-Thurs. 6 a.m.-3 a.m.
Fri & Sat 24 Hrs.
Super Stop & Shop Campus Shopping Center
Rte. 9, Hadley/Amherst
256-6889

James H. McManus eating place
Coca-Cola

Postive ID Required

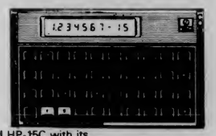
LAMBDA CHI ALPHA
OPEN RUSH
All University Men Invited
September 11, 12, 13, 18
9 - 11 pm
FREE REFRESHMENTS
374 N. Pleasant St. 253-9032
(the Blue House)

The following RSO Groups have Accounts in the Student Activities Trust Fund that have been suspended and are pending withdrawal from the RSO System. To reactivate the RSO Accounts listed below contact the Business Manager in the Student Activities Office, Room 416 Student Union Building, 545-3600, between 1:00 pm and 4:00 pm weekdays.

Sims
Air Force ROTC
Dart Club
Karate-Isshinryn
Tai Chi Chuan Club
Mens Vs Viol Vs Women
Arab Organization
Union Iranian St.
Young Workers Liberation Lea.
Pre Medical Society
Solar Energy Coll.
Kappa Delta Pi
Phi Eta Sigma
Pi Lambda Phi
Sigma Alpha Mu
Roister Doisters
Christian Science Club
SCANN
Wu Shu Club
Pioneer Valley L-5 Society
Naiads
Volleyball Club
Democratic Student Comm.
The Real Majority
Center for Women of Color
Circle K Club
Iranian Student Association
Big Business Club
Beta Chi
Micron Nu Society
Phi Mi Delta
Sigma Alpha Epsilon
Theta Chi
New Testament Fellowship
Navigators

CALCULATOR CENTER
Basic Business Scientific

PRICE BREAK!



Let the Hewlett-Packard HP-15C with its powerful functions and advanced programmability eliminate your most tedious calculations.
Matrix operations
Complex functions
Solve and Integrate
448 program lines
Insert/delete editing
RPN logic, Continuous Memory, and liquid-crystal display

HP 15C
$99.00
org list 120.00

HP - 12C
$99.00
org list 120.00

Open M-F 9-5
Sat 11-4

UNIVERSITY STORE

★commissioner

continued from page 1

connections at the HDC could easily be expanded to the county level.

"If I was elected the two jobs would complement each other," she said.

Sackrey said she felt the county government could help support the development of small business, locally owned farms and wood producers.

Town problems, like potholes, solid waste disposal, transportation could be handled more economically if the towns worked together for example, to hire one engineer to work on the roads, she said.

Her goal, she said, "is to meet more local needs.

UMass students should support Sackrey, she said, because, the health and beauty of the rural communities is closely related to the quality of life at UMass.

Sackrey said she is a feminist who has not only worked in, but benefited from the women's movement.

DELANO'S

St. Pauli Nite
Manufacturers Rep.
giving away posters
T-Shirts, etc.
Plus our Original
Twofers & hors d'oevres
7 days 7 nights
4-6 pm 10-midnight
Proper ID a Must
57 N. Pleasant St.
253-5141

Rugs stolen from Amherst home

Amherst police reported that two rugs valued at $1000 each were stolen from the garage of a south Amherst home Monday. Police believe the theft took place between September 4 and September 9, but said they can't be sure because the house has been unoccupied.

The owner of the house reported the theft at 5:18 p.m. Monday when he went to check on construction work at the house.

Police arrested a University Of Massachusetts student Monday night on outstanding traffic warrants issued by State Police in Framingham. An 18-year-old Roxbury man was cited for speeding at 11:48 p.m. on South Pleasant Street and was arrested after a computer check revealed the warrants against him. The man was also charged with possession of an altered driver's license.

Tools gone from Worcester D.C

Worcester Dining Commons was broken into over the weekend and $300 worth of electricians tools was reported missing, according to University of Massachusetts Police. The break-in was discovered Monday morning. Police have no suspects.

Vandals pulled the winshield wipers off of a 1979 Datsun in Lot 49 near Van Meter dorm, according to police. There were also dents and scratches on the hood of the car police said. Damage was estimated by police to be over $100.

–RICHARD MARTIN

SUMMERS RETURN ENGAGEMENT — Jackie Savetsky, a freshman Casiac major enjoys some ice cream and the pleasant weather on the Campus Center steps Tuesday.

English prof. changes class for favorite soap

An Amherst College professor rescheduled his classes on Robert Frost and William B. Yeats so that they wouldn't conflict with the soap opera "Search For Tomorrow." William Pritchard, 51, says he's ecstatic that the show is back on local television.

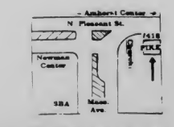
Pritchard waged a letter-writing campaign last spring when WWLP, the NBC affiliate in Springfield, dropped the soap opera.

The English literature professor says his avocation fulfills a need to escape from the "wordy world" of Byron and Plato. He even got to join the show for a day as an extra after the serial's producers learned of his efforts to keep it in the local air.

Pi Kappa Alpha
OPEN RUSH

We are. . .
- Greek area intramural softball and football champs
- the fraternity that does not haze
- the house that raised over 60,000 for Multiple Sclerosis

RUSH PARTIES
Mon. Sept. 10 at 9 pm
Tues. Sept. 11 at 9 pm
Wed. Sept. 12 at 9 pm
Mon. Sept. 17 at 9 pm
Tues. Sept. 18 at 9 pm



Pi Kappa Alpha
TEL. 545-2150

★★★★★★★Free Refreshments★★★★★★★

REQUIRED READING

Open M-F 9-5 Sat 11-4
UNIVERSITY STORE

TV SALE

19" Motel Color Portables

Incredible Low—"Take Them Away"—Prices

Selling At The

HOWARD JOHHSON MOTOR LODGE

RTE 9, HADLEY

WED. 9/12 1:00 P.M.-7:00 P.M.

THURS. 9/13 11:00 A.M.-5:00 P.M.

MasterCard & VISA Accepted — Sale Held by RBM Sales Corp.

Want to be on stage?
Need exposure?
Now's your chance!

The Orchard Hill/Central FallFest 1984 is in search of local student bands to perform Saturday, September 22.
Sound System and staging provided.

CALL DAVE AT 546-6195
OR BILL 546-6893

NOW!!

Computer Works

Welcome Back Specials

SANYO 550 COMPUTERS

- 2 drives
- includes word processing, spreadsheet, and information management software

$1295. single side drives

228 Triangle St., Amherst, 549-7133

the Hungry U Restaurant

check out our happy hour munchie menu daily!

! PIZZA PARTY !

ALL SEMESTER LONG

8 till closing

Monday thru Thursday

buy a large pizza and get a pitcher for only $1.99

Happy Hour 3-6, 9-close 7 days per week

2 in 1 drinks

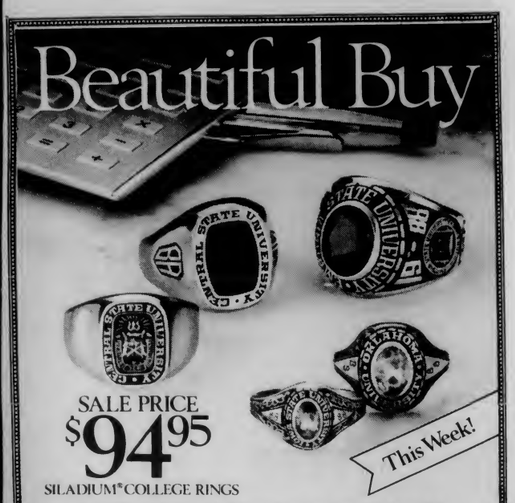
55 University Drive, Amherst 549-5713

JOHN DELLARIA SALONS

Brings you only the best in hair fashion From long locks to short takes to the most innovative fashion statement Enjoy choosing what works best for you

26 Main Street, Amherst MA 253-9293

Beautiful Buy



SALE PRICE

$94.95

SILADIUM® COLLEGE RINGS

This Week!

Your college ring is now more affordable than ever. Save on an incredible variety of Siladium ring styles with custom features that express your taste and achievements. Each Siladium ring is custom made, with careful attention to detail. And every ArtCarved ring is backed by a Full Lifetime Warranty. Don't miss out. It's the perfect time to get a beautiful buy on a great college ring. See your ArtCarved representative soon.

ARTCARVED UNIVERSITY STORE

Sept. 12/13/14 9-5

Date Time Place

Deposit Required. Master Card or Visa Accepted

© 1984 ArtCarved Class Rings, Inc.

Black Affairs

Caucus to hold first meeting

The Third World Legislature Cucus of the Student Government Association will be holding their first meeting of the semester TODAY at 6 p.m. in room 308 of the Student Union Building at the University of Massachusetts.

Anyone interested in participating in the decision making process and lobbying efforts vital to Third World STUDENTS ON CAMPUS ARE URGED TO ATTEND.

The Third World Caucus has been in existance for over ten years. In addition to being the watch dog for Third World students within the SGA, the Caucus also supports legislation pertaining to the Third World community.

Student's involvement and participation in the caucus is not only important to insure progress and continuous lobbying efforts but to make known that Third World people want to shape the world.

Our time has come to make the best of society. Struggles waged in the past have created organizations such as the caucus and student's involvment and activism will keep it alive.

The Caucus needs you to continue the struggle for existance and recognition in the university.

The need is mutual and the struggle is the same.

See you tonight.

Afro-Am. professor wins award

MARANN CASSELL
Collegian Staff

Julius Lester, a professor of Afro-American Studies Department at the University of Massachusetts is a natural-born teacher. In recognizing his commitment and dedication to students, he was awarded the 1984 Distinguished Teacher's Award.

"This is the type of award I am proud to receive. It gives me a chance to see how my students evaluate me and my work," he said. Lester is one of three professors who received the award at last year's commencement. Professors are nominated by students who evaluate the teacher's performance and sensitivity at the end of each semester.

"This award means alot," Lester said the award is a symbol for the appreciation students have toward him. But, this feeling is mutual.

"I see my students as my children and my children as my students. There are so many bright students at UMass. I like to adopt some and take them home with me," he said.

Lester teaches history and literature through the Afro-American studies department. A graduate of Fisk University, he has been at UMass for 13 years.

Lester is also a noted writer, a poet and a photographer. Look Out, Whitey! Black Power is Gon'Get Your Mama, his first book, was published in 1968 and translated into Swedish and Finnish.

To Be A Slave was also published that year and translated into Spanish, Swedish, Dutch, Japanese and Finnish. To Be A Slave also won many prestigious awards.

From 1968 to 1974, he wrote eight books, including the award winning The Knee-High Man and Long Journey Home. He also embarked on his poetry writing. Lester said students today are less active than when he started teaching at UMass.

A father of four, he said students today are more concerned about economics than politics. He said in dealing with such problems as school desegregation, students find more support than when dealing with problems like racism, which is dealt with individually.

The future looks bright for Lesterthe writer. His book Do Lord Remember Me will be in print by January. For Lester the teacher, he said he wants to see more black students enroll in his classes and becoming active.

Director talks about visit

By MARANN CASSELL
Collegian Staff

Barrows is excited about the exchange program.

"Despite the obstacles Cape Verde is facing, it is land holding together..."
—Paul Barrows.

For Paul Barrows, director of Committee of the Collegiate Education of Blacks Minority Students, CCEBMS spending the sumer at the Cape Verde island was very educational.

Barrows, a native of Springfield, and a UMass alumni went to Cape Verde on an extended invitation by President Aristides Periera and to do business. UMass Chancellor Joseph D. Duffey sent Barrows to negotiate an exchange program, and he went to do further research for his dissertation about Cape Verde from the University of Minnesota.

This was Barrow's first visit to the set of ten islands off the coast of Africa. He stayed there for five weeks.

Twenty-nine other Cape Verdean Americans went to Cape Verde as guests of President Pereira. The group visited five Islands which are Santiago Fago, Bravo, Santo Antao and St. Vincent. Each island had government delegates to greet them, he said.

He said his stay was pleasant and the people made him feel at home." "The people were warm and friendly and made our stay very enjoyable," Barrows said.

Barrows said Esther Sequiera and Manuel Viega from the Education Department of the University of Cape Verde came last year to negotiate the exchange program.

He said Osvaldo Sequiera, Esther's husband, master of business administration candidate, was the first exchange student, but Barrows wants to see more.

While in Cape Verde, Barrows was able to collect a lot of data from first hand source and government officials, for his dissertation. Barrows said despite economic deprivation, Cape Verde is growing strong.

"Despite the obstacle the island is facing the people of Cape Verde have pull together to have a one party democratic state that is growing strong,".

Announcements

There will be a Nummo News/Black Affairs Open House on Friday September 14 from 6-9 p.m. at the Nummo Office. Everyone interested in writing, photography art and production is urged and encouraged to attend. Refreshments will be served. Come and meet the staff and join us. For further details call Segun Eubanks at 5-0061 or Yadira Betances at 5-3500.

TO ALL NEW STUDENTS:
There will be a mandatory CCEBMS meeting tonight at 8 p.m. in Mahar Auditorium.

On Thursday September 13, there will be a Cape Verdean Alliance meeting at 5 p.m. in the New Africa House Library. Please be prompt. For information, call John Lopes at 5-0031.

Attention Senators

The First Meeting of the Student Senate will be held tonight, Wednesday, September 12th at 7:00 in Room 163 C.C.

- CRUISES
- AMTRAK
- CAR RENTALS
- HOTEL RESERVATIONS
- CHARTER PACKAGES
- AIRLINE TICKETS
- EURAIL PASSES

CAMPUS TRAVEL CENTER

Campus Center (2nd floor)
U of Mass Amherst 01003
545-0500

DON'T WASTE YOUR TIME STUDYING.

For the time of your life in college, come to one of our free One Hour Evelyn Wood Seminars.

We'll show you the way to have more free time by cutting your study time in half. While you raise your grade point. There's a lot more to college than textbooks, tests, and term papers. And Evelyn Wood is the way to enjoy it.

Now's the time to make your move. Bring a friend and join us at our seminar. It's only an hour. It's free. And it's definitely not a waste of time.

Free Seminar Schedule LOCATION: MURRAY D. LINCOLN CAMPUS CENTER ROOM 162-175

WEDNESDAY 9/12 2pm, 4pm, & 6pm

THURSDAY 9/13 1pm, 3pm, & 5pm

EvelynWood College Programs

Choose the day and time most convenient for you. Reservations not necessary. For more information call 1(800) 447-READ.

Hypercurricula

FOR WEDNESDAY SEPTEMBER 12, 1984:

NOTICE EMT'S — JOIN the UMass Fire & First Aid Unit. Work concerts, sporting events, etc. Come to our first meeting, 10 pm at Morrill North Rm. 406.

25 PLUS CLUB MEETING Older students' organizational session. Help plan semester activities. Meet other older students. Open to all full-time & part-time undergrads, U.W.W. Cont. Ed and graduate students, 4 pm, Student Union 404.

MICROCOMPUTER USER'Sgroup meeting — The Pioneer Valley PC User's Group, for users of IBM PCs and PC compatables will hold monthly meetings, 7:30 pm at Graduate Research Center.

THE STUDENTS INTERnational Meditation Society is sponsoring a free introductory lecture on the Transcendental Meditation Program on Wednesday Sept. 12 at 7:30 pm. The lecture will be held at Campus Ctr. Rm 911-915 and is open to the public. Come find out why over a million Americans are practicing the TM technique daily. for more information, please call 549-5335.

PEACEMACKERS FIRST meeting — All welcome. We'll be organizing for this semester's Peace Work, at 4:00 in Room 428 Student Union.

GAY/LESBIAN/-BISEXUAL support group — Support/Rap Group for gays/lesbians and Bisexuals. Come one! Come all! Come out! At 7:30 pm at the PGA office, 413 office, Student Union.

"The Globe's here!"
For just $1.40 a week you can have
The Boston Globe
delivered to your door on campus

University of Massachusetts	Fall Term Rates
SPECIAL CAMPUS RATES	$17.10
Daily & Sunday $1.40 a week	$11.10
Daily Only $.90 a week	$6.00
Sunday Only $.50 a week	Sept. 16 - Dec. 14

☐ Daily Only ☐ Sunday Only ☐ Daily & Sunday

Please fill out form and return with check made payable to: RON HUBERDEAU, P.O. Box 959, Amherst, MA 01004 Tel. 253-7009

Your Name:_____

Campus Address:_____

FRIDGE RENTALS
2 cu. ft.
Free Delivery
call R & P RENTALS
253-9742

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian
Founded 1870

Editor in Chief James P. Shanahan

Managing Editor John O'Connell
Business Manager Andrew May
Business Manager Elizabeth Young
Production Manager Mark Roden
Exectutive Editor Rita Murphy
News Editor Greg Brown
Black Affairs Editor Yadira Betances
Women's Issues Editor Rebecca Thatcher
Arts Editor Christine D. Marini
Sports Editor Peter Abraham
Photo Editor Andrew J. Heller

OPINION

The opinions expressed on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the university unless otherwise noted

Keep the tradition alive

Tailgating at football games is a long standing tradition at most colleges and universities across America.

At last Saturday's football game between the University of Massachusetts and Lehigh University, UMass police told previously uninformed tailgaters that kegs of beer were not allowed on University grounds. In some areas, all alcoholic beverages were outlawed. This we feel, is wrong.

Tailgating involves more than drinking, much more. football games are a social gathering for students, faculty and parents as well as alumni. These people expect to be able to consume their favorite beverage at their tailgate, and for many that beverage is alcoholic.

The next step after banning kegs would be the banning of all alcoholic drinks, then banning the tailgate parties altogether. Football, more than any other sport, is an event, not just an athletic contest. Parents, students, faculty and alumni, we are sure, would not approve of this recent development.

We do not advocate drunkenness. Tailgating is far safer than drinking quickly at home and driving to the game. For many students it is a habit to drink beers and have a cookout on Saturday afternoons. If those students had to drive to the stadium, it could result in tragedy.

A better measure may be for the UMass police to monitor the tailgating area more closely, looking out for unruly fans who would disturb the others enjoying the game.

The Pioneer Valley is a beautiful area in the fall months. Combine the scenerey with the atmosphere of a football game and a group of close friends and the worries of school seem very distant. Do not let that simple pleasure be taken away.

Unsigned editorials reflect the majority opinion of the Collegian Board of Editors.

Digesting a lack of brunch.

Deborah J. Stein

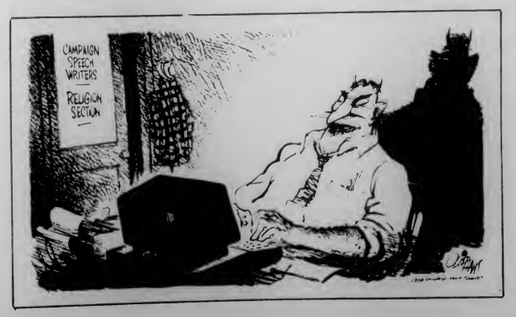
Where did brunch go? It is a question many people asked themselves this past weekend. I know I did. After finally rolling out of bed sometime around noon Saturday, I threw on some "weekend-casual" (read as "the slept in and still asleep" look) clothes, anticipating a leisurely gab session brunch with my friends. We walked down the Hill, waited in line at the DC, and then it happened. We were accosted by LUNCH!!! no watery (or dry, for that matter) eggs, no greasy sausage or potatoes, no steam table toast with paint-on butter. But the cruelest cut of them all was the total and complete lack of Captain Crunch. Just like that, with no warnings, whatsoever. It was quite unnerving.

A lot of people might say to this, "the brunch food wasn't so great in the first place"; "at least all of the DCs are open every day, now" or the reply that makes me almost shudder in horror, "well, you could always get up on time for breakfast..." These things are all true, even the last one. And I'm sure Sylvan people are happy not to trek all the way over to Franklin for their weekend meals.

However, brunch is practically an institution among some of us. It conjures up that whole weekend attitude of leisure, being casual, and if work is unavoidable, procrastination. Brunch means bagels, taking two hours to eat, rehashing the past night's events with friends, extra cups of coffee, and putting off that assignment just one more hour. Getting up late to go eat grilled cheese sandwiches IS NOT the same thing at all.

I suppose I can get used to not having brunch. That would definitely be easier than getting used to waking up early on weekends to catch breakfast. But the final blow to my weekend-inclined stomach came when I learned of the discontinuation of the Weekender. The one meal all week above usual DC standards was carried out in the best weekend sport of spirit, and it will be sorely missed. Now I'm just wondering, is it too late to switch to the 10-meal plan?

Deborah J. Stein is a UMass student.



MORNING TAXI DOG SCENE 1
EMOTE WALK
CAPE
"YOU SLAM UP THE WINDOW AND STICK YOUR HEAD OUT AND YELL, 'I'M MAD AS HELL AND I'M NOT GOING TO TAKE IT ANY MORE!!' NOW, CAN WE HAVE IT WITH FEELING, ?'

Letters to the Editor

Making judgements regarding school prayer

In his editorial piece "Is this free speech?" Friday, Larry Soucie presented misleading arguments concerning the issue of school prayer. In doing this, he painted a very unrealistic portrait of what classroom prayer would entail, if such legislation is passed.

His first misguided assumption is that the time alloted for prayer would be used by someone with the prayer style and speech eloquence of Evangelist Jerry Falwell to try to convert millions of American children. This is not the case.

First of all, the pseudo Jerry Fallwell prayer that Soucie concocted is the type of prayer recited before individuals in a church service, or via radio broadcast. In other words, in front of individuals who freely choose to hear it. It certainly is not the sort that would be spoken by an educator before a group of school children.

Furthermore, he took out of context a Bible passage, and then proceeded to base the latter part of his argument on it. Yes, Jesus did instruct his disciples not to pray in public as Matt.6:5-13 states. What Soucie neglected to express is that the principle behind this passage is simply not to be hypocritical. Jesus was instructing his followers not to be like the Pharisees of the time who prayed aloud in the temples all day, soley for the purpose of being recognized. Hardly was it intended to deter students from bowing their heads and praying a few moments each morning.

Lastly, Jerry Falwll is a controversial figure, whose actions and motives frequently come under question. To generalize that all those in favor of school prayer, as wll as those who would be responsible for executing it, are of the Jerry Falwell caliber is unjust.

In the future, Soucie should be more sensitive to the facts before he addresses an issue as controversial as this one.

Also this letter is not intended to make a judgment about the issue at hand, but rather to refute the faulty assumptions on which Soucie based his argument.

Doreen Treacy
Southwest

A summer in Amherst isn't quite so bad

By the time I had finished Barbara William's article last Friday, I felt as though we had spent the summer in differnt towns.

Williams appears more closed-minded than she does open. She doesn't seem to realize that Barselotti's was a "townie" bar long before it became a Judy's extension. The influx of townies she criticizes were here long before she was. Summer gives the opportunity to go out without having the chaos the students can bring.

As far as weather, of course it's hot. It usually does get warmer when summer comes. Just because we don't have an ocean doesn't mean there is no place to swim. If you know the right people and places, or just become adventurous, there are beautiful lakes and streams in this area.

Williams seems to have become disillusioned with her farm job. If she had been realistic she would have realized what she was getting into. I, myself, have never done farm work but it doesn't take a lot to know it is one of the more strenuous jobs. She only put in 10 hour days, many farmers work 12, 18, and more hours daily. I've yet to hear an "ayup" or "golly gee" outside of cartoons.

The nightlife of Amherst was not quite as bad as Williams proclaims. There is nowhere near the crowds and bustle of the school year, but that doesn't make it less interesting. Some of us enjoy being able to dance at the Pub without slam-dancing. There are many fewer people but it makes it easier to meet them. If Williams was open-minded she might have tried talking to people and not judging them. Quiet doesn't necessarily mean boring.

For the last two summers Amherst has held a Teddy Bear Rally. It's a place for families and friends to meet and spend an afternoon. It may not be the most exciting event, but many enjoyed themselves. I hope there will be another next year.

Amherst is a wonderful place to spend a quiet restful summer. It gives some of us a chance to catch our breath before the students all flock back. It may not be as exciting as the Cape but it's not boring. Williams can go back to the Cape next summer, we won't even miss her.

Vicki Stephenson
Amherst

Police Roadblocks: paranoia or safety?

There's been a lot of talk about 1984 not being what George Orwell predicted. However, last night the two of us had an experience which was frighteningly close and legal to boot!

While driving on Route 9 in Hadley, we were stopped at a state police roadblock, part of the Dukakis campaign to clean up drunk driving in Massachusetts. After being handed a pamphlet explaining drunk driving laws, the officers directed us into an adjacent parking lot and subjected the driver to a "field sobriety test."

Why should two sober people be scrutinized at the random discretion of another citizen? A basic quality of a police state is that law enforcers are granted the power to protect people from themselves. Under our constitution it is unreasonable to restrict the movement of citizens without any due cause. In short, we were driving within the speed limit and in a straight line. Should laws be passed on the basis of the paranoid whims of the state? Are compulsive safety precautions more important than freedom?

Andrew Frisardi
Sean Cleary
Amherst

Some of our classrooms aren't classrooms.

1. Marksmanship - Instruction in basic rifle marksmanship. Includes range and safety procedures, firing positions, techniques of firing, competitive firing and record qualification. (fall & spring semester)

2. Bay State Rangers - Intensive training and field exercises, to include small unit tactics, patrolling, land navigation (night and day), rappelling, airmobile operations, leadership reaction courses, field problem tests, physical conditioning,and practical leadership experience. (fall & spring semester)

3. Orientation Trip to West Point - Weekend visit to USMA with a look at academic military and social life of an alternative officer producing program for the U.S. Army; review a parade and attend a home football game. (fall semester)

4. Field Training Exercise to Fort Devens - Weekend visit to an active Army post. Orientation to life on a military installation with emphasis on visiting facilities (museum, commissary, PX, family quarters, troop billets, open mess) and an introduction to M-16 familiarization firing and the sport of land navigation. (fall semester).

5. Mountaineering - Instruction in rope management, knots, rope bridges, rappelling, and rock climbing techniques. Advanced student may progress to more challenging individual climbs. Includes a bivouac and overnight exercise. (fall & spring semester)

6. Cold Weather Survival - Attendance at a U.S. Navy 4½-day winter survival school in Brunswick, Maine. Instruction includes shelter building, food and water procurement, edible vegetation, terrain association, snowshoeing, emergency signaling, and land navigation. (intersession)

7. Color Guard - Participate in area parades and with University Band at home football games. Includes precision drill, the manual of arms, and movements with colors. (fall semester)

8. Physical Readiness - A structured program designed to progressively improve individual conditioning. Includes conditioning drills, running exercises, competitive group conditioning activities, and fitness tests. (spring semester)

9. Land Navigation - Progressive land navigation training, beginning with a basic/familiarization land navigation course and ending with a land navigation course that will challenge the most competent navigator (fall semester)

For More Information Contact:

Major James C. Mahoney
545-2321/2322

ARMY ROTC.
BE ALL YOU CAN BE.

PERSONALIZED STYLE HAIRCUTS
$7.00* (with this coupon)
$10.00 with Shampoo and Blow Dry
$11.50 Long Hair
Expires 9/30/84
Please Call for an Appointment
* with Barb and Julie only
FREE CONSULTATIONS
Styles by Deborah
05 University Drive
Amherst, MA 549-5810

Get Blasted!
The most incredible, handcrafted, Polymer coned, hi-fi stereo speakers made. No receiver around can blow these speakers. Only $220.00/pair Hear 'em to believe 'em! Call Joe at 549-6633 for more details.

SEMINAR COURSES STILL OPEN
(to juniors, seniors & graduate students)
SEXUALITY AND SEX ROLES

ALTERNATIVE LIFESTYLES
(alternatives to the nuclear family & to monogemous marriage)
Courses are 3 credits each.
Call Roger Libby, 253-2174 or 545-2193

DIETING?
Try something different. Lose weight sensibly by learning about your eating habits. Down with diets! Call UHS 549-2671 ext. 181. Preregistration by Sept. 21.

NORTHAMPTON BICYCLE
21 Pleasant St.
Northampton
586-3810
Trek - Fuji - Univega - Campagnolo
Suntour and others
Racing, Touring, and Commuting accessories

Student Health Advisory Board
First Fall Meeting
Wed. Sept. 12th at 5:30 pm
Room 302 Univ. Health Services
SHAB is the Student Health Advisory Board whose members are the official liasions between the University Health Services and the students. Care to get involved? If you are a student and have enrolled in the basic health plan you can join SHAB.

PUBLIC NOTICE
7 HOUR SALE
Wed. 9/12 Noon-7 p.m.
Thurs. 9/13 10 a.m.-5 p.m.
BRAND NEW HOTEL SURPLUS
MATTRESS AND FOUNDATIONS

Twin Size Mattress	$55
Twin Size Foundation	$48
Full Size Mattress	$68
Full Size Foundation	$58

$48 AND UP
Sale Held By RBM Sales Corp.
Be Early For Best Selection.
No Phone Orders, PLEASE.
Mastercard Visa & Diner Club accepted.
HOWARD JOHNSON MOTOR LODGE
Rte. 9, Hadley

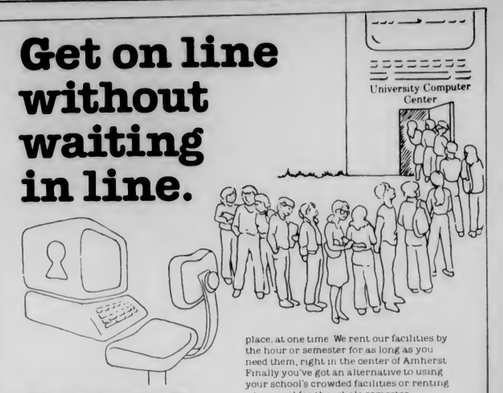
HELP?
CALL TIPS 545-1540
AND ASK FOR TAPES

1013 Dean's list
1302 Pass-fail option
1305 I.D. cards
2412 Financial aid at the University
2600 Basic student health plan
2405 Check cashing at the University
2465 Textbook Annex
2349 Collegian
& 150 more topics

Information Data Bank
Taped Information
Phone Service
A SERVICE OF THE DEAN OF STUDENTS OFFICE

idb tips

Get on line without waiting in line.



"Unbelievable!"
It's not bad enough doing endless hours of homework for your computer courses. To make a tough situation worse you've got to plan on spending precious time standing in line every time you want to get on line. And your odds on getting a print-out by the time you need it are about as good as getting seats to a Michael Jackson concert.

That is, of course, unless you do your computer homework at the Computer Access Center.

16 chairs, no waiting!
The Computer Access Center is a unique workspace that offers everything you need to do all of your computer work, in one place, at one time. We rent our facilities by the hour or semester for as long as you need them, right in the center of Amherst. Finally you've got an alternative to using your school's crowded facilities or renting a terminal for the whole semester.

The Access Center has it all. 16 work stations fully equipped with computers and terminals, complete modem systems that allow you to tie in to Cyber, VAX or any other mainframe that you have the access code for, on-site letter quality and dot-matrix printers for instant print-outs, and experienced and knowledgeable computer pros always on duty to help you.

Of course, the best part is that at Computer Access Center you don't have to waste precious time standing in line. Now you can plan ahead and reserve time on a terminal that will be waiting just for you.

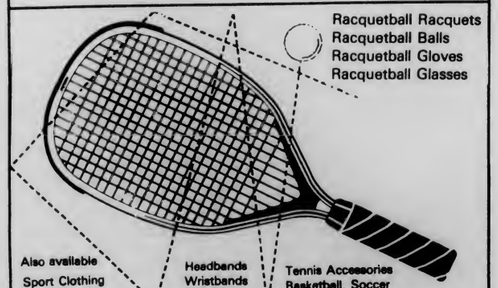
So what are you waiting for? Call today and see for yourself how easy and inexpensive renting time on a computer can be.

COMPUTER ACCESS CENTER INC.
ON SITE HOURLY/SEMESTER RENTALS 256-1213
79 South Pleasant Street, Amherst MA (in left rear of Peter Pan terminal building)
Mon.-Thurs. 9 am-10 pm, Fri. 9 am-6 pm, Sat.-Sun. 10 am-6 pm
2 FREE HOURS OF COMPUTER TIME!
Call today, mention this ad and use one of our computers for two hours at no cost!
Offer good during business hours Monday through Friday until October 15th

VIDEO To GO
VIDEO To GO
VIDEO To GO
40 MAIN ST. AMHERST across from town hall 256-1509

Grand Opening Special
Overnight VCR Rental & movie only $7.00
Expiration Date: Sept. 14, 1984
½ Price Memberships
Hours: Mon.-Sat. 10-8 Sun. 12-6

SPORT EQUIPMENT



Racquetball Racquets
Racquetball Balls
Racquetball Gloves
Racquetball Glasses

Also available
Sport Clothing
Sport Bags
Headbands
Wristbands
Whistles
Tennis Accessories
Basketball, Soccer
Football, Baseball
Frisbees,
Swimming Accessories

Located in the Campus Center
Open M-F 9-5
Sat 11-4
UNIVERSITY STORE

THE BEST WAY TO COURT A GIRL . . . WITH PONY®

PONY RACER II
Nylon & suede jogger.
Women's sizes to 10.
SPECIAL
Now $18.

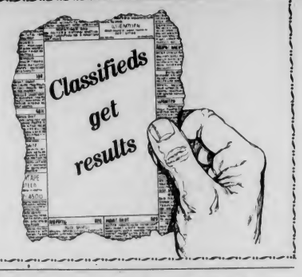
PONY PRO 80
Leather hi top basketball shoe
Women's sizes to 10.
Reg. $37.99
Now $29.

PONY CONCORDE
Velcro® Leather court shoe
Women's sizes to 10.
Reg. $29.99
Now $23.

PONY

Pony makes a good impression. When it comes to style, comfort and quality. Pony athletic shoes are unbeatable. Now on sale at Olympian at very appealing prices.

OLYMPIAN
We thrive on competition.
Hampshire Mall, Rte. 9, Hadley.



A NEW CONTRACEPTIVE IS HERE.
TODAY.™

Campus Coin-Op
107 Sunderland Rd. No. Amherst
next to Campus Auto & Carpenter Bros.
The newest, cleanest, coin-op in the area.
Hours: Mon-Fri 8-10
Sat & Sun 8-7
Come In And Check Our Everyday Low Prices For Additional savings, use this coupon
50¢ a wash
first 100 customers with this ad
limit one per customer
OFFER GOOD THRU SEPT. 21

Culture Clash!
The premiere collection of Matinique® from Denmark— combining functional Chinese workwear with classic European elegance. See it now. At Chona Men.

CHONA MEN
CONTEMPORARY FASHION FOR MEN
2nd FLOOR, THORNES MARKETPLACE, NORTHAMPTON, 584-7901

Friday
September 14th
2-5p.m.

Join the
CULTURE CLUB...

on the plaza of the FINE ARTS CENTER

Arts

Purple Rain a pain

Purple Rain
Directed by Albert Magnoli
Starring Prince
Calvin Theater
By COREY LEWIS
Collegian Correspondent

Considering the self indulgent nature of this film, one must wonder if a more appropriate title would have been been Purple Reign. The film makers try to establish Prince as a classic anti-hero character, but they fall short to the point that Prince is simply irritating.

The anti-hero character that Dustin Hoffman played in The Graduate was symbolic of a youth disregarding the social system to persue what was best for him. The anti-hero character played by Clint Eastwood in the Dirty Harry series illustrates a spirit that breaks the rules to succeed when the present system is insufficient. The anti-hero character of Prince breaks the rules, and has complete disregard for the social system, but his only motivation is to hurt the people around him.

The characters played by Eastwood and Hoffman rightfully earn the sympathy of the youth culture, but to this viewer Prince was exposed only as an insecure bully who "just like his father" emotionally abuses and physically beats his lover, Apollonia and has no respect for his peers.

This film is an autobiographical account of Prince as a struggling musician in Minneapolis trying to cope with competition, an alcoholic father, and his own eccentric music. He does not know the limits of his music or the selfish lifestyle that he leads.

Prince starring as God was not the only fault of this film. The directing and acting made the film's emotional impact boarder on unintentional bathos. In one scene the camera focuses on the mesmorized Appollonia doing a particularly bad job of expressing her deep love for Prince. To make this scene even worse the camera uses several zooms to focus on her over-dramatic expression which becomes forced and stagnant.

Another particularly bad scene appears at the end of the film when the new-found kindess expressed in Prince's music drives the audience to all join hands and sway in peaceful harmony as Prince symbolically ejaculates a purple foam from the neck of his guitar on to the audience.

Purple Rain has only one redeeming quality. The music specifically composed for the film is fantastic. Each song is up to par for any Prince fan. If you want to hear some of Prince's best music yet, attend the film but don't forget to bring either dark sunglasses or something else to do.

If you've walked by the Fine Arts Center lately, you've probably noticed the blank canvas hanging from its Haigus Mall side. UMass scenic designer Jeff Fiala (now on sabbatical) has designed a new painting for the space. No completionte has been announced. (COLLEGIAN PHOTO BY Michelle Segall)

FUNNYBONES
COCKTAIL LOUNGE

Crazy George
MONDAY
NICKEL NITE
Every other drink 5¢ 7 - 1

Jim Henry Live
TUESDAY
LADIES NITE
Ladies first 2 drinks 99¢ 7 - 1
Younger Brothers Live

WEDNESDAY
PENNY DRAFT NITE
Every other 12 oz. Draft 1¢ 7 - 1

THURSDAY
GRAB BAG NITE
Check for drink specials and entertainment 7 - 1

FRIDAY & SATURDAY
DJs or LIVE ENTERTAINMENT
to party with 'till 2 AM
(doors close 1 am)

SUNDAY
SPORTS ACTION starts 1 pm
in our Sports Pub
w/99¢ Drinks 1 - 7

"FUNNY HOUR"
1-7 7 DAYS A WEEK
Rt. 9 Hadley (across from Mt. Farms Mall)

AMHERST CINEMA
DOUBLE FEATURE $2.50
Wednesday thru Saturday
DIVA 7:00
Sailor Who Fell from Grace with the Sea 9:10
DOWNTOWN AMHERST

Sure, I read the Arts page.

Computer Works
SEMESTER
TERMINAL RENTALS
- RCA 3801 + Monitor $150
  - Built in Modem
  - Single keystroke sign on
  - 80 column display
- HAZELTINE 1421 $135
  - Direct connect Modem
  - 80 column
- Computer/Terminal/TV $99
- Most equipment less than 3 semesters old
- Plus deposit and sales tax
228 Triangle St., Amherst
Mon-Sat 10-6 549-7133

The UMass Arts Council
- provides financial assistance for
  - student-produced performing arts and media events
  - campus galleries
  - Residential Arts Programs
  - and other arts-related activities on campus
- issues a free biweekly Arts Calendar serving the Five College Community
- coordinates special programs such as symposia and competitions

Funding Period One -- deadline for grant proposals for single projects or events: iday, September 28
For grant applications, Calendar deadlines, or further information about the Council call 545-0202 or visit the office at 125 Herter Hall.

FREE FILM With DEVELOPING

Use the coupon below and get a free roll of like size Fotomat film when you bring a color print disc or roll to Fotomat for developing.

OVERNIGHT SERVICE!

Fotomat guarantees next day delivery of most color print disc and roll orders left before daily film pick-up. Ask for details at your convenient participating Fotomat store.

CHOICE OF SIZE AND FINISH

Choose clear, sharp, beautiful prints in regular or 30% larger Custom Series size, in either glossy or studio finish.

COUPON

FREE FILM WITH DEVELOPING

Present this coupon at the time you drop off any disc, 110, 126, or 135 color print roll (C-41 process) for developing at a participating Fotomat store and get a free roll of like size Fotomat film. Good for standard size or Custom Series developing. Not valid in conjunction with any other offer. Limit one roll per coupon. Hurry, offer expires

When it's got to be right you know it's...

FOTOMAT

NP-241 Expiration Date: Sept. 26

Announcing IN Stock

HYPONeX
THE MOST COMPLETE LINE OF PLANT CARE PRODUCTS

Located in the Campus Center
Open M-F 9-5
Sat 11-4

UNIVERSITY STORE

Rush with Us!

We Are

Alpha Epsilon Pi

Come meet the brothers of AETT, the most expanding fraternity at UMass. Learn about a continuing saga of fun times, good brothers, and a committment to excellence.

AETT

We've got:
- The highest GPA among the Greeks
- A strong social calendar, including exchanges and a formal
- Active intramural participation
- Strong ties with IFC and Greek Council
- So much more!

So what do you do?

You come to our Rush Party!

Tonight, September 12, 8:30 PM

Campus Center 1009

See You There!

The Distinguished Visitors Program presents

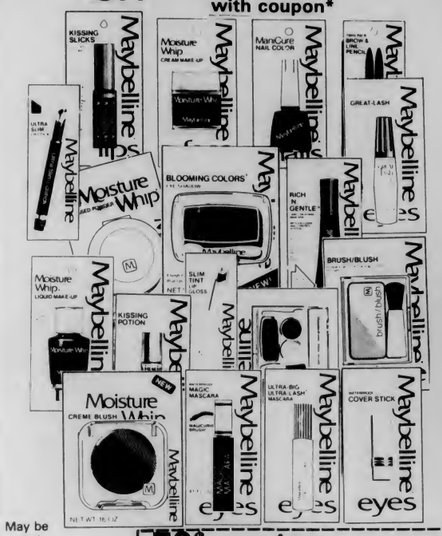
George Gallup, Jr.

of the Gallup Poll

Public Opinion Polls and the American Presidency

Tuesday, September 18, 1984
8:00 PM FREE
Student Union Ballroom

50¢ OFF Maybelline Products with coupon*



May be used in the Mini Store also

* Double coupon does not apply to store coupons
Open M-F 9-5
Sat 11-4

50¢ OFF Any Maybelline Product In Stock — valid until 9/23/84

UNIVERSITY STORE

Photo by Gloria Rosado

SITTING IN THE SUN — Ibrahim Hall (1ft) and Donna Moore soak up the rays in Central Residential Area Tuesday.

"RUSH THE CHAMPS"

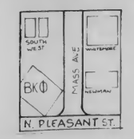
BKΦ

OPEN RUSH

ALL UNIVERSITY MEN INVITED

RUSH DATES:
Sept. 11, 12, 13
17, 18, 19
9:00 PM

BKO
388 N. Pleasant St.
253-9071



The brothers of BKO invite you to see what fraternity life has to offer. BKO is a brotherhood of 60 young men living and growing together. We hold in high regard academics, social and intramural activities. We are currently Greek and campus intramural champions. Come down and see what BKO is all about. Get more out of college in your four years here.

RUSH BKO!

GENOVESE
A REAL DRUG STORE & SO MUCH MORE!

(Cannot be used in combination with any other sale.)

GENOVESE FILLER PAPER 69¢
200 Count WIDE RULE Reg. 99¢

LIMIT 2 WITH COUPON ONLY. COUPON EXPIRES 1984

(Cannot be used in combination with any other sale.)

GENOVESE 1½" 3 RING CANVAS BINDER WITH CLIP
1.69 EACH Reg. 1.99

LIMIT 2 WITH COUPON ONLY. COUPON EXPIRES SEPT. 30, 1984

(Cannot be used in combination with any other sale.)

GENOVESE 10 pack of Bic Stic Pens
50¢ Off OUR REGULAR PRICE ON

LIMIT 2 WITH COUPON ONLY. COUPON EXPIRES SEPT. 30, 1984

Get down to business faster. With the BA-35.

If there's one thing business students have always needed, this is it: an affordable, business-oriented calculator. The Texas Instruments BA-35, the Student Business Analyst.

Its built-in business formulas let you perform complicated finance, accounting and statistical functions – the ones that usually require a lot of time and a stack of reference books, like present and future value calculations, amortizations and balloon payments.

The BA-35 means you spend less time calculating, and more time learning. One keystroke takes the place of many.

The calculator is just part of the package. You also get a book that follows most business courses: the Business Analyst Guidebook. Business professors helped us write it, to help you get the most out of calculator and classroom.

A powerful combination. Think business. With the BA-35 Student Business Analyst.

TEXAS INSTRUMENTS
Creating useful products and services for you.

©1983 Texas Instruments

YOU WANT IT, WE GOT IT!

come on downtown

AMHERST DOWNTOWN MERCHANTS

TOPIC FOCUSED GROUPS

Fall Semester 1984

EXPLORING INTIMACY: DEVELOPING MEANINGFUL RELATIONSHIPS
Examines common communication problems and relationship styles that hinder intimacy
Wednesdays 3:30 - 5:00

INCREASING SELF-ESTEEM
Learning to stop self-criticism and allow self-confidence to grow
Tuesdays 3:30 - 5:00

LEARNING ASSERTIVENESS SKILLS
How to become effectively and responsively assertive
Mondays 3:30 - 5:00

MANAGING STRESS
Presents effective coping techniques to manage your stress level
Wednesdays 3:30 - 5:00

BUILDING RELATIONSHIP SKILLS
Learn the art of meeting others and developing friendships
Mondays 3:30 - 5:00

Registration is between September 4th and 21st.
For information or to apply for a group, call 545-2337 or come to the Mental Health Service, 127 Hills North, University of Massachusetts

COME and JOIN the GRAND OPENING CELEBRATION at

Changes

(formerly Poor Richards)

Featuring:
 Two-Stage **
 Lighted **
 Dance-Floor **

Featuring
 VIDEO **
 DANCE **
 MUSIC **

3200 WATT SUBSONIC SOUND SYSTEM

Tonite - Wednesday, September 12th

THE BEST IN TOP 40 DANCE MUSIC!

75¢ DRINKS - ALL NITE

WET T-SHIRT CONTEST for MALE and FEMALE CONTESTANTS

Thursday
2 for 1 7-11 PM
&
"Ladies Night"
Ladies arriving before 11 wearing a skirt receive a complimentary first drink

Don't Miss It!
Changes
Amherst's Newest Dance Club
Rt. 9 Amherst 256-8284

Friday and Saturday
now open at 4 PM
between the hours of 4-10 PM
Mixed Drinks - 99¢
2 Drafts for - 99¢
4 Hot Dogs for - 99¢
FREE MUNCHIES
No Cover (until 9 pm)

BLOOM COUNTY by Berke Breathed

Miss Amer
SSSST! STEVE! WATCH YER POSTURE!!
WHA-? JEEZ! GET OFF THE STAGE, BLOB!
LOOK AT YOURSELF! YER LOSING POINTS IN THE SWIMSUIT COMPETITION! FAT CHT...MINUS FOUR POINTS! JITTY-BITTY THIGH PIMPLES...SIX POINTS.
OH, BUT THEN DON'T FOR A SECOND THINK THAT I BELIEVE THESE AFFAIRS TO BE JUDGED PRIMARILY ON PHYSICAL PERFECTION. OH! HOW TACKY! HOW IMPERFECTLY RUDE!
BUG OFF!
DIDN'T I TELL YOU TO W' 300 POINTS!!

Gorde By Gorde

SALUTATIONS, FOLKS, AND WELCOME TO "THE ART OF COMIC STRIPPING," WITH ME IS MY CO-HOST, MANGO JAKE LESSON #1: BE FUNNY! HERE TO DEMON-STRAIGHT...
FINK!
ADD-DROP HA HA HA FORM
WASN'T THAT JUST WONDERFUL! AWE-INSPIRING, I'D SAY!
GOLLY-GEE! THAT MAKES UP FOR MY MISSING THE JACKSONS CONCERT THIS SUMMER!
MAN, THAT SUCKED
LESSON #2: AVOID MENTIONING DRUGS OR ALCOHOL
GORDE, LET'S GET OUTA HERE. I WANNA GO BUY A BEER-BALL...
SHHHH!

Underfoot By Joe Bradbury

ULTRA MASS E.L.M.

I Do Not Believe This!!!
Great, I'm the newly appointed R.P. Residential Protector and I live on the Roof of Kennedy
Let's see What we can do with this.
Cosmic energies erupt from his fingertips and the roof glows like a miniature Sun!

Darrin's Comic Strip By Darrin

Golly, I sure could use one of these D.C. glasses.
Well, one glass won't be missed. I just hope they don't see me put it in my...
Freeze, Punk! D.C. Police!
Bang
knapsack
#3

Dear Freddy-Bob

By Roskey and Ashby

The Collegian needs drivers!!!

If you have a car and can spare 1½ hours a night see Mark Roden in the graphics dept.

DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE

Edited by Trude Michel Jaffe

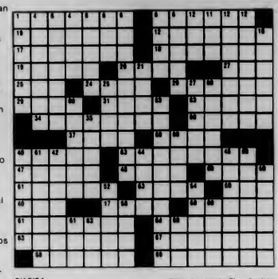
ACROSS
1 Corrida participant
8 Unwieldy boats
14 Dined not wisely but too well
15 "Lucky Lindy"
17 Softens
18 Honeymooner's haven
19 Take ——
20 Wardrobe items
22 Russian village
23 Malay gibbon
24 Joie de vivre
26 Mottled or greenish rock
29 Equal, to Pierre
31 Distinctive atmosphere
33 Old Norse poems
34 Smitten
36 That is: Lat.
37 Tourist mecca in Italy
38 West, et al.
40 Take on
43 Fasten securely
47 Kilted musician
48 Novice: Var.
49 Certain tide
51 Forges bonds
53 Sounds in a seance
55 Southern constellation
56 Deighton, the writer
57 Oral or written
59 Wait
61 More unbending
64 Spaniard
66 Stars, in St. Lo
67 Province of Cuba
68 Last
69 Those of legal minority

DOWN
1 Esprit de corps
2 Mean
3 System of aerial navigation
4 Son of Zeus
5 "Divine Comedy" poet
6 Baseball great
7 Eat-out area
8 Source of ruin
9 Dispatch boat
10 Narrow inlet
11 Prankster's product
12 Worsted fabric
13 Types of arguments
16 Most unusual
21 Regarding
25 Luang Prabang's locale
27 Meddled
28 New York river
30 Fold on a garment
32 Respect
35 Headdress for a bishop, British style
39 Tilting to one side
40 Throbbing
41 Eat-in area
42 Particular view
44 Affected manners
45 Causing fatigue
46 Provide commentary
50 Actor John and family
52 —— clear
54 Gertrude, the writer
58 Irish Gaelic
60 Field
62 Square bar of wood: Nautical
63 Common ailment
65 Family member: Abbr.

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE:

L	A	M	O		O	R	I	S	E	S		E	D	I	A
A	M	O	U		N	A	N	U	M		S	A	D	I	S
C	I	A	N	D	Y	S	T	O	R	E		P	U	T	S
E	N	A		E	A	S	E		A	N	I	G	H	T
R	A	D	I	A	L		S	P	I	E	S
			C	H	E	S	T		L	E	A	D	T	H	E
R	O	P	E	S		O	P	A	Q	U	E		O	E	R
A	M	I	R		F	R	A	Y	S		O	R	E	I
F	E	Z		T	R	I	T	N	E		S	U	E	D	E
T	I	Z	Z	I	E	S		M	A	P	S
		E	D	I	E	R		A	L	I	K	E	I	N	T
B	A	R	R	E	D		W	E	A	K		A	R	I	A
A	I	L	I		M	E	T	A	M	O	R	P	H	I	C
S	T	A	C		A	D	D	I	T	O		B	I	N	E
S	A	S	H		N	O	Y	E	S		L	I	R	E	S

9/12/84



9/12/84 ©1984 Los Angeles Times Syndicate

Today's DC Menu

LUNCH

Deli Beef Sandwich
Broccoli and Cauliflower Casserole

BASICS LUNCH

Garden Sandwich
Broccoli and Cauliflower Casserole

DINNER

ALL-CAMPUS BARBECUE
BBQ Chicken Half
BBQ Spareribs

BASICS DINNER

ALL-CAMPUS BARBECUE
BBQ Chicken Half
BBQ Tempeh Kabobs

Today's Weather

Today: Mostly Sunny and pleasant with highs in the 70s
Tonight: Clear with the lows in the 40s.

UMass... 15 years ago today

Friday, September 12, 1969.

Provost Oswald Tippo announced that the entire University community would be involved in the selection of a new president.

He also announced that $13.4 million had been appropriated for the construction of the Fine Arts Building, to located at the south end of the pond.

Out of Holyoke Community College came news that the nacilty supported participation in the October .5 "national moratorium for colleges to consolidate public sentiment to be expressed in favor of withdrawing troops from Vietnam immediately."

Sansui AM/FM Stereo Phono Dolby Cassette Component Music System

SAVE $249.95

$399.99

SAVE $50.

AKAI EAG-30 STEREO GRAPHIC EQUALIZER

Stereo Graphic Equalizer
5 Bands Per Channel x 2, Equalizer Defeat Switch, Tape Monitor Switch, Record Switch and Indicator Light, Line In/Out and Tape Play/Record Jacks, Plus/Minus 12 dB Range.

$79.99

SAVE $50.

LUXMAN PX 99 Quartz Direct Drive Turntable

Quartz Direct Drive System
Semi Automatic Optical Sensing Automatic Arm Lift System, Straight Tune Arm

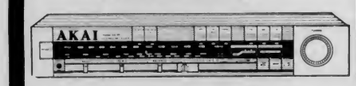
$179.99

harman/kardon CD 301 Dolby B & C Cassette

Dolby C Noise Reduction for negligible tape hiss. Dolby HX Pro for extended frequency response with reduced tape saturation. Record and Bias Calibration Tones for precise adjustment of Bias Trim and Dolby levels. Sendust Head Solenoid Transport. Electronic Auto Search Auto Stop Remote Capability

$349.99

SAVE $90



AKAI 22 WATT AM/FM STEREO RECEIVER

$99.99

SAVE $30

Technics 35 WATTS AM/FM STEREO RECEIVER

129.99

SAVE $20

Technics SEMI AUTOMATIC BELT DRIVE TURNTABLE

69.99

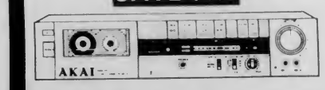
SAVE $40.

harman/kardon 330 Drive Stereo AM/FM Reciever

Discrete Amplifier Components, No IC's in Amplifier; 20 watts per channel, High instantaneous current capabilities of 10 Amps - supreb sounding.

$199.99

SAVE $40.



AKAI DOLBY STEREO CASSETTE TAPE DECK

$109.99

CROWN AM/FM Stereo Portable (box) Cassette

Super value AM/FM stereo cassette that works on AC batteries, record your own stereo tapes - great box

$49.99

KOSS PRO 4AAA HEADPHONES

CROWN AM/FM STEREO WALKING CASSETTE

ALPINE AM/FM STEREO AUTO REVERSE CASSETTE

SAVE $20 139.99

TDK SAC 90 CASSETTES

$1.99 ea.

Limit 3

The Sound Company

AMHERST 201 N. PLEASANT STREET 256-0744 Open Thurs. & Friday Evenings 'til 9 P.M.

CHICOPEE FAIRFIELD Mall near Caldors 593-5330 Open Every Evening 'til 9:30 P.M. Open Sunday 12-5

SPRINGFIELD 477 SUMNER AVE (at the X) 736-3628 Open Thurs & Fri Till 9 P M

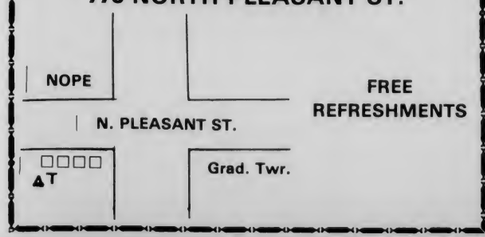
SPRINGFIELD BOSTON RD Marshall's Plaza 782-7082 Open Thurs & Fri Til 9 P M

NO RAIN CHECKS Quantities Limited All items not available in all stores and NO DEALERS

OPEN RUSH TONIGHT

DELTA UPSILON

778 NORTH PLEASANT ST.



BODY SHOP

Exercise Facilities
sign up at NOPE and Boyden

still only $45.00

Come in NOW for a Free Workout during Sign-Up hours

Boyden - NOPE
sign up now — 8 am - 9 am, 11 am - 1 pm, 4 pm - 6 pm — sign up now

Workouts begin Sept. 10 thru Dec. 21

NOPE M-F 7:30-9 am, 11-3, 4-6 pm, 7-9 pm, Sat 1-4

Boyden M-F 7-9 am, 12-1 pm, 4-6 pm, Sat 12-3

open to students faculty & staff

- strength training
- aerobic fitness
- muscle testing
- body fat testing

LADIES "DYNASTY" NIGHT

Tonight and Every Wednesday

JUSTIN RYAN'S
The Meeting Place

★ FREE BUFFET ★
50¢ DRINKS
from 8:00 to 9:00

$1.00 "Well" Drinks
till 10:00
for everyone

WHO CONTROLS THE PAST, CONTROLS THE FUTURE. SUPPORT BANNED BOOKS WEEK. SEPTEMBER 8-15

1984

SEE OUR BANNED BOOK DISPLAY

Located in the Campus Center

M-F 9-5
Sat 11-4

UNIVERSITY STORE

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIED

Monday - Thursday 8:45 - 3:45 • Friday 8:45 - 2:30 • Cash in advance • 5 consecutive days 5% discount • 10 consecutive days 10% discount • 15 consecutive days 15% discount • phone number free

ADVERTISING

Advertise FREE in the RIVER VALLEY AD. Advertise items you want to sell or buy. Call 532-9488

ATTENTION: WE'RE HIRING DJ'S

RACK-A-DISC RACK-A-VIDEO is hiring DJ's. Send resume to: PO Box 48, Amherst, MA 01004

AUTO FOR SALE

1979 Dodge Omni 4-door, standard, cloth upholstery, lots of extras, excellent shape, no rust. $2190 or best offer. Phone 584-9468

Foxy Fiat X 1/5 completely reconditioned removable hardtop low miles 1977 must sell 2500. Larry 256-0080

1976 Chevy Malibu, 2 door hardtop. In good running condition. Best offer over $1,000. Call 549-0258

73 Saab 99-A classic! BO 6-4548/4563

1977 Camero good condition $1,750 549-0675

1968 Volvo 500/best offer 268-7127

Such the deal 76 Honda Wagon needs carb. BO call Paul after 11:00 PM 253-5403

ENTERTAINMENT

VIDEO VIDEO VIDEO VIDEO Rack-A-Video entertainment giant 10 and 15 foot screens for dorms and Greeks. "MTV" video music call 549-7144

Rack-A-Disc Rack-A-Video entertainment guaranteed events for Disc Jockeys, Bands and Video. Call 549-7144

WICKED AND WILD DJ's audio and visual entertainment for the 80's 584-8712

MIDRANGE PRODUCTIONS Professional Disc Jockeys any occasion reasonable rates call 253-3980

FOR RENT

Female share room in Puffton, 120. includes heat 584-2422 or 584-0105

FOR SALE

SOUNDESIGN STEREO Originally $900. 2 years old. $489. Dresser $40. 253-3982

Brand new 26" Kent bicycle must sell $75 or BO Michele 546-0527

Panesonic AM-FM stereo portable cassette deck Detachable speakers, metal capability, five-band graphic equilizer. One year old. $150. Barry 665-7928

For Sale; refrigerator perfect for dorm $60. call 546-5808 evenings

Bed for sale $15 call 549-5808

1973 VW Bug excellent condition rebuilt engine $1800 or BO call 549-8628 or 548-1778

One beige curtain with hardware to fit sliding glass door. Great for Brandywine or Townehouse Apts. 256-8084

Men's 21" 3-speed bicycle $45 5-2890

Apartment furniture! Bed, dresser, bookcase, mirrors, chairs etc. 256-0662 after 5 pm

Sachs Moped 1981 very good condition drive on campus! $375 253-2284 Caroline

Refrigerator. Household size 16 cu. ft. now in daily use 584-4510

FOUND

Glasses found in Thompson 104 on 9/7. Call and identify 546-6536

Kelly your shoes and coat are in the Lost Found at the Campus Center. Nicoletta

FREE MEALS

Kitchen help needed in exchange contact Paul W at 253-9071

HELP WANTED

Earn good money working flexible hours. Harvest help needed to pick squash in Hadley near UMass. Call 549-0018 between 6:30 and 8:30 PM

Tenors, Basses with sightsinging skills wanted. Mount Holyoke Chapel Choir. Eight Wednesday evenings, fibe Sunday mornings thru December. $3.90/hr Audition, 538-2343

Waitresses apply at Rusty Nail Wed thru Sun eves

Utopia Spas part-time counter work Sat & Sun days and weeknights available payment: $ + tubs and tan free apply in person 11 am - 5 pm

Utopia Spas part-time hot tubs maintenance & cleaning work payment: $ + tub and tan free apply in person 11 am - 5 pm

Maintenance person wanted 2 hrs per day, Mon-Fri, mornings. Duties include cleaning office and maintaining equip. Mechanical aptitude and workstudy required. Apply in person 10-11 Mon-Fri at 113 CC (Collegian office)

Help wanted housecleaning, child supervision, occasional errands. Wednesdays 1:30-5. $16/wk. Experience, references required. 253-7940

Newspaper deliverers needed in dorms. Early mornings, 7 days/week. Good pay for short hours. Call 253-7009

Wanted doorpersons for Northampton nightclub. 584-7771

P time, exper necc audio bkgrnd helpful Sound Co., 201 N Pleasant, Amherst

Experienced shoe salesperson part time apply in person only Methews Shoes 39 So. Pleasant St, Amherst

GOVERNMENT JOBS. $16,569-$50,553/year. Now hiring. Your area. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. R-9616

House people wanted for light cleanup at Fraternity. Mon thru Sun. Free meals and more. Call Mark after 4 549-3744.

Attention! Public Relations, Journalists, Graphic Designers. The SGA Communications Office is now hiring. Great opportunity to develop your portfolio! WS and non-WS jobs available. See Kelley Riley in 423 Student Union for application. Deadline is 9/21/84.

Local advertising agency seeks student intern. Call 586-2135

Homecooked meals exchanged for kitchen help 10 hours a week call 253-9071 ask for Wheety

INSTRUCTION

Know your car. Basic Automobile Workshop. 28 hours including classroom and shop. Limited enrollment. 253-2098

JOHN KERRY

Interested in Politics? Work for John Kerry. U.S. Senate candidate. Call Laura 546-8536

LAURIE-BETH AUTHELET

I love you, now and forever. The ball is in your court. I'm rooting for you. Bumble

LOST

Class Ring 86 black onyx parents will kill me call Dean of Students Office or Students Affairs Office 5-2684

Brown, cloth purse return to Lynn 549-4911 or campus police

MOTORCYCLES

Honda 350 CL w/fullface helmet only 7500 mi $400 Brad 545-2150

Suzuki 400GS 1980, excellent cond., low mileage extras, $1,000 or BO, 586-6524

MUSICIANS WANTED

Attention Musicians! The Orchard Hill/Central Fellfest needs local student bands to perform on 9/22. Call Davin 6195, Bill 6853

PERSONALS

PERFORMING ARTS DIVISION Music, Theatre, Dance Instruction Old Chapel/UMass 545-0519 Register by September 14.

Rush tickets available for October 2, Worcester Centrum. Call 546-1461

Free Kittens call after 6 PM 253-5808

RUSH PARTY
Alpha Epsilon Pi
Tonight
8:30 PM
CC 1009
Be there!

UMass Grenadier Society meets at the Campus Center Wednesdays 7-12 PM Sundays 2-12 PM. We play diplomacy, squad leader and many other board games and miniatures. All are welcome.

Cera I hope you don't think this is too goofy but I am so psyched your my roommate Amy

Body Design Come to a total body workout! First class on us! Starting Thursday September 13 6-7 or 7-8 pm, Campus Center Rm 174 stretching trimnastics aerobics (256-1465)

Snow Tennini I know your here, but where? Call Marilyn 253-7266

LCSC Thanks, thanks, thanks for this weekend. Love you so much! Tara

David Thank you for the necklace! Happy Anniversary! I love you! Sherri

CONTACT LENSES REPLACED Most Brands $20. - $25. Dr Spencer University Drive 256-8561

RIDE WANTED

Grad student wants ride to/from Boston on Thursdays during fall term. Share expenses Doug 584-5720

ROOM WANTED

1 bedroom in 2 bedroom apt Brittany Man prefer grad student bed provided. 256-1508

Ungrad. male serious responsible seeking room in apt, or house on bus route 549-0621

Female junior, desperate for a place to live serious studier but like to have fun too. Non-smoker call Theresa 549-4061

ROOMMATE WANTED

One female to share a room in a fully furnished apt in Brittany Manor from Sept - June 1985 rent 127.50 (heat included) call Su or Jas at 256-0873

Wanted female roommate for Brandywine apartment 549-1669

Wanted Roommate, female, to share bedroom in Southwood apt, prefer nonsmoker please call 253-3619

Female to share double rm in Brittany call 253-5456

Female needed to share a townhouse in Sunderland if interested please call 665-4690

Female roommate wanted Townehouse Apts to share room. Call 549-4585

Female roommate wanted Brittany Manor Apts. 1580 $130 + elec Maya or Todd 256-8413

Desireable $100.00 - $200.00 monthly. Negotiable. Northampton. Busline. Sharon. 586-7750, Joel: 1-532-4536

SERVICES

Trees and Shrubs Forestry student offers professional pruning of shrubs as well as landscape consulting and designs at very reasonable prices 546-8087

TRAVEL

4 round trip tickets to Florida best offer price negotiable Ilene 549-6500

WANTED

I need to buy a television. Good small yet cheap. 546-6464

Rock Band seeks exp. keyboardist, vocalist, chords E.O. attitude a must 546-5452 or Tim 546-5895

WANTED TO RENT

Apartment in Puffton or area for spring 85 reward $50 546-7228 Bob or Tim

Sports

Minutemen take the advantage, 1-0

Booters open with win

By SCOTT HOOD
Collegian Staff

Collegian photo by Paul Desmarais

YOU'RE GONE — Boston University's Ashley Dussel (13) is given a red card and ejected from the game yesterday. UMass beat BU, 1-0 to open the season.

No, it wasn't pretty. And yes, admirers of the European touch-and-go, less physical style of play would certainly have cringed. But a win is a win. And that's exactly what the University of Massachusetts got yesterday with a 1-0 victory over Boston University. The hard-fought contest in front of a good crowd at Boyden Field saw more than 50 fouls called by the referee and at times, had the players resembling toy soldiers with the rate they were falling to the turf.

The game was won at the 76:32 mark when freshman Kurt Manal took a lead pass from Nick Marciano, and cruised up the center of the field at freshman goalie John Ole Moe. The B.U. goalie came out to meet Manal and made the initial save, but the ball rebounded to the left of the goal, where Manal chased it down and fired it into the open net.

But events of the 29 previous minutes swung the momentum over to UMass. The continued rough play, which had existed throughout the first half and the opening minutes of the second half, culminated in the ejection of BU's Ashley Dussel at the 53-minute mark. From then on BU was forced to play a man short. What ensued was a 15-minute UMass blitz with several golden opportunities missing. In one sequence Marciano went in alone, but was whistled for offsides.

In another, John Shannon, Ferdie Adoboe, and Manal were robbed from point-blank range. Later, Ole Moe would make diving saves to thwart Andrew Bing and Tom Usehok, who boomed a shot off a direct kick.

"A lot of times when a team get [illegible] a little harder for 10 minutes and I was afraid of that," said UMass coach Jeff Gettler. "But we did for the next ten minutes get ourselves into the game, which is good because a lot of times, when a team goes to ten men they'll play hard. They'll actually up their play, but we didn't let them do that and I was happy we were able to assert ourselves because it certainly is an advantage."

Although it ended scoreless, the first half was certainly not dull. Through their aggressive styles both teams made sure the fans were kept entertained, as well as the referee, who with a somewhat less than superior performance, let the contest deteriorate artistically.

Pushes and shoves were exchanged on several occasions and the BU coaches spent much time arguing with the ref over his calls, or noncalls.

"The ref didn't help, but BU is a chippy team, they've been like this every year we've played them," said Gettler. "They certainly look to get a piece of the man. The ref, over all, did OK, but he did miss some calls blatantly both ways and that tends to upset players and I think it upset BU more than it did us."

"We stayed in the game a little more here (pointing to his head) than BU did. You're never gonna change a guy's mind and it is important that the players be disciplined enough to stay in.

At times, especially in the first half, UMass looked sluggish on offense, failing to create a good chance. It was a different Minuteman team in the second half, however.

"Offensively, in the first half, we never got the ball into our forwards and we never established pressure in their end," said Gettler.

"In the second half we saw more of the ball. It takes time to get players to play together with the ball. It takes less time to get them to destroy the other team's play. We made their play very predictable. They didn't create many chances."

"We outhustled them and showed more heart."

Saves: Don Donahue (UM): 3-1-4
John Ole Moe (BU): 3-4-7
Fouls: UMass: 22 (11-11) Shots: UMass: 7-8-15
BU: 30 (17-13) BU: 8-4-12
Scoring: (UM) 76:32, Kurt Manal (1) assist from Nick Marciano (1) Red Cards: (BU) Ashley Dussel, 60:10, for misconduct.

UMass 1, BU 0
UMass	0	1	1
BU	0	0	0

travel to Keene State...

Women's soccer opens today with "big test" in N.H.

By GERRY deSIMAS
Collegian Staff

The schedule lists Keene State as the University of Massachusetts women's soccer team's opponent in their opening game for the 1984 soccer season.

To the casual follower, Keene State translates into easy opener, romp and all-around good time.

Keene State isn't the pushover some people think. Keene State made the NCAA playoffs last season.

"They are an up and coming team," head coach Kalekeni Banda said. "They have the potential to be a giant killer. We won't walk in thinking this will be a cakewalk. This will be a very good test for us.

Keene beat both Brown and Harvard last season before Harvard beat UMass.

"I'm aware of who they recruited," Banda said. "And their personnel is better, overall, than last year."

The UMass personnel reflects a younger look in 1984. Seven freshmen will be in the starting lineup. The entire forward line will be frosh.

Kirsten Bowsher, Jolie DePauw and Monica Seta are slated to start up front. In the midfield, co-captain Chris Taggart, a senior, junior Jamie Watson and freshman Carolyn Michael "will do a lot of work" Banda said. "If we can control the midfield, we'll be in a good position to win."

In the back, All-American and co-captain Lori Stukes will be joined by junior striker-turned back Sue Bird and freshmen Debbie Belkin and Chris Schmitt.

"Bird will be a counter-attack from the back," Banda said about his strategy.

In the goal, the Minutemen have the luxury of two experienced goalies, Lisa Ellis and Jeanne Paul. Both started in games last year. Banda said he will not decide who will start until today.

Paul was in goal in the playoffs last year as UMass won the New England title and finished third at the Final Four.

"Our being so young," Banda said, "This will be as good a test as any."

"But we have everything to lose," warned the coach.

And so be warned, casual UMass soccer fans, Keene State has the potential to knock the Minutemen off.

UMass-Keene St.

Where: Keene State, Keene, N.H.
When: 3:30 pm
Last Season: Didn't meet
UM Players to Watch: All-Americans Chris Taggart and Lori Stukes, the UMass co-captains, will lead. Veterans Sue Bird and Jamie Watson will be a big help on both offense and defense. Watch Jolie DePauw up front, she has a powerful shot.

Spikers start long trek, entertain AIC today

By ROGER CHAPMAN
Collegian Correspondent

The 1984 version of the University of Massachusetts Volleyball team opens their season today against American International College at Boyden Gymnasium.

Elaine Sortino, in her sixth year as head coach has some high, but very reachable goals for this season.

"Our primary goals are to finish in the top four of every tournament we play, and to get into post-season play," said sortino. "We would also like to win a state championship."

The Minutemen, champios of the E.C.A.C. last year, hope to improve on last years 38-16 record. They return seven players from last years squad, which gives Sortino a solid nucleus to build around. Key players include co-captains Sally Maher and Patti Grant. Also returning are Annie Ringrose, Miickey Barves, and Debbie Cole, who drew high praise from Sortino, Who said "She is a great defensive player. She passes well and has a great serve".

No major weaknesses were stated by Sortino, but she did cite a few strengths the Minutemen posses.

"We will be a strong serving team this year." said the coach, "And as the season progresses we should grow to be an even better blocking team."

Sotino's formula for success this year is pretty basic. "In order to do well, we are going to have to serve, pass, and play good defense, in that order," said Sortino.

The spikers defeated A.I.C. last year in their only meeting in three straight games. But Sortino remained cautios about a repeat performance.

"They are a scraply team with good middle-blocking potential," said Sortino. "They will be ready, but so will we."

The atmosphere surrounding the team this year is, to quote the coach, "Very enthusiastic."

"Our attitude is very positive," said Sortino, "We have all the ingredients for the makings of a fine volleyball team."

sports at a glance

UMass schedule:
Today: Volleyball, home (Boyden Gym) vs. AIC at 7 pm.
Women's Soccer, at Keene State, Keene, N.H. 3:30

Philadelphia 6, Chicago 3
Milwaukee 14, Boston 6
Toronto 10, Yankees 3
St. Louis 9, Mets 5
Minnesota 5, Kansas City 1
Detroit 9, Baltimore 3

The Massachusetts Daily
NEW ENGLAND'S LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY
Collegian
Volume CXIV, Issue 74 UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AMHERST (545-3500) Tuesday, September 13, 1984

Collegian photo by Andy Heller

VIEW FROM ABOVE — The UMass Campus takes on a new perspec tive as photographed from the open door of a helicopter.

UMass police officer acquitted of perjury charges

By RICHARD MARTIN
Collegian Staff

NORTHAMPTON-University of Massachusetts police officer William F. Murphy, 33, of Hadley, was found not guilty of perjury by Judge John D. Sheehan Wednesday morning in Hampshire County Superior Court.

The 8-man, 4-woman jury never deliberated on the charges, or even listened to the defense's case. Sheehan dismissed the charge after the prosecution rested and defense counsel William M. Bennett asked that the case be thrown out. Bennett argued that the prosecution had failed to prove the charge of perjury.

"I reluctantly did this,"Sheehan told Murphy and the court. "I find your conduct not to be of that standard I hold police officers to. But I have a job to do, and it's a matter of law, so this is my decision."

Murphy had no comment after the trial. His defense counsel, Bennett, was happy with the outcome.

"It (the prosecution's testimony) had nothing to do with it (the charge). I think it was a chickenshit case in the first place,"said Bennett.

"This guy (Murphy) had to go through a lot of grief that wasn't necessary. He was suspended from the University police force. We expect him to be reinstated with full back pay," he said.

Prosecutor Edward Etheredge, an assistant district attorney, disagreed.

"I'm not happy, but unfortunately the Commonwealth has no right of appeal. I thought the judge's comments to the officer were appropriate. Perjury is always a difficult charge to prove," said Etheredge.

Yesterday's trial stemmed from an incident that happened 23 months ago. On October 17, 1982, Murphy arrested James P. Shanahan, 24, of Lexington, now a senior mechanical engineering student, on the third floor of Greenough dormitory. Shanahan is also the editor-in-chief of the Collegian. He was not present at yesterday's trial.

Shanahan was acquitted of the charge of being a disorderly person in a trial Feb. 8, 1983. Murphy testified in that trial that he did not ask Shanahan to remove a necklace and religious medallion around his neck on the night of the arrest. He also said that he did not yank or rip the necklace off Shanahan.

After his acquittal, Shanahan and his legal counsel, Charles DiMare, Directing Attorney of the UMass Legal Services Office, began the process of filing a civil suit against Murphy.

During that process, Murphy testified in a deposition on Dec. 13, 1983 (a seposition is a pretrial proceeding in a civil case in which lawyers from both sides ask questions of potential witnesses as preparation for the upcoming trial) under oath that he did remember the necklace, and in fact remembered helping to look for the medallion.

However, defense counsel Bennett argued yesterday that the prosecution had failed to prove that Murphy's "necklace testimony" was relevant to the charge in the first trial. Etheredge countered that the "necklace testimony" was relevant, otherwise the judge at the first trial would not have allowed it to be heard.

Students had filed charges against Murphy in a civil suit.

According to papers filed at the U.S. District Court in Springfield, Shanahan is seeking $345,000 in damages from as yet unnamed defendants.

In 1983 the University Department of Public Safety paid two students $10,000 each in an out-of-court settlement after the skdents had filed charges against Murphy ina civil suit.

Provost's briefing guide questioned

By BOB BURGESS
Collegian Staff

The Undergraduate Student Senate last night unanimously approved a motion calling for an explanation of a recent administration briefing document sent to the new provost which accuses the Student Government Association (SGA) of both possessing an "artificial importance" and of creating "a constant source of frustration" in student affairs at the University of Massachusetts.

The document, which was included in the minutes of the August 17 Vice Chancellor's Council meeting, and issued through the Student Affairs Division, states that the SGA is to blame for the fundamental difference of opinion existing between the administration and student government.

"Over the period of a decade or more," the letter states, "the campus' student government organization has grown into a multi-million dollar enterprise which sees itself as autonomous from, and even an adversary of, the University."

Most conflict between SGA and the administration, according to the brief, "centers on control of the SAT-F)Student Activities Trust Fund) and the programs funded through it..." and that the SGA believes it should control the fund, "generally free from review or interference by the University."

At last night's meeting, Senate Speaker Chris Sullivan said the attitude expressed by the document was "fairly accurate of the administration's feelings" toward SGA, but he wondered if it was not written by "one person who just took off with it." Bill Collins, a senator from Southwest, asked if Senate officers "would tell the Vice-Chancellor that this will perpetrate an adversarial attitude" between the SGA and the new provost, Richard O'Brien.

SGA Treasurer John Mooridian said after the meeting that the letter was a blatant attack on SGA, and that "it's interesting that they talk about the adversity while writing stuff which rags on us."

Inside:

Students protest ROTC at fund drive.....p.3
Rita Murphy on the future of education.....p. 10
Dwight Gooden, new rookie strike-out king.....p. 19

"Be thankful we're not getting all the government we're paying for."
—Will Rodgers

World and National News

ENDICOTT, N.Y., Sept. 12 — NOT IMPRESSED — An unidentified youngster is not impressed that he is being held by President Ronald Reagan at a rally Wednesday in Endicott, N.Y.

FAA reaches accord with airlines on re-scheduling

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's airlines and the Federal Aviation Administration reached accord Wednesday night on a masive re-scheduling of flights in a move designed to reduce delays for air travelers at the nation's six busiest airports.

The agreement, reached after a week of negotiations, came when the FAA agreed to airline proposals capping the number of flights allowed in and out of the airport at Newark, N.J.

Ed Faberman, the FAA's general counsel, called the schedule changes "painful" for the airlines because in many cases flight take off times will be shifted away from peak travel periods.

The changes "will mean fewer delays for air travelers by assuring that fewer planes compete for the same gates and runways at the same time," Transportation Secretary Elizabeth Dole said in a statement.

The talks bogged down when some carriers who use nearby New York airports said the suggested ceilings for Newark were too high.

The talks, which began last Wednesday, were estimated by industry officials to have involved changes in more than 1,000 flights in and out of six of the country's busiest airports.

In addition to Newark, the changes involved the airports in Atlanta, Denver, Chicago, and New York's LaGuardia and Kennedy airports.

At each of the airports, airline schedulers agreed to shift flights, from a few minutes to more than an hour to reduce bunching of flights during peak periods, usually in the morning and early evening.

Resistance from air carriers was strongest in Chicago and Newark.

An agreement at O'Hare Airport in Chicago was held up for hours because, for example, American Airlines and United Airlines resisted reducing the number of flights both had between 6:30 pm and 7 pm. Under FAA insistence, however, adjustments were finally made.

At Newark, the airlines sliced nearly 100 flights from a two-hour period in the morning and a three-hour period in the evening during hours of discussions spanning three days.

Gromyko, Reagan to meet

Moscow (AP) — Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko has been a spokesman for the Soviet Union in foreign affairs for a quarter of a century. But he is now considered the chief architect of Kremlin policy in a period of sour relations between the superpowers.

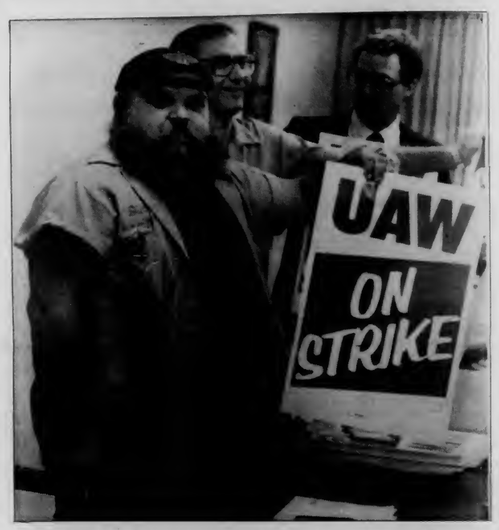
His expanded role will be underlined Sept. 28 when he meets President Reagan. It will be Reagan's first meeting with a top Soviet official, but for Gromyko it will be familiar ground.

Gromyko, 75, has met eight other American presidents in the Oval Office during a foreign policy career that started in 1939. He was appointed Soviet ambassador to Washington in 1943 and has been in on every significant Soviet-American meeting since Yalta in 1945.

Gromyko has outlasted Josef Stalin, Nikita S. Khruschev, Leonid I. Brezhnev and Yuri V. Andropov. And under President Konstantin U. Chernenko he appears to have taken control of Soviet foreign policy.

Gromyko served Soviet leaders as a forceful spokesman for the Kremlin, whether the policy was Cold war, coexistence or detente. He survived purges and policy shifts, possibly because he was so competent and because nobody else had his mastery of foreign affairs.

But Gromyko weathered well — probably in part because he never demonstrated any ambition to become the top Kremlin leader.



DETROIT, Sept. 11 — JUST IN CASE — Robert "Odd job" Hardacre displays one of the strike signs that United Auto Workers members started stapling together after a strategy meeting at Local 22 in Detroit Tuesday. "Odd job" uses his nickname exclusively and few persons disagree with him. He is a welder and district commmitteeman at the General Motors Cadillac assembly plant. The UAW contract with GM expires at midnight Friday. Others in picture are George Gosheff (middle) and Local 22 vice president Pete Hoover.

GM, auto workers clashing

DETROIT (AP) — United Auto Workers President Owen Bieber declared Wednesday that General Motors Corp. was "dragging its feet" and said he sees contract talks "heading for the ditch" unless GM's offers change by midnight Friday.

In his most heated statement in seven weeks of bargaining, Bieber said the company has delivered little that the union wants on job security for its 35,000 member at GM.

"I'm certainly not as hopeful as I was yesterday," Bieber said. "We're going to have to see some significant movement of the job security issue if we're going to settle this thing by midnight Friday.

Bieber said GM also had failed to deliver its revised wage proposal.

Job security— keeping automotive jobs in the United States—is the union's No. 1 issue. The UAW uses the term "outsourcing" to describe the farming of of work to foreign and non-union domestic shops.

"If the corporation fails to adequately address the range of job security issues, including future jobs and outsourcing, then I'm sorry to say that I see us heading for the ditch," Bieber said.

GM spokesman John Mueller said chief company bargainer Alfred Warren WOULD HAVE NO COMMENT "at this point" on Bieber's remarks.

Hurricane Diana stalls off coast

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP) — Hurricane Diana, stalled but still menacing, drifted "with no sense of direction" just off the coast Wenesday, and thousands stayed in shelters for fear it might head ashore with 115 mph wind and giant storm tides.

Damage from the storm's first approach to the coast was limited mostly to downed tree limbs, signs and power lines, uprooted trees and a broken fishing pier, with some street flooding from heavy rain. No serious injuries were reported.

North Carolina Gov. Jim Hunt said Wednesday after inspecting the Wilmington area that he didn't know if the state would even seek disaster aid.

"It's questionable now," he said. "The important thing is to keep watch on it."

New England Olympians honored

BOSTON AP — New England Olympians, led by gold medal marathoner Joan Benoit, were honored Wednesday with a noon parade through Boston, climaxed by the award of certificates in ceremonies outside Faneuil Hall.

Former Olympic high jumper John Thomas lit a symbolic Olympic flame that flared through the presentation ceremony.

Several thousand lunch-time spectators cheered as the 34 Olympians made their way from the Back Bay through the main downtown shopping center to the market area. The American Telephone and Telegraph Company supplied 1,500 small American flags which spectators waved as each Olympian received a certificate.

Broadcaster Curt Gowdy, who covered wrestling and some other events at the recent Los Angeles games, served as master of ceremonies.

"The best part of the Olympics is sharing what we accomplished with all of you," said Miss Benoit, who was asked by Gowdy to speak for the 34 participating athletes.

"We are very proud of our Olympians," said Boston Mayor Raymond L. Flynn. "We salute you."

★ ★ ★ Be a star, write for the Collegian ★ ★ ★

Today's Staff

Night Editor: Michelle Hyde
Copy Editor: Larry Bouchie
Layout Technician: Pete Soderberg
Production Supervisor: Ed Tausky
Production Nanette Dory, Dode Levenson, Pete Soderberg, Nancy Muller, Bethanne Moskov, Corey Lewis

CORRECTION:

The UMass student lobby group, Students Advocating Financial Aid, (SAFA) was incorrectly identified in a Monday Collegian story on Student Government Association leaders' endorsement of Rep. Jim Shannon for U.S. Senate.

Students protest while Army recruits by Campus Pond

By JOHN YONCE
Collegian Staff

Recruiters for the Army National Guard met with resistance from several University of Massachusetts students yesterday at a temporary camp on the west shore of the Campus Pond.

The National Guard flew in a UH-1H helicopter and strung a rope bridge across the pond to draw attention to their recruitment efforts.

Army Reserve Officer Training Corp members were selling soda at the National Guard camp to passing students. The ROTC members are donating 13 cents for every 25 cents collected to Easter Seals, according to Cadet Dave Guido.

"We have to make people aware," Guido said. "People look at you like you're buying arms for El Salvador, but once they realize we're selling for Easter Seals, they're okay."

Two members of the Radical Student Union, Court Cline and Beatrix Hoffman, held up a banner which read "UMass students say stop the arms race."

"They say they're raising money for Easter Seals," said Cline, a junior STPEC major. "If they sold this helicopler, it could probably solve all of the Easter Seals problems."

Master Sgt. Kenneth Therrein said that he had expected the protest, but that it wasn't detrimental to their recruiting efforts.

"We provide free tuition and financial aid to recruits," Therrein said. "They (the protestors) are entitled to free expression."

One UMass student, John Tariot, held up a sign which said, "National Guard killed 4 students at Kent State." Tariot said he decided to protest when he saw the helicopter and became worried about people becoming used to seeing the National Guard on campus.

Therrein said in response to the sign, "The day after Kent State, the National Guard saved 140 lives in a flood."

Collegian photos by Andy Heller

Court Cline and Beatrix Moffman, and Paul Throne (left) protest and Ken Albert (above) tests the rope bridge designed by ROTC at their Easter Seal fund raising and recruitment drive Wednesday.

Rev. Quigley proposes employment project

Career center for Newman?

By JOEL COFFIDIS
Collegian Staff

The Rev. J. Joseph Quigley said in the future he would like to help University of Massachusetts graduates find employment with a placement office in the Newman Center.

"I'm interested in a career center to help people get jobs," Quigley said.

Quigley said he felt there are many students who graduate from UMass who can't find employment for one reason or another.

"A house (of worship) like this should be set up to get a job for a person," Quigley said.

Quigley said the center doesn't have the necessary funds. "You have to set up a system where you're independently funded to set up programs that make it with the kids here," Quigley said.

Half of the Newman Center funds come from the Archdiocese of Springfield and the rest comes from the weekly collections and other donations.

"One of the things that we need in order to survive is greater contributions from alumni," Quigley said.

"We've served a lot of people over the years, we have about 20,000 Catholic alumni," he said.

While there is always concern for the necessary funding at the Newman Center, present services continue everyday.

"The biggest thing we do is give an umbrella of warmth," Quigley said.

In addition to Father Quigley, the Newman Center is staffed by Rev. John T. Smegal, Rev. John F.Tuohey, Sister Mildred Marengo, and Professor Lucien Miller.

"We try to make ourselves available 24 hours a day," said Rev. Tuohey.

"All our services are free," Tuohey said.

The Newman Center also offers several study areas, lounges, and a library for students. On the lower level there is a snack bar and cafeteria.

Wallet lost, bicycle stolen

Amherst police reported the loss of a brown tri-fold wallet in town Tuesday night. The wallet contained a driver's license, a University of Massachusetts I.D., $340 in cash, $165 in checks, and a Shawmut Bank card. The loss was reported at 11:38 p.m. Tuesday.

Police arrested a University of Massachusetts student on outstanding traffic warrants issued by the State Police in Westfield. The 25-year-old woman was stopped for disregarding a red light on North Pleasant Street at 10:31 p.m. A computer check revealed the warrants against her.

In other police reports, an Amherst man was arrested at 1:45 p.m. Tuesday on North Pleasant Street on a warrant for violation of parole.

A burglary on Hallock Street was reported at 8:21 p.m. after a man returned to his apartment to find items moved around inside. Police said they believe entry was gained though a side door. Nothing was reported missing.

A bicycle valued at $300 and a bank envelop containing $260 were also reported stolen Tuesday. The bicycle was stolen between 3 and 4 p.m. Tuesday on Main Street while the envelope was taken from the front seat of a unlocked car on Hickory Lane.

Police also received a call reporting a woman calling for help at 8 p.m. Tuesday on Bay Road. When police arrived at the scene, they found a woman on the ground making noises and acting strangely. She was taken to Cooley-Dickinson Hospital in Northampton. No further information was available.

Puerto Rican author says she writes for art and truth

By REBECCA THATCHER
Collegian Staff

Speaking "from the heart" on one's own experience is a way to find a universal truth, a Puerto Rican writer told an audience of 50 people in the Campus Center last night.

Nicholasa Mohr, author of six novels and short story collections such as Nilda, which won the new york times outstanding book of won the New York Times outstanding book "a personal odyssey into fiction" as part of the "Writers Speak: America and the Ethnic Experience" series arranged by the Institute for Advanced Study of the Humanities.

She said she initially did not want to try to write, but she was convinced she had to make the attempt when her agent asked her: "How many good books about the Puerto Rican experience have you read?"

When her first manuscript was rejected for not being authentic, even when everything she had wgitten was "based on fact."

She said her editor told her to write about her first sexual encounter, drugs and gang fights.

"I realized he was insulting me and my community—I told him to look for his writer in the jails," she said.

When her first book was accepted by a publisher, she realized she would not have to depend on "rich collaborators" to "express the diversity of the Puerto Rican community."

She said she needed to write to "validate and celebrate our impact on American society."

But she did not romanticize writing completely, she said it was sometimes like doing the dishes or washing the floor, it just has to be done. "I don't write when I am inspired, when I am inspired I stare at the walls," she said.

Mohr grew up as a visual artist and received forman training in that field, rather than in writing.

She said her development as a writer could be traced to a childhood in which she used art as a refuge from a "real life" made difficult by economic problems.

"I could always turn to my drawing ability and create something pleasing," she said.

The main character in Nilda, her first book, represents autobiography because she also "survived her oppressive surroundings and troubled family" by using her imagination.

Though she was the best artist in her grade school class in New York City, she went to trade school to learn fashion illustration on the advice of a guidance councilor who suggested she not take the place of another student who was "college material."

When she graduated from high school she said a trip to Mexico "changed her life."

The way the mexican muralists and artists expressed the need for social revolution "without sacrificing the quality of their work" impressed her and "was to shape and form my life."

Interest rates, value of dollar cloud economy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The pace of the world economy has picked up considerably over the past year but the long-awaited rebound is clouded by rising interest rates and the soaring value of the dollar, the International Monetary Fund said Wednesday.

The 147-member organization cautioned that stubbornly high interest rates, particularly in the United States, and a strong dollar will make it harder for poor countries to repay billions of dollars in debts as they struggle to regain their economic balance.

The IMF urged the United States and other industrialized countries to work to reduce deficits, which it blamed for high interest rates and partly for the dollar's rising strength.

"The recovery in the industrial world remains uneven, and could be undermined by the renewed upward movement of interest rates," said the report, released in advance of the annual meetings of the IMF and the World Bank later this month.

Moreover, the report said, the pickup in interest rates earlier in the year could—if it persisted— "jeopardize the economic revival of heavily indebted countries."

Reagan administration officials bristle at criticism of U.S. budget deficits for their effect on interest rates and the value of the dollar. The deficits, they say, shouldn't be blamed for many of the economic woes of other countries.

These officials say the U.S. economic recovery has been so strong it actually provided an important lift to foreign economies.

Nevertheless, the IMF report, together with recent protests by Democratic presidential candidate Walter Mondale and private trade organizations, served to focus new attention on the deficit problem.

The administration is predicting that the deficit will reach $174.3 billion in the current fiscal year ending Sept. 3, down from the record $195.4 billion posted in fiscal 1983.

The Washington-based IMF has played a key role in coming to the financial rescue of less developed countries that accumulated huge debts over the years that they are now having trouble repaying.

At the IMF and World Bank meetings, the question of how to resolve the debt crisis will demand new attention.

In addition to high interest rates and the strong dollar, the IMF expressed concern about efforts by some industrialized countries to limit the flow of trade across their borders.

Sure, I read the Arts page.

PLANT SALE

at UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS
date Monday through Thursday September 10-13
place Student Union Ballroom
time 10:00 AM — 4:00 p.m.
sponsor Inter Fraternity Council

QUALITY PLANTS AT LOW PRICES!

BROUGHT TO YOU BY:

FALL BROOK FARM
821 Union Street
Leominster, Mass.

BODY SHOP

Exercise Facilities
sign up at NOPE and Boyden
still only $45.00
Come in NOW for a Free Workout during Sign-Up hours
Boyden - NOPE
sign up now — 8 am - 9 am, 11 am - 1 pm, 4 pm - 6 pm — sign up now
Workouts begin Sept. 10 thru Dec. 21

NOPE M-F 7:30-9 am, 11-3, 4-6 pm, 7-9 pm, Sat 1-4
Boyden M-F 7-9 am, 12-1 pm, 4-6 pm, Sat 12-3

open to students faculty & staff
* strength training
* aerobic fitness
* muscle testing
* body fat testing

WITH SLY DUNBAR & ROB SHAKESPEARE AND SPECIAL GUEST
BLACK UHURU
WED. SEPT. 19
S.U.B. UMASS
tix on sale sept 7
UMass ID required to enter with Student ticket
STUDENTS $9.50
PUBLIC $11.50
Tickets on sale at Fine Arts Center, Springfield Civid Center, and Stop & Shop locations in Northampton, Holyoke, Greenfield and Pittsfield.
No cans, bottles, cameras or recording devices.

99.3 FM HOT SPOT

99¢ Specials

99¢ Specials, Thursday, September 13th

99¢ Bottle Beer domestic brands
(only with food purchase, good only until 12 midnight)
99¢ Overstuffed New Englander Sandwich
99¢ A Regular Order of Potato Skins
with bacon and cheese sauce

James H. McManus eating place

Sun.-Thurs. 6 a.m.-3 a.m.
Fri & Sat 24 Hrs.
Super Stop & Shop Campus Shopping Center
Rte. 9, Hadley/Amherst
256-6889

Coca-Cola

Postive ID Required

Listen to 99.3 FM for further details

9 West

"Tess"
The perfect mid heel pump for fall '84.
Black, grey, taupe, new blue.

SHOE BIN
187 n. pleasant st amherst

Collegian Photo by Michelle Segall

Stanley Petrullo of J.D. Contracting Co. installs new sidewalks behind the Morrill Science Building.

Radical Student Union 'instructs and educates'

By KAREN CONDON
Collegian Staff

If you are dissatisfied with today's society and you'd like to express your dissatisfaction more coherently than with primal screams, the radical Student Union is an option worth considering.

The RSU is an organization which acts on the two convictions of its members, making these convictions known to the public through pickets, rallies, and marches. RSU member Tim Harris said, "It's a sort of support system for people who are activists."

Harris, who has been a member of the RSU for about a year, said he believes that the organization's effect on society is indirect.

"It instructs and educates the public, making it more socially aware," he said.

Last year, the RSU organized protests against a military contractor's use of the Campus Center and the invasion of Grenada.

This year, two protests are scheduled for the month of October. A five-college rally against President Ronald Reagan will be held on October 20, and a rally protesting intervention is South America is scheduled for October 27.

Also, transportation will be provided to large demonstrations in cities such as Boston, New York, and Washington.

The union is also trying to organize a five-college Progressive Student Network, which will promote more unity among student activist groups in the area colleges.

In addition to its rallies, marches, and pickets, the RSU considers community and self-education two of its essential tasks. The subscribe to a number of progressive periodicals including 'In These Times," "Socialist Review," "Off Our Backs" The Nation," and "El Salvador Alert".

A growing library is maintained by RSU members, as well as files of current newspaperclippings and leaflets.

THe " newspaper clippings and leaflets ," which can be picked up in their office, is an annual publication of the RSU. Included in the latest copy are "The Umieland Game (a sarcastic UMass survival game), an excerpt from the UMass Picketing Code, and a sampling of some items on the Defense Budget for 1984 entitled, "Feed the Pentagon".

The Radical Student Union is in Room 413A of the Student Union and introductory meetings will be announced.

ALBION BOOKS
85 Main St.
Amherst
256 - 1221
VALLEY'S LARGEST SELECTION OF NEW AND USED SCHOLARLY BOOKS
Free OP searches and special orders
Catalogs issued
Albion's used book room now offers a fine collection of used and OP scholarly titles

Need advice on . . .
-academics? -the UMass system?
-intolerable roommates? -sex?
Write to "Dear Lois,"
the newest Collegian feature offering tips for the UMass student in turmoil.
Address letters to Dear Lois, c/o the Collegian
113 Campus Center.
Write today!

DESKS
DRESSERS
BOOKCASES
on sale now at
Carpenter's Brothers Furniture Co.
107 Sunderland Rd., N. Amherst (next to Campus Auto)
549-6758
Mon-Thurs & Sat 9-6, Fri 9-5; Mon, Thurs & Fri eves 7-9

WHERE IS EVERYBODY?
"OBVIOUSLY" AT THE "NEW"
Changes
Rte. 9 Amherst
TONIGHT: 'til 11 pm.
2 FOR 1
Ladies ARRIVING BEFORE 11 WEARING A SKIRT RECEIVE A COMPLIMENTARY 1st DRINK
HOT DOGS 25¢ 'til 11
Changes
The Entertainment, Price and Service Leader!
FEATURING 2-STAGE DANCE FLOOR, VIDEO, SUBSONIC SOUND and MUCH MORE$

Laundromat
Amherst Sunshine Center
• Washers: Single, Double, Triple
• Dryers with DuraPress Cycle
• Dry Cleaners
326 College St. (Rt.9 East)
253-9030

Car Wash
Amherst Sunshine Car Wash
Automatic Wash/Wax Bay
Self Service Bays
Vacuum Cleaners
381 College St. (Rt. 9 East)
253-9661
"OUR ATTENDANT IS HAPPY TO ASSIST YOU"

PIZZARAMA
PIZZARAMA OF AMHERST
Amherst's leader for the past 10 years
Pizza Grinders
FREE DELIVERY
Mon-Wed 5:00-1:30 am
Thurs-Sun 5:00-2:30 am
355 College Street, Amherst, MA 01002
Call 253-3808 or 256-0115

Attorney General Bellotti opposes insurance hikes

BOSTON AP — Attorney General Francis X. Bellotti recommended Wednesday that auto insurance rates for 1985 be cut by 2.1 percent below this year's state-mandated levy.

Bellotti's recommendation is in contrast to the industry request that next year's rates increase 7.9 percent.

According to Bellotti's office his proposal would mean a $1 cut in most drivers' insurance bills, while the industry request would mean an average increase of $36 per car.

In submitting the recommendation, the attorney general's office argued that the insurance industry is seriously underestimating the after-tax income earned by companies investing premiums, often for years before paying consumer claims.

The state's 2.7 million policy holders pay about $1.2 billion in premiums each year.

Bellotti is also arguing that the impact of inflation on increased medical and repare costs will be minimal in 1985.

"Massachusetts drivers deserve to benefit from the stabilization rate and driving habits," Bellotti said.

Last year, state regulators approved a 4.5 percent increase in auto insurance rates, bringing the average cost of a policy to $449. The industry had recommended a 13.3 percent increase, while the attorney general's office initially recommended a 1 percent cut, which evolved into a 3.6 percent increase over the course of the rate-setting process.

The hearings to set rates for 1985 begin Oct. 2 before Insurance Commissioner Peter Hiam, and are expected to last four to six weeks. The new rates are traditionally announced in December.

Next year will mark the second year in which a new state law dramatically revamping auto insurance will be in effect. The new system includes a "safe driver plan," under which bad drivers are penalized with higher rates through a point system geared to seriousness of traffic offenses.

SCERA

The STUDENT CENTER for EDUCATIONAL RESEARCH and ADVOCACY

WHERE IT PAYS TO LEARN
JOBS AVAILABLE

This fall, SCERA will hire undergraduates to learn political organizing and student-interest research skills. For two days each week, these SCERA students will meet and learn political organizing and then apply these skills to issues of concern to students. SCERA also has positions for an editor/writer, resource center staff person and for the anti-racism team.

All positions are ten hours per week and pay $3.35 per hour for non-work study and work study undergraduates.

Pick up an application and more information at 420 Student Union weekdays 8:00am-6:00pm.

All applications due by September 26

SCERA is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer. Women and people of color urged to apply!

SCERA
422 Student Union Building
(413) 545-0341

DIME

10th Anniversary 1974-1984 ASIAN-AMERICAN STUDENTS ASSN. of UMASS AMHERST

the ASIAN-AMERICAN STUDENTS ASSOCIATION
proudly presents
a Welcome/Welcome Back dance party

DATE: September 15, 1984 (Saturday)
TIME: 9 pm - 1 am
PLACE: 10th Floor Campus Center
DRESS: no sneakers please
CASH BAR
MUSIC BY MARC ELLIOT OF BMCP
ADMISSION: $3.00, $2.00 w/ad

FREE Schick Super II

UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS

Specially Fashioned in our school colors

Get a Free Schick Super II Razor with two Schick Super II twin blade cartridges and a coupon good for 25c off your next Super II purchase plus

Razor Value $2.79

Just fill out the coupon below and bring it to the bookstore to receive your special razor

The Super II twin blade shaving system features Super II twin blades that are custom honed for close, comfortable shaves

Quantities are limited and will be distributed on a first come first served basis Act now and experience great shaves courtesy of Schick Super II

Open M-F 9-5
Sat 11-4

UNIVERSITY STORE

STORE COUPON

Open M-F 9-5
Sat 11-4

Schick Super II

UNIVERSITY STORE

ONE PER STUDENT ONLY

Name
Address
City State Zip Code
Phone #

Deposit at Coupon Box at the Info Counter

RUSH THE CHAMPS

BKΦ

OPEN RUSH

ALL UNIVERSITY MEN INVITED

RUSH DATES:
Sept. 11, 12, 13
17, 18, 19
9:00 PM

BKO
388 N. Pleasant St.
253-9071

The brothers of BKO invite you to see what fraternity life has to offer. BKO is a brotherhood of 60 young men living and growing together. We hold in high regard academics, social and intramural activities. We are currently Greek and campus intramural champions. Come down and see what BKO is all about. Get more out of college in your four years here.
RUSH BKO!

Arts

live wire

by Don Narey

It's been a great summer for concerts as New York's Concert on the Warf and Boston's Concert on the Common series welcomed a slew of popular acts to their stages.

Cindy Lauper wrapped up the season on the Common with an energetic but at times mechanical performance. She may have been joking early in the show when she called herself a "girl trying to do an easy night's work", but that best described her performance. She did, however, banter and dance about the stage in attempt to fire up her uninspired band, but that just wasn't enough, and her frequent anecdotes destroyed the show's much needed momentum. She even managed to bring the audience to their chairs dancing to "When You Were Mine", "She Bop" and her anthem "Girls Just Wanna Have Fun", but the pungent odor in the air and the fact that on the Common once the first row stands everyone else who wants to see must follow suite indicated that the audiences' vivaciousness was not entirely musically inspired. The series hosted other recent hitmakers like the Eurythmics and the Thompson Twins.

It was also the season for rock's heavyweights. Elvis Costello was out promoting his latest Goodbye Cruel World with a tour that found him in exceptionally fine voice and an almost joyous stage presence. His program ranged from rockers from his classic debut album to his chilling new BALLAD "Peace In Our Time." His renditions of country standards worked far better on stage than on vinyl; numbers like "Tonight The Bottle Let MeDown" which he struggled through in a Nashville studio could bring any redneck to knee-slapping and awaken those lost souls who think country music is the noise that Willie Nelson makes.

This year rock fans said farewell to one legendary lady and welcomed home another. While Linda Ronstadt was trading her rock crown for a pair of white kid gloves, fronting the Nelson Riddle Orchestra in a fifteen city tour, Tina Turner reclaimed hers with a stunning comeback album and a few perfomances with Rod Stewart's "Hot Legs", her latest rocker "Better Be Good To Me", "What's love Got To Do With It" and the Motown classic "Let's Stay Together".

This summer's most notable MIA was Tom Petty, who could have shown those of us who couldn't get Springsteen tickets what a real stadium-style rock show is all about.

Hot discs

R.E.M — Reckoning
I.R.S. Records

MADNESS — Keep Moving
Geffen Records

By ADAM BRIGHTMAN
Collegian Correspondent

These two albums seem to me to be the best of the summer. It's not that I was too lazy to buy and review any other new albums this summer (true as it may be). It's just that it has taken me this long to draw a coherent, critical picture of each record. Anyway, I hope you buy at least one of them.

I have not received so much outright pleasure from a new record album since XTC's "English Settlement" (1982). Every one of these songs offers a marvelous hook and/or an inspired bit of lyrical food.

Madness' unique pop blend never sinks into drippiness or trips over dopiness. There aren't any overly nutty instrumentals, either. Lee Thompson's saxophones shift, shuffle, and dodge around the beat, making real, fun rhythms. These are 12 solid, tight pop songs, all appealing on different levels (all band members write.)

The characters in Madness' songs do nutty, nutty things. Not only do they sing for the wings of a dove, turn blue, and wash scraps of brain down the drain, but they try to get an autograph from a man who keeps saying, "My name is Michael Caine," (and that isn't even the great hook.) I'm still pissed that "Michael Caine" wasn't the follow-up hit to "Our House" that it could have been.

Keep Moving deserves classic pop status alongside of the Kink's Something Else. My biggest decision left is whether to give this record an A or an A* letter grade. It is too a big deal.

This band from Athens, Ca., recalls in my mind the Velvet Underground,* particularly on the back liner photos. Like the Velvets, R.E.M. is a minimalist band with a knack for slowly evolving melodic hooks and brilliant rhythm guitar.

Granted, this band lacks a staunch wierdo like Lou Reed at the helm (singer Michael Stipes comes on more like a drunken Raggedy Andy) and they are not as interesting on record, but their fast songs are humble and quietly furious with a thrashing, wild beat.

Reconing is filled with little triumphs, all great for different reasons. Not all of the melodies are winners ("Camera" drags a bit), but most did their best to worm their way into my brain/heart/soul and stuck there.

The guitar and bass exchange the roles of rhythm and melody freely. The harmonies vary in consistecy, as if stuck in spontaneously, the band singing melodies off the top of their heads. These qualities cause the songs to literally reek of freshness and vitalish (yuck).

My favorite, "Don't Go Back to Rockville," (after a bizarre funk intro) reveals this band to be American music junkies (Hint: the song begins as a man glances at his watch in a bus station.)

What I really want is a lyric sheet so that I can see if these guys are really as smart as I suspect they are.

Victory on tour

By KARL SCHIENEMAN
Collegian Correspondent

Having nothing better to do on a sunny afternoon in Manhattan I joined a line. Then out of passing curiosity I asked the guy next to me what the line was for. "It's for Michael Jackson tickets," chortled the youth. The wait was for two hours but I passed the time by letting people's actions on the line entertain me. Two teenage girls in particular provided amusement by explaining how important Michael tickets were to them.

The concert itself had many striking attractions. Foremost on my list was the security. The 2,000 cops surrounding Madison Square Garden and its neighboring 10 blocks on all four sides were difficult not to notice. I think that even the A-team would have had a diffecult time grabbing say one purse. Then there were hundreds of officers on horses encircling the Garden itself. When entering the

Continued on page 9

FUNNYBONES
COCKTAIL LOUNGE

Crazy George
MONDAY
NICKEL NITE
Every other drink 5¢ 7 - 1

Jim Henry Live
TUESDAY
LADIES NITE
Ladies first 2 drinks 99¢ 7 - 1
Younger Brothers Live

WEDNESDAY
PENNY DRAFT NITE
Every other 12 oz. Draft 1¢ 7 - 1

Tonite Rob Butler
THURSDAY
GRAB BAG NITE
Check for drink specials and entertainment 7 - 1

FRIDAY & SATURDAY
DJs or LIVE ENTERTAINMENT
to party with 'till 2 AM
(doors close 1 am)

SUNDAY
SPORTS ACTION starts 1 pm
in our Sports Pub
w/99¢ Drinks 1 - 7

"FUNNY HOUR"
1-7 - 7 DAYS A WEEK

Rt. 9 Hadley (across from Mt. Farms Mall)

AmDans Theatre
Debut Performance
in collaboration with
Tradewinds

Fine Arts Center Concert Hall
University of Massachusetts
at Amherst
September 15 1984 at 8:00 pm

Tickets
Fine Arts Center Box Office
Mon.-Fri. 10:00 am-4:00 pm
545-2511
and Datatix outlets

General admission 8.00
Student, Children,
and Senior Citizen 4.00

ATHLETIC TRAINER

Amherst College seeks a (student) for the fall season. Individual must be dependable with first aid background and taping experience.

Contact Stan Zieja
542-2363 days.

Back to work...

Back to school

Back to ESSENTIALS

Furniture, lighting, storage, stationery, desk accessories

THORNES MARKET, 150 MAIN ST., NORTHAMPTON

Paloton Sports
5th Annual Fall BICYCLE SALE
2 Weeks Only Sept. 8-22
Clearance Savings
Up to $100.00
on all makes and models
Paloton Sports
"An Autumn Tradition"

Every Bike we sell now comes with Lifetime Warranty, 30 day Free Tuneup, Brake & Gear Adjustment for 1 year.

$99.95
Royce Union 10 Spd.
• Lugged Frame
• Shimano Rear Cluster
• Solid End Front Fork
Great around campus!

Bikes From $100.00-$200.00
Now
Raleigh Marathon $149.95
Peugeot P6 $179.95
Schwinn World $154.95
Schwinn World Sport $189.95
Lotus Challenger $199.95
Ross GT II $169.95
Raleigh Sportif $139.95
Save as much as $50.00

Bikes $200-$350.00
NOW
Schwinn Letour 15 spd. 241.95
Schwinn Traveler 219.95
Lotus Unique 329.95
Miyata 210 269.95
Lotus G.P. Luxe 219.95
Just a Few Samples

All Terrain Bikes
Now
Raleigh Tamarack
Reg 329.95 SALE 279.95
Peugeot Canyon Express
Reg 468.95 SALE 458.00
Lotus Pegasus
Reg 489.95 SALE 439.00
Raleigh R2500 R4500 R5000 BMX $25.00 Off

Bikes $350-$1000.00
Lotus Supreme (Campagnolo) 995.00
Now $889.95
Lotus Comp (Campagnolo) 649.00
Now $574.95
Lotus Eclair 409.00
Now $369.95
These prices on in stock items only!

Paloton Sports
AMHERST • 1E Pleasant Street/549-6904
NORTHAMPTON • 15 State St/584-1016
GREENFIELD • Mohawk Mall/773-5572
Hours 10-6 Thurs. 10-8
Open Sat. & Sunday
Easy Parking All Locations
* Add $4.00 For Mixte and 27" Frames
Ask about our New Guaranteed Lowest Pricing on Parts and Accessories

What Do You Want From College?
Management Training?
Add It To Your Schedule.

You're career oriented. You're interested in management.

You're an individual seeking experience in problem analysis, requiring decision-making results. You want management training and leadership experience. Experience that will be an asset in a management career — or any career you may choose.

If you are this individual, you can get all of this experience through the adventure of Army ROTC.

ARMY ROTC
LEARN WHAT IT TAKES TO LEAD

For More Information Contact:
Jim Mahoney
545-2321/2322

Hypercurricula

For Thursday Sept. 13

RADICAL STUDENT UNION INTRODUCTORY MEETING— We will discuss what the RSU is doing this semester, hear suggestions for new projects and talk about how people can become more involved. Today at 5:30 p.m. in CC 804

BOARD OF GOVERNORS— Campus Center and Student Union first meeting. All board members should attend today at 6 p.m. in 817 Campus Center.

lecture8 "The Micro-analytic Study of Face-to-face Interaction" B.J. Fehr, dept of PSYCHOLOGY, Tufts University today at 7 p.m. in 106 THompson.

GAY/LESBIAN/BISEXUAL COUNSELLING COLLECTIVE— Orientation meeting for people interested in becoming volunteer peer counselors today at 7:30 in the PGA office in 413 Student Union

For Friday Sept. 14

PGA DANCE — Friday evening from 9 to 5 at 10th floor Campus Center. Put on by the People's Gay Alliance. Cost $2, music by B M C P.

EVERYWOMAN'S CENTER VOLUNTEERS — University and community women invited to provide information about area services, medical and legal referrals, do occasional crisis intervention. Credit and work-study available. Applications due by Sept. 14. Call 545-0883 for details.

ANGER, FRANCE INFORMATIONAL MEETING— Meeting for students interestdd in spring semester 1985 study in Anger, France, at 4:30 p.m. in the Herter 3rd Floor Lounge.

LIBRARY TOURS — Leave from Goodell lobby at 10:30 a.m., 1:30 and 2:30 p.m. September 12 thru 16. Each lasts about 45 minutes. Get to know the layout of Goodell and the Uiversity Library Tower.

GENERAL INFORMATION SESSIONS — Interested in cooperative education? Attend one of the fall general information sessions. Sign up at the office for cooperative education in Thompson 110 or call 545-2579.

Go Bananas Read Arts

★Jackson

Continued from page 7

arena one had to go through a maze of blockades.

Once in Madison Square Garden my friend noticed Michael Jackson walking on the street below. We were then treated for five minutes; there he was, white glove and all, walking back and forth followed by cameramen and police officers on foot. Suddenly Michael broke into a jog as if to say, "N.Y. you're almost ready for me." Memories of Rocky flowed my mind but the host of police officers and T.V. cameramen struggling to keep up brought me to newer spirital heights. Here I was in Madison Square Garden expecting to see a special show and instead I was being treated with a guest spot to the second coming of the Messiah.

We then took our seats and watched as every few minutes a special person like Eddie Murphy, Brooke Sheilds, Don King, the cast from Fame, or La Toya Jackson would walk into the orchestra accompanied by a standing ovation. Overall, I would have to say that I found these preconcert festivities almost as entertaining as the concert itself.

The concert was a whirlwind of fantasy, flashing lights, sweeping lasers, smoke, explosions, and fast dancing. Much of the audience seemed to love it. I have never seen so many happy 12-year-olds in my life. On the other hand the percentage of glum-looking parents was quite visible. My opinion was that it was a great show but only an above average concert. It only lasted for 110 minutes and the song selection didn't grab everyone until the last half of the show. However, it's only fair for me to point out that I am more of a Jackson 5 fan than a Michael Jackson idolizer. He did play some classic J-5 stuff but it was only in the form of a brief medley. I do own Thriller but that is more of an example of American citizenship than of Michael Jackson worship. In fact, it wouldn't surprise me if more 8-year-olds knew the words to "Billie Jean" than to our National Anthem.

There are some more opinions which I would like to express. All rumors concerning Mick Jagger's possible appearance at the end of the show to do "State of Shock" instantly could be spotted as being false. The Jackson's entire show had been mapped out in detail down to every movement. Choreography and a matching script made the thought of a guest appearance almost frightening.

Then there is the tour name: The Victory Tour. The show itself features not a single track off of the Victory album and all who bought the album and saw the show are probably elated. A program showing the Jacksons modeling chic clothing and sitting on fancy sports cars went for $10. The ticket price was more than double most rock shows. In light of all this I find it appropriate that the tour's name be changed from Victory to a more accurated description: Financial Victory.

Nonetheless in conclusion, I still have to say to all of you who wanted to see the show and didn't, that you really missed an event. It was far from perfect in my eyes as my critique must show but you still got the feeling when you left that you'd seen something special. And when you consider all the media, fanfare, and various other forms of attention coupled with Michael's renown "sensitivity" it is not unreasonable to surmise that a show of this stature may not occur again for a long time.

adirondack music
"THE STEREO PROFESSIONALS"

WELCOMES YOU BACK TO THE BEST AUDIO & VIDEO DEALS AROUND!

Technics TECHNICS MOST POPULAR ITEMS AT PRICES THAT WILL KNOCK YOUR SOX OFF!

MAXELL UDXLII C90 & TDK SA C90
$1.99 $1.99 $1.99 $1.99

SUPER SYSTEM VALUE I
NIKKO NR320 Receiver 30 watts per channel
OHM E2 Speakers
NIKKO NP5001I Belt Drive, Semiautomatic Turntable
SHURE presence cartridge
A $750. VALUE, NOW $399.95

!WOW!

SUPER SYSTEM VALUE II
Ohm C3 Speakers
Nikko NR 1000 receiver 700 watts/channel
Scott PS 68A turntable direct drive semi auto
Audio Technica elliptical cartridge
Value over $1400
$799.95

Purity in Sound phase linear
Phase linear DRM 900 Amplifier up to 90 watts/channel
Phase linear P 3800 preamplifier
Phase linear T 5200 tuner digital value over $2,000.
Save 50% $975.

OHM MY GOSH!
OHM C3 Speakers, $375/pr SAVE $275!!

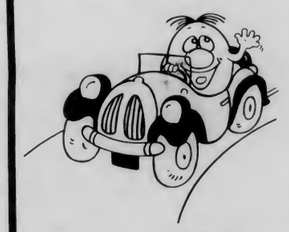
AKG Headphone Bonanza
K 130 Headphones were $55.00 NOW $35.00
K 2 Headphones were $49.95 NOW $29.95
MAXELL T-120 Videotape $5.99

15 EAST PLEASANT STREET
AMHERST 253-3100

"The feel-good movie of 1983."
How much love, sex, fun and friendship can a person take?
THE BIG CHILL
In a cold world you need your friends to keep you warm.
R

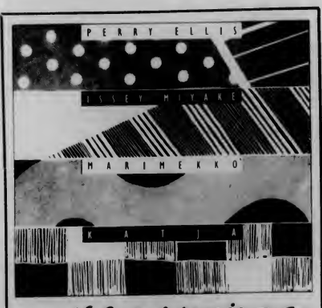
Friday, September 14
Engineering East Aud.
5, 7, 9, 11! $2.00 $1.50 at 5
sponsored by HKN & IEEE

just for the fun of it!



come on downtown
There's no place like downtown Amherst, Massachusetts.

PERRY ELLIS
ISSEY MIYAKE
MARIMEKKO
KATJA



artful expressions
SHEETS AND TOWELS
Cedar Chest
Thornes Marketplace • 150 Main St. Northampton MA • 413-584-3860

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian
Founded 1870

Editor in Chief James P. Shanahan

Managing Editor John O'Connell
Business Manager Andrew May
Business Manager Elizabeth Young
Production Manager Mark Roden
Executive Editor Rita Murphy
News Editor Greg Brown

Black Affairs Editor Yadira Betances
Women's Issues Editor Rebecca Thatcher
Arts Editor Christine D. Marini
Sports Editor Peter Abraham
Photo Editor Andrew J. Heller

OPINION

The opinions expressed on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the university unless otherwise noted.

What price education?

Rita Murphy

Both of my nieces started pre-pre nursery school last week. They are too young to be assimilated into the world of education, but old enough to begin learning the word teacher.

Erin, three years old, gets so excited about her weekly trip to school that her mother has to keep it a secret the night before or she will never go to sleep.

Andrea, is only one and a half, but she gets just as excited when joining her big sister for the few hours each week spent cutting, pasteing, and coloring the posters that their mother so proudly hangs on her refrigerator.

Before they, and I, know, elementary, junior high, and high school will have come and gone. And then they, like me, will have the option of going to college.

Or will they?

The Boston Globe reported last week that a child born this year and starting college in the year 2002 could face a four-year cost of $139,000 at a private institution and $45,000 at a public one.

If these figures are anywhere near correct then it is possible that a student attending the University of Massachusetts, Amherst, could pay nearly $11,250 a year to come here.

To go right up the street to private Amherst College could cost a student $34,750 a year.

But it gets worse.

UMass director of financial aid Arthur Jackson said that in the year 2000 it could conceivably cost 15 to $20,000 to attend this University.

Incredible? Yes. Frightening? Double yes. But it should not be so unbelievable, the trend in the past decade has been one of escalated costs in tuition and fees with the emphasis more on the ability of students to finance their own education while slowly phasing out the role of the government for economic support.

Grants and scholarships have been phased out more and more with each passing year. Call it Reaganomics. Call it conservatism. Call it what you will, but whatever it is called it is scary; scary for us, for our children, scary for the future and the future is caused by the past, for the year 2000 the past is now, the present.

And what is the present doing to ensure that education is open to all in the future?

Very, very little.

In 1974 it cost in-state students $1,870 to attend UMass. This year, the total cost has risen to $4,004, an increase of 114 percent. The federal government has been slowly decreasing the amount of financial aid to students in recent years. Since Ronald Reagan became President, the Supplementary Educational Opportunity Grant has been eliminated, drastic cuts have taken place with the Pellgrant, beginning in January of this year the federal government began requiring public institutions to begin ensuring that students who receive financial aid are in good academic standing. In the past, the government has only recommended that colleges follow this guideline. The problem is, now that the government has decided to make it mandatory, isn't it just a matter of time before they determine what constitutes being in good academic standing?

Students who must finance their own education and who receive little financial aid because of cuts, probably have to work one or more jobs to pay for school. The chances of them maintaining a cumulative average similar to those students from upper class families is slim. Intelligence plays second fiddle to stamina, but then again intelligence really has little to do with a grade point average anyway. But the point is the more a student has to pay, the more a student can't pay and the more a government expects a student to pay, the more that student has to work to finance an education.

Just in the past four years it has become increasingly more difficult to pay for higher education. What about the year 2000?

According to Jackson, financial aid as we know it will no longer exist, it will instead be replaced by financial planning. Long term loans will be the norm and grants and scholarships will be things of the past.

How can a price be put on education? Can its value ever be put in a dollar figure? When is the price too high to pay? And who should decide what that price should be, the people of 1984 or 2002?

Rita Murphy is a Collegian columnist.

SO THE SOVIET UNION PROPOSED SEPTEMBER TALKS ON SPACE WEAPONS WHICH THE UNITED STATES IMMEDIATELY ACCEPTED WHICH THE SOVIETS IMMEDIATELY REJECTED. THEN THE U.S. CLARIFIED AND MODIFIED ITS ACCEPTANCE WHICH THE SOVIETS REJECTED. THE U.S. REJECTED THE REJECTION. THE SOVIET UNION ANNOUNCED IT WILL REMAIN IN THE 1984 PRESIDENTIAL RACE...
IT SOUNDS SPACEY
LAST WORD PLEASE

Finding what's right for me

Bob Brigham

Editor's note: This is the first in a series of columns on gay awareness.

Being gay can be a great ticket to personal freedom. It took me a long time to realize that, and I am still learning that in deeper and more profound ways every day.

During the process of identifying my sexuality and adapting to it, I decided that it was sort of o.k. to be gay, so long as I looked and acted straight. I used to go to great pains to blend in. Is this shirt plain enough? Are these colors tame enough?

Watch how you walk. Don't overlap your knees if you must cross your legs. It was a terrible monkey on my back, that I might stick out and then people would know. Of course, I was still inwardly ashamed of myself and my orientation.

Gradually I stopped listening to the monkey. It was necessary for my sanity. Thank God for age. Confidence is often a function of age; it was in my case. My first step was a pink oxford button-down shirt. Pretty tame stuff, that. The world did not turn its eye on me in shock and disgust. No one assaulted me on the street. I took note.

The further along in this lifelong coming out process that I get, the less I care for other people's judgmental glare. I'm no longer worried that if I decide to deck myself out some morning in mod or daring clothes that I might be singled out in a crowd as "gay", or that someone might whisper "fag" behind my back. I really appreciate my brothers and sisters who tend to fit the stereotype. Although they feed that image, they also shock the few holdouts who don't believe that we exist. Many gay men and lesbians are mainstream, and one doesn't see them. However, we are here.

We are your roommates, your lab partners, your T.A.'s your professors. The most precious aspect of being gay is being able to choose traditionally male or female qualities and try them on like shoes to see if they fit. I don't need to look straight, and I don't need to look gay. The only rules are, "Do I like it?" and "Is it me?" And there's just one more little secret: you don't need to be gay to stop playing roles (but it helps).

Bob Brigham is a Collegian columnist.

We need facts to understand conflict

Peter Dow

When most of us buy the Wall Street Journal or the New York Times here at UMass we expect the headlines and stories to be basically truthful, at least so we can rely on the information given without researching the subject ourselves. Unfortunately, this is not always the case when reading the literature of some campus groups who support the Sandinista regime in Nicaragua. Their information is either obtained from Sandinista communiques or through U.S. citizens who take government tours of Nicaragua and relay what they've been told as truthful.

For instance, they claim that the present conflict in El Salvador, and the emerging conflicts in Costa Rica and Honduras, are progressive, popular, social revolutions and are not communist inspired or supported. They also profess that the U.S. is supporting an illegal war by the Nicaraguan counter-revolutionaries against the "legitimate" Sandinista government. And finally, they believed that peace will ensue when the American imperialist are forced to leave Central America (i.e. when the democracies in that region fall to the communists).

But now let's look at some facts that few of us at UMass have a chance to hear. For example, contrary to Sandinista propaganda and the prevailing beliefs among campus radicals, America did not provide any economic or military aid to the Somoza regime during its struggle against the Sandinistas in 1979. Furthermore, from the time the FSLN (the Sandinista "Liberation" Front) triumphed on July 19, 1979 until September 30, 1979, our American government provided Nicaragua with $24.6 million in emergency assistance, consisting of food and medical supplies, grain, and assistance for housing reconstruction. In addition, the Sandinistas directly received $118 million in U.S. assistance from July 1979 through January 1981. In short, during the first year and a half of its life the Sandinista government of Nicaragua received more economic aid from the United States than from any other country.

Why then, during the last few months of the Carter Administration, was it decided to cease all U.S. aid to Nicaragua? Because the Sandinistas were repeatedly found to be violating their agreement not to engage in or support violence and terrorism in foreign countries or to interfere in the affairs of other countries. This decision to end economic aid was also made since Nicaragua had neglected its commitment to establish a democratic government and to ensure freedoms for its people.

Specifically, the government of Nicaragua imposed a Sandinista dictatorship; it refused to hold the free elections it promised when it seized power; it seized control over the media, and imposed censorship on the independent newspaper La Prensa; it threatened the leaders of Nicaraguan opposition parties (Adam Fletes of the Social Christian Party, and Donald Lacayo of the Conservative Democratic Party) with death if they attempted to oppose the Sandinistas; it moved against the private sector of the econmmy, resulting in its destruction; it supported violence against Nicaragua's independent human rights commission, the Permanent Committee for the Defense of Human Rights, and it forced Marta Baltodano, the director of the committee into exile.

Yet we still hear from the Sandinistas that Nicaragua is only a peaceful country with no expansionist ambitions. But again the facts reveal that just the opposite is true. The Nicaraguan government has, since its rise to power in 1979, built up an unrivaled and (if their "peace-loving" claim is true) unnecessary military machine.

Although Nicaragua has a population of only 2.7 million people, it has a 25,000 soldier active duty force with 50,000 soldiers in reserve. Thirty-six new military bases in Nicaragua are being built or have been completed with the assistance of the Soviet Union and Cuba. In addition, more than 2,000 Cuban military Moscow has supplied 7,000 advisors and an army brigade to Cuba. Soviet weaponry — in the form of sophisticated T-55 tanks, helicopters, artillery, and the like — are already in Cuba and Nicargua, and are, at this moment, being utilized by communist guerillas in an attempt to overthrow the U.S. supported Salvadoran government.

And yet it is obvious that neither the Sandinistas nor the Cubans are providing the capital for these endeavors on their own; they simply do not have the massive financial resources nor the economic stability to do so. The Soviet Union does, however, have this capacity, and is sending Cuba and Nicaragua $4 billion in aid annually; $1 billion of this is in the form of weapons being used by rebels in El Salvador.

Although these are just a few examples (more will follow in the coming weeks), it should be clear that any information coming out of Nicaragua or Cuba is propaganda, pure and simple. What the citizens of the United States need are facts, not false hoods, if we are ever going to arrive at a national foreign policy consensus towards Central America.

Peter Dow is a Collegian columnist.

Reaganomics creating havoc

John O'Sullivan

Most of us here at UMass will have our first chance to vote in a presidential election this November. We're fortunate to have such an easy choice. The issues are so critical, and so clear cut that you don't have to know anything about politics to make the right choice this year. Okay, Mondale is a bit drab, and he lacks charisma, but he's not going to blow up the world, and he's not going to screw everyone from the middle class down. No informed, intelligent college student is going to be voting for Ronald Reagan this fall.

These are the things I was thinking about while heading back up to the Zoo, so imagine my surprise that first night, when someone next to me at a party said, "Yeah ... I support Reagan."

"What," I said, "How can you?"

"You know ... the economy and everything ... I'm a business major."

I could understand her looking out for old number one, being a business major and all (she was minoring in finance) but I had to let her know that Reaganomics hurt business majors as well as people on Social Security, welfare, and health care programs.

"Did you know that when you go out to get your loan to start your business you probably won't be able to swing the interest rates, because Reagan and Co. suck up half the available credit in the U.S. before business people ever see it, just financing their big deficits?"

"Well, I'm not going to be in business," she said, "I'm going to be a banker."

I told her that Reaganomics could be creating some havoc in that profession, too. "You know since Reagan is protecting all his pals in big business, who really aren't so competitive and efficient anymore, the people in places like Latin America can't export any good to the U.S. and their economies are dying."

"Let 'em die," she said, "Survival of the fittest, capitalism and all that stuff."

"Well the problem is that the U.S. banking people have loaned those people down in Latin America a hell of a lot of money, about 300 billion I think, and when they start defaulting on the loans, on which they can't even pay the interest now, those U.S. banks will be losing money in 5 and 10 million dollar chunks. That's when people like you and me are going to want our money out. So, after that first big rush, the banks might not need any employees."

The guy sitting next to us was visibly tiring of the conversation.

"Listen," he yelled, "If you're gonna spend the whole night talking about Reaganomics, at least put it in terms we can all understand."

This is what I came up with..

"Pretend you just got up to school and your parents gave you $150 for books ..."

"O.K."

"Cool."

"Well things are gonna seem pretty good for a while, but then they'll get bad because the 'coke buzz' wasn't reality. The reality is you have no books and you are failing your classes."

"The success of Reaganommics is not reality either. Reality is huge deficits, high interest rates, a deteriorating trade position, escalating poverty, and drasticaly cut social programs."

Reaganomics is what Vice President Bush first said it was, "Voodoo Economics." In other words, a bad buzz.

SO THE SOVIET UNION PROPOSED SEPTEMBER TALKS ON SPACE WEAPONS WHICH THE UNITED STATES IMMEDIATELY ACCEPTED WHICH THE SOVIETS IMMEDIATELY REJECTED. THEN THE U.S. CLARIFIED AND MODIFIED ITS ACCEPTANCE WHICH THE SOVIETS REJECTED. THE U.S. REJECTED THE REJECTION. THE SOVIET UNION ANNOUNCED IT WILL REMAIN IN THE 1984 PRESIDENTIAL RACE...
IT SOUNDS SPACEY
LAST WORD PLEASE

Taking charge after a break-up

Tami Tetreault

The most devastating thing that could happen has happened. The impossible has become a reality. The preposterous has become the present, and the unthinkable is all that can be thought of. My boyfriend of four years and I have broken up. It has taken me months to say those words without crying. But, it has really happened, the end, all over. Four years have been terminated. What is left...

Months of maniac depression, years of loneliness, loss of self-esteem, need for self-destruction. I'll cry for the rest of my life; my body will become numb; it will exist only to study, sleep, and of course, eat. Well, actually there were days of deep depression, weeks of crying, months of severe loneliness, thoughts of self-destruction; however, no real action. And my body was numb for at least a day. However, the entire process, well...it really is survivable. My decision never to date another man for the rest of my life speeded up the process.

Tell me, why does that man at the Blue Wall look just like him, and the guy in my Spanish class talk the same way? It seems that wherever I go, almost every guy I meet has some mannerism exactly like one of his. Do they do this on purpose? Is there a conspiracy against me? I try not to cry everytime I see a guy walk by with the name of my old boyfriend's university on his chest, but it makes life miserable.

This isn't a sympathy trip. In fact, if one more person says to me, "You poor thing, although I never really liked him anyway," I am going to scream. Thanks for the thought. However, telling me I spent four years with a loser is not going to perk me up a whole lot.

Why do I have a need to tell the world of my love life failure, if not for sympathy? When a group of my friends and I sat down and I proceeded to tell them about my devastation, it occurred to me that nobody was listening. We all were talking at the same time. Because each one of us had a similar story to tell. We all felt those same feelings of hurt and rejection. I am not alone, and neither are you.

Through this entire relationship and the final ending, I have grown from an innocent, naive girl to a not-so-innocent, still somewhat naive woman. Most of my growing took place during the devastation period. It was a time of learning to live with my failures and rejection. These negative aspects of life are just as important as the positive ones, they are a part of growing pains.

Love is wonderful, however. The saying "love is blind" really means a lot. In a relationship, one can become dependent. I was the dependent one, depending on him for my entertainment, social life, friendship and survival. Nights were spent next to the phone, waiting for the call that never came. Weekends were planned precisely, only to lead to disappointment. Those arguments with two stubborn people at each end were never-ending. There was jealousy. The list goes on. To be honest, they were the best years of my life. Then came the big bomb: breakup time.

If there was one thing that I have gained from this devastation, it is my sense of being a unique individual. It is so easy to lose sight of the goals you set for yourself when someone tells you they love you. The path of your future can become foggy when someone keeps whispering in your ear. You can lose youridentity when you become dependent upon someone else, which is exactly what happened to me. It's very unhealthy.

Now, those goals I planned so precisely are coming back to me, the fog is disappearing, the ambition to be something more than a girlfriend is pumping in my blood again. My survival now depends on me, alone, and I have taken full responsibility.

Would I jump back into the fire? Of course, without a hesitation. However, this time I'd jump with a new understanding of relationships and a sense of maturity.

Happiness and success are out there in massive quantities, believe it or not. It's up to me and you, as individuals, to go out and grab hold, sink those greedy teeth right in and take charge.

Tami Tetreault is a UMass student.

Letters to the Editor

South Africa acticle off base

Your Sept. 6 article on the recent urban uprisings in South Africa presents some misleading images that should be corrected. You state that the rent hike for Africans, that is one of the precipitating issues on the uprisings, comes "to about $3.10 a month" and that the monthly rent for "a four room cinder block house" is "$18.30" a month.

The monthly rent that you describe comes to $210 a year. Yet the average African worker makes only $272 a year. Rent, therefore, constitutes a major drain on income, at a time when inflation is raising food prices to the sky. In that setting the $3 increase could easily be the straw that breaks the worker's back. It is worth noting that these protest are part of a larger reaction against other aspects of South African oppression, such as the newly instituted "constituion" that does not include the country's black majority. Finally, your title, "Looting, arson in Johannesburg" would have been far more accurate if it reflected the courage and anger of the people by stating "Urban Rebellion in South Africa."

John Brown Childs
Associate Professor
Black Studies and Anthropology

Driving tips for newcomers

If you are not of Massachusetts descendence, and you're new at UMass and drive a car, the following information is offered from a non-resident who has just completed his first year of the "Mass Driving Internship:"

(1) Turn signals are not used. Turns are made whenever one desires, at a moment's notice if need be. Anyone you see using a turn signal is obviously a newcomer, like yourself. They'll learn in time.

(2) A traffic light that has just turned red means you have another three seconds to go through it. Police tend to ignore this nasty habit, apparently because the money generated from the fine is not enough to justify their time and paperwork. Speeding and DWI's, however, do.

(3) If you are driving at the posted speed limit, you are not driving fast enough. While driving at this speed, you will see a cagey "veteran" driving about 2 feet off your tailgate. They want you to go faster, so they can go faster, and you will be the one caught in the speed trap.

To say that many drivers in the Amherst area are greatly lacking in courtesy and patience is somewhat of an understatement. It won't take very long for you, the new driver, to understand how the term "Masshole" originated in Amherst.

Dave Kerney
Amherst

Boston Red Sox need Rice

In response to Peter Abrahanm's Sept. 7 editorial on trading Jim Rice, I would say that Abraham has: a) not followed the Boston Red Sox over the last 10 years, or b) has something against Jim Rice. In the 10 years that I have followed the Boston Red Sox, Jim Rice, whose entire career has spanned those 10 years, has been the epitome of consistency, class and devotion on that team. He has averaged 30 homeruns and 100 runs-batted-in every year, as well as having a lifetime .307 batting average. This puts him in the top 10 active players for offensive production with at least 10 years of major league experience.

We should all hope that the Red Sox give Jim a lifetime ccontract for whatever he wants, and maybe we will get to see a World Championship team here in New England for once.

Larry Greenstein
Van Meter North

PONY® EXPRESS

PONY RACER
Nylon & suede jogger
Men's sizes
SPECIAL
Now $18.

PONY 4 CORNERS
Leather hi top basketball shoe
Men's & Boys' sizes
SPECIAL
Now $35.

PONY PRO TURF
Leather turf shoe
Men's sizes
Reg. $44.99
Now $33.

PONY

Olympian delivers! Now on sale are high performing Pony athletic shoes. Pony made for the express purpose of action. Whatever level your experience, you can count on Pony. Pony is up to the challenge.

OLYMPIAN
We thrive on competition.
Hampshire Mall, Rte. 9, Hadley.

NORTHAMPTON BICYCLE
21 Pleasant St.
Northampton
586-3810
Trek - Fuji - Univega - Campagnolo
Suntour and others
Racing, Touring, and Commuting accessories

WAAF 107FM
NIGHT
SATURDAY SEPT. 15
9:30 PM -
1:00 AM
DJ ANDREW WOOLF
Student Union Ballroom
$2.00 General Admission
Free to Hillel Fee Payers
All WELCOME
SPONSORED BY B'NAI BRITH HILLEL

C & C LIQUORS
61 MAIN ST., AMHERST
For Free Delivery of $15. Minimum Order, (off UMass Campus)
DIAL 253-3091
10% Senior Citizen Discounts Except on Specials
BUD or MILLER LITE SUITCASES
24 loose 12-oz. cans $10.95 Plus Deposit

VODKA 1 LITER $4.89
1.75 LITER $8.99
BALLANTINE BEER 12 PK $3.35
McGregor SCOTCH 1.75 LITER $11.99
All Specials In-Store Cash Prices
Hurry! Prices Good Thru Sept. 15
1983 SICHEL Beaujolais 750 ML. $4.25
Liebfraumilch 750 ML. $1.99

BLUE WALL
CAMPUS CENTER AT UMASS
Friday Sept. 14
Cliff Myers
IS BACK 3-6 pm.
WMUA D.J. Party
8:30 pm - 12:30 am
ALL AGES!
Saturday Sept. 15
Dance to the Music of -
Driving Wheel
8:30 pm - 12:30 pm
ALL AGES!
Coming Soon to the Bluewall :.. "Dancing" where DISCO is Dead and "Dancing" is alive!

Students! Work Smart. Work Simply...With Hewlett-Packard.

Take a good look at your class schedule.

If you're in Science or Engineering, chances are your classes include Calculus, Physics, or Chemistry. Engineering Statics, or Dynamics. You're running up against some tough calculations, with statistics problems, hyperbolics, and logs. The HP-11C calculator helps you breeze through those problems with a few simple keystrokes.

Need to simplify problems that are even more complex? The HP-41CV gives you 128 built-in functions—and the HP-41CX over 200—to simplify your long homework assignments. Use up to 6,437 bytes of memory to save the programs and formulas you use often. And there are thousands of software programs, so you don't have to start from scratch next term.

If you're in Business or Finance, you're probably taking Accounting, Statistical Methods, Finance, and Investment Analysis. Classes loaded with tedious calculations. End the pencil-and-paper drudgery with the HP-12C. The most powerful decision-maker on the market! Dedicated keys make time value of money calculations, amortization, Net Present Value (NPV), Internal Rate of Return (IRR), and statistics solutions as simple as a single keystroke. And it's easy to change values or correct mistakes without reentering your entire problem.

Hewlett-Packard calculators. They help you work smart this term. And next term. And even later on the job. Get your HP today from your local HP dealer.

For the location of the dealer nearest you, call TOLL FREE 1-800-FOR-HPPC.

HEWLETT PACKARD

PERSONALIZED STYLE HAIRCUTS
$7.00 (with this coupon)
$10.00 with Shampoo and Blow Dry
$11.50 Long Hair
Expires 9/30/84
Please Call for an Appointment
FREE CONSULTATIONS
Styles by Deborah
58 University Drive
Amherst, MA 549-5610

DIETING?
Try something different. Lose weight sensibly by learning about your eating habits. Down with diets! Call UHS 549-2671 ext. 181. Preregistration by Sept. 21.

WHO CONTROLS THE PAST, CONTROLS THE FUTURE
SUPPORT BANNED BOOKS WEEK SEPTEMBER 8-15
1984
See Our BANNED BOOK SALE
M-F 9-5
Sat 11-4
Located in the Campus Center
UNIVERSITY STORE

RT. 47 SUNDERLAND
You must be 18 to enter
Open 11:2
665-4937
24 Hour Taped Message
The rusty nail Inn
PROUDLY PRESENTS

TONIGHT Tower of Power
September 13
cover $7.50
with student ID $6.50
¼ drafts starting at 11:30

Saturday
September 15
NRBQ
All Tickets $6.50
well drinks 11:30 to close $1.00

Friday
September 14 LONELY BOYS
Rolling Stone music
Bottle Beer
11:30 to close $1.00

Sunday
September 16
ROOT BOY SLIM
and his band
Tickets $4.00
½ price drinks for ladies

all tickets available at the door only all shows start promptly at 10:00

Coming the 21st The Fools
28th The Stompers

THE 23rd ANNUAL ALUMNI ASSOCIATION TRIVIA CONTEST

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 14, 1984 7-11 pm

GRAND PRIZE: A TRIP FOR TWO TO FLORIDA DUR ING SPRING BREAK

HELLO?! THE CORRECT ANSWER IS: THE VICIOUS VACHON BROTHERS, "MAD DOG" AND "BUTCHER" IS THAT IT?! IS THAT IT?! HUH? HUH? HUH? I KNOW EVERYTHING ABOUT PRO WRESTLING!!! NOW DO I GET TO GO TO FLORIDA?!!? HUH?
YEEK! HE'S SUPPOSED TO BE TELLING THEM SLIM WHITMAN'S BOWLING AVERAGE!
AGAWAM ELKS LODGE
FLA
WMUA
CALL: 545-3150
Danny GUIDERA
Class of '81

If only, back in 1961, the Alumni Association had thought to put its contest on a game board, throw in some dice, and sell it for $23.95. If only Eleanor Roosevelt could fly...

The Rules: we ask a question and play a song. You call us at 545-3150 with the answer to the question and/or the song title and artist. We give points for correct answers. The teams with the most points win prizes.

Teams can register until 5 pm on Friday the 14th at the Alumni Office in Memorial Hall, or by calling 545-3150 beginning at 6 pm. The contest begins at 7 pm on WMUA 91.1 FM and lasts until 11 pm.

A PRESENTATION OF THE UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS ALUMNI ASSOCIATION IN COOPERATION WITH WMUA 91.1 FM

AND J.C. Penney Company · Delano's Restaurant · The Alumni Office · The Mercantile · The Fine Arts Center · FACES · Underground Sound · The University Store · Top of the Campus Restauant · The Mountain Farms Four Theatres · Bruno's Pizza · State Representative Jim Collins

Five-college students... HALF-PRICE!

HIGH PERFORMANCE

Subscribe by September 24 & Save Money!

BOX OFFICE: 545-2511

Broadway
"Sophisticated Ladies"
"Brighton Beach Memoirs"

Theater
"Romeo & Juliet"
"Night, Mother"
"A Soldier's Play"

Dance
Houston Ballet's "Swan Lake"
Royal Winnipeg Ballet
Pilobolus Dance Theater

Sampler
Philly Pops, Peter Nero
Les Ballets Trockadero de Monte Carlo
Ray Charles

Orchestra
Springfield Symphony Orchestra, Peter Serkin, piano
Minnesota Orchestra
Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra, Andre-Michel Schub, piano

Jazz
Dizzy Gillespie
Sarah Vaughan
Jazz All-Stars

Chamber
Springfield Symphony Orchestra, Alexander Schneider
Juilliard String Quartet
The Chamber Music Society of Lincoln Center

Winners Circle
Boston Chamber Music Society
Paul Neubauer, viola
James Barbagallo, piano
Robert Davidovici, violin
Portland String Quartet

Plus
Marcel Marceau
Handel's Messiah
Mabou Mines
"Prelude to Death in Venice"
"Company"
Demon Drummers & Dancers of Sado

Fine Arts Center Concert Hall
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AT AMHERST

Change The Way You See Yourself

Solar Nails · Hair Design · Body Waxing · Tanning Booth

MARJON HAIR DESIGN
RT. 9
MOUNTAIN FARMS MALL
HADLEY, MA 586-4551
Drive or hop on a Northampton Bus (check bus schedule for details)
Hours: Mon, Tues, Wed, Fri 9-6; Thurs 9-8; Sat 9-4

The Commuter Area Government at UMass presents:

Breakdance Competition

Friday, Sept. 14th at 8:00 p.m. in Bowker Aud.
Tickets $3.00

SPORT Style

NEW FOR FALL

HEAVYWEIGHT EMBROIDERED RUGBY SHIRT

assorted colors
S-M-L-XL

John C.

Photo by Dwayne Autery

Open M-F 9-5
Sat 11-4

Located in the Campus Center
UNIVERSITY STORE

In one hour,
you can try to break "Tiny" Terwilliger's record* of eating six extra large pizzas with anchovies or learn how to slice your study time in half.

And that's no fish story. As you'll discover by coming to one of our free One Hour Seminars. Where you'll also discover how to enjoy more free time in college. For whatever you want to do. Eating pizzas. Attending rock concerts. Partying. Or engaged in trivial pursuit.

At our free seminar, we'll also show you how you can triple your reading effectiveness, raise your grade point average, and end your cramming forever.

Bring a friend and join us at our seminar. It's only an hour. It's free. And it's a smart move on your part. No matter how you slice it.

*Unofficial record reported in 1983 by a fellow fraternity brother who then fled the "Atsamaboy" Pizza Palace in Los Angeles in total disgust. Restaurant is no longer in operation

Free Seminar Schedule LOCATION: MURRAY D. LINCOLN CAMPUS CENTER

THURSDAY 9/13 1pm, 3pm, & 5pm ROOM 162-175
FRIDAY 9/14 11am & 1pm
SATURDAY 9/15 11am & 1pm ROOM 904-908

EvelynWood College Programs

Choose the day and time most convenient for you. Reservations not necessary. For more information call 1 (800) 447-READ.

highlight and write quick as a flash

TEXTAR more than just a highlighter

Switch from highlighting to jotting notes without changing pens. Textar comes in six bright fluorescent colors, each with a blue ballpoint pen.

Available now at your college store.

All UMass Women are cordially invited to a
Phi Sigma Kappa Party
Friday 14th
Time 9:30
Free Refreshments
next to Fine Arts Center

Bloom County by Berke Breathed

AMEN!
PSST! STEVE! SOMETHING IS ROTTEN IN DENMARK!
OR MAYBE I SHOULD SAY IT'S ROTTEN RIGHT HERE ON THIS STAGE. OVER THERE TO BE PRECISE...
...IN FACT, A CERTAIN UNNAMED CONTESTANT APPEARS TO HAVE A MORE...SHALL WE SAY, PRO-NOUNCED HINEY THAN NATURE ORIGINALLY PROVIDED. BUT FAR BE IT FOR ME TO SPREAD VULGAR, TACKY, ANY, MALICIOUS RUMOR.
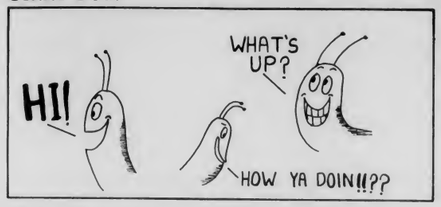
GOOD! NOW GET—"MISTER RHODE ISLAND" HAS STUFFED HIS SUIT!!

Gorde by Gorde

LESSON #2 IN "THE ART OF COMIC STRIPPING": ORIGINALITY! YES, FOLKS, AN IMPORTANT ISSUE, ESPECIALLY TO ME, WHEN DOING A COMIC-STRIP. ONE SHOULD ALWAYS BE ORIGINAL IN CONTENT, AND NEVER, BUT NEVER STEAL FROM ANOTHER COMIC STRIP!
HEY, GORDE! WHAT'S UP? OH, YOU KNOW OPUS, RIGHT?
WHAT?! MANGO GET HIM OUTA HERE! THIS IS AN ORIGINAL COMIC STRIP!
PUT HIM BACK UPSTAIRS TO HIS OWN STRIP WHERE HE BELONGS!! WE COULD BE SUED FOR THIS!!!
FINE, BE THAT WAY!
MARTINI?
I'M GLAD THAT'S OVER WI...
HEY, FRUITCAKE! WHAT'S UP?
AAIEE!!!
7

Under Foot by Joe Bradbury



Ultra Mass by E.L.M.

to create Mansion Ultra!
Good Show!
But while our hero primes his mansion to perfection he has some uninvited guests...
Nice Place You Have Here Friend!

Darrin's Comic Strip by Darrin

#4
Hi, I'm Scooter. I have a pet slug. His name is Sting.
My name is not Sting.
I got the idea from the slug in a comic strip last year who liked the Police. But my slug's better. He does tricks.
I hate the Police and I don't do tricks.
Watch him balance this ball on his nose.
Get this thing off me, you bloody spastic!
Darrin

The Lab by Law

FINE COMIC ART DOES NOT SPRING INTO BEING, WALKING OUT OF THE WOMB LIKE SOME NEW GOD OF MIRTH BELCHING OUT A CHUCKLE A MINUTE...
HOW TO DRAW CHUCKLES
NO.... IT GROWS MORE LIKE A WALKING SLIME MOLD ON THE NORTH SIDE OF SOME FAMILIAR OLD STUMP. OUT OF THIS SLIME CHARACTERS DEVELOP, AND THESE CHARACTERS ENGAGE IN DRAMA SIMILIAR TO WHAT WE EXPERIENCE
SOME OF THESE CHARACTERS BECOME FRIENDS AND WE CAN RELATE TO SITUATIONS THEY FIND THEMSELVES IN. BUT IT TAKES TIME. SOME OF YOU ARE GOING TO BE HERE FOR FOUR YEARS. SO BEFORE YOU SAY "HEY THIS STRIP BITES THE WAZOO", REMEMBER THAT "PEANUTS" WAS WRITTEN BEFORE YOU WERE BORN, AND IT STARTED OFF WITH A LEMON HOPPED UP IN A STRIP CALLED "LITTLE FOLKS."

DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE

Edited by Trude Michel Jaffe

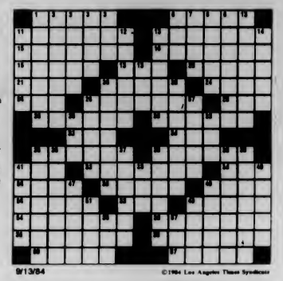
ACROSS
1 "Sound of Music" family
6 Yarn-spinners' medium
11 Feels the cold
13 Bluster and bluff
15 Cockpit sharer
16 Crown and robes
17 Soap plant
18 Title for a Louis
20 Apertures
21 Tabula ——
22 Tuesday, on the Seine
24 Hogmanay celebrant
25 Look here!
26 Small change in Chile
28 Federal agcy.
29 Virgil's magnum opus
31 Speakers of Romance languages
33 KP's attire
34 Ultimate degree
35 Tiffany weights
38 Conceited
41 Sounds of pleasure
42 Paint anew
44 —— Dashan, Ethiopian mountain
46 Irreclaimable
46 Indian title
49 Advanced
50 Indo-European
52 Mauna ——
53 Lively dance
54 Another lively dance
56 "Come-on" for a film
58 M*A*S*H role
59 More alarming
60 Industrialist Cyrus
61 Garment

DOWN
1 —— Becket
2 Sharp retort
3 City near Segovia
4 Soccer great
5 PGA member
6 Before tape or record
7 Predecessor of riches?
8 Pimlico, et al.
9 Tonic from willow bark
10 Anthology makers
11 Declivity
12 Leave high and dry
13 —— wreath
14 Conical kilns
19 Fragment
22 Champion, in Mainz
23 Rowena's beloved
26 Wood for a mothproof chest
27 Riverbank disporter
30 Neither's partner
32 Sacred monogram
35 Hymn
36 Site of Nineveh
37 Graduated
38 Golf shoe features
39 Fretwork
40 Bronx players
41 Too bad!
43 Yoko
45 Packer Hall of Famer
47 Blemish
49 Tours' river
51 Not a chance!
53 Carson's predecessor
55 100 yrs.
57 Rubber stamp letters

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE:

M	A	T	T	A	D	O	R		A	I	R	I	E	S
O	V	E	R	A	T	E			A	N	A	N	A	S
R	E	L	E	N	T	S			N	I	A	G	A	R
A	R	E	S	T		T	I	L	E	S		M	I	A
L	A	R		B	A	I	N		O	P	H	I	T	E
S	O	A	I	L		A	U	N	A		R	U	N	S
F	E	N	A	N	O	R	E	O		I	D	E	S	T
		P	I	S	A		M	A	I	E	S
A	D	O	P	T		N	A	I	L		D	O	W	N
P	I	P	E	R		W	I	N	G		M	E	A	P
U	N	I	T	E		S	T	R	A	I	N	S		A
L	I	E	N		T	E	S	T			T	A	R	Y
S	T	I	F	F	E	R		L	I	B	E	R	I	A
E	Y	O	T	I	C	S		O	R	I	E	N	T	E
R	E	I	N	D	U	R	E		N	O	M	A	T	E

9/13/84



9/13/84 ©1984 Los Angeles Times Syndicate

Today's D.C. Menu

Lunch
Fishburger on Roll/
Tartar Sauce
Spinach Frittata

Dinner
Baked Ham with Fruit Sauce
Chopped Beefsteak Special

Basics Lunch
Boursin ad Sprout Sandwich
Soybean, Corn, Tomato Casserole

Basics Dinner
Baked Cod with Lemon Wedge
Golden Carrot Bake/White Sauce

Today's Weather

Today — mostly sunny, highs in the mid-70's
Tonight — fair, lows in the 50's
Tomorrow — partly cloudy, highs in the 80's

...but, of course I read it in the Collegian!

Collegian's NFL picks

The curse of the sports editor has hit Peter Abraham. The unlucky Lebenese went a very awful 6-7 in his first week of selections. The seemingly all-knowing Scott Hood and Kevin DeLuca went a sparkling 9-4 with Tony Betros turning in an 8-5 slate. Abraham is hoping for a little more luck in this, the third week of the NFL season.

	Peter Abraham (6-7)	Tony Betros (8-5)	Scott Hood (9-4)	Gerry deSimas (8-5)	Kevin DeLuca (9-4)
Seattle-New England	Seat	Seat	N.E.	N.E.	Seat
Atlanta-Minnesota	Atl	Atl	Minn	Atl	Minn
Chicago-Green Bay	GB	Chic	GB	GB	Chic
Cincinnati-NY Jets	NY	NY	NY	Cinn	NY
LA Raiders-Kansas City	LA	LA	KC	LA	LA
St. Louis-Indianapolis	St.Louis	St.Louis	Indy	St.Louis	St.Lou
Detroit-Tampa Bay	Det	Det	Det	Det	Det
Houston-San Diego	SD	SD	SD	SD	SD
LA Rams-Pittsburgh	LA	LA	Pitt	LA	LA
New Orleans-San Fran	San Fran	San Fran	San Fran	San Fran	SanFr
NY Giants-Washington	Wash	Wash	Wash	NY	NY
Philadelphia-Dallas	Dallas	Dallas	Dallas	Dallas	Dallas
Denver-Cleveland	Denver	Clev	Clev	Clev	Clev
Miami-Buffalo	Miami	Miami	Miami	Miami	Miami

★ preview

Continued from page 20

create opportunities, then capitalize. Hopefully we'll come out on top when time runs out," Hixon said.

The UMass men's soccer team will travel to Fairfield University in Fairfield, Conn. today looking for their second victory of this young season against the Stags.

UMass won its season opener on Tuesday, 1-0, over Boston University on Boyden Field. Prior to that game, BU was ranked third in New England and considering that Fairfield is hardly a New England soccer power, prospects of the Minutemen returning home tonight with their second straight victory appear prommising:

Kurt Manal, the freshman import from Canada, paid quick dividends for UMass in his first collegiate game, scoring the one goal against BU. Manal was sent in alone by Nick Marciano, who split the BU defense with a perfect pass near midfield.

"A big win like that certainly helps the team's morale a lot," said Mike Runeare, UMass' senior sweeper and co-captain. "Kurtand some others players are what we need to score goals and make a more well-rounded squad."

UMass emerged from the BU game with no injuries despite the aggressive and rough play. Don Donahue, who recorded the shutout versus the Terriers is scheduled to start in goal again for the Minutemen.

Following today's game, UMass travels to Hanover, New Hampshire on Saturday to meet the Dartmouth Big Green. The next home game will be Sept. 19 against the University of New Hampshire at 3:30.

The Minutemen, who finished with a 18-9-1 record and a third place ranking in New England, swept their three games with the Jeffs last season..

Among the players returning for UMass this year are seniors Paul McNeil ad Phil Surette, junior Bill Feeney, and sophommores Mike Hoover, Owen McGonagle, and Bob McGillicuddy. Fred Maruis will most likely be in goal this afternoon.

— Compiled by Ed Hayward, Scott Hood, and Mike Levine.

Save money when you have
The New York Times
delivered to your dorm room.

Please deliver The New York Times as checked: (Daily subscription rates are 50% below the newsstand price, just 25¢ per day.) Subscriptions will be delivered to dorms and offices on campus. For questions or complaints, P.O. Box 959, Amherst, MA 01004. 253-7009.

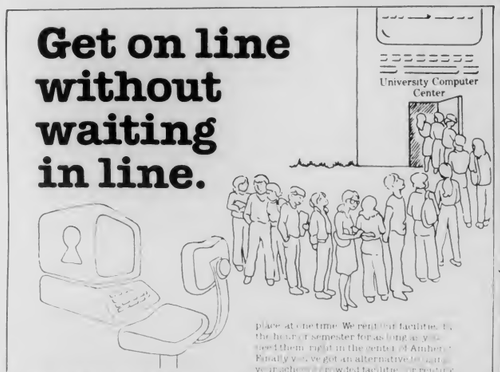
FALL TERM
( ) Weekdays (Mon-Sat) $18.50
( ) Weekdays & Sundays $36.50

Delivery will begin Sunday, Sept. 16, 1984. There will be no delivery during holidays and vacations. The last day of delivery is Fri., Dec. 14, 1984.
Please enclose check and make payable to: RON HUBERDEAU.

Name _____
Delivery Address _____
Class Of: _____ Mail to: Ron Huberdeau, PO Box 959, Amherst, MA 01004

UMASS RUGBY
JOIN 16 YEARS OF PRIDE, WINNING AND EXCELLENCE.
No experience necessary
Practice Tu, Wed, Thu
4 PM
Boyden Lower Fields

Get on line without waiting in line.



"Unbelievable!"

It's not bad enough that endless hours of homework for your computer course. To make a tough situation worse you've got to plan on spending precious time standing in line every time you want to get on line. And your odds on getting a print-out by the time you need it are about as good as getting seats to a Michael Jackson concert.

That is, of course, unless you do your computer homework at the Computer Access Center.

16 chairs, no waiting!

The Computer Access Center is a unique workspace that offers everything you need to do all of your computer work, in one place at one time. We rent out facilities, the latest IBM compatible personal computers right in the center of Amherst. Finally, we've got an alternative to using overcrowded facilities or renting a terminal for the whole semester.

The Access Center has it all. 10 work stations fully equipped with easy interface terminals, complete modem systems that allow you to tie in to Cyber VAX or any other mainframe that you have the access code for, on site letter quality and dot matrix printers for instant print outs and experienced and knowledgeable computer pros always on duty to help you.

Of course, the best part is that at Computer Access Center you don't have to waste precious time standing in line. Now you can plan ahead and reserve time on a terminal that will be waiting just for you.

So what are you waiting for? Call today and see for yourself how easy and inexpensive renting time on a computer can be.

COMPUTER ACCESS CENTER INC.
ON SITE HOURLY/SEMESTER RENTALS 256-1213
79 South Pleasant Street Amherst MA (in left rear of Peter Pan terminal building)
Mon. Thurs - 9 am - 11 pm Fri. 9 am - 6 pm Sat. Sun. 10 am - 6 pm
2 FREE HOURS OF COMPUTER TIME!
Call today, mention this ad and use one of our computers for two hours at no cost! Offer good during business hours Monday through Friday until October 15th

creative tee-shirts
CUSTOM PRINTED SPORTSWEAR
☆T-Shirts ☆Painters Caps ☆ Jackets
☆Baseball Hats ☆ Sweatshirts
☆ GREEK LETTERING
☆LETTERING WHILE YOU WAIT
☆QUANTITY DISCOUNT
Fraternities
Sororities
Clubs & Teams
Hampshire Mall 586-9205 Hadley

LAMBDA CHI ALPHA
OPEN RUSH
All University Men Invited
September 11, 12, 13, 18
9 - 11 pm
FREE REFRESHMENTS
374 N. Pleasant St. 253-9032
(the Blue House)

Jordan signs with Chicago Bulls

CHICAGO (AP) — Michael Jordan signed a seven-year contract with the Chicago Bulls on Wednesay that reportedly makes him the third-highest paid rookie in National Basketball Association history.

"I'm happy to come to agreement with the Bulls," Jordan said at a news conference, accompanied by his parents, James and Delores Jordan, of Wilmington, N.C. "It feels great to be with the Bulls because Chicago is a tremendous sports city.

I'll do whatever the coaches want of me," said the 6-foot-6 Jordan, College Basketball's Player of the Year at the University of North Carolina last season.

Bulls spokesman Tim Hallam revealed the length of the pact, but declined to provide the financial term. Reports have estimated the contract calls for between $650,000 to $850,000 per year. Jordan's market value rose even higher after a successfull stint with the gold medal-winning U.S. Olympic team.

Gooden strikes out 16

New rookie strikeout king

NEW YORK (AP) — Dwight Gooden struck out 16 batters and set a major league record for strikeouts by a rookie pitcher in powering the New York Mets to a 2-0 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates Wednesday night.

Gooden's 11th strikeout of the night which came in the sixth inning against Marvell Wynne, broke the previous major league record of 245 established in 1955 by Herb Score of the Cleveland Indians.

A message from Score, who is now an Indian broadcaster, sent a congratulatory message to Gooden that was flashed on the stadium scoreboard.

Gooden, 16-8, scattered five hits and didn't allow a walk in throwing his second consecutive shutout and fourth of the season. His 16 strikeouts was the highest total in the National League this season and tied the 16 registered by Mike Witt of the California Angels against Seattle on July 23. He now owns 251 strikeouts, tops in the majors.

Hubie Brooks supplied all the offense Gooden needde when he cracked his 16th homer of the season, a two-run drive off John Tudor, 9-11, in the fourth. Keith Hernandez was on base after a single.

Gooden, who fanned every Pittsburgh starter except Jason Thompson and Johnny Ray, was never in serious trouble.

Met's pitcher Dwight Gooden

BOG
Campus Center Board Of Governors
817 Campus Center, University of Massachusetts, Amherst, MA 01003
(413) 545-0198 • (413) 545-0194
The First BOG Meeting of the fall semester is September 13, 1984!
6:00 in the Campus Center
Check at Concourse Information Desk for room number.
Open to the Public!

MOLLY'S
ANTIQUE & VINTAGE CLOTHING
THE CARRIAGE SHOPS
233 NORTH PLEASANT ST. MON-SAT 10-5
AMHERST, MA 01002 413-549-6446

La Cazuela
THE MEXICAN RESTAURANT AT RAHARS
SOMETHING NEW
Distinctive Mexican food and drink, carefully prepared and served in a graceful atmosphere evocative of the American Southwest
Try La Cazuela soon, in downtown Northampton
Lunch: Tuesday - Saturday
Dinner: Tuesday - Sunday
Closed Monday
586-0400
7 OLD SOUTH STREET • NORTHAMPTON

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIED

Monday - Thursday 8:45 - 3:45 • Friday 8:45 - 2:30 • Cash in advance • 5 consecutive days 5% discount • 10 consecutive days 10% discount • 15 consecutive days 15% discount • phone number free

ADVERTISING

Advertise FREE in the RIVER VALLEY AD. Advertise items you want to sell or buy. Call 532-9498

ASTROLOGY

Chart reading, counseling. Will travel to Amherst for appointments. North Greenfield Astrological Counseling. 413-773-3483

ATTENTION: WE'RE HIRING DJ'S

RACK-A-DISC RACK-A-VIDEO is hiring DJ's. Send resume to: PO Box 48, Amherst, MA 01004

AUDIO

I need money and am willing to part with a Capehart AM/FM Dual 8-track stereo with built in turntable and two large speakers. BO 5-6882 Barry

AUTO FOR SALE

1979 Dodge Omni 4-door, standard, cloth upholstery, lots of extras, excellent shape, no rust, $2100 or best offer. Phone 584-9468

Foxy Fiat X 1/9 completely reconditioned removable hardtop low miles 1977 must sell 2500 Larry 256-0080

73 Saab 96-A classic! BO 6-4648/4563

1977 Camero good condition $1,750 549-0675

1969 Volvo 500/best offer 268-7127

Such the deal 76 Honda Wagon needs carb. BO call Paul after 11:00 PM 253-5403

1977 VW Scirocco, 4 spd. AC 60,000 mi $1500 or best offer 546-4745

1979 Honda Civic blue new muffler & brake AM-FM cassette, perfect body & engine; $1200 or BO call 549-1738

1971 Pinto perfectly functional a car you will never stop laughing at $100 253-9712

1981 Datsun B210GL 5 speed AM/FM bucket seats $3,500 or best offer 1-413-283-9223

1978 Ford Fiesta S, original owner, excellent condition, service records. $1700 774-7388 evenings

78 Datsun B210 low mileage must see 253-7617 $1450 or BO

VW Camper 1973 excellent shape, new engine nattery muffler 253-7901 evening 7 to 10

71 GMC ½ ton pick up truck w/cap $600 call 549-3901

$ $ EARN $650 $ $

Make $650 while eating home cooked meals. How can you go wrong? Call Jim Houston at 546-2150

ENTERTAINMENT

VIDEO VIDEO VIDEO VIDEO Rack-A-Video entertainment giant 10 and 15 foot screens for dorms and Greeks. "MTV" video music call 549-7144

Rack-A-Disc Rack-A-Video entertainment guaranteed events for Disc Jockeys, Bands and Video. Call 549-7144

WICKED AND WILD DJ's audio and visual entertainment for the 80's 584-6712

MIDRANGE PRODUCTIONS Professional Disc Jockeys any occasion reasonable rates call 253-3980

FOUND

Kelly your shoes and coat are in the Lost Found at the Campus Center - Nicoletta

HAPPY BIRTHDAY SARA

Happy Birthday Sara! With love from the men at Chestnut Street

HELP WANTED

Utopia Spas part-time counter work Sat & Sun days and weeknights available payment: $ + tubs and tan free apply in person 11 am - 5 pm

FOUND

Kelly your shoes and coat are in the Lost Found at the Campus Center - Nicoletta

HAPPY BIRTHDAY SARA

Happy Birthday Sara! With love from the men at Chestnut Street

HELP WANTED

Utopia Spas part-time counter work Sat & Sun days and weeknights available pay: $ + tubs and tan free apply in person 11 am - 5 pm

Utopia Spas part-time hot tubs maintenance & cleaning work payment: $ + tub and tan free apply in person 11 am - 5 pm

Maintenance person wanted 2 hrs per day, Mon-Fri, mornings. Duties include cleaning office and maintaining equip. Mechanical aptitude and workstudy required. Apply in person 9-4 Mon Fri at 113 CC (Collegian office)

Newspaper deliverers needed in dorms. Early mornings, 7 days/week. Good pay for short hours. Call 253-7009

P time, exper necc audio bkgrnd helpful Sound Co. 201 N Pleasant, Amherst

Experienced shoe salesperson part time apply in person only Mathews Shoes 39 So. Pleasant St. Amherst

House people wanted for light cleanup at Fraternity. Mon thru Sun Free meals and more. Call Mark after 4 549-3744

Attention! Public Relations, Journalists, Graphic Designers. The SGA Communications Office is now hiring. Great opportunity to develop your portfolio! WS and non-WS jobs available. See Kelley Riley in 423 Student Union for application. Deadline is 9/21/84.

Local advertising agency seeks student intern. Call 586-2135

Homecooked meals exchanged for kitchen help 10 hours a week call 253-9071 ask for Wheaty

Maintenance Technician needed Part-time, approx. 2 hrs/day, Mon-Fri, flexible schedule. Maintain equipment and basic cleanup. Mechanical apptitude necessary. Apply in person 9-3 Room 113 Campus Center.

FOR SALE

SOUNDESIGN STEREO Originally $900. 2 years old: $400. Dresser $40. 253-3982

Brand new 26" Kent bicycle must sell $75 or BO Michelle 546-0627

1973 VW Bug excellent condition rebuilt engine $1600 or BO call 549-6628 or 546-1778

Apartment furniture! Bed, dresser, bookcase, mirrors, chairs etc. 256-0682 after 5 pm

Sacha Moped 1981 very good condition drive on campus! $375 253-2284 Caroline

Refrigerator. Household size 16 cu. ft. now in daily use 584-4610

Speakers AR 18 perfect size for dorm room in great cond; powerful 100 wt capability. Great sound $100 call Rick 253-2720

Homs Stereo AM/FM cassette 8-track turntable $99. 546-6194 Chrissy

INSTRUCTION

Know your car. Basic Automobile Workshop. 26 hours including classroom and shop. Limited enrollment. 253-2098

Tutor for Accounting 222 needed. Call Jennifer 256-1351

LOST

Class Ring 86 black onyx parents will kill ma call Dean of Students Office or Students Affairs Office 5-2884

Brown, cloth purse return to Lynn 549-4811 or campus police

!!!Big Reward!!! Black Rolex divers watch between Boyden Lower Tennis Courts and Cance, Southwest. 546-5084

MANICURIST WANTED

Manicurist wanted for new nail salon in Amherst call office 1-283 3837

MOTORCYCLES

Suzuki 400GS 1980, excellent cond., low mileage, extras, $1,000 or BO, 586-8524

1977 Kawasaki KZ400 fully dressed new tune up, mufflers, tires, battery must sell $600 Greg 253-[illegible]7205

MUSICIANS WANTED

Attention Musicians! The Orchard Hill Central Faffiest needs local student bands to perform on 9/22. Call Dave 6195, Bill 6863

PERSONALS

PERFORMING ARTS DIVISION Music, Theatre, Dance Instruction Old Chapel/UMass 545-0515 Register by September 14.

Rush tickets available for October 2, Worcester Centrum. Call 546-1461

UMass Grenadier Society meets at the Campus Center Wednesday 7-12 PM Sundays 2-12 PM. We play diplomacy, squad leader and many other board games and miniatures. All are welcome.

Care I hope you don't think this is too goofy but I am. so psyched your my roommate Amy

Body Design Come to a total body workout! First class on us! Starting Thursday September 13 6-7 or 7-8 pm, Campus Center Rm 174 stretching trimnastics aerobics 256-1465

Snow Tennini I know your here, but where? Call Merilyn 253-7208!

First Jump Courses will be held tonight at 7 pm. Check CC schedule for room. The cost is $85 with UMass ID

MB I'm crazy about ya. Beby

Skiiffy Baby and L.T. - To our new swingin' bachelorette pad!! Scoop 1, 2, 3. . . ! Love, Mar

Nancy B. of KKG Have a very wonderful birthday and congrats on your special week! I'm happy we're of the same lineage! Many Stolles for the future! Your favorite and only big sis', Larissa

Beth Sampson & Annette Welsch Looked for you everywhere please write miss you Luv Abby

Mamoo the koala bear has returned!! Is anybody out there? I'm on the 11th

Nena C: Happy Belated 21st. Thanx for making our summer interesting. Love, Hilt & KT

RIDE WANTED

Grad student wants ride to/from Boston on Thursdays during fall term. Share expenses Doug 584-5720

ROOM WANTED

1 bedroom in 2 bedroom apt Brittany Man prefer grad student bed provided. 256-1508

ROOMMATE WANTED

Female needed to share a townhouse in Sunderland if interested please call 665-4680

Female roommate wanted Townehouse Apts to share room. Call 549-4685

Female roommate wanted Brittany Manor Apts. 158G $130 + elec Maya or Todd 256-8413

Desireable. $100.00 $200.00 monthly. Negotiable. Northampton. Busline Sharon: 586-7750, Joel: 1-532-4536

TRAVEL

4 round trip tickets to Florida best offer price negotiable Ilene 549-8600

SERVICES

Trees and Shrubs Forestry student offers professional pruning of shrubs as well as landscape consulting and designs at very reasonable prices 546-8067

WANTED

Rock Band seeks exp. keyboardist, vocalist, chords, E.G., attitude a must 546-5462 or Tim 546-5896

WANTED TO RENT

Apartment in Puffton or area for spring $5 reward 960 546-7228 Bob or Tim

Sports

Spikers dispose of AIC in 3 straight at Boyden

By ROGER CHAPMAN
Collegian Staff

The excitement the United States men's and women's volleyball team provided during the Olympics didn't exactly rub off yesterday at Boyden Gymnasium. Then again, providing excitement wasn't the first thing on the minds of the University of Massachusetts volleyball team. Producing a win was, and that's exactly what they did as the spikers defeated a pesky American International College team in three straight, 15-13, 15-7, and 15-12.

"I think we played pretty well," said UMass head coach Elaine Sortino, "were a a little tight in the beginning, but that's to be expected in the first match of the year."

UMass trailed A.I.C. 5-4 early in the first match. But junior Sally Maher responded with two consecutive kills to put UMass up by a 6-5 count. The Minutemen's lead grew to 12-9 but A.I.C., before good hitting and a couple of UMass miscues came back to regain the lead 13-12.

That lead was short lived, as Susie Grant and Mary Guiliotis answered with back-to-back kills to put UMass ahead, 14-13. Patti Grant closed out the game with a service winner giving the spikers the 15-13 win.

Things went a little better in game two. Serving and consistent defense were the name of the game here as UMass cruised out to a 9-1 advantage. A.I.C. began to close, but that rally was quickly stopped courtesy of a Guiliotis kill.

"The freshmen really rose to the occasion," praised Sortino. The freshmen she spoke of were Guiliotis, Sarah Ryan, and four foot eleven Tino Morello, who often picked apart the A.I.C. defense with accurate serving.

Everything came together for UMass in this game. "We passed well during the whole match, especially game two," Sortino said. UMass took game two 15-7.

Game three proved to be a different story, however. Several UMass mistakes allowed the Yellow Jackets to stay in the game. The game was tied at 12-12 and could have gone either way. But that is when Maher took charge. The 5 foot 8 hitter drilled a spike to the left-hand corner to put UMass ahead to stay, 13-12. UMass won the game 15-12 to complete the sweep.

One thing could have been a factor throughout the match was fan involvement. Although a fair-sized crowd was present, not much in the noise department was produced.

"At 12-12, you would have thought we were up 12-0," said Sortino. "Overall, it was a slow game, but fan participation would have helped our momentum a bit."

UMass has a busy schedule this weekend, as they prepare to do battle at the UMass Invitational at Boyden Gymnasium. The

Collegian photo by Andy Heller

THE WALL — Ann Ringrose (closest) and Sarah Ryan go for the block in helping the University of Massachusetts volleyball team sweep American International College in three straight.

UMass up-ends Keene

By GERRY deSIMAS
Collegian Staff

After the first game of the season, a coach usually has a good idea of what the team can do. The University of Massachusetts women's soccer team opened their season against the top Division II team in the country and coach Kalekeni Banda liked what he saw.

The Minutemen took a 1-0 lead 3:31 into the match and never looked back in a 4-0 win over Keene State in Keene, New Hampshire Wednesday.

"It was a good first win," Banda said. "I like what I saw. Everything's there but the timing has to be more precise.

"It was a good game. They (UMass) were all good goals—no garbage goals. This team can shoot really well."

Defensive back and co-captain Lori Stukes put UMass on the board with a 38 yard lofting shot from the outside. "We talked about that kind of shot in the team meetings, " Banda said. "Some goalies don't know how to jump high enough."

Freshman Monica Seta scored her first Minuteman goal with a little more than 10 minutes gone in the game for the 2-0 halftime lead.

Freshman Kristen Bowsher, off a Jolie DePauw pass made it 3-0 and Seta made it 4-0 with 15:27 to go in the game.

"Iwas impressed with the freshmen," Banda said. "The freshmen seemed to know what was expected of them." Seta, with the two goals, DePauw, with nice corner kicks and Chris Schmitt and Debbie Belkin on defense played well.

The two Minutemen goalies also looked good, although they weren't really tested. Lisa Ellis started the game but Jeanne Paul played the second half.

Banda is still undecided on who the starting goalie will be but he said UMass will not split up the goaltending chores. One will start and play unless someone gets hurt.

"It's good to have the first game under our belt," Banda said. "We can play better but it's (the components to win) there."

UMass
Keene St.
(1-0)	2	2	-	4
(0-1)	0	0	-	0

Scoring: M, Lori Stukes (1), unassisted 3:31
M, Monica Seta (1), unassisted 26:33
M, Kristen Bowsher (1), Jolie DePauw (1) assist 39:56
M, Seta (2) unassisted 54:33

Shots on Goal: M 22, KS 7

Saves: M Lisa Ellis 2, Jeanne Paul 3; KS Marcia Pansok 16

Thursday's sports previews

Today's action sees the field hockey and water polo teams in their home opener while the men's soccer looks for two in a row against Fairfield.

In today's home opener against the University of Michigan the University of Massachusetts field hockey team will rely on its determination and youth to defeat a team they know little about.

"We've never played them and they're not nationally ranked," head coach Pam Hixon said. "We're really at square one when it comes to this team. All we know is that they're a Bix-Ten conference team, they haven't played a game, and they have a new head coach. They should be tough since players tend to play harder for a new coach."

One thing Hixon knows for sure is that her team does not give up. In its two previous games the team rallied from behind to defeat the University of Virginia 3-2 and battled a strong University of North Carolina club in a 2-1 loss.

"We're a very young team, very inexperienced. But we are scrappy and work very hard," Hixon said. It is this scrappiness that Nixon is countinng on since the team lost seven key players from last year's team that ranked third in the nation.

"It will be more of a team effort this year," Hixon said. "It will not be as pretty a team as last year's because experience leads to style. But we'll get the job done," she added.

Hixon sees senior co-captains Andrea Muccini (halfback) and Pam Moryl (midfielder), two-time first team All American junior Megan Donnelly (midfielder) and freshman Tonia Kennedy (forward) providing the sparks in today's contest.

"We'll concentrate on getting the ball first, not winning the game. We want to control the moment, each moment. We'll try to dominate the time of possession. that way we can wear down our opponents,

Continued on page 18

Sports log

Tony Betros

Just a few thoughts ...

With the World Series being less than a month away, it looks like three of the four pennent races have already been settled. Detroit had it locked up while we were all here last spring, and the Padres have combined their fine year with mediocre ones from the Braves and Dodgers to capture the National League West ... San Diego will most likely play the fellows from Wrigley Field, who simply would not surcumb to another 1969 New York Met miracle. Major League Baseball stands to lose about a half a million dollars if the Cub playoff games stay in the daytime. Cub fans are tough, and there's no way they will stand for that. Imagine blowing off half a day's work to go to a ball game — only in the U.S.A.

Something has to be done about the American League West. Last year, someone described the White Sox as "winning ugly" when they took the division title. This year, it looks like another Joan Rivers finger-in-the-throat race. It looks like the winner of this division will set a record for fewest victories by a division winner. People who are excited about this race also place bets on "Battle of the Network Stars."

Now, we can turn our attention to superlatives in baseball. Let's start with the American League. MVP — most likely Don Mattingly or Dave Winfield of the Yankees. Mattingly has been hitting .350 all year, and leads the league in slugging percentage, doubles and hits. Winfield also has impressive stats and has a better defensive reputation, but I'll still go with Mattingly ... Rookie of the Year — Alvin Davis of Seattle. He has been up there in homers and RBI and has out-shined any other rookie ... Cy Young — the first half of the year would have been all Jack Morris, but the Detroit rightly has plummetted, so I'm going with Dave Steib of the Blue Jays (14-5, 2.38), just over Phil Niekro.

National League: MVP — Ryne Sandburg. Name the category and he's near or at the top. Easily playing the best second base of anyone over quite a few years. Keith Hernandez of the Mets should take second .. Rookie of the Year — It was a tossup between Dwight Gooden of the Mets and Juan Samuel of the Phils, but Samuel has dipped and Gooden has been outstanding. He leads the league in K's, is 15-8, and has a 2.84 ERA. What makes it sick is that he still isn't old enough to drink in this state. Cy Young — The only one really standing out is Rick Sutcliffe of the Cubs, with a 14-1 record. Other than that, it's pretty close.

One final (honest) note from L.A. — The Olympics grossed 150 million dollars in their two-week extravaganza. You know you're doing good when you beat the Megabucks ... News item: BC is ranked ninth by UPI, and they get to tailgate at Chestnut Hill.

No more need be said.

sports at a glance

UMass Schedule:
Field Hockey: Michigan at NOPE, 3:30.
Men's Soccer: at Fairfield, Fairfield, Conn. 4:00
Water Polo: Amherst at Boyden Pool, 4:00

pro scores

Kansas City 3, Minn. 2
NY Yankees 1, Toronto 2
NY Mets 2, Pitts. 0
Montreal 5, Chicago 11

The Massachusetts Daily
NEW ENGLAND'S LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY
Collegian
Volume CXIV, Issue 75 UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AMHERST (545-3500) Friday, September 14, 1984

Collegian Photo by Brian Gonyo

REPRO MAN — Junior interior design major John Kells sketches the library tower yesterday afternoon. The library is scheduled to undergo renovations and open at full capacity in 1986.

Duffey says repair plan for library is underway

By LAURA YEE
Collegian Staff

A plan to regain full use of the University of Massachusetts 28 story library is underway, Chancellor Joseph D. Duffey told the faculty senate yesterday.

The library committee "has reviewed recommendations for the procedure...construction should begin this year," Duffey said.

Danger of chipping bricks falling from the library's facade forced its closing in 1979. Since then, the library has been reopened under limited and supervised use. The $2 million appropriated several years ago to repair the facade remained stagnant because a successful plan to repair the building could not be agreed upon.

That money will now be used to expand the lobby in order to give protected access in front of the main entrance, with the plaza still fenced off, Duffey said.

In addition, the five elevators will be improved and the south entrance reopened. The main collection will begin to be reshelved, the documents collection relocated and full use of the study rooms will be implemented.

"Two floors never used before will be opened," Duffey said.

The library staff will supervise moving all bound and current periodicals to the second and third floors and will continue reshelving the main collection. After that, the card catalog, the basic reference collection, microfilm and technical staff will be moved from Goodell to the tower.

Duffey said the project "will be completed by the fall of 1986 with the full use of the library and plaza restored," but cautioned that the completion date will depend on many factors.

But the library will be as safe as any building on campus, Duffey said.

The state Department of Capital Planning and Operation and the University will continue to investigate ways to permanently repair the brick exterior. No repair process acceptable to the University has been yet proposed.

The library was built at a cost of $16.5 million and opened in October 1974. The building has a capacity of 2.5 million volumes and is designed to accommodate up to 3,000 readers at a time, although it currently can hold only 500 under restrictions.

David C. Knapp

President calls for video future

By LAURA YEE
Collegian Staff

University of Massachusetts President David C. Knapp has plans to bring the school to the forefront of technology in higher education through telecommunications.

In his annual address to the Faculty Senate yesterday, Knapp said, "I have asserted that the University should take the lead in recognizing the technological revolution which characterizes the 'information society'."

Knapp said the University has been "more successful in adjusting to the employment needs of the information society than in converting our own information capacity to new technology."

"Telephone systems on this campus are antiquated. Video systems for on and off campus education are virtually nonexistant and provision for data transmission are at best a hodge podge," he said.

Knapp said he would like to replace the present chalk board system of teaching by using video information systems.

"I want to wire it up in such a way so that a classroom or dorm room could share data transmission."

Continued on page 4

TOC plans new approach to cure 'happy hour' blues

The Friday afternoon drink specials at the Top of The Campus Lounge will be extended from 3 pm to 1 am, according to William Ellmore, food services beverage manager.

"On Fridays we're going to have 'well' drinks for 75¢ apiece from 3 pm on," Ellmore said.

But Ellmore said the Friday drink specials will no longer be called "happy hour."

Last year's two-for-one drink special, a double drink in one glass, has been replaced by regular sized drinks at half the normal price.

"The trend in this area is to eliminate happy hours. Springfield has already done it and I anticipate the Amherst selectmen will discuss the subject," he said.

Ellmore said he wanted the TOC to be the leader in the area if the trend continued. It's not good business sense to change in the middle of the year," he said.

Ellmore said another reason for extending the time was the amount of alcohol that could be consumed in a three-hour period.

"Someone doesn't have to drink as heavily in a certain amount of time to enjoy themselves," Ellmore said.

"Instead of having two for one, it's 75¢ a drink. Happy hour really hasn't ended," said Jeff Swartz, 21, a business major.

Swartz said he would continue to go to the TOC as long as the prices were not "too expensive."

— JOHN MILBIER

Inside:

Writer Nicholosa Mohr on Puerto Rico.....p.5
Liz Luciano on registration.....p.7
Alabama QB transfers to UMass.....p.16

"A gossip is one who talks to you about others; a bore is one who talks to you about himself, and a brilliant conversationalist is one who talks to you about yourself."
— Lisa Kirk

BOG to conduct study

Drinking age will affect bars

By JOHN VINCENT
Collegian Staff

The $96 Campus Center fee students pay on their bills may have to be raised if solutions are not found to offset financial losses of campus drinking establishments when the state drinking age is inevitably raised to 21, the director of the Campus Center said last night.

Addressing this year's first meeting of the Campus Center Board of Governors, William Harris said a task force would be formed to study the financial implications a raised drinking age would have on the Top of the Campus lounge, the Hatch bar and especially the Blue Wall, which he said is geared to a younger crowd.

In other BOG business, several offices will have to be moved. Ron Homa, BOG space coordinator, said the Student Government Association Communications Office will have to move to accommodate its new printing equipment, which can only operate in an air conditioned office. The Off-Campus Housing Office, which has been told to vacate its space in Hasbrouk, may move into the Campus Center and the Office of Third World Affairs also needs to be moved, he said. Space proposals may be considered next week.

Harris also told the board that he expects campus pornography, the subject of heated debate last year when activists proposed the removal of three magazines from campus stores, will again be an issue this year.

He said censorship was a big decision and "the entire University community will have to have input and if the community wants to censor magazines such as Playboy and Penthouse, then we will respond to their wishes."

Today's Staff

Night Editor — Anne McCrory
Copy Editor — Bob Burgess
Layout Technician — Ansel Zinter
Photo Technician — Brian Gonye
Production Supervisor — Conor Plunkett
Production — Laura Zigman, Julie Slater, Andrew Held, Jeff Collins, Brian Solov, Suzanne Reynolds, Deborah A. Rugg, David Hazeltine

EMT's
Join
UMass Fire & First Aid Unit
Work at shows, football games, concerts
CPR recert, CEU's
1st meeting Monday, Sept. 17, 1984
at 9 PM in Morrill North 406
New Members Welcome
Please bring a copy of your EMT and CPR card

UMASS RUGBY
JOIN 16 YEARS OF PRIDE, WINNING AND EXCELLENCE.
No experience necessary
Practice Tu, Wed, Thu
4 PM
Boyden Lower Fields

This unique college campus is limited to only 500 students...
...maybe you'll be one!
Applications are being accepted now for Spring and Fall Voyages.
Study around the world, visiting Japan, Korea, Taiwan, Hong Kong, Sri Lanka, India, Egypt, Turkey, Greece and Spain
Choose from 60 voyage-related courses to earn 12-15 transferable hours of credit from the University of Pittsburgh.
Develop an awareness of our relationship with other countries and a first-hand understanding of world issues.
Semester at Sea admits students without regard to color, race or creed.
SEMESTER AT SEA
For details, write or call:
(800) 854-0195
toll-free
Institute for Shipboard Education
University of Pittsburgh
2E Forbes Quadrangle • Pittsburgh, PA 15260

the rusty nail inn
PROUDLY PRESENTS
North America's Answer to the Rolling Stones
LONELY BOYS
This band has taken every city they play by storm, with their electrifying performances. Sooner or later this very talented group will be at the TOP with the International Super Groups.
Don't miss your chance to see and hear the group second only to the ROLLING STONES -
LONELY BOYS
We strongly suggest that every Rolling Stones Fan, see and hear this fabulous group
COMING SEPTEMBER 14th
FRIDAY
Rte. 47/Sunderland
665-4937

NOW MORE CONVENIENT THAN EVER
MICAS WARRANTY CERTIFICATE
GRAND OPENING
At the junction of Routes 9 and 116
NOW IN HADLEY!
MUFFLERS • BRAKES • EXHAUST
STRUTS • SHOCKS • MORE
TRUST THE MIDAS TOUCH FOR VALUE
FREE
New England Map
Just drive in for a free inspection of your vehicle's exhaust, muffler, brakes, struts, or shocks. No appointment necessary: we're ready when you are!
VISA MasterCard
FREE WRITTEN ESTIMATES
NORTHAMPTON
143 King Street
586-4840
MIDAS®
HADLEY
Junction Rtes. 9 & 116
586-9991

Get Involved with VIDEO
All Students Invited to Informational Meeting
Monday 9/17 at 7:00 pm
Union Video Ctr.
216 Student Union
(near back of Hatch)

AIR FORCE ROTC — HERE ARE THE FACTS
When you're discussing something as important as your future, it's urgent that you get the straight facts and that you understand them. Air Force ROTC can be an important part of your future. We would like to outline some of the facts and invite you to look into gathering more.
It's a fact: the Air Force needs highly qualified dedicated officers — men and women. It's a fact: we need people in all kinds of educational disciplines. It's a fact: we're prepared to offer financial help to those who can qualify for an Air Force ROTC scholarship.
Get together with an AFROTC representative and discuss the program. We'll give you all the facts. It could be one of the most important talks you've ever had with anyone about your educational plans.
JAY A. BULLINGTON
(413) 545-2437/2451
AIR FORCE ROTC
Gateway to a great way of life.

Collegian Photo by Brian Gonye

ROLE REVERSAL — UMass Marching Band members (left to right) Gavin J. Reardon, Chuck LeMarche, Dana Ritter and Gene O'Brien try a little football of their own — in the Old CFL (Old Chapel Football League) yesterday afternoon outside their practice hall. The group plays everyday.

New Duffey aide comes to campus

By ANNE McCRORY
Collegian Staff

A former program officer of the National Endowment for the Humanities who worked under then-chairman Joseph D. Duffey, has been named an associate to the chancellor at the University of Massachusetts.

Cleveland Donald Jr., a minister and professor of Latin American history, arrived on the Amherst campus last Tuesday to begin his duties assisting his former associate, who is now campus chancellor.

Donald said his work evaluating and monitoring grants, many of which concerned higher education, provided him with an understanding of both the trends in higher education and the methods and interests of grant foundations. He will use this knowledge to help the University.

"Given the diversity of curriculum here, it's certain UMass would have someone who could take advantage of a foundation's programs," he said.

His primary duties as associate chancellor will include being an administrative link with the affirmative action office, the Mediation Project and the University ombudsman, "making sure that the channel is always open between them and the administration."

He said his appointment to the University was "for me, a learning experience and an opportunity to participate in a strengthening of the University."

Donald's background includes teaching black studies, history and Afro-American studies at seven colleges and universities, holding numerous administrative positions and writing articles for various publications. He speaks fluent Portuguese.

Donald holds a doctorate in Latin American history from Cornell University and a masters degree from there as well. He was the second black student to graduate in the history of the University of Mississippi in 1966.

Dorm room squeeze is on

Hampshire College short of housing

By DEBORAH ROSS
Collegian Correspondent

Some Hampshire College students are sleeping in dormitory lounges because of an increased number of first-year students and conversions of housing for other uses over the summer.

Because of declining enrollment in previous years, the college administration decided to renovate a portion of the first-year student residences for purposes other than that of living accommodation, according to Hampshire spokesperson Russell Powell.

Dakin House, a primary residence for freshman, has been renovated to include a computing room, a meeting room, and an office for the director of first-year student programs.

The Hampshire College Daycare Center, located in the Dakin basement, has doubled in size, reducing even further the amount of old sleeping space.

The squeeze for accommodations has been made even more severe by the conversion of the Greenwich Housing Complex into a conference center for use by the college and outside groups.

Although Powell said that despite the refurbishments, "the buildings can still accommodate the ebb and flow of students," some students, particularly those rooming in lounges, disagree.

Ken Mackin, an economics and physics senior living in Dakin, said "People who need rooms now have lounges." He said Hampshire's Administration "went ahead with the refurbishings even though they knew the size of the entering class."

But Powell describes the shortage as "temporary." "All students presently living in lounges will be allocated with rooms in the near future," he said.

Papers available for SGA elections

Nomination forms for the upcoming Student Government Association elections are now available to all University of Massachusetts students in room 420 of the Student Union.

Elections for the 102 on and off-campus representatives to the Undergraduate Student Senate will be held Oct. 1 and 2.

Autumn Maki, assistant to the Speaker of the Senate, stressed a few of the important functions of the SGA.

"Fighting tuition hikes is one of our main concerns," she said. "Last year we managed to cut the University's proposed tuition increase in half. We also deal with issues like racism and sexism on campus."

Maki said the University's recent allocation of funds for dormitory and building repairs will be a much discussed topic in the student senate this semester.

Completed nomination forms must be submitted to room 420 of the Student Union Building no later than 4 p.m. Sept. 21.

On campus, every dorm has at least one senator representing it, and larger buildings, such as the towers in the Southwest Residential Area, can have up to three representatives. Off-campus and Greek area senators are elected at-large, in proportion to the student population in those areas.

– JOHN FULLER

Woman bicyclist uninjured following collision with car

Police reported that a 20-year-old Amherst woman was uninjured after she was struck by a car on North Pleasant Street while riding her bicycle Wednesday.

The operator of the vehicle was cited by Amherst Police for failure to turn properly. Both the vehicle and bicycle were traveling north on North Pleasant Street when the driver of the car made a right hand turn without signalling and struck the bicyclist. The accident occured at 1:28 p.m.

The sum of $286 was reported missing from Minuteman Cleaners Wednesday. The larceny is under investigation by Amherst Police.

Return of stolen albums requested

WMUA Chief Engineer Bill Stepchew said WMUA will welcome the return of any of the radio station's albums "that may have accidentally ended up in someone's home."

"After Monday, if we hear of anybody who has our albums, the police will be notified and search warrants issued," Stepchew said.

Police have already been notified of the losses, and are "eager to arrest people" possessing stolen records he said.

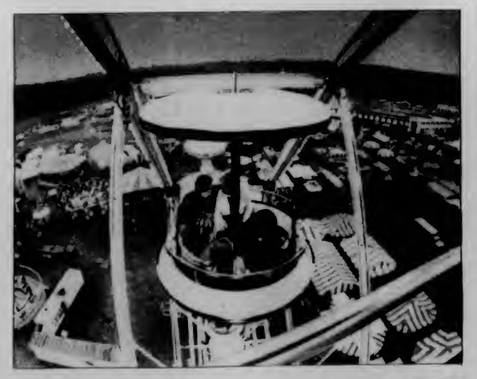
Orchard Hill plans birthday party

Orchard Hill Area residents will celebrate their area's 20th birthday with live bands, birthday cake and a barbecue Saturday.

Balloons will be released from a giant hollow cake and four cakes in the shape of dormitories will be cut as everyone sings Happy Birthday, according to Orchard Hill Area Co-President David Pasquantonio.

The event, which starts at 10 a.m. with an aerobic dance class and ends with the last band at 4 p.m., will cost about $4,500 in program support and area government funds, according to project coordinator Bob Kevra.

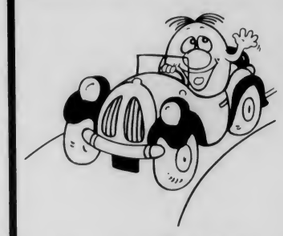
-TOM MIDDLETON



AP Laserphoto

TAKE IT FROM THE TOP — Fairgoers enjoy an aerial view of the Eastern States Exposition (Big E) in West Springfield from the country's largest portable ferris wheel at 115 feet tall. More than 1 million people are expected to attend the fair by its end Sept. 23.

WE'RE COMING SOON...
LOOK FOR US!
Join us for our Grand Opening Celebration and discover the pleasure of the European indoor tanning experience. Bask, relax, and enjoy your favorite music in complete privacy on a Sontegra UV-A tanning lounge. A 30-minute session just once or twice a week leaves you soothed and refreshed...and sporting a year round golden suntan!
Our 360° "skin-friendly" tanning systems are safer than the sun—they won't burn, dry or age your skin. They are the state of the art.
Call today to book your appointment at pre-opening rates or join us for our Grand Opening Celebration
Sat. Sept. 15
264 N. Pleasant
2nd floor above Silverscape
call for an appointment
253-9454
Authorized Sontegra Dealer
Special Offer:
1 Free Trial Visit
and 6 visits for $19.

just for the fun of it!


come on downtown
There's no place like downtown Amherst, Massachusetts.

★ KNAPP

Continued from page 1

Knapp said he has asked an "all-university group to develop a telecommunications operational plan in the next 18 months." He wants to implement telecommunication "into all facets of work at all three campuses."

Knapp recognizes that the school cannot advance in the way he has proposed without the help of public and private funds.

"Academic support services remain a problem," he said.

Knapp also said the combined research conducted on this campus and at UMass-Worcester "outranks all public and private universities in the state except Harvard and MIT."

FREE
FREE
• Safer than any other Tanning Method
• FDA Registered
• Free Tour & Brochures at no Obligation
• Cannot & will not Burn your Skin, only Tan you a Golden Brown
• Try It- You Will Like It
• You Cannot Believe (Until you see it)
Luxury
SUN TAN SALONS
264 N. Pleasant
2nd floor above Silverscape
Bring this Coupon for a FREE Complimentary Tanning Session and have Fun!
Limit one per person new clients only Expires 10/30/84
Call for an appointment
253-9454
PRIVATE AND VERY COMFORTABLE
STEREO HEADSET IN EACH SUN ROOM
FREE
FREE

TYPEWRITERS: A THING OF THE PAST?

I want your papers yesterday!
My Kaypro is printing it now... you'll have it today!
My typewriter is broken! How about an extension?!
Extinct
A single word for the typewriter that seems to say it all.
But there's a monstrous reason why we at KAYPRO can make such a bold statement. The KAYPRO Writer's Pak bridges the gap between the past and the future...between typewriters and computers.
Finally the complete system for all your school needs!
• KAYPRO's "TYPE-IT" allows this system to be used as a typewriter while you learn its other capabilities.
• The Writer's Pak will type more than 200 words per minute! (You probably type about 60wpm.)
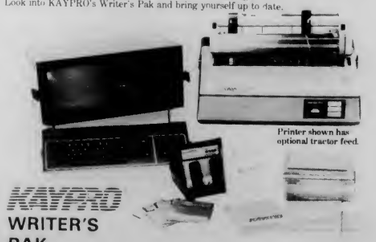
• The Writer's Pak will correct all your spelling errors. Just think! No more whiteouts, typeovers or misspelled words! Every correspondence is letter perfect!
• The Writer's Pak will show you a full 13 lines of script and REMEMBER almost 200 pages of text!
• The Writer's Pak will also do super-scripting, sub-scripting, bold face type and more!
• The Writer's Pak will do full text editing, inserting and even format your pages!
• The Writer's Pak will run your form letters and collate your mailing lists!
• Financing and store credit available.
The best part is that the KAYPRO Writer's Pak is complete! There is nothing else to buy, and the total price for the Writer's Pak is probably LESS than most so-called memory typewriters.
If you've been contemplating the purchase of an electronic memory typewriter at the prices they're asking for them, you're living in the stone age.
Look into KAYPRO's Writer's Pak and bring yourself up to date.


Printer shown has optional tractor feed
KAYPRO
WRITER'S PAK
$1895. COMPLETE!*
Student, Faculty, Staff Discounts Available
*Suggested retail price
csa
MOUNTAIN FARMS MALL - Rt. 9
HADLEY, MA 01035
413-584-3933
1073 ST. JAMES AVE
SPRINGFIELD, MA 01104
413-737-4562

STOP

the Mini Store
Located in the Student Union
There's no need to hurry! Our convenient hours allow you to shop early or late.
Candy, Tobacco, Cards, Calendars, Cassette Tapes, Books, Backpacks, Clothing, Gifts, Cosmetics, Health & Beauty Aids
Film, Film Processing, Clocks, Batteries, Electrical Supplies, Lamps, Magazines, Memo Board, Pens and Pencils, Binders, Notebooks, Paper
Newspapers, Tote Bags, School Supplies, Typewriter Ribbons, Glassware, Cups, Decals, Pennants, Chips, Cookies, Popcorn, Umbrellas
Many other items available
545-2528
CONVENIENT HOURS
7:30 am - 10 pm Monday-Friday
8:30 am - 10 pm Saturday & Sunday

Black Affairs

CCEBMS greets students

By KIMBERLEY BURGE
Collegian Correspondent

In an effort to familiarize students with services, staff and encourage students to become involved and be serious of their education, the Committee for the Collegiate Education of Blacks and other Minorities held a meeting Wednesday.

During the meeting, several staff members were introduced: Carol Young, Assistant Director; Manuel R. Townes, Assistant Director, Doris Clemons, Advisor, Cheryl Stanley and Laverne Proctor, Teacher Assistants.

Paul Barrows, Director of CCEBMS, said that this year's freshman class has the largest minority enrollment ever at 257.

Townes encouraged minority students to sign up for courses in Afro-American history. "Not only can you fulfill University core requirements with these courses, but you can also learn about the culture, people, and politics of Afro-American people," he said.

Rudy Jones, assistant director of admission and recruiter for CCEBMS, made all the students in attendance pledge to graduate.

There are several services that CCEBMS offers to all students. Counseling, academic advising, and tutoring. Any student who wants to be a tutor or needs tutoring service has two weeks to sign up with Carol Young at the CCEBMS office in the New Africa House.

Writer speaks on experience

By YADIRA A. BETANCES
Collegian Staff

A renowned writer and feminist through tragedy and traumas found a fantasy world that kept her together.

That made Nicholasa Mohr, a fiction writer of the Puerto Rican experience in the United States, a more complete person.

"Fiction is a wonderful way to make people feel," she said in an interview. Mohr added a reader can emerge into a story and sympathize with the subject matter.

Mohr spoke at the University of Massachusetts Thursday night in the series "Writers Speak: America and the Ethnic Experience in America."

During the lecture, she clearly stated she did not want to be the literary voice of the Puerto Ricans. She writes about her own experiences and her experiences alone.

"It will be a real burden for me to speak for all Puerto Ricans," she said.

She sees herself as "one voice trying to establish a place for all in American literature."

Mohr wants more Puerto Rican women to write about their experiences in the American society. "I feel very lonely and isolated" in the writing world, she said.

Mohr's characters are both fictional and drawn from the streets of her native New York. For example, in Felita, a story about the hardship a Puerto Rican family faces after moving to a white ethnic neighborhood, really happened when Mohr was six years old.

Despite the hardships encountered, Mohr found growing up among other ethnic groups in New York very enlightening. "It broadened my views. It was an extra bonus," she said.

She is tied to Puerto Rico. "In my apartment, I'm Puerto Rican, after I step out, I leave that environment and assimilate with others," she said.

Prof. Michael Thelwell of the Afro-American studies department and his friends from Kingston, Jamaica.

Professor takes US tour

By MARANN CASSELL
Collegian Staff

In an effort to educate Americans about the erosion of human rights in Jamaica, Professor Michael Thelwell of the W.E.B. Du Bois Department of Afro-American studies at the University of Massachusetts is to start a national tour.

A native of Jamaica, Thelwell has always been concerned about human rights there. He is author of The Harder They Come, a novel depicting Black peasantry in Jamaica.

Thelwell often visits Jamaica to get first hand information on the problem, he said. He then lectures in American universities on what he observes.

Thelwell explained the development of the present human rights violations by focusing on the history of Jamaica since 1980.

"The 1980 elections brought about upheaval and instability in Jamaica." He said the political party created large army, weapons and amunitions were smuggled "in the name of ideology," thus distributing to the jobless youth, he said.

"The rampant possession of guns lead to a high death rate approximately three to four per day," Thelwell said.

"The lives of innocent people became unobserved. Just walking the streets you may be killed and it goes on unattended," he said.

Thelwell is a professor of literature and African American Studies. In 1963 he received a B.A. in literature from Howard University and later received a Master of Fine Arts from the University of Massachusetts. He joined the Afro-Am staff in 1965 and became a full professor in 1979.

Announcement

Western New England College School of Law will be hosting a fall minority pre-law program tomorrow.

Students interested in attending law school are urged to apply. Call the Office of Third World Affairs 545-2517 for registration and more information.

DESKS
DRESSERS
BOOKCASES
on sale now at
Carpenter's Brothers Furniture Co.
107 Sunderland Rd., N. Amherst (next to Campus Auto)
549-6758
Mon-Thurs & Sat 9-6, Fri 9-5; Mon, Thurs & Fri eves 7-9

Friday Afternoon at Mikes
MIKE'S WESTVIEW CAFE
A HAPPY HOUR YOU CAN LIVE WITH FOOD - ALL YOU CAN CARRY FOR $1.
Eggplant Parmesan, Sausages, Beef Stroganoff, Cold Cuts
Salads, Swedish Meatballs, Marinated Chicken and more tax and tip included

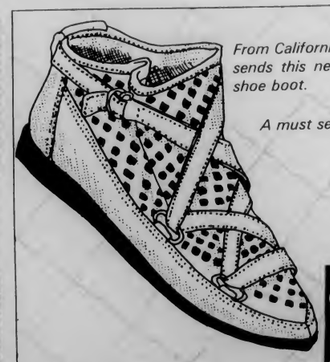
PAIA
10th Anniversary 1974-1984 ASIAN-AMERICAN STUDENTS ASSN. of UMASS AMHERST
the ASIAN-AMERICAN STUDENTS ASSOCIATION
proudly presents
a Welcome/Welcome Back dance party
DATE: September 15, 1984 (Saturday)
TIME: 9 pm - 1 am
PLACE: 10th Floor Campus Center
DRESS: no sneakers please
CASH BAR
MUSIC BY MARC ELLIOT OF BMCP
ADMISSION: $3.00, $2.00 w/ad



From California - "Chinese Laundry" sends this new flat rubber ankle-hi shoe boot.
A must see!
SHOE BIN
187 n. pleasant st amherst

★ by Judi Sheppard Missett ★
jazzercise
The original, high-energy total workout that combines aerobic exercises with the fun of jazz dance.
FREE CLASS
Tues. Sept. 18th 12:45p.m.
Hampshire Mall
Interskate 91
$16 for 8 classes $2.50 Walk-in
Also evening classes M thru F at Hampshire Mall
Certified Instructors Alan & Joanna Karp-Robinson Call 584-1530

"The feel-good movie of 1983."
How much love, sex, fun and friendship can a person take?
THE BIG CHILL
In a cold world you need your friends to keep you warm.
R
Friday, September 14
Engineering East Aud.
5, 7, 9, 11! $2.00 $1.50 at 5
sponsored by HKN & IEEE

Get Blasted!
The most incredible, handcrafted, Polymer coned, hi-fi stereo speakers made. No receiver around can blow these speakers. Only $220.00/pair Hear 'em to believe 'em! Call Joe at 549-6633 for more details.

1776
FOR A DATE TO REMEMBER,
GO OUT WITH A HISTORY MAJOR

SLAM
DUNK YOUR CRAMMING.

POST NO BOZOS

WANNA PLAY AROUND?
W. SHAKESPEARE

Study more rock formations. Like the rolling stones!

Has anyone seen my other glove?

Knock on Wood

I never had it

Burning the midnight oil is crude.

Up your Grades—Down More Pizzas!

Phone Home! -collect

DON'T LOOK BACK They're in trivial pursuit.

Spread the good word. For good grades and more good times in college, come to one of the free One Hour Evelyn Wood Seminars. It will cost you nothing except your time.

In return, we'll show you how you can triple your reading effectiveness. So that you will then be able to cut your study time in half, cut all-night cramming out altogether, and cut yourself in for better grades and more free time.

Now's the time to make your move. Come to our free seminar. Bring your friends, too. It's only an hour. It's free. And it's a smart move on your part.

Free Seminar Schedule LOCATION: MURRAY D. LINCOLN CAMPUS CENTER
FRIDAY 9/14 11am & 1pm ROOM 162-175
SATURDAY 9/15 11am & 1pm ROOM 904-908
EvelynWood College Programs
Choose the day and time most convenient for you. Reservations not necessary. For more information call 1 (800) 447-READ.

DIETING?
Try something different. Lose weight sensibly by learning about your eating habits. Down with diets! Call UHS 549-2671 ext. 181. Preregistration by Sept. 21.

WHO CONTROLS THE PAST, CONTROLS THE FUTURE SUPPORT BANNED BOOKS WEEK SEPTEMBER 8-15 1984
Located in the Campus Center
M-F 9-5 Sat 11-4
UNIVERSITY STORE

amc THEATRES
$2.25 MATINEE & TWILITE SHOW
MT. FARMS 4 584-9153
Their time has come! REVENGE OF THE NERDS
PURPLE RAIN
ALL OF ME
EXTERMINATOR II
GHOSTBUSTERS
BILL MURRAY DAN AYKROYD
HAMPSHIRE 4 584-7550
CLINT EASTWOOD
TIGHT-ROPE
SMURFS AND THE MAGIC FLUTE
THE KARATE KID
GREMLINS
Rob Lowe
OXFORD BLUES
THE CINEMA LATE SHOWS
FRI & SAT at 12:15 - SEATS $ 3.50
ROCKY HORROR
DR. BUTCHER
PINK FLOYD THE WALL
DAWN OF THE DEAD

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian
Founded 1870
Editor in Chief James P. Shanahan

Managing Editor John O'Connell
Business Manager Andrew May
Business Manager Elizabeth Young
Production Manager Mark Roden
Executive Editor Rita Murphy
News Editor Greg Brown
Black Affairs Editor Yadira Betances
Women's Issues Editor Rebecca Thatcher
Arts Editor Christine D. Marini
Sports Editor Peter Abraham
Photo Editor Andrew J. Heller

OPINION

The opinions expressed on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the university unless otherwise noted.

I will study, really, I will...

When you decide to "learn" the Russian Revolution one evening because it might help you understand some books you have from a class last year that you flunked but is a prerequisite for this year's level, you know you've got to be crazy.

Especially if you stayed up till 3 a.m. doing it.

Maybe I have gone a little overboard, but I'm determined to be a bonafide "student" this year. Like so many of my colleagues, (hi Paul, hi Ken, hi Rita) I am one of those students who went a little heavy on the "activities" the past year or so. Didn't go to classes, do readings, take exams. You know, the usual.

It is a thing of the past.

I'm back on the bandwagon. To start, I bought all my books already. Pens and paperclips, too (organization is the trick). And I invested in a new alarm clock — sometimes I don't wind it since its ticking keeps me awake, but I have a car now so I can make it to class on time even if I oversleep. Or will make it on time, once the parking office agrees to give me a parking sticker so I don't have to park a mile away.

Anne McCrory

To further ensure my successful re-entry to the realm of academia, I mapped out the perfect seat in the tower library. It was a great spot — the view of the valley was ideal for daydreaming about my friends hiking in the crisp fall air while I studied away. But I've since decided not to return there, as people wrote horrid things next to the engraving of my name I carved ever so elaborately the first time I'd had the urge to crack the books. The graffitti was too distracting, anyway.

My apartment has been working out well as a live-in library since then, though. I've been trying out the textbook recipes from the far and exotic countries of my anthropology class, and I've turned the enterprise into a cross-cultural affair for my friends for extra credit. The guests usually leave for Delano's a little early, so I have time to practice my psych 100 watching Dynasty, while reading French fashion magazines to boost my vocabulary.

Then I might recompute my credits and GPA, just to make sure I'll pass my upcoming math quiz. And to reassure myself that I will graduate — so I'll be sure there's something to celebrate when I sneak out for a few, to unwind from this rigorous new schedule.

My friends are still claiming I'll never resume that education-oriented mentality I so firmly possessed as a freshman. Won't get up in the morning, they warn; won't make it on time. Still won't go to the library, will never study; won't pass classes, get credits or graduate. But I like to have more confidence.

After all, I really did stay up till 3 a.m. learning the Russian Revolution, with an intensity and a rapture I never thought possible. And I really do plan to attend lectures, do homework, graduate. In fact, I've made it to every class so far...except those three just now while I've been banging out this column.

I guess old habits just die hard.

Anne McCrory is the former (1983-84) news editor of the Collegian.

Registration brings out the worst

Elizabeth Luciano

Three hundred and sixty-three days a year, I flatter myself by thinking that I am a courteous and reasonably kind human being. There are, of course, those who would disagree with me; those who have, one way or another, incurred my wrath by being emotionally constipated or just plain mean. But for 363 days, I'm generally pretty tolerable, if not the total delight my father claims.

However, on the first Tuesday of every September and February, claws sprout from my fingertips. Fangs accentuate my overbite. My irises turn from hazel to bright yellow. It's like Dr. Jekyl and Ms. Luciano. On registration day, I am just not a nice person.

I'm one of those horror stories who hated two of the three classes OSCAR so generously signed me into. And I had actually pre-registered for intro to logic, to knock off my last E core. God only knows what kind of drug I was on at the time.

So I spent Tuesday, September fourth, biting and clawing my way into classes, stepping on toes both figuratively and literally. Once in a while, I'd retract the claws long enough to play Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm for some professor.

"Everyone says such wonderful things about your lectures," I'd smile sweetly, trying to get the dimple on the right side of my face going. "I'll work really hard, and participate in class all the time, and have perfect attendance, and type all of my papers, and everything." Then I'd follow the speech with a curtsey, a la Pollyana Purebread.

It never fails. By 2:30, all that remained was replacing that lousy E core with something halfway useful. I flipped through my war-beaten schedule book and headed over to the Grad Research Center to sign up for COINS 102: computers and society.

I'd been standing in line for 20 minutes to get on the waiting list when a woman tried to step ahead of me, causing me to breathe fire and profanity. She fled as I signed the number nine slot on the list, writing "will grovel" next to my name.

God punished me for my lack of compassion. I got into the class.

I didn't think it was going to be so tough. "Computers for babies," I snickered. "Anyone who can't sign onto a computer is in sad shape."

I'm in sad shape. I spent three hours at a terminal last night, writing a cute, pithy letter to my mother. She appreciates an occasional cute, pithy reassurance that her daughter is still among the living. After writing the letter, I wanted to edit it.

Get tape 1, I told the computer.

INVALID COMMAND, the computer said. Oh, well. Maybe it was a polite machine.

Please get tape 1, I typed.

INVALID COMMAND, it answered. This was ridiculous.

Pretty please? I tried.

INVALID COMMAND, the computer insisted. Jesus, what a hard-ass.

Then I did it. My finger slipped and I hit the wrong button.

YOU HAVE DELETED THE ENTIRE FILE, the computer laughed.

It's going to be a long semester.

Elizabeth Luciano is a Collegian columnist who is grateful that the Collegian still uses typewriters.

Letters to the Editor

Take out the ID, pal

To the jerk in the Coffee Shop,

I was getting a cup of java last Monday around 12:30 p.m. and was about two people behind you in line while you were shouting at the cashier. The scene you made over being charged meal tax was totally senseless and qualifies you for permanent citizenship in the Land of Jerkdom.

Now, everyone knows it's a pain to have to dig out your student I.D. in order to get a tax exemption. We probably all have gotten zapped at least once when we've forgotten to flash the old plastic card or just didn't happen to have it with us. I know I've been peeved when I've been charged .32 for coffee instead of .30. It's not paying two extra cents that bugs me, it's getting pennies back in change which really kills me. Getting three quarters and a nickel for change from a buck is more pleasant than being handed two quarters, a dime, a nickel, and three brown, smelly pennies. (I'm sorry Abe, but I just have a great aversion to one-centers.) But, hell, that's the price I pay and I take my lousy change with a small sigh. C'est la vie.

Getting back to your little scene — don't you think you went a bit overboard? Shouting at the woman cashier that she was "a son of a bitch", and "I hope you die in two days" was grossly unnecessary and far beyond childish. Just think for one minute, just one, about what you did. That poor woman was really shaken up, for no small reason either. C'mon, a death curse! I bet you believed that the tax you were mistakenly charged warranted an assault of such a grave and twisted nature. Wrong, pal. It's people like you that give students a bad name. Unthinking people as yourself cause food service workers to be a little less friendly than they'd like to be. No wonder they have a reputation for being a bit crusty. If you were more empathetic you'd realize that they've got a job to do, like it or not. They do have supervisors with whom to contend.

I tell you what, if the money you were overcharged was so wrenching to part with, I'll write you a check, if you apologize to the woman. I'm sincere. I'm willing to float the bill; two cents, three, a dime, whatever. What the hell. All you have to do is apologize for ruining her day, making a total fool of yourself in front of 20 or so of your fellow students, and of course forgetting to present your I.D. card. In my four years at UMass I've seen many food service people being abused, but you certainly take the proverbial cake.

Richard Vigeant
Northampton

Letters Policy

All letters must be signed and include the writer's address and telephone number, which will not be published. Please type double spaced at 67 characters per line. Due to space limitations and the volume of mail, we regret we are unable to acknowledge unpublished letters. All letters are subject to editing for clarity and length.

Some of our classrooms aren't classrooms.

1. Marksmanship - Instruction in basic rifle marksmanship. Includes range and safety procedures, firing positions, techniques of firing, competitive firing and record qualification. (fall & spring semester)

2. Bay State Rangers - Intensive training and field exercises, to include small unit tactics, patrolling, land navigation (night and day), rappelling, airmobile operations, leadership reaction courses, field problem tests, physical conditioning,and practical leadership experience. (fall & spring semester)

3. Orientation Trip to West Point - Weekend visit to USMA with a look at academic military and social life of an alternative officer producing program for the U.S. Army; review a parade and attend a home football game. (fall semester)

4. Field Training Exercise to Fort Devens - Weekend visit to an active Army post. Orientation to life on a military installation with emphasis on visiting facilities (museum, commissary, PX, family quarters, troop billets, open mess) and an introduction to M-16 familiarization firing and the sport of land navigation. (fall semester).

5. Mountaineering - Instruction in rope management, knots, rope bridges, rappelling, and rock climbing techniques. Advanced student may progress to more challenging individual climbs. Includes a bivouac and overnight exercise. (fall & spring semester)

6. Cold Weather Survival - Attendance at a U.S. Navy 4½-day winter survival school in Brunswick, Maine. Instruction includes shelter building, food and water procurement, edible vegetation, terrain association, snowshoeing, emergency signaling, and land navigation. (intersession)

7. Color Guard - Participate in area parades and with University Band at home football games. Includes precision drill, the manual of arms, and movements with colors. (fall semester)

8. Physical Readiness - A structured program designed to progressively improve individual conditioning. Includes conditioning drills, running exercises, competitive group conditioning activities, and fitness tests. (spring semester)

9. Land Navigation - Progressive land navigation training, beginning with a basic/familiarization land navigation course and ending with a land navigation course that will challenge the most competent navigator (fall semester)

For More Information Contact:

Major James C. Mahoney
545-2321/2322

ARMY ROTC.
BE ALL YOU CAN BE.

Hypercurricula

For Sunday, Sept. 16

NEW TESTAMENT FELLOWSHIP — Come join us for worship and teaching. 10:15 a.m. Campus Center (check schedule for room number.)

For Monday, Sept. 17

RECEPTION FOR NEW PSYCHOLOGY MAJORS — Informal get-together for new psychology majors (freshmen and transfers). Great opportunity to meet faculty and other majors. Refreshments. 4 p.m. Tobin 423.

YAFFA ELIACH — Noted author, lecturer, and chronicler of the Holocaust, Ms. Eliach will be the first speaker this fall from the Distinguished Visitor Program. 7:30 p.m. Student Union Ballroom.

ARMENIAN STUDENTS CLUB MEETING — Organizational meeting for all those interested in meeting other Armenian students and learning more about their culture. Freshmen welcome. 7:30 p.m. C.C. 803.

OUTING CLUB MEETING — Join some dirty folks as they take you through the bowels of the earth via a spelunking slide show. Also, upcoming trips announced. Everyone invited! 7 p.m. Thompson 106.

MATH ANXIETY REDUCTION WORKSHOP — See and discuss the film "Math Anxiety: We Beat It, So Can You," learn to reduce anxiety, develop effective math study and test taking skills. 4:30-6:00 p.m. 1634 Grad Tower.

SOCIETY OF WOMEN ENGINEERS FALL RECEPTION — All new and returning students are welcome to attend. 6 p.m. Room 1009 CC.
lz cut lines

Spirit Haus
WINES & LIQUORS

DOMESTIC BEER SPECIALS

*Michelob (loose, cans). $12.50 + dep
*Budweiser (loose, cans) $10.95 + dep
*Miller & Lite (loose, cans) ..... $10.95 + dep
*Rheingold (cans)..... $6.95 + dep

LIQUOR SPECIALS

Kimnoff Vodka 1.75 L..... $8.75
Absolut Vodka 750..... $9.95

IMPORTED BEER SPECIALS

Holland Brand..... $3.95 + dep
Becks (light or dark)..... $3.95 + dep
Dos Equis ..... $3.95 + dep

WINE SPECIALS

Folonari Soave 1.5 L..... $4.29
Chianti 750 ml..... 3 for $4.99
Levotti Bianco 750 ml... 3 for $7.50

338 College Street
Amherst
not respc 253-5384 ...graphical errors

AmDans Theatre
Debut Performance
in collaboration with
Tradewinds

Fine Arts Center Concert Hall
University of Massachusetts
at Amherst
September 15, 1984 at 8:00 pm

Tickets
Fine Arts Center Box Office
Mon.-Fri., 10:00 am-4:00 pm
545-2511
and Datatix outlets

General admission 8.00
Student, Children,
and Senior Citizen 4.00

THE WOK
Restaurant & Lounge
Visit the Wok for
A Taste of the Orient

Be tempted by our new menu including these luscious specialty dishes:
Coconut Chicken...Lobster Hawaii...Chicken Scallop...Flaming Pina & many more Enjoy an exotic drink in our spacious Cocktail Lounge.
for a delicious dining experience, it's

THE WOK Restaurant

48 RUSSELL ST., RTE. 9 (Exit 19 off Rte. 91)
HADLEY, MA. 586-1202
Complete Take Out Menu - Ready in 10 Min. Hrs. 11-10 Daily, Fri. & Sat. til Midnight

BODY SHOP
Exercise Facilities
sign up at NOPE and Boyden
still only $45.00
Come in NOW for a Free Workout
during Sign-Up hours
Boyden - NOPE
sign up now
8 am - 9 am
11 am - 1 pm
4 pm - 6 pm
sign up now
Workouts begin Sept. 10 thru Dec. 21

NOPE M-F 7:30-9 am 11-3 4-6 pm 7-9 pm Sat 1-4
Boyden M-F 7-9 am 12-1 pm 4-6 pm Sat 12-3

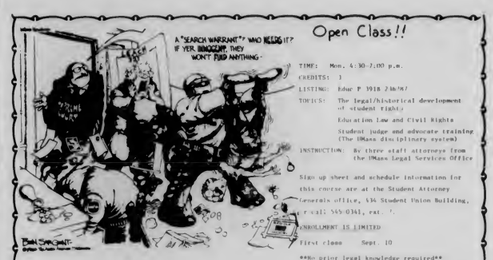
* strength training
* aerobic fitness
* muscle testing
* body fat testing

open to students faculty & staff

The Commuter Area Government at UMass presents:

Breakdance Competition

Friday, Sept. 14th at 8:00 p.m. in Bowker Aud.
Tickets $3.00



A "SEARCH WARRANT"? WHO NEEDS IT?
IF YER INNOCENT, THEY WON'T FIND ANYTHING
Open Class!!
TIME: Mon. 4:30-7:00 p.m.
CREDITS: 3
LISTING: Educ P 391B 23636/
TOPICS: The legal/historical development of student rights
Education Law and Civil Rights
Student judge and advocate training (The UMass disciplinary system)
INSTRUCTION: By three staff attorneys from the UMass Legal Services Office
Sign up sheet and schedule information for this course are at the Student Attorney Generals office, 434 Student Union Building, or call 545-0341, ext. ?
ENROLLMENT IS LIMITED
First class: Sept. 10
No prior legal knowledge required
Schedule #: Educ P 391B 23636/
Class 9/17 Campus Center room 904

LAW, HIGHER ED + STUDENT DISCIPLINE

RUSSELL'S
LIQUORS
18 Main St. Downtown Amherst 253-5441

Budweiser 12 oz. cans..... $10.95 case + dep.
Becks light or dark..... $4.25 6 pack + dep.
$16.50 case + dep.
Miller Lite 12 oz. cans..... $10.95 case + dep.
Ballantine Beer 12/pk cans..... $3.49 + dep.
Vodka or Gin 80°..... $8.49 1.75 L
V/B Italian Dry Wines..... $2.99 1.5 L
Champagnes..... $2.99 + up 750 ml

ALL SPECIALS ARE COLD & READY TO GO!!!

BLUE WALL
CAMPUS CENTER AT UMASS

Friday
Sept. 14
Cliff Myers
IS BACK 3-6 pm.

WMUA D.J. Party
8:30 pm - 12:30 am
ALL AGES!

Saturday
Sept. 15
Dance to the Music of -
Driving Wheel
8:30 pm - 12:30 pm
ALL AGES!

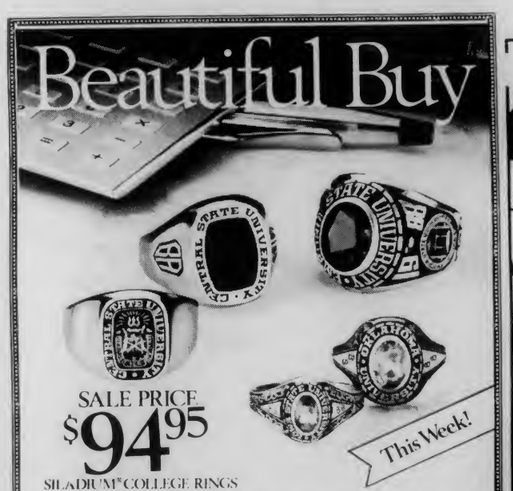
Coming Soon to the Bluewall:
"Dancing" where Disco is Dead and "Dancing" is alive!

WAAF 107FM
NIGHT
SATURDAY SEPT. 15
9:30 PM - 1:00 AM
DJ ANDREW WOOLF
Student Union Ballroom
CASH BAR LIGHT SHOW T-SHIRTS RECORDS BUMPER STICKERS
$2.00 General Admission
Free to Hillel Fee-Payers
All WELCOME
SPONSORED BY B'NAI BRITH HILLEL

The Distinguished Visitors Program
presents
George Gallup, Jr.
of the Gallup Poll

Public Opinion Polls and the American Presidency
Tuesday, September 18, 1984
8:00 PM FREE
Student Union Ballroom

Beautiful Buy



SALE PRICE $94.95
SILADIUM® COLLEGE RINGS
This Week!
Your college ring is now more affordable than ever. Save on an incredible variety of Siladium ring styles with custom features that express your taste and achievements. Each Siladium ring is custom made, with careful attention to detail. And every ArtCarved ring is backed by a Full Lifetime Warranty. Don't miss out. It's the perfect time to get a beautiful buy on a great college ring. See your ArtCarved representative soon.
ARTCARVED UNIVERSITY STORE
Sept. 12/13/14 9-5
Date Time Place
Deposit Required. Master Card or Visa Accepted
© 1984 ArtCarved Class Rings, Inc.

Friday
September 14th
2-5p.m.
Join the
CULTURE CLUB... on the plaza of the
FINE ARTS CENTER

Arts

Movie Scoop

By COUNT RAMIN ZAHED
Collegian Staff

As the autumn winds gradually start blowing, major film companies are getting ready to bombard us with their new releases. Before we drown in the sea of new movies, something has to be said about the past season; escapist entertainment at its pinnacle.

I cannot think of my summer without remembering those slimy gremlins, a claustrophobic temple of doom, and a great baseball player who looked just like Redford. Of course, there was also Bill Murray who saved Ghostbusters with his performance. Posh critics said that some of these movies were violent and audience pleasers. I thought they were as vital to the season as a cool glass of lemonade. I mean what would summer be without the calculated projections of Spielberg and Lucas? You can still catch Gremlins and Ghostbusters at the Hadley Theatres.

For those who had a taste for literature on the screen, the summer offered Under the Volcano and The Bostonians. Albert Finney and Vanessa Redgrave were excellent in their respective movies. My favorite sleeper of the summer was The Fourth Man. This Dutch film was a brilliant psychological thriller in the style of De Palma.

This semester, we have a handful of promising films. 2010 will be released in December starring Roy Sheider and John Lithgow. Also, look for Lithgow in The Adventures of Buckaroo Banzai. This new science fiction comedy is said to be a hilarious treat.

The fourteenth James Bond movie, A View To A Kill, has recently begun shooting with Roger Moore as 007, and Grace Jones and Christopher Walken as members of the supporting cast. Also dealing with international intrigue and espionage is the upcoming adaptation of The Little Drummer Girl, based on John Le Carre's bestseller. It will feature Diane Keaton without her Annie Hall garments.

I will try and keep you informed about the fall movies every week. Meanwhile, some time has to be devoted to our choice of films in the area.

Weekend Winners: You should really go to the sneak preview of All Of Me if you are a Steve Martin fan. The movie which also stars the versatile Lily Tomlin is finally going to be released. I promise it will make you forget Whitmore and registration week. All Of Me premieres at the Mountain Farm Cinemas this Friday and Saturday.

Also be aware of the excellent Hitchcock double feature at the Amherst Cinema. Mr. and Mrs. Smith will be playing with Suspicion starting this Sunday. For the lazier moviegoer, I suggest staying on campus and seeing The Big Chill one more time.

Local Losers: Avoid Oxford Blues by all means. You will enjoy this disgrace of a movie only if you like to watch someone massage his own ego. Grow up, Rob Lowe. You can also pay to see a vain Prince whine away and mistreat his poor girlfriend in Purple Rain. Sadly, both movies are still playing in the area.

Killer Question: In the tradition of Andy Gordon, I shall give away a fantastic Steve Martin badge to the first person who can contact me and tell me who will be playing bride to Sting's Frankenstein in the latest remake of the horror classic. Till next week when I shall reveal the scientific contributions of Professor Bo (zo) Derek, keep your eyes glued to the giant screen.

Steve Martin and Lily Tomlin star as two people sharing the same body in All of Me playing at the Mt. Farms Cinemas this weekend.

Obo Addy and Kukrudu will perform on Tuesday September 18 at the Iron Horse Cafe, 20 Center st., Northampton, at 7 and 10 p.m. This seven piece musical group plays modern African music. The program will include pieces which are pure traditional Ghanaian music and progress to more contemporary selections.

Addy formed Kukrudu in 1981 and has been performing throughout the west since that time. They have performed at colleges, community centers, folk and jazz festivals and dances. The high energy program features bright hand woven costumes from Ghana. The instruments are hand carved in Ghana and shipped to Addy in the United States. Tickets for the event are available at the Iron Horse or by calling 584-0610.

DELANO'S
SEPTEMBER SPECIAL
Twofer One
St. Pauli Girl
plus our original
twofers and hors d'oevres
7 days 7 nights
4-6 pm 10-midnight
Proper ID a MUST
57 N. Pleasant St. 253-5141

PERSONALIZED STYLE HAIRCUTS
$7.00
$10.00 with Shampoo and Blow Dry
$11.50 Long Hair
Expires 9/30/84
Please Call for an Appointment
FREE CONSULTATIONS
Styles by Deborah
15 University Drive
Amherst MA 549-5610

YAFFA ELIACH
Professor of History and Literature, Brooklyn College
Pulitzer Prize Playwright, Collector of Stories

"The Art of Jewish Survival: Hasidic Tales of the Holocaust"
Monday, September 17, 1984
7:30 pm
Student Union Ballroom
University of Massachusetts
Sponsored by the Distinguished Visitors Program & B.B. Hillel

AMHERST CINEMA
DOUBLE FEATURE $2.50
Friday and Saturday
DIVA 7:00
Sailor Who Fell from Grace With the Sea 9:10
Sunday thru Tuesday
A Hitchcock Double Thriller
Suspicion 7:00
Mr. & Mrs. Smith 9:00
DOWNTOWN AMHERST

Save money when you have
The New York Times
delivered to your dorm room.
Please deliver The New York Times as checked: (Daily subscription rates are 50% below the newsstand price, just 25¢ per day.) Subscriptions will be delivered to dorms and offices on campus. For questions or complaints, P.O. Box 959, Amherst, MA 01004. 253-7009.
FALL TERM
() Weekdays (Mon-Sat) $18.50
() Weekdays & Sundays $36.50
Delivery will begin Sunday, Sept. 16, 1984. There will be no delivery during holidays and vacations. The last day of delivery is Fri., Dec. 14, 1984.
Please enclose check and make payable to: RON HUBERDEAU.
Name _____
Delivery Address _____
Class Of: _____ Mail to: Ron Huberdeau, PO Box 959, Amherst, MA 01004

In Memory of
James A. Ryan Jr.
A mass will be held at the Newman Center on Sunday, Sept. 16, 1984 at 11:00 AM

Bruno's

363 Main Street, Amherst, MA
256-0222

Quality Pizza - Subs

HOURS:
Mon-Sat 11:00 am to 2:00 am
Sunday 4:00 pm to 1:00 am

PIZZAS	10" SMALL	16" LARGE
CHEESE	$3.00	$5.75
Onion	3.15	6.25
Sausage	3.75	6.75
Hamburg	3.75	6.75
Canadian Bacon	3.75	6.75
Anchovies	3.75	6.75
Pepperoni	3.75	6.75
Ham	3.75	6.75
Olive	3.75	6.75
Fresh Cut Mushrooms	3.75	6.75
Salami	3.75	6.75
2 Combo	4.25	7.75
3 Combo	5.00	6.75
4 Combo	5.75	9.75
Special	7.00	15.00

SUBS	SMALL	LARGE
Italian	$2.25	$3.50
Steak & Cheese	2.50	3.75
Pepper Steak	2.50	3.75
Muschroom & Steak	2.50	3.75
Onion & Steak	2.50	3.75
Roast Beef	2.50	3.75
Turkey	2.30	3.55
Tuna	2.50	3.75
Eggplant	2.50	3.75
Sausage	2.25	3.50
Meatball	2.25	3.50
Salami & Cheese	2.25	3.50
Ham & Cheese	2.25	3.50
Cheese	2.00	3.00

Salads. . . .1.95

Slice of Cheese Pizza $1.00

BEVERAGES

Cider.....$ .80 Soda.....$ .55

5% meal tax and $3.00 minimum on all delivery

FREE DELIVERY 256-0222

CUT OUT AND SAVE

KEGS FOUR SEASONS ICE

WINES/LIQUORS

BEER SPECIALS - BEST PRICES

BUSCH.....12 oz. cans.....$8.99 case
MILLER.....12 oz. cans.....$10.50 case
STROHS.....12 oz. cans.....$9.99 case
GENESSEE.....12 oz. bottles.....$6.99 case
MOLSON GOLDEN..12 oz. bottles..$12.99 case

6-PACK SPECIALS

DAB BEER.....$3.99 STEINHAUSER.....$3.99
GUINESS.....$3.99

LIQUOR and WINE SPECIALS

VODKA and GIN.....1.75 L.....$7.99
JAMAICA (Blue Mountain)
COFFEE LIQUER.....750 ml.....$6.99
LIEBFRAUMILCH.....750 ml.....2 FOR $5.00
LAURENT PERRIER
extra dry champagne.....$12.99 bottle

WE DELIVER
584-8174
333 Russell Street (Route 9) Hadley, MA 01035
in front of the malls

ON-CAMPUS JOBS
VALUABLE EXPERIENCE and TRAINING

I WANT YOU

If you are an upperclassman or a graduate student, we will train you to discuss the financial needs of your University with its alumni.

Telefund will pay $4-6 an hour for your time a few evenings a week. You will talk to alumni from all walks of life, from every type of profession about the University Alumni Fund.

Telefund is located at Memorial Hall.
Stop in and pick up an application or call us at 545-3509 if you have questions.

Bloom County by Berke Breathed

AND NOW FOR JUDGING POISE AND PERSONALITY. EACH FINALIST WILL ANSWER A SHORT QUESTION... FIRST, WE HAVE "MISTER BLOOM COUNTY."
IF YOU WERE ALONE ON A DESERT ISLAND... WHAT WOU--?
I WANT TO DEVOTE MY LIFE TO PEACE AND UNDERSTANDING. I LOVE PUPPIES... AND HOMOSEXUALS HAVE NO PLACE IN THIS COUNTRY'S POLKA HALLS
THAT WASN'T VERY GOOD! WAS IT?! I'M A LITTLE NERVOUS. I HAD BROCCOLI FOR DINNER. ERASE TAPE... TAKE TWO NEXT IS "MISTER UTAH"
OH POOP!!

Gorde by Gorde

"THE ART OF COMIC STRIPPING" LESSON 3
COMIC STRIPS WERE ORIGINALLY MEANT FOR CHILDREN AND SO SHOULD BE CHILD-ORIENTED. HERE TO DEMONSTRATE "BIG BROTHER RONNIE" HIYA, KIDDIES! "BIG BROTHER" HERE! Y'SEE THIS HAT I'M WEARIN'? GOOD GUYS WEAR 'EM! SEE THAT POSTER IN BACK OF ME? THAT'S A RUSSIAN! A BAAAAAAAD RUSSIAN!
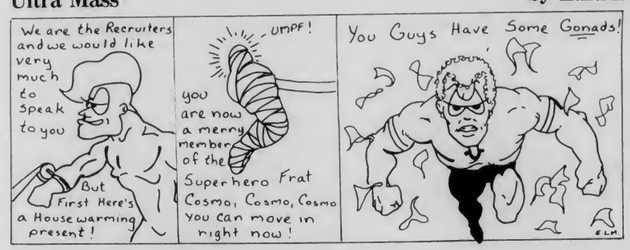
THRILLER
ALL RUSSIANS ARE BAD, BOYS AND GIRLS. BUT WE CAN REMEDY THAT WITH NICE, FLUFFY MUSHROOM CLOUDS. ALL I HAVE TO DO IS PUSH THIS BUTTON.
THRILLER
MAKE-UP!!!!
STOP THIS IMMEDIATELY! THIS IS MY PRESIDENTIAL DUTY. . .AHA HAHAHAHA
NANCY? IS IT TIME FOR DAVID LETTERMAN YET? I LIKE THAT LARRY "BUD" MELMAN!

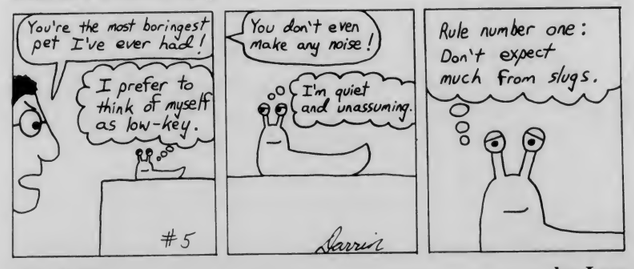
Under Foot by Joe Bradbury

Ultra Mass by E.L.M.



We are the Recruiters and we would like very much to speak to you
But First Here's a Housewarming present!
UMPF!
you are now a merry member of the Superhero Frat
Cosmo, Cosmo, Cosmo You can move in right now!
You Guys Have Some Gonads!

Darrin's Comic Strip by Darrin



You're the most boringest pet I've ever had!
I prefer to think of myself as low-key.
#5
You don't even make any noise!
I'm quiet and unassuming.
Darrin
Rule number one: Don't expect much from slugs.

The Lab by Law

ON THE EDGE OF ANUBIS COLLEGE LIVES A SCIENTIST WITH A P.H.D IN EVERYTHING. HE HAS A DAUGHTER AND A LAB ASSISTANT. HE ALSO HAS TWO APES RESCUED FROM HAVING TO HOST A LOCAL "P.M." MAGAZINE SHOW.
THE LAB
THE STORY BEGINS WITH WEEGEE, THE NEW LAB ASSISTANT, TRYING TO ASK DR. SNAKELY'S DAUGHTER FOR A DATE. FOR HIM, IT'S AS EASY AS CLIMBING EVEREST WEARING ROLLER SKATES.

DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE

Edited by Trude Michel Jaffe

ACROSS

1 Mellvlite character
5 Common interest group
9 Aspersion
13 Quiet
14 Dowdy one
15 Nimbus
16 Actress from Snoqualmie Falls
18 Annapolis letters
19 Tape
20 First name of a patriot
22 Between tic and toe
23 Old English bard
25 —— poetica
28 Tonight
30 "Anchors ——"
34 Margie Albright of TV
37 Fragmented rock pile
39 Dill, old style
40 Barnyard areas
42 Eternity
43 Court reporter
45 Golfing great
47 Uncommon
49 Held a meeting
50 Grant or Majors
51 Wave feature
53 Mayday!
55 Lightly built horse
59 Apertures
64 —— Office
65 English TV personality
67 Peter, the pianist
68 Fred's sister
69 Gaelic
70 Was aware
71 Long ago
72 Swerve

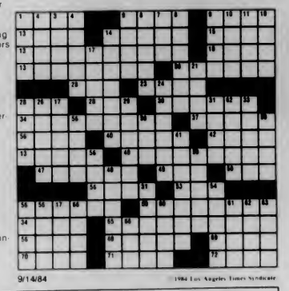
DOWN

1 Guinness
2 Luau entertainment
3 "—— well that ..."
4 Loud sound
5 John Bull's land: Abbr
6 Crescent-shaped figures
7 Group Suffix
8 English novelist and scientist
9 Close
10 Biographer Joseph
11 Arm bone
12 Horse of a certain color
14 Big shots, political style
17 Understands
21 Simians
24 Beasts of burden
25 Turkish bigwigs
26 Storms
27 Nap
29 Vex
31 Bakery worker
32 Animal sound
33 Famed skater
35 Lab burner
36 Narrow inlet
38 Anglo-Saxon laborer
41 Near the shore
44 Killer whale
46 Hit —— (get along)
48 Time of rest
52 Sweetheart
54 Fathers
55 Religious figure
56 Hot place
57 Unique
58 Have that certain look
60 See 29 Down
61 Symbol of lightness
62 Being, to Brutus
63 Hearty meal
66 Excitement

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

			T	R	A	P	P		P	R	O	S	E
S	H	I	V	E	R	S		D	A	A	V	A	D	O
C	O	P	I	L	O	T		R	E	G	A	L	I	A
A	M	O	L	E		R	O	I		S	L	I	T	S
R	A	S	A		M	A	R	O	I		S	C	O	T
P	S	T		C	E	N	T	A	V	O		I	R	S
	A	E	N	E	I	D		L	A	T	I	N	S
		D	O	S			N	T	H
	C	A	R	A	T	S		C	H	E	S	T	Y
A	H	S		R	E	C	O	L	O	R		R	A	S
L	O	S	T		R	A	N	E	E		L	E	N	T
A	R	Y	A	N		L	O	A		P	O	L	K	A
C	A	R	I	O	C	A		T	R	A	I	L	E	R
K	I	L	I	N	G	E	R		S	C	A	R	I	E	R
E	A	T	O	N			O	R	E	S	I	S

9/14/84



9/14/84 1984 Los Angeles Times Syndicate

Hey, you got a problem? Tell me about it!

Write to Ask Lois, your local Ann Landers, c/o the Collegian, 113 Campus Center.

Watch for it next week!

Campus Coin-Op
107 Sunderland Rd No. Amherst
next to Campus Auto & Carpenter Bros.
The newest, cleanest, coin-op in the area
Hours: Mon-Fri 8-10
Sat & Sun 8-7
Come In And Check Our Everyday Low Prices For Additional Savings, use this coupon
50¢ a wash
first 100 customers with this ad
limit one per customer
OFFER GOOD THRU SEPT. 21

KICK-OFF LOUNGE

LIVE ENTERTAINMENT

Coming this weekend. . .

Saturday Happy Hour featuring "Just George", 4:00 - ?
(from the Boston & Cape Cod circuit)

HAPPY HOUR AT JUSTIN RYAN'S

Brighten Your Room!!

Now 2 Stores! Amherst Carriage Shops
Northampton - next to Iron Horse

POSTERS
Largest Selection Ever

Bamboo
BLINDS

BEDSPREADS
cover walls, furniture, windows
from $7.95

Paper
LAMPSHADES

RUGS & MATS
colorful, durable
Greatly Expanded

CARDS
over 1400 designs

SKIRTS & BLOUSES
lots of comfortable cotton
DRAWSTRING PANTS

Sterling and Gold Filled
JEWELRY
Earrings, Ear Cuffs, Rings, etc.

CLOTHING SALE
20% - 50% OFF
SELECTED BLOUSES, SHORTS
SKIRTS, DRESSES, T-SHIRTS

CHINESE SHOES
Wide Assortment

Mon - Sat 10 - 6
Sunday 12 - 5

THE MERCANTILE
AMHERST CARRIAGE SHOPS
GREAT GIFTS — GREAT PRICES

the Hungry U Restaurant

check out our happy hour munchie menu
daily!

! PIZZA PARTY !
ALL SEMESTER LONG
8 till closing
Monday thru Thursday
buy a large pizza and get a pitcher for only $1.99
Happy Hour 3-6, 9-close 7 days per week
2 in 1 drinks
55 University Drive, Amherst 549-5713

WSYL RADIO PRESENTS:
A BENEFIT DANCE WITH:

THE OUTNUMBERED
DAYNA B. CURTIS AND LEON DUNKLEE, JR.
CIRCLE

PAJAMA SLAVE DANCERS
FIRST CIRCLE
NO PRESERVATIVES

METAL/FOLK/FUNK/JAZZ/HARDCORE/ROCK/PUNK AT:
STUDENT UNION BALLROOM
FRIDAY, SEPT. 14 7:30 PM
$3 AT DOOR ALL AGES ADMITTED NO ALCOHOL INSIDE

JB's
ROAST BEEF

50 Main Street
(stagger left at lights)
Amherst, MA

COUPON
FREE REG. FRIES
w/ the purchase of any JB's SANDWICH
good this weekend
(9/14 - 9/16)

OPEN 11 AM - 1AM 7 DAYS

UNIVERSITY STORE

*CONCOURSE SALE
FINAL DAY
55% OFF
Ticketed Prices of
14K GOLD CHAINS and BRACELETS
Pearl Earings $8 - $10
Bronze and Brass Earings $8 - $12
Pearl Bracelets $20
Amethyst Earings $6

Friday Sept. 14
9 am - 5 pm

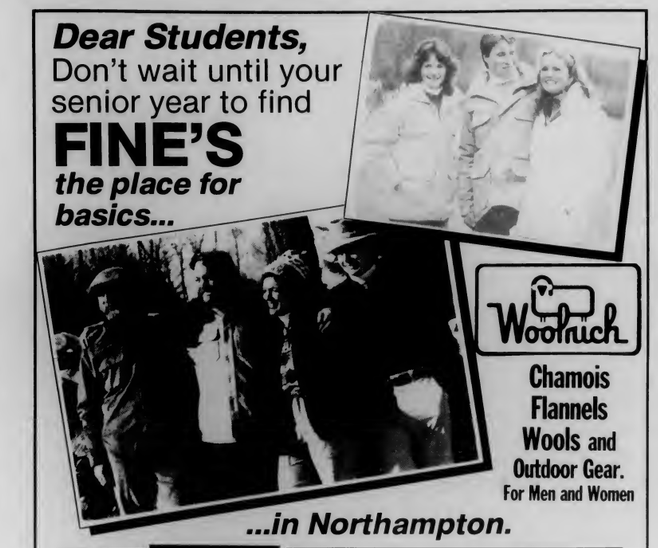
Sale Located in Front of the Store
* This sale does not include jewelry sold at the jewelry counter in the store.
Located in the Campus Center

UNIVERSITY STORE

UMass schedule:
Today:
Volleyball: UMass Invitational (Boyden) 6 p.m.
Cross Country (men's and women's) at Boston College, 4 p.m.

Sports

Dear Students,
Don't wait until your senior year to find
FINE'S
the place for basics...



Woolrich
Chamois Flannels Wools and Outdoor Gear.
For Men and Women
...in Northampton.

$5.00 Off Levi's JEANSWEAR $5.00 OFF with this coupon and your student I.D.
Original "Levi's Shrink-To-Fit" (hard to find)!
Regular 505 straight leg denims, corduroys and pre-washed.
Fashion Levi's
(Offer Expires 9/30) C

HIKING & WORK BOOTS
SPORTO•HERMAN•SOREL

•All-Cotton Turtlenecks $7.50 20 colors
•Chinos basic colors $14.95
•Gorgeous Sweaters
Argyles
Brushed Virgin Wools
Norwegian Patterns
COME In and BROWSE!

FINE'S
36 Main Street
Downtown Northampton
Open Thursday's till 9 pm

★field hockey

continued from page 16

make the switch with Moryl.

In the second half, Donnely got things started again as she blasted a shot past Terry. The goal seemed to get the team going as they proceeded to pressure the Michigan defense with a barrage of shots. Terry held up well until Coughlin took a Moryl pass and made it 3-0. Within a span of two minutes Moryl put in two to finish the scoring, one goal coming on a good second effort.

★weekending

continued from page 16

coach Ken O'Brien is looking for his team to stay right up with the Eagles of Boston College in UMass' season opener, also today.

Three sophomores, Wayne Levy, Jan Novak, and Paul Stanislawzik are expected to pace the team.

The UMass Rugby club opens up their 1984 season with a match against Manhatten Club Saturday at the lower Boyden field near the sewage plant. Game time is 2 p.m.

"We have only about 20 players of first team standard so we cannot afford any injuries," faculty advisor Robert Laurence said.

The women's tennis team also returns to action Saturday. The Minutemen, who lost to Tufts 8-1 in their opening match Thursday, face the University of Rhode Island at 1 p.m. on the NOPE courts.

(Roger Chapman, Adam Nazimowitz, Bud Verge, Alastair Atwood and Byran Quenzel contributed to this story.)

Water Polo wins

BY MIKE LEVINE
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts water polo team opened its season on a winning note by defeating Amherst College 11-8 yesterday at Boyden Pool.

The Minutemen put the game away early, thanks to a five goal first quarter. Senior captain Paul McNeil had three goals, including one on a penalty shot and the other two on deflections of outside shots.

Mike Hoover and Rob Sheppard also scored for UMass. The Minutemen got a breakaway goal by Hoover and a long boomer from Paul Surette to take a 7-0 halftime lead.

UMass coach Russ Yarworth then decided to rest the A squad in the second half in favor of his less experienced B team. Due to the lack of experience, the game then turned from a speed game to a more physical style of play. Amherst finally got on the scoreboard with a long shot by Paul Spinali and a rebound shot by Ron Walker, but two goals by Chris Cocca kept the UMass lead at seven goals through three quarters.

The b team's lack of experience showed in the fourth quarter as the Jeffs, who kept their first string team in the entire game, scored three goals in less that two minutes to onthe defecit to 9-5. After UMass got another goal from Cocca and George Tatterfield scored a power play goal for Amherst, Eric Schmidt put in his own rebound to seal the game for UMass. Two late Amherst goals made the final score 11-8.

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIED

Monday - Thursday 8:45 - 3:45 • Friday 8:45 - 2:30 • Cash in advance • 5 consecutive days 5% discount • 10 consecutive days 10% discount • 15 consecutive days 15% discount • phone number free

ADVERTISING

Advertise FREE in the RIVER VALLEY AD. Advertise items you want to sell or buy. Call 532-9498

ASTROLOGY

Chart reading; counseling. Will travel to Amherst for appointments. North Green field Astrological Counseling 413 773 3493

ATTENTION: WE RE HIRING DJ'S

RACK-A-DISC RACK-A-VIDEO is hiring DJ's. Send resume to PO Box 48, Amherst, MA 01004

AUDIO

I need money and am willing to part with a Capehart AM/FM Dual 8-track stereo with built in turntable and two large speakers. BO 8-8882 Barry

AUTO FOR SALE

1979 Dodge Omni 4 door, standard, cloth upholstery, lots of extras, excellent shape, no rust. $2100 or best offer. Phone 584-9468

Foxy Fiat X 1/9 completely reconditioned removable hardtop low miles 1977 must sell 2500 Larry 256-0080

73 Saab 96 A classic! BO 6 4548 4563

1977 Camero good condition $1,750 549-0675

1969 Volvo 500 / best offer 268-7127

1977 VW Scirocco, 4 spd, AC 60,000 mi $1500 or best offer 546-4745

1978 Honda Civic blue new muffler & brake AM-FM cassette, perfect body & engine, $1200 or BO call 549-1738

1981 Datsun 210SL 5 speed AM/FM bucket seats $3,500 or best offer 1-413-283-9223

1978 Ford Fiesta S, original owner, excellent condition, service records $1700 774-7366 evenings

'76 Datsun B210 low mileage must see 253-7617 $1450 or BO

'71 GMC ½ ton pick up truck w/ cap $600 call 549-3901

1978 Pontiac LeMans, AM/FM cassette stereo, cruise, $2950/best offer 256-1291

1976 Chevy Malibu, 2 door hardtop. In good running condition. Best offer over $1,000. call 549-0528

1972 Pontiac Venture dependable passed June inspection. $600.00 best offer 545-2690

BOLTWOOD PROJECT

Students needed for programs with the developmentally disabled. Credit available. Valuable experience. Info Meetings 9-17, 9-20, 2-26-7 pm CC rm 917

$ $ EARN $500 $ $

Make $500 while eating home cooked meals. How can you go wrong? Call Jim Houston at 546-2150

EMT's

Come to the Fire & First Aid Unit Meeting. Monday Sept. 17 at 9:00 PM. Cover concerts, football games, many outdoor activities. CPR recert. CEU's and a good time too! Morrill 4 North, Rm 406

ENTERTAINMENT

VIDEO VIDEO VIDEO VIDEO Rack-A-Video entertainment giant 10 and 15 foot screens for dorms and Greeks. MTV video music call 549-3744

Rack-A-Disc Rack-A-Video entertainment guaranteed events for Disc Jockeys, Bands and Video. Call 549-7144

WICKED AND WILD DJ's audio and visual entertainment for the 80's 584-6712

FOR SALE

SOUNDESIGN STEREO Originally $900. 2 years old. $469. Dresser 840. 253-3682

Brand new 26" Kent bicycle must sell $75 or BO Michelle 545-0527

1973 VW Bug excellent condition rebuilt engine $1600 or BO call 549-6628 or 549-1778

Apartment furniture! Bed, dresser, bookcase, mirrors, chairs etc. 256-0682 after 5 pm

Sachs Moped 1981 very good condition drive on campus! $375 253-2284 Caroline

Refrigerator. Household size 16 cu. ft. now in daily use 584-4510

Speakers AR 18 perfect size for dorm room in great cond. powerful 100 wt capability Great sound $100 call Rick 253-2720

Home Stereo AM/FM cassette 8 track turntable $99. 546-6194 Chrissy

Sylvania 19 inch color TV $150 please call 253-2410

Portable typewriter for sale call 549-1358 Ingrid

Dorm refrigerator one year old after 5 PM any day 549-7180

1980 Honda CX500DL helmet & luggage included $1300 call Chris levesl 665-2445

HELP WANTED

Utopia Spas part time counter work Sat & Sun days and weeknights available pay ment $ + tubs and tan free apply in person 11 am - 5 pm

Utopia Spas part-time hot tubs maintenance & cleaning work payment $ + tub and tan free apply in person 11 am - 5 pm

Maintenance person wanted 2 hrs per day, Mon-Fri, mornings. Duties include cleaning office and maintaining equip. Mechanical aptitude and workstudy required. Apply in person 9-4 Mon-Fri at 113 CC (Collegian office)

Newspeper deliverers needed in dorms. Early mornings 7 days/week. Good pay for short hours. Call 253-7009

P time, exper necc audio bkgrnd helpful Sound Co. 201 N Pleasant, Amherst

House people wanted for light cleanup at Fraternity. Mon-thru-Sun Free meals and more. Call Mark after 4 549-3744

Attention! Public Relations, Journalists, Graphic Designers. The SGA Communications Office is now hiring. Great opportunity to develop your portfolio! WS and non-WS jobs available. See Kelley, Riley in 423 Student Union for application. Deadline is 9/21/84

Local advertising agency seeks student intern. Call 586-2135

Homecooked meals exchanged for kitchen help 10 hours a week call 253-9071 ask for Wheary

Maintenance Technician needed. Part time approx 2 hrs/day, Mon-Fri, flexible schedule. Maintain equipment and basic cleanup. Mechanical apptitude necessary. Apply in person 9-3 Room 113 Campus Center

GOVERNMENT JOBS

$16,559-$50,553/year. Now hiring. Your area. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. R-9615

Homemakers. Home Health Aids positions available immediately. Part time flexible hours. Free training offered. Call Home Care Services for more information. 586-3886

Redemption Steff. Be part of the only student run redemption service in Mass. Exp. with cash handling & numbers. Must have license & workstudy. Apply 306 SUB 545-0618

INSTRUCTION

Tutor for Accounting 222 needed. Call Jennifer 256-1351

LOST

Class Ring. 86 black onyx parents will kill me call Dean of Students Office or Student's Affairs Office 5-2684

!!!Big Reward!!! Black Rolex divers watch between Boyden Lower Tennis Courts and Cance, Southwest. 546-5084

MANICURIST WANTED

Manicurist wanted for new nail salon in Amherst call office 1-283-3837

MOTORCYCLES

1977 Kawasaki KZ400 fully dressed new tune up, mufflers, tires, battery must sell $500 Greg 253-½7205

PERSONALS

PERFORMING ARTS DIVISION Music, Theatre, Dance Instruction. Old Chapel/UMass 545-0519. Register by September 14.

Rush tickets available for October 2, Worcester Centrum. Call 546-1461

UMass Grenadier Society meets at the Campus Center Wednesdays 7-12 PM. Sundays 2-12 PM. We play diplomacy, squad leader and many other board games and miniatures. All are welcome

Snow Tannin! I know your here, but where? Call Marilyn 253-7206!

Beth Sampson & Annette Welsch Look out for you everywhere please write miss you Luv Abby

Mamoo the koala bear has returned!!! Is anybody out there? I'm on the 11th

Chris Happy B Day We love you. The old 3 short and Jill

The Boston Party Cruise 800 Boston women have bought tickets 200 tickets left for UMass men call Brian 549-1466

Attention everyone its Virg's Birthday call her and wish her a Happy One! 256-1456

RIDE WANTED

Grad student wants ride to/from Boston on Thursdays during fall term. Share expenses. Doug 584-5720

ROOMMATE WANTED

Desireable $100.00 - $200.00 monthly Negotiable Northampton Busline Sharon 586-7750, Joel 1-532-4536

Male wanted to share 2 bedroom Presidential Apartment low rent 549-2808

SERVICES

Trees and Shrubs Forestry student offers professional pruning of shrubs as well as landscape consulting and designs at very resonable prices 546-8387

SUZANNE STAINMAN!

Happy Birthday C.P.! We love ya! Janet, Di, Sharyn, Karen

WANTED

Rock Band seeks exp. keyboardist, vocalist, chords E.O. attitude a must 546-6452 or Tim 546-5895

WANTED TO RENT

Apartment in Pufton or area for spring 85 (vicinity 35) 546-7228 Bob or Tim

Alabama QB to UMass, Tracy seriously hurt

dy PETER ABRAHAM
Collegian Staff

A quarterback who spent last season redshirted at the University of Alabama has transfered to the University of Massachusetts.

Tim Hecht, a 6'2", 170 pounder from Vienna, Virginia, is enrolled at UMass and will be eligible to play for the Minutemen next season.

Hecht came to Amherst thanks to the efforts of Los Angeles Raiders general manager Al Davis. Hecht's father works in Washington D.C. as a lobbyist and worked for Davis when Congress took up some professional football issues.

Davis, who is close friends with UMass coach Bob Stull, recommended UMass to Hecht and he took his advice.

"I've spoken with Mr. Davis a few times and he told me about UMass and coach Stull," said Hecht. "UMass football is getting a lot better and I like my chances of playing more."

Hecht threw for 32 touchdowns and 2,300 yards at Madison High in Virginia. With sophomore Mike Shula and freshman Vince Sutton fighting for the QB job at 'Bama, Hecht knew he had to make a move.

"I liked UMass' sports management program and I think Division 1-AA football is pretty competitive," said Hecht.

"Tim's a fine quarterback who needs to develop a stronger arm, but he's got a great touch and he's very smart," said Stull. Hecht was recruited by Oklahoma, SMU, and Alabama out of high school.

The Minutemen already have junior starter Jim Simeone, sophomore Jason Curtis, and a trio of what Stull termed, "very good" freshman at quarterback.

"Next season's a way aways," said Hecht. "Jimmy's a good quarterback and way ahead of all of us, I'd like to back-up and play for two years after that. I just hope to have a good spring."

"It's nice knowing we have a lot of good quarterbacks," said Stull, who hopes to mold the Minutemen into the passing game he employed as the offensive-coordinator at the University of Washington.

In some bad football news, senior co-captain Peter Tracy was "lucky he didn't die," according to Stull after ripping a muscle in the wall of his stomach and bleeding internally after last Saturday's Lehigh game.

"Peter felt fine after the game but when he went home he experienced a lot of pain and was rushed to the hospital. He's in the hospital now and will, in all probability, not play next Saturday against Holy Cross. I hope he'll be back for the rest of the season," said the coach.

Tracy, a pre-season All-American, transfered from Navy and led UMass in sacks last season with five.

Sports

Minutemen teams have a perfect day

Hockey blasts Michigan, 5-0

By ED HAYWARD
Collegian Staff

In her first collegiate start freshman goalie Lyn Carlson shut-out the University of Michigan as the University of Massachusetts field hockey team won its home opener 5-0 at NOPE field yesterday.

"Lynn Carlson did a super job in the goal," said UMass coach Pam Hixon. "She controlled the defense well. I was very pleased."

While Carlson was stopping five of Michigan's seven shots (two went wide) she was getting plenty of help from the rest of the team.

Junior midfielder Megan Donnelly played a strong game, helping to keep the ball out of UMass territory and scoring two goals. But it was senior co-captain Pam Moryl who's aggressive play on offense accounted for two goals. Maura Coughlin added another to add to a hectic afternoon for Michigan goalie Jonnie Terry.

Oddly enough, Moryl began the game as a midfielder and while still a force in the game, did not begin assaulting Terry until Hixon moved her to forward in the second half.

"We moved Pam to give us more scoring punch," said Hixon. "I wasn't sure at first but as it turned out Pam did what she was supposed to do. I don't think we'll do that all the time but this will give us an option in the future."

UMass controlled the game early and went up 1-0 when Donnelley put a penalty stroke past Terry.

The rest of the half saw UMass outshooting Michigan 15-7. UMass then missed a few opportunities so Hixon decided to

continued on page 15

UMass' Chris Kocot (13) drives. UMass won, 5-0. Collegian photo by Andy Heller

UMass-Michigan	UMass-Fairfield
Michigan(0-1) 0 0 -0	UMass (2-0) 2 4 — 6
UMass(2-1) 2 3 -5	Fairfield 0 0 — 0
Scoring:Donnelly (2), Moryl (2), Coughlin	Scoring: UM, Manal (2), Marciano, Cushing, Baldwin, Shannon
Assists:UM, Cunniff, Hultin, Moryl	Assists: UM, Adoboe (3), Shannon, Ricard, Uschok
Shots:UM, 15-28 — 43, MI, 7-0 — 7	Shots: UM, 36, FA, 3

Soccer wins easily, 6-0

By ADAM NAZIMOWITZ
Collegian Staff

Coach Jeff Gettler was right. He said his team was going to be more exciting and score more goals.

Well, yesterday at Fairfield University they proved it as the University of Massachusetts exploded for six goals on their way to a 6-0 romp over Fairfield.

The Minutemen outshot the host team by a 36-3 mark en route to their second straight shutout victory. The goaltending duties were shared by seniors by Don Donahue, who made no saves in 58 minutes of play, and sophomore Mike Sarnacki, who finished up the last 32 minutes of the game and recorded one save.

"It's a little early, but we just played extremely well," said Getter. We created chances against BU, but couldn't score. Today we capitalized on them and scored some great goals," said Gettler.

Canadian freshman Kurt Manal, who is making quite an impression on this side of the border, scored two goals to increase his season total to three. He opened the scoring at the 34 minute mark and scored the game's fourth goal aobut six and a half minutes into the second half off a Tom Uschok feed.

Ferdie Adoboe, who also played extremely well according to Gettler, chipped in with three assists, his first came on Nick Marciano's first goal about six and a half minutes into the second half off a Tom Uschok feed.

Adoboe also assisted on Rich Baldwin's and John Shannon's first goals of the year, which came during a 20 minute barrage early in the second half in which UMass poured in four goals. Freshman midfielder Matt Cushing also put in his first goal for the Minutemen from Paul Ricard.

Name the sport, and the Minutemen are playing it

By GERRY deSIMAS
Collegian Staff

The young University of Massachusetts women's soccer team takes its unblemished slate (1-0) to Plymouth State Saturday highlighting a full slate of weekend action for the Minutemen athletic teams.

On campus, the volleyball team hosts the UMass Invitational today and Saturday at Boyden Gym. On the road, the surprising and undefeated (2-0) men's soccer team faces Dartmouth Saturday in Hanover, N.H., the men's and women's cross-country squads face Boston College this afternoon and the rugby team hosts Manhatten Club Saturday.

The women's soccer team faces Plymouth State in their last game before the Cortland Tournament next weekend, where the Minutemen will face three Top 20 teams.

"If the girls come out with a win and no injuries, I'll be happy," coach Kalekeni Banda said. "We have to go in with our heads up. I want to come out of there feeling sharp. I want to leave Plymouth on an upbeat, positive note."

The UMass volleyball team, fresh from their sweep of AIC on Wednesday, are now gearing their sights on this weekend's second annual UMass Invitational Tournament.

"We're ready," said a confident coach Elaine Sortino. "We're going to have to do the things we did against AIC to do well," said Sortino.

UMass finished second in last year's tournament, losing to Occidental College of California in the final.

The tournament is scheduled to start at 6 p.m. tonight, and will continue tomorrow at 9 a.m. at Boyden Gymnasium. UMass opens the tourney at 7:20 p.m. tonight against Salem State, and will face Bryant College at 8:40 p.m.

The undefeated UMass men's soccer team takes its 2-0 record to Hanover, New Hampshire to face Dartmouth College on Saturday afternoon, at 2:00 p.m.

"Dartmouth is very good defensively. They are well-organized and well-coached, and have one of the better goalkeepers in all of New England," said UMass Coach Jeff Gettler.

Women's cross-country coach Caroline Gardiner and her team face Boston College in their season opener today at Franklin Park in Boston.

The women will be led by seniors Kim Baker, Maurenn O'Reilly, and Chris Pratt. Sophomore transfer Lauren Doughty and freshman sensation Sara Kitchell round out the starting five.

Men's cross-country

continued on page 15

sports at a glance	pro scores
Saturday:	Pittsburg 14, NY Mets 4
Men's Soccer: at Dartmouth, 2 p.m.	Chicago-Montreal ppd.
Women's Soccer: at Plymouth State, 3 p.m.	New York 5, Toronto 1 (6)
Field Hockey: at Rhode Island, 1:00	Philadelphia 10 St. Louis 2
Water Polo: at MIT Tourney
Volleyball: UMass Invitational, 8 a.m.
Rugby: Manhattan Club (Boyden Lower Fields)

The Massachusetts Daily NEW ENGLAND'S LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY

Collegian

Volume CXIV, Issue 76 UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AMHERST (545-3500) Monday, September 17, 1984

Collegian photo by Mitch Dranteh

THE DOCTOR IS IN — Jeremy Hopkins examines a bike that may need repair at the UMass Bicycle Co-op.

New phones a heartache for students

By KENNETH B. ALBERT
Collegian Correspondent

New telephones installed in the University of Massachusetss dormitories last summer are causing problems for students, including those who own or rent home computers.

The new phones have receivers that do not couple with the computer modems, so students with computer terminals in their rooms cannot "log on."

Chuck Wyman, associate director of the Umass Computing Center, said, "I was talking to a student with a direct-connect modem (a device that links a home computer with the University's computer). He could send out information but not receive it."

"This looks like a problem with the phone itself," Wyman said.

"If students are unable to communicate with the computer from their rooms, they will come to the public terminals and we don't have enough space as it is," he said.

"The acoustic coupler modems are going to have the most trouble," Wyman said. "The receiver shape itself could easily cause problems."

Under the state bidding system, the University was oreed to buy 7,000 phones at $105,000 from the lowest bidder, the Mura Corporation, according to Gerald Quarles, director of the Housing Assignment Office.

The telephone system was tested in Prince House and a 14 percent error factor was found, said Quarles. The error factor means that of the 7,000 phones purchased, 920 could malfunction.

Quarles said, "It would have cost about $30,000 to test the entire system."

"What was the best way to proceed? Turn on the whole system, or expect a 14 percent error factor in the fall?", Quarles asked. "We decided to wait."

Sophomore Laurie Autlet said, "I can't make long distance calls because the phone quality is so bad. The other night I couldn't get a dial tone for fifteen minutes," she said.

Sherri Miller, a sophomore living in Knowlton House said, "If you move the phone at all, the jack falls right out. The operators keep cutting in for no reason. It happened three times in one call to New York the other night."

"All this started as a result of the A.T.&T. divestiture," Quarles said.

"Last year, all of our phones were A.T.&T. rentals. The University was informed in February that the rate would be going up about 300 percent over the next three years," he said.

"There wasn't much time to respond," Quarles said.

The rate increases "forced the University to step up modernization. "We decided at that time to purchase our own phones," and eliminate "the need to push up student fees," he said.

"We've done around 500 repair jobs in the last week and a half."

Better benefits for day care workers

By CARYN BOWERS
Collegian Correspondent

All employees holding major positions at the University of Massachusetts Day Care Center now have professional contracts, higher pay, and new benfits.

Elizabeth Perkins, the center's director, said, "It makes you feel as if the University values you, and values childcare."

The number of professional staff members at the center has increased from 13 to 27 this year. The hiring review committee, comprised of day care center directors and teachers, has already recommended 15 workers for professional contracts, and is currently conducting a search to fill four more available positions, including one for a center director, Perkins said.

Among the many benefits included within the professional contracts are a health package, a retirement plan, sick days, four days of paid vacation, and a tuition waiver to the University for employees and their immediate family members.

The professional search attracts qualified candidates who would not ordinarily apply for a non-benefitted job, Perkins said. Also, employees now have the opportunity to take graduate or undergraduate courses for free, enabling them to strengthen their background and training.

A reduction in the turnover rate for teachers at the center is expected due to the new benefits, Perkins said.

"This is the first year that I really feel confident about the overall growth and professional development of the childcare system at the University," said she.

A staff ratio regulation set by the state requires a minimum number of adults, in relation to the number of children in every classroom; two adults for every seven infants, two adults for evey nine toddlers, and one adult for every eight pre-schoolers. Perkins said the regulation has always been repected by the center. However with an enrollment of 130 children, the number of professional members within that mandatory ratio has been doubled.

Last spring, members of the UMass Childcare Employees Association proposed a lawsuit to change staff status grades, which was previously 03. Their main concern was to secure some employment benefits, although an increase in salary seemed relative.

"We really wanted consisteney for the children," said Perkins.

Before any action was taken, Chancellor Joseph D. Duffey announced that by the next fiscal year, all employees of the day care center would be working within the provisions of University personnel policies. The announcement also insured that staffing configurations in the University childcare system would continue to include full-time, part-time, and student workers.

Cross-state marchers depart today

Groups protest Reaganomics

By BILL LEMANSKI
Collegian Correspondent

Citizens opposed to military intervention abroad and President Ronald Reagan's economic policies began a protest march from Amherst to Boston at 8 a.m. today.

The march will culminate with a peace and justice rally in Boston September 22nd.

The Northampton Committee on Central America (NCCA) and the University of Massachusetts Radical Student Union (RSU) are the organizers of the march.

"We want people to take action and register to vote," said Lisa Sheehy, a 1980 graduate of UMass, and a worker for NCCA. She suggested that people join the march for one or two days.

"Our strength lies in voices from homes in the communities. We want to draw energies together in opposing war and U.S. intervention," she said.

Gerry Scoppettuolo, another organizer, and a member of the Student Center for Educational Research and Advocacy (SCERA), said he believes that the main purpose of the trip is "to draw attention to the rally in Boston, while urging people to vote in a way that won't elect Reagan. However, it's not pro-Mondale."

According to Scoppettuolo there are three basic issues the marchers are concerned with: ending intervention in Central America, stopping the nuclear arms build up, and funding human needs.

Steve O'Halloran, a 31 year old history graduate student said the objective of the trip is "to primarily focus on the escalating problems in Central America." He said "Reagan's military solution has continued the killings."

Each day the march will be followed by an evening hosted by local residents and churches to focus on peace and justice in 1984. Organizers are encouraging everyone to join the march and the evening events.

Support vehicles will be available and buses will be provided for the Boston rally. Bus tickets and further information concerning the statewide march are available at the RSU office in 413A Student Union.

Inside:

Group helps women take a leadership role. p.3

The present should come before the future. . . p.7

Amherst dance group has much to be proud ofp.9

You win some, you lose some but men's soccer does neither. p.17

"Discretion is the key to valor"
—William Shakespeare

World and National News

Night Editor Laura Yee
Copy Editor Nancy A. Bukar
Layout Technician Amy Constantine
Photo Technician Mitch Drantch
Production Supervisor Peter Soderberg
Production Beth Guinivan, Lisa Horan Maria Cahillane, Dode Levenson, Rob Skelton

Today's Staff

HEALTH & BEAUTY SALE

Colgate Brushes 2/$1.00 reg $1.15

Alcon Flex-Care 12 oz $2.79 reg $3.84

Good News 6's $1.43 reg $2.22

Gillette Foamy Gel 7 oz $1.43

Colgate Pump Gel 4.5 $1.09

OXY10 COVER

Oxy 10 $2.53 reg $4.14

Q-Tips 170 $1.09

Flex Shampoo or Conditioner 15 oz $1.79 reg $2.71

Introducing DOUBLE MANUFACTURER'S COUPONS on all Health and Beauty Aids Products

Located in the Campus Center

Sale items are also available in the Mini Store M-F 9-5 Sat 11-4

UNIVERSITY STORE

Dem. race winds down

Democratic candidates John Kerry, left and James Shannon

LYNN, Mass. (AP) — The four Democrats running for the U.S. Senate, relieved that the long primary campaign is nearing an end, minimized their differences yesterday and stressed the need to get voters to the polls in hopes of winning Tuesday's election.

"It's all a matter of execution now, getting ou the vote in the primary — and saying a few novenas," U.S. Rep. James Shannon said after he and his three rivals addressed a breakfast rally held by the Lynn Democratic City Committee.

Shannon and his opponents were in a conciliatory mood at the meeting and spent more time criticizing President Reagan and the Republicans than knocking each other.

Kerry, Shannon, Secretary of State Michael Connolly and former Massachusetts House Speaker David Bartley all touched on the themes they've stressed during the long campaign.

Digest by The Associated Press

Baby born to Diana

LONDON — Smiling to a cheering crowd, Princess Diana takes her one-day-old second son, Henry Charles Albert David, home from the hospital to Kensington Palace. The baby, third in line to the British throne, bears the name of the Tudor monarch Henry VIII, who broke with Rome. But to his parents, he'll just be Harry.

Rabin says fighting in Israel the worst

JERUSALEM — New Defense Minister Yitzhak Rabin calls Israel's war in Lebanon the most divisive in the nation's 36-year history and says it must end. Prime Minister Shimon Peres' bipartisan Cabinet, meeting for the first time, was expected to discuss how to cut $1 billion form the national budget and modify the cost of living index.

Basques in 39th day fast for French refuge

PARIS — Eight Basque separatists, seven of whom are wanted in their native Spain in connection with terrorist killings, yesterday entered the 39th day of a hunger strike to press for political refugee status in France and to protest possible extradition.

All the fasters are being held in Fresnes prison south of Paris. A lawyer for Francisco Xavier Lujambio-Galdeanu, one of the eight, said his client had lost 46 pounds since the hunger strike began Aug. 9, and on Friday was force-fed at the prison hospital.

The eight Basques are purportely members of the banned military wing of the the Spanish Basque independence movement ETA.

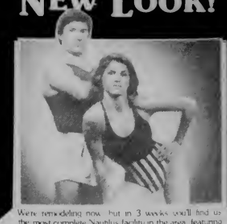
YAFFA ELIACH
Professor of History and Literature- Brooklyn College
Poet Playwright Collector of Stories

"The Art of Jewish Survival: Hasidic Tales of the Holocaust"

Monday, September 17, 1984
7:30 pm
Student Union Ballroom
University of Massachusetts

Sponsored by the Distinguished Visitors Program & B.B. Hillel

Come see our NEW LOOK!



We're remodeling now but in 3 weeks you'll find us the most complete Nautilus facility in the area featuring
ALL NEW aerobics and exercise classes
ALL NEW free weights and inground whirlpool
ALL NEW juice bar and private locker rooms plus
COMPLETE FITNESS EVALUATIONS your fitness body fat content and nutritional profile

Racquet & Fitness Center II
216 North King Street, Northampton 584-4975

Collegian photo by Andy Heller

CAN WE TALK — Native Americans congregate this past weekend on the campus pond for the 2nd annual Inter-tribal Pow-Wow.

Native Americans throw annual pow-wow at pond

By Elizabeth Dateo
Collegian Correspondent

The American Indian Student Association (AISA) at the University of Massachusetts held its second annual Inter-tribal Pow-wow this past weekend at the campus pond.

The purpose of the pow-wow was to " BRING TOGETHER OLD FRIENDS AND MAKE NEW ONES,"said Jane Coelen, AISA spokesperson. Native Americans came from all areas of North America to participate. " It demonstrates to Indians planning to attend college that UMass offers an active and supportive Indian student population, "said Coelen. Bob Clark, a former AISA mamber and UMass graduate, now a volunteer community supporter, said AISA offers assistance that ineludes financial aid services and tutorial advice. Clark is one of the Western Massachusetts Commissioners for Indian Affairs. His message at the pow-wow included a look at the Massachusetts state seal when he said may convey a theme of " racism and dominion ".

The seal depicts an Indian whose head is an arm with a broadsword. Clark distributed pamphlets that said, " The meaning is completed by the Latin motto which translates to: with sword we seek peace, but peace only under liberty.

" The picture and the Latin words together meant that the colonists wanted to dominate the native people by threat of death, in order to live the way they wanted to and to control the land," he said.

Rain forced the pow-wow into the Student Union Building Saturday. Many native Americans camped by the pond, and were with fair weather on Sunday. About 45 small trailers and tents formed a circle on the grass, selling merchandise including handeralted turquoise and silver jewelry, wood and bone carvings, and clay sculpture. There was beadwork, baskets, miccasins and food. Inside the circle, a dance ring was set up. Three bands of Indian drummers and singers played while costumed participants danced.

Orchard Hill turns big 20; celebrates with grand bash

Orchard Hill residents celebrated their area's 20th birthday with live bands, break dancing and a barbecue Sunday.

At 2 p.m., students sang happy birthday as a large hollow paper cake was cut open releasing balloons.Afterwards, threecakes in the shape of the dormitories were served to the residents.

The celebration began at 10 a.m. with an aerobics class. Records were played until about 11a.m., when the first 50 students began to arrive. At 11;30 a.m., student volunteers began to serve hamburgers and hot dogs.

All the food was eaten within an hour and students listened to the first of three bands scheduled. At 1 p.m. the Poppeteers, a breakdancing group, performed for the audience.

At 1;30 p.m., the Paradise City Jazz Band appeared, playing until 2:30. In between bands, residents watched a juggling clown. A third band, Tornado Alley, started to play at 3:30 p.m. They played until 5 p.m., after being called back for three encores.

—Bill Collins

UMass group here to help women increase confidence

By REBECCA THATCHER
Collegian Staff

The development of women's power is the goal of the Women's Leadership Project (WLP), according to its coordinator, Lisa Trocki.

"The idea is to encourage women not only to take on the leadership roles but to change the meaning of leadership itself," Trocki said.

Trocki said there are four different areas in which WLP works to progress towards the goal of empowering women. These areas include a resource center in the WLP office, programming, networking, and weekly meetings which serve as support and consciousness raising sessions.

Trocki said as the idea of developing leadership skill evolved, project coordinators found that women do not need to be taught leadership skills in formal ways, such as workshops by experts.

"Most women are perfectly capable of performing leadership skills--facilitating, listening, and public speaking. What is needed is a supportive environment in which to practice those skills," she said.

"Traditionally, however, women have been expected to give support to family members, friends and co-workers, but have not been expected to ask for support in return," she said. The project objective is to have people in the office understand the importance of support.

Developing alternative forms of leadership is another goal of the project.

"The project is working to develop supportive and collective forms of leadership because while we want women to develop leadership skills, we don't want women to use these skills in a way that excludes others and sets up barriers," Trocki said.

Paula Jabloner, a senior economics and history major, said the project is important for providing a voice for University women on campus.

"I feel more powerful when it comes to speaking out in class or objecting to sexist language if I know that there are other who agree with me and feel similarly," Jabloner said.

The Women's Leadership Project office is in the Student Union Room 415.

Women's Forum

Women's Forum is a weekly listing of events relating to women's issues. Notices should be sent to the Women's Issues Editor, care of the Collegian, the Friday before the event.

Monday-Wentworth for Congress committee meeting at 1 p.m. For more information and location call Kim Curtis at 549-1458.

Tuesday-The Women's Studies Program is having a reception from 5-7 p.m. at Memorial Hall. Interested women are invited.

The Committee for Equal Rights and Reproductive Freedom will meet from 3-5 p.m. in Campus Center 805.

Wednesday-Author and Peace activist Grace Paley will speak on: "Women and War: Choices and Connections," at 7:30 in the Franklin Patterson main lecture hall at Hampshire College. She will also read from a recent work in the east lecture hall at 3:30 p.m.

Women's Issues Team of the Student Center for Educational Research and Advocacy (SCERA) will meet on Wednesday from 4-6 p.m. from Campus Center 178.

Thursday-The Women's leadership project will meet at 4 p.m. in 415 Student Union.

Friday-A "Take Back the Night" march will be held in Worcester. Call or stop by the SCERA office for information on bus rides.

A symposium on Women and Education in America will be held Friday and Saturday at Mount Holyoke College. Topics include: The higher education of American Women: perspectives from Two Centuries; Two Traditions: Coeducation and Separate Education for women; paradigms for the History of Women's Education; Black Women and Higher Education; and After College, What? Work and Politics. Women's history scholars from across the United States will be presenting lectures. For more information contact Gwendolyn Glass at 538-2157.

Italian sculpture erected on the Fine Arts steps

By JIM AVERILL
Collegian Correspondent

A long, oblong, cement sculpture on a wooden frame was completed Friday on the stairs outside the Fine Arts Center.

The sculpture is part of a three-piece exhibit by Italian artist Mauro Staccioli that opened at the University Gallery.

All three sculptures are made of wood and iron frames overlayed with concrete and were created specifically for the University Gallery from a "sight specific perspective."

According to acting curator Betsy Siersma, the perspective "attempts to change the space in which the sculpture was created and invites interaction between the viewer, the work and the site."

None of the pieces are permanent because they are part of an exhibit.

Siersma said the exhibits usually last six weeks, but because this one is so large, it will remain on display all semester.

Funding for exhibits comes from the yearly programming fund of the University Gallery, which is supported by the University Alumni Association and University Arts Council. Funds cover materials, labor, construction, and shipping costs.

Siersma refused to disclose the cost of the sculpture.

Staccioli, who lives and works in Milan, Italy, was invited to create an exhibit at the gallery after a follow scuptor, George Trakus, met him in Pistoia, Italy where both were working. Trakus, who is the scultpor creating the "Island Project" on the Campus Pond, was impressed Staccioli's work and recommended him to the gallery staff.

The exhibit is accompanied by a photographic documentation of selected works by Staccioli dating from 1970 to 1984, and will be on display from September 15 through December 18.

The University Gallery, located in the FAC, is open to the public Tuesday through Friday 11 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., and 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

Collegian photo by Mitch Drantch

IT'S A BIRD IT'S A PLANE, IT'S A ....A young boy plays navigator on an Italian sculptor's latest creation at the Fine Arts Center.

HELP WANTED:

Snow Shovelers
EARN:
Up To $7.50 per hour

By Shoveling snow in dormitory areas.

MAKE MONEY THIS WINTER

APPLY AT:
SGA PRESIDENTS OFFICE
406 STUDENT UNION
(Above the Credit Union)

DVP sponsors noted writer Yaffa Eliach tonight 8 pm

Noted author, lecturer and chronicler of the Holocaust, Dr. Yaffa Eliach will speak on "The Art of Jewish Survival: Hasidic Tales of the Holocaust," at 7:30 tonight in the Student Union Ballroom.

Eliach, winner of the Christopher Award for Literature in 1983, is the first speaker to be brought to the University of Massachusetts this fall by the Distinguished Visitors Program. Her book, Hasidic Tales of the Holocaust is the only major collection of Hasidic tales and anecdotes to have been compiled form the Holocaust experience.

Eliach, at age four, and her family, were forced into hiding for two years when the Nazis occupied her family's town in Poland.

Her book has been acclaimed in over 800 periodicals and newspapers. Eliach is a history and literature professor at Brooklyn College. She is also a poet, playwright, founder of the Center for Holocaust Studies, Documentation and Research and member of the Holocaust Commission.

— RONDA APPLEBAUM

Pope wants ethnic peace

WINNIPEG, Manitoba (AP) — Pope John Paul II, in the prairie heartland of this immigrant nation, urged Canadians yesterday to strive ever harder to achieve their "creative vision" of a multicultural society.

Quoting one of his predecessors, Joh XXIII, the pontiff told a throng of at least 100,000 at an outdoor Mass that justice is served by helping ethnic minorities, "especially in what concerns their language, culture, customs."

John Paul's comments came in a province — and a country — whose two original immigrant groups, the majority English speakers and the minority French, still argue over language rights.

The federal government was made officially bilingual in 1969, but language disputes persist on the provincial level.

Earlier Sunday, sticking to the theme of his Manitoba visit, "Faith and Culture in a Multi-cultural society," the pontiff stopped by a Ukrainian Catholic cathedral.

PAID SPRING CO-OP POSITIONS
Office for Cooperative Education

Attractive Spring Semester Placements with Sky Chefs, IBM, Boston Globe, Epsco, People Express, Disney World, U.S. Department of Transportation, and many more!

WEEKLY INFORMATION SESSIONS
Mondays 2:30 pm Mach E-37
Tuesdays 1:25 pm Mach E 16
Wednesdays 2:30 Mac 413
Thursdays 10:10 Mach 413

"I learned how to be a professioanl in the outside world, which encompasses new skills, career awareness, and personal growth."
--Mike Booth, '85 EE, IBM Poughkeepsie

For More Information Call 545-2579

BOLTWOOD PROJECT
Volunteers needed for programs with developmentally disabled adults.
Valuable Experience.
CREDIT AVAILABLE
Info Meetings:
Mon. 9/17 - 7 pm
Thurs. 9/20 - 7 pm
Wed. 9/26 - 7 pm
in Campus Center Room 917

BOOK OF THE WEEK
$1.00 OFF

THE DO-IT-YOURSELF PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN KIT
EVERYBODY FOR PRESIDENT

Everything you need to know to run for the highest office in the land

Includes: • Official U.S. Federal Election Commission Statement of Candidacy Form (Mail-in) • Official U.S. Federal Election Commission Statement of Organization Form (Mail-in) • Official Certificate of Candidacy (Frame-it) • I VOTED for President Bumper Sticker • White House Parking Decal

by Gil Cunningham and Martin Gottfried

Everybody For President

Located in the Campus Center

UNIVERSITY STORE

OFF CAMPUS UNDERGRADUATES

Nomination Papers to the Commuter Area Government are available now.
Get involved in your Area Government.
Help plan activities for the school year.

Papers available at 404 SUB
Deadline for returning papers is Friday Sept. 21

the Hungry U Restaurant

check out our happy hour munchie menu daily!

! PIZZA PARTY !
ALL SEMESTER LONG
8 till closing
Monday thru Thursday
buy a large pizza and get a pitcher for only $1.99
Happy Hour 3-6, 9-close 7 days per week
2 in 1 drinks
55 University Drive, Amherst 549-5713

YOU'VE HEARD ABOUT US - NOW CHECK US OUT FRATERNITY RUSH

Alpha Delta Phi
395 N. Pleasant St.
545-3117
Tues. Sept. 18, 8-11
Wed. Sept. 19, 8-11

Alpha Epsilon Pi
Campus Center
546-7051
Thurs. Sept. 20 8-11

Alpha Tau Gamma
375 N. Pleasant St.
253-9974
call for details

Beta Kappa Phi
388 N. Pleasant St.
253-9071
Mon. Sept. 17 9-11
call for details

Delta Chi
118 Sunset Ave.
549-0482
Tues, Sept. 18, 9-11
Wed, Sept. 19, 9-11

Delta Upsilon
778 N. Pleasant St.
549-3831
Tues, Sept. 18, 9-11
Wed, Sept. 19, 9-11

Phi Mu Delta
14 Elm St.
256-6802
Wed. Sept. 19 8-11
Thurs. Sept. 20 8-11

Pi Kappa Alpha
418 N. Pleasant St.
545-2150
Mon, Sept. 17, 9-11
Tues, Sept. 18, 9-11

Phi Sigma Kappa
510 N. Pleasant St.
256-6863
call for details

Lambda Chi Alpha
374 N. Pleasant St.
Wed, Sept. 19, 9-11

Sigma Phi Epsilon
70 Butterfield Terr.
545-2711
call for details

Theta Chi
496 N. Pleasant St.
253-9015
call for details

Zeta Psi
23 Phillips St.
256-6845
Tues, Sept. 18, 9-11

uhs UNIVERSITY HEALTH SERVICES

Health is Your Business . . . Know how U.H.S. Works!

WHAT SERVICES ARE AVAILABLE?
- M.D. & N.P Care
- Pharmacy
- Eye Care Program
- Dental Services
- Health Education
- Mental Health Care

HOW DO I USE THESE SERVICES?

EMERGENCY
- For medical problems that cannot wait, like severe bleeding, broken limbs, high fever, frequent vomiting, etc.
- Phone U.H.S. ahead whenever possible to facilitate your care.

NON-EMERGENCY
- For non-urgent or routine problems.
- Please call for an appointment! This usually ensures a shorter wait to receive care.
- You are encouraged to choose a health care provider (M.D. or Nurse Practitioner, etc.) who can then provide continuity of care.

FOR MORE INFORMATION . . .
- See the September issue of HEALTHWATCH, the U.H.S. student newsletter.
- Watch the COLLEGIAN for health program announcements.

Regular schedule is subject to change on holidays and vacations.

WHEN CAN I COME IN TO U.H.S.?

Urgent Care Clinic (Medical, Dental, & Mental Health Emergencies)	24 Hours Every Day
Eye Clinic	8 am-7:30 pm Monday 8 am-5 pm Tuesday-Friday
Medical Clinics	8-12 am & 1-5 Monday-Friday
Mental Health Services	Appointments 8 am-5 pm Monday-Friday
Urgent Care Clinic	1-2:30 pm Monday-Friday
Dental Service	8 am-8 pm Monday-Thursday 8 am-5 pm Friday 9 am-4 pm Saturday
Inpatient Visiting	2 pm-8 pm daily (No children under 12. Parents & Spouses anytime)

Pharmacy
8:30 am-8 pm
Monday-Thursday
8:30 am-7 pm Friday
9 am-4:30 pm
Saturday & Sunday

CLIP & SAVE

WHOM DO I CALL?

549-2671	General information about University Health Services — Also, to contact most staff members and offices
549-2600	Appointments with physicians, nurse practitioners optometrist, and nutritionist.
545-2400	Dental appointments and information.
545-2337	Mental Health appointments and information.
545-2671	To report an EMERGENCY and receive instructions for obtaining care (9-549-2671 from campus phone)
545-3111	Campus security (police) for on-campus EMERGENCY transportation.
545-2682	Environmental Health and Safety - to report health or safety hazards.

UPC Productions
Duke Ellington Committee
presents

BLACK UHURU
WITH SLY DUNBAR
& ROB SHAKESPEARE
AND SPECIAL GUEST

REGGAE

STUDENTS $9.50
PUBLIC $11.50

tix on sale sept 7

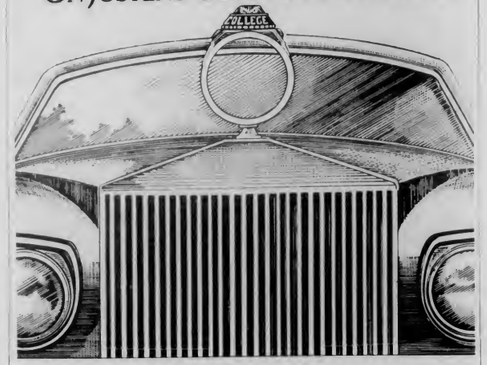
Wed.
Sept. 19
S.U.B.
UMass

UMass ID required to enter with Student ticket

Tickets on sale at Fine Arts Center, Springfield Civic Center, and Stop & Shop locations in Northampton, Holyoke, Greenfield and Pittsfield.
No cans, bottles, cameras or recording devices.

Biggest Sale of the Year!

$25 OFF
ON JOSTENS GOLD COLLEGE RINGS.



See your Jostens representative.

Date: Sept. 17, 18, 19, 20 - Mon, Tue, Wed, Thur
Place: Outside Univ. Store
Time: 10-3:30 pm
Deposit: $15.00

GET A $25 REBATE ON YOUR JOSTENS GOLD COLLEGE RING.

UNIVERSITY STORE

The New York Times
Best Sellers

New York Times	BEST SELLERS
Fiction	NonFiction
1. The Fourth Protocol	1. The Kennedys: An American Drama
2. First Among Equals	2. The Bridge Across Forever
3. "And Ladies of the Club"	3. In God's Name
4. Lincoln	4. The Nightmare Years: 1930-1940
5. Tough Guys Don't Dance	5. Wired
6. The Aquitaine Progression	6. The Rest of Us
7. The Miko	7. One Writer's Beginnings
8. The Butter Battle Book	8. The Fire From Within
9. Silver Wings, Santiago Blue	9. Good Morning Merry Sunshine
10. Crescent City	10. D.V

$2.00 OFF List Price

All New York Times Best Sellers

*Hardcover editions only

Located in the Campus Center

Open M-F 9-5 Sa. 11 :

UNIVERSITY STORE

SUPERIOR PIZZA
UMass Students Favorite Pizza!
FAST, FREE DELIVERY
also grinders, salads, dinners
17 Montague Road
North Amherst
549-0626

Union Video Center
The place to be for alternative TV.
Informational Meeting
MONDAY 9/17 - 7 PM
Become A Member!
Get involved with production on campus.
- WORKSHOPS
- PROGRAMMING
- EQUIPMENT ACCESS
- NEWS PROGRAM
Come to: UVC 216 Student Union
(near back of Hatch) or call: 545-1336

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian
Founded 1870
Editor in Chief James P. Shanahan

Managing Editor	John O'Connell	Black Affairs Editor	Yadira Betances
Business Manager	Andrew May	Women's Issues Editor	Rebecca Thatcher
Business Manager	Elizabeth Young	Arts Editor	Christine D. Manni
Production Manager	Mark Roden	Sports Editor	Peter Abraham
Executive Editor	Rita Murphy	Photo Editor	Andrew J. Heller
News Editor	Greg Brown

OPINION

The opinions expressed on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the university unless otherwise noted.

Putting today before tomorrow

University of Massachusetts President David Knapp told the Faculty Senate Thursday of his plans to help make the school a leader of technology in higher education through telecommunications.

Planning for the future can only help to make this University strong. Knapp should be lauded for realizng telecommunications is a must for tomorrow.

But what abut today?

Has knapp forgotten about the problems that plague this campus? Has he forgotten that the $16.5 million building incorrectly called a "library" is of little use to students or faculty? What about the Cold Storage building? Has he forgotten that it has, this past year, actually been used for classrooms? Has he forgotten that when it rains on campus, it pours in the Campus Center?

Maybe he doesn't know that there is a tremendous housing shortage in Amherst, and some UMass students sleep in their cars.

Can planning for the future be done without first solving the problems of the past, or even the present?

We think it cannot.

Until we stop hearing about plans to solve problems on this campus and start seeing some action, we cannot expect to move into the future as leaders in academics, technology, research, or anything else.

Before we start replacing chalkboards with video systems, we must look to find out why we don't have chalk in the first place.

One of the major problems on this campus has always been that it has been planning for the future without seriously looking at the present. It has run before learning how to walk.

We, as a campus, must respond to Knapp's ideas by sending a clear message to him; the future can only be what the present makes of it.

Unsigned editorials reflect the majority opinion of the Collegian Board of Editors.

BY THE WAY THINGS ARE GOING, WE MIGHT BE BACK IN BUSINESS AGAIN REAL SOON THERE, CLYDE!
NEWS-
HAPPY HOUR BANNED
DRINKING AGE 21
NO KEGS
TOM HALEY Collegian

Good politics over good religion

Andrew M. Paven

Though discerning the point at which religion entered American politics in this election year of 1984 would be akin to finding the end of a Mobius strip, there have been some interesting and important points made both by those who welcome religion into politics and by those who do not.

On the one hand, there are leaders of the Roman Catholic Church who feel that if a politician is a Catholic, that politician has a responsibility to legislate for his or her church's teachings.

The issue the leaders of the Catholic Church have in mind is abortion, but following that maxim raises the question of whether this means that all politicians are obliged to legislate for their church's teachings:Jews for legal holidays which are now only religious holidays, as well as for Saturday blue laws; Catholics, for an end to abortions and to birth control, in addition to requiring legal dispensations for second marriages; Muslims for their religious slate,Sikhs for theirs, and soon, ad infinitum.

On the other hand, there are politicians who are caught in the middle and are trying to find some middle ground. One such politician, courageous and eloquent, is New York Gov. Mario Cuomo.

Cuomo argues that it is not his duty to impose his own religious beliefs on his constituents who live in a pluralistic society.

He draws a line between the political actions of liberal clergy in the civil rights struggles of 20 years ago, and the current attempts by the Catholic Church to re-criminalize abortion, by pointing out that it is acceptable for members of the clergy to speak their minds on any religious and political matter. But, as he said last week when speaking on ABC's Nightline, " You have to convince the public that it's good for them quite apart from the religious context. Unless (the stand) achieves a commonality on a pluralistic basis " the matter should not be made law in a pluralistic society.

Archbishop O'Connor, of the Archdiocese of New York, said a few weeks ago: " I do not see how a Catholic can, in conscience, vote for a candidate who, himself of herself, explicitly favors abortion."

Figures quoted by Gov. Cuomo, at a speech given at Notre Dame University, indicate that a majority of Catholics support legal abortions notwithstanding. If the Catholic voter takes Archbishop O'Connor's words to heart, that voter cannot in good conscience vote for some first rate politician . Among them are Ferraro, Kennedy, Cuomo, Kerry, Shannon, Richardson, Frank, Dukakis and Studds.

Religion, does of course plays role in American Politics, because religion does play a role in American society, and American government is representative of its society. But voters, Catholic or otherwise, should not base their decision on the voting booth on one issue, be that issue abortion,nuclear arms, or civil rights. The voter must look at the choices for each seat in government, and choose the person that is most qualified and best suited to represent him or her.

Thoreau once wrote that the voter " adopts one of the candidates thus selected as the only available one, thus proving that he himself is avialable for any purposees."

No one can argue with that. The voter must choose the best candidate of those who are running.

If a Catholic voter looks at all facets of a candidate and decides that the candidate is the best available, then theCatholic voter should vote for that candidate, regardless of the candidate's stand on abortion - for the good of our pluralistic society. And if after casting his or her vote, the voter's conscience is troubled, that voter may then head directly from the voting booth to the confessional booth, in good conscience.

Letters to the Editor

Questions still unanswered

In Peter Dow's column of Thursday, he raised two very good points. The left should take a closer and more open look at Nicaragua, for it is far from perfect. Censorship of the press and the maltreatment of the Meskitos, for example, are very unfortunate. And to claim that criticism of Nicaragua is reactionary and pro-Reagan is as wrong as claiming that criticism of Israel is anti-Semitic.

The other good point is that facts are necessary to responsibly form an opinion on Nicaragua. I do not claim to be an expert on Central America. Since Dow will apparently be enlightening us again in the near future, I have some questions which I hope he will answer.

Is Nicaragua any more or less legitimate than the government of Chile?, of Guatamala? And which democracies, outside of El Salvador, are about to fall to communists?

If the Nicaragua buildup means it is expansionary, what does that say for the recent U.S. buildup? And does Nicaragua have less of a right to a military than other countries, and less of a right to accept aid from those who offer it? Or is it just as wrong for Honduras, Guatamala and El Salvador to accept U.S. aid, arms and advisors? And how can Nicaragua respond to the contras in a way which would be acceptable to Dow? or to the U.S. buildup? And does Nicaragua have less of a right to a military than other countries, and less of a right to accept aid from those who offer it? Or is it just wrong for Honduras, Guatemala and El Salvador to accept U.S. aid, arms and advisors? And how can Nicaragua respond to the contras in a way which would be acceptable to Mr. Dow? Or to the buildup of U.S. is sponsoring in neighboring states and on the high seas? How many sophisticated Soviet weapons are actually in Nicaragua, or in the hands of the rebels in El Salvador? How much of the mentioned $4 billion in aid to Cuba and Nicara;77$tary, and what percentage goes to Nicaragua? Are Cuba and Nicaragua the same countries?

Where does Dow get the figure of $1 billion in aid from the U.S.S.R. to the Salvadorean rebels? From the Soviet line-budget?

Actually, where does Dow get all his information? He should follow his own advice—use facts, and know whose propaganda he is listening to, not that it isn't hard to figure out.

John Hayes

Marchers have a message

Today, a group of people representing peace and justice groups in the Pioneer Valley hegin their week long march to Boston where they will participate in a New England-wide rally for peace and justice on September 22nd. The marchers will be promoting voter registration, a halt to the nuclear arms race, social justice, and an end to military intervention.

We should think about the meaning of this march. It shows that there are people who are strongly committed to these issues, people who are willing to suffer the inconvenience of walking 90 miles and give up a week of their ordinary lives. For some, I know this means falling far behind in their work here at the University of Massachusetts.

So, why do we need to march? Why not just take the chartered buses Saturday morning to reach the rally? By walking, our message will he felt more strongly by many people along the route.

We hope the onlookers will question our messages: that their taxes pay for bombs that kill people and threaten world destruction; that the number of people below the poverty line has increased in the U.S.; that U.S.-supported mercenaries are torturing and mudering innocent civilian peasants and workers in Nicaragua; that less than 50 percent of eligible Americans voted in the last presidential elections.

Perhaps those of you who read this letter will take a moment and think about why there are people marching to Boston.

Nicholas Komar
Northeast

Know the Score...
Read the Sports
BOSTON GLOBE - SPORTING NEWS - N.Y. TIMES

Red Sox, Yankees,
UMASS Minutemen,
Celtics, Patriots,
Bruins, Whalers

Located in the Student Union
Open M-F 7:30 am - 10 pm
Sat - Sun 8:30 - 10 pm
the Mini Store

The Distinguished Visitors Program
presents

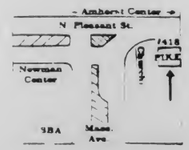
George Gallup, Jr.
of the Gallup Poll

Public Opinion Polls and the American Presidency
Tuesday, September 18, 1984
8:00 PM FREE
Student Union Ballroom

MONDAY NITE
FOOTBALL RUSH
with
PI KAPPA ALPHA

We are. . .
• Greek area intramural softball and football champs
• the fraternity that does not haze
• the house that raised over 60,000 for Multiple Sclerosis

• Food & Spirits
• Color TV



Pi Kappa Alpha

TEL. 545-2150

Arts

Brave new dance
Local dance company debuts at FAC

By WENDY LEWIS
Collegian Correspondent

The "little" hamlet of Amherst can now boast of one more thing: its own professional dance company. AmDans, which had its debut in the FAC Concert Hall Saturday night in collaboration with the jazz quintet Tradewinds, put on a truly professional show.

The company, established in 1982 by founder and Artistic Director Richard Jones, is comprised of former and present UMass dance majors. Its goal is to "alter the present commercially exploited character of jazz dance to a respected art form," and while it intends to use the talents of national and international artists in every area of dance production, Jones says he wants to also "show people we have talent in the area."

The company did just that; the program consisted of five separate pieces, each with its own theme, which allowed the audience to experience quite a spectrum of imagery and emotion.

"Tears of Joy," the opener, was an optimistic visual interpretation of music from Duke Ellington and Count Basey. The tears, which recall the rejoicing spawned by the end of that Second World War, showed that music "lives" in dance. For a moment in the Concert Hall, it wasn't 1984; it was 1945.

The costumes for all of the pieces tastefully accentuated each, and, in the case of "Tears," served to symbolize visually the roles the dancers assumed. We saw three women, a sailor and a man in a business suit all come together in a flirtatious, exuberant celebration.

The simple backdrop of a tipped martini glass and the word "Bar" in neon set the piece off well, and five simple chairs were the only props.

As the music's tempo picked up, the energy level increased, and even though "closing time" came (the five chairs were suspended in the air) the dancing was by no means over.

The second piece, like the first, third, and fifth, was choreographed by Jones, who is himself known internationally for his work in jazz dance. Entitled "That Voice (A Tribute to Edith Piaf)," the work hit us with a different kind of joy; through modern dance, guest artist Bonnie Novak (a 1981 UMass graduate) became the famous French torch singer.

Those of us who frankly had never before heard, much less heard about Edith Piaf, were left with unforgettable impressions. Costumed in a simple black dress, Novak "danced" the images as Piaf sang and spoke to us. As we watched Novak, we wanted to believe that, while Piaf was forced to stand behind the microphone, the singer might have had similar "dancing" in her mind.

The five songs selected for the dance served as a biography of the singer's obviously tortured life–but, reborn in the movement of the dancer, Edith Piaf wrenched some hearts one more time.

The third piece, "Luxuriation," was my personal favorite. Jones let live music and live dance and a live audience share the immediacy and thrill of this living art form. He revealed an incident that occurred during a company rehearsal by lifting the stage's velvet drapes and turning it into a dance studio. He put Tradewinds on stage as well, so that the dancers performed directly in front of the musicians.

Jones appeared on the stage to "direct" his dancers, who then broke for "lunch". All but one, that is, who lingered alone before the otherwise empty mirrors and practiced his movements. The company returned to dance together and individually, so that each performer was able to expel a bit of his own pride.

By watching this "rehearsal" we were able to more fully appreciate the second half of the dance, in which the stage was once again a stage and the dancers changed from the motley shades of rehearsal wear to the costumes of fiery orange red that "reflected" the flames of the backdrop–the "flames" that revealed the engulfing effects of narcissism.

"Magnetic Power," a more surrealistic jazz piece than "Luxuriation," was choreographed by Eva von Genesy, AmDans'guest choreographer who is also a world-renowned figure in the area of jazz dance. The piece had an eerie, icy, silver blue aura, but the music (by Legrand/Pendereeki) symbolized for this viewer, life, which sometimes feeds one's dreams, and, just as easily, can knock them down. The dancers answered the commands of the music that allowed them to dream, but this same music finally broke their dreams. This "brokenness" was symbolized by the final pyramid of dancers which collapsed just before the lights fell.

The second part of this piece revealed how "The Magnetic Power," that harder than steel yet invisible something-or-other that congeals in the soul attracts "broken dreams to create new ones." The ensemble of dancers, led by Robert Smith, guest artist and 1983 UMass graduate, came back with enough athletic energy and power to renew the hardest cynic's faith in dreams.

Following "Magnetic Power," Tradewinds entertained the audience with a short jazz set. Comprised of UMass Music Department faculty under the direction of Fred Tillis, the group gave the audience a chance to hear some live jazz as well as watch jazz movement.

"Bolero," inspired by the ballet score by Ravel that was, yes, banned in Boston at the turn of the century, was the final piece. The interpretation of the music by the use of modern dance was exhilarating. The audience nearly perspired right along with the dancers who kept pace with the music's rising power. The background lighting and the costumes blended so well in the piece that it was almost as if we were watching a painter paint.

But although dance is a visual art form, it is also transient tone. Unlike the static art hanging on museum walls, you only get one shot to experience it. If you missed Saturday's performance, that's really a shame. But there is much more fine dance on its way to UMass–don't miss it.

Seniors - Juniors
Thinking about Graduate School?
Why? If? When? How?
Come in for help
Pre-Graduate Advising Office
CASIAC - Machmer E-27C
For appointments call 545-2191

AMHERST CINEMA
DOUBLE FEATURE $2.50
Monday and Tuesday
A Hitchcock Double Thriller
Suspicion 7:00
Mr & Mrs Smith 9:00
DOWNTOWN AMHERST

drivel

DIETING?
Try something different. Lose weight sensibly by learning about your eating habits. Down with diets! Call UHS 549-2671 ext. 181. Preregistration by Sept. 21.

MASS APPROVED INSPECTION STATION
RADIAL TIRE SALE
P155/80R13
$29.95
•Includes Mounting• plus MA State Tax
North Amherst Tire & Auto Center
Full Service Tire Store
78 Sunderland Rd., No. Amherst, MA
Across from Watroba's Store
549-4704

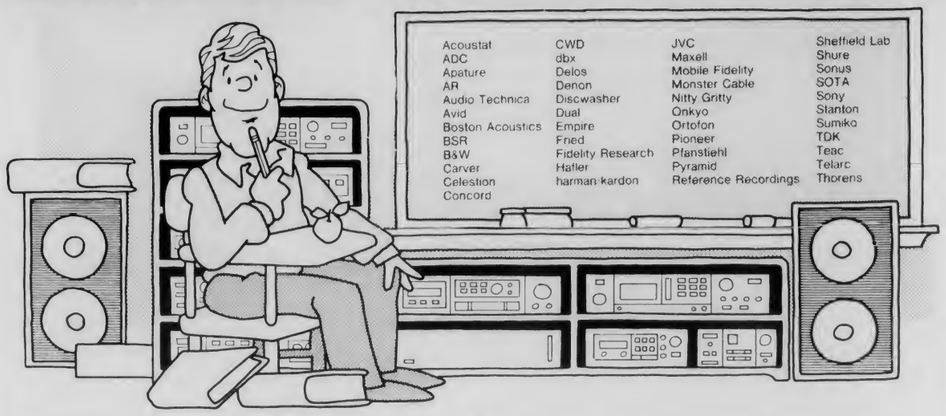
UVC HEADLINE NEWS
INFORMATIONAL MEETING
TUES. SEPT. 18th
4pm
Video Center Lounge
Rm 216 SUB

by Judi Sheppard Missett
jazzercise
The original, high-energy total workout that combines aerobic exercises with the fun of jazz dance.
FREE CLASS
Tues. Sept. 18th 12:45 p.m.
Hampshire Mall
Interskate 91
$1.6 for 8 classes $2.50 Walk-in
Also evening classes M thru F at Hampshire Mall
Certified Instructors Alan & Joanna Karp-Robinson Call 584-153[illegible]

Rent One of Ours
Car
Truck
Passenger Van
North Amherst Motors
Rt. 63 No. Amherst
549-2880

PIZZARAMA
PIZZARAMA OF AMHERST
Amherst's leader for the past 10 years
Pizza Grinders
FREE DELIVERY
Mon-Wed 5:00-1:30 am
Thurs-Sun 5:00-2:30 am
355 College Street, Amherst, MA 01002
Call 253-3808 or 256-0115

Stereo with Class.



Acoustat	CWD	JVC	Sheffield Lab
ADC	dbx	Maxell	Shure
Apature	Delos	Mobile Fidelity	Sonus
AR	Denon	Monster Cable	SOTA
Audio Technica	Discwasher	Nitty Gritty	Sony
Avid	Dual	Onkyo	Stanton
Boston Acoustics	Empire	Ortofon	Sumiko
BSR	Fried	Pioneer	TDK
B&W	Fidelity Research	Pfanstiehl	Teac
Carver	Hafler	Pyramid	Telarc
Celestion	harman-kardon	Reference Recordings	Thorens
Concord

Basic Economics

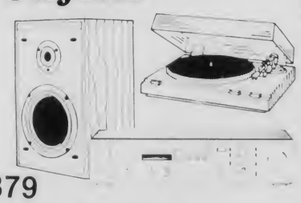
SONY
STR-VX250 Receiver
JVC
LA-120 Turntable
SHURE
M92E Cartridge
82 Speakers $299

Mass Communication

SONY
STR-VX350 Receiver
PS-LX310 Turntable
L727E Cartridge
Boston
A60 Speakers.
$499

Applied Physics

ONKYO
TX-15 Receiver
JVC
LA-120 Turntable
ortofon
OM-5E Cartridge
Boston
A40 Speakers
$379

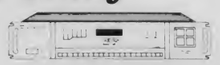


Music Appreciation

ONKYO
TX-35 Receiver
TA-2022 Cassette Deck
Dual
CS-515-65 Turntable
B&W
DM-110 Speakers.
$869

Independent Study

CARVER
Receiver $749



SONY
CDP-200 Compact
Disc Player $399

PIONEER
KP-2000 $119

Library Science

harman/kardon
CD-191 including calibration $330

ONKYO
TA-2022 including head
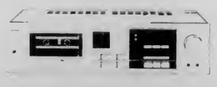
cleaning fluid $149



All components are pre-tested and backed by Sound & Music's factory authorized service department. A two-week return privilege and a six-week lay-away option are available.

Sound & Music

90-92 King St. (Rte 5), Northampton • Mon-Sat 10-5:30, Thu'til 9
VISA, MasterCard, American Express • Financing Available • 584-9547

artslines

Tickets are still available for the Black Uhuru concert being held this Wednesday, September 19, at 8 p.m. in the UMass Student Union Ballroom. Tickets are $9.50 for UMass students and $11.50 for the general public. They can be purchased in the Fine Arts Center box office, Springfield Civic Center, and the Stop and Shops in Northampton, Pittsfield, Greenfield, Holyoke, and Hadley. The concert is being presented by UPC and the Duke Ellington Committee.

The word "uhuru" means freedom in Swahili. Black Uhuru's music is the free-flowing reggae sound of one of Jamaica's finest bands. Black Uhuru consists of Michael Rose, Puma Jones, Ducky Simpson, Sly Dunbar, and Robbie Shakespeare. Shakespeare and Dunbar are probably the #1 rhythmsection in reggae. They have played on about 70 percent albums recorded in Jamaica, and have produced a number of them as well. They have worked with Joe Cocker, Peter Tosh, and Grace Jones.

The band Black Uhuru has been receiving critical acclaim for years, and have played sold out shows across Europe and America. Rumor has it that in their recent opening for King Sunny Ade in Boston show, they generated more excitement and were better received than Ade. Black Uhuru has opened for the Rolling Stones in England, and for the Police in America.

The outstanding artistry of Claudia Anderson, flutist, will be heard in a faculty recital on Tuesday, September 18, at 8 p.m. in Bezanson Recital Hall at UMass. Assisting Ms. Anderson will be Gregory Hayes, piano, Salvatore Macchia, Bass, and Alie Hayes Robbins, viola da gamba. The program is free and open to the public and sponsored by the Performing Arts Division.

The Guild Art Center at 102 Main Street in Northampton, one of the area's most complete suppliers of artist's materials, has expanded to include art training. Beginning September 24 the GAC will be offering evening classes in watercolors, oils and acrylics, calligraphy, basic drawing, and graphic arts. In addition to a continuous program of classes, the GAC will be giving free demonstrations of art materials and techniques on a regular basis. For more information call 586-6343.

Baritone Rodney Gisick will perform an opera program of arias and duets with guest artist Bonnie Scarpelli, soprano, and Dorothy Ornest, piano, on the next Faculty Recital at the University. The concert will take place on Wednesday, September 19, at 8 p.m. in Bezanson Recital Hall. The concert is free and open to the public.

EMT's Join
UMass Fire & First Aid Unit
Work at shows, football games, concerts
CPR recert, CEU's
1st meeting Monday, Sept. 17, 1984
at 9 PM in Morrill North 406
New Members Welcome
Please bring a copy of your EMT and CPR card

Back to work...

Back to school

Campus Coin-Op
107 Sunderland Rd. No. Amherst
next to Campus Auto & Carpenter Bros.
Hours: Mon-Fri 8-10
Sat & Sun 8-7
50¢ a wash
first 100 customers with this ad
limit one per customer
OFFER GOOD THRU SEPT. 21

Back to ESSENTIALS
Furniture, lighting, storage, stationery, desk accessories
THORNES MARKET, 150 MAIN ST., NORTHAMPTON

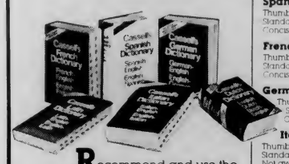
OOPS!
Now's the time to call...
North Amherst Motors
Rt. 63 No. Amherst
549-2880
Expert Repairs & Reconditioning

PERSONALIZED STYLE
$7.00
$10.00 with Shampoo and Blow Dry
$11.50 Long Hair
Styles by Deborah

THE ROAD TO A COLLEGE DEGREE IS EXPENSIVE
AIR FORCE ROTC CAN PAVE THE WAY

There are a lot of scary stories about the cost of college education these days. Many high school students aren't planning to attend college because they don't have the money. BUT WAIT! Air Force ROTC can help. With our scholarship programs, we will pay for your college tuition, books, along with certain fees AND pay you $100 per month for living expenses.
After you receive your degree you'll be eligible for a commission as an Air Force officer. If you can qualify, Air Force ROTC can mean a college degree and a brighter future for you. Find out more. For your country and yourself, make Air Force ROTC a part of your plans. Contact:
Jay A. Bullington
(413) 545-2437/2451
AIR FORCE ROTC
Gateway to a great way of life.

THE WORLD'S BEST-SELLING BILINGUAL DICTIONARIES.
Cassell's



Recommend and use the best without peer for 125 years Cassell's bilingual dictionaries with features no student of language should be without • neologisms • colloquial terms • idiomatic usage • irregular plural forms • modern scientific, technical, and political terms • modern speech and classical forms, and more Publisher's prices are subject to change without notice.

Spanish-English/English-Spanish
Thumb-indexed $19.95 0-02-522910-9
Standard $17.95 0-02-522901-1
Concise $9.95 0-02-522660-6

French-English/English-French
Thumb-indexed $19.95 0-02-522620-7
Standard $18.95 0-02-522610-X
Concise $9.95 0-02-522670-3

German-English/English-German
Thumb-indexed $19.95 0-02-522930-3
Standard $17.95 0-02-522920-6
Concise $9.95 0-02-522650-9

Italian-English/English-Italian
Thumb-indexed $21.95 0-02-522540-5
Standard $19.95 0-02-522530-8
Not available in Concise Format

Latin-English/English-Latin
Thumb-indexed $19.95 0-02-522580-4
Concise $9.95 0-02-522630-4
Not available in Standard Format

Dutch-English/English-Dutch
Standard $34.95 0-02-522940-0
Not available in Concise or Thumb-indexed Format

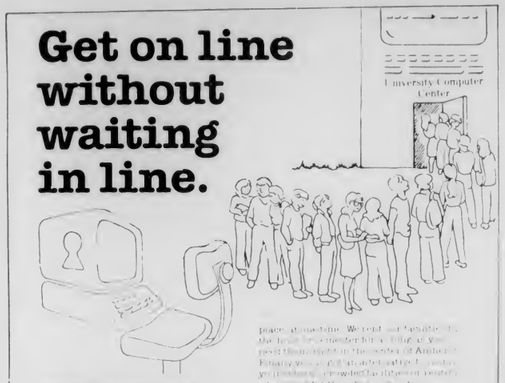
At your college bookstore. Or to order direct send check/money order plus applicable sales tax and $1.50 postage and handling to Macmillan Publishing Company Dept. IC 244 Front and Brown Streets, Riverside, NJ 08075.
MACMILLAN

highlight and write quick as a flash
TEXTAR more than just a highlighter
Switch from highlighting to jotting notes without changing pens. Textar comes in six bright fluorescent colors, each with a blue ballpoint pen.

Available now at your college store.

PUT US TO THE TEST!
LSAT · GMAT · GRE
MCAT · DAT
GRE PSYCH · GRE BIO
MAT · PCAT · OCAT
VAT · TOEFL · SSAT
PSAT · SAT
ACHIEVEMENTS · ACT
• Permanent Centers open days, evenings, weekends.
• Complete TEST-N-TAPE® facilities.
• Skilled instructors and dedicated, full-time staff.
• Homestudy materials constantly updated by Research Experts.
• Low Hourly Cost.
• Transfer privileges to over 120 locations.
NATIONAL MED BOARDS
MSKP · FMGEMS
FLEX · NDB · NPB
NCB · NCLEX-RN
CGFNS · CPA
SPEED READING
ESL INTENSIVE REVIEW
INTRODUCTION TO LAW SCHOOL
CLASSES FORMING NOW!
LSAT
GRE
GMAT
Stanley H. KAPLAN EDUCATIONAL CENTER
TEST PREPARATION SPECIALISTS SINCE 1938
In New York State: Stanley H. Kaplan Educational Center Ltd.
CALL DAYS, EVENINGS & WEEKENDS:
358 N. Pleasant
549-5780

Get on line without waiting in line.



"Unbelievable!"

It used to take enough time to type a homework for your computer class. To make a backup took even longer. You'd plan on getting precious time each time you want to get in line. And your odds on getting a printer by the time you need it are about the same as winning a Nobel Prize in Medicine.

That used to be what it was like to do your computer homework at the Computer Access Center.

16 chairs, no waiting!

The Computer Access Center is a unique workspace that offers everything you need to do all of your computer work in one place, at one time. We've set it up so that you don't have to consider it a "trip" to go there. Right in the center of Amherst (Rotary), you can get to it by bike, foot, car, bus, or helicopter (we provide the helipad). Inside, you'll find a terminal for the whole family.

The Access Center is, in fact, the only one in town equipped with computer and terminals complete with software that allows you to log onto Cybis, VAX or any other mainframe that you have the account for. In addition, there's letter-quality and dot-matrix printers for instant printouts, and experienced and knowledgeable computer professionals on duty to help you.

Of course the best part is that at Computer Access Center you don't have to waste precious time standing in line. Now you can plan ahead and reserve time on a terminal so that will be waiting just for you.

So what are you waiting for? Call today and see for yourself how easy and inexpensive renting time on a computer can be.

COMPUTER ACCESS CENTER INC.

ON SITE HOURLY/SEMESTER RENTALS 256-1213

29 South Pleasant Street, Amherst, MA (behind rear of Peter Pan terminal building)

Mon.-Thurs. 9 am-11 pm, Fri. 9 am-6 pm, Sat.-Sun. 10 am-6 pm

2 FREE HOURS OF COMPUTER TIME!

Call today, mention this ad and use one of our computers for two hours at no cost!

Offer good during business hours Monday through Friday until October 15th

TALK TO DRAPER

Wednesday, October 10, 1984
University of Massachusetts/Amherst

BS/MS/PhD Candidates — Join some of the nation's most respected and inventive people at developing innovative and fascinating new technologies. As a leading hands-on "working laboratory" in Technology Square, we offer a unique environment for your career to grow and develop. Positions are currently available for candidates in Electrical Engineering, Mechanical Engineering, Computer Science, Manufacturing Systems, and Robotics Automation in the following areas:

- Control Systems Design
- Software Development/ Evaluation
- Analog/Digital Design Engineering
- Spacecraft Dynamics
- Underwater Exploration Systems
- Structural Engineering
- Manufacturing Systems
- Robotics/Automation
- Guidance and Navigation Analysis
- Electronic System Engineering
- Optics
- Instrumentation System Development

We employ over 1800 top quality people — we need 70 more. If you're looking for a state-of-the-art professional challenge — we want to talk to you.

INFORMATIONAL GROUP MEETING* INTERVIEW SCHEDULE

Details available at your Placement Office. We are an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer, M/F. U.S. Citizenship required.

The Charles Stark Draper Laboratory, Inc.

- SALE - SALE - SALE - SALE - SALE - SALE

SPORT Style

SALE - SALE - SALE - SALE - SALE -

Photo by Dwayne Autery — Chris C. — Lisa M. — Lisa O. — John C.

Two Tone Hooded Sweatshirt - 25% OFF ONLY $13.46 Reg. $17.95

Assorted Colors

Open M-F 9-5 Sat 11-4

Located in the Campus Center

UNIVERSITY STORE

Bloom County by Berke Breathed

YAWN...
:CLICK!:
...LAST NIGHT IN ATLANTIC CITY, A JUBILANT STEPHEN DALLAS WAS CROWNED THE NEW 'MISTER AMERICA'...
THIS MORNING, AMERICA'S NEW STANDARD OF MANLINESS BEGAN THE FIRST DAY OF HIS REIGN WITH THE TRADITIONAL BREAKFAST IN BED...
HOW DO YOU FEEL THIS MORNING, YOUR MAJESTY?
ABSOLUTELY AWESOME!! GREAT!!

Gorde by Gorde

SALUTATIONS ONCE AGAIN! BECAUSE OF YESTERDAY'S STRIP WITH PRESIDENT REAGAN'S GUEST SPOT, I'VE BEEN ASKED BY THE DEMOCRATIC PARTY TO GIVE THEIR CANDIDATE EQUAL TIME. SO HERE HE IS, THE MAN WHO ALMOST HAD JOHNNY CARSON'S JOB, WALTER MONDALE!
HELLO... AMERICA, I'M WAL
HI FOLKS! GERRY HERE!
HI KIDS WHAT'S UP
HI MOM!
ECONOMY! ECONOMY ECONOMY! TAXES! TAXES! TAXES!
RIGHT, FRITZ?
VOTE FOR US!
US! US!
REMEMBER, THAT'S...
MONDALE
FERRARO IN 84'

Under Foot by Joe Bradbury

Ultra Mass by E.L.M.

You didn't show me the frat handshake. Is this it?
Could you send five boxes of University No frills sandpaper like the kind you have on your arm?
Um no response
you may have done in my lackeys Rush and Haze, but now you must answer to the HELL Knight
What's the question
E.L.M.

Darrin's Comic Strip by Darrin

I'm the attorney for Mark Rollins, creator of "The Umass Zone," and we believe we have a case against you for comic strip plagiarism.
#7
I'm with the slug
Your slug looks suspiciously similar to the slug in my client's comic strip last spring.
Bigot.
I'm Darrin's attorney and we'd like to settle out of court.

The Lab by Law

NOW BE COOL! ITS JUST A GIRL..JUST A DATE... HERE SHE COMES... RELAX... CALM..
HELLO WEEGEE
WEEBLE..UH ..WOO..WOO.. UM..WEEBA.. WOOO..UM...
DAUGHTER. HAVE YOU SEEN VEGEE?
HE'S OUTSIDE THE DOOR PRACTICING BIRDCALLS.

DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE

Edited by Trude Michel Jaffe

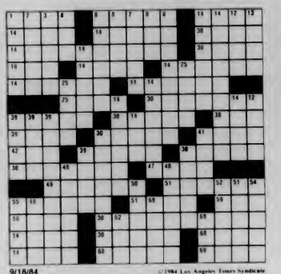
ACROSS
1 Publisher Henry
5 Sweetens the pot
10 Photographed
14 "The mind is like ——": Wilbur
15 Street show
16 Amazon estuary
17 One hit for a home run
19 With, in Cannes
20 Sweep
21 Lucille's son
22 Home to some wildlife
24 Coliseums
26 Nabokov novel
28 Vegetable
30 Classify again
33 Pour out copiously
36 Garden bloom
38 Literary collection
39 See to
40 Negri and namesakes
41 Comic Wilson
42 Food for Fido
43 Finger or toe
44 Flocks' pens
45 See 61 Across, as example
47 Neutral tone
49 More mysterious
51 Publicizing
55 Beach house
57 Nobleman
59 Tyro
60 Too bad!
61 Diamond performer
64 Dover delicacy
65 Belgian city
66 Took the subway
67 —— out (persevered)
68 Gnaw
69 Rumple

DOWN
1 African capital
2 German sub.
3 Director Frank
4 Numerical ending
5 Overdue debt
6 Collars
7 Linger behind
8 Teleost fish
9 Concerned mainly about others
10 Laconian capital
11 Really enjoy
12 Raw materials
13 Diplomat's asset
18 Formal command
23 Slick
25 Mamie Eisenhower, nee ——
27 High-flown
29 Farthest or highest point
31 Tennyson character
32 Pool measures
33 Greek walkway
34 Flippant
35 Alert
37 Ring king
40 Pathetic
41 "—— and twenty blackbirds..."
43 Actor Bruce
44 Trim for a chop
46 Chartered
48 Magic ——
50 Rent anew
52 "I believe ——"
53 Food and clothes
54 Skirt features
55 One way to pay
56 Lily's kin
58 Fish food
62 Architect's org.
63 Hurler's asset

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

A	N	A	G		A	L	A	M	P		P	L	A	N
M	A	N	O		C	E	D	A	R		R	I	L	E
A	T	T	R	A	C	T	I	V	E		E	L	A	N
S	O	I	G	N	E		B	E	C	O	M	I	N	G
		E	O	N	S		N	I	L	E
R	I	P	O	S	T	E		O	D	E	S	T
I	S	S	U	E		N	E	G	U	S		T	O	R
S	E	E	S		P	O	O	L	S		D	A	L	I
U	R	U		T	O	R	S	O		B	E	G	O	T
S	E	O	G	E	S		S	C	A	L	E	N	E
		O	R	S	O		S	A	R	T
C	H	A	R	M	I	N	G		S	I	G	M	A	S
H	O	L	O		B	E	W	I	T	C	H	I	N	G
O	N	T	O		L	I	E	N	S		T	R	O	I
P	E	O	N		E	N	N	E	A		S	O	N	S

9/18/84



9/18/84

©1984 Los Angeles Times Syndicate

MAYBE YOU CAN BE ONE OF US!

First Collegian Training Workshop for all new writers and those who wish to join our staff 6:30 pm, Monday, Sept. 17 at Campus Center 113 (Collegian Business Office).

Today's D.C. Menu

Lunch

Ham Grinder
Italian Shell Casserole

Basics Lunch

Vegetable Hot Pot
Humus Vegetable Pocket Sandwich

Basics Dinner

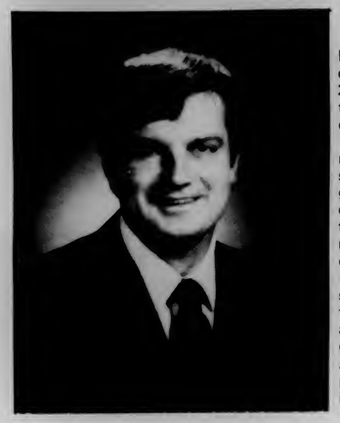
Cheese Nut Loaf/Mushroom Sauce
Chicken Cutlet/Supreme Sauce, Cranberry Sauce

Dinner

Chicken Cutlet/Supreme Sauce, Cranberry Sauce
Roast Lamb/Gravy, Mint Jelly
Tuna Salad Plate with Chips

PHIL MOKRZECKI

DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE FOR STATE SENATOR IN THE FRANKLIN-HAMPSHIRE DISTRICT



TUITION

I believe that TUITION for students at state colleges and universities must be reasonable and tuition increases must be within the rate of inflation. Students must not be forced to forfeit their education because they are priced out of the market by unreasonable tuition increases by the Board of Regents. Although there is a 7% cap on tuition increases for this fiscal year, the Legislature did not strip the Board of Regents of its authorization to hike tuition up to 15 percent thereafter. In 1983, my opponent, John Olver, received political contributions from 4 members of the Board of Trustees, and 2 Officers of the University, including President David C. Knapp.
The 4 members of the Board of Regents who made political contributions to my opponent, John Olver, in 1983 were Chairman James R. Martin, present chairman David J. Beauvien, Gerard F. Doherty, and John Fox. The 2 members of the Board of Trustees who made political contributions to my opponent in 1983 were Robert H. Quinn, Chairman, and Andrew C. Knowles, President of Lexidata Corp.

Born: July 20, 1948 in Northampton, Mass.

EDUCATION
Attended Hadley Public Schools

Graduated from Hopkins Academy - 1966

Graduated from the University of Notre Dame - 1970 - Cum Laude - With a Bachelor of Arts Degree: Major in History

Graduated from the University of Southern California, School of Law - 1973 - Juris Doctorate Degree

Active Member of the California Bar since June 18, 1974

Active Member of the Massachusetts Bar since June 11, 1975

PUBLIC SERVICE
One of three members of the Finance Committee of the Town of Hadley, 1976, 1977, 1978.
Elected Hadley Town Moderator in 1978, 1979, 1980, 1981, 1982, 1983, 1984.

INSURANCE

I believe that the time has come to put a lid on auto insurance rates which have risen over 23% during the past three years. In 1984, for those 750,000 drivers who buy only minimum coverage, rates will increase by 15%. In late 1983, the legislature passed a law which reversed a decision by Insurance Commissioner, Michael Sabbagh, that allowed the group marketing of auto insurance at rates estimated to be up to 28% below the cost of the same insurance on the conventional market. This law was a redraft of a bill originally filed by Senate Maj. Leader Daniel Foley (D-Worcester) at the request of his son, Daniel J. Foley, Jr., lobbyist for the Professional Insurance Agents of New England and protected millions of dollars in agent commissions.
At present, Western Massachusetts residents pay $50-$100 more than they should for car insurance because of bad drivers in the Eastern part of the state.
In 1983, my opponent received political contributions from at least 14 lobbyists, 2 insurance PACs, and James Martin, the Chairman of Mass. Mutual Insurance Co.

HAZARDOUS WASTE and ACID RAIN

I believe that we must have tough laws to combat hazardous wastes, acid rain and pollution. Despite the fact that Massachusetts produces anywhere from 190,000 TONS to 390,000 TONS of hazardous waste per year, it has no large scale hazardous waste treatment plant and ranks LAST among all industrial states in its ability to treat its own waste. Every six months, the four western counties of Mass. generate as much hazardous waste as Hooker Chemical buried in the Love Canal. Massachusetts currently spends one million dollars a year to add lime to the Quabbin Reservoir to neutralize its growing acidity, and that similar programs at lakes and ponds statewide cost $16 million dollars.

RULES REFORM

I support the ten proposals for legislatibe rules reform advocated by the coalition for Legislative Reform of which Common Cause is a member. John Olver HAS REFUSED TO SUPPORT these proposals for legislative reform. In fact, John Olver HAS REFUSED to even answer the coalition's questionnaire, whicj simply requires yes or or no answers to 10 questions. (The questionnaire was due June 25, 1984). John Olver could not find time to answer this simple questionnaire, but he did manage to find time to sign his own nomination papers, not once, but twice.
Further I FAVOR more roll call votes in the State Senate (presently 90% of all votes are unrecorded) and I would vote to televise Senate proceedings.

DEMOCRATIC PARTY SERVICE
Member of the Hadley Town Democratic Committee

Member Hampshire County Democratic Committee

Delegate to the 1984 Democratic State Convention in Worcester.

CAMPAIGN FINANCES

I have refused to accept any political contributions from PACs, Special Interest Groups, and Lobbyists. In 1983, my opponent John Olver accepted political contributions from 12 PACs, 13 Special Interest Groups, and 14 Lobbyists.
The 12 PACs represented such diverse groups as bankers, realtors, the automotive industry, and the insurance industry.
The 13 Special Interest Groups represented such various interests as Mass. Mutual Insurance, Wallace Racing Stables, Schoolhouse Farm, and 7 Associates Trust.
The 14 Lobbyists represented such employers as the City of Boston, Mass. Thoroghbred Breeders, Northeast Utilities Service Co., Mass. Municipal Wholesale Electric Co., Mass. Chain Drugstore Council, Grocery Manufacturers of America, Inc., Blue Cross of Mass., Inc.,Blue Shield of Mass., Inc., Tenn. Gas Pipeline Co., Wine & Spirit Wholesalers of Mass., Inc., Eastern Airlines, AT&T, Ogden Suffolk Downs, Boston University, and the Municipal Electric Association of Mass., Inc.

CHARACTER

A State Senator must be an individual of good moral character, be intellectually independent, and be willing to fight for the issues that he believes in, regardless of personal consequences. Here is what present and former colleagues have to say about John Olver. One says: "He hasn't spoken out strongly on an issue in five years." Another says: "He's lost his moral edge." and a third says: "The fight's gone out of him." (June, 1984 issue of the Boston Observer)

Here is what the June 1984 issue of the Boston Observer had to write about John Olver and I quote:

"At the legislature's constitutional convention last month, when house liberals were challenging Bulger, the presiding officer, over the question of live TV coverage, Olver stepped to the well to case his vote with the reformers, only to take it back almost instantly as Bulger glared down from the rostrum."

ROLL CALLS

In 1983, the record shows John OLver MISSED 11% of the roll calls in the State Senate. What would happen to you if you were absent from your job 11% of the time? John Olver's 1983 salary was $45,000.00 and he said in the Greenfield Recorder (8/25/84) "I earn every damn penny of my salary."

I WANT TO WORK FOR YOU, NOT THE POLITICAL BOSSES. PLEASE HELP ME ON ELECTION DAY SEPTEMBER 18th.
Debbie Omasta, 168 Bay Road, Hadley, MA.

COUPON-COUPON-COUPON
FREE 16 OZ. SODA
with purchase of whole sub.
the sub
The Kick Off
expires 9/24/84

Biggest Sale of the Year!
$25 OFF
ON JOSTENS GOLD COLLEGE RINGS.
See your Jostens representative.
Date: Sept. 17, 18, 19, 20 - Mon, Tue, Wed, Thur
Place: Outside Univ. Store
Time: 10-3:30 pm
Deposit: $15.00
GET A $25 REBATE ON YOUR JOSTENS GOLD COLLEGE RING.
UNIVERSITY STORE
©1984 Jostens, Inc

Tough weekend for UMass on land and in water

By MIKE LEVINE
Collegian Staff

CAMBRIDGE — The University of Massachusetts' water polo team dropped three games and won only one at the MIT Tournament on Saturday.
The Minutemen lost to the host team 8-7, to Amherst by a 7 6 score and to Iona 12-5. They defeated RPI in their final game, 10-6.

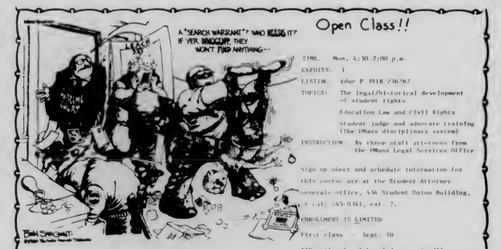
"I was disappointed, but we did accomplish our goal of getting the freshmen some experience in tight games," said coach Russ Yarworth.
different team when we play Amherst again on Tuesday (at Amherst)."
In cross country action at Boston College on Friday, both the UMass men's and women's teams lost to the Eagles by 16-52 and 18-75 scores respectively.
For the men, Jay Pancionne came on fifth to break up the Boston College dominance with a 25:57 over the five mile course. Fernando Braz won with a 25:23.

The UMass rugby team dropped its season opener to Manhattan Club of New York, 8-0, at Boyden Lower Fields on Saturday.
The visitors scored at the 35 min point to the first half as John Sullivan tallied. Sullivan scored again with ten minutes to go in the game to seal the win.

UMass was hurt by the ejection of Kevin Connors ten minutes into the second half, but flanker Stephan Rutherford played well for the Minutemen.
(Bud Verge and Alastair Atwood also contributed to this story.)

How the AP Top 20 fared

1. Nebraska (2-0), beat Minnesota 38-7
2. Clemson (2-0), did not play
3. Michigan (1-1), lost to Washington 20-11
4. Texas (1-0), beat Auburn 35-27
5. Iowa (1-1), lost to Penn. State 20-17
6. Miami (Fla) (3-1), beat Purdue 28-17
7. UCLA (2-0), beat Long Beach State 23-17
8. Brigham Young (3-0), beat Tulsa 38-15
9. Ohio State (2-0), beat Washington State 44-0
10. Boston College (2-0) did not play
11. Auburn (0-2), lost to Texas 35-27
12. Penn. State (2-0) beat Iowa 20-17
13. Oklahoma State (2-0), beat Bolling Green 31-14
14. Southern Methodist (1-0), beat Louisville 41-7
15. Oklahoma (2-0), beat Pittsburgh 42-10
16. Washington (2-0), beat Michigan 20-11
17. Pittsburgh (0-2), lost to Oklahoma 42-10
18. Fla. State (2-0), beat Kansas 42-16
19. Alabama (0-2), lost to Georgia Tech 16-6
20. Southern Cal. (1-0) did not play



Open Class!!
A "SEARCH WARRANT"? WHO NEEDS IT? IF YER BROKIN', THEY WON'T FIND ANYTHING...
TIME: Mon. 4:30-7:00 p.m.
CREDITS: 3
LISTING: Educ P 391B /36387
TOPICS: The legal/historical development of student rights
Education Law and Civil Rights
Student judge and advocate training (The UMass disciplinary system)
INSTRUCTION: By three staff attorneys from the UMass Legal Services Office
Sign up sheet and schedule information for this course are at the Student Attorney Generals office, 434 Student Union Building, Phone (545-0341, ext.).
ENROLLMENT IS LIMITED
First class — Sept. 10
No prior legal knowledge required
Schedule # - Educ P 391B 236387
Class 9/17 Campus Center room 904
LAW, HIGHER ED + STUDENT DISCIPLINE

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIED

Monday - Thursday 8:45 - 3:45 • Friday 8:45 - 2:30 • Cash in advance • 5 consecutive days 5% discount • 10 consecutive days 10% discount • 15 consecutive days 15% discount • phone number free

ADVERTISING
Advertise FREE in the RIVER VALLEY AD Advertise items you want to sell or buy. Call 532-9498

ASTROLOGY
Chart reading, counseling. Will travel to Amherst for appointments North Greenfield Astrologer/ Counseling 413 773-3493

ATTENTION WE'RE HIRING DJ'S
RACK A DISC RACK A VIDEO is hiring DJ's. Send resume to: PO Box 48, Amherst, MA 01004

AUTO FOR SALE
'73 Saab 96 A classic! BO $ 4548 /4563

1977 VW Scirocco, 4 spd AC 60,000 mi $1500 or best offer 546 4745

1978 Honda Civic blue new muffler & brake AM FM cassette, perfect body & engine, $1200 or BO call 549-1738

1978 Ford Fiesta S, original owner, excellent condition, service records $1700 774-7366 evenings

VW Camper 1973 excellent shape, new engine nattery muffler 253 7901 evening 7 to 10

1978 Pontiac LeMans, AM FM cassette stereo, cruise, $2950 best offer 256-1291

1976 Chevy Malibu, 2 door hardtop. In good running condition. Best offer over $1,000. call 549-0528

1972 Pontiac Ventura dependable passed June inspection $600 00 best offer 549-2690

'81 VW Rabbit Covertible; 35 mpg. AM FM cass stereo, lifetime rustproof new shocks and exhaust, must sell. 788 0000

1973 Malibu good engine no body rust call for details 549 4354 late eves $800 or BO

BOLTWOOD PROJECT
Students needed for programs with the developmentally disabled Credit available Valuable experience Info Meetings 9 17, 9 20, 2 26 7 pm CC rm 917

$ $ EARN $650 $ $
Make $650 while eating home cooked meals How can you go wrong? Call Jim Houston at 545-2150

EMT'S
Come to the Fire & First Aid Unit Meeting. Monday Sept 17 at 9:00 PM Cover concerts, football games, many out door activities. CPR recert, CEU's and a good time too! Morrill 4 North. Rm 406

ENTERTAINMENT
VIDEO VIDEO VIDEO VIDEO Rack A Video entertainment giant 10 and 15 foot screens for dorms and Greeks "MTV" video music call 549 7144

Rack A Disc Rack A Video entertainment guaranteed events for Disc Jockeys, Bands and Video. Call 549-7144

WICKED AND WILD DJ's audio and visual entertainment for the 80's 584 5712

FOR SALE
SOUNDESIGN STEREO Originally $900 2 years old $469 Dresser $40 253 3682

Apartment furniture! Bed, dresser, book-case, mirrors, chairs etc. 256-0682 after 5 pm

Sachs Moped 1981 very good condition drive on campus! $375 253 2284 Caroline

Speakers AR 18 perfect size for dorm room in great cond. powerful 100 wt capability Great sound $100 call Rick 253 2720

Sylvania 19 inch color TV $150 please call 253-2410

Portable typewriter for sale call 549 1358 Ingrid

Dorm refrigerator one year old after 5 PM any day 549-7189

1980 Honda CX500DL helmet & luggage included $1300 call Chris (eves) 665-2445

12 speed Fuji for sale fine running condition $100 549 5456

Terminal Bantem 550 with Modem Good condition Perfect for COINS 121/123 $300 Call Mike 546-6917

Guitar Music Man Sabre Maple neck active electronics Like new with case $300 Amp - Peavey Bandit, 2 years old 50W, 12 speaker, active tone controls $150 or $400 for both Mike 546-6917

HELP WANTED
Maintenance parson wanted 2 hrs per day, Mon Fri mornings Duties include cleaning, office and maintaining equipment Apply in person 9 4 Mon Fri at 113 CC (Collegian office)

House people wanted for light cleanup at Fraternity Mon thru Sun Free meals and more. Call Mark after 4 549-3744

Attention! Public Relations, Journalists, Graphic Designers The SGA Communications Office is now hiring Great opportunity to develop your portfolio! WS and non WS jobs available See Kelley Riley in 423 Student Union for application. Deadline is 9/21/84

Local advertising agency seeks student intern. Call 586 2135

Homecooked meals exchanged for kit chen help 10 hours a week call 253 9071 ask for Wheaty

Homemakers, Home Health Aide positions available immediately Part time, flexible hours Free training offered Call Home Care Services for more information 585-3896

Redemption Staff. Be part of the only student run redemption service in Mass Experience with cash handling & numbers Must have license & workstudy Apply 306 SUB 545-0618

Housepersons wanted for Sorority free meals in exchange for kitchen clean up call 256-6874

Work study positions Union Video Center S U B no experience req

Superior Pizza now hiring drivers see Chris

Student Rep wanted. earn commission and travel. Lowest prices on campus. Town Tours 617-321-3993

Mechanical aptitude and workstudy required. Apply in person 9 4 Mon Fri at 113 CC (Collegian office)

Montreal Weekend Party Nov 2-4 $68. includes RT transportation from your campus, 3 says 2 nights hotel in DT Montreal Welcome Party all taxes and tips drinking age 18 optional Bruins Montreal tickets call today TOWN TOURS 482 Main St Malden, MA 617 321-3993

INSTRUCTION
Know your car. Basic Automobile Workshop 28 hours including classroom and shop Limited enrollment 253-2098

LOST
Class Ring 85 black onyx parents will s me call Dean of Students Office or Sturl ·-l Affairs Office 5-2684

!!!Big Reward!!! Black Rolex divers watch between Boyden Lower Tennis Courts and Cance, Southwest 546-5094

MANICURIST WANTED
Manicurist wanted for new nail salon in Amherst call office 1 283 3537

MOTORCYCLES
1977 Kawasaki KZ400 fully dressed new tune up, mufflers, tires, battery must sell $500 Greg 253-47205

1975 Honda CB360T, 16800 miles, new tires, chain, battery last year $500/BO 549-0437

PERSONALS
If you can swim 200 laps run 4 miles, and bike to man made, why can't you cross campus to say hello?

Contact Lenses Replaced Most brands $20 $25 Dr Spencer University Drive 256-8561

FB. Happy 22nd B Day I love having you around you are a great person I love you. Walker P S keep up the good work!

Janet missed you — Pete

RIDE WANTED
Ride from Carriage Shops to Northwood Apts on Mon and Tu after midnight Call evenings 253-9884 (M, Tu, F) or 665-4623 Ask for Mike

ROOMMATE WANTED
Desireable, $100.00 $200.00 monthly Negotiable. Northampton Busline. Sharon: 586-7750, Joel 1-532-4536

Male wanted to share 2 bedroom Presidential Apartment low rent 549-2808

Female to share one bedroom in two bedroom Southwood Apt Call Beth or Cathy at 256-1619

****

Sports

The women's golf team is looking for members. Anyone interested should call coach Jack Leamen at 5-1301 for more information. All levels are welcome.

Women blast Plymouth St.

DePauw nets two

By PETER ABRAHAM
Collegian Staff

Freshman Jolie DePauw scored two goals to pace the University of Massachusetts' women's soccer team to an easy 5-0 victory over Plymouth State on Saturday.

The women, now 2-0 on the season, have a week off before the tough Cortland State tournament on Saturday.

"It was a tough game in the sense that we had to keep our heads in the game and not play below our level," said coach Kalekeni Banda.

DePauw scored her first collegiate goal in the first half to open the scoring. She was assisted by Chris Bowsher.

"We're in the second phase of our plans. We'll find out where we stand, and I hope we're on firm ground."
—Coach Kalekeni Banda

Carolyn Michael Mitchell made it 2-0 assisted by Monica Feta and UMass ended the first half ahead 2-0. Goalie Lisa Ellis faced only one shot as UMass outshot the outmanned New Hampshire team, 12-2.

The second half saw DePauw take a pass from Debbie Belkin and make it 3-0 before All-American Lori Stukes netted her second goal of the season assisted by Chris Schmitt.

Kathy Spence finished the barrage assisted by Sandy Stripp. Jeanne Paul played flawless in the net, making only one save, UMass had a 29-2 advantage in shots.

"The freshmen we have (UMass starts six) are making good progress," said Banda. "We have to work on our consistency a little bit more, we faced two easy teams this week compared to the rest or our schedule."

"But at this last season, we had scored only one goal and now we've scored nine goals," noted Banda. "I like the way the offense is producing and the defense has two shutouts, so I believe we're way ahead of schedule."

"We're in the second phase of our plans," said Banda. "We'll find out where we stand now, and I hope we're on firm ground."

UMass 5, Plymouth St. 0

UMass	2	3	-	5
Plymouth St.	0	0	-	0

Shots: UMass: 29
Plymouth St.:2

Saves: Ellis (1) and Paul (1) (UM): 2 Smith (PS):10

Scoring: UM: DePauw (2), Micheel (1), Stukes (1), Spence (1) PS: no scoring

UMass' Ferdie Adoboe leads to the ball against BU last week. Umass tied Dartmouth 1-1 on Saturday in N.H.

Men's soccer dominates game, but settles for 1-1 deadlock

By SCOTT HOOD
Collegian Staff

Hanover N.H.
Frustration.

Such is a perfect word to describe Saturday afternoon in northern New Hampshire for the University of Massachusetts men's soccer team.

No, they didn't lose. But they didn't win either, splashing their way in the rain to a 1-1 tie with Dartmouth College in a game the Minutemen could have, and should have won.

Except for the first ten minutes and the final fifteen of regulation, UMass totally dominated the Big Green, creating many good scoring opportunities. But, a Kurt Manal goal, his third of the season, off a rebound at 61:24 was all the Minutemen could muster against Dartmouth goalie Xan Garlic.

Offensively, UMass was more than adequate. Unfortunately, their only problem was the most glaring: they simply couldn't put the ball in the net. Garlic diving to make a save was a familiar scene by the end of the game.

From the opening whistle, UM went on the attack. Matt Cushing and Peter Geddes were denied early. At the 22-minute mark Tom Giordano kicked the ball at the near post, but Garlic stretched to knock it away. UMass' best chance in the half came when Gedde drilled a direct kick, which Garlic blocked. UMass got their licks in the ensuing scramble, for the rebound.

The opening minutes of the second half produced a replay of the first. The ice was finally broken when Giordano boomed a shot which Garlic dove to stop and Manal swooped in and put the loose ball into the right corner.

Around the 75-minute mark Dartmouth took control as UMass struggled to protect the lead by playing defensive soccer. The Big Green broke through with 10 minutes left on a corner kick. A group of players, including Dartmouth's Julian Okwa, who was credited with the goal, jumped for the ball and somehow the ball ended up behind UMass goalie Don Donahue in the right corner.

"I'm disappointed to give up a goal like that, but if we had scored the times we should have, it wouldn't matter," said UMass head coach Jeff Gettler.

"Once they scored the tying goal we tried to pick them (UMass) up and keep them on the offensive end. After our goal we lost a bit and they started to come back, which resulted unfortunately in the goal on the restart," said UM assistant coach Chris Baumann.

With six minutes left, Manal hit the crossbar and with Garlic down, Cushing had an open net on the rebound, but kicked the ball over the goal. The two teams exchanged opportunities in overtime, but neither was able to unknot the score.

"We're not totally satisfied, but there are some things within the game that we are satisfied with," said assistant coach Bob Barry.

"On the forward line we were getting the shots out of our people and I think we were very unlucky. Surely, we're not satisfied with the tie, but we're satisfied with the creating of shots we had."

UMass 1, Dartmouth 1

UMass	0	1	0	- 1
Dartmouth	0	1	0	- 1

Shots: UMass: 21
Dartmouth: 15

Saves: Donahue (UM): 6, Garlic (D):11
Scoring: UM Manal (3), D. Okwu (1)

Spikers have tough weekend; finish third in tourney

By ROGER CHAPMAN
Collegian Staff

"It was a real struggle."

That's how head coach Elaine Sortino described this weekend's UMass Invitational volleyball tournament. The Minutemen placed third out of a field of twelve with a 3-2 record, beating Salem State, Clark University, and the University of Vermont in the consolation final.

The spikers dropped games to the University of Hartford and the eventual winners, Bryant College.

In their first match, UMass dominated a Salem State Club, 15-1 and 15-11 behind consistent serving, hitting and blocking.

"We really played well against Salem", said Sortino. "We transitioned well and just did everything we wanted to."

UMass then dropped back-to-back matches to Bryant and Hartford. Those losses ended any Minuteman hopes of winning the tourney title, and placed the spikers into the consolation bracket.

In the first consolation match, UMass met Clark University. It was here when the Minutemen played their best volleyball, promptly disposing of Clark by scores of 15-7 and 15-6.

"Clark was our best match of the tournament", said Sortino, "I was very pleased, especially with our blocking."

That set-up a UMass Vermont consolation final. UVM took the first game by a narrow 15-13 count mainly due to Minuteman miscues.

But game two proved to be a different story, as UVM jumped out to a 6-3 lead behind good serving. But a UMass rally, spearheaded by an overpowering Sally Maher put the spikers back on top 9-6. With the score at 11-10, UMass, Mickey Barys stepped up and served UMass to a 15-10 win.

Game three served as a serving clinic for Marcy Guiliotis. The 5-foot-8 freshman rallied the spikers from a 5-2 deficit to an 8-5 lead UMass would never lose.

pro scores

Football: Patriots 38, Seattle 23 N.Y. Jets 43, Cincinnati 23 Washington 30, Giants 14

Baseball: Mets 9, Chicago 3 Red Sox 5, Yankees 3 Minnesota 2, Texas 1, Kansas City 4, Seattle 2

NUMMO NEWS

connected with the Collegian for the sole purpose of distribution

Monday, September 17, 1984 Volume 13 Issue 2

CCEBMS/BCP Welcome New Staff

by Marilyn Bou
Nummo Staff

The Billingual Collegiate Program and the Collegiate Commitee for the Education of Black and Minority Students have hired three new employees,respectively.

Kathy Mullins, former office manger for the B.C.P. has been promoted inter-departmentally to the position of Business Manager. Mullins worked closely for over a year with Angel Garcia, former Business Manager. During this time Mullins said "I got to know, appreciate, and understand the components of the program, and feel qualified for the position."

Mullins is a graduate of Berkshire Community College with an Associates degree in Legal Studies, and a UMass alunmni with a dual major in Physical Anthropology and Spanish literature. Being business and working in conjunction with Dr. Benjamin Rodriguez director of the program, she said, "we are able to run a very successful program overall".

Mullins said working with the students in the program is a pleasurable and rewarding experience, "with everyone working as a unit the program is sure to have a pleasurable experience as well as enhancing the community as a whole this year."

B.C.P. is an excellent tool for students to become involved with one another in academic as well as social areas. Mullins said. She added "B.C.P. brings people together who otherwise would not be able to find on such large campus peers of their own cultures and backgrounds with whom they are able to relate, learn from, and open new doors.

B.C.P. as well as Ahora, a Hispanic organization on camus, will be celebrating their tenth anniversary the week of September 29th through October 6th. The week has been officially proclaimed as Billingual week by Governer Dukakis. Mullins said "it is going to be a wonderful, exciting and culturally affair that will bring together culturally diverse groups within a schedule of events." She said the events will be an education opportunity as well as a chance for the university community, the state and the nation to come together to share the success of bilingual education and minorites in higher education.

Doris Clemmons is the new academic advisor for CCEBMS. Clemmons, a university alumni has been employed by the university for twelve years. She worked for the Department of Government Documents where she advised students, faculty and staff on information in the library system.

She took the position in CCEBMS out of a desire to work in a more professional atmosphere. "All departments on campus should work toward a common goal of providing the students to finding their place in life, since universities are molding the future minds of America." Clemmons said. She finds the New Africa House to be a close community which will enable her to successfully fulfill her responsibilities as advisor. "I am here to assist students in making their experiences at the University as enjoyable and educational as possible." she said.

Clemmons asks Christian students not to forget how they were raised and to remember that with Christ there isn't a problem that can not be overcome. "Whatever goal you set for yourself, you will be able to make a reality." she said.

CCEBMS has also hired a new assistant director, Carol Young. Young is also a UMass alumni with a master of arts in education and counseling.

Young was co-chairperson of the American Asian Students Association. Her responsibilities at CCEBMS include working closely with Paul Barrows CCEBMS director, and Rick Townes, Assistant Director. Young is responsible for coordinating a peer advising program for Asian Americans on campus. "The program is much like a big brother/big sister, she explains. The program will use volunteer upperclass students to advise and assist underclass people.

"It is important for students to have a place to go where they feel welcomed, supported and comfortable, the New Africa House symbolizes that for many minorities." Young said. She added, "it's important for students to participate and contribute on a philosophical as well as on a physical level.

Young said a staff can make an organization function, but without student's imput it cannot be successful

Free Style Breakers and other youngsters from various Western Mass. communities came together at Bowker Auditorium,Saturday to participate in a breakdance competition sponsored by the Commuter Area Government. photo by Segun Eubanks

Writer Speaks on Ethnicity

By Yadira Betances

"Writing is both therupedical and the best method for dispelling sterotypical attitudes about ethnic minorities in the United States," said Nicholasa Mohr, a Puerto Rican fiction writer who spoke at the University of Massachusetts last Wednesday.

Mohr, a native from New York, has written from a personal perspective to educate about the Puerto Rican experience as an ethnic minority in the American society. But she said she "feels lonely and isolated," in the writing world. She wished there were more Hispanics writing about their experiences.

"People are introduced to Puerto Ricans in my literature. They are ready to know about the Puerto Rican experience," she said citing the excess mail she receives from the continental U.S. Although she sees poetry as a way of expressing concern, she said. "Poetry makes s short statement," she said. "There should be more writers and playwrights." Mohr, writes about her personal experiences disguised as fiction. She has never attempted to be a voice for all Puerto Ricans. "Being a woman and being here is what I write about," she said.

Continued on page 2

1900: N·A·A·C·P· Aids Legal Cases

by Julian Tynes
Nummo Staff

Part 2 of a series on the history of the N.A.A.C.P.

During the early part of the twentieth century, whenever a Black was arrested, the accused was customarily identified by race. Other offenders, whether Polish, German, Italian, etc. were never identified by race. Examples of this were headlines such as "Negro Hold Up, Artist Arrested." and "Black Hood Mugs Older Citizens." Other than crime, Blacks were seldom mentioned in newspaper articles.

During its first year of existence, the N.A.A.C.P. attempted to change this situation. As a result, the Associated Press orded there be no emphasis on race or religion in its crime stories.

The first major legal case the N.A.A.C.P. handled was filing a petition in 1910, for the pardon of Pink Franklin, a black sharecropper in South Carolina. Franklin had been mistreated by his former employer and as a result moved to another farm to work. A warrant was then issued for his arrest. In moving he had allegedly violated a South Carolina law which forbade a share cropper to leave his employer after receiving an advance in his wages. An officer and his assistant force their way into Franklin's cabin after midnight. The policemen did not state their purpose and Franklin did not know who they were. A shoot-out occured and one officer died a few hours later as a result of a bullet from Franklin's gun. Pink Franklin was found guilty of homicide and sentenced to be executed. His case was taken to the Supreme Court and the court upheld the decision saying none of Franklin's constitutional rights had been denied. It was at this point the N.A.A.C.P. interceded, filing a petition with the Governer of South Carolina requesting a pardon. The Governer changed the sentence to life imprisonment. The organization felt that though the Governer had done a curageous act in changing the sentence, a life sentence was junjust and Franklin should have been released. The N.A.A.C.P. had the case reopened in 1915 and in January 1919. Pink Franklin was granted a parole and became a free man.

The N.A.A.C.P. also cooperated with another organization the Negro Fellowship League, in the Steve Green extradition case. Steve Green was a laborer who had moved his family from Arkansas to Tennesee in 1910. After a few months there was a large increase in his rent, so Greene and his family, and many other tenants moved. Greene was told by his former employer that if he did not work for him, he wouldn't work anywhere in the state. Greene did not return. One day soon after, his former employer rode up and shot him. Greene ran into his house, grabbed his rifle, and killed his assailant. He immediatly fled. His friends supplied him with enough food, money, and other neccesities to go to Chicago. However, while in Chicago he was betrayed, and arrested on a false charge of larceny. Greene was given no food or water for four days, while being questioned about the Arkansas shooting. He attempted suicide, and became so weak he had to be placed in a hospital

The Negro Fellowship League and the N.A.A.C.P. became involved, providing legal counsel for his defense. But when the Arkansas sheriff demanded that Greene be sent via extradition papers back to Arkansas both organizations fearing Greene's execution helped him escape to Canada.

The N.A.A.C.P.'s third legal case, its first year, involved Thomas Williams. Williams was arrested in November of 1910 and charged with the murder of an eleven year old white girl at Asbury Park, New Jersey. There was no evidence against him, he had merely been sighted near the scene of the crime. While investigating the case, the organization found out Williams had been beaten and tortured in an attempt to make him confess. After completing the investigation, the organization helped secure Williams' release due to lack of evidence.

As a result of these early victories the young organization attracted many new supporters and members. Encouraged by early successes the organization stepped into new frontiers fighting for desegregation, voting rights, and anti-lynching laws as well as the right to an equal education

Continued from page 1

Mohr is a feminist. "Feminism has always been a part of me." She became a feminist when she noticed how different she and her brothers were treated. Her mother mapped her feministic values. "She was an inspiration, not a role model." Mohr said her mother saw her as more than someone's mate.

In Rituals of Survival: A women's perspective and Going Home her lastest writings due out in 1985, Mohr explores issues never uncovered before. In Rituals of Survival she introduces the reader to the strengths amid struggles of the Puerto Rican woman. She hopes the book "dispells the stereotypical attitudes towards us as women and Hispanic." Going Home, a sequel to Felita, Mohr surfaces the problem between islanders and Puerto Rican Americans. In the story, Felita encounters hostility and mistrust from her people when she visits the island in search of the paridise her grandmother spoke so much of.

"I hope they have the same awareness as the other books had," Mohr said. Mohr finds Puerto Ricans to be nomads. She said they migrate to the island in search of identity and security. "These are questions never spoken about. They're finally coming out."

• • • NUMMO STAFF • • •

Segun Eubanks	Editor In Chief
Marilyn G. Bou	Managing Editor
Yvonne Mendez	Layout Editor
Marc Elliot Giles	Photo Editor
Julian Tynes	Researcher
Lisa Viega	Business Manager
Nina Cordova	Administrative Assistant
Lisa Huff	Typesetter
Judy Russ	Typesetter

• • • Contributors • • •

Ed Cohen	Photographer
Darlene Jackson	Correspondent
Yadira Betances	Correspondent

Special thanks to Darlene Jackson, Andrea Baker, Rod Clark and all who participated in the NUMMO Open House.

Address all letters to the Editor to: Nummo News, New Africa House Room 103

POETRY

THE NEED FOR PROTEST
a poem for my people of Latin America

Brothers and sisters,
There must be protest!

Why protest?

There must be protest
so there will be peace in the world to calm children's hunger and quench our thirst for justice.

There must be protest
to wipe out racism and sexism, to stomp out poverty
and to combat capitalism.

Finally, there must be protest to liberate ourselves of foreign oppression.

Why protest?
We need to protest!
There must be protest, there must be protest to save our nations!

By Yadira Betances

La necesidad de la protesta
Un pema para mi gente de Latino America
Por Yadira Betances

Hermanos y hermanas,
hay que protestar!

Por que protestar?

Hay que protestar?
para que haya paz en el mundo para calmar el hambre delos ninos
y para saciar nuestra sed de justicia.

Hay que protestar
para aplacar el racismo y el sexismo, para pisotear la pobreza
y vencer el capitalismo.

En fin, hay que protestar, para liberarnos
de invasiones extrangeras

Por que protestar?
Necesitamos la protesta!
Hay que protestar, hay que protestar para lograr nuestra indepencia!!

What happened around Umass last week?

Check pages 6 and 7 !!!!!

Roving Reporter

ALONZO FEEMAN(left) and TRACY BROWNE

by Segun Eubanks
Nummo Staff

Nummo News asked the following group of Black Fresmen what their first impression of UMass was:

SYLVIA GOMES

Alonzo Freeman from Randolph Ma., says:

"I like UMass. It's a nice big school, and the people seem cool. The reason I came here is because my cousin went here, and said it was a good school. The classes are righteous. I'm an Engineering major anc my classes are very challenging."

Sylvia Gomes from New Bedford, Ma. says:

"It's a big school, but the people seem friendly. The only thing I don't like are the co-ed bathrooms. I get lost alot but I play it off. I use the library as my guide and use my map because people send us (freshmen) to the wrong places."

ROCHELLE VICTOR

Tracy Browne from New Jersey says:

"I feel it's a good school, and I will enjoy myself here I had a very good first impression, when I visit las year, that's why I'm here now. The classes are hard but I know I can deal with them."

Rochelle Victor from New Bedford, Ma. says:

"My first impression is that I'm never going to find my classes."

Introducing- Nummo Sports Talk

by Julian Tynes
Nummo Staff

This is a new column in Nummo on sports for all of you dedicated Black sports fans.

So what did you think of the Summer OLympics? There were a lot of bright spots for Black atheletes. Did you realize every Gold Medal in track that the U.S.A. won, was won by a Black athelete?Even with the Soviet led boycott many of those Gold Medals would have stayed in the possesion of the U.S.

What about the mens and womens basketball teams? Blacks dominated both teams. With Cheryl Miller leading the women and Michael Jordan leading the men, there wasn't a close game for the U.S. in the whole tournament.

What about Carl Lewis and his four Gold Medals? Very impressive, but it makes you realize how great Jesse Owens was, and appreciate Owens accomplishment. Owens was completing in the "Nazi" Olympics of 1936. He almost single handedly destroyed the myth of "Ayran supremacy." Suprisingly unlike Lewis, Owens was not looked upon as a possibility to win 4 gold medals.

Looking at current sports news, Franco Harris is cut by Pittsburgh! Franco Harris!! He of the "immaculate reception." Here is a man who toiled for this team for 12 years, but they "no longer feel he fits in.!" The owners complain about a lack of loyalty, where is their loyalty?

Another example of this is the recent article in the Collegian urging the Red Sox to trade Jim Rice. Rice has been one of the most consistent hitters in Baseball over the last 10 years. You can practically mail in a minimum 2.80 - 2.90 batting average 30 hrs and 110 RBI's before the season even starts.

Yet now, because the man wants to be paid along the same lines as others with similar statistics, they say trade him. Well remember this, consistency is what separates Rice from Armas, Evans, Buckner, Boggs, Gedman, etc...He does the job year in, year out. Rice is having a mediocre year for his standards yet he is still among the league leaders in HR's. and RBI's. Trade him and watch im lead another team to a pennant, maybe a World Series.

SPORTS UPDATE: The Hitman is back! Thomas Hearns the W.B.C. junior middleweight champion destroyed Fred Hutchings knocking him out in 3 rounds. Hutchings barely survived the first round, when he was knocked down twice. The Hitman kept up the pressure nearly finishing the fight in the second round.However, Hutchings kept tying Hearns up in order to survive the round.

The third round began with both fighters attempting to stick and move. Then Hearns stunned Hutchings with an overhand right and proceeded to pummel him with combinations. Before Hutching was seriously hurt, referee Arthur Meccante ended the fight. Don't worry fight fans, this was one fight that should have been stopped.

Hearns later said, he felt he was stronger than Hutchings so he decided to use his punching power. When asked about middle weight champion Marvin Hagler. Hearns said "I know Hagler's watching." "He knows his time is coming, just like everyone else the Hitman will get to him too." In the wake of his 3 round T.K.O. of Fred Hutchings (the number 3 contender!) and his stunning second round knockout of Roberto Duran. (the only time Duran has ever been knocked out) perhaps Marvin Hagler should beware, The Hitman is back!

THIS IS US:

MEDIA

DRUM

DRUM is a Black literary publication started in 1969 by a group of Black students at the University of Massachusetts. The magazine, focusing on cultural and political issues, was a self run publication throughout the early 70's. Now, with the assistance of artist Nelson Stevens, DRUM has been incorporated into the Afro-American Studies Department as a three credit course.

With the help of Afrik-Am and the Third World Caucus, DRUM will be able to publish another fine magazine. All Third World students are encouraged to participate in this year's production. Those students with an interest in writing, photography and lay-out are deeply encouraged to join DRUM. With your help we can continue to build a stronger DRUM.

NUMMO NEWS

Nummo News, which is the UMass Third World community's only independent newspaper, was founded in 1975 by a group of Black students who felt that the Collegian was not representing the interests of Third World students.

Nummo thrives to be the printed voice of the Third World community in and around the 5-College valley. Community events and issues that are important to Third World students are published and distributed in every Monday's edition of the Collegian.

Nummo is located in 103 New Africa House, 545-0061.

BLACK AFFAIRS - A department of the Massachusetts Daily Collegian responsible for providing a fair and accurate view of the news and information petaining to the Third World community on campus.

CONCEPTO LATINO, Student Union, (413)545-2179:

C.L. provides the five college radio listening audience with a wide spectrum of music, both traditional and contemporary, from Latin American.

BLACK MASS COMMUNICATION PROJECT (BMCP)

BMCP provides the University of Massachusetts and the Five-College area with Third World programming, in the area of music and public affairs. BMCP,created twelve years ago, came about due to the lack of Black programming on the UMass radio station; WMUA. Today, BMCP continues to provide Black music and broadcasting throughout the Pioneer Valley.

Stressing the need for Black music and information--news, BMCP encourages all Third World students who are interested in radio or television communications to join the organization. BMCP will train students to work in the radio station, plus teach editing and TV production.

CULTURAL/ POLITICAL

THE AFRIKAN-AMERICAN STUDENTS SOCIETY

Afrik-Am is the major Black cultural organization on the UMass campus. It dictates solely to the cultural and political needs of the Black community. Afrik-Am operates as an educational and support network to the few Black students on the Amherst campus. In the past, Afrik-Am has been able to fund other organizational groups for educational and cultural events.

Sincerely happy to serve the Black community at UMass, Afrik-Am extends a welcoming hand to all new and returning Third World students. Afrik-Am plans to provide the Third World community with a stimulating school year. As within the past, Afrik-Am will continue to invite guest speakers to the University, plus provide debates and disscussions for Third World students and the school in general.

NATIONAL SOCIETY OF BLACK ENGINEERS:

N.S.B.E. was formed to advance, stimulate, and develop Black and ethnic minority interest in engineering and to assist with all levels of responsibility in the advancement within the engineering disciplines.

ASIAN AMERICAN STUDENTS ASSOCIATION

The Asian American Students Association (AASA) is a registered student organization. It was founded in spring of 1974 by students in order to promote the presence of Asian Americans and also to strenghen the ties between them.

AASA has been active in programs of interest not only to the Asian American community, but of interest to all. AASA has sponsored the visits of distinguished speakers such as Yuri Kochiyama, U.S. District Judge Robert Takasogi and Liz Young. Some other activities the Association has sponsored include intercollegiate club basketball tournaments, the annual Asian Talent Night and Party and a film and theatre series involving Asian Americans. These and many other social and cultural events are held as the result of commited students.

AHORA

AHORA was born out of the desire of the members of the Spanish speaking community, including students, faculty, and the community in general, to have an organized and united voice in speaking to thos issues which affect thier lives.

AHORA is composed of various cultural groups tied together by a common language. With this knowledge in mind, AHORA openly strives to create a flexibility of structure, a respect for diversity of opinion, and an atmosphere of freedom to express one's views in a democratic and open environment within the framework of our organizational goals.

AHORA is organized exclusively as a perpetual organization for charitable, educational, cultural and scientific purposes, to serve the Spanish-speaking students and communities of Western Massachusetts.

ASIAN AMERICAN PEER ADVISING PROGRAM

The Asian American Peer Advising Program has been established by CCEBMS to aid incoming Asian American students in adapting to University life.

The Peer Advisors are upper-class students who volunteer their time to help a small group of the new students. Not only can experience be shared, but also new friendships may develop.

Highlights of Third World Organizations

Study groups, workshops and casual get togethers are some of the activities the Program sponsors. The stress of the first year at school can be alleviated by the help of fellow students like the Asian American Peer Advising Program.

For more information on this program, contact; Carol Young or Jeff Mar at CCEBMS, 213 New Africa House, 545-0031.

OFFICE OF THIRD WORLD AFFAIRS

The OTWA is the only University Office primarily charged with protecting and promoting the political and cultural interests of Third World students on campus. The office is funded by the Student Senate and its general policies are approved and directed by the Senate's Third World Caucus. The office advises Third World students on creating or maintaining organizations; assists in advocating and promoting issues relevant to their interest and dealing with problems blocking these interests. They maintain extensive files on educational, social and political issues. They are committed to working to further a University environment free from the diseases of racism, sexism, and injustices against people of color. Room 308 Student Union, 545-2517.

UHURU

This performing arts ensemble offers an opportunity for Third World community members at the University to aquire a broad-based knowledge of procedures necessary to execute a full-scale stage production.

AFRICAN STUDENTS ASSOCIATION,

New Africa House: A.S.A. devises and cultivates closer relationships among African students in the five college area so they may study fundamental problems facing African countries and find solutions.

CAPE VERDEAN STUDENTS ALLIANCE,

New Africa House, (413) 545-0031: C.V.S.A. is committed to promoting cultural, political, and historical programs in order to maintain a sence of cultural identity at the University.

THIRD WORLD CAUCUS

The Third World Caucus is the main legislative body that represents the Third World community in the Undergraduate Senate at UMass. This representation helps to insure diversity by promoting Third World student interest and unity.The Third World came into existence in the late 1960's in responce to the struggle waged by Third World students to correct the exclu-sionary practices of the UMass Undergraduate Student Senate.

The caucus serves as the governing board of the Office of Third World Affairs. It maintains communication with Third World organizations and assists them with their organizational goals. For more information, please pay us a visit at 417 New Africa House or call 545-2157.

CENTERS

MALCOLM X CULTURAL CENTER

The Malcolm X Center, one of the largest Third World centers on The UMass campus, was started in the early 70's by a group of Black students who petitioned the Southwest Area Government for space and funding. The center within the past has served as a meeting place for Black and Third World students.

With an emphasis on programming, the Malcolm X Cultural Center offers Third World students cultural and political activities throughout the school year, along with two or three academic courses per semester. Also, the Center has provided Undergraduate and Graduate students with work-study positions. Located in the basement of Berkshire Dining Commons, Southwest.

MARTIN LUTHER KING JR. CULTURAL CENTER

The Martin Luther King Jr. Cultural Center, located in Dickinson Dormitory, Orchard Hill, facilitates the needs of Third World students in the Orchard Hill and Central residential areas. The Center, in the past, has provided Third World students with a studious atmosphere, a library and social events. This fall The Martin Luther King Jr. Cultural Center will once again be open to the Third World Community.

CENTER FOR RACIAL STUDIES

Located in Moore House (Southwest), the Center for Racial Studies' mandate is to increase social and racial awareness in Southwest, and well as reaching out to the greater UMass community. The center does anti-racist work and training by offering courses, independent studies, workshops, films and speakers. It also has a small library available for student use. 545-0472.

ANACOANA CENTER: Dwight House: The Anacoana Center is the Third World Cultural Center that serves the northeast residential center. The center provides a quiet place for students to study.

OTHER ORGANIZATIONS ON CAMPUS

AMERICAN INDIAN ASSOCIATION

DUKE ELLINGTON COMMITTEE, Prince House (413)-545-0716.

KOREAN STUDENTS ASSOCIATION, located in the Student Union.

VIETNAMESE STUDENTS ASSOCIATION

V.S.A. serves to strengthen discussion for the challenges ans apirations of Vietnamese students.

THE CHINESE CLUB

THE IRANIAN MOSLEM STUDENT ASSOCIATION

THE UNION OF IRANIAN STUDENTS IN AMHERST

THIRD WORLD SCIENTISTS SOCIETY This organization unites undergraduate Black students who have a common goal in science.

This is just a partial list of groups and organizations for Third World students in the area. So no matter what your background or interests are there are resources and opportunities available to you. And they all need your help to continue...so LET'S GET INVOLVED!!!!

Happenings at the Inter-Tribal Pow-Wow, September 15 and 16 at the University of Mass

photo by Marc-Elliot Giles

Getting down to basics--Sherwood Thompson, Director of the Office of Third World Affairs and CCEBMS Rick Townes talk to students at the CCEBMS Meeting last Wednesday, as Rudy Jones, Assistant Director of Undergraduate Admissions and Paul Barrows, CCEBMS Director analyze the situation

photo by David Walker

photo by Segun Eubanks

With people of all ages, races and sex, popping, spinning and moving to the beat, the first annual Breakdance Competition, held Friday, Sept. 14th at Bowker Auditorium was a tremendous success. Sponsored by the Commuter Area Government.

photo by Segun Eubanks

Students mingle at the Welcome Back party sponsored by the Asian American Students Association.

Cultural sounds to hit the valley

ARCHIE SHEPP

Archie Shepp will be performing at the Iron Horse Coffee House on Friday, September 21st at 8:30 p.m.

The Iron House is located at 20 Center St., Northampton. Tickets will be 5.00 and can be purchased at the door.

"JAZZ/AFRICA"

Ghanaian Master Drummer Obo Addy will perform "Jazz/Africa at the Iron Horse Coffeehouse in Northampton on Tuesday, Sept. 18th at 7 and 10 p.m.

The Show will feature Obo Addy with the group KUKRUDU for ticket reservations call: 584-0610

BLACK UHURU

The campus of the University of Massachusetts will be honored with a performance of Black Uhuru on Wednesday, September 19th at 8:00 p.m. in the Student Union Ballroom.

This rymthic reggae band, one of the finest out of Jamaica, consists of Michael Rose, Puma Jones, Ducky Simpson, Sly Dunbar an Robbie Shakespeare.

Tickets to this UPC Production and Duke Ellington Committee sponsored event can be obtained at the University of Massachsetts in Amherst Fine Arts Center Box Office, Springfield Civic Center, and the Stop & Shops in Northampton, Pittsfield, Greenfield, Holyoke and Hadley at the cost of $9.50 for UMass students and $11.50 for the general public.

Black Uhuru, "Uhuru" meaning freedom in swahili, has come a long way from its beginning as a hotel and club band in Jamaica.

The band is credited for playing sold out shows throughout Europe and America. They have also opened for the Rolling Stones in England and the Police in America.

Puma Jones, the band lead vocal, started in 1978. Her past work had included some backup for Ras Micheal and Sons of of Negus.

Black Uhuru greatest additions are Sly Dunbar and Robbie Shakespeare. They have played on about 70 percent of all reggae albums recorded in Jamaica, and they produced a number of them as well. Dunbar and Shakespeare have done work with Joe Crocker, Peter Tosh and Grace Jones. Some of their recent work, outside of Black Uhuru, includes playing rhythm on solo albums by Mick Jagger, Carly Simon, and Bob Dylan.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

SUPPORT FOR GRADUATE WOMAN

WAGES a program at the Everywoman's Center has started a graduate program. Graduate WAGES will address the specific needs of graduate woman through support groups, workshops, speakers, social events, brown-bag lunches, resources and advocacy.
For more information contact Graduate WAGES at EWC, 545-0883

CCEBMS

CCEBMS is in need of tutors in ANY subject. All interested individuals applay at CCEBMS, Non-work study and work-study.

CCEBMS students - remember the deadline for tutorial request is Oct. 1st.

SCERA - An activist organization that won't scare you.

SCERA is a student organization that works with social issues such as sexism, racism and anti-semitism. In addition to this SCERA researchs and conducts campaigns dealing with issues affecting students such as rents and fees, academic affairs, residential issues, ect.

Work-study and non-work study positions are available for students who feel concern about any of these issues and would like to work on them.

Additional information and applications can be obtained at 420 Student Union Bldg weekdays from 8:00 a.m. until 6:00 p.m. They can also be obtained at the offices of CCEBMS, BCP, O.T.W.A. and AHORA. The deadline for applications is September 26.

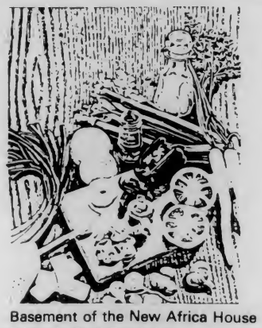
YVONNE'S PLACE

Monday - Friday
12:30 - 6:30 pm
A sample of treats include:

Fried Chicken
Island Curried Fish
Vegitarian Platter
Fried Rice
Curry

Thursday - Friday
Student Discount Days

Lamb
Shrimp
Beef
Curried Goat
Free Dessert



Basement of the New Africa House
Friday is Soul Food day.
Coffee and Donuts are served daily.
WEST INDIAN COOKING AT ITS BEST!!

EVERYWOMAN'S CENTER at are looking for volunteers and interns to staff the resourceroom at EWC for the fall
University and community woman are encouraged to apply. Interns and volunteers provide information about area services and events, medical and legal referrals, do occasional crisis intervention, and up-date and maintain resource and referral information on many topics of concern to woman.

EVERYWOMAN'S CENTER

Counseling Program has position opened as Administrative Assistant

Duties include service requests, scheduling speakers and intake appointmentsassisting with research, and some supervisory responsibilities

20 hr/week and work-study student preferred. Minority students are encouraged to apply

Application deadline is September 21,1984

MALCOLM X

The Malcolm X Center welcomes all returning and new students to the University. We hope you are ready for an exciting year. For those students who are not aware of the Malcolm X Center, it is the largest Third World Center on the UMass Campus. The Center is located in Southwest in the lower part of Berkshire Dining Commons.

The Malcolm X Center has been existence for thirteen years as an academic as well as a social center.

The Center is offering the following courses:

SW191F - West Indian Cultures, Tuesdays 3-5 p.m. taught by Yvonne John .

SW291I - Student Leadership and Student Groups Wednesdays 7-10 p.m. taught by Earl Brown.

All classes are 3 credits and can be signed up for in John Adams lobby.

The Center is open Sundays 2-11 p.m. and Monday - Friday 12 p.m. - 11 p.m. Study hours at the Center are Sundays - Thursday 5 p.m. - 9 p.m.

Have a good semester and stop by to see us.

ANACAONA CENTER

The Anacaona Center and the Sylvan Cultural Society of Northeast/Sylvan Residential Area is seeking qualifying students for the 1984-85 year to develop programs, implementing events and budgetting to asses the needs of students of colors.

Applications are available in 103 Johnson Huose at the Northeast /Sylvan Area Office and at Baker House, the Orchard Hill/Central Area Office or by contacting Ian Clinton or Dr. Brown.

Application deadline will be 5 p.m. September 19th.

"This is your opportunity to become involve and help your community."

REGISTER TO VOTE!!!!!

DESIGNED FOR STUDENTS IN LEADERSHIP POSITIONS

Name of Course: Leadership Development for Volunteer Groups (H297B)
No. of Credits: 3
When: Tuesday 4-6:30 p.m.
Where: Machmer E-10
The course will be taught by the Director of Student Activities, Randy Donant. The format of the course will consist of experimential activities, group presentations and discussions as well as lecturettes.

For further information call Randy at 545-3606 or come to the Student Activities Office, Room 416 Student Union

Today is the last day for add/drops

The Massachusetts Daily NEW ENGLAND'S LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY

Collegian

Volume CXIV, Issue 77 UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AMHERST (545-3500) Tuesday, September 11, 1984

Collegian photo by Pam Madnick

THWIPP — BIFF! Inflatable web-slingers and caped crusaders waiting to be sold at the Big E state fair, which runs through today in West Springfield.

Low grades will mean no aid, says Congress

By LAURA YEE
Collegian Staff

Students on academic probation at the University of Massachusetts will lose all federally funded financial aid next semester if they fail to meet satisfactory academic standards or extenuating circumstances.

These students have not yet been informed of this decision, Gerald Scanlon, associate director of Financial Aid Services said.

Last year, Congress passed legislation requiring all colleges and universities nationwide to draw a set of guidelines defining satisfactory academic progress in order to receive financial aid effective Jan. 1, Scanlon said.

"Students on academic probation this semester will lose their financial aid if they do not measure up to academic standards," Scanlon said.

Not only will students lose their financial aid at UMass but may also face the same dilemma at other schools depending on their guidelines, he said.

Scanlon is a member of a study group formed to examine the University's academic guidelines. The group is composed of administration officials, faculty, deans, graduate and undergraduate students, and is currently establishing the "mitigating and extenuating circumstances."

Scanlon said each department will draw its own definition of satisfactory academic progress.

"We are planning to choose a time when we'll have a checkpoint at least once a year but no longer than that," Scanlon said. "We will review every single student's progress according to each program set to the requirements."

Over the years, Congress and the Office of Management and Budget became concerned with what institutions were calling "good standing" and in 1978, the office began investigating how the money was used. Eleven billion dollars in federal funding are appropriated annually to financial aid nationwide, Scanlon said.

"The feds are not concerned about the stewardship of how funds are spent. What they are auditing are the individual institutions' policies," he said.

"The government findings were not so good," he added.

But Scanlon says the key point to the new legislation is that "the government is still leaving satisfactory standards up to the University."

Academic progress will be measured "quantitatively and qualitatively," he said.

Scanlon said there is a good chance that the grade point average (GPA) required to stay in good academic standing may change along with the number of credits needed per semester.

"The general feeling is that the GPA will go up according to class standing," he said.

"A letter will go out to the entire student body to announce and explain the new policy by October," Scanlon said.

Although the new policy may seem negative, Scanlon said "it's a positive turn for the University to set higher standards."

Federal aid includes what Scanlon calls the "Big Five". The National Direct Student Loan, Work Study, Supplementary Educational Opportunity Grant, Pell Grant, and the Guaranteed Student Loans. State aid and University scholarships are not required to abide by the new policy.

"The state does not know whether they will follow the same guidelines. We'll have to get clarification of that," Scanlon said.

Robert Kirk, chairman of academic matters, said, "the government doesn't want to throw away money. It's a way to insure that financial aid is awarded to students worthy of it by showing academic progress."

Rick Townes, assistant director of academic services for the Committee for the Collegiate Education of Black and Minority Students, said, "the policy will give a good message if we can define fair mitigating circumstances for all students in all departments."

"But there are still alot of unanswered questions," Townes added.

SGA, administration meet to discuss inflammatory brief

By BOB BURGESS
Collegian Staff

Representatives of the University of Massachusetts Student Affairs Division and Government Association (SGA) began working yesterday to correct sections of an administration briefing document which criticizes the SGA for being "an adversary" of the University.

Sarah Boy, an assistant of Vice Chancellor of Student Affairs Dennis Madson and a member of the Vice Chancellor's Council, met with Undergraduate Student Senate Speaker Chris Sullivan to begin drafting a supplement to the brief, which was sent by the council to new Provost Richard O'Brien on August 17.

The controversial passage states that over the course of a decade, "the campus' student government organization has grown into a multi-million-dollar enterprise which sees itself as autonomous from, and even an adversary of, the University," and questions the SGA's handling of the Student Activities Trust Fund.

According to Boy, the report was not meant as an "attack" on the SGA, and was a hastily rewritten copy of a brief which was presented two years ago by the Vice Chancellor's Council to UMass Chancellor Joseph D. Duffey. The Council comprises the different department heads responsible for student affairs.

Sullivan said yesterday that he wants the new supplement to present an "honest picture of what SGA has accomplished," and that it will "mention some of the current debates between student government and the administration, and possible solutions to these problems."

Sullivan raised the question of what to do about the report at last Wednesday's senate meeting, after he discovered inflammatory remarks about the SGA in the minutes of the council's August 17 meeting. The senate voted to confront the Vice Chancellor's council at its weekly Thursday session, where a written supplement was agreed upon by both parties.

The director of the Student Activities Office, Randy Donant, who is also a member of the council, said last week that he believed "everyone on the council regrets how this came out." Donant also said he "appreciated the perspective of the student government's attitude of 'hey, let's get it back together,'" and that it is important for the administration and student government to work from "where we are instead of where we have been."

Fight breaks out in D.C. line

Trespassing, thefts also reported

By RICHARD MARTIN
Collegian Staff

University of Massachusetts police responded to a fight which broke out between students waiting in line at the Hampshire Dining Commons at 6:13 p.m. Saturday, according to Chief of Police Robert G. Joyce.

Police said that one of the groups had been waitinng in the Basics food line, but switched to another line when the basics line closed down. Some of the people involved had been drinking, Joyce said, and someone's hat was knocked off, causing a fight to break out. The incident is still under investigation and has been referred to the administation.

Police arrested and charged four 20-year-old men from Sharon with tresspassing early Sunday morning on the third floor of Pierpont dormitory. All four who are not UMass students, had been served with trespass notices around 1:30 a.m. Sunday while in the John Quincy Adams Tower. Police said residential assistants complained about the men harassing women residents in the building. Two of them were arrested at 2:43 a.m. in Pierpont, and the other two were arrested at 4:20 a.m.

Police confiscated a water pipe and a bag of marijuana from eight students in the sixth floor lounge of Washington Tower at 12:44 a.m. Saturday. Joyce said that a police foot patrol on the ground saw them smoking and then went up to innvestigate.

Continued to p. 3

Inside:

New hope for algebrophobics.....p. 2 Students must go to the polls.....p. 3

"Human kind cannot bear very much reality"
—T.S. Eliot

World and National News

United Auto Workers strike costly to General Motors

DETROIT (AP) — Picket lines halted work at 11 General Motors Corp. assembly plants and a research center as local strikes took effect yesterday, costing the company up to $27 million a day. Several hundred workers at a California plant walked off the job despite settlement of their strike a day earlier.

Meanwhile, negotiators for the world's largest manufacturer and the United Auto Workers union met until about 5 a.m. Monday in Detroit and planned to resume national contract talks Tuesday morning.

Yesterday was the first scheduled workday at all but one of the 13 plants since about 62 UAW workers struck over local contract issues at midnight Friday, when the old national contract expired. Scheduled weekend operations at one of the factories — a Buick plant at Flint, Mich. — also were cancelled.

About 4,000 workers at a Chevrolet Camaro and Pontiac Firebird assembly plant in Van Nuys, Calif., members of Local 645, settled their local contract Sunday, but efforts to resume production were short lived.

About 85 percent of the 2,100 day-shift worker showed up for their jobs, but "several hundred" went to lunch yesterday and didn't return to assembly line, said Pete Beltran, president of the local.

AP Laserphoto

United Auto Workers union members picket General Motors assembly plant in Linden, New Jersey yesterday.

Today's Staff

Night Editor	Ian Polumbaum
Copy Editor	John Yonce
Layout Technician	John O'Connell
Photo Technician	Pam Madnick
Production Supervisor	Ansel Zinter

Production BethAnn Moscov, Peter Forget Judy Hayden, Nanette Dory, Maria Cahillane, Barbara Crandall

Gunmen open fire on Israeli bus

JERUSALEM AP — Unidentified gunmen opened fire on an Israeli bus traveling south of the occupied West Bank city of Bethlehem yesterday, police said.

Police spokesman Moshe Alexandroni said it appeared some of the passengers were injured, but he said he had no further details.

He also said fire was returned by someone on the bus.

The attack followed day-long clashes between soldiers and Palestinians in the refugee camps on the second anniversary of the massacre of Palestinian refugees in Beirut.

High school computers hammered

BROCKTON, Mass. (AP) — Hammer-wielding vandals destroyed $10,000 in computers, a $14,000 piano and shattered glass at South Junior High School over the weekend, and school officials Monday worked to find the culprits.

School Superintendent Manthala George Jr. estimated total damage, which he described as "just unbelievable," at $40,000, and said officials believed the break-in probably occurred between 11 p.m. Saturday and 8 a.m. Sunday, when school security found the wreckage.

According to Principal Wayne Lucier, the culprits apparently hammered $10,000 worth of personal computers — four individual Apple computers, several monitors and a printer — into pieces; destroyed the school's $14,000 piano; shattered windows and glass throughout the building; and destroyed at least $2,000 in books, as well as paint and other school supplies.

PAPAL WAVE — Pope John Paul II greets spectators before celebrating eucharist at a Namao, Alberta (Canada) airfield. AP Laserphoto

OFF CAMPUS UNDERGRADUATES

Nomination Papers to the Commuter Area Government are available now.
Get involved in your Area Government.
Help plan activities for the school year.

Papers available at 404 SUB
Deadline for returning papers is Friday Sept. 21

CALCULATOR CENTER
Basic Business Scientific

This powerful 54-function calculator performs the most-needed slide rule functions as well as pi, factorial and statistics. A liquid crystal display with scientific notation lets you work easily with even the smallest or largest of numbers.

Built-in statistical capabilities include data entry, mean and standard deviation for both sample and population data. Versatile 4-key Constant Memory™ feature lets you store, recall, sum, and exchange memory with display.

The Student Calculator Math Book offers even more information about calculator mathematics, and is filled with how-to problems, puzzles and games. Also included are a detailed owner's manual and vinyl carrying case.

TI-35 Student Math Kit
Problem-solving kit with TI-35 scientific calculator.

$19.95
List $22.00

Located in the Campus Center

Open M-F 9-5
Sat 11-4

UNIVERSITY STORE

OOPS!

Now's the time to call...

North Amherst Motors
Rt. 63 No. Amherst
549-2880

Expert Repairs & Reconditioning

NORTHAMPTON BICYCLE

21 Pleasant St.
Northampton
586-3810

Trek - Fuji - Univega - Campagnolo
Suntour and others
Racing, Touring, and Commuting accessories

PUT US TO THE TEST!

LSAT · GMAT · GRE
MCAT · DAT
GRE PSYCH · GRE BIO
MAT · PCAT · OCAT
VAT · TOEFL · SSAT
PSAT · SAT
ACHIEVEMENTS · ACT

- Permanent Centers open days, evenings, weekends.
- Complete TEST-N-TAPE® facilities.
- Skilled instructors and dedicated, full-time staff.
- Homestudy materials constantly updated by Research Experts.
- Low Hourly Cost.
- Transfer privileges to over 120 locations.

NATIONAL MED BOARDS
MSKP · FMGEMS
FLEX · NDB · NPB
NCB · NCLEX-RN
CGFNS · CPA
SPEED READING
ESL INTENSIVE REVIEW
INTRODUCTION TO LAW SCHOOL

CLASSES FORMING NOW!
LSAT
GRE
GMAT

Stanley H. KAPLAN EDUCATIONAL CENTER
TEST PREPARATION SPECIALISTS SINCE 1938
In New York State: Stanley H. Kaplan Educational Center Ltd.

CALL DAYS, EVENINGS & WEEKENDS:
358 N. Pleasant
549-5780

Jewish scholar offers anecdotes and lessons of Holocaust

By RONDA APPLEBAUM
Collegian Staff

Yaffa Eliach, noted Jewish chronicler, author and lecturer, told a Student Union Ballroom audience Monday night that to get a clear picture of the Holocaust "we must look at it from all viewpoints, including those of the executioner, the onlooker and the victim."

Eliach said that families in Nazi concentration camps wanted to stay together, because the members of the families felt responsible for each other. They were not quick to organize resistance for fear of family members getting hurt, she said.

Eliach began her speech by saying that, "Joseph was the first Jewish survivor." He proved that "not only can one survive, but one can make it to the very top." She told how other Jews have survived; namely the Holocaust experience. She commended the "ingenuity" of Jewish survival.

She told the tale of a boy who was buried alive in a ditch but manged to escape. The boy searched for a stranger who would let him into their home, only to find replies like "Jew go back to your grave where you belong." The only way he managed to have someone take him in was to pass himself off as Jesus Christ.

Eliach said she found Hasidic tales of the Holocaust interesting because the "Hasidim believes that story telling restores the line of communication between man and man and man and heaven." She thought that the group of tales showed that man is good despite the evil.

She told the tale of an S.S. officer who was sending Jews into lines that would lead them to certain death. When the S.S. officer saw a rabbi who he know from his town, he led the rabbi into a line in which he would escape death. A Hasidic rabbi told Eliach that even though the S.S. man killed thousands, this one event should be remembered because every man has a spark in him and we must remember the one time this man lapsed into humanity.

She only included tales from her book Hasidic Tales of the Holocaust, which she said could all be verified by documentation.

Eliach, a professor of history and literature at Brooklyn College, was presented by the Distinguished Visitors Program and the B'nai Brith Hillel Foundation at UMass.

Collegian photo by Jason Talerman

HANGING OUT — Students in a Stockbridge School of Agriculture class practice tree climbing techniques.

Workshops will offer help to victims of math anxiety

By DANIEL WHITE
Collegian Correspondent

It starts the minute you take your seat in class. As you feverishly attempt to copy down the meaningless equations the teacher has written on the board, your palms start sweating so hard your pen squirts out between your fingers and pokes the guy behind you in the eye. By the time you get it back you're shaking so hard your x's, y's, twos and threes look like the trail you left to the bathroom an hour after eating at the D.C. last night. It's then that you realize that, once again, you're just another victim of (pause for effect) math anxiety.

However, it doesn't have to be this way. On Sept. 24 and Oct. 1, math anxiety workshops will be conducted by Doris Stockton, a mathematics professor, and Donald Banks, a counseling psychologist, in room 1634 of the Lederle Graduate Research Center. The workshops will run from 4:30 to 6 p.m. and are open to the public.

The workshops will feature the film "Math Anxiety: We beat it, so can you." The film stars Jean Smith and shows a class she taught in which her students discussed their various problems with math. Stockton said the film is very beneficial in that the workshop participants can relate to many of the same troubles the students in the film have. Participants realize that they are not alone and their problems are not unique.

Two books are recommended for further reading in the field: Mind over Math, by Dr. Stanley Kogelman and Dr. Joseph Warren and Overcoming Math Anxiety, by Shelia Tobias, who coined the phrase "Math Anxiety."

Stockton and Banks have been working as a team on these seminars for approximately six semesters and have found that the causes of math anxiety fall into two categories. One is that the students, at some point in their schooling, were asked (or are being asked) to do a level of math for which they were not adequately prepared.

Stockton, who has been teaching math for 37 years, 30 of them at UMass, likens this to asking someone "to do ballet steps before they learn to walk," or asking them to be a life guard before they have learned to swim. The resulting frustration turns them off to math.

The second reason, according to Stockton, is that the math anxious people were made to feel stupid for not knowing math. Too much pressure was put on them to keep up or be more like their older brother Willy, who always got A's in math.

The sessions also try to find some good experiences the participants have had with math for instance, success they have had in solving a particular problem, or a good interaction they've had with someone who encouraged and helped them.

Stockton sees more older people at the seminars. She also sees more men than women, but does not regard this as a trend of any kind.

Stockton asserted that this is not a tutorial service, so students should leave their books at home. She said she offers help with the fear of math, not help with the math itself.

Police say man found dead might have killed himself

By PHIL SERAFINO
Collegian Correspondent

A 23-year-old man died Saturday from "possibly self-inflicted" gunshot wounds, according to Amherst police.

The man was taken to Cooley-Dickinson Hospital in Northampton after police responded to a call at 2 p.m. He was transferred to Holyoke Hospital, where he was pronounced dead, police said. The incident is still under investigation pending a report from the medical examiner, according to Detective John Burns.

A traffic accident at 3:59 p.m. Saturday on Bridge Street resulted in injuries to a Leverett man, an Amherst woman and a passenger in the woman's car. The Leverett resident was cited for driving to endanger and not possessing a license, after the car he was driving slid into the other vehicle. The injured were taken to Cooley-Dickinson Hospital.

A Buick Regal valued at $4,000 was stolen from Rolling Green Apartments Sunday morning but was recovered in Holyoke Monday morning with a damaged ignition, according to police.

A Peugeot 10-speed bicycle valued at $200 was stolen from Brittany Manor Sunday, and a Fuji 12-speed was stolen from Phillips Street Friday, police said.

Car stereo speakers valued at $150 were taken from a car at Townhouse Apartments Friday at about 11 p.m.

A Domino's Pizza delivery car was broken into at 2:44 a.m. Sunday at Brandywine Apts. The driver's side window was broken and a pizza and a warmer blanket valued at $25 were taken.

★ police

Continued from p. 1

A 16th floor lounge window in John Quincy Adams was smashed around 10 p.m. Friday.

A refrigerator worth $170 was stolen from the first floor of Dickinson dormitory. It belonged to the Third World Cultural Center, and was reported stolen at 7:32 p.m. Sunday.

A 1969 Chevy Malibu was stolen from parking lot 44 near Sylvan Residential Area. It was valued at $500, and was taken between Sept. 9 and 14.

Three car stereos were taken over the weekend. One was from a 1979 Volkswagen (worth $300), the second was a 1981 Chevrolet (worth $550), the third was a 1975 Plymouth Valiant (worth $600). Each car was parked in lot 22, and each stereo was reported stolen on Saturday.

Louis' still seeks rezoning; owner argues merits of move

By JEANETTE DEFORGE
Collegian Staff

Louis' Foods, located in Amherst center since 1935, will move to the corner of Amity St. and University Dr. if the managements zoning request is passed at town meeting Oct. 27.

The move is for "pure expansion," said Richard Vincent, manager of Louis' Foods. "There isn't a way to have (the present location) and to provide space for service departments," he said.

In a town meeting on May 15, Vincent's rezoning request was dismissed without action. The land must be zoned as a business area before the store can occupy it.

"It will be a long shot at best that Louis' will be able to more and survive," said Alan Root, a member of the Grey Panthers, a senior citizen's activist group.

Rezoning requires a two-thirds majority vote, which Root said, will be very difficult to get."

There also has been opposition from neighbors, and "I can anticipate a traffic problem," Root said. "If Louis' moves to another location it will lose their walk-in traffic."

Louis' will not be in a competitive position with Super Stop and Shop and Price Chopper if it moves close to them, he added.

The handicapped and elderly will be most hurt by the move, he said.

The proposed location is accessible to a good number of people and it is in the area accessible to public transportation," Vincent said. "It is very close to the UMass and Amherst campuses."

Louis' Foods in its present location on North Pleasant Street. Collegian photo by Andy Heller

Polling places for Mass. primaries

State primary elections take place today.

Voters in precinct three, which includes the Northeast, Orchard Hill, Central, and Sylvan residential areas, vote at the Emmanuel Church on North Pleasant street past Marks Meadow School.

Precinct four and five, which includes the Southwest and Greek residential areas, vote at the Bangs Community Center behind Boltwood Walk.

Voters in precinct one vote at the North Amherst Parish Hall, and those in precinct two vote at the North Fire Station. Precinct seven at the Crocker Farm School and precinct eight at the Munson Library.

Polls are open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.

TONIGHT

KICK OFF LOUNGE

"Everyone Else's Beer Mug Night"

Bring along any other establishments Beer Mug for a

35¢ DRAFT

12 oz. limit

On the Big Screen
CANADA CUP FINALS
Proper ID Required

Corner of Route 9 and University Drive

GREAT BIKE GIVEAWAY

WIN A FIRENZE 12 Speed Bike
one bike to be given away
bike is on display in our Sporting Goods Dept.

OFFICIAL CONTEST RULES
1. To enter, complete the official entry form and bring it to the store. Enter as often as you wish by using only original entry forms. Enter by Sept. 27, 1984 to be eligible.
2. The winner will be selected in a random drawing on Sept. 28, 1984.
3. Employees of the University Store and their families are not eligible. Taxes on the prize are the sole responsibility of the winner.

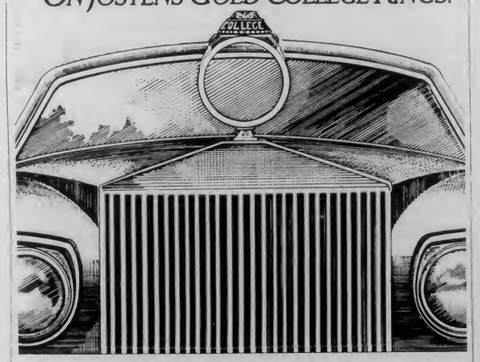
BICYCLE BONUS
Register to win a FIRENZE 12-SPEED BIKE. Fill out the coupon & return it. No purchase required.
NAME
ADDRESS
PHONE

Open M-F 9-5
Sat 11-4

UNIVERSITY STORE

Biggest Sale of the Year!

$25 OFF
ON JOSTENS GOLD COLLEGE RINGS.



See your Jostens representative.

Date: Sept. 17, 18, 19, 20 - Mon, Tue, Wed, Thur
Place: Outside Univ. Store
Time: 10-3:30 pm
Deposit: $15.00

GET A $25 REBATE ON YOUR JOSTENS GOLD COLLEGE RING.

UNIVERSITY STORE

©1984 Jostens Inc

DON'T SETTLE FOR SECOND BEST - STRIVE TO BE NO. 1 !

ΔX

DELTA CHI FRATERNITY
OPEN RUSH

ALL UNIVERSITY MEN INVITED

WE OFFER:
- AN EXCITING SOCIAL LIFE
- EXCELLENT ACADEMIC STANDING
- COMPETITIVE INTRAMURAL SPORTS PROGRAM
- PROFESSIONALLY PREPARED MEALS

AND MOST OF ALL - A BROTHERHOOD THAT CARES

College Pizza | AVENUE | ΔX HOUSE
FEARING STREET
SUNSET | SOUTH WEST

DATES
TONIGHT! and WED.
SEPT. 18, 19
9-11 PM
REFRESHMENTS AVAILABLE

549-0482

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian
Founded 1870

Editor in Chief James P. Shanahan

Managing Editor	John O'Connell	Black Affairs Editor	Yadira Betances
Business Manager	Andrew May	Women's Issues Editor	Rebecca Thatcher
Business Manager	Elizabeth Young	Arts Editor	Christine D. Marini
Production Manager	Mark Roden	Sports Editor	Peter Abraham
Executive Editor	Rita Murphy	Photo Editor	Andrew J. Heller
News Editor	Greg Brown

OPINION

The opinions expressed on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the university unless otherwise noted.

Vote and be heard

Anne Wexler, political director of the Geraldine Ferraro Vice Presidential campaign and wife of the University of Massachusetts Chancellor Joseph D. Duffey, put it simply:

"Politicians don't listen to anyone who doesn't vote."

Today's election will decide the finalists for the election to the U.S. Senate seat being vaccated by Paul Tsongas, a good friend of education over the years. Locally, Democrats John Olver and Phil Mokrzecki are running against each other for the Hampshire-Franklin district seat in the state Senate.

If students want any of their concerns dealt with on any level, they are going to have to get out and vote. It doesn't matter what the issue is, or which side you stand on, you will have no voice in this country unless you participate in the process.

The 18 to 25 age group has the worst voting record of any age group in the country. Despite the efforts and huge voter registration drives conducted by student government and MassPIRG members and the Amherst League of Women Voters, a good portion of the student population remains unregistered.

But that isn't even the whole problem. Many students who are registered to vote do not go to the polls on election day.

What happens? Are they bored by the candidates or the issues, are they too busy studying or trying to catch dinner at the DC?

If students do not realize how precious their right to vote is, they should remember that only 12 years ago, 18-year-olds did not have that right. At that time, unjust military draft laws and a war in Southeast Asia gave students an urgent need to work hard for voting rights. Don't let those efforts be ridiculed. Vote today if you are registered. Register today if you are not.

Unsigned editorials represent the majority opinion of the Collegian Board of Editors.

Just what is that thing they call art?

If you were anywhere near the Fine Arts Center plaza at 8:47 a.m. last Friday, you would have seen a puffy-faced blonde woman trying to pick up her books while nursing a bleeding scratch on the left side of her head. You would have then seen that woman throw her books, lick the the blood off her brow, and then attempt to push the new Mario Staccioli cement sculpture off the steps and into the Campus Pond. You would have seen the woman wipe her hands, pick up her books, and walk toward the Campus Center, opening and closing her mouth to test the alignment of her jaw.

It is not my fault, you know. It is the fault of the --thing- on the steps. What is it?

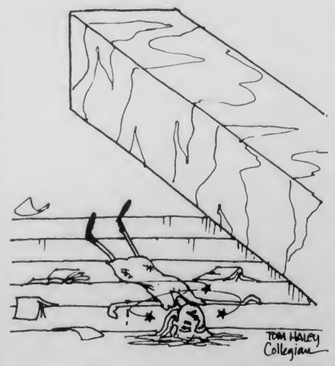
Now it's not quite as bad as the time my sister walked out of Filene's and into the back end of a policeman's horse, but nevertheless embarrassing. I thought this thing was a wall. (Those I walk into, I guess.)

I have other questions, too. Why are there three rusted dies tottering by the side of the campus pond?

Did someone leave his car in the South Bronx for a year or two and then bring the rusted remains back to UMass to make a social statement? Tell me, I want to know.

And what is the big red thing on Haigis Mall? Why is it bent? Does it represent anything sexual? Is that why so many men hang out there while waiting for the bus? What is it made of? And why is it nine feet tall?

And this business about the three-meter island at the end of the Campus Pond. What are they doing to it? No one is putting a wooden border around Martha's. You can't hang out there; it's too conspicuous. Plus, if you fell asleep there you'd probably roll off and the people in the FAC faculty offices would look out and laugh at you.



Mary Cresse

Now take the Metawampe. He's practically had his hand sawed off, his spear bent, his feet littered with Orange Crush cans and vodka bottles; moreover, he's stuck in a corner. Who sees him? Impatient lovers and potheads.

But as art, I like him. He looks like something I've seen before--something, you know, human. Person-like.

Now, my last point. Does anyone on this campus have an aversion to common representational art?

And true, I am an English major, and being abstract all day gives me a taste for the likes of Metawampe. And maybe my knowledge of art history isn't admirable--the first time I saw a Klee, I thought my nephew did it.

But whenever I get depressed or pensive, or when I just want to stare, I want something that will relax me. Something that will show me representational sculpture is still alive. UMass doesn't seem to know, I guess.

So I watch TV.

Letters to the Editor

Is it hypocrisy or charity?

Since 1982 $350 million has been cut from health services in America, yet somewhere we found $372 million to put the Pershing II missiles in Europe. Child nutrition programs have been sliced by $500 million, but the Pentagon sees nothing amiss in spending $505 million on cruise missiles. Aid to college students has been cut back by $950 million. Trident I, a single nuclear submarine, cost $953 million to produce.

The clear message is that in order to feed our massive military, responsibility for developing this country's human resources is to fall on the private sector. The military has been given higher priority than feeding the hungry right here at home.

In light of these facts, I find it particularly offensive that the Army was selling soda during their recruiting fair by the Campus Pond Wednesday to raise money for Easter Seals. Is this not the height of hypocritical, ineffectual liberal reform?

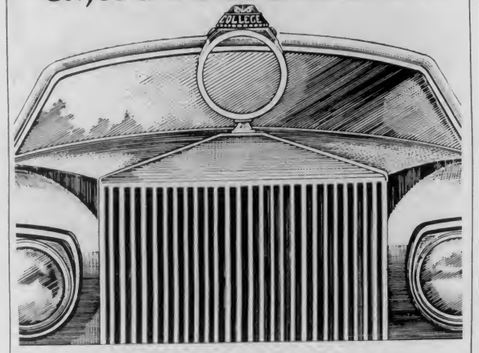
We'll never really begin to know how many children have been placed in wheelchairs through the activities of the regimes our military supports in Cental America. Our military has always been very adept in the manipulation of symbols to create an attractive image, but I strongly feel that this rather transparent attempt at painting the military as a charitable organization is going too far.

Tim Harris
Amherst, MA

Biggest Sale of the Year!

$25 OFF

ON JOSTENS GOLD COLLEGE RINGS.



See your Jostens representative.

Date: Sept. 17, 18, 19, 20 - Mon, Tue, Wed, Thur

Place: Outside Univ. Store

Time: 10-3:30 pm

Deposit: $15.00

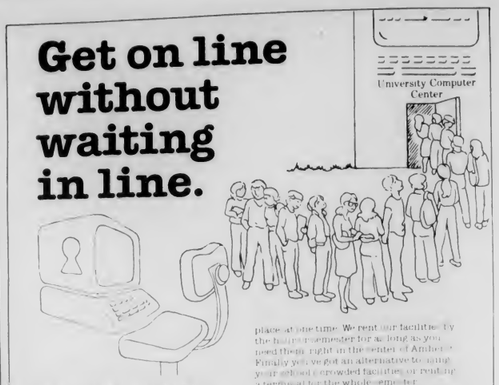
GET A $25 REBATE ON YOUR JOSTENS GOLD COLLEGE RING.

UNIVERSITY STORE

VISA MasterCard

©1984 Jostens, Inc.

Get on line without waiting in line.



"Unbelievable!"

It's 1:00 a.m. and you're still doing calculus homework for your computer science class. You've made a rough estimate that you've got to plan on spending precious time standing in line every time you want to get on line. And you're lucky if you're not kicked off by the time you need it are about as good as getting seats in a Michael Jackson concert.

That is, of course, unless you do your computer homework at the Computer Access Center.

16 chairs, no waiting!

The Computer Access Center is a unique workspace that offers everything you need to do all of your computer work in one place at one time. We rent our facilities by the hour or semester for as long as you need them right in the center of Amherst. Finally you've got an alternative to using your stifled, crowded facilities or reading a terminal for the whole semester.

The Access Center has it all. It's work stations fully equipped with computers and terminals, complete modem systems that allow you to tie in to Cyber, VAX or any other mainframe that you have the access code for, on site letter quality and dot matrix printers for instant print outs, and experienced and knowledgeable computer pros always on duty to help you.

Of course the best part is that at Computer Access Center you don't have to waste precious time standing in line. Now you can plan ahead and reserve time on a terminal that will be waiting just for you.

So what are you waiting for? Call today and see for yourself how easy and inexpensive renting time on a computer can be.

COMPUTER ACCESS CENTER INC.

ON SITE HOURLY/SEMESTER RENTALS 256-1213

79 South Pleasant Street Amherst, MA (in left rear of Peter Pan terminal building)

Mon. Thurs. 9 am-11 pm, Fri. 9 am-6 pm, Sat. Sun. 10 am-6 pm

2 FREE HOURS OF COMPUTER TIME!

Call today, mention this ad and use one of our computers for two hours at no cost!

Offer good during business hours Monday through Friday until October 15th

The Distinguished Visitors Program presents

George Gallup, Jr.

of the Gallup Poll

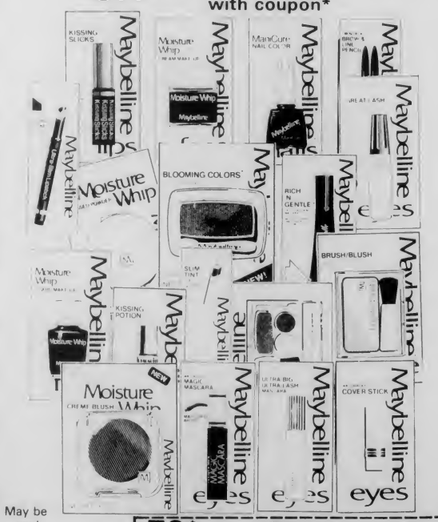
Public Opinion Polls and the American Presidency

Tuesday, September 18, 1984

8:00 PM FREE

Student Union Ballroom

50¢ OFF Maybelline Products with coupon*



May be used in the Mini Store also

* Double coupon does not apply to store coupons

Open M-F 9-5 Sat 11-4

50¢ OFF Any Maybelline Product In Stock valid until 9/23/84

UNIVERSITY STORE

Arts

The final Bergman film

AFTER THE REHEARSAL
Directed by Ingmar Bergman
Pleasant St. Theater

By ELAINE SENAY
Collegian Staff

Director Ingmar Bergman allows his audience to enter his world of directing with After the Rehearsal. The film is a cinematic essay which sheds light on Bergman's technique for those who find his films obscure and pretentious.

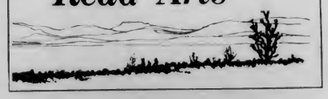
It is a contrast to the more elaborate Fanny and Alexander. There is only a sparsely furnished set for the three actors. Erland Josephson plays an aging director who has stayed behind after a rehearsal of "Dream Play" by Strindberg. While he daydreams, he is joined by his young leading actress Anna and then her mother Maria, played by Ingrid Thurlin.

Anna's present and future as an actress are determined by her attitude towards the past. Josephson/Bergman says the director is "not part of the drama." He believes that his role is to help his leading lady realize her potential. Her angry memories of her mother, an actress as well as Josephson's former lover, hold her back. The director must help fight these emotions that block Anna from controlling her gift.

You are drawn into the current of the director-actor relationship which is generated by Bergman's love for his profession. After the Rehearsal cannot be picked apart to spotlight certain moments or performances. The film is so complete and intense that it must be seen to be appreciated.

If you have not seen any Ingmar Bergman films. After the Rehearsal can sustain itself as an informative essay on the director's craft. If you have a few films under your belt, some of your questions will be answerd. After the Rehearsal is a warm tribute to the cinema, actors, directors and the audience.

Read Arts



FREE

One Sample Pack with five deliciously different one-cup servings.

GENERAL FOODS INTERNATIONAL COFFEES Sample Pack

Irish Mocha Mint | Suisse Mocha | Café Viennese | Café Français | Cappuccino

UNIVERSITY STORE

HAS YOUR FREE SAMPLE PACK OF GENERAL FOODS' INTERNATIONAL COFFEES. CLIP THIS COUPON AND HAVE A TASTE ON US.

Limit–one request per customer Sample packs are available at the

Open M-F 9-5 Sat 11-4

UNIVERSITY STORE

GENERAL FOODS

FREE Limited Quantities Available FREE

Rent One of Ours

Car
Truck
Passenger Van

North Amherst Motors
Rt. 63 No. Amherst
549-2880

PERSONALIZED STYLE HAIRCUTS

$7.00 (with this coupon)
$10.00 with Shampoo and Blow Dry
$11.50 Long Hair

Please Call for an Appointment
Expires 9/30/84

Styles by Deborah
26 University Drive
Amherst, MA 549-5610
FREE CONSULTATIONS

See the light.

DESK LAMPS
many styles and colors to choose from

a large selection of clamp-on lights also available

UL approved

Located in the Campus Center

Open M-F 9-5 Sat 11-4

UNIVERSITY STORE

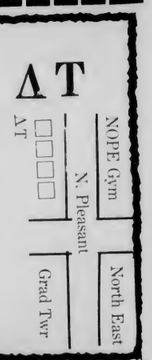
Delta Upsilon Fraternity

OPEN RUSH

Tue 18 at 9:00 p.m.
Wed 19 at 9:00 p.m.

778 No. Pleasant St.
549-3831

ΔΤ



Pioneer Valley Data Equipment

SPECIALIZING IN STUDENT RENTALS

-VIDEO TERMINALS-
-PRINTERS-
-MODEMS-

RENTALS AS LOW AS $100.00 PER SEMESTER

259 TRIANGLE STREET, AMHERST 549-1017

Mon: 8:30 - 6:00 Tues-Fri: 8:30 - 8:00 Sat: 10:00 - 5:00

When we go to Boston to talk to our legislators concerning student issues Senator John Olver has provided continuous support. His dedication to public higher education has provided generous budgets for our University and for financial aid.

A former UMass Professor, Senator Olver is aware of the need to address and assist student issues. Please help re-elect OUR Senator. Vote Today!

Beth Harrington
Dana Pierce

Paid for by The Olver Committee
Annette Geoffrion, 28 Maple St., So. Hadley
Chairperson

Hypercurricula

CLIFFE IS BACK — Be sure to join him in open discussion outside student Union Mon., Tues., Thurs., and Fri. 12-2 p.m.

UMASS REPUBLICAN CLUB BUSINESS MEETING — The Republican Club will hold its first meeting of the year to organize club activities and discuss possibilities for the future at 8 p.m. at the Campus Center room 904-908.

ITALIAN CLUB MEETING — All are welcome to join us for the first meeting of the semester to discuss future plans. New members welcome to come at 7 p.m. on the 3rd floor lounge Herter Hall.

DUKE ELLINGTON COMMITTEE MEETING — DEC is back! We deal with bringing third world entertainment to UMass. Come learn more about us at 7:30 p.m. in the Commonwealth Room.

UPC GENERAL MEETING — Last meeting before Black UHuru. Many more shows coming up. New members always welcome at 6:30 p.m. in the Commonwealth Room.

CERRF INTRO MEETING — Committee for Equal Rights and Reproductive Freedom's First meeting. We are Pro-choice, pro-ERA, Pro-gay rights, against sterilization abuse and anti-racist. Campus center room 805, 3-5 p.m.

AURORA PARTNERS INVESTMENT CLUB — There will be an investment club meeting to review future investments possibilities and to discuss, among other things, our New York trip to Wall Street. Input is welcome. SBA 111, 7 p.m.

GEORGE GALLUP LECTURE — George Gallup Jr., President of the Gallup Poll will speak tonight on "Public Opinion Polls and the American Presidency," in the Student Union Ballroom, 8 p.m.

MASS. APPROVED INSPECTION STATION
RADIAL TIRE SALE
P155/80R13
$29.95
•Includes Mounting• plus MA State Tax
North Amherst Tire & Auto Center
Full Service Tire Store
78 Sunderland Rd. No. Amherst MA
Across from Waltroba's Store
549-4704

NOTICE
STUDENTS ON FILE AT THE CO-OP OFFICE PLEASE NOTIFY YOUR COUNSELOR OF ANY ADDRESS CHANGES

DIETING?
Try something different. Lose weight sensibly by learning about your eating habits. Down with diets! Call UHS 549-2671 ext. 181. Preregistration by Sept. 21.

Do your word processing at
COMPUTER ACCESS CENTER INC.
256-1213
79 S. Pleasant St.
Amherst, MA
See our other ad in this paper.

How to make peace with Tolstoy.

If the academic wars are getting you down, declare a cease-fire. Take a break with a rich and chocolatey cup of Suisse Mocha. It's just one of seven deliciously different flavors from General Foods International Coffees.

GENERAL FOODS' INTERNATIONAL COFFEES AS MUCH A FEELING AS A FLAVOR.

Available at: University Store

© 1984 General Foods Corporation

FUNNYBONES
COCKTAIL LOUNGE
Crazy George
MONDAY
NICKEL NITE
Every other drink 5¢ 7 - 1
TUESDAY
LADIES NITE
Ladies first 2 drinks 99¢ 7 - 1
Jim Henry Live!
WEDNESDAY
PENNY DRAFT NITE
Every other 12 oz. Draft 1¢ 7 - 1
THURSDAY
99¢ Drinks
till 11 pm
FRIDAY & SATURDAY
PARTY WITH CRAZY GEORGE till 2 AM
SUNDAY
SPORTS ACTION starts 1 pm
in our Sports Pub
w/99¢ Drinks 1 - 7
"FUNNY HOUR"
1-7 - 7 DAYS A WEEK
Rt. 9 Hadley (across from Mt. Farms Mall)

Bloom County by Berke Breathed

IT'S MILO AND THE GANG AT HOME. THEY WANT TO SAY CONGRATULATIONS.
NOT NOW. WE'RE STILL CUT DEALS TO MAKE...
LESSEE... THE QUEST SHOT FOR THE "A TEAM" FILMS TUESDAY... THE ACME SAUSAGE ENDORSEMENT SHOOTS FRIDAY. UH..
RRING!
IT'S BOB HOPE. HE'D LIKE YOU TO COME ALONG ON HIS UPCOMING USO TOUR OF COVERT GUERRILLA GROUPS.
ABSOLUTELY NOT. GUNS...BAD JOKES... HEY... I'M A CLASS ACT.
I'M SORRY. MR. AMERICA DOESN'T DO NICARAGUA.
BUT HE WOULD DO "THE LONE BOAT"! WHERE ARE THEY?!

Gorde by Gorde

WELCOME TO THE FINAL INSTALLMENT OF "THE AR STATE U!"
HA HA HA HA HA HA HA HA HA HA HA
PSST, HEE HEE! I HA FINALLY GOT INTO HEE HEE THAT CHEMISTRY COURSE HAHA I WANTED HEE
PSST, WHAT'S WITH YOU?
OLD SIGHT GAG
...AND MY FIRST EXAM'S TOMORROW!
AHA HA HEE HA HA HA HA HA
AHH, YES! THE FEES OF UNDERGRADUATE LIFE!
AND SO ENDS "THE ART OF COMIC STRIPPING" FOR NOW. I HOPE YOU'VE FOUND IT ENLIGHTENING AND ENJOYABLE?
DA-DA?
WATCH SOON FOR ENGINEERING- A BIG WORD FOR MATH

Under Foot by Joe Bradbury

A FEW THINGS YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT CEDRIC... ALTHOUGH HE LOOKS QUITE AMIABLE...
...HE'S ACTUALLY SLY, CUNNING, MEAN AND, ABOVE ALL, HE'S...
..CRUELLY AMBITIOUS
UH, MAYBE SOME DAY I'LL GET MARRIED!

Ultra Mass

Save your jest for the morgue O vanquished one. Feel the Hellfire!
O, It's Good
It feels Sooo
Now It's your turn to feel me breaking your Fingers
Uncle Uncle
He's doin'a magic act and taking his thugs with him, now I'm all alone Boo Hoo

Yesthead Jason Talerman

much noise.
meet yesthead and his dog, sludge.
fun?
yes.
Yesthead + his ... friend Crystalhead share old times.
who shot Frank Perdue field experiment who shot America's chicken king?!! Next: The Answer.

The Lab by Law

THIS TIME I'LL ASK HER FOR A DATE.. I'LL BE COOL.. CALM. A REAL DOUBLE-O SEVEN! ORK! HERE SHE COMES!
HI WEEGEE!
..HELLO...
SOME OF US HAVE.."HELLO." DOWN TO A FINE ART.

DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE

Edited by Trude Michel Jaffe

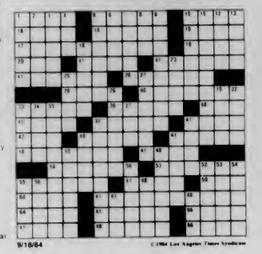
ACROSS
1 Publisher Henry
5 Sweetens the pot
10 Photographed
14 "The mind is like ——" Wilbur
15 Street show
16 Amazon estuary
17 One hit for a home run
19 With, in Cannes
20 Sweep
21 Lucille's son
22 Home to some wildlife
24 Coliseums
26 Nabokov novel
28 Vegetable
30 Classify again
33 Pour out copiously
36 Garden bloom
38 Literary collection
39 See to
40 Negro and namesakes
41 Comic Wilson
42 Food for Fido
43 Finger or toe
44 Flocks pens
45 See 61 Across as example
47 Neutral tone
49 More mysterious
51 Publicizing
54 Beach house
57 Nobleman
59 Tyro
60 Too bad!
61 Diamond per former
64 Diver delicacy
65 Belgian city
66 Took the subway
67 —— out (persevered)
68 Gnaw
69 Rumple

DOWN
1 African capital
2 German sub
3 Director Frank
4 Numerical ending
5 Overdue debt
6 Collars
7 Linger behind
8 Teleost fish
9 Concerned mainly about others
10 Laconian capital
11 Really enjoy
12 Raw materials
13 Diplomat's asset
18 Formal command
23 Slick
25 Mamie Eisenhower, nee
27 High-flown
29 Farthest or highest point
31 Tennyson character
32 Pool measures
33 Greek walkway
34 Floppant
35 Alert
37 Ring king
40 Pathetic
41 "—— and twenty black birds"
43 Actor Bruce
44 Trim for a chop
46 Chartered
48 Magic ——
50 Rent anew
52 "I believe ——"
53 Food and clothes
54 Skirt features
55 One way to pay
56 Lily's kin
58 Fish food
62 Architect's org.
63 Hurler's asset

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

A	N	A	G		A	L	A	M	P		P	L	A	N
M	A	N	D		C	E	D	A	R		R	I	L	E
A	T	T	R	A	C	T	I	V	E		E	L	A	N
S	O	T	G	N	E		B	E	C	O	M	I	N	G
			E	O	N	S		N	I	I	E
R	I	P	O	S	I	T	E		O	D	D	E	I	S
I	S	S	U	E		N	E	G	U	S		T	I	O	N
S	E	E	S		P	O	O	L	S		D	A	L	I
U	R	U		T	O	K	S	O		R	E	G	O	T
S	E	D	G	E	S		S	C	A	L	E	N	E
		D	R	S	O		S	A	R	I
C	H	A	R	M	I	N	G		S	I	G	M	A	S
H	O	L	D		B	E	W	I	T	C	H	I	N	G
O	N	T	O		L	I	E	N	S		T	R	O	T
P	E	O	N		E	N	N	E	A		S	O	N	S

9/18/84



©1984 Los Angeles Times Syndicate

Hey, you got a problem? Tell me about it!

Write to Ask Lois, your local Ann Landers, c/o the Collegian, 113 Campus Center.

Watch for it next week!

15 years ago today at UMass.....

Thursday, September 18, 1969.

University of Massachusetts President John W. Lederle called on students, faculty members and administrators to make the college a school with "soul" in the annual convocation address.

The Undergraduate Student Senate donated $1600 to a student group organizing a so-called Free University City which called for tents and domes to be built outside of Southwest where students could live and learn in.

The Board of Trustees began plans to select a new UMass President to replace retiring Lederle.

Compiled by RITA MURPHY.

Today's D.C. Menu

Lunch

Hamburger on roll
Liver and Onions

Basics Lunch

Golden Burgers
Fresh Zucchini Pie

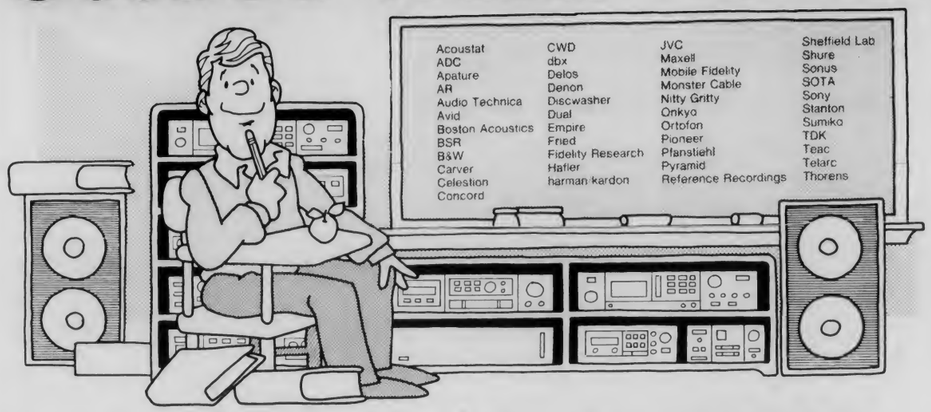
Basics Dinner

Polynesian Vegetables
Italian Tofu Balls and Sauce
Grinder Roll
Vegetarian Antipasto with Bread Sticks

Dinner

Turkey Divan
Fisherman's Plate, Tartar Sauce, Cocktail Sauce
Roman Ham Plate with Macaroni Salad
Super Scooper Cones

Stereo with Class.



Acoustat, ADC, Apature, AR, Audio Technica, Avid, Boston Acoustics, BSR, B&W, Carver, Celestion, Concord, CWD, dbx, Delos, Denon, Discwasher, Dual, Empire, Fried, Fidelity Research, Hafler, harman kardon, JVC, Maxell, Mobile Fidelity, Monster Cable, Nitty Gritty, Onkyo, Ortofon, Pioneer, Pfanstiehl, Pyramid, Reference Recordings, Sheffield Lab, Shure, Sonus, SOTA, Sony, Stanton, Sumiko, TDK, Teac, Telarc, Thorens

Basic Economics

SONY STR-VX250 Receiver
JVC LA-120 Turntable
SHURE M92E Cartridge
BSR 82 Speakers
$299

Mass Communication

SONY STR-VX350 Receiver
PS-LX310 Turntable
L727E Cartridge
Boston Acoustics A60 Speakers.
$499

Applied Physics

ONKYO TX-15 Receiver
JVC LA-120 Turntable
ortofon OM-5E Cartridge
Boston A40 Speakers
$379

Music Appreciation

ONKYO TX-35 Receiver
TA-2022 Cassette Deck
Dual CS-515-65 Turntable
B&W DM-110 Speakers.
$869

Independent Study

CARVER Receiver $749
SONY CDP-200 Compact Disc Player $399
PIONEER KP-2000 $119

Library Science

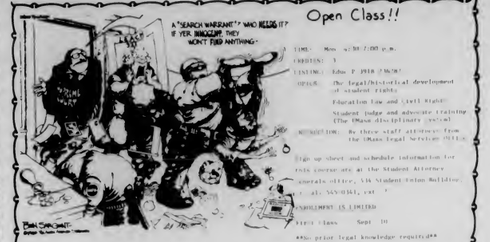
harman/kardon CD-191 including calibration $330
ONKYO TA-2022 including head cleaning fluid $149

All components are pre-tested and backed by Sound & Music's factory authorized service department. A two-week return privilege and a six-week lay-away option are available.

Sound & Music

90-92 King St. [Rte 5], Northampton • Mon-Sat 10-5:30, Thu 'til 9
VISA, MasterCard, American Express • Financing Available • 584-9547

LAMBDA CHI ALPHA
OPEN RUSH
All University Men Invited
September 11, 12, 13, 18
9 - 11 pm
FREE REFRESHMENTS
374 N. Pleasant St. 253-9032
(the Blue House)



LAW, HIGHER ED + STUDENT DISCIPLINE

UPC Productions Duke Ellington Committee presents REGGAE

BLACK UHURU
WITH SLY DUNBAR & ROB SHAKESPEARE AND SPECIAL GUEST

Wed. Sept. 19 S.U.B. UMass

STUDENTS $9.50
PUBLIC $11.50
Tickets still available

UMass ID required to enter with Student ticket

Tickets on sale at Fine Arts Center, Springfield Civic Center, and Stop & Shop locations in Northampton, Holyoke, Greenfield and Pittsfield.
No cans, bottles, cameras or recording devices.

HELP WANTED:

Snow Shovelers

EARN:

Up To $7.50 per hour

By Shoveling snow in dormitory areas.

MAKE MONEY THIS WINTER

APPLY AT:
SGA PRESIDENTS OFFICE
406 STUDENT UNION
(Above the Credit Union)

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIED

Monday - Thursday 8:45 - 3:45 • Friday 8:45 - 2:30 • Cash in advance • 5 consecutive days 5% discount • 10 consecutive days 10% discount • 15 consecutive days 15% discount • phone number free

ADVERTISING

Advertise FREE in the RIVER VALLEY AD. Advertise items you want to sell or buy. Call 532-9498

ATTENTION: WE'RE HIRING DJ'S

RACK-A-DISC RACK-A-VIDEO is hiring DJ's. Send resume to: PO Box 48, Amherst, MA 01004

AUTO FOR SALE

73 Saab 96 A classic! BO 6-4548, 4563

1977 VW Scirocco, 4 spd, AC, 60,000 mi, $1500 or best offer 546-4745

1978 Ford Fiesta S, original owner, ex cellent condition, service records, $1700 774-7366 evenings

VW Camper 1973 excellent shape, new engine nettery muffler 253-7901 evening 7 to 10

1978 Pontiac LeMans, AM/FM cassette stereo, cruise, $2950/best offer 256-1291

1976 Chevy Malibu, 2 door hardtop. In good running condition. Best offer over $1,000. call 549-0528

1972 Pontiac Ventura dependable passed June inspection $600.00 best offer 545-2690

81 VW Rabbit Covertible. 35 mpg, AM/FM cass stereo, lifetime rustproof, new shocks and exhaust, must sell. 788-0000

1973 Malibu good engine no body rust call for details 549-4354 late eves $800 or BO

73 Buick Classic luxury car beautiful shape must sell 600 or BO 549-1164

Dodge customized Van '77 engine in gd running order cstm int call 549-4682

BOLTWOOD PROJECT

Students needed for programs with the developmentally disabled. Credit available. Valuable experience. Info Meetings 9-17, 9-20, 2-24 7 pm CC rm 917

ENTERTAINMENT

VIDEO VIDEO VIDEO VIDEO Rack-A-Video entertainment giant 10 and 15 foot screens for dorms and Greeks. MTV video music call 549-7144

Rack-A-Disc Rack-A-Video entertainment guaranteed events for Disc Jockeys, Bands and Video. Call 549-7144

WICKED AND WILD DJ's audio and visual entertainment for the 80's 584-6712

FOR SALE

SOUNDESIGN STEREO Originally $900. 2 years old. $469. Dresser $40. 253-3692

Apartment furniture! Bed, dresser, bookcase, mirrors, chairs etc. 256-0682 after 5 pm

Sachs Moped 1981 very good condition drive on campus! $350/BO. 253-2284 Caroline

Speakers AR 18 perfect size for dorm room in great cond. powerful 100 wt capability Great sound $100 call Rick 253-2720

Sylvania 19 inch color TV 1150 please call 253-2410

Portable typewriter for sale call 549-1358 Ingrid

Dorm refrigerator one year old after 5 PM any day 549-7189

1980 Honda CX500DL helmet & luggage included $1300 call Chris (eves) 665-2445

12 speed Fuji for sale fine running condition $100 549-5456

Terminal: Bantam 550 with Modem. Good condition. Perfect for COINS 121/123 $300. Call Mike 546-8817

Guitar: Music Man Sabre. Maple neck, active electronics. Like new with case $300. Amp: Peavey Bandit, 2 years old, 50W, 12" speaker, active tone controls $150 or $400 for both. Mike 546-6817

Dorm refrigerator 2.5 cubic foot Sany $60, table top oven $25, 2 element hot plate $15, $80 for all 1-967-7845 after 6

Kitchen table & 4 chairs $125 or BO 549-0867

Gibson Les Paul copy with various effects $200 or BO also TUSC 60 watt amplifier almost new $200 firm. Please call Dave at 253-3368

Computerheads! Don't rent a Decwriter, buy mine. $700 complete and excellent call Ted 253-7985

UMASS SKI CLUB

Be part of the tradition. Information and membership table at Campus Center Concourse Wed Fri. Special price - join before Oct 1 for $7.00

HELP WANTED

Maintenance person wanted 2 hrs per day, Mon-Fri, mornings. Duties include cleaning office and maintaining equipment. Mechanical aptitude and work/study required. Apply in person 9-4 Mon-Fri at 113 CC (Collegian office)

People people wanted for light cleanup at Fraternity. Mon thru Sun Free meals and more. Call Mark after 4 549-3744

Attention! Public Relations, Journalists, Graphic Designers. The SGA Communications Office is now hiring. Great opportunity to develop your portfolio! WS and non WS jobs available. See Kelley Riley in 423 Student Union for application. Deadline is 9/21/84

Local advertising agency seeks student intern. Call 586-2135

Homecooked meals exchanged for kitchen help 10 hours a week call 253-9071 ask for Wheaty

Homemakers, Home Health Aide positions available immediately. Part time, flexible hours. Free training offered. Call Home Care Services for more information. 586-3886

Redemption Staff: Be part of the only student run redemption service in Mass. Exp with cash handling & numbers. Must have license & workstudy. Apply 306 SUB 545-0618

Work study positions Union Video Center S.U.B. no experience req.

Student Rep. wanted, earn commission and travel. Lowest prices on campus. Town Tours 617-321-3993

Montreal Weekend Party Nov. 2-4 $68 includes RT transportation from your campus, 3 saves 2 nights hotel in DT Montreal Welcome Party all taxes and tips drinking age 18 optional Bruins Montreal tickets call Harley TOWN TOURS 482 Main St Malden, MA 617 321-3993

Part time jobs perfect for students! Get experience, get paid for political work. Hazardous waste clean-up, energy issues, voter education. Mass Fair Share is building a part-time staff in public education and fundraising. Hours 5-10 PM. Flexible schedule $60 - $120/wk. Call 586-8713

Nursing Students Join our growing staff. Nurse's Aides needed. Full-time, part-time, any shift. Home care, private duty, or staff relief. One year recent experience required. Medical Personnel Pool 586-7365

Part time help wanted — evenings & weekends - control desk and prn chasers. Must be neat in appearance and reliable. Apply in person. Northampton Bowl, 525 Pleasant St. Northampton, Mass

Enthusiastic Students to apply Asst. to the Speaker/Student Senate. Work on student/campus/social issues. Experience w/in SGA helpful, but not necessary. 10 hrs./wk. $3.35/hr. For more details call 545-0341. Pick-up applications in rm. 420 SUB. Application deadline Oct. 1, 4:00 pm. SGA is an AA/EOE

The Student Center for Educational Research and Advocacy is hiring undergrads to learn political organizing & student-interest research skills. SCERA also has positions for a writer/editor, resource center staff person and for the anti-racism team. 10 hrs/wk. $3.35/hr. Work study & non-work study. Applications at 420 Student Union. Applications due 9/26. SCERA is an AA/EEO employer.

Auditor needed. SGA Treasurer's Office must be able to analyze and apply financial information. 10-15 hrs/wk. $3.35/hr. Workstudy or non-workstudy. Applications in 417 Student Union Building. Deadline September 27 at noon. AA/EOE

Exotic Dancers wanted full or part time 4 to 12 tel 247-5662

INSTRUCTION

Know your car. Basic Automobile Workshop. 28 hours including classroom and shop. Limited enrollment 253-2096

LOST

Class Ring 86 black onyx parents will kill me call Dvan of Students Office or Students Affairs Office 5-2684

MANICURIST WANTED

Manicurist wanted for new nail salon in Amherst call office 1-283-3837

MOTORCYCLES

1975 Honda CB360T, 16800 miles, new tires, chain, battery last year $500/BO 549-0437

PERSONALS

Delta Upsilon Open Rush Tues 18 Wed 19 9 pm Come check out the advantages that Fraternity life can offer. Any questions call 549-3831

Dear Robin of McKimmey, I long to carry you away to my new house in the Berkshires for the most romantic, spellbinding weekend of your life.

To the BUS DRIVER with the brown hair, maroon pants, & green shirt who picked me up at Northwood Apt. last Thursday night at 5:00. I'd really love to meet you. If you're interested, reply through the Personals. The girl in the tan jacket

PHOTOGRAPHERS! UMass Photo Coop is looking for interested people to staff the store. Many positions available. Come to the organizational meeting: Wed. 9/19 in Campus Center Room 802 at 7 pm.

Pageto, Sagepol Good Luck this semester! Love always, Sweet Pea

The Boston Party Cruise 800 Boston women have bought tickets 200 tickets left for UMass men call Brian 549-1466

RENT AN APARTMENT

2 bedroom apt in N. Amherst is available Sept. 22 apartment is on bus rt rent is $385 + call 549-5415

REWARD

Reward. Lost gold watch and pearl ring NOW locker room or vicinity inside pocket of denim jacket. Extreme sentimental value. I am going crazy without these things! No quest! 256-0102

RIDE WANTED

Ride from Cerrilage Shops to Northwood Apts on Mon and Tu after midnight. Call evenings 253-9894 (M, Tu, F) or 665-4823. Ask for Mike

ROOMMATE WANTED

Desireable $100.00 - $200.00 monthly. Negotiable. Northampton. Bueline. Sharon 586-7750. Joel: 1-532-4536

Male wanted to share 2 bedroom Presidential Apartment low rent 549-2808

Female to share one bedroom in two bedroom Southwood Apt. Call Beth or Cathy at 256-1619

Room available in a four bedroom apt $120.00 per month. On bus line, very big in Riverglade Apts call 256-1326

Share 2 bedroom apt in Northwood with 2 others cheap rent and utilities call Jay 665-3267

Shere apt w/2 great people bus rt $200 includes H & HW Belchtwn Ctr 323-6067

Sports

The men's soccer team is looking for student managers. Anyone interested should call coach Jeff Gettler at 545-3120 for more information.

Field hockey hits road to face Boston College

Stickers look for third win

By ED HAYWARD
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts field hockey team looks to better its record to 3-1 as the Minutemen take on a revitalized Boston College team tonight in Chestnut Hill.

"Up until this year they've been a weak team; an opponent we could count on beating," said UMass coach Pam Hixon. "But that's all changed now. They have a new head coach and a new group. We're seeing them in a different light."

Hixon expects a physical game from the Eagles as well as a fast one but that's about all. "They're a hard hitting team and they're quick but they don't have a lot of skill," Hixon said.

Hixon also sees the artificial playing surface as having an influence on the contest. "It's an entirely different game on turf. The game is much faster and ball control becomes even more important," Hixon said.

UMass-B.C.

Where: Alumni Field, Boston College
When: 7 p.m.
Last season: UMass 2, BC 0.
Players to watch: Megan Donnelly with three goals and an assist so far this season shoots penalty corners.

Although UMass defeated Michigan 5-0 in their last game the Minutemen could have scored more goals. But the team failed to capitalize on numerous opportunities resulting from penalty corners. In tonight's game, Hixon hopes for better production from penalty corner situations.

"We want to improve on converting our penalty corners to shots-on-goal. This will be important tomorrow. The turf will help us because the ball plays much truer than on natural grass," Hixon said.

While the Minutemen forwards work to convert the penalty corners on the offensive side of the field, the UMass defenders will have a big job to do according to Hixon.

"We want to keep the ball outside our 25-yard line. The fewer changes we give them to score the better our chances to win," said Hixon.

Overall, Hixon just looks for her team to continnue its tenacious style of play. "We're going to have to remain heads-up and keep alert. They (the Eagles) play a man-to-man so we'll have to keep on top and continue to execute," Hixon said.

UMass' leading scorer is junior midfielder Megan Donnelly who has three thus far. Senior co-captain Pam Moryl follows closely with two goals. Freshman goalie Lynn Carlson will probably get the start against B.C. after successfully shutting out Michigan with an outstanding debut in last Thursday's game.

Collegian photo by Paul Desmarais

UMass goalie Lynn Carlson, here against Michigan, faces Boston College today

Volleyball tonight

By ROGER CHAPMAN
Collegian Correspondent

The Univeristy of Massachusetts' volleyball team hopes to rebound from its third place finish in the UMass Invitational with a match today against Lowell.

The Minutemen, 4-2, defeated American International College in their first match before going 3-2 last weekend in their own tourney.

Freshman Marcy Guiliotis has been playing well for the team. The match is at Boyden Gym at 7 p.m.

The UMass water polo team is also looking to shake off a bad tournament. Th Minutemen face Amherst College today at Amherst at 5:30. UMass has a 1-1 record with the Jeffs this season, winning at home and losing at the MIT tourney. They went 1-3 in the tournament.

sports notices

The intramural department needs officials for flag football, co-rec football and soccer. Sign up in the intramural office in Boyden 215. Work-study and non work-study positions available. Play starts right away so come down. Call 5-2693 for more information.

A Heisman for B.C. Flutie can go with no Bo

Collegian photo by David P. Dreher

UMass tailback George Barnwell turns the corner against Lehigh

Dan Leberfeld

Boston College quarterback Doug Flutie should have the Heisman trophy in his corner now. If he plays his cards right and continues his stupendous play, he will be on stage in New York accepting his coveted award come spring.

The 5-9 3/4 senior's chief rival for the award, Auburn tailback Bo Jackson, is out for the season with a shoulder separation suffered during the Tiger's loss to Texas on Saturday. The junior speedster was Flutie's biggest competition.

Forget about Napolean McCallum (Navy),Bill Fralic (Pittsburgh), Johnnie Jones (Tennessee), Ray Childress (Texas), or Clara Peller (Wendy's), it was Flutie or Jackson. Now Flutie stands alone. He controls his own destiny.

It would be Flutie over Jackson anyway simply because the Natick navigator is the most exciting player to hit the college ranks since Gail Sayers was at Kansas. He has almost singlehandedly taken a Division 1 program out of the dumpster and into the national spotlight and the Top 20 rankings that go with it.

The only reason Flutie might not get the Heisman is because of his draftability in the NFL. The Heisman selection committee might be leary about giving their award to a player who will not be picked in the first round of the draft. No matter what he does on the field, no NFL team will invest a first round pick on a small quarterback.

The committee won't let this deter them. They will give it to him barring injury and total collapse.

— — —

The deregulation of college football on television was a big mistake. The schools are now losing megabucks. When the NCAA sanctioned all the games, the schools were raking in the dough. Now that the courts have ruled in favor of the schools negotiating their own deals, the roof has caved in on many of the schools financially.

Now the television market is oversaturated with games. There are too many games and not enough advertisers and viewers. Schools like Oklahoma, Georgia, Boston College and Pittsburgh are said to be losing millions. Maybe if they develop Keith Jackson clones and sell them to these syndication companies they will do little better. What is college football without Jackson and his emphatic cries of "Fumble."

— — —

People, Places and Things — Notre Dame could have the most talented college football team ever assembled this year. Headman Gerry Faust has plucked at least 10 of the nations top 100 high school seniors each year while at South Bend. It is starting to become obvious that he is a super recruiter and a weak X's and O's coach. His time is running out ... Former UMass standout Joe McLaughlin is now starting at inside linebacker for the Giants ... Charlie Pell is out at Florida after the NCAA threw the book at them for many violations. Look for former Florida standout and Heisman trophy winnner Steve Spurrier to take over. He is now the coach of the USFL's Tampa Bay Bandits ... UMass tailback George Barnwell is related to the Los Angeles Raiders starting wide receiver Malcolm Barnwell ... UMass coach Bob Stull's former boss at the University of Washington, Don James was acclaimed as the best coach in America by Sports Illustrated ... Jerry Rice, a wide receiver at Mississippi Valley State, could be the first player picked in the 1985 draft. He caught 17 passes for 300 yards inn their opener. Don't laugh, there in the same divison as UMass ... A few highly ranked schools are going to suffer through long seasons because of quarterback woes. Pittsburgh, Michigan and Alabama come to mind.

sports at a glance

UMass schedule:
Volleyball: vs. Lowell at Boyden, 7 p.m.
Field Hockey, at Boston College, 7 p.m.
Water Polo: at Amherst, 5:30 p.m.

The Massachusetts Daily NEW ENGLAND'S LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY

Collegian

Volume CXIV, Issue 78 UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AMHERST (545-3500) Wednesday, September 19, 1984

SWAG angry at removal of room furniture

By DANIEL SOBEL
Collegian Staff

Students from the Southwest Area Government (SWAG) voiced anger and frustration in a meeting with the Housing Services Administration Tuesday, concerning furniture removed from dormitory rooms last summer.

Mirrors, desk lamps, soft chairs, telephone tables, and corkboard were removed from Southwest dorms this summer under a five year capital improvement plan proposed by the University of Massachusetts Residential Committee.

John Findlay, the assistant director for Maintenance Operations said the items were removed to equate the type and amount of furniture across campus. The goal is to have a standardized compliment of furniture throughout the campus he said.

"Students are paying for storage space. They paid for the removal of furniture and now they're suffering."
—SWAG co-President Bill Collins

At the meeting, SWAG co-President Bill Collins complained that students are suffering without furniture, and "funding for anything new will have to come off student's backs." Collins also said he was irritated about lack of communication between administation and students.

"I had no knowledge they were taking furniture out of the rooms. Students weren't contacted," Collins said.

Catherine Turner, co-vice President of SWAG said she didn't know why her furniture was taken until she went to the meeting to find out.

According to the UMass housing contract, which all dormitory residents must sign, the University is not obligated to provide any of the items that have been removed.

Assistant to the speaker of the Student Senate, Autumn Maki complained about lack of lighting and comfort chairs in the rooms.

Collins said many students who have bought their own mirrors will end up paying for new University mirrors through student fees. He added that he saw piles of mirrors, tables, and cork boards piled outside Crampton dormitory unatended this summer.

"Anyone could have easily come by and stolen them," he said.

Collins said that unused furniture is locked in storage areas and empty barns in Hadley.

"Students are paying for storage space. They paid for the removal of furniture and now they're suffering," he said.

The Housing Services schedule predicts that current basic room items- beds, drawers, desks, shelves- will be replaced with new ones by July 1985.

Collegian photo by Paul Desmarais

GERONIMO — Steve Margiotta, a sophomore HRTA major, does a swan dive off the cliff at Puffers Pond Tuesday.

Complaints of 'rowdyism' kill kegs, bring more police

By TOM MIDDLETON
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts Department of Public Safety will prohibit beer kegs at tailgate parties, and send more police to patrol future football games, according to the Director of Public Safety Gerald O'Neil.

O'Neil said Massachusetts state law prohibits the transportation of more than eight gallons of beer at one time. A keg contains 15½ gallons.

Members of the Department of Public Safety and the Athletic Department met yesterday with Student Government Association co-President Rick Patrick and assistant tot he speaker Autumn Maki, to discuss the problem of "rowdyism" outside the games.

Phil Cavanaugh of the public safety department said, "We must look at this from a realistic point of view, as a law enforcement agency".

"We can't allow kegs because they're against the law," he said.

"I'm going to have to put extra officers (on duty) O'Neil said. It will be about "one officer per 500 people," he said.

"I have contacted the physical plant and they will bring down extra trash barrels for the next game," he said.

After the Sept. 8 football game with Lehigh University The department of public safety produced a memorandum with complaints they had received from University alumni and members of the community about the "rowdy" situation in the parking lot.

One of the letters read, "My children were frightened and my guests disgusted and I was and still am angry," according to the memorandum.

"I for one, don't plan to attend any more games at the stadium unless there is a concerted effort to deal with alcohol abuse there," one person stated in a letter.

The memorandum listed the problems as "people jumping on cars, throwing bottles and cans around" and people standing in front of an ambulance as it was trying to leave on an emergency."

Cavanaugh said parking would be controlled more tightly and that an access gate may be opened on the south side of the stadium to "facilitate traffic and pedestrians before and after games."

"Attitudes are going to have to change. It's a community problem. We will assign officers to deal with rowdyism and vandalism to cars and hopefully we can keep the roads clear."

Reagan has big lead says pollster Gallup

By MICHELLE HYDE
Collegian Staff

National pollster George Gallup, Jr. told 500 University of Massachusetts students last night that if the Presidential election were held today, President Ronald Reagan would win "in a landslide" comparable to former President Nixon's victory over Senator George McGovern in 1972.

Gallup, who spoke in the Student Union Ballroom as part of the Distinguished Visitors Program lecture series said the Democratic cause is "hopeless," but "certain imponderables remain."

The Gallup latest poll shows that Reagan would receive 55 percent of the vote, while Mondale would receive 40 percent.

"There is the whole question of voter turnout, which is expected to be "considerably higher this year," he said.

The number of blacks and whites registered to vote is equal for the first time in history," Gallup said.

"With a better turnout, the better the chances are for the Democrats, especially with more registered women and black voters," Gallup said.

Gallup noted that people are apathetic about voting because "they see many things wrong with the electoral process."

"Non-voting is really voting, but (it is a vote) against the electoral process."

Voters are paying more attention to the number two spot" and Ferraro as a vice-presidential candidate, he said.

A recent poll showed that 80 percent of the population would be willing to vote for a woman presidential candidate, while in 1937 only 1 percent would consider it, he said.

Polls also show that people are more willing to vote for Catholics, Jews and Blacks, Gallup said.

"It's one of the most dramatic trends in the history of the Gallup poll," he said.

Gallup said that Ferraro's candidacy could have negative effects on the Democratic campaign.

"Most feel a man would deal better with foreign policy and some domestic issues," with the exception of the "quality of life" issue, he said.

Gallup said despite the attention of being paid to Ferraro, "people almost invariably vote for the top of the ticket. It doesn't matter who's on the bottom of the ticket."

Reagan's strongest advantage over Mondale, Gallup said, is a growing consumer optimism.

He said polls indicate record highs of "super optimists," people who say their economic situations have improved over the past year and who expect them to further improve next year.

"People are satisfied with the way things have been going in the nation," he said.

But Gallup said nonwhites are less satisfied than whites, and cited this as "continual evidence of two Americas."

"Nearly half of the non-whites polled said there was a time during the past year when they couldn't buy food, medical supplies or clothing at any given week."

Inside:

GE donates money to engineering dept.....pg3
Shamie upsets Richardson in primary.....pg5
Other election news.....pg6
Voleyball pounds Lowell.....

"Whisky drums some troubles and floats a lot more."
—Robert C. Edwards

from the people who gave you "The Jazz Singer"

CCA 5, 7, 9, 11

$1.00 @ 5, $1.50 @ 7, 9, 11

R

From Warner Bros. A Warner Communications Company

"...an awesomely funny movie... in the tradition of burlesque and the Marx Brothers...bursts of lunacy from left field."
— Peter Schjeldahl N.Y. TIMES

"THE FUNNIEST MOVIE I'VE EVER SEEN... A CONSISTENT BELLY LAUGH."
ATLANTA JOURNAL AND CONSTITUTION

Reagan refuses steel tariff

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan on Tuesday rejected the American steel industry's request for trade protection against imports, saying quotas and tariffs would put at risk "thousands of jobs... in other sectors of the U.S. economy."

Instead the president said he would step up enforcement of existing unfair trade laws and negotiate voluntary agreements with problem nations which have sharply increased steel shipments to the United States.

In refusing to aid the steel industry, Reagan said the U.S. International Trade Commission's proposal to put quotas and tariffs on 7 percent of all steel imports was not in the national economic interest.

Thousands of jobs in steel fabricating and other consuming industries might be affected by compensation or retaliation measures that trading partners would be entitled to take, Reagan said in a statement.

Under a policy outlined in the statement, U.S. Trade Representative Bill Brock will negotiate "surge control" arrangements with countries that are subsidizing imports, dumping them at discounted prices, or diverting them to the United States to fill gaps left by other countries.

In addition, the administration said it will support legislation to make all voluntary agreements and surge control arrangements enforceable at U.S. borders.

Today's Staff

Night Editor: Gerry deSimas
Copy Editor: Taara Eden Hoffman
Layout Tech: Peter Soderberg
Photo Tech: Paul Desmarais
Production Supervisor: Lesley Clark
Production: Dode Levenson, Chris Meagher, Fran Weinberg, Karen Darr, Lynn Nigro, David Hazeltine, Laura Yudow

ALTERED STATES

7, 9 and 11 pm
Friday, Sept. 21, 1984
Mahar Aud.
Admission $1.50

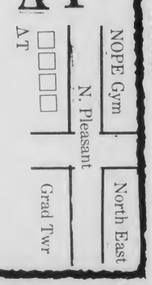
Delta Upsilon Fraternity

OPEN RUSH

Wed 19 at 9:00 p.m.

778 No. Pleasant St.
549-3831

ΔΤ



OFF CAMPUS UNDERGRADUATES

Nomination Papers to the Commuter Area Government are available now.
Get involved in your Area Government.
Help plan activities for the school year.

Papers available at 404 SUB
Deadline for returning papers is Friday Sept. 21

Leaping Leprechauns...

It's Halfway to St. Pat's Day!

Thurs. Sept. 20th
Traditional Cornbeef and Cabbage Dinner
5:00 - 9:30

Prizes Prizes

Irish Music
9 - ?
in Webster's Lounge
at Plumbley's

Plumbley's
off the common

30 Boltwood Walk, Amherst

Harp & Guiness

Collegian photo by Paul Desmarais

Hugh Clarke, a plant pathology technician waters the plants in a greenhouse in Morrill.

General Electric and others give money to Engineering

By CHRIS POON
Collegian Correspondent

The School of Engineering's Capital Campaign at the University of Massachusetts has collected $10 million from industries over the past five years, including $160,000 from General Electric, according to James John, dean of engineering.

John said approximately 25 industries nationwide have contributed to the UMass Engineering Capital Campaign.

"The companies that contribute to the campaign provide financial support and equipment," John said. He said this way industries keep in contact with student engineers who may later choose to work for them.

Other industries that have contributed to the Capital Campaign include the Exxon Corporation, Du Pont and Digital, John said.

The General Electric Company of Pittsfield recently contributed $43,000 to the engineering department at UMass. GE has committed a total of $160,000 to support several engineering programs at the University, John said.

The $43,000 presented Aug. 27 at GE's Pittsfield plant was the final payment in a series of multi-year commitments by the GE Foundation to the engineering department.

"The money given by the foundatiuor serves an educational purpose," John said. "There is no direct return to the company."

The money committed to the engineering department by GE has supported the UMass Minority Engineering Program, the curriculum development for the CAD/CAM (computer aided design/computer-aided manufacturing) program, and fellowships in polymer science.

Additional funds have been provided by GE for a mechanical engineering assembly project design, John said. GE has also donated a robot arm valued at $80,000 to the department for computer and informational sciences, he said.

GE's Pittsfield branch will continue to support UMass and about 20 other schools in the future, John said.

Until violence stops, shelter necessary for battered women

By REBECCA THATCHER
Collegian Staff

Shelter for battered women will continue to be necessary until people change their attitudes towards violence within relationships, according to a worker at the Holyoke Womanshelter.

"For some reason if violence occurs between two strangers it's assault and battery--a crime. But if it occurs between a husband and wife, the attitude is, " A man's home is his castle and what he does is his own business," said Heather Johnson, a fundraiser and community educator at the Womanshelter.

Johnson said the process of changing attitudes is a slow one because society has condoned or ignored violence against women for so long.

In South Dakota it is still legal for husbands to beat wives, Johnson said. The term "rule of thumb" originated in England because it was against the law for a man to beat his wife with anything less narrow than a thumb.

"People always ask, Why doesn't a battered woman leave home? But they never ask, Why does the man keep beating her?," Johnson said.

Battered women, she said, have many reasons for not leaving.

"When a woman has been beaten for a long time, she suffers emotional abuse which causes very low self-esteem," Johnson said. This lack of confidence often prevents them from taking action, she said.

"People always ask, why doesn't a battered woman leave (home)? But they never ask 'Why does the man keep beating her?'"
—Heather Johnson of Holyoke Womanshelter

If a woman has no job skills or if she has small children, economic conditions can prevent her from leaving, Johnson said.

They may also face the threat of retaliation if they leave, she said.

Johnson said it is a common misconception that battering only occurs among the poor.

"We get calls from professor's and doctor's wives, people from all walks of life," she said.

Students often feel that battering only happens to married women. But Johnson said controlling behavior and abusive language can lead to a push and a shove "which can escalate to beating" by boyfriends as well.

The Womanshelter in Holyoke is staffed by over 100 volunteers, interns and paid workers, Johnson said.

"Working there is stressful but rewarding," she said. "It is great to see a woman get back on her feet."

She said the center empowers women by explaining the possible courses of action such as leaving home, court restraining, or vacating orders. It helps them decide what to do, she said.

"They have been in powerless positions," she said, "telling (rather than helping) them what to do perpetrates their powerlessness."

The location of the center is kept a secret for the safety of the women there, she said.

Where has all the money gone, asks BCP committee

By SEAN CASEY
Collegian Staff

The planning committee for Bilingual Education Week at the University of Massachusetts is looking for $5,000 which Dennis L. Madison, vice-chancellor of student affairs, says they should have.

While appearing before the University's Graduate Student Senate last night, George Vazquez, Chairman of the Third World Caucus, claimed that $5,000 verbally allocated for the event by the Student Activities Office (SAO) has not been received by the Bilingual Collegiate Program. "This is hindering the committee in meeting expenses,"Vazquez said.

"I don't think the Student Activities office (SAO)will give us the full $5,000," Vazquez said.

"I do think some funds will be there (from the SAO) sooner or later, but we've been informed that it could take five or six weeks," Vazquez added.

Madson said the money promised to BCP by his office and Chancellor Joseph Duffey's office.

Madson said the money was promised to BCP by his office and Chancellor Joseph Duffey's office."The $5,000 was promised six to seven weeks ago," Madson said. He does not know why the planning committee claims the BCP doesn't have it.

"I certainly hope we are well under way with the organization and coordination of the events," Madson said.

The celebration is to be held to mark the tenth anniversary of the University's Bilingual Collegiate Program (BCP) and is scheduled for the week of September 29th through October 6th.

The celebration is budgeted at $9,320. The planning committee has received $3,000 from the Dean of Students Office, $2400 from the Student Government Association and $500 from the Graduate Student Senate.

Women, war topic of lecture

Writer and peace activist Grace Paley, professor of language and literature at Sarah Lawrence College in New York, will speak on "Women and War: Choices and Connections," at Hampshire College tonight at 7:30 pm in the main lecture hall of Franklin Patterson Hall.

This lecture is the first in a semester-long series on "The Deadly Connection: U.S. Intervention and the Prospects of Nuclear War in the Age of Reagan," sponsored by the Samuel Rubin Foundation, Hampshire's Civil Liberties and Public Policy Program, and the feminist studies program at Hampshire College.

Paley has a long history of political activism, including involvement in the feminist anti-militarist movement. She also was an active participant in the women's peace camp at Senaca Falls, New York, last year.

Paley is the author of two collections of short stories, Enormous Changes at the Last Minute, and The Little Disturbances of Man. Her writings have also appeared in many magazines, including The New Yorker, The Atlantic Monthly, and Esquire Magazine.

At 3:30 pm today, Paley will read from her new work in the east lecture hall of Franklin Patterson Hall at Hampshire College.

—TAARA EDEN HOFFMAN

Collegian photo by Paul Desmarais

HANG UP — This Bartlett Hall student had a unique solution to the lack of bicycle parking space Tuesday afternoon.

Parking Lot 22 sees fourth break-in, theft

A car radio and radar detector valued at $450 were removed from an automobile in Parking Lot 22 near Southwest, police said. The theft was reported at 9:30 p.m. Monday and is the fourth break-in and theft of a car stereo or radio in Lot 22 over the past three days.

Jewelry and radio equipment worth $450 were stolen Monday from a dormitory room in Mackimmie. Police said that the door of the room was left open.

—RICHARD MARTIN

家酒園南湖
Hunan Garden
Restaurant
MANDARIN/SZECHUEN CUISINE

The Best Chinese Food
Try Our New
Luncheon Specials From $2.25 served 11 a.m.-3 p.m.
and
New Buffet & Sunday Brunch ALL YOU CAN EAT $5.25
Buffet Served 5-8 Mon.-Thurs.
Brunch Served Sunday 11:30-3
Children under 10 $3.00

1) Beef with Fresh Mushrooms
2) Chicken Fingers
3) Chicken Wings
4) Chinese BBQ Pork
5) Broccoli in Oyster Sauce
6) Sweet & Sour Chicken
7) Pan Fried Rice
8) Pan Fried Noodles with Chicken
9) Pan Fried Ravioli
10) Hot & Sour Soup

Luncheon Specials & Take-out Service
Full Cocktail Menu
Sun.-Thurs. 11:30 a.m.-10 p.m.
Fri. & Sat. 11:30 a.m.-11 p.m.
10 Belchertown Road
at Rte. 9, Amherst
256-0252

No teacher exams argues UM dean

Should school teachers be rated according to performance or according to standardized tests? A University of Massachusetts professor recently joined the debate on this question on national television.

Mario Fantini, dean of the School of Education, appeared on CBS Nightwatch last week to argue against the tests, opposing U. Emily Feistritzer, director of the National Center for Educational Information, the agency that originated a recent study proposing teacher exams.

Fantini also wrote an editorial in the newspaper USA Today which stated that "no written test, no matter how long or well designed, can replace demonstrated competence with children during carefully supervised practice, such as internships."

The national tests would be designed to test newly-graduated teachers. Fantini said in an interview that he is opposed to the tests because they cannot test a teacher's ability to "motivate and inspire students, to help them use their potential."

Fantini also said he believes there is "no substitute for performance." He believes that "teaching is an art," and the standardized tests could be passed by "robots."

Fantini recieved his M.A. from Temple University and his doctorate from Harvard. He is a nationally known educator and speaker, and has been dean of the School of Education at UMass for seven years.

—WILLIAM COLLINS

MASS. APPROVED INSPECTION STATION
RADIAL TIRE SALE
P155/80R13
$29.95
-Includes Mounting- plus MA State Tax
North Amherst Tire & Auto Center
Full Service Tire Store
78 Sunderland Rd., No. Amherst, MA
Across from Wahtba's Store
549-4704

PERSONALIZED STYLE HAIRCUTS
$7.00 (with this coupon)
$10.00 with Shampoo and Blow Dry
$11.50 Long Hair
Please Call for an Appointment
Expires 9/30/84
Styles by Deborah
35 University Drive
Amherst, MA 549-5610
FREE CONSULTATIONS

Golden Oppurtunity at Lodestone on sale
Be original. Express yourself. Join in on today's high fashion look with your very own 14K gold fingernail by IMG. Or wear a diamond nail for that special occasion.
13 N. Pleasant Street, Amherst 256-0591
SELLING GOLD JEWELRY AT UNBEATABLE PRICES

NOW MORE CONVENIENT THAN EVER
GRAND OPENING
At the junction of Routes 9 and 116
NOW IN HADLEY!
MUFFLERS • BRAKES • EXHAUST
STRUTS • SHOCKS • MORE
TRUST THE MIDAS TOUCH FOR VALUE
FREE
New England Road Map
Just drive in for a free inspection of your vehicle's exhaust, muffler, brakes, struts, or shocks. No appointment necessary: we're ready when you are!
FREE WRITTEN ESTIMATES
NORTHAMPTON 143 King Street 586-4840
MIDAS®
HADLEY Junction Rtes. 9 & 116 586-9991

BUENOS DEALS
20% Off Appetizers and Dinner!
Take a break from the books without busting your budget. Present this ad for a 20% discount on appetizers and dinner at GuadalaHARRY'S.
It's HARRY'S way of saying welcome to college students. Make it your way to enjoy the best Mexican food South of the Charles River — at the best prices North of the border!
Buenos deals at GuadalaHARRY's.
Limit of 2 guests per coupon.
(Offer expires Oct. 19, 1984)
May not be used in conjunction with any other discount or promotion.
20 Clinton Street, Boston next to Quincy Market 720-1190
GuadalaHARRY'S A Great Mexican Place
1984 Mexican Foods of America, Inc.
9/19 UM

What do you do when it's after 1 A.M. and you want a beer or you've got the munchies but the weather won't let you go out? It's easy. . .

2 CUBIC FT.
RENT A FRIDGIE!
$45. + dep and tax
R&P RENTALS CALL 253-9742
You'll never have to go hungry again.
FREE DELIVERY!
R&P PACKAGE STORE
460 WEST STREET
SOUTH AMHERST

OOPS!
Now's the time to call...
North Amherst Motors
Rt. 63 No. Amherst
549-2880
Expert Repairs & Reconditioning

Shamie wins Rep. nomination for U.S. Senate in Mass.

Boston (AP) — Millionaire businessman Ray Shamie upset the comeback attempt of former U.S. Attorney General Elliot Richardson in the Republican U.S. Senate primary election Tuesday while Lt. Gov. John Kerry led the four way Democratic Senate race.

U.S. Rep. Gerry Studds snsured by Congress last year for an affair with a 17 year old male House page in 1973, also posted an early lead as he sought to hold onto his seat in one of several heated Democratic congressional battles. Unofficial results from 467 of 2,196 precincts showed Shamie with 50,096 votes or 61.9 percent and Richardson with 179 votes of 38.1 percent. In his concession speech, Richardson urged Bay State voters to support Shamie in November.

"This election is a critical one for the Republican party in Massachqys and Ray will have a long, hard fight if he is to win this one for the 'Gipper,'" Richardson said, referring to President Reagan. "But he can do it. Go for it, Ray."

Richardson, a former Massachusetts attorney general and lieutenant governor, had spent the last 15 years Washington. While campaigning, he stressed his experience and the independent, moderate voice he would bring to the Senate.

But he was repeatedly put on the defensive by Shamie, a high technology entrepreneur who said Richardson was too liberal and was out-of-step with the GOP's current conservative philosophy.

In the Democratic Senate race, Kerry took an early lead over U.S. Rep. James Shannon, Secretary of State Michael Connolly and former Massachusetts House Speaker David Bartley in the battle for the seat being vacated by Sen. Paul Tsongas. Tsongas decided against seeking a second term after doctors discovered he had a mild form of cancer.

Unofficial results from 2,198 precincts showed Kerry with 23,711 votes or 38.2 percent, Shannon with 18,428 votes or 29.7 percent, Bartley with 13,493 votes or 21.7 percent and Connolly with 6,494 votes or 10.5 percent. Bartley conceded less than 30 minutes after the polls closed.

In the congressional races, Studds was considered virtually unbeatable in Cape Cod's 10th district until he was censured last summer for having an affair with a 17 year-old House page in 1973. His Democratic primary opponents were Plymouth County Sheriff Peter Flynn, who tried to make the censure the top issue of the campaign, and political newcomer Christopher Trundy, a New Bedford businessman.

COUPON-COUPON-COUPON
FREE 16 OZ. SODA
with purchase of whole sub.

the sub
11 A.M. TO 2 A.M. / 7 DAYS
33 E. PLEASANT ST., AMHERST / 549-5160
The Kick Off
expires 9/24/84

TONIGHT
JUSTIN RYAN'S
The Meeting Place
Ladies "Dynasty Night" Special
Free Buffet and 25¢ Drinks 8-10
$1.00 Well Drinks for everyone till 11:00
Movie and Free Popcorn Downstairs
Food Served Nightly till 12:00

SPORT Style
4 Day SALE
Nylon Running Jacket w/hood full zipper $15.00
reg. $18.25
Matching Pants
$13.00
reg. $15.75
Sale ends on 9/22.
Silver Grey
with UMass imprint

Photo by Dwayne Autery - Andrea S. John C.
Located in the Campus Center
Open M-F 9-5
Sat 11-4
UNIVERSITY STORE

ANCIENT ENERGIES & EARTH CHANGES SYMPOSIUM

September 21, 22, & 23, 1984, at the UNIVERSITY of MASSACHUSETTS, Amherst, MA

Featuring

ELMORE BARRETT Perhaps the leading trance medium of our time, he has channeled a diverse number of entities during his thousands of trance readings. His remarkable life and psychic abilities have been well chronicled in three outstanding books by the late Charles H. Hapgood entitled "Voices of Spirit", "Talks With Christ", and "The God Within". Mr. Babbitt was also the subject of the film "Voices of Spirit" which won first prize at the first International Psychic Film Festival in New York in 1976. Margaret Mead was one of the three judges.

BILL COX An internationally known expert on the Sacred Sciences, and a renowned dowser, lecturer and author, he has visited many of the sacred sites throughout the world in the course of his research. Former editor and publisher of The Pyramid Guide, he has also written six books, including "Unseen Kingdoms", "The Cameron Aurameter in Action" & Aquarydow.

DAVINA COX A native of England, she has worked there with the Group for Creative Meditation, which presents the Alice Bailey material. She currently lectures in England and America on these teachings, and on leads tours to mystical areas of the world.

ROCKY MATORELLI One of the world's leading Pyramidologists and esoteric Egyptologist he has deciphered many of the sacred values that were incorporated into the great ancient structures. He has researched on site in Egypt and Calcheta Mound, and is author of "The Pranic Mover", "The Giza Pyramids: The Final Decoding", and "Giza Survey, Part I".

ARIBHATHA Noted psychic channel and psychometrist, she has experienced firsthand many of the subtle energies and living forces that surround us, yet go almost totally unnoticed in our world. She has been active in psychic archaeology and has psychometrized many ancient relics from the Americas, Africa and Polynesia as well as the Mitchell Hedges Crystal Skull.

Dr. HOLGER HOFFMANN A spiritual anthropologist, and one of our top researchers and writers on the distant past. His studies have taken him to Egypt over one dozen times, the many of the world's great libraries and museums, and have resulted in two books: "Rolling Thunder: The Coming Earth Changes", and "The Book of ARE". He has lectured on Atlantis, Lemuria, Biblical history, gems and crystals, ancient prophecies, earth changes, and Egypt.

MARK DeMARCANTELL Editor and publisher of The Tomero-Ram, a journal of modern articles that seeks to uncover the hidden truths. He has researched many of the greater mysteries through psychic channels, and has featured in over 50 ancient energy centers in South, Central and South America, Europe, Egypt, and Easter Island.

WHITE BUFFALO MEDICINE MEDIA Ancient Prophecies, Future Visions, is the subject of this unique and powerful presentation. It encompasses the prophecies of our Native American ancestors, Tibetan Buddhism, the Great Pyramid, Judeo-Christian, and other relevant traditions. This captivating program concisely explores the seers' timely hope.

We will also be featuring the outstanding research of Dr. J. MANSON VALENTINE, discoverer of underwater Atlantean ruins at the Bahamas, and the Tomb of X Kukulcan in the Yucatan.

All events will be held in Hooker Auditorium on Stockbridge Hall, on the UMASS campus.

Friday, September 21st

PM 1:00 Conference opens. Peruvian Wheeling Vessels
2:30 Bill Cox: Earth Energy & Earth Frequencies
8:30 Rocky Mel ollum: Decoding the Giza Pyramids
9:30 Mark DeMarcanville: Ancient Structures, Decorporation and the Earth Changes Meridians

Saturday, September 22nd

AM 9:00 Davina Cox: The Devic Kingdom
10:00 Aaribatha: The Message of the Devas
11:00 To be announced
12:15 Lunch Break
1:15 Dr. Joe Ishmael: Exploring the Temple Chakra System Along the Nile
2:15 Bill Cox: Ancient Inventions
3:15 Mark DeMarcanville: Psychic Insights Into the Crystal Skull, the Ark of the Covenant, & the Cabrera Stones
4:15 To be announced
5:00 Dinner Break
7:00 Davina Cox: The Seven Rays & Building the Antahkarana
8:15 Rocky Mel ollum: Egyptian Healing Using Sounds & Tones
9:15 White Buffalo: Ancient Prophecies, Future Visions

Sunday, September 23rd

AM 9:00 Bill Cox: Ancient Initiations & Egyptian Energy Lines
10:00 Joe Ishmael: New Jerusalem, Symbol of the Earth's Crystal Transformation
11:00 Aaribatha: The Karma of the World
12:15 Lunch Break
1:15 Film: Voices of Spirit
2:15 Elmore Babbitt: Cosmic Acceptance (Lecture & Trance)
3:30 Conference closes

Tickets for morning, afternoon, and evening portions of the event will be separately available on the day of the event. Prices for each portion will be $6.00 - $8.00.

A Spiritually Rewarding Experience

benetton

Holyoke Mall at Ingleside
Holyoke, MA 536-5694

Computer Works

TERMINAL SALE

RCA 4801 $549.95

- 80 col display
- Built in modem
- Single keystroke sign on
- Can be used as correcting typewriter with optional printer

Computer/Terminal $199.95

- Former rentals
- 12 k computer with tape storage
- Modem with 40 col communications software
- 12" TV as display

while supplies last
SALE ENDS SEPTEMBER 29, 1984

228 Triangle St., Amherst, MA 01004
Mon - Sat 10 - 6

549-7133

LAST CHANCE:

ΦΜΑ

- To experience an exciting social life
- To be more competitive in intramural sports
- To be part of High academic achieving organization

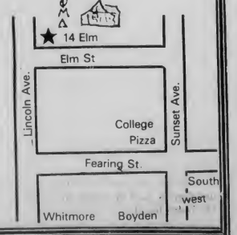
* To be part of Phi Mu Delta

Refreshments served:

ΦMA 14 Elm St. 256-6802

DATES:
Tonite
Wed. Sept. 19
Thurs. Sept. 20

9-11 PM



marsmatic700

TECHNICAL PEN SETS

Our Sale Price

$29.95

Suggested Retail Price
$68.00

Other pens available at comparable prices located in our full line Art Department

$16.95
suggested retail price
$45.00

Located in the Campus Center
Open M-f 9-5, Sat 11-4

UNIVERSITY STORE

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian
Founded 1870

Editor in Chief James P. Shanahan

Managing Editor	John O'Connell	Black Affairs Editor	Yadira Betances
Business Manager	Andrew May	Women's Issues Editor	Rebecca Thatcher
Business Manager	Elizabeth Young	Arts Editor	Christine D. Marini
Production Manager	Mark Roden	Sports Editor	Peter Abraham
Executive Editor	Rita Murphy	Photo Editor	Andrew J. Heller
News Editor	Greg Brown

OPINION

The opinions expressed on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the university unless otherwise noted.

WATCH OUT, NICARAGUA!!
SOLDIER OF FORTUNE
INTO THE STEAMING JUNGLE HE LED HIS GANG OF FREELANCE MERCENARIES TO BLAST AN ILLEGAL COMMIE GOVERNMENT TO HELL--- NACHO MOVIES PRESENTS
SOLDIER of FORTUNE
STARRING RONALD (LEROY) REAGAN AND A CAST OF OVER 6, MAYBE 7 RUBES

'There are no doors..'

Diane Lane

The New York Times reported last week reactions to the Supreme Court's recent decision that exclusion of women from the Jaycee's is unconstitutional. While it seems that most chapters have taken the ruling in their manly stride, some others are pretty darn upset about it. In the South, for example, a chapter president complained they wouldn't "be able to talk about the same things," and another member, who preferred to remain anonymous, mourned aloud the fate of those "heated political arguments" they used to have because everyone knows "women get all emotional and cry."

I wonder sometimes about the longevity of this image of woman as crybaby; about the basis for its continuing strength in the minds of men everywhere — especially now after a summer of Geraldine Ferraro and Joan Benoit. Though at first glance the vice-presidential candidate might not seem to have much in common with the marathon runner from Maine, look carefully — the images will remain seared on our minds long after the race is over. As I watched history unfold before me, on television, in newspapers and in the discussions one has with total strangers in bars, I became aware that Ferraro and Benoit share a sisterly bond, beginning with the simple coincidence that they are women, competing in newly opened fields, in a solidly male world.

For at least two weeks after Walter Mondale chose Ferraro as his running mate, I alternated between an unreasonable bursting pride, as though I had been chosen as a national candidate, and outward calm and self-assurance. Together, I thought, we will open the last of the doors. Yet, I was also feverishly obsessed with the possibility Ms. Ferraro's impermanence. I clipped articles from newspapers that bore her name and placed them carefully in a manila folder. Only after it became clear that there was no way I could keep up with every article being written about her, did I relinquish my scissors. We had arrived; there would be more; maybe it would be me.

And while Ferraro began her marathon towards election day, Joan Benoit was finishing hers — a strong, individualist wearing a painter's hat who blew them all away in the first ever woman's Olympic marathon. I watched with delight as she took off, and never looked back — her body performing the task easily, fluidly. In her, strength became feminine, and thus feminity, strength. Tu emportes tous mes espoirs — you carry with you all my hopes. The chills that played on my spine heralded the sound of unlocking doors.

That was in August. As the Brilliance of fall comes rapidly forth, Geraldine Ferraro experiences the particular aloneness which can only be felt by vice-presidential candidates whose running mate is, at last count, 18 points behind in the polls. Again, I can see Joan Benoit, as she ran, alone, on the freeways in Los Angeles. The loneliness of the long distance runner — though Ferraro's current race is almost over, she will look back on it always as the one in which she hit the wall and kept on running.

Regardless of the final outcome of this competition, Ferraro will be remembered for her tough performance at a bloody news conference in which 100 reporters dared her to break down. She did not. Like it or not, the tone of the coverage had changed and no one was calling her the "chic congresswoman from Queens," or asking her about blueberry muffins. The question of strength need not arise again.

Yet, the image in our collective mind of women as too emotional to make crisis decisions, of being too weak to go the distance lingers, like the cough that came with our flu from a month ago. It weakens us as a nation when half the population doubts the other half's ability to carry on. It fuels the quiet fervor with which we hold back young girls who don't yet know it's a man's world.

Women have been running the 26.2 miles of a marathon since Kathy Switzer snuck illegally into the 1968 Boston Marathon, but no woman ever won an Olympic gold medal in the event before August 1984. They had to let us in, you see, before we could compete.

Diane Lane is a Collegian columnist.

Not just a problem

Ian Polumbaum

Due to budget cuts, many language classes have been cancelled, leaving 600 to 700 students out in the cold. — "unable to continue working on their language requirements," as last Tuesday's Collegian put it.

Perhaps the University can find its heart underthe tangle of its bureaucracy and shorten or waive the requirementfor those pressed for time.

But what about students who *want to learn*one or more foreign languages? Many first year and sophomore students considering majoring in Italian,French,Spanish and /or Portuguese will now be discouraged from doing so. In four years,they can't count on getting a grammar and vocabulary foundation and still having time left for the advance courses they'd like to take (or for any of the valuable foreign study programs UMass offers). Some may decide to go to college elsewhere.

Upper-division classes in these departments have gotten high marks from both students and academians. But for hundreds of students they have effectively become inaccessible.This is especially shameful coinciding with a perceived increase in the demand for language instruction.

Of course at UMass, as at most high schools and other universities in this country, foreign languages have never been given much importance. Through overcrowded fand standardized classes, they are presented as just another subject into which we are inducted kicking and screaming. Last semester, many people appeared shocked that I would be caught dead in French 110 having already taken enough Spanish to finish my "C" core.

This contrasts sharply with many Western European countries, where students take English and or another foreign language for up to eight years. It is not uncommon to encounter Belgians, Swiss, Dutch, French, Germans, Austrians, or Scandanavians who can communicate in three or four different tongues. This makes it possible for Americans to tour the Continent without uttering a single word of any of the native idioms — another reason to say, why bother learning them?

The United States would have much to gain from putting similar emphasis on foreign languages. granted, this seems unnecessary since an ever increasing number of foreign businessmen and diplomats including "enemy" leaders speak English. But it disturbs foreigners that the largest, most influential capitalist power in the world is also the most monolingual.

Such an emphasis would have to begin, as it does in Europe, at the primary school level. But it would also be necessary for universities not to make elementary language classes the first thing to go when the budget axe falls.

Meanwhile, a number of 'sections cancelled' signs have greeted us in Herter Hall. For hundreds of UMass students, it is yet another scheduling snafu; for many more, another obstacle to learning a skill that is every bit as valuable as knowing trigonometry.

Ian Polumbaum is a Collegian columnist

Random Notes

Didn't he work as a car salesman?

Well, the add-drop period has finally come to an end and youcan put back those hands full of hair you pulled out during these past two weeks of musical classes. I'd like to take this opportunity to ask you, the everknowledgeable student body and faculty of this great learning institution, to help me solve one of the greatest mysteries of our time.

The question at hand has to do with one of the greatest straight-men and comic creations of our time. It is a brain teaser that has plagued and fascinated some of the vight bullshit artists at this, the Pantheon of Western Massachusetts. I personally know of one who was driven to the wilds of Oregon search of the answer.

You know—THE ANSWER. Hell Everybody does. But it just doesn't fit. Doubt creeps in and all your friends and relations tell you you're stupid for having even thought of such an answer. They are sure they have the answer. Then you become obsessed and begin to ask everyone you meet if they know. Even though you've seen his face and heard his stupid laugh hundred times, you can't put your finger on the answer. At least no one I know can.

perhaps there a cartoon guru somewhere on this campus. Perhaps the endless bull sessions devoted to the vain search for the answer can finally end. Perhaps someone here really knows the answer and can end our torment.

What was that? Did someone say "Cut the crap Jim, what is the question? It's just this oh gentle reader:

JUST WHAT DID BARNEY RUBBLE DO FOR A LIVING?

Jim Averill is a Collegian correspondent

Index has proven itself valuable

Tonight, the Senate will decide whether or not to fund the Index, the UMass yearbook. We, the editors, feel that the University community should be aware of the following facts:

The 1984 Index was completed on time for the first time in seven years. In addition, the book will be available on campus one week ahead of the contracted delivery date.

This year's staff consists of almost half of last year's staff, thereby providing consistency, stability and a wealth of knowledge for new members. This also develops a pool of people qualified to lead the Index for many years to come.

Previous yearbooks that had severe staff problems and were published as late as a year after the original delivery date were funded by the SGA. Therefore, it is an injustice not to fund a book which is on steady ground, with a proven, capable staff.

Failure to fund the Index will deprive this year's graduates of a comprehensive history of their senior year and will also result in the end of a 115-year tradition.

We feel that the $20,000 proposal ($10,000 grant, $10,000 loan) is a viable solution to give the 1985 Index staff a chance to prove itself and show that the organization is a worthwhile and valuable RSO which serves all of the students at the University.

The Index Editors

Letters to the Editor

WMUA clarifies policy on album thefts

Last Friday, the Collegian printed an article about WMUA "cracking down" on record theives.

I would like to clarify a statement made about the police being "eager to make arrests".

The point we were trying to make is that the police will not hesitate to make an arrest, after a search warrant has been issued, and stolen property has been found.

We did not mean to imply that they are "eager" to make arbitrary arrests.

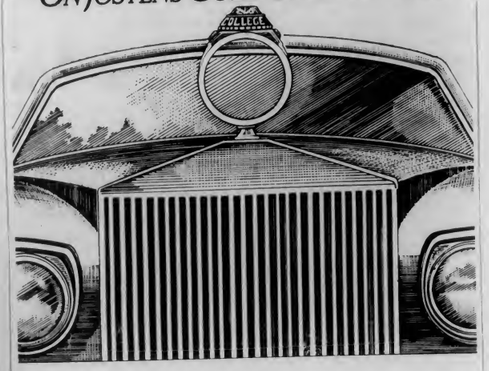
Bill Stepchew
WMUA

Brings you only the best in hair fashion. From long locks to short takes to the most innovative fashion statement. Enjoy choosing what works best for you.

JOHN DELLARIA SALONS
26 Main Street, Amherst MA 253-9293

Biggest Sale of the Year!

$25 OFF
ON JOSTENS GOLD COLLEGE RINGS.



See your Jostens representative.

Date: Sept. 17, 18, 19, 20 - Mon, Tue, Wed, Thur
Place: Outside Univ. Store Time: 10-3:30 pm
Deposit: $15.00

GET A $25 REBATE ON YOUR JOSTENS GOLD COLLEGE RING.

UNIVERSITY STORE

CALCULATOR CENTER
Basic Business Scientific

Sharp "Thinman"
EL-509A
$16.95
List Price $19.95

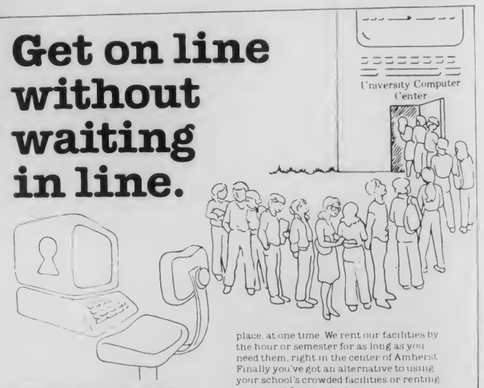
Comes with Textbook

'Thin Man"/" Wallet-Size with 32 Scientific Functions
Model EL-509A
Wallet-sized, full-featured scientific calculator with built-in statistics functions
Some of the 32 scientific functions performed at the touch of a key are: •Trigonometric (sin, cos, tan) and their inverses •Exponential (base 10 and base e) and their inverses (Logarithms) •Factorial (n!) •3 angle modes (degree/radian/grad) •Mean, sum and standard deviation •Power (y^x) and its inverse (^x root of y^)
Other Features: Independently accessible 3 key memory •2 levels of parentheses with up to 3 pending operations •Easy-to-read 8-digit liquid crystal display •Scientific notation (5-digit mantissa, 2-digit exponent) • Auto Power Off(") function •Display format exchange (F↔E Key) •Complete with wallet and batteries
Dimensions: 2-9/16 (W) × 9/32 (H) × 4 21/32 (D)

Open M-F 9-5 Sat 11-4

UNIVERSITY STORE

Get on line without waiting in line.



"Unbelievable!"
It's not bad enough doing endless hours of homework for your computer courses. To make a tough situation worse you've got to plan on spending precious time standing in line every time you want to get on line. And your odds (in getting a print out by the time you need it are about as good as getting seats to a Michael Jackson concert.

That is, of course, unless you do your computer homework at the Computer Access Center.

16 chairs, no waiting!
The Computer Access Center is a unique workspace that offers everything you need to do all of your computer work, in one place, at one time. We rent our facilities by the hour or semester for as long as you need them, right in the center of Amherst. Finally you've got an alternative to using your school's crowded facilities or renting a terminal for the whole semester.

The Access Center has it all: 16 work stations fully equipped with computers and terminals, complete modem systems that allow you to tie in to Cyber VAX or any other mainframe that you have the access code for, on site letter quality and dot matrix printers for instant print outs, and experienced and knowledgeable computer pros always on duty to help you.

Of course, the best part is that at Computer Access Center you don't have to waste precious time standing in line. Now you can plan ahead and reserve time on a terminal that will be waiting just for you.

So what are you waiting for? Call today and see for yourself how easy and inexpensive renting time on a computer can be.

COMPUTER ACCESS CENTER INC.
ON SITE HOURLY/SEMESTER RENTALS 256-1213
79 South Pleasant Street Amherst MA (in left rear of Peter Pan terminal building)
Mon. Thurs. 9 am 11 pm Fri. 9 am 6 pm, Sat. Sun. 10 am 6 pm
2 FREE HOURS OF COMPUTER TIME!
Call today, mention this ad and use one of our computers for two hours at no cost!
Offer good during business hours Monday through Friday until October 15th

Arts

Collegian photo by Judy Finda
Blues Musician Jack Bresnahan

a new RSO

By PETER WISSOKER
Collegian Staff

HELP WANTED: Blues Musicians. Serious musicians who want to play the blues. Formal training not necessary. Professional attitude, reliability a must.

There's going to be a new blues group on campus that will also be an RSO group. Tonight at 7:30 in Campus Center 178 there will be a meeting to form the UMass Blues Ensemble.

According to Bluesician Jack Bresnahan, the purpose of forming an RSO group is to attract people campus-wide who want to play the blues but are having trouble meeting other musicians.

"The blues is America's music," Bresnahan says, "and someone has to carry on the tradition. This group will give musicians with a moral commitment to keeping the blues alive a chance to do so."

He sees the band or bands that will be formed at the meeting as being able to play both at UMass and at the local clubs.

One advantage that the band(s) will have as an RSO group will be that practice space will be provided at the University. "I look at it as a student activity," says Bresnahan. "I want people to take it seriously and treat their band as part of their education. But we need talented musicians with a professional attitude."

Himself a harp player and vocalist, Bresnahan hopes to put together at least one big band, ala the Blues Brothers, with horns, male and female vocalists, keyboards, harmonica players, a rhythm section and slide guitarists. Personally speaking, he hopes to play Texas and Chicago blues as well as 20s blues, and originals written by members of the band.

His hope for the RSO, supported, as it is, by the Music Department's Music Director Fred Tillis and Prof. Bill Hanley, is that it will unite the UMass blues community in an effort to let all who want to play straight blues finally get together, get down, and play.

La Cazuela
THE MEXICAN RESTAURANT AT RAHAR'S

SOMETHING NEW

Distinctive Mexican food and drink, carefully prepared and served in a graceful atmosphere evocative of the American Southwest.

Lunch: Tuesday - Saturday
Dinner: Tuesday - Sunday
Closed Monday

Try La Cazuela soon, in downtown Northampton

586-0400
7 OLD SOUTH STREET • NORTHAMPTON

DON'T SETTLE FOR SECOND BEST - STRIVE TO BE NO. 1 !

ΔX

DELTA CHI FRATERNITY
OPEN RUSH

ALL UNIVERSITY MEN INVITED

WE OFFER:
- AN EXCITING SOCIAL LIFE
- EXCELLENT ACADEMIC STANDING
- COMPETITIVE INTRAMURAL SPORTS PROGRAM
- PROFESSIONALLY PREPARED MEALS

AND MOST OF ALL - A BROTHERHOOD THAT CARES

College Pizza
AVENUE
ΔX HOUSE
FEARING STREET
SUNSET
SOUTH WEST

DATES
TONIGHT!
SEPT. 19
9-11 PM
REFRESHMENTS AVAILABLE

549-0482

highlight and write quick as a flash

TEXTAR more than just a highlighter

Switch from highlighting to jotting notes without changing pens. Textar comes in six bright fluorescent colors, each with a blue ballpoint pen.

Available now at your college store.

Bruno's

- Quality Pizza - Subs - 256-0222
FREE DELIVERY
Monday - Saturday - 4 pm - 2 am
Sunday - 4 pm - 1 am

Pearl Street

TONIGHT
Wednesday, Sept. 19th
Dance Enducing Disk Mix
D.J. TOM NEWTON

TOMORROW NIGHT
Thursday, September 20th
Disk Slipping Dance Mixing
D.J. SCOTT LUCCHESI

THIS FRIDAY: Welcome Back Students Night
$1.00 off cover with Student ID & positive ID
THIS SATURDAY: Don't miss the Dancingest SKA/Rock Band in circulation today
THE GOOD GUYS

Coming Up: B. Willie Smith Thursday, Oct. 4th
Junior Walker and the Allstars Friday Oct. 26th
Positive ID's required at the door
A.B.C. cards - pictures drivers license

10 PEARL STREET NORTHAMPTON, MA. 413 584-7771

IT'S NOT TOO LATE! To Have

The Boston Globe

delivered to your door on campus

- All subscriptions Payable in Advance by Semester.
- Students with varying starting dates may have their subscriptions prorated.
- No delivery during School Holidays of Final Exam Periods.
- Prices are for these delivery dates: Sept. 23 - Dec. 14

SPECIAL CAMPUS RATES
Daily & Sunday	$1.40 a week	Fall Term Rates $15.70
Daily Only	.90 a week	$10.20
Sunday Only	.50 a week	$5.50

☐ Daily Only ☐ Sunday Only ☐ Daily & Sunday

Please fill out form and return with check made payable to:
RON HUBERDEAU, P.O. Box 959, Amherst, MA 01004, Tel. 253-7009

Your Name_____
Campus Address:_____

Then get in on the ground floor in our undergraduate officer commissioning program. You could start planning on a career like the men in this ad have. And also have some great advantages like:

- Earning $100 a month during the school year
- As a freshman or sophomore, you could complete your basic training during two six-week summer sessions and earn more than $1100 during each session
- Juniors earn more than $1900 during one ten-week summer session
- You can take free civilian flying lessons
- You're commissioned upon graduation

If you're looking to move up quickly, look into the Marine Corps undergraduate officer commissioning program. You could start off making more than $1,700 a year.

Maybe you can be one of us.

The Few. The Proud. The Marines.

Want to move up quickly?

Marines

See Lt. Schiffer
Sept. 24, 25 in Campus Center or call collect (203) 722-2168

Lawyers needed in community

By YADIRA A. BETANCES
Collegian staff

There is a vital need and a market wide open for Third World people to partake in the practice of law, according to lawyers at a pre-law minority day at Western New England School of Law in Springfield Saturday.

Lawyers in the federal, corporate and private sectors and professors, students and representatives from law schools as far as Boston, Atlanta and Washington gathered to inform prospective law students on the admission, financial aid process and career oportunities in the field.

"Ten or fifteen years ago, it was a vehicle for social change," said Theodore Miller, assistant director of admissions at Georgetown Universtiy Law School. That's when he entered the field. Today, he wants to "keep doors opened for those interested."

Being a lawyer is not just a job title, said Clifton Graves, an attorney at law in New Haven, Connecticut.

Graves is suing the Winston Salem Bar for discrimination in testing. He said people are required to provide finger prints, color picture and eye and hair color for identification before taking the bar exam.

"Its naive to think that racism and sexism is not real. (They) are still here and they are part of us," Graves said. But he said these social problems can not be used as an excuse not to go into law.

Alvin Taylor, an attorney for Aetna Life Insurance in Connecticut agrees. He sees the profession as an engagement to be made for social reform.

"You can't affect social change by sitting at home. Some one has to do it," Taylor said.

The six lawyers participating in the program said race does not play a factor in the legal representation and it should not prevent anyone from entering the field. But it is not to say it is not used against them.

"Its a test game," Taylor said. He advised prospective lawyers to learn their craft and increase their credibility as lawyers.

The program was highlighted by workshops dealing with topics such as what lawyers do, how to choose a law school, how to do well on the LSAT and a mock law class.

There were also two general sessions where the application and the financial aid process was discussed.

Applying to law school is like applying to college, said Robert Wasson.

Wasson, a Suffolk Law School professor said finance, locality and support services, factors which play major roles while choosing a college are also important while choosing a law school.

"These factors are personal and important," he said.

Before applying to a school, Wasson recomends that students familiarize themselves with the curriculum in order to have a better understanding of the school.

When filling out the applications for law school, Wasson advised students to be different and to distinguish themselves from other applicants.

"Present yourself. Make an impression on what you say and do," he said.

Frank Motley, assistant dean and director of admissions at Western New England agrees. He said other criteria of the application are objective studies by others and are not as reliable as a personal statement which will give "flesh" to the application.

When asking for a letter of recommendation, Motley advises to ask a professor if he or she knows the student well enough to write a recommendation.

He said this would avoid imposing a burden on the person.

Motley, said the program was a "success."

He was encouraged by the exchange of information between the participants and the students.

"It was uplifting, conforming to reality, some harsh, some unacceptable," said Valerie Singleton, a UMass political science senior.

Singleton said she obtained a "valuable experience" by attending the conference, "a chance to network."

The program reinforced her desire to attend law school.

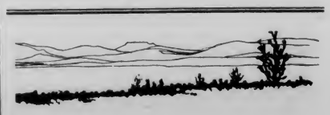
"I want to go back (to her community) and be able to help somebody," Singleton said.

Nelson Acosta, recruiting coordinator for the Bilingual Collegiate Program at UMass said the participants encouraged him to pursue his childhood dreams of being a lawyer.

Although he saw flaws in the structure of the conference and limited time in the workshops, Acosta was left "excited and enthusiastic" by the program.

He now knows the procedure for applying and what to expect.

Acosta sees law as "a catalyst in the system to help people who would otherwise be mistreated."



Black Affairs

Engineeringsociety

By YADIRA A. BETANCES
Collegian Staff

In an effort to retain more minority and Third World students in engineering, help them reach academic excellence and provide more community awareness about the field, the National Society of Black Engineers established a chapter at the University of Massachusetts.

Jeff Rocha, NSBE president said the society "should have been here a long time ago."

NSBE was created at Syracuse University in 1974 to fill a need for an educational society for black engineers.

Rocha, an electrical engineering senior explained the society will lead its mission toward encouraging students to excel in education aided by an array of programs such as speakers, workshop industry tours and national conferences.

He said the society will utilize speakers as mentor and will have workshops, and colloquims to encourage retention.

Tours of engineering facilities and encouragement of engineering related jobs will boost interest, Rocha said. "There is nothing like experience. (A job) will make students see what they are studying for," he said.

Reynold Winslow, director of the Minority Engineering Program at the University said the society is an essential element for the students.

Winslow sees the society as a retention program providing its member career and personal growth as well as communicative and skills development.

Winslow did not want to speculate how many Third World engineering students drop out. He said it is difficult to access the number because many students leave school one semester and return the next.

Presently there are 280 Third World students enrolled in the engineering program at the University. Out of these, 30 are NSBE members.

A career fair will highlight NSBE's semester events. Rocha said thirty industries will participate with the main purpose of getting jobs for its members.

"The society will have a major impact in their careers," Winslow said. He said the society is vital to their contact with industries and in their graduate studies pursuit.

Winslow said its national success has been "absolutely divine," with the same potential foreasted for the local chapter.

Announcements

The Third World Legislative Caucus of the Student Government Association will meet TONIGHT at 6 pm in room 308 of the Student Union Building at the University of Massachusetts.

Everyone urged and encouraged to attend.

Please bring a friend.auditions for the New World Theatre Ensemble will be held in Bowker Auditorium at the University of Massachusetts on Monday and Tuesday, September 24 and 25 from 6 pm to 9 pm with callbacks on Wednesday, September 26.

This multi-racial ensemble is cast each year from students attending the five colleges and forms the core of an expanding pool of actors for the New World Theater production.

UPC Productions — Duke Ellington Committee presents REGGAE

BLACK UHURU
WITH SLY DUNBAR & ROB SHAKESPEARE
AND SPECIAL GUEST

Wed. Sept. 19
S.U.B. UMass
TONIGHT

STUDENTS $9.50
PUBLIC $11.50

Tickets still available

UMass ID required to enter with Student ticket

Tickets on sale at Fine Arts Center, Springfield Civic Center, and Stop & Shop locations in Northampton, Holyoke, Greenfield and Pittsfield.

No cans, bottles, cameras or recording devices.

the Hungry U Restaurant

check out our happy hour munchie menu daily!

WEDNESDAY IS PASTA NIGHT for only $4.25

includes spaghetti with a choice of homemade meatballs, sausage, fresh egg, sauteed mushrooms, or broccoli served with salad or soup, bread and butter, and a glass of wine.

Happy Hour 3-6, 9-close 7 days per week
2 in 1 drinks
55 University Drive, Amherst 549-5713

Wanted Ladies Bowlers

Openings in New Thurs. Night League
Call Northampton Bowl
584-4830
Other nights available for men, ladies
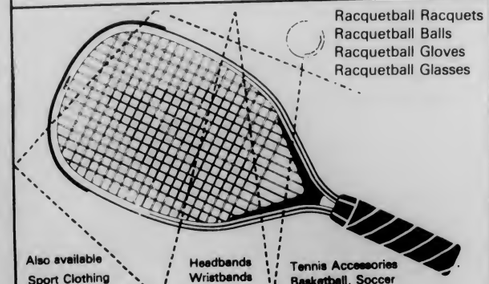
or mixed.

Sport EQUIPMENT



Racquetball Racquets
Racquetball Balls
Racquetball Gloves
Racquetball Glasses

Also available
Sport Clothing
Sport Bags

Headbands
Wristbands
Whistles

Tennis Accessories
Basketball, Soccer
Football, Baseball
Frisbees,
Swimming Accessories

Located in the Campus Center
Open M-F 9-5
Sat 11-4
UNIVERSITY STORE

TONIGHT

we cordially invite you to

Changes

for a night of Classics your favorite dance music from the past 5 years

75¢ Well Drinks 9 till 12

Register for our lip sink contest soon to run for 10 weeks

CASH PRIZES

Changes Rt. 9 Amherst, 256-8284

BROOKFIELD'S STORE WIDE

SHOE SALE

Take 25% Off Our Everyday Low Brookfield Prices!

NOW thru Sept. 22

The most-wanted new fall styles for men, women and children from the most popular brands in America!

Candie's Nike Dexter Zodiac Bass

Adam's Rib, Bellini, Bass, Bandolino, Dexter, Candies, Sebago, Zodiac, Jacques II, Maine Woods, Haig and Dunn, Danelle, Deer Stags, Walkover, Nike, Bounders, and Nantucket.

Bass Lauren Suggested: $45 Brookfield Sale Price: $29.95 Save: $15.05

Zodiac Simmer Suggested: $40 Brookfield Sale Price: $25.95 Save: $14.05

Bellini Moc with Kiltie Suggested: $30 Brookfield Sale Price: $19.95 Save: $10.05

Candies Cheerful Suggested: $36 Brookfield Sale Price: $23.95 Save: $12.05

Nike Scout Suggested: $22 Brookfield Sale Price: $13.95 Save: $8.05

Kid's BFO Hi Top Suggested: $27 Brookfield Sale Price: $9.88 Save: $17.12

Adam's Rib Suggested: $32 Brookfield Sale Price: $19.95 Save: $12.05

These are just a sample of the fabulous buys you'll find during our Storewide Shoe Sale. Look for shoes with Red Tags and save even more.

Not all brands and sizes available in every store.

We offer a wide selection of first quality, in-season famous brands at factory direct prices.

Northampton
Hamp Plaza
(in the Big Y Shopping Plaza)
Telecheck
10 a.m.-9 p.m. Mon.-Sat.
12-5 p.m. Sunday
584-9475

Brookfield Shoe Company
A factory outlet

Hypercurricula

MINORITY GRADUATE STUDENT ASSOCIATION ST Meeting of the Minority Graduate Student Association. Bring lunch and other students. 12:00 noon. GRC A-221

"SOUL TRAVEL:THE ILLUMINATED WAY" First of three weekly seminars on ECKANKAR, The Ancient Science of Soul Travel. Free workshops taught by experienced instructors 7:30 Franklin Paterson Hall Hampshire College

CONCERT OF OPERA DUETS AND ARIAS Baritone Rodney Gisick and pianist Dorothy Ornest, both of the UMass music faculty, will present a free concert of selections from The Magic Flute, Merry Wives of Windsor, and other well known operas. Guest artist will be Bonnie Scarpelli. 8:00pm Bezanson Recital Hall

STUDENT CHAPTER WILDLIFE SOCIETY MEETING Information Rap session and Slideshow by Dr. Progulske on "The Giant Flying Squirrels of Taiwan." 7:00pm rm 312 Holdsworth Hall UMass Student Chapter Wildlife Society

UMASS PHOTO COOP MEETING The UMass Photo coop is starting up again and needs interested people with photography experience. The meeting will be organizational to establish hours of operation 7pm CC802

ALPHA PHI OMEGA OPEN RUSH APO is a National Service Fraternity, which sponsors an annual Las Vegas Night, Operation ID, and fundraisers for charity. All University men welcome. 7:00.SU rm 304.

UNITED KINGDOM PROGRAMS SPONSORED BY MARYMOUNT COLLEGE A representative of Marymount College will be available to discuss semester/year opportunities in the United Kingdom, offered by Marymount College 239 Whitmore, International Programs office 9:30-11am

SCERA WOMEN'S ISSUES TEAM Come discuss the problem of violence against women on campus and what we can do about it. Planning for Spring events, too. All women welcome. 4 6pm CC178

UMASS SKI PATROL General informational meeting. All skiers invited. Become part of the national ski patrol system. 9:30pm CC 177

ISRAELI FOLK DANCING Will NOT meet on Wed. Sept. 19th or Wed. Sept. 26th. Il meet again on Wed. Oct 3rd, Commonwealth Room,SUB 7:30m beginners, 8:30p.m. all others.

A NEW CONTRACEPTIVE IS HERE.

TODAY.™

NORTHAMPTON BICYCLE

21 Pleasant St.
Northampton
586-3810

Trek - Fuji - Univega - Campagnolo
Suntour and others
Racing, Touring, and Commuting accessories

AMHERST CINEMA

DOUBLE FEATURE $2.50

Wednesday thru Saturday

Entre Nous 7:00
Carnal Knowledge 9:00

DOWNTOWN AMHERST

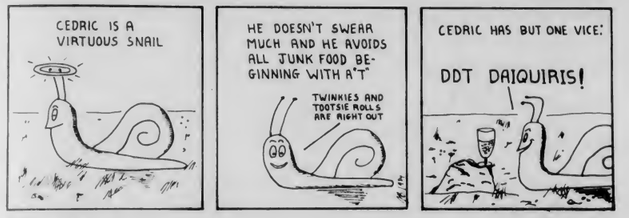
Bloom County by Berke Breathed

STEVE? IT'S MILO...LISTEN TO ME... A MAGAZINE HAS JUST PUBLISHED SOME OLD PHOTOS OF YOU NUDE!
RIGHT...NOW I--STEVE... BREATHE SLOWLY! IN... OUT, IN...OUT... WOULD YOU STOP BANGING YOUR HEAD ON THE FLOOR? GET A GRIP ON YOURSELF!
WHAT? UH, NO... THE MAGAZINE ISN'T "PENTHOUSE"...
DOG WORLD
Arf! He's Nude!

Gorde by Gorde

THE HATCH...
DC: DINNER IS GOING TO BE HORRIBLE TONIGHT.
SO WHAT ELSE IS NEW!
STATE U!
HA HA HA
WHAT'S WITH HIM? HE LOOKS SICK
HE MUST'VE PASSED HIS CHEM EXAM
SNAP SNAP
UH...FINK? HELLO? HMM. I THINK HE'S IN SHOCK
A-
ONLY AT STATE-U!

Under Foot by Joe Bradbury



CEDRIC IS A VIRTUOUS SNAIL
HE DOESN'T SWEAR MUCH AND HE AVOIDS ALL JUNK FOOD BEGINNING WITH A "T" TWINKIES AND TOOTSIE ROLLS ARE RIGHT OUT
CEDRIC HAS BUT ONE VICE:
DDT DAIQUIRIS!

Ultra Mass by E.L.M.

Wow! The guys gave me a whole beer! I never had one before. I mean I'm only a freshman and a... well a here goes... this Buddy for you Beer Head
Let's take you away from Ultra for a moment to address a dire disaster taking place right next to these words.
THE PARTY ANIMAL Need MORE Beer and Women and Fun HAHA HA BELCHH!
What horror! now back to our man Ultra Mass
NOOO!
MOMMY!
BEER

Yesthead Jason Talerman

Frank Perdue's killer must be found
Not much now.
The mystery unfolds, Franks killer must be found.
I need clues.
Killed Frank
Yesthead needs clues; sludge is just a dog/sadistic killer.
Case solved
Explode me
Punish the scum!!!
Next: The merry killing of Sludge??

The Lab by Law

WEEGEE? WOULD YOU LIKE TO GO TO A 3-D MOVIE? FATHER SAID ITS OK. AS LONG AS WE DOUBLE DATE.
WOW! GREAT! A DATE WITH YOU?! SURE! UH.. WHO IS THE OTHER COUPLE?
BUBBA and JOJO.
I HEAR ITS GODZILLA VS. THE CHEESE MAN!

DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE

Edited by Trude Michel Jaffe

ACROSS
1 Be gone!
5 Domino or Waller
9 Sharp sound
13 First name in blues
14 Leaves out
16 Lombardy lake
17 Made off with 18 Honey badger
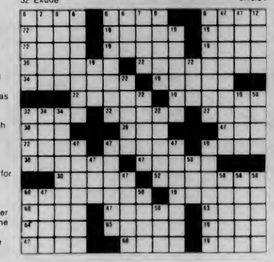
19 Etevatör envisioner
20 Receivables, e.g.
22 Trample
24 Eases
26 Consumed
27 Fairy tale characters
29 Summit
32 Eschew
35 Irregular
37 Flank
38 Many centuries
39 Lobster coral
40 Russian village
41 Conclusions
43 Devilfish
45 Mother of Apollo
46 Little bit of a thing
48 ——percha
50 Peruses
52 Headlines
56 "—— is said and done"
59 Store away, as feed
60 Downtown Chicago (with "The")
61 Tierney role
63 Redolence
64 Accent
65 Workplaces for architects
66 Chimney feature
67 Breslau's river
68 Word from the barber
69 Parker of the movies

DOWN
1 Bristle-like
2 Stuffy
3 "—— Lady" Cather
4 Hires
5 Valley girl's reply
6 GP's gp.
7 Yugoslav of note
8 Alien or Martin
9 Point recoiders at arenas
10 Too late
11 Among
12 Attitude
15 "... the ravell'd —— of care" Shak.
21 Dress up
23 Motorist's abbr.
25 Land, to Caesar
28 Noted Chinese sisters
30 Prepare a paper
31 Dry Comb. form
32 Exude
33 Whetstone
34 Murmur
36 Stack the cards
42 Curling position
43 Olympic prizes
44 For a minimum
45 Takes a break
47 Play by ——
49 Cure
51 Smitten
53 Crabwalk
54 Full of: Suffix
55 French papas
56 Choir member
57 Provender
58 Ancient instrument
62 A Harrison

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

L	I	U	C	E		A	N	T	E	S		S	H	O	T
A	B	A	T		R	A	R	E	E		P	A	R	I	A
G	I	O	P	H	E	R	B	A	L	L		A	V	E	C
O	A	R		D	E	S	I		F	O	R	E	S	T
S	T	A	D	I	A			L	O	L	I	T	A
			O	C	R	A		R	E	L	A	B	E	L
S	P	O	U	T		P	A	N	S	Y		A	N	A
T	E	N	D		P	O	L	A	S		P	L	I	P
O	R	T		D	I	G	I	T		F	O	L	D	S
A	T	H	L	E	T	E		E	C	R	U
		E	E	R	I	E	R		A	I	R	I	N	G
C	A	B	A	N	A		E	A	R	L		N	E	D
A	L	A	S		B	A	L	L	P	L	A	Y	E	R
S	O	L	E		L	I	E	G	E		R	O	D	E
H	E	L	D		E	A	T	A	T		M	U	S	I	S

9/19/84



Rent One of Ours

Car
T ick
Pass nger Van

No th Amherst Motors
F ..63 No. Amherst
549-2880

15 years ago today...

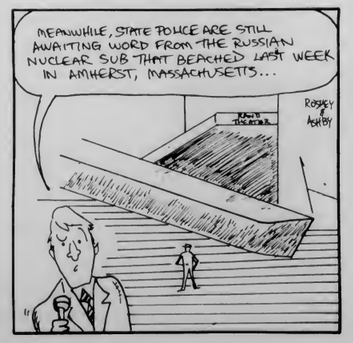
University of Massachusetts Dean William Field met with student leaders to discuss their plans for a free University City to serve as an alternate to University life.

In Chicago, Federal officials began arresting newsmen and photographers in the Federal Building on the grounds that they violated an order banning radio and television broadcasting in federal courtrooms.

Massachusetts Senator Edward Kennedy lashed out at President Richard Nixon and his policies in Vietnam, in one of his first public appearances since Chappaquiddick.

Today's Weather —

Today is expected to be mostly sunny with highs in the mid 70s. Thursday will be mostly sunny.



MEANWHILE, STATE POLICE ARE STILL AWAITING WORD FROM THE RUSSIAN NUCLEAR SUB THAT BEACHED LAST WEEK IN AMHERST, MASSACHUSETTS...
ROSSEY ASHTAY

Yes, Bradlees!

Juniors jump into action with Lee® jeans!

When it's fun and excitement you're after, slip into a pair of Lee® fashion denim or corduroy jeans. In sensational new styles that are revved up and ready to move! Tight-fit capris and 5-pocket westerns in stripe and herringbone denim; or fashion color corduroy. Baggy trouser and yoke-front styles in lively stripe corduroy. All of cotton or cotton-polyester. 3-13.

6.00 OFF!

CAPRI OR WESTERN DENIMS, REG. 25.99 — SALE 19.99
CAPRI OR WESTERN CORDUROYS, REG. 23.99 — SALE 17.99
BAGGY OR YOKE-FRONT STRIPE CORDUROYS, REG. 26.99 — SALE 20.99

MasterCard VISA

SALE THRU SATURDAY

the department store with a difference

Bradlees

One of The Stop & Shop Companies

CHICOPEE • NORTHAMPTON • SPRINGFIELD • W. SPRINGFIELD

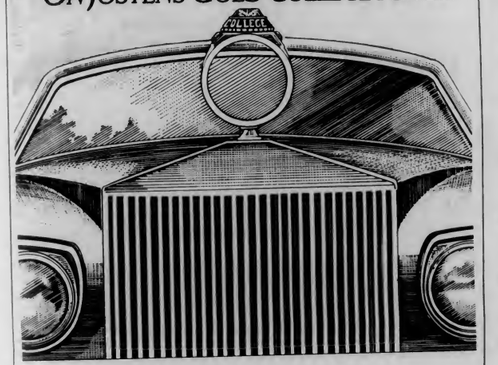
9-21

DIETING?
Try something different. Lose weight sensibly by learning about your eating habits. Down with diets! Call UHS 549-2671 ext. 181. Preregistration by Sept. 21.

the Creative Needle
Class Starting Now
Beginning Knitting — Tues. Sept. 25
Crewel & Cross Stitch — Sun. Sept. 30
Needlepoint — Mon. Oct. 1
call for details
Mon.-Sat. 9:30-5:30
Sunday 1-5
The Square
253-7474 Pleasant St.
Amherst, MA
413-549-0...

Biggest Sale of the Year!

$25 OFF
ON JOSTENS GOLD COLLEGE RINGS.



See your Jostens representative.

Date: Sept. 17, 18, 19, 20 - Mon, Tue, Wed, Thur
Place: Outside Univ. Store
Time: 10-3:30 pm
Deposit: $15.00

GET A $25 REBATE ON YOUR JOSTENS GOLD COLLEGE RING.

UNIVERSITY STORE

©1984 Jostens, Inc

PETE SEEGER IN CONCERT
Sunday, September 23rd
4 pm
Athol High School
Route 2A
(40 minutes from UMass)
Cookout & Other Entertainment 2 pm
Tickets $5. Children Free
Benefit for Athol Litton workers, locked out for 1 year
Tickets available at: Commuter Area Gov't, 404 Student Union and Labor Relations & Research Center, Draper Hall

Start your future now!

- You don't need prior experience You do need the desire to succeed and the ability to recognize this unique opportunity for your financial success
- You don't need a lot of time You can sell our prestigious high-demand products at your convenience to friends relatives school mates etc
- You don't need a big investment There are no franchise fees no deposits no fixtures required Upon receipt of your payment we'll rush you quick-selling merchandise at greatly reduced prices
- You don't need to gamble For as little as $100 you can select a wide variety of desirable products from our catalog You may return any unused unsold merchandise for any reason within 15 days for a full refund

Campus Connection is a rapidly expanding firm with access to worldwide manufacturers and jobbers of watches calculators recorders stereo radios etc It's simple! You can buy and resell these fast selling prestige items at rock-bottom prices (at 25% to 66% profit) to students friends fellow workers at relatives in your room on campus in town at flea markets or anyplace You can even sell to local storekeepers in volume for less than they're probably now paying their wholesalers — and you can still make a hand some profit!

We're in the process of setting up a nationwide network of campus dealers Get in on the ground floor NOW You can't lose

Mail to: CAMPUS CONNECTION, CORP
Suite 1101 175 Fifth Avenue New York NY 10010

YES,

MCMLXXVIII

CAMPUS CONNECTION CORP
Suite 1101 175 Fifth Avenue New York NY 10010

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIED

Monday - Thursday 8:45 - 3:45 • Friday 8:45 - 2:30 • Cash in advance • 5 consecutive days 5% discount • 10 consecutive days 10% discount • 15 consecutive days 15% discount • phone number free

ADVERTISING

Advertise FREE in the RIVER VALLEY AD Advertise items you want to sell or buy. Call 532-9498

ATTENTION WE'RE HIRING DJ'S

RACK-A-DISC RACK-A-VIDEO is hiring D.J's. Send resume to: PO Box 48, Amherst, MA 01004

AUDIO

Fun with sound by Pres Speakers. For information call Rob at 549-5897 after 5 pm

AUTO FOR SALE

73 Saab 99 A classic! BO 6 4548 4563

1977 VW Scirocco, 4 spd. AC 60,000 mi $1500 or best offer 546-4745

VW Camper 1973 excellent shape, new engine battery muffler 253-7901 evening 7 to 10

1978 Pontiac LeMans, AM/FM cassette stereo, cruise, $2950/best offer 256-1291

1972 Pontiac Ventura dependable passed June inspection. $600.00 best offer 545-2890

81 VW Rabbit Convertible, 35 mpg, AM/FM cass stereo, lifetime rustproof, new shocks and exhaust, must sell 788 0000

73 Buick Classic luxury car beautiful shape must sell 800 or BO 549-1194

Dodge customized Van '77 engine in gd running order catm int call 549 4682

Must sell * Pick Up Truck, $200 all offers considered. English student returning home contact: Andy Lehrer Room 314 Wheeler 6-4921

'71 Pinto goes like a brown outlet doesn't know when to quit. Reliable yours for $100 253-9712

1975 VW Rabbit four door, excellent cond runs well new paint, new exhaust, AM FM radio. Sacrifice at 1,450.00 phone 549-5416 (evenings)

BOLTWOOD PROJECT

Students needed for programs with the developmentally disabled. Credit available. Valuable experience. Info Meetings 9-17, 9-20, 2-26 7 pm CC rm 917

ENTERTAINMENT

VIDEO VIDEO VIDEO VIDEO Rack A Video entertainment giant 10 and 15 foot screens for dorms and Greeks "MTV" video music call 549-7144

Rack-A-Disc Rack-A-Video entertainment guaranteed events for Disc Jockeys, Bands and Video. Call 549-7144

WICKED AND WILD DJ's audio and visual entertainment for the 80's 584 6712

FOR SALE

SOUNDESIGN STEREO Originally $900 2 years old $469 Dresser $40 253-3682

Sachs Moped 1981 very good condition drive on campus! $350/BO 253-2284 Caroline

Speakers AR 18 perfect size for dorm room in great cond. powerful 100 wt capability. Great sound $100 call Rick 253-2720

Sylvania 19 inch color TV $150 please call 253-2410

Portable typewriter for sale call 549 1358 Ingrid

1980 Honda CX500DL helmet & luggage included $1300 call Chris (eves) 665-2445

12 speed Fuji for sale fine running condition $100 549 5456

Terminal. Bantam 550 with Modem. Good condition Perfect for COINS 121/123 $300. Call Mike 546-6817

Guitar Music Man Sabre Maple neck, active electronics Like new with case $300 Amp Peavey Bandit 2 years old 50W, 12" speaker, active tone controls $150 or $400 for both. Mike 546-6917

Dorm refrigerator 2.5 cubic foot Sanyo $80, table top oven $25, 2 element hot plate $15, $80 for all 1-967-7845 after 6

Kitchen table & 4 chairs $125 or BO 549-0867

Gibson Les Paul copy with various effects $200 or BO also TUSC 60 watt amplifier almost new $200 firm Please call Dave at 253-3368

Computerheads! Don't rent a Decwriter buy mine $700 complete and excellent call Ted 253-7985

UMASS SKI CLUB

Be part of the tradition Information and membership table at Campus Center Concourse Wed-Fri Special price join before Oct 1 for $7.00

Terminal & Coupler, must sell $350 call 549-5259

Rocking Chair $25 10 speed bike $50 Sitting Chair $7 256-8470 evening

FREE PUPPY

Have to get rid of dog. He needs a home Call Jay 256-6902 Leave message

HELP WANTED

Maintenance person wanted 2 hrs per day, Mon-Fri, mornings Duties include cleaning office and maintaining equip. Mechanical aptitude and work-study required Apply in person 9-4 Mon-Fri at 113 CC (Collegian office)

Attention! Public Relations, Journalists, Graphic Designers The SGA Communications Office is now hiring Great opportunity to develop your portfolio! WS and non WS jobs available. See Kelley Riley in 423 Student Union for application. Deadline is 9/21/84.

Homecooked meals exchanged for kitchen help 10 hours a week call 253 9071 ask for Wheaty

Homemakers, Home Health Aide positions available immediately Part time, flexible hours Free training offered Call Home Care Services for more information 586-3686

Redemption Staff! Be part of the only student run redemption service in Mass Exp. with cash handling & numbers Must have license & workstudy. Apply 306 SUB 545-0618

Work study positions Union Video Center - S.U.B. no experience req

Student Rep wanted, earn commission and travel Lowest prices on campus Town Tours 617-321-3993

Montreal Weekend Party Nov 2-4 $68 includes RT transportation from your campus, 3 says 2 nights hotel in DT Montreal Welcome Party all taxes and tips drinking age 18 optional Bruins Montreal tickets call today Eric 549-5017

Part-time jobs perfect for students! Get experience, get paid for political work Hazardous waste clean up, energy issues, voter education. Mass Fair Share is building a part-time staff in public education and fundraising. Hours 5-10 PM Flexible schedule $60 - $120/wk Call 586-8713

Nursing Students Join our growing staff! Nurse's Aides needed Full time, part-time, any shift. Home care, private duty, or staff relief One year recent experience required Medical Personnel Pool 586-7365

Part-time help wanted evenings & weekends commuter desk and pin-chasers Must be neat in appearance and reliable Apply in person Northampton Bowl, 525 Pleasant St. Northampton, Mass

Enthusiastic Students to apply Asst. to the Speaker/Student Senate Work on student/campus/social issues Experience w/in SGA helpful, but not necessary 10 hrs /wk $3.35/hr For more details call 545-0341 Pick-up applications in rm. 420 SUB Application deadline Oct 1 4:00 pm SGA is an AA/EOE

The Student Center for Educational Research and Advocacy is hiring undergrads to learn political organizing & student-interest research skills SCERA also has positions for a writer/editor, resource center staff person and for the anti-racism team 10 hrs/wk, $3.35/hr Work study & non-work study Applications at 420 Student Union Applications due 9/26 SCERA is an AA/EEO employer

Auditor needed. SGA Treasurer's Office must be able to analyze and apply financial information. 10-15 hrs/wk, $3.35/hr Workstudy or non-workstudy Applications in 417 Student Union Building Deadline September 27 at noon AA/EOE

Exotic Dancers wanted full or part time 4 to 12 tel 247-5682

GOVERNMENT JOBS

$16,559-$50,553/year Now hiring Your area Call 1-805-687-6000 ext R-9616

Amherst Deli is hiring Delivery Drivers Hours 4-10 PM Mon-Sat must have own car Apply in person

Newspaper Deliverers needed on campus No car necessary Good pay 7 days a week 1 hour/day Call evenings 253-7009

INSTRUCTION

Know your car. Basic Automobile Workshop 28 hours including classroom and shop Limited enrollment 253-2098

LOST

Gold bracelet lost Friday at Pearl Street very sentimental value Reward 549-5345

Brown, cloth purse please return to Lynn 549-4911 or Campus Police

MANICURIST WANTED

Manicurist wanted for new nail salon in Amherst call office 1-253-3837

MOTORCYCLES

1975 Honda CB360T, 16800 miles, new tires, chain, battery last year $500/BO 549-0437

PERSONALS

Delta Upsilon Open Rush Tues 18 Wed 19 9 pm Come check out the advantages that Fraternity life can offer Any questions call 549-3631

PHOTOGRAPHERS! UMass Photo Coop is looking for interested people to staff the store Many positions available Come to the organizational meeting Wed 9/19 in Campus Center Room 802 at 7 pm

The Boston Party Cruise $00 Boston women have bought tickets 200 tickets left for UMass men call Brian 549-1466

Sorayé, to the best roommate and friend Happy 19th Birthday! Love, Rand

Tess, Happy Birthday! It only took 4 years to get a personal. Love, JG

Nincey, Happy Anniversary, I'll love you always! Miss Europe 85

Rick Room 406 a weekend to remember or was it? Getting serious wasn't what I had in mind just a little time between Calculus and your project I wish things were different because now I'm sad Room 313

REWARD

Reward Lost gold watch and pearl ring NOPE locker room or vicinity inside pocket of denim jacket. Extreme sentimental value. I am going crazy without these things! No quest! 256-0102

ROOMMATE WANTED

Female to share one bedroom in two bedroom Southwood Apt Call Beth or Cathy at 256-1619

Room available in a four bedroom apt $120.00 per month. On bus line, very big in Riverglade Apts call 256-1326

Share 2 bedroom apt in Northwood with 2 others cheap rent and utilities call Jay 586-3267

Share apt w/2 great people bus rt #200 includes H & HW Belchtwn Ctr 323 6067

Female wanted to share a 3 bedroom Townehouse apartment Tami 546-9740

TAG SALE

Frony North Village Apt Sat morning 9/22/84 furnitures, clothes, housewares

UNDERGRADUATE BUSINESS CLUB

Undergraduate Business Club will hold its first general meeting, Thursday, September 20 in Mahar Auditorium at 7:00 pm New Members can sign up at the meeting

Sports

Collegian photo by Paul Desmarais

Patty Grant sets the ball for UMass against Lowell last night.

Volleyball dominates

Spikers crush Lowell

By ROGER CHAPMAN
Collegian Staff

There are those who maintain the belief that volleyball is a sport played only by the nerds and sissies of the world.

Well, yesterday the University of Massachusetts volleyball team put on a performance which should permanently lay that idea to waste. The spikers did little wrong and everything right as UMass destroyed the University of Lowell, 15-6, 15-4, 2-15, and 15-7.

"With the exception of game three, we did everything well", said Sortino. "We had good communications and transitioned very well."

Head coach Elaine Sortino was "very pleased with her team's showing,"at NOPE before a small crowd.

Sortino cited the play of several players in the contest. "Debbie Cole did an exceptional job on service receptions," said Sortino. "She really played backcourt well."

"Both Patti and Susie Grant set a fine match,"said Sort "Their set distribution was exellent."

UMass took game one,15-6, behind the serving Tina Morello, Cole, and Mickey Barys. UMass, now 5-2 on the season, led 13-6 before Marcy Guiliotis put away two kills to give UMass the win.

Game two proved to be more of that: Minuteman consistency. The spikers started out by getting three consecutive kills from Leslie Smith, Annie Ringrose, and Sarah Ryan. Smith excited the crowd with a perfectly executed block to give the spikers a 4-1 edge. While all this was going on, Morello was serving UMass to a 7-1 lead. The rest was academic as the spikers used a deadly combination of hitting and serving to walk over Lowell, 15-4.

Collegian photo by Paul Desmarais

Marry Guiliotis (10) challenges a Lowell block last night at NOPE. UM won, in four games.

A litany of football woe from an ex-Pats fan

Peter Abraham

While the Patriots pulled off their tremendous comeback on Sunday, I did many things. I watched the NFC game for a while, I washed some dishes, and I think I might've even done some Spanish homework. You see, I just don't care.

My father, when I was old enough to push my way through crowds, gave me a Patriots season ticket. For six years, in rain, cold, snow and humidity, I faithfully attended every Pats home game. I am a broken man.

I remember the 11-5 season when Ray "Sugar Bear" Hamilton was called for roughing the passer in the playoffs and the Pats lost. I also remember the 2-14 season when week after week they got their collective buts kicked. I remember the Miami wins at home, losing to lousy Bills teams, and some recent parolee dumping beer on my head at the Monday night war against the Jets.

Now, after years of dissapointments I've changed. No longer do I read how "We've turned it aorund this year" every year. I refuse to read the pre-season magazines that predict "The Pats will finally put together all their talent."

Big deal, Tony Eason. He looked like a bum at the end of last season. Grogan could throw for 300 yards and four touchdowns next game. They're a heart-breaking bunch.

I've loved the Celtics through the good and bad. I tried to love the Patriots, I really did. I put up a pennant in my room back home. I put a "This Car Follows the Patriots" bumper sticker on my car, I even stayed until the Bitter end of every fourth quarter hoping God would smile on my team no matter what the score was.

No more. Give me the Sunday Globe, a bowl of Fruit Loops and the NFC on Sunday afternoons. I'll even study.

— — —

How 'bout them Eagles? Boston College and Doug Flutie will lose one game, (at Penn State) and go to the Orange Bowl. Flutie will also go in the first round of the draft. Quarterbacks, I don't care what their height is, throw between linemen when they're in the pocket and over them after dropping back. BC plays a major college schedule and Flutie will adapt to the pro game. He's quick, has a strong arm and is smart. John Elway has all the right physical tools and he's done nothing.

— — —

UMass had better start playing sooner than the fourth period against Holy Cross. Rick Carter's Crusaders are fifth in the nation in Division 1-AA and have the offensive weapons to just plain stomp the Minutemen. They're better than Lehigh and a whole lot better than Ball (0-3) State.

— — —

The Celtics may be the only NBA team to go with the same cast for the next season. The only draft choice with any hope of making the team is the fundamentally-horrible Michael Young and his agent is looking for a European team for him.

— — —

Europe is also the destination of ex-UMass great Edwin Green. The 6-8 forward (c'mon he was never a real center) was injured at the Milwaukee Buck training camp and released.

— —

Minutemen booters face N.H. in bid to remain undefeated

UMass fifth-ranked in N.E.

By ADAM NAZIMOWITZ
Collegian Staff

It will be another good test for the fifth ranked in New England and unbeaten University of Massachusetts men's soccer team today as they host another undefeated squad, the University of New Hampshire at 3:30 at Boyden Field.

UNH (1-0-1) tied a tough Boston College squad in its last contest and also won last year's battle with the Minutemen by a 1-0 count, at New Hampshire.

"UNH is a big, physical, also very fit squad. They hard running and hard working. They have a good goalkeeper and at least one pretty good forward. It should be a tough game for us," said UMass coach Jeff Gettler.

The Wildeats, who are ranked ninth in New England, are coached by Ted Garber, the son of UMass lacrosse coach Dick Garber and also the head laxman at UNH. He is in his second season.

season.

Umass is coming off a disappointing 1-1 tie at Dartmouth over the weekend in which they had several golden opportunities to score but missed open goals and hit the crossbar.

"We had a little trouble slowing the game against Dartmouth. They kept it running. We outplayed them, but we were unlucky I thought. We'll try to play our game which is little slower (against UNH), "said Gettler.

Still, coach Gettler is optimistic about his team's fast start. "I'm happy with eight goals in three games. That's a good average. The defense(Paul Ricard, Mike Runeare, Peter Geddes and Matthew Dowd "is the most veteran part of the team. These people have played well in all three of the games,"

FrwardKurt Manal, who is noted as a good finisher by Gettler, is starting out in solid fashion. He has compiled four goals in the three games, giving the Minutemen the scoring consistency they so badly needed last season. Goalie Don Donahue, who has only had to make 11 saves thus far, will once again start in goal.

Football polls

1. Nebraska (37)	2-0	1151
2. Clemson (15)	2-0	1069
3. Texas (4)	1-0	1046
4. Miami, Fla. (1)	3-1	897
5. Ohio St.	2-0	860
6. Brigham Young	3-0	817
7. Penn St.	2-0	745
8. UCLA (2)	2-0	726
9. Washington	2-0	718
10. BC	2-0	698
11. Oklahoma	2-0	685
12. Oklahoma St.	2-0	566
13. SMU	1-0	522
14. Iowa	1-1	398
15. Florida St.	2-0	360
16. Michigan	1-1	352
17. USC	1-0	173
18. W. Virginia	3-0	100
19. Auburn	0-2	94
20. Georgia	1-0	57

NCAA Polls

Division 1-AA

1. Furman (3-0)	80
2. McNeese St., La. (3-0)	73
3. Indiana St. (2-0)	71
4. NE Louisiana (3-0)	63
5. Holy Cross (1-0)	58
6. Murray St., Ky. (2-0)	55
7. BU (2-0)	48
8. William & Mary (2-0)	45
9. Delaware St. (2-0)	42
10. Tennessee St. (3-0)	41
11. Marshall, W. Va. (3-0)	39
12. N. Arizona (3-0)	38
13. Alcorn St., Miss. (2-0)	37
14. Illinois St. (2-1)	31
15. E. Tennessee St. (2-0)	20
16. Lehigh (2-0)	20
17. Arkansas St. (2-1)	18
18. SW Texas St. (2-0)	16
18. Mississippi Valley St. (2-0)	16
20. New Hampshire (2-0)	12

sports at a glance

UMass Schedule:

Today: Men's soccer vs. New Hampshire at Boyden Field at 3:30 pm.

Water Polo: At Deerfield, 4:00 pm.

The Massachusetts Daily NEW ENGLAND'S LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY

Collegian

Volume CXIV, Issue 79 UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AMHERST (545-3500) Thursday, September 20, 1984

Collegian photo by Michelle Segall

CONCENTRATION: Preschooler Nyanyika struggles through an obstacle course with classmate Bree and student teacher Caroline Bush at the University Laboratory School in Skinner Hall.

Senate O.K. 's minutes; meeting adjourns early

By BOB BURGESS
Collegian Staff

The Undergraduate Student Senate last night approved the minutes of its summer substitute, the Summer Coordinating Committee, after a two-hour debate on the legality of appointments made by committee members.

In the second senate meeting this semester, senators Jay Flynn and Joel Rabinowitz argued that Student Government Association (SGA) by-laws may have been violated in Coordinating Committee appointments. Scott Stern was appointed to the chair of Rents and Fees Committee, Andrea Bates to Academic Affairs, and Beth Miller to the Finance Committee.

The first chapter of the by-laws, according to Flynn and Rabinowitz, states that no appointments can be made to any position while the senate is out of session.

"On numerous occasions," Flynn said last night, "I told the committee that they were illegally appointing people to these positions." When committee members Rick Patrick, John Moodidian, and Chris Sullivan were asked by Flynn if they had been approached by him this summer each said he had.

Rabinowitz wanted to have the senate postpone their vote on the committee's minutes because these three appointments are currently being reviewed by the senate Governmental Affairs committees.

The coordinating committee was comprised of the three officers of SGA, Senate speaker Sullivan, Co-president Patrick, and treasurer Mooridian, as well as six committee chairpersons, a SCERA student coordinator, an affirmative action officer, and representatives from Third World Affairs and Women's Caucus.

Sullivan said last night that approval of the minutes of any committee is not necessarily approval of the committee's "actions" but "approving that this is what happened."

Directly after the 21-12 vote approving the committee's minutes, Sullivan realized that a quorum did not exist, and as a result the meeting was adjourned early.

Index 84' delayed again as Student Senate stalls

By GREG BROWN
Collegian Staff

A frustrated and angry group of Index staff members met last night to plan strategy after the Undergraduate Student Senate failed to grant $20,000 to the University of Massachusetts yearbook.

But the student senate did not refuse to grant the money. After 2½ hours of debate over another issue, the senate called for a quorum and discovered that only 30 senators out of about 60 on the roll were present. So they ended the meeting before ever addressing the issue of the Index money.

Index editor Cindy Orlowski said she was "very discouraged" that the senate did not approve her request for a $10,000 loan and a $10,000 grant.

"Production on this year's Index cannot begin until we sign a contract," she said, "and we can't do that without money."

One senior staff member of the Index said, "People are always saying we're disorganized, but look at this meeting."

Orlowski said, "We've got an eager, full staff, ready to put out a product, but now the SGA is holding us up."

Despite their disappointment at the slow pace of the sente's deliberations, the staff of the Index remain eager, Orlowski said. "We have to be patient, even though we just spent over two hours waiting for them," she said.

Orlowski noted that if the SGA does not approve the $20,000, "There simply won't be a 1985 yearbook."

She said, "Past editors of the yearbook have not taken their responsibilities seriously, and we're being held responsible."

Last semester, the Index had its finances frozen by the SGA because of mismanagement of funds.

Peace activist outlines need for action against militarism

By TAARA EDEN HOFFMAN
Collegian Staff

Women must take direct action to defeat the problem of "dominance" and "militarism" in this country, according to peace activist, Grace Paley who spoke at Hampshire College last night.

Paley, a professor of language and literature at Sarah Lawrence College in New York, spoke about "Women and War: Choices and Connections," and then opened the floor for announcements and comments on the topic.

"If anything can be done right now, if there's any way to get a solution to (the problem of militarism) if there's any group that can get us out of this, it has got to be women," Paley said.

"This country is thoroughly militarized," said Paley, "and an attack on women goes along with that." This attack is not only "oppression" she said, but also a "negation of our lives and what we're about."

Paley said militarism consists of domination and power. These two forces condition society, and they express themselves in terms of power over women, power over other races, and power over personal rights, Paley said.

The movements against women's rights, abortion rights, and contraceptive rights are "selling women out," Paley said. "All of these issues are everybody's issues — some of them just apply to some of us more."

Felice Yeskel, Lesbian and Gay Awareness programmer at the University of Massachusetts, is helping to organize women for a "Not in Our Name" protest at the New York Stock Exchange on Nov. 18-19 which will incorporate peaceful protest and civil disobedience.

"The government does things for the society — it intervenes in other countries, it (pollutes) the environment, it slashes social servies — in someone's name," Yeskel said. "The government isn't responding to us but to money-makers, those who will make money no matter what pain it causes to people. Women must unite to say this action is not in our name," she said.

There will be a meeting for those interested in participating in the "Not in Our Name" protest on Tuesday, Sept. 25, at 7:15 p.m. in Wright Hall of Smith College.

Another Hampshire College graduate, Jack, told of his organization "Letters for Peace" in which people write letters to people in Russia, sending peace and friendship. The letterhead he printed has a greeting in Russian indicating, "If we are friends, the world is one times safer from nuclear war. If a million os us are friends, it's a million times safer," he said.

Sackrey pursues delegates

By REBECCA THATCHER
Collegian Staff

A former University of Massachusetts administrator is one of the two candidates left in a race for County Commissioner, which was made into a county-wide caucus when the top two candidates could not accept the democratic nomination.

County Commissioner Candidate Pat Lewis Sackrey of Westhampton helped to start the Everywoman's Center at UMass when she was director of Continuing Education for Women at UMass from 1968 to 1974.

If Sackrey wins, she will be the first woman county commissioner.

The commissioners receive an annual salary of $12,000 and are responsible for overseeing the Hampshire County jail, the planning department, and human services.

"I am very pleased," she said, "We are going to be working to get as many Democratic town committee delegates in my favor."

Robert J. Garvey was appointed sheriff after the ballots were printed, so he declined the nomination. Edmund Scheinost, who is in second place lives in the same district as the incumbent Paul Dineen.

Inside:

Andy Heller on the phone situation. . p. 11
Is Eastwood losing his cool?. . . . . p. 13
Soccer beats New Hampshire. . . . . p. 16

To the editors, writers and artists whose work got eaten —"Sorry!"

—the Machine

"Keep the Summer Alive"
CAPE COD at
THE PUB

with Cape Cod's #1
"D.J. GARY TITUS"
of PUFFERBELLIES and CAPE 104

Special this Thursday Night
Official "PUB" Painters Hats to the first 75 people
after 9:00 PM

Experience our new menu.

THE PUB
15 E. PLEASANT ST. AMHERST MA
413-549-1200

CALENDARS!

A Large Assortment
Academic 16 month Calendars
Now Available

Located in the Campus Center
Open M-F 9-5
Sat 11-4
UNIVERSITY STORE

upc PRODUCTIONS Presents

Tix on sale Monday Sept. 24

R.E.M.
Monday Oct. 15
F.A.C. UMass

Students $7.50 & $8.50
General Public $9.50 & $10.50

UMass ID required with student ticket.

Tickets on sale at Fine Arts Center, Springfield Civic Center and Stop & Shop locations in Northampton, Holyoke, Greenfield and Pittsfield. No cans, bottles, or recording devices.

Anne Young, a member of the UMass Intercollegiate Equestrain Team jumps a fence riding Even Steven at an exhibition at Tillson farm Wednesday to celebrate a $300,000 donation. Collegian photo by Michelle Segall

Tillson receives $300,000

By DEBORAH ROSS
Collegian Correspondent

A $300,000 donation by a University of Massachusetts alumnus will help to make the Equine Studies Center at Tillson Farm an "all weather" equine instructional center.

Dr. Robert Lawrence, who pledged the donation Tuesday graduated from the Massachusetts Agricultural College in 1922, and has already donated $55,000 to the equine studies program at UMass, Paula Haven, manager of the equine center, said.

At a ceremony at the Tillson Farm, Lawrence announced his commitment to the equine studies program.

The equine studies program is an option for students in the Veterinary and Animal Sciences department, to prepare students for careers in the horse industry.

Lawrence's contribution will be used to provide "a more complete equine instructional center," Haven said.

"As successful as the program has been since its inception in 1961, it has always been hampered by a lack of all-weather facilities," according to a departmental pamphlet. Haven said the indoor facility, the Robert Lawrence Arena, is already completed.

About 60 horses are kept at the center, and are cared for and ridden by students, Haven said.

"Our program has come along 100 percent in the last four years," Haven said.

Lawrence, 86, is now a retired veterinarian, who said, "Horses are my favorite animals, but I also like cows."

Testing set to start in spring

By TOM MIDDLETON
Collegian Staff

The Acid Rain Monitoring Project at the University of Massachusetts will begin its second phase by testing about 3,000 bodies of water across the state.

The project, funded by the state's Division of Fisheries and Wildlife, will test for acidity and elements such as arsenic and zinc on Oct. 14.

The first phase of the project tested 1,229 bodies of water and found that 70 of them were acidic enough to "cause severe losses of fish and other aquatic life," according to a stateement from the project.

The second test will be conducted "around the 14th of April," according to University of Massachusetts professor O.T. Jajicek of the chemistry department. "The rationale is that in April the water is in its worst possible state after the snowmelt," he said. "In October we will attempt to get at the best case. They we're going to look at the high and low," Zajicek said.

After the samples are collected they will be analyzed for acidity at the University and 22 other professional, college and industrial laboratories, Zajicek said. "Their labor and time is volunteer," he added.

After initial testing, the samples will be brought to UMass for more complex tests. Zajicek said he hopes to get 50 volunteers to work in two shifts helping with the non-technical tasks.

The project involves more than 800 volunters statewide collecting water samples from lakes, streams and reservoirs. Upon completion of the second phase the state will "be in the unique position among the states by having an inventory of the susceptibility of 100 percent of its surface waters, according to the statement.

According to a report released after the first phase of the project, 16 percent of lakes and streams in the state are in critical condition and 19 percent are endangered. This is in addition to the 70 bodies of water which are considered acidified.

The report stated that there was a 98 percent decline in the occurence of smelt in the stomachs of lake trout in Quabbi reservoir. Smelt are the principal food of the fish in the reservoir.

Black Mass Communications Project and WMUA disagreeing about airtime

By LAURA YEE
Collegian Staff

Problems in programming and organization are causing disputes, some racial, between the Black Mass Communication Project (BMCP) and WMUA radio, according to both groups.

Chris Winslow, BMCP general manager and acting Third World Affairs Director, said WMUA "has taken away airtime without any justification. Under the constitution they're supposed to work with us."

"We've gone to management board meetings and WMUA refers to us as 'you people.' That's a racial statement," Winslow said. "There's a prejudice against the music and even against us.

Randy Scollins, in his first year as general manager at WMUA said he wants to diversify the music on the radio station.

"When we first started out in the 60s, WMUA used to be considered black station and I feel that we should be representive of all voices of the campus," Scollins said. "BMCP lacks the diversity."

"From a programmer's perspective, I'm looking at it as a style of music, I'm not putting color on it."

BMCP members said Scollins "wants to run the entire show."

"In the past three years, we had 63 1/4 hours and now they've proposed 33. WMUA is trying to phase us down, limiting the black music," Winslow said.

"We recognize them as a group and allot them time accordingly," Scollin said.

Keith Johnson, former general manager of BMCP, said, "They say they want diversity but aren't probing it."

According to both groups, the goal is to balance out the type of music played on the station, whether it may be rock and roll, referred to as progressive alternative, or urban contemporary, which falls under the category of jazz, reggae blues and disco.

"It definitely cuts down on the black music. They're trying to make it more rock whether it's called 'progressive or new wave,' which alienates black music," Winslow said.

Winslow said that at a recent board meeting, "it was agreed upon that if no BMCP member could fill a slot, then WMUA must find a DJ trained "with that type of music," but said that Scollin has not abided by those rules.

Scollin said BMCP has been overstepping their boundaries by assigning double slots without authorization while other students have not been able to have airtime.

"They don't want non-BMCP members to fill in on BMCP time so they grant double time but they can't do that when so many other people are without air time. Anybody can do that show, we have the library," Scollins said.

Smith President at weekend conference

By REBECCA THATCHER
Collegian Staff

Smith College President, Jill Ker Conway will be featured in a conference at Mt. Holyoke College on women and education this Friday and Saturday.

The event is the first in a series of three symposia being held to commemorate Mount Holyoke's 150 years.

Conway will be speaking on "Paradigms for the History of Women's education" Friday at 8 p.m.

The Smith College president received her doctorate in history at Harvard in 1969 and is the author of The Female Experience in the 18th and 19th Century: A Guide to the History of American Women, the first in a two volume set published in 1982.

Joyce Berkman, a University of Massachusetts History and Women Studies professor will be speaking on Two traditions: Co-education and Separate Education for Women at 2 p.m. on Friday.

Berkman said she was looking forward to discussing the nature and impact of same sex and co-educational schooling on women's lives.

"The scholars who have been invited are distinguished, and I think there will be lively and spirited debate," she said.

Speaking with Berkman on this topic will be Forence Howe, the State University of New York professor who founded the Feminist Press in Old Westbury, New York, and Rosalind Rosenberg, from Wesleyan University, the author of Beyond Separate Spheres.

Also on Friday, Linda Kerber from the University of Iowa and Joyce Antler from Brandeis University will speak on "The Higher Education of American Women, Perspectives from Two Centuries."

On Saturday Elizabeith Fox Genovese, of SUNY Binghamton will be one of the speakers on the subject "Black Women and Higher Education."

Officer re-instated with full back pay

University of Massachusetts police officer William F. Murphy, 33, of Hadley, has been re-instated to the force and given full back pay following his acquittal of a perjury charge last Wednesday in Hampshire County Superior Court.

Murphy was suspended from his duties in May when the Hampshire county district attorney's office charged him with perjury relating to testimony he gave in a court trial on Feb. 8, 1983, and a deposition on Dec. 13, 1983.

Despite his acquittal, Judge John D. Sheehan criticized Murphy in court for his conduct as a police officer.

Murphy had no comment following his re-instatement. But UMass Police Chief Robert G. Joyce said that he was happy Murphy was back on the force, and that he was sure that Murphy's family had suffered during his suspension, and was happy, for their sake, that the case was over.

—RICHARD MARTIN

Collegian photo by Gloria Rosado

Chris Currier finds a tree trunk by South College a comfortable place to catch up on her studying Tuesday.

★ Sackrey

Continued from p. 1

State law prohibits two commissioners of the same community from serving on the board.

That leaves two write-in candidates in the race, Sackrey of Westhampton and Michael Carey.

Sackrey, who is now director of the Hilltown Community Development Corporation, won 2,598 write-in votes to Carey's 2,575.

From her office in Easthampton, she said, "Everybody is scrabbling to get enough delegates from democratic town committees, but I am trying to get some work done."

Sackrey said she was delighted with the election results in Amherst.

"In Amherst we had seven times the total of all the other write-in candidates.

As director of the Hilltown Community Development Corporation, Sackrey said she has developed skills necessary to serve as County Commissioner.

She said she has learned about all the resources available to aid in the economic development of small towns and local businesses.

Would you like to write for an audience of 30,000?
Then come to the Collegian's Recruitment Meeting
8 p.m. tonight in CC 113 or call Larry Bouchie at 545-3500

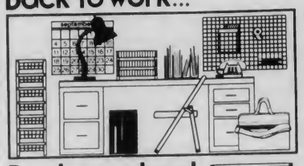
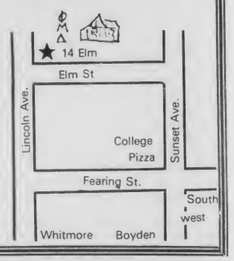
Back to work...


Back to school

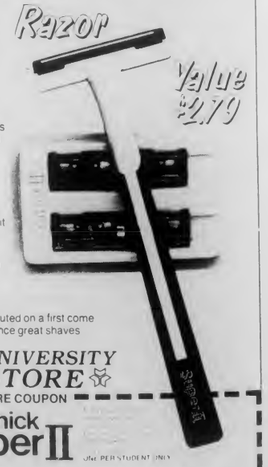
Back to ESSENTIALS
Furniture, lighting, storage, stationery, desk accessories
THORNES MARKET, 150 MAIN ST., NORTHAMPTON

LAST CHANCE:

ΦΜΔ
- To experience an exciting social life
- To be more competitive in intramural sports
- To be part of High academic achieving organization
* To be part of Phi Mu Delta
Refreshments served:
ΦMA 14 Elm St. 256-6802
DATES:
Tonite
Wed. Sept. 19
Thurs. Sept. 20
9-11 PM



SCERA
The STUDENT CENTER for EDUCATIONAL RESEARCH and ADVOCACY
WHERE IT PAYS TO LEARN
JOBS AVAILABLE
This fall, SCERA will hire undergraduates to learn political organizing and student-interest research skills. For two days each week, these SCERA students will meet and learn political organizing and then apply these skills to issues of concern to students. SCERA also has positions for an editor/writer, resource center staff person and for the anti-racism team.
All positions are ten hours per week and pay $3.35 per hour for non-work study and work study undergraduates.
Pick up an application and more information at 420 Student Union weekdays 8:00am-6:00pm.
All applications due by September 26
SCERA is an Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Employer. Women and people of color urged to apply!
SCERA
422 Student Union Building
(413) 545-0341

FREE Schick Super II
Specially Fashioned in our school colors
Get a Free Schick Super II Razor with two Schick Super II twin blade cartridges and a coupon good for 25c off your next Super II purchase plus
Just fill out the coupon below and bring it to the bookstore to receive your special razor.
The Super II twin blade shaving system features Super II twin blades that are custom honed for close, comfortable shaves.
Quantities are limited and will be distributed on a first come first served basis. Act now and experience great shaves courtesy of Schick Super II
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS
Razor
Value $2.79


Open M-F 9-5 Sat 11-4
UNIVERSITY STORE
STORE COUPON
Schick Super II
One PER STUDENT ONLY
Name
Address
City State Zip Code
Phone #
Deposit at Coupon Box at the Info Counter

Voter registration drive to come to UMass campus

By JOE McHUGH
Collegian Correspondent

The Amherst Board of Registrars agreed Tuesday evening to send registrars to the University of Massachusetts campus on seven diffferent dates this fall to register students to vote in time for the Nov. 6 elections.

Student Government Association Co-President Rick Patrick, who attended the meeting, said, "It looks like we have the opportunity to register more students than last spring.

"According to William McCaskie, who is coordinating the "Big Vote '84" drive on campus, over 3,500 students were registered to vote during last spring's drive. "A lot of students have already come up to our tables to ask about our campaign," McCaskie said.

Board members decided to have the registration tables at the four dining commons, Oct. 1-4 between 4:30 and 6:30 p.m. and at the Campus Center concourse on Oct. 2 and 3 between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. and Oct. 9 between 10 a.m. and 1 p.m.

The board previously approved registration tables at Wilder Hall at the Everywoman's Center on Sept. 25 and Oct. 9 between 1 p.m. and 3 p.m.

Nancy Hastings, a board member expressed concern during the meeting that students be made fully aware of all government regulations concerning registration, such as possible cancellation of financial aid and other benefits for out of state students who switch their registration from their state to Massachusetts.

The main concern of the board, however, is that the registration is run smooth, she said.

Town Clerk and Chairperson of the Board of Registrars Estelle Matuski said she was enthusiastic about the voter registration campaign.

"Registering students is important this year," she said.

THE BAMBOO HUT IS BACK IN NORTHAMPTON!
MANY SEAFOOD DISHES
DAILY LUNCHES $2.80 & up including Sunday
11:30 a.m.-10 p.m. Sunday-Thursday
11:30-11:00 p.m. Friday & Saturday
TAKE OUT SERVICE
586-8687 586-8688
84 Pleasant St., NORTHAMPTON
CHINESE & POLYNESIAN FOOD

MASS. APPROVED INSPECTION STATION
RADIAL TIRE SALE
P155/80R13
$29.95
•Includes Mounting• plus MA State Tax
North Amherst Tire & Auto Center
Full Service Tire Store
78 Sunderland Rd., No. Amherst, MA
Across from Watroba's Store
549-4704

Seniors - Juniors
Thinking about Graduate School?
Why? If? When? How?
Come in for help
Pre-Graduate Advising Office
CASIAC - Machmer E-27C
For appointments call 545-2191

Do your word processing at
COMPUTER ACCESS CENTER INC.
256-1213
79 S. Pleasant St.
Amherst, MA
See our other ad in this paper.

Biggest Sale of the Year!
$25 OFF
ON JOSTENS GOLD COLLEGE RINGS.

See your Jostens representative.
Date: Sept. 17, 18, 19, 20 - Mon, Tue, Wed, Thur
Place: Outside Univ. Store
Time: 10-3:30 pm
Deposit: $15.00
GET A $25 REBATE ON YOUR JOSTENS GOLD COLLEGE RING.
UNIVERSITY STORE
©1984 Jostens, Inc.

artful expressions
SHEETS AND TOWELS
Cedar Chest
Thornes Marketplace • 150 Main St Northampton MA • 413-584-3860

IT'S NOT TOO LATE! To Have
The Boston Globe
delivered to your door on campus
- All subscriptions Payable in Advance by Semester.
- Students with varying starting dates may have their subscriptions prorated.
- No delivery during School Holidays of Final Exam Periods.
- Prices are for these delivery dates: Sept. 23 - Dec. 14

SPECIAL CAMPUS RATES			Fall Term Rates
	Daily & Sunday	$1.40 a week	$15.70
	Daily Only	.90 a week	$10.20
	Sunday Only	.50 a week	$5.50

☐ Daily Only ☐ Sunday Only ☐ Daily & Sunday
Please fill out form and return with check made payable to:
RON HUBERDEAU, P.O. Box 959, Amherst, MA 01004, Tel. 253-7009
Your Name
Campus Address:

The Party Never Stops!
JUSTIN RYAN'S SUPER challenges you to BEAT THE CLOCK
7:00-8:00 8:00-9:00 9:00-10:00 10:00-11:00
25¢ drinks 50¢ drinks 75¢ drinks $1.25 drinks
75¢ Food 1.25 Food 1.75 Food Reg. Price Food
Tonight - Thursday Night

Stolen car recovered, motorcyclist injured in collision

By RICHARD MARTIN
and PHIL SERAFINO
Collegian Staff

Area police recovered a stolen car, a Turners Falls man was injured in a motorcycle accident, and University of Massachusetts police believe they have found the man responsible for a hit and run accident.

A UMass student from Bridgewater was cited at 1:20 p.m. Monday for leaving the scene of an early morning accident in Parking Lot 22. The owner of a 1976 Ford Torino reported at 9:17 a.m. Monday that his car had been hit. Police estimated the damage to be $400, and also found a witness to the accident. They compared the damage to a 1976 Chevy Malibu parked in the same lot, and through the testing of paint samples, established that the Chevy had hit the Ford.

A man wearing a blue jean jacket walked out of an office in Goodell Library with three wallets on Tuesday afternoon, but netted only $10, according to police. The wallets were found in the wastebasket of a library restroom with the personal papers still inside them.

Holyoke Police recovered a 1984 Toyota Celica that was stolen from Brittany Manor Apartments early Tuesday morning. Amherst police said the car, valued at $15,000, was reported stolen at 2:52 p.m. Tuesday. Amherst police broadcast a description of the car and immediately received word from the Holyoke police that the car had been found with the wheels missing.

Police responded to a call at Zeta Psi fraternity at 11:19 p.m. Tuesday. A pledge broke a window at a rush party the fraternity was having.

In other police news, two casement windows valued at $401 were stolen from a construction site in Amherst sometime between Sept. 13 and 17. The loss was reported Tuesday morning.

A 12-speed Fuji Gran Tour bicycle was stolen from Presidential Apartments Tuesday. The bicycle was valued at $300.

A 1970 Pontiac Tempest was also stolen from Brittany Manor on Tuesday. The car, valued at $3,000, was reported stolen at 9:48 a.m.

A 28-year-old Turners Falls man received minor injuries Tuesday when the motorcycle he was riding collided with a 1978 Chevy Monza driven by a Shutesbury woman. The man was cited for driving without a license after the 5:38 p.m. accident on North Pleasant Street.

adirondack music

"THE STEREO PROFESSIONALS"
15 East Pleasant St.
Amherst, MA 01002
(413) 253-3100

Not just ANOTHER car stereo special this is maximum performance

Take your car stereo to the max!!

MAXIMA PERFORMANCE

CSC-671

6" x 9" 20 oz. bridgeless 3-way speaker kit with foam edge woofer, 3" cone midrange, 2" cone tweeter. 50 watt maximum power capacity per channel. Deluxe metal mesh self-studded grilles.
CSS-6923

LCD readout electronic MOSFET AM/FM MPX receiver with full locking auto reverse cassette deck. Features separate bass, treble, 25 watts per channel, fader, 5 x 10 tuning, seek and scan, digital clock, loudness, tape EQ switch, local/distant and DNR. Also includes low level outputs.
7" (178mm) W x 2" (50mm) H x 5 5/16" (135mm) D

Value of over $400 - $199.95 including normal installation in many cars
SAVE OVER $200.!!
Super Special DIN chassis - $450 value - ⅓ OFF - $299.95

Maxima CSC-680W

The shuttless or flat-faced receiver is the latest trend in domestic and import original equipment radio application. Not only can the CSC-680W be used in newer cars, 1981 and up, which require this styling, but also looks very chic in applications where the standard shaft type radio is normally used. The top selling cosmetic feature of the CSC-680W is its organized and well balanced arrangement of numerous popular functions.

Dolby and metal tape soft touch controls
Backlighting around all functions
MOSFET tuner with AGC, automatic hi blend, mono stereo, and soft muting, and noise canceller
Up and down soft touch seek control
Soft touch loudness and mono stereo plus rocker volume control
Power antenna wire
Weatherproof silicon sealed circuit

KEY FEATURES
Auto Reverse Full Locking Cassette Mechanism with automatic tape head release
Electronic PLL synthesized tuning with rocker switch soft touch up-down control
Low level 500 MV output with RCA connector
Green digital display
20 watts per channel maximum output
Separate bass and treble controls with hideaway feature
14 station memories (7 AM, 7 FM)

SPECIFICATIONS
Frequency response 50-12,000 Hz
Speaker impedance 4 ohm
Output Power 12 WPC @ 5% THD
Usable FM sensitivity more than 2 μV at 30 dB S/N
Stereo separation more than 30 dB
Usable AM sensitivity 30 μV at 20 dB S/N
Tape wow and flutter less than .2% WRMS
Tape S/N ratio more than 45 dB
Chassis dimension 7" (178 mm) W x 2-1/16" (52 mm) H x 5-7/8" (150 mm) D

Home Stereo
Super System Value

Ohm L2 Speakers	520.00 pr
Nikko NR 550 Receiver	300.00
70 watts, digital, 3 yr warranty
Nikko MXP7 full auto Turntable	199.95
with repeat and ellipitcal Cartridge
Total reg. value	$1019.95

$499.95 WOW!

Dozens of One of a Kind Specials	Value	SPECIAL
DCM time windows with stands	$1100	$499.95
Vector Research VCX 600 cassette deck	$750	$375.00
Sony VX1 Receiver 50 watt w/preset	$225	$99.95
Kenwood KVR 510 90 watt video/receiver	$450	$199.95
JVC HRD 225 stereo video cassette recorder	$900	$599.95
Jensen video monitor & receiver	$1500	$599.95
Ohm F speakers	$3000	$1000.
Adcom GFA 1 400 watt amp	$450	$279.95
Hafler 500 amplifier	$750	$499.95

OPEN THURS & FRIDAY TILL 9 PM

all items limited quantities subject to prior sale

If you can stand the heat...
Get Into Our Kitchen!

Carbur's is looking for people to fill a range of kitchen help positions. Competitive salaries, positions, available immediately, experience and current references a must.

Call Randy or Bill at 586-1978 or stop by Monday thru Friday, 9-11 or 2-4.

C • A • R • B • U • R • S

benetton

Holyoke Mall at Ingleside
Holyoke, MA 536-5694

NORTHAMPTON BICYCLE

21 Pleasant St.
Northampton
586-3810

Trek - Fuji - Univega - Campagnolo
Suntour and others
Racing, Touring, and Commuting accessories

MOVIE
DOCTOR STRANGELOVE
Friday, Sept. 21
Student Union Ballroom
5:00 pm - $1.00
7, 9, 11 pm - $1.50
sponsored by:
Union Video Center

Pizza-rama of Amherst
355 College Street
Call 253-3808 or 256-0115 Free Delivery 5-2 every night, Fri & Sat 5-2:30

PIZZA	Sm 10"	Med 14"	Lg 16"	GRINDERS	Sm	Lg
Plain	$3.40	$5.80	$6.35	Ham	$2.50	$3.50
Onion	3.90	6.70	7.50	Salami	2.50	3.50
Pepper	3.90	6.70	7.50	Coldcut	2.50	3.50
Sausage	3.90	6.70	7.50	Meatball	2.50	3.50
Pepperoni	3.90	6.70	7.50	Sausage	2.50	3.50
Hamburg	3.90	6.70	7.50	Cheese	2.50	3.50
Mushroom	3.90	6.70	7.50	Genoa	2.50	3.50
Anchovie	3.90	6.70	7.50	Egg Plant	2.50	3.50
Comb.				Steak	2.90	3.90
2 Items	4.40	7.15	8.25	Tuna	2.90	3.90
Comb.				Turkey	2.90	3.90
3 Items	5.00	8.00	9.10	Pastrami	2.90	3.90
4 Items	5.25	8.50	9.60	Roast Beef	2.90	3.90
Special	5.75	9.75	11.50

SPAGHETTI		GREEK SALAD	$4.00
Meat Sauce	3.50	SHELLS	4.30
Meatballs	3.50	MANICOTTI	4.30
Sausage	3.50	RAVIOLI	4.30

Tax included in all prices

Any Large Pizza 3 FREE SODAS (cans) when you place your order please tell us you have coupons
Any Med. Pizza 2 FREE SODAS (cans) when you place your order please tell us you have coupons
Any Small Pizza 1 FREE SODA (can) when you place your order please tell us you have coupons

Paloton Sports
5th Annual Fall BICYCLE SALE
2 Weeks Only Sept. 8-22

Clearance Savings
Up to $100.00
on all makes and models

Paloton Sports
"An Autumn Tradition"

Every Bike we sell now comes with Lifetime Warranty, 30 day Free Tuneup, Brake & Gear Adjustment for 1 year.

$99.95
Royce Union 10 Spd.
• Lugged Frame
• Shimano Rear Chanter
• Solid End Front Fork
Great around campus!

Bikes From $100.00-$200.00

	Now
Raleigh Marathon	$149.95
Peugeot P6	$179.95
Schwinn World	$154.95
Schwinn World Sport	$189.95
Lotus Challenger	$199.95
Ross GT II	$169.95
Raleigh Sportif	$139.95

Save as much as $50.00

Bikes $200-$350.00

	NOW
Schwinn Letour 15 spd	241.95
Schwinn Traveler	219.95
Lotus Unique	329.95
Miyata 210	269.95
Lotus G.P. Luxe	219.95

Just a Few Samples

All Terrain Bikes

	Now
Raleigh Tamarack Reg. 329.95 SALE	279.95
Peugeot Canyon Express Reg. 468.95 SALE	458.95
Lotus Pegasus Reg. 489.95 SALE	439.95

Raleigh BMX R2500 R4500 R5000 $25.00 Off

Bikes $350-$1000.00

	Now
Lotus Supreme (Campagnolo) 995.00	889.95
Lotus Comp. (Campagnolo) 649.00	574.95
Lotus Eclair 409.00	369.95

These prices on in stock items only!

Paloton Sports
AMHERST • 1 E. Pleasant Street / 549-6904
NORTHAMPTON • 15 State St. / 584-1016
GREENFIELD • Mohawk Mall / 773-5572
Hours 10-6 Thurs. 10-8
Open Sat. & Sunday
Easy Parking All Locations
* Add $4.00 For Mixte and 27" Frames
Ask about our New Guaranteed Lowest Pricing on Parts and Accessories

PERSONALIZED STYLE HAIRCUTS
$7.00
(with this coupon)
$10.00 with Shampoo and Blow Dry
$11.50 Long Hair
Please Call for an Appointment
Expires 9/30/84
Styles by Deborah
05 University Drive
Amherst MA / 549-5610
FREE CONSULTATIONS

OOPS!
Now's the time to call...
North Amherst Motors
Rt. 63 No. Amherst
549-2880
Expert Repairs & Reconditioning

Minority enrollment reported higher this fall

By LYDIA ROBINSON
Collegian Correspondent

University of Massachusetts officials are seeing increased success in their recruitment of minority students.

Minority enrollment at UMass has increased 15 percent from last year, according to Vice Chancellor for Student Affairs Dennis Madson.

"Out of the 4,000 entering freshman, more than 8 percent are students who report themselves as members of minority groups," Madson said.

The University hit a low point in Fall 1982 with only 266 entering minorities. The statistics continued to climb and indicated 337 entering freshmen in Spring 1983, but it wasn't a high enough enrollment to satisfy University officials.

"On our part it was a self-initiative and a moral obligation," said Tim Rinehard, assistant director of Academic Support Systems.

Officials say the jump in minority enrollment is a result of increased efforts by the Division of Student Affairs.

"We felt the University wasn't serving a portion of the state's population. We also have a firm belief that ethnic and cultural diversity strengthens the University," —Tim Rinehart

"We had to make it our top priority to attract minority students," said Larry Benedict, dean of Academic Report Services.

"We wanted to establish in their minds that UMass is the place to go," he added.

In 1980, an equal access task force was formed to establish various recruitment activities.

A six-week head start summer program was initiated to accustom students to the University and help them sharpen basic skills to apply in their course work.

Two programs, the Challenge program and College Awareness Day, were expanded to reach inner city schools in Boston and Worcester in order to bring prospective students to the UMass campus.

To attract minority students, the Board of Regents also grants merit scholarships.

One such award is the William Dubois scholarship, a four-year tuition waiver. A student must apply for the award. SAT scores, high school grades, and financial need are taken into consideration.

Another award, the Academic Merit Scholarship, grants $1,000 to any freshman or transfer student, on a one-time basis.

Funding for these scholarships comes from the Alumni Board, which granted $18,000 last year, and from forfeited admissions deposits.

"There is incredible competition for good minority students," Rinehart said. "We're trying to attract them by recognizing their talents."

Academy Award winner Giorgio Moroder presents Fritz Lang's classic vision of the future, now beautifully restored and with a contemporary musical score.

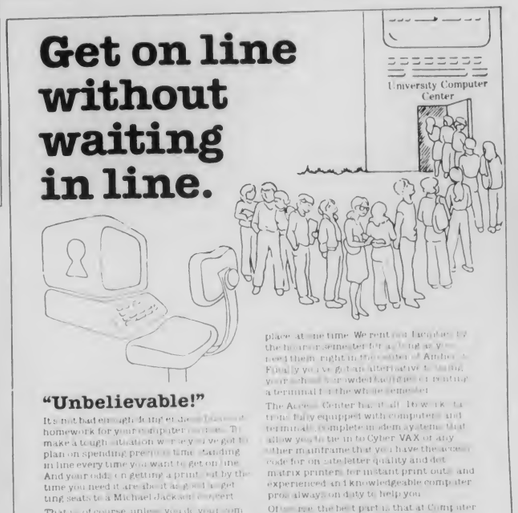
GIORGIO MORODER

METROPOLIS

Directed by FRITZ LANG Music GIORGIO MORODER Lyrics PETE BELLOTTE
Songs performed by PAT BENATAR–BILLY SQUIER JON ANDERSON
ADAM ANT–BONNIE TYLER–FREDDIE MERCURY–LOVERBOY

Sneak Preview
Midnight This Friday
Pleasant St. Theater
27 Pleasant St./Northampton 586-0935

Get on line without waiting in line.



"Unbelievable!"

It's not bad enough doing all those hours of homework for your computer courses. To make a tough situation worse, you've got to plan on spending precious time standing in line every time you want to get on line. And your odds of getting a printout by the time you need it are about as good as getting seats to a Michael Jackson concert.

That is of course, unless you do your computer homework at the Computer Access Center.

16 chairs, no waiting!

The Computer Access Center is a unique workspace that offers everything you need to do all of your computer work, in one place at one time. We rent you facilities by the hour, semester or academic year. You need them right in the center of Amherst. Finally you've got an alternative to using your school's overcrowded facilities or renting a terminal for the whole semester.

The Access Center has it all. Rows of terminals fully equipped with computers and terminals complete modem systems that allow you to tie in to Cyber VAX or any other mainframe that you have the necessary code for, on site letter quality and dot matrix printers for instant print outs, and experienced and knowledgeable computer professionals on duty to help you.

Of course, the best part is that at Computer Access Center you don't have to waste precious time standing in line. Now you can plan ahead and reserve time on a terminal that will be waiting just for you.

So what are you waiting for? Call today and see for yourself how easy and inexpensive renting time on a computer can be.

COMPUTER ACCESS CENTER INC.
ON SITE HOURLY/SEMESTER RENTALS 256-1213
79 South Pleasant Street Amherst MA (in left rear of Peter Pan terminal building)
Mon -Thurs. 9 am-11 pm, Fri 9 am-6 pm, Sat -Sun 10 am-6 pm
2 FREE HOURS OF COMPUTER TIME!
Call today, mention this ad and use one of our computers for two hours at no cost!
Offer good during business hours Monday through Friday until October 15th.

THE ROAD TO A COLLEGE DEGREE IS EXPENSIVE
AIR FORCE ROTC CAN PAVE THE WAY

There are a lot of scary stories about the cost of college education these days. Many high school students aren't planning to attend college because they don't have the money. BUT WAIT! Air Force ROTC can help. With our scholarship programs, we will pay for your college tuition, books, along with certain fees AND pay you $100 per month for living expenses.

After you receive your degree you'll be eligible for a commission as an Air Force officer. If you can qualify, Air Force ROTC can mean a college degree and a brighter future for you. Find out more. For your country and yourself, make Air Force ROTC a part of your plans. Contact:

Jay A. Bullington
(413) 545-2437/2451

AIR FORCE ROTC
Gateway to a great way of life.

The rusty nail Inn

RT. 47 SUNDERLAND
You must be 18 to enter
Open 'til 2
665-4937
24 Hour Taped Message

PROUDLY PRESENTS

TONIGHT
LIPSTICK
Bring your own mug fill it up 25¢
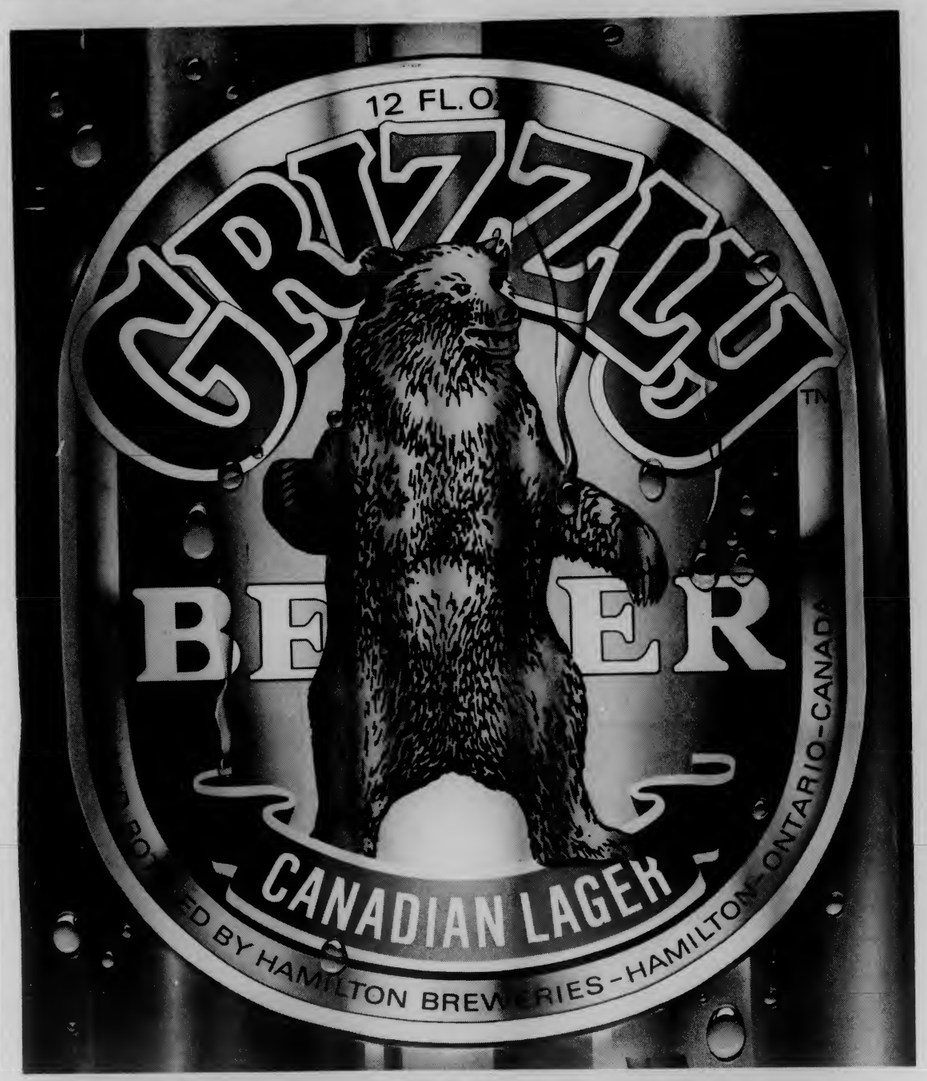
till kegs run out
25¢ DRAFTS

FRIDAY, SEPT. 21st
FOOLS

COMING FRIDAY SEPT. 28th
THE STOMPERS



Canada's Bear of Beers is here!

Down from the North Woods of Canada comes
Grizzly Beer. Not just another Canadian beer, but a rare breed of brew.
An authentic Canadian lager—naturally aged, so it's remarkably smooth. With a flavor no other Canadian beer can stand up to. The bear of beers is here!

GRIZZLY™

CANADA'S BEAR OF BEERS

Imported by Van Munching & Co., Inc., New York, N.Y.

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian

Founded 1870

Editor in Chief James P. Shanahan

Managing Editor John O'Connell
Business Manager Andrew May
Business Manager Elizabeth Young
Production Manager Mark Roden
Executive Editor Rita Murphy
News Editor Greg Brown
Black Affairs Editor Yadira Betances
Women's Issues Editor Rebecca Thatcher
Arts Editor Christine D. Marini
Sports Editor Peter Abraham
Photo Editor Andrew J. Heller

OPINION

The opinions expressed on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the university unless otherwise noted.

Don't vote for a personality

Larry Soucie

During the primaries last spring, there were numerous tables in the concourse representing the various democratic candidates. We all had issues that we thought were important and hopefully we all voted for the candidate we thought addressed those issues the best. UMass is traditionally pretty far to the left, and more often than not the candidate you voted for wasn't Walter Mondale. I saw a good friend of mine recently with a "vote for nobody this fall" button on his shirt. Apparently, his candidate dropped out and he now thinks there isn't enough of a difference betweenReagan and Mondale to bother voting. He couldn't be more wrong.

I was a campaign worker for Gary Hart last spring because I felt his record on protecting the environment was slightly better than Mondale's. It was a tough decision who to support, Mondale or Hart. The choice between Mondale and Reagan is much easier. Every environmental organization in the country, many who have never endorsed a candidate for president before, have all endorsed Walter Mondale for president. Why have they done this? The answer is simple: Ronald Reagan has the worst record in history concerning the enviroment. The main thrust of his environmental program has been to open up federal lands to development and to make it as easy as possible for industry. Fortunately, Congress understands that the American public wants a clean environment and has been able to limit or halt much of what the President has tried to do. If we give him four more years, we may not be so lucky.

Walter Mondale on the other hand, understands the importance of controlling pollution and has worked hard to do just that. One issue that strikes home to all of us in Massachusetts is acid rain. Mondale will seek a 50 percent reduction in sulfur dioxide emmisions, what most scientists agree is needed to solve the problem; Reagan will study it some more, exactly what industry wants.

There are of course many other issues besides the environmment. Remember when Ronald Reagan said he was going to cut taxes by 30 percent, increase defense spending and balance the budget? Jimmy Carter, John Anderson, and even George Bush all said he was nuts and that such a program would give a $200 billion deficit. Well, we only got a $180 billion deficit, but then again, Reagan was only able to ram a 25 percent tax cut through Congress. If you take every other deficit from George Washington to Jimmy Carter, add them up, Ronald Reagan beats them all. When Reagan calls for a balanced budget and blames the deficit on Congress, I almost vomit.

Walter Mondale has outlined a tough play that will cut the deficit by $177 billion. Reagan and his crew have only said they will not raise taxes, will not cut back on defense and will not touch programs for the needy. The question is, what will they do besides lead this nation into economic disaster?

Perhaps the most important issue facing us this fall is war and peace. Let's look at the record. There has been absolutely no progress in arms control. The CIA is conducting a not-so-secret war in Nicaragua. The battleship New Jersey and a host of smaller ships have fired their guns in anger into the Lebanese counryside.

Ronald Reagan says Americans are once again proud to be Americans; I have never been more ashamed. I wasn't always this way. When Reagan was elected I was a proud sailor in the U.S. Navy. Then I learned about the CIA involvement in Central America and I felt like a pawn in Hitler's army. I used to work on shipboard weapons systems, so I was sick to my stomach when I heard that the New Jersey's 16 inch guns were blasting away in Lebanon. Fired at maximum range, these 2,000 lb. shells have an accuracy of plus or minus half a mile. This means you will not hit what you are aiming for. I saw on the news villages blown away, women and children no longer able to hear. For this Ronald Reagan should have been impeached, instead, he is about to be re-elected.

Fellow UMass students, it is time to unite behind Walter Mondale. It may be true that compared to Reagan, Mondale is boring. But it will be a sad day in history if Americans ignore reason and once again elect a personality. We can make a difference.

Larry Soucie is a UMass student.

Talk about cheap phones

Andrew Heller

Having had the opportunity to experience the world of retail sales from both sides of the counter, I feel very strongly about the old saying, "you get what you pay for." There's more truth contained in those words than most people care to believe, including the University of Massachusetts.

I'm referring to the recent purchase of 7,000 telephones at a cost of $105,000. The Mura Corporation, the lowest bidder, walked away with the sale.

I wonder just how much homework the University did before coming up with the Mura line of products as its savior from the rental fees brought on by the Ma Bell divestiture.

I've sold Mura products myself, and have never been happy with their line. Somehow the University just went ahead and accepted the bid without asking me for my opinion. I can't understand. All it would have taken was a phone call.

Had they only asked me about the particular telephone involved, I would have been able to save them from some of the hassles that are now occuring on campus.

Anyone with even a little telephone retail background would have been able to shed some light on the issue. The acoustic modems which have been inoperativve with these new telephones will work only in conjuntion with a "standard handset."

By "standard," I am not necessarily referring to AT&T equipment. There are many independant manufacturers of telephones who produce high quality standard equipment, with Stromberg-Carlson and ITT coming quickly to mind.

When I was out on the sales floor, there was one question that I feared the most from customers: "What do you have in the way of a cheap telephone?" I could only say, "I have one for $12.95, but I'd really rather not sell it to you because it's not going to last very long."

Most people would think for a little while about what I had to say, and then they'd buy it anyway. We employees used to jokingly call these our "disposable telephones." If they break, for $12.95 you'd just buy a new one.

I have this gut feeling that the University is not the place for anything but a telephone of the highest possible quality even if the price is a little higher.

Someone should have realized that a lightweight electronic telephone wouldn't be able to withstand average dormitory abuse. At $15 each, I guess the temptation was too great to fight.

There is a never-ending problem here at the University; the fact that no one looks towards the future when making a substantial purchase. The initial price looks good, but that means nothing once the problems arise.

If there's one thing that held some meaning after four years of studying Latin, it's the saying: "Caveat emptor," may the buyer beware. If only the folks in purchasing had taken some Latin.

Andy Heller is a Collegian staff member.

Letters to the Editor

Abstract artwork facilitates creative thinking

Mary Cresse's column Tuesday aroused a sense of duty, or defense if you will, for the art objects dotting the University's landscape. She presents an incident involving a person who stumbled upon Mauro Staccioli's sculpture which cantilevers the outdoor stairway of the Fine Arts Center. This sculpture is entirely massive and of contrasting color to the Fine Arts Center building.

It was a sunny morning Tuesday, and only one not gifted with the sense of sight might lacerate one's face upon the work whilst walking along. My conclusion of all this? The sculpture is not guilty of assault and battery.

Her second point targets numerous art works located about the campus. She constructs such analogies as likening one work to a "rusted automobile from New York" and yet another as a "bent sex object" where all perverted male deviants wait for the bus. You ask what they are made of. Touch them, they won't hit you; look at them, they won't think you a fool. The people in the FAC faculty offices will not look out and laugh at you.

Now, let's take the Metawampe. Yes, I will aggree that he is "defiled." I would sincerely hope that Ms. Cresse would admire the Metawampe for more than the insignificant reason that he indeed is a vivid, real, representation of an American Indian.

If she is a true abstract thinker, then she should look about her without trepidation at the many objects which abound. Notice that in abstact forms passages are opened which facilate one's own individual creative thinking. I find creative interpretation to be a relaxing and pensive intellectual activity. Perhaps you should exercise your mind and let your TV tube take a vacation.

William Mahoney
Amherst

What is God's chosen political orientation?

Recently Walter Mondale gave a speech before B'nai Brith, denouncing the "right wing" Republican party and its conservative platform on abortion, crime, and the budget, and adding a punchline, "Many Americans would be surprised to find out that God is a Republican." Well, if we all are familiar with God's word in the Bible, we would know that God is a spirit being who created, controls, and directs the universe, especially the goings'on here on earth.

God gave absolute values for mankind to live by, and of course, some people who were righteous followed Him. Many of those laws, spelled out in the Mosiac Old Testament, denounced murder of the unborn, sodomy, self-righteousness, weakness of moral values, as well as the familiar laws forbidding corruption, theft, murder, covetousness, and disrespect of God, along with many others.

The people who followed God's word were sometimes involved in government and in the citizenry, and those groups of people gave their groups names. There were, of course, dissenters in every group.

I, as a Democrat, do not want to offend fellow Democrats, but have to say that Mondale has a warped issue on this issue about God, because it seems that, although God is definitely not a Republican, most of the people with Godly values in politics happen to be in the Republican party. They are not perfect, but they certainly have the ability to maintain this country's morality, strength and integrity.

Larry Greenstein
Central

Celestial Reception
HIMSELF SAYS HE WON'T GIVE YOU A POLITICAL ENDORSEMENT, SIR. BUT HOW WOULD YOU LIKE A FAMINE, A COUPLE OF THUNDERBOLTS AND A PLAGUE OF LOCUSTS?

HAIR
and SKIN SPECIALISTS

OUR TRAINED STAFF:

GAIL - stylist/makeup consultant

KATHY - stylist/trained at VIDAL SASSOON & LACOUPE

PAULETTE - stylist 8 yrs in Amherst

VIRGINIA - stylist/trained VIDAL SASSOON & haircolor consultant

KATHLEEN - 5 yr. licensed esthetician
COMPLETE SKINCARE PROGRAM
Come in for skincare analysis

Profiles

Echo Hill. Rt. 9, Amherst, 256-6008

PATRICK AND COMPANY PRESENTS

PATRICK & COMPANY
Distinctive Hairstyles
For Men & Women
Elmwood Shops
104 Russel Street
Hadley, Ma. 586-7477

FORMATIONS IN TWEED

Sept. 23
8:00 P.M. $5

Pearl Street

JOIN THE FIGHT FOR STUDENT EMPOWERMENT

BECOME PART OF THE STUDENT SENATE
STOP BY ROOM 420
OF THE STUDENT UNION
OR CALL 545-0431

NOMINATION PAPERS ARE DUE
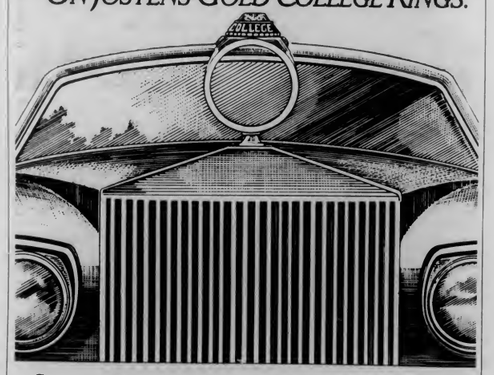
SEPT. 21st AT 5:00

Biggest Sale of the Year!

$25 OFF
ON JOSTENS GOLD COLLEGE RINGS.



See your Jostens representative.

Date: Sept. 17, 18, 19, 20 - Mon, Tue, Wed, Thur
Place: Outside Univ. Store
Time: 10-3:30 pm
Deposit: $15.00

GET A $25 REBATE ON YOUR JOSTENS GOLD COLLEGE RING.

©1984 Jostens, Inc.

UNIVERSITY STORE

live wire

by Don Narey

Anyone going back to town this weekend might want to check out the recently regrouped Robin Lane and Chartbusters tonight at Scotch n' Sounds in Brockton. They're not the most exciting act around, but Robin's husky voice is still, at times, compelling. Saturday night the same club offers the James Montgomery Band, another club favorite rejuvinated.

Should you wander north of Boston, Beverly's J.C. Grover House is a new hot spot for live acts. This former tough-bar stars the Catalinas tonight.

These guys are little known beyond the Tuesday night Channell Crowd but they offer a great set of Springsteenesque originals and, if the mood it right, a sizzling sixties set at the end of the night. The following night Grovers hosts the Lines, and if you feel nostalgic, the James Montgomery Band is there Saturday.

The always fun Girls Night Out will be at Jumpin' Jack Flash this weekend. Flash is on the Fanway and the nice thing about it is, should it not be what you desire, there are other great clubs within walking distance.

Amherst is always wonderful with its inspiring atmosphere, faternal ambiance, from the city slick Southwest to its majestic mountain view, but this weekend, if you want to dance, sing, and be crazy, your best bet is a trip.

Not quite Dirty Harry

By MATTHEW BERMAN
Collegian Staff

You can't fault Clint for trying. He could keep churnig out Dirty Harry movies, and we'd keep going to see them, but this time he thought he's try his hand at a psycological thriller. He failed. Clint Eastwood's newest cop drama, Tightrope, is basically boring.

Without giving away too much of the plot, Tightrope is about a New Orleans cop who is tracking down a killer of prostitutes. In Clint's newest incarnation as Wes Block, he tries to find a middleground between comic book superhero Harry Callahan, and the buffoonery of Bronco Billy. Wes Block is still tight lipped, two-fisted badass, but he also loves dogs, his two little daughters, and heavy drrinking. He is also divorced, sexually frustrated, and into mild bondage with the prostitutes he employs. Clint is trying to establish a character who is a human being, and in this endeavor he does succeed.

The movie is not without its merits. Genevieve Bujold is effective as the head of a rape-crisis center, and as Clint's romantic interest. Wes' daughters, the eldest played by Eastwood's real daughter Allison, are well acted, and the father-daughter dynamics are great. Imagine the dirtiest cop of them all trying to explain to his little daughters about the man bears and the lady bears. There are also a few decent Clintisms thrown in. When Block is asked if he thought that the full moon brings "the crazies out," Block sneers back, "they're always out."

Beside the lack of action and the climax, a big flaw of Tightrope was the lack of a half decent villian. Among the reasons why Dirty Harry became the classic cop drama was that the villiam Scorpion was the ultimate psycopathic killer.

Friday Afternoon at Mikes

MIKE'S WESTVIEW CAFE

A HAPPY HOUR YOU CAN LIVE WITH FOOD - ALL YOU CAN CARRY FOR $1.

Eggplant Parmesan Salads
Sausages Swedish Meatballs and more
Beef Stroganoff Marinated Chicken
Cold Cuts

tax and tip included

The UMass Arts Council
- provides financial assistance for
  - student-produced performing arts and media events
  - campus galleries
  - Residential Arts Programs
  - and other arts-related activities on campus
- issues a free biweekly Arts Calendar serving the Five College Community
- coordinates special programs such as symposia and competitions

Funding Period One - deadline for grant proposals for single projects or events:
Friday, September 28
For grant applications, Calendar deadlines, or further information about the Council call 545-0202 or visit the office at 125 Herter Hall

Rent One of Ours

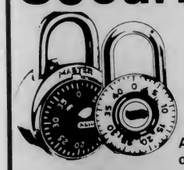
Car
Truck
Passenger Van

North Amherst Motors
Rt. 63 No. Amherst
549-2880

DO-IT-YOURSELF

MINI SECURITY SYSTEM

Security Padlocks



Bike Locks

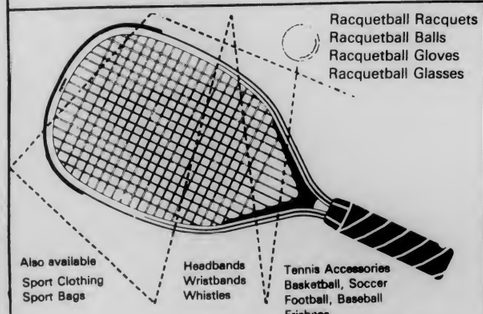
A large assortment of other locks available

Located in the Campus Center

Open M-F 9-5
Sat 11-4

UNIVERSITY STORE

SPORT EQUIPMENT



Racquetball Racquets
Racquetball Balls
Racquetball Gloves
Racquetball Glasses

Also available
Sport Clothing
Sport Bags

Headbands
Wristbands
Whistles

Tennis Accessories
Basketball, Soccer
Football, Baseball
Frisbees,
Swimming Accessories

Open M-F 9-5
Sat 11-4

UNIVERSITY STORE

Hypercurricula

For Thursday, Sept. 20:

ASIAN AMERICAN STUDENTS ASSOCIATION — Our second meeting will feature a speaker from the Third World Caucus. Join the Asian students 7 p.m. at the Campus Center.

ENVIRONMENTAL SCIENCE SEMINAR — The Environmental Science Seminar will be held every other Thursday fall and spring semesters.
Today at 4:40 in Herter Hall, 231. Contact Margaret for more information at 545-2881.

UNDERGRAD BUSINESS CLUB MEETING — UBC first general meeting will be 7 p.m. in Mahar Auditorium. All majors welcome.

PEOPLE'S GAY ALLIANCE — A general meeting will be tonight at 6:30 p.m. in the PGA office, 413 Student Union.
For Friday, Sept. 21:

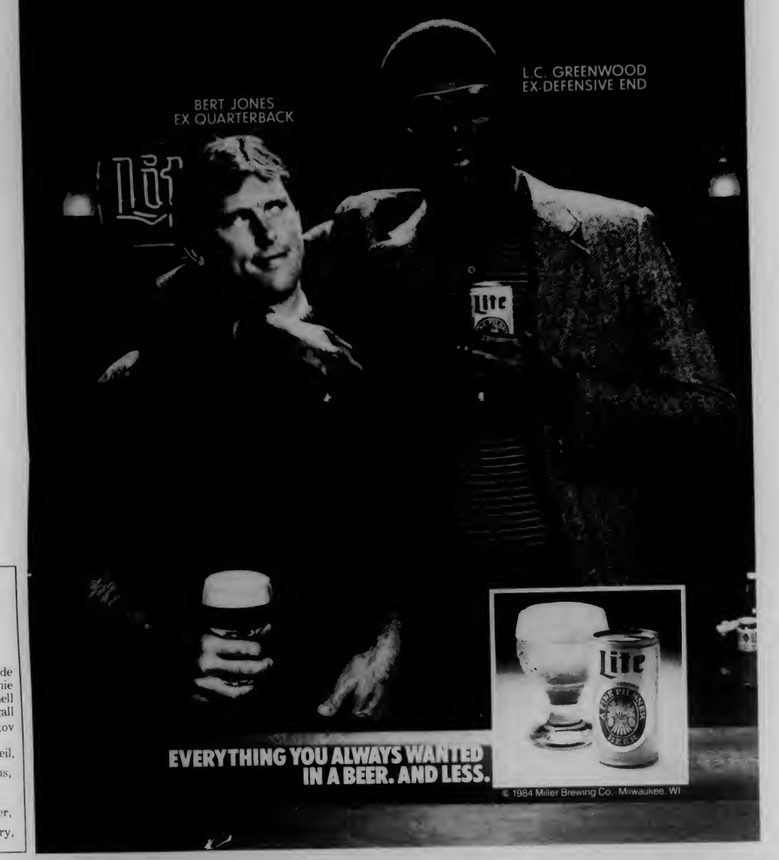
OVER 21 SHERRY HOUR — Everyone's invited to this informal get together at 7 p.m. in the Newman Center Front Lounge. Refreshments will be served.

PUBLIC POLICY COMMITTEE MEETING — The Undergraduate Senate Committee on Public Policy is having a meeting Monday 5 p.m. in the Communications Office. Everyone is welcome and encouraged to attend.

Today's Staff

Night Editor — Michelle Hyde
Copy Editor — Larry Bouchie
Layout Technician — John O'Connell
Photo Technician — Michelle Segall
Production Manager — Beth Moskov
Production — Julie Marcineil, Steve Higgins, Cory Lewis, Nancy Muller, Nanette Dory,

"LITE BEER IS A LOT LIKE QUARTERBACKS. I CAN'T WAIT TO GRAB HOLD OF ONE."



EVERYTHING YOU ALWAYS WANTED IN A BEER. AND LESS.

© 1984 Miller Brewing Co. Milwaukee, WI

OFF CAMPUS UNDERGRADUATES

Nomination Papers to the Commuter Area Government are available now.
Get involved in your Area Government.
Help plan activities for the school year.

Papers available at 404 SUB
Deadline for returning papers is Friday Sept. 21

We have a wonderful selection of boots - high and low, short and tall - smooth and suede. Come see!

SHOE BIN
187 n. pleasant st amherst

Former heavyweight champion Muhammad Ali, shown here in 1979.

His toughest bout yet; Ali fights Parkinsonism

Former champ 'not in any danger'

NEW YORK (AP) — Former world heavyweight boxing champion Muhammad Ali was given test medications Wednesday by doctors who said he was suffering from "Parkinsonism," or minor symptoms of Parkinson's disease.

Ali, 42, apparently did not have Parkinson's disease, a degenerative brain disease, "per se," and experts believed his condition could be controlled by medicine, one of his doctors, Martin Ecker, said.

"He's not in any danger. It's not a fatal disease said Ecker, medical director of Ali's boxing management company.

"You don't die from what he has and I feel very optimistic that what he has can be controlled by medication."

Ecker, a diagnostic radiologist who was consulting on Ali's case, said doctors at Columbia-Presbyterian Medical Center were testing drugs on Ali "to see if it helps him and how much it helps him."

Ali, complaining of slowed motion and slurred speech, underwent five days of tests at the hospital this month before leaving Sept. 11 for a trip to Europe. He returned Tuesday for more tests and treatment.

Because his condition apparently was not worsening and he lacked classic symptoms, doctors ruled out both Parkinson's disease and "the punch-drunk syndrome," caused by repeated blows to the head, Ecker said.

Ali is the only fighter to have won the heavyweight boxing championship three times, in a 21-year career from 1960 to his retirement in 1981. His title was stripped away in 1967 when he refused to be drafted into the Army; he won it back from George Foreman and later lost and won it against Leon Spinks.

Ali's speech has been slurred, at times unintelligible, for about two years. "I'm in good shape," he told fans at Kennedy International Airport on Tuesday night. "I'm a little tired, but I'm in good shape."

An interviewer in Germany quoted Ali as saying, "I always feel tired but don't feel pain at all. ... I don't know exactly what it is."

Ecker said doctors also were unsure of Ali's precise aliment.

"Obviously he has a neurological problem. It's not a progressive thing," he said. "He doesn't have narcolepsy. He doesn't have punch-drunk syndrome. He doesn't have Parkinson's disease per se.

"It's Parkinsonism," Ecker added. "By that we mean it mimics some of the symptoms of Parkinson's." Asked if Ali's condition would worsen, he said, "We don't believe so. We hope not."

Ali does not have the quivering hands and difficulty walking that are associated with Parkinson's disease, which eventually can incapacitate its victims, Ecker said. In most cases, the cause of the disease is unknown.

Columbia-Presbyterian released a brief statement Wednesday that said Ali's tests may be completed next week, and saying that no other information was being released, at Ali's request.

WHERE IS EVERYBODY?
"OBVIOUSLY" AT THE "NEW"

Changes — 2 FOR 1 TONIGHT 'til 11 PM
Rte. 9, Amherst

Ladies ARRIVING BEFORE 11 WEARING A SKIRT RECEIVE A COMPLIMENTARY 1st DRINK
HOT DOGS 50¢ 'til 11
Changes
The Entertainment, Price and Service Leader!

THE CHEESE SHOP
79 Main St.,
Amherst, MA 01002
413-253-3442
* Over 150 imported cheeses
* Over 20 selected types of coffee beans
* Bulk teas
* Freshly baked croissants & pastries
* Fresh pasta
* Party trays
* SPECIAL *
Andes Peru Coffee $4.99 lb.
Fresh Peanut Butter .99¢ lb.
Hours: Daily 9:30-6:00; Sunday 9:00-1:00

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIED

Monday - Thursday 8:45 - 3:45 • Friday 8:45 - 2:30 • Cash in advance • 5 consecutive days 5% discount
• 10 consecutive days 10% discount • 15 consecutive days 15% discount • phone number free

ADVERTISING
Advertise FREE in the RIVER VALLEY AD Advertise items you want to sell or buy. Call 532-3498

APPLE COMPUTER FOR RENT
Apple II available for $250 or best offer for this semester. Pascal is included. Call 256-1841. Ask for Ruthie

AUDIO
Fun with sound by Pres Speakers. For information call Rob at 549-5897 after 5 pm

AUTO FOR SALE
73 Saab 96 A classic! BO $-4648/4563
1978 Pontiac LeMans, AM/FM cassette stereo, cruise, $2950/best offer 256-1291
1972 Pontiac Ventura dependable passed June inspection. $600.00 best offer 545-2690
81 VW Rabbit Convertible, 35 mpg, AM/FM cass stereo, lifetime rustproof, new shocks and exhaust, must sell. 788-0000
73 Buick Classic luxury car beautiful shape must sell 800 or BO 548-1164
Dodge customized Van '77 engine in gd running order catm int call 549-4692
Must sell * Pick Up Truck, $200 all offers considered, English student returning home contact Andy Lehrer Room 314 Wheeler 6-4921
1975 VW Rabbit four door, excellent condi, runs well new paint, new exhaust, AM-FM radio. Sacrifice at 1,450.00 (plus 549-5418 (evenings)
Datsun B210 1975 fair condition needs some work. Selling because in desperate need of $ call John 549-6122 $150.00
1970 Chevy Malibu runs well 2 door some rust $550 call 665-3207
1975 Datsun 710 runs well, body fair $500 584-5884 evenings

BOLTWOOD PROJECT
Students needed for programs with the developmentally disabled. Credit available. Valuable experience. Info Meetings 9-17, 9-20, 2-26 7 pm CC rm 917

ENTERTAINMENT
VIDEO VIDEO VIDEO VIDEO Rack-A Video entertainment giant 10 and 15 foot screens for dorms and Greeks. 'MTV' video music call 549-7144
Rack-A-Disc Rack-A-Video entertainment guaranteed events for Disc Jockeys, Bands and Video. Call 549-7144
WICKED AND WILD DJ's audio and visual entertainment for the 80's 584-6712

FOR SALE
SOUNDESIGN STEREO Originally $900. 2 years old. $469. Dresser $40. 253-3682
Sylvania 19 inch color TV $150 please call 253-2410
Portable typewriter for sale call 549-1368 Ingrid
1980 Honda CX500D, helmet & luggage included $1300 call Chris (eves) 665-2445
12 speed Fuji for sale fine running condition $100 549-5466
Dorm refrigerator 2.5 cubic foot Sanyo 900, table top oven $25, 2 element hot plate $15, $80 for all 1-967-7946 after 6
UMASS SKI CLUB
Be part of the tradition - Information and membership table at Campus Center Concourse Wed-Fri. Special price - join before Oct 1 for $7.00
Terminal & Coupler, must sell $350 call 549-5258
Rocking Chair $25, speed bike $50 Sitting Chair $7. 256-8475, evening
Trek Bicycle Reynolds 531 frame 22 inch Shimeno and Campagnolo equipped $350 253-5298
Sm Refrig 3 ft high, 3 shelves, freezer box and meat drawer $100.00 call between 5 and 8 pm 665-7567
Dorm Refrigerator Sears Kenmore taller than rentals call 253-1797 $75.00

Digital Decwriter w/modem and paper. Ideal for Cyber 549-5216

FREE PUPPY
Have to get rid of dog. He needs a home. Call Jay 256-8802 Leave message

HELP WANTED
Maintenance person wanted 2 hrs per day, Mon-Fri, mornings. Duties include cleaning office and maintaining equip. Mechanical aptitude and workstudy required. Apply in person 9-4 Mon-Fri at 113 CC (Cutegan office)
Attention! Public Relations, Journalists, Graphic Designers. The SGA Communications Office is now hiring. Great opportunity to develop your portfolio! WS and non WS jobs available. See Kelley Riley in 423 Student Union for application. Deadline is 9/21/84
Homemakers, Home Health Aide positions available immediately. Part time, flexible hours. Free training offered. Call Home Care Services for more information. 586-3886
Redemption Staff. Be part of the only student run redemption service in Mass. Exp. with cash handling & numbers. Must have license & workstudy. Apply 306 SUB 546-0618
Work study positions Union Video Center S.U.B. no experience req
Student Rep. wanted, earn commission and travel. Lowest prices on campus Town Tours 617-321-3882
Montreal Weekend Party Nov. 2-4 $68. includes RT transportation from your campus, 3 says 2 nights hotel in DT Montreal Welcome Party all taxes and tips drinking age 18 optional Bruins Montreal tickets call today Eric 549-5017
Part-time jobs perfect for students! Get experience, get paid for political work. Hazardous waste clean-up, energy issues, voter education. Mass Fair Share is building a part-time staff in public education and fundraising. Hours 5-10 PM. Flexible schedule $60 - $120/wk. Call 586-8713

Nursing Students Join our growing staff. Nurse's Aides needed. Full time, part time, any shift. Home care, private duty or staff relief. One year recent experience required. Medical Personnel Pool 586-7365
Enthusiastic Students to apply Asst to the Speaker/Student Senate. Work on student/campus/social issues. Experience w/in SGA helpful, but not necessary. 10 hrs/wk. $3.35/hr. For more details call 545-0341. Pick-up applications in rm. 420 SUB. Application deadline Oct. 1, 4:00 pm. SGA is an AA/EOE
The Student Center for Educational Research and Advocacy is hiring undergrads to learn political organizing & student interest research skills. SCERA also has positions for a writer/editor, resource center staff person and for the anti-racism team. 10 hrs/wk. $3.35/hr. Work study & non work study. Applications at 420 Student Union. Applications due 9/26. SCERA is an AA/EEO employer
Auditor needed, SGA Treasurer's Office must be able to analyze and apply financial information. 10-15 hrs/wk. $3.35/hr. Workstudy or non-workstudy. Applications in 407 Student Union Building. Deadline September 27 at noon. AA/EOE
Exotic Dancers wanted full or part time 4 to 12 be 247-5682
Amherst Deli is hiring Delivery Drivers. Hours 4-10 PM Mon-Sat must have own car Apply in person
Newspaper Deliverers needed on campus. No car necessary. Good pay. 2 days a week 1 hour/day. Call evenings 253-7009
part time work available immediately doing lighthousekeeping chores for the elderly in Amherst, Hadley, Northampton and surrounding towns. Flexible hours. Must have reliable transportation and a phone. Honesty and dependability a must. To arrange for an interview call Ginn at Professional Care 584-1030
Delivery Personnel Sweet Tooth needs 10 to 12 energetic drivers. Must be 18 years or over and own reliable car with insurance. Apply in person at rear of 79 S. Pleasant St. Amherst Thurs. Fri. 7-8 PM
WMUA seeks secretary with good typing and shorthand skills. 9 hours/wk. Call Ann and leave message 586-7862

INSTRUCTION
Know your car. Basic Automobile Workshop. 28 hours including classroom and shop. Limited enrollment 253-2098
Need help with Calculus or any other Math courses? Call JoAnn for help 545-0320

LOST
Gold bracelet lost Friday at Pearl Street very sentimental value Reward 549-5345
Brown, cloth purse please return to Lynn 549-4911 or Campus Police
Lost black weekly planner very important call 546-6229 Jacob
Levi Jean Jacket taken from Pike Monday night $10 reward no questions asked sentimental value call Cathy at 545-0320

MANICURIST WANTED
Manicurist wanted for new nail salon in Amherst call office 1 283-3637

MOTORCYCLES
1976 Honda CB360T, 16800 miles, new tires, chain, battery, last year $500/BO 549-0437

 OBSERVANT? **
12 speed FUJI, handlebar gear levers, concave rims, steel and brass cluster. Stolen 9/13 Phillips St. Large reward for information or recovery 549-0792

PERSONALS
The Boston Party Cruise 800 Boston women have bought tickets 200 tickets left for UMass men call Brian 549-1466
Rick Room 405 a weekend to remember or was it? Getting serious wasn't what I had in mind just a little time between Calculus and your project I wish things were different because now I'm sad Room 313
Happy Birthday Maria! from the Second Floor of Mackimmie
Happy Birthday Pablo! Always, Suzie
UMass Rugby Mike Canavan put under by Gina Grunta
Hey Hey Hey! Happy Birthday Lisa S! Just wanted to tell you you're a great buddy Love Sue
Happy Birthday to the best brother and friend. Love ya
CONTACT LENSES REPLACED Most brands $20 - $25 Dr Spencer University Drive 256-8561
HAPPY BIRTHDAY No kidding! B.F.F.S.

ROOMMATE WANTED
Female to share one bedroom in two bedroom Southwood Apt. Call Beth or Cathy at 256-1819
Room available in a four bedroom apt $120.00 per month. On bus line, very big in Riverglade Apts call 256-1326
Share 2 bedroom apt in Northwood with 2 others - cheap rent and utilities call Jay 665-3261
Female wanted to share a 3 bedroom Townehouse apartment. Tami 546-9740
Mature female wanted to share room in two bedroom Brittany Manor apartment. Call 253-5465

TAG SALE
Frony North Village Apt Sat morning 9/22/84 furnitures, clothes, housewares

UNDERGRADUATE BUSINESS CLUB
Undergraduate Business Club will hold its first general meeting, Thursday, September 20, in Mahar Auditorium at 7:00 pm New Members can sign up at the meeting

WANTED
Announcer needed UMass Marching Band auditions 9/21/84 at Old Chapel 4:40 call Patty at 253-5237 for details

Sports

Manal nets booters 1-0 win over N.H.

Minutemen undefeated defense remains big key

By ADAM NAZIMOWITZ
Collegian Staff

It wasn't the prettiest of victories, but Coach Jeff Gettler and his soccer players will take it, especially after last season's struggle for victories.

Both teams were sluggish throughout, but Kurt Manal's fifth goal of the season was enough as the University of Massachusetts men's soccer team remained undefeated (3-0-1) with a 1-0 win over the University of New Hampshire at Boyden Field yesterday afternoon.

"I was disappointed that we played poorly. We didn't use our heads or play smart soccer. We kept it a close game. We could've taken advantage of so many things they didn't pick up on," Gettler said.

The Minutemen came out strong at the outset of the game, putting constant pressure on an unorganized UNH squad that resulted in a good chance for Tom Uschok, who received the ball that went through a wall of players off an indirect kick, but UNH goaltender Adam Chidekel, who made some big saves all afternoon, withstood his first big test of the day by smothering the ball.

The pressure paid off for UMass however, at the 14:10 mark of the game as Manal took a Paul Serafino feed, turned around and fired a shot from about 15 yards out past Chidekel for the lone goal of the game. The goal kept Manal's streak of at least one goal in every game alive at four.

But after the goal, the booters began to let up somewhat and allow UNH to regroup and form an attack. Fortunately for the Minutemen, UNH couldn't capitalize on its few scoring chances.

The defense remained strong and goalie Don Donahue only saw seven shots come his way compared to the 21 UMass fired at Chidekel. Donahue stopped three of them, to record his third shutout and Chidekel made eight saves.

UNH Coach Ted Garber (whose father Dick cancelled UMass lacrosse practice to watch his son) was disappointed with his team's play, but impressed by the play of UMass.

"We just didn't start out well. Chidekel made a lot of good saves, but that's what a goaltender is for. UMass is a lot better than last year. They've strengthened themselves up front, they have good halfbacks and a good goalkeeper. They should challenge for one of the top spots in New England," said Gerber.

Junior forward Nicholas Marciano makes a move downfield against the Wildcats of UNH in yesterday's action. The Minutemen remained undefeated with a 1-0 victory. Looking on is Matt Cushing (10).

Gettler felt UNH gave his team a good game, but was still able to use many players in order to rest some people for the upcoming Rutgers Invitational this weekend.

"They (UNH) worked real hard. They had good backs and a good goalkeeper. They played all right. I wanted to rest him (starting fullback Mike Rudd, who only saw limited action) and Matthew Dowd earned a starting spot, so we rotated," Gettler added.

Sports Log

Tony Betros

Just a few thoughts ...

With baseball's pennant races virtually over (don't even think about mentioning the AL West), it's time to look at some individual milestones ... Reggie Jackson became the 13th player ever to hit 500 homers in a career the other night. It was almost to the day 17 years ago when Mr. October blasted his first homer in the same stadium off some guy named Jim Weaver. ... Next stop for Reggie will probably be Cooperstown, but he's gonna have a few surprises before he's done ... Rookie sensation Dwight Gooden struck out 16 again the other night but lost on a balk. That gives him 283 K's for the year and each one was more overpowering than the last. Losing on a balk was only half the story. He lost in Pennsylvania, so the 19-year-old had to drown his sorrows in a 7-11 Cherry Slush ... I wonder if they'd really celebrate and let Dwight drink L.A. beer if he won rookie of the year.

I never thought I'd read his name again, but Butch Hobson made the paper. It seems that Tony Armas is ready to break Butch's dubious record of most strikeouts in a season for the Red Sox. Maybe Butch lent out some of his bone chips to Tony ... I hope Tony doesn't follow in everything Butch has done or we'll see center field throws taking four bounces to reach second base or worse yet, Tony in Casey Chevrolet commercials.

What a Jekyll and Hyde we saw last Sunday with the Patriots. Down 23-0 early, the Pats didn't even register a first down. Enter Tony Eason. The second-year signal-caller drove the Pats for 38 straight points, 31 in the second half. Nevertheless, the Pats are still one point underdogs against the Redskins, who invade Foxboro this weekend ... Eason replaces Steve Grogan, who's had more operations on his knees than good games ... Memo to all Giants fans: I wish you the best of luck this year but please don't get your hopes too high. As a Met fan, I had a fun season, but I still have a sour taste in my mouth (you know, 'If only ...') Like the Mets, the Giants look to be turning things around, but please be patient ... Phil Sims is not going to make em forget Y.A. Tittle, who's full name has made just about every trivia game on record. I've heard it a dozen times, and still can't remember.

Notes from around the world of sports: Steve Young, the man who signed the 40 million dollar contract in the USFL (football's answer to the AL West), did not receive payment on his contract. That's 1.5 million he hasn't received yet. Imagine all of that stacked in one dollar bills, one after the other. It would still be sturdier than the library tower ... Let's keep our fingers crossed for Muhammad Ali, one of my personal favorite sports personalities of all time. The Champ may have a form of Parkinson's disease, but doctors still aren't sure yet. Since Ali left, boxing has just been plain dull.

Finally, I heard that a man set a record for the most consecutive sit-ups with 29,000 in a row. I heard Jane Fonda was tough, but this is ridiculous.

No more need be said.

Water polo gets last splash with two convincing victories

By MIKE LEVINE
Collegian Staff

After a lackluster performance at the M.I.T. Tournament last weekend, University of Massachusetts water polo team came up with two impressive games in a row: an 11-4 win over Amherst College on Tuesday, followed by a 17-11 win over Deerfield College yesterday.

"We've really turned the corner on the season," said UMass coach Russ Yarworth. "We're concentrating more on defense, and getting more turnovers."

The Minutemen were victimized by the goalposts in the first half of their game at Amherst College, as they dominated the Jeffs, but were only able to come away with a 5-3 lead. Captain Paul McNeil continued his hot scoring with three goals, while Paul Surette and Bill Feeney had the other first half goals.

The UMass "B" team took over in the second half and got four straight goals to put the game out of reach, 9-3. After a controversial breakaway goal by Amherst, the Minutemen closed the scoring with a penalty shot and a power play goal. Goalies Fred Marius (first half) and Kevin Gallagher (second half) were hardly tested, and came up big when called upon.

In the Deerfield game, the Minutemen put the game away in the first half, thanks to six goals on six shots by McNeil. Sophommore Mike Hoover added four goals to give the Miutemen a 10-4 halftime lead.

Once again, the "B" team took over in the second half and held Deerfield to a 7-7 standoff to make the final score 17-11. Bill Feeney had three goals and three asists in the second half for UMass.

Obviously, the Minutemen learned their lessons well after their poor showing over the weekend. "The defense learned that you can't go into a game without emotion and intensity," Yarworth said.

The next chance for UMass to show some of it will be Saturday morning at 10 a.m. against Boston University at Boyde Pool.

Following that game, the Minutemen travel to Fordham before they head to Harvard for the league tournament.

sports at a glance

UMass schedule: No games are scheduled
Tomorrow: Collegian's NFL picks

Bombing at US Embassy in Beirut kills 23

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) – A van driven by a suicide bomber careened past concrete barriers and through a fusillade of gunfire yesterday and blew up at the doors of the U.S. Embassy annex. Police said 23 people were killed in the blast and the U.S. State Department reported two of the dead were Americans.

Lebanese state radio initially put the death toll at 10, but later said as many as 40 people may have perished.

The blast tore into the lower stories of the six story building, injuring as many as 60 people, including the British and American ambassadors and 21 other Americans, police and emergency officials said.

State Department spokesman John Hughes said there were two terrorists in the van and that they drove 50 feet under fire from Lebanese guards. He said the van was "badly shot up." Hughes said there were 20 Americans injured.

U.S. Ambassador Reginald Bartholomew and British Ambassador David Meirs were in conference in Bartholomew's top-floor office when the explosives detonated at 11:45 a.m. (4:45 a.m. EDT) and both were slightly injured.

In Washington, President Reagan reacted with "anger and sorrow." However, he said the United States would not be driven out of the Middle East. "We must continue," he said. "We can't just withdraw in the face of this kind of terrorism."

Democratic presidential nominee Walter Mondale expressed "shock and outrage" at an "irrational, uncivilized, bloody act." He said he would support any appropriate countermeasure which Reagan might order.

The explosion ripped a crater 16 feet wide near the building. Local radio stations quoted police as saying the van was laden with as much as 385 pounds of TNT, and that it carried fake Dutch diplomatic license plates. State television said the van also was fitted with four Soviet-made rockets, adding to the force of the explosion.

Police and embassy officials said they believed the gunfire from Lebanese and American guards prevented the van from driving into a basement parking lot and blowing up the entire building.

However, the vehicle rolled to a spot directly in front of the main entrace to the annex and exploded, heavily damaging the ground floor visa section.

U.S. Marine guard Cpl. Larry Gill of Mobile, Ala., said he was on duty at the entrance to the embassy annex when the bombing occurred.

"We heard shooting, saw it (the van) skidding – then the lights went out," said Gill, who suffered cuts and bruises and was being given oxygen as he talked to reporters. He was partially buried in rubble, but said "I think I'm OK."

About 90 minutes after the explosion, an anonymous caller claimed responsibility for the attack on behalf of Islamic Holy War, a shadowy terrorist group that claimed the bombings that killed 299 American and French peacekeeping soldiers last October, and the bombing of the U.S. Embassy in west Beirut in April 1983. Sixty-three people, including 17 Americans, were killed in that explosion.

The American staff had just moved to the east Beirut annex in July for security reasons, because the old British compound it had transferred to after the embassy was destroyed was considered too vulnerable.

The Massachusetts Daily NEW ENGLAND'S LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY

Collegian

Volume CXV, Issue 80 UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AMHERST (545-3500) Friday, September 21, 1984

Collegian photo by Mitch Drantch

LIVE IN CONCERT — Black Uhuru performs a supercharged show Wednesday in the Student Union Ballroom. Watch for the review and interview with band members Monday in Arts.

New plan rearranging core structure proposed

By LAURA YEE
Collegian Staff

After more than seven months of deliberations, the General Education Council presented a proposal to the faculty senate yesterday that would "tighten up" and change the present structure of the University of Massachusetts core requirements.

The proposal may be discussed into November when it will be voted on, said Joel L. Naroff, council chairman.

If the proposal is passed, "no more than three of the general education cores could be taken pass/fail," psychology professor and council member Harry Schumer said.

"In the philosophical sense, the proposal is tightening up from the present course selection. It's more targeted with still a large amount of flexibility and we're very concerned with expanding the student's breadth of knowledge," said Naroff.

If passed, the C, D, and E core requirements would be replaced with areas called the "social world," "biological and physical world" and "analytical reasoning."

Naroff said the titles reflect the idea that courses should be assigned to a category on the basis of course content and not the department in which a course is taught.

"The social world area has three major subdivisions: the arts, historical studies and social and behavioral sciences. Students must take two courses in each of these subdivisions. In addition, there is a human and cultural diversity component to the social world requirement. All students must take two courses in the social world that have a human and cultural diversity designation," Naroff said.

The biological and physical would has two major subdivisions — biological sciences and physical science. The proposal states that students would be required to take three courses in this area with at least one course taught in each subdivision. The proposal highly recommends that one course be taken with a laboratory component.

"The council has conservative impulses that the readings of books are a good thing. No one seemed to deviate from that assumption," Associate to the provost and council member Fern L. Johnson said.

"We discussed having a Third World requirement for students to learn something abou the culture of people other than their own," Johnson said.

Cores in analytical reasoning would include one basic mathematics course or the placement equivalent and one additional course in mathematical, quantitative, numerical, analytical or formal reasoning.

"The student should be given a sense of how the scientist looks at the world and how the scientist perceives it," said Earl McWhorter, a chemistry professor and council member. "A sense of humility comes from taking a science."

Schumer said in cases of a change of major, students could apply these courses to general education requirements.

Up to three courses in all the general education requirements may but need not be substituted with experimental interdisciplinary courses.

Naroff said that to maintain the quality of the general education courses, each course would be evaluated and reviewed every four years.

Japanese to visit campus

By TOM MIDDLETON
Collegain Staff

A group of young Japanese professionals will be guests of the University of Massachusetts tomorrow for ceremonies honoring both a former president of the Massachusetts Agricultural College, which is now UMass, and poet Emily Dickinson.

The visitors include 41 men and 25 women from Hokkaido, Japan's northernmost region, who are engaged in careers in health, government, industry, agriculture, community service, and education.

Former Mass. Agricultural college President William Clark left his position in 1876 to help establish the Sapporo Agricultural College, which is now Hokkaido University. Since 1975, both UMass and that school have sponsored student exchange programs.

Dickinson, who lived in Amherst, remains a translated favorite of the Japanese.

The group is scheduled to place flowers on the graves of both honorees tomorrow, starting at the Clark site in West Cemetary, and later moving to Dickinson's grave. Following the ceremonies this weekend, the guests will tour Sturbridge Village, Boston, and then travel to Canada.

The director of the visiting tour is Akio Matsue of the Hokkaido Center for International Exchange.

Inside:

BOG bans Cosmoparody p.3
On beauty · geants and oppression p.7
Minuteme. it Holy Cross p.16

"Tomorrow is often the busiest day of the year."
— Spanish proverb

Collegian photo by Brian K. Gonye

SWAN LAKE — Senior sociology major Dianne Zammitti of Sunderland does some reading by the Campus Pond yesterday afternoon.

World and National News

Economic report a re-election boost

WASHINGTON (AP) — The economy has slowed to a 3.6 percent rate of growth, substantially below the pace set during the first half of the year but still strong enough to give the country its best economic performance in decades, the government said yesterday.

The Reagan administration hailed the news and private economists agreed that a president running for re-election could scarcely ask for a better performance.

The Commerce Department report said the gross national product, the total output of goods and services, increased at an annual rate of 3.6 percent in the current July-September quarter, for an annual total of $1.64 trillion. The report is based on data for the first two months of the quarter and estimates for September and is often subject to later revisions.

The third-quarter figure marked a dramatic slowing from the 7.1 percent pace in the second quarter and the 1.1 percent rate for the first three months of 1984.

But the slowdown was not as severe as some had feared and most economists said the current level is just what is needed to sustain the current 22-month expansion.

They noted the news on inflation was very good. Prices, as measured by an index tied to the GNP, rose at a 2.9 percent rate in the quarter, down from the 3.3 percent level set in the second quarter.

Commerce Secretary Malcolm Baldrige said the preliminary estimate for GNP growth "provides further evidence that the economy has shifted down to a more moderate and sustainable growth rate."

He said investment, consumer spending and defense outlays would generate growth in the 4 percent range for "the foreseeable future."

He said that even with the slowdown in the second half, the economy should have the "best two-year performance in over thirty years."

AP Laserphoto

House Speaker Thomas McGee...faces challenge.

McGee may be gone

BOSTON (AP) — After months of political intrigue on Beacon Hill, Rep. George Keverian says he has 73 of the 81 votes he needs to become the next speaker of the Massachusetts House, one of the most powerful positions in state government.

"There is absolutely no doubt that this is over," Keverian, the Everett Democrat challenging Speaker Thomas McGee, declared yesterday at a news conference jammed with reporters and curious legislators.

McGee did not immediately dispute Keverian's figures. His only public response was to release the text of a letter he sent to Keverian challenging him to reveal which supporters he would name to key leadership positions.

On Wednesday, McGee said neither he nor Keverian had an 81-vote majority, raising the possibility that the tiny Republican minority could hold the balance of power.

House democrats win MX reduction

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan and congressional leaders agreed yesterday on a compromise, $292 billion defense budget, coupled with restrictions on MX missile production that would allow either the House or Senate to kill the nuclear weapon in votes after next April.

Terms of the "agreement in principle," disclosed by sources who spoke only on condition that they not be identified, represent a major victory for House Democrats who oppose the MX and had demanded the Senate retreat from a spending package totaling $299 billion for defense.

The budget figure would represent a "real," or inflation-adjusted, increase of about 5 percent for military spending over the past year. Reagan orginally sought $313 billion for fiscal 1985, an increase of more than 13 percent, but later revised that request to the $299 billion figure accepted by the Senate.

Gaye's dad guilty

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The father of soul singer Marvin Gaye pleaded no contest yesterday to voluntary manslaughter in the shooting death of his son during an April 1 argument.

Defense attorney Michael Schiff said the charge was reduced from first-degree murder on a plea bargain, and added that he believes he will be able to persuade the judge not to send Gay to prison.

His son, who added an "e" to his name when he began his singing career, was shot twice in the chest with a pistol on the eve of his 45th birthday. Gaye, known for such hits as "Sexual Healing" and "I Heard it Through the Grapevine," had been celebrating with his parents when an argument flared.

Today's Staff

Night Editor — Anne McCrory
Copy Editor — Bob Burgess
Layout Technician — Ansel Zinter
Photo Technician — Brian Gonye
Production Supervisor — Conor Plunkett
Production — Laura Zigman, Julie Slater, Andrew Held, Jeff Collins, Deborah A. Rugg

Correction:

A story in Wednesday's Collegian incorrectly identified the source of a $5,000 grant that will help pay for Bilingual Education Week. The Student Affairs Division is the office that has verbally agreed to supply the loan.

Correction:

A story in Thursday's Collegian incorrectly identified WMUA employee Randy Scollins. Scollins is program director of the radio station. Scollins was also misquoted once in the story. He meant that the Black Mass Communications Project, not WMUA, began in the 1960s.

Oh my gush,
have you read the Collegian lately?

OFF CAMPUS
UNDERGRADUATES

Nomination Papers to the Commuter Area Government
are available now.
Get involved in your Area Government.
Help plan activities for the school year.

Papers available at 404 SUB
Deadline for returning papers is Friday Sept. 21

FUNNYBONES
Cocktail Lounge

Fri. & Sat. Party till 2 am with Crazy George (doors close when full!)	Sunday Sports Action begins 1 pm in our Sports Pub 99¢ drinks 7-1	Monday 7-1 Nickle Nite every other drink just 5¢
Tuesday 7-1 Tom Gehrke Live! 99¢ bar drinks till 11!	Wednesday 7-1 Penny Draft Nite Every other draft just 1¢	Thursday 7-1 99¢ Schnapps Shots! 11 kinds, all night

Open til 2 AM
Friday & Saturday

HAPPY HOUR 1-7
7 DAYS A WEEK
Rte9, Hadley 586-2770
(across from Mt. Farms Mall)

JB's
ROAST BEEF
60 Main St
Amherst
253-7018

IT'S A BIRD, IT'S A PLANE, IT'S —

Al Haskins of the UMass Parachute Club during a demonstration at Haigus Mall yesterday.

Collegian photos by Paul Desmarais

BOG pulls Cosmoparody, loses $3-4,000 on concert

By JOHN VINCENT
Collegian Staff

Cosmoparody magazine, a take-off on Cosmopolitan, has been removed from the University Store after the Campus Center Board of Governors (BOG) pointed out its low moral standards to the store's manager, the BOG vice-chairperson said last night.

Also, between $3,000 and $4,000 was lost on the Black Uhuru concert Wednesday which was sponsored by the BOG, chairman Bob Abele said at last night's board meeting.

Vice-chairperson Karen Karina Gray said of Cosmoparody, "'I think it's trash. I'm so glad that magazine got pulled out. This shows student work in action. The magazine wasn't selling anyway, it was displayed for sale throughout the store."

Gray said the BOG recommended that Cosmoparody be taken from the shelves and the University Store complied. She said a BOG member brought a sexist article in the latest issue to her attention that she took action on the recommendation.

The Black Uhuru concert attracted only 850 people in the Student Union Ballroom which has a capacity of 1,100 said Lance Foley, director of the Union Program Council which put on the show for the BOG.

"We tend to lose money ofn SUB shows. It's a small hall," Foley said. "Black Uhuru tickets go for $16 to $18 in Boston - they were $9.50 here. We are likely to lose a large part of our audience if we charge top prices, and end up losing more money in unsold tickets."

In other BOG news, Abele said plans are in the works to open the Blue Wall to all ages all the time except for Friday night Social Hours. It is now open to all ages Tuesday, Friday and Saturday, except for 3 p.m. to 6 p.m. Social Hours on Friday.

NOPE, stadium renamed after former phys. ed deans

By JOEL P. COFFIDIS
Collegian Staff

The North Physical Education Building (NOPE) and Alumni Stadium will be renamed later this fall

David Bischoff, dean of the school of Physical Education, said that the stadium would become Warren McGuirk Alumni Stadium and NOPE will be named the Ruth Totman Physical Education Building.

"McGuirk was the first dean of the school of physical education and a long-time athletic director," Bischoff said.

"McGuirk was primarily instrumental in the upgrading of the football program. His principle concern was inter-collegiate football," Bischoff said.

"During the time McGuirk was here, both Boyden and the stadium were built. The playing fields in the west were also built when he was here," Bischoff said.

Bischoff said McGuirk was an All-American at Boston College. He retired at the end of 1971, Bischoff said.

NOPE will be named for Ruth Totman, who was head of the Women's Physical Education Department from 1943 to 1964," Bischoff said.

"Totman was highly conscientious and widely respected in New England in her field," Bischoff said.

The naming of the Totman Building is unusual because Totman is still living, Bischoff said.

"Some of her (Totman's) colleagues recommended that the building be named for her. She was pleased when she heard of the dedication," Bischoff said.

The dedication for the renaming of Alumni Stadium will be Nov. 3 at the Homecoming game between the Minutemen and the University of Connecticut. The dedication date for NOPE has not yet been established.

Women protesting violence hold annual march tonight

By JULIA MAYCOCK
Collegian Staff

University of Massachusetts students will be participating in the third annual "Take Back The Night" march and rally, protesting violence against women, at 7:00 tonight in Institute Park in Worcester.

The event is "a form of community education on violence against women, the everyday violence that women are subject to. This is a means of resisting that violence," said S.E. Chase, a representative of the Student Center for Educational Research and Advocacy (SCERA).

The rally will feature keynote speaker Judge Lisa A. Richette, author of The Throwaway Children, who will address the court's response ot women who experience rape and other forms of violence. David Adams, a member of a Boston self-help group for batterers will speak. Annette Rafferty, co-founder of an emergency shelter for women and children in Worcester will talk about women's groups in the area. The rally will interpreted for the hearing impaired and translated into Spanish.

A mile and a half march will follow the rally. A benefit dance will be held at 9 p.m. at the Veterans fo Foreign Wars hall on Ballard Street.

This is a "Take Back The Night" rally because "night is a time associated with fear and vulnerability and for a lot of women that night is 24 hours a day," said Donna Stewart, a member of the Worcester based Women's Energy Against Violence.

Stewart said about 1,000 people attended the event last year. "Marches are very important because politicians look at the numbers that turn out."

Felice Yeske'Lesbian and Gay Awareness programmer at the University of Massachusetts, agreed. "It is ultimately politically significant that over 50 percent of the population should be able to walk down the street without fear."

Began as 'alternative'

Orchard Hill remembers past

By JIM AVERILL
Collegian Correspondent

The Orchard Hill Residential College was founded as an alternative to the depersonalization of rapid University expansion when many students began to "feel like a number" in the 1960s, according to a former area administrator.

At the first of four panel discussions on the history of the residential areas which is now celebrating its 20th anniversary, one of the area's first "masters," Leon Barron, and other panelists discussed the formation of the area as a residential college.

H. Leland Varley, who was the first Orchard Hill master, said the idea of a residential college at the university was first considered when he, political science professor Luther Allen and some others attended a conference on residential colleges in Colorado in 1964.

At the time, the Orchard Hill dorms were just being completed and it was decided that they would become an experimental residential college.

A residential college is a semi-autonomous group of dorms within a university that offers a combination of regular university courses along with new inter-disciplinary courses which are created mostly because of student interest and awareness.

Each house in the area has one live-in faculty member who gets to know many of his students personally. His goal, according to Barron, is "the social and cultural enrichment of both student and faculty."

Of the approximately 1300 current residents of Orchard Hill, between 150 and 200 currently participate in the Residential College Program.

Police report theft, motorist's arrest

A stuffed deer's head and $700 worth of carpeting were reported missing from a storage building at Townhouse Apartments Wednesday. The theft occurred sometime within the last two weeks, according to Amherst police.

Police arrested two men for traffic violations Wednesday. State Police in Sunderland issued a warrant by Amherst police on a Shelburne man. A 25-year-old resident of Huntingburg, In. was arrested on Northampton Road for driving to endanger, failure to stop for a police officer, speeding, failure to stay within marked lanes, and driving without a license. He was arraigned yesterday.

An Amherst resident reported the theft of a Coleman cooler, two deck chairs, and a fern from the porch of his Fearing Street home, according to Amherst Police.

Collegian photo by Brian K. Gonye

THE WANING RAYS OF SUMMER — Students enjoy the last day of summer sun studying at the Flagstone Pyramids yesterday. Today is the first day of autumn.

apc PRODUCTIONS

Presents

Tix on sale Monday Sept. 24

R.E.M.

Monday Oct. 15

F.A.C. UMass

Students $7.50 & $8.50
General Public $9.50 & $10.50

UMass ID required with student ticket

Tickets on sale at Fine Arts Center, Springfield Civic Center and Stop & Shop locations in Northampton, Holyoke, Greenfield and Pittsfield. No cans, bottles, or recording devices

IT'S NOT TOO LATE! To Have

The Boston Globe

delivered to your door on campus

- All subscriptions Payable in Advance by Semester.
- Students with varying starting dates may have their subscriptions prorated.
- No delivery during School Holidays of Final Exam Periods.
- Prices are for these delivery dates: Sept. 23 - Dec. 14

		Fall Term Rates
SPECIAL CAMPUS RATES	Daily & Sunday	$1.40 a week	$15.70
	Daily Only	.90 a week	$10.20
	Sunday Only	.50 a week	$5.50

☐ Daily Only ☐ Sunday Only ☐ Daily & Sunday

Please fill out form and return with check made payable to:
RON HUBERDEAU, P.O. Box 959, Amherst, MA 01004, Tel. 253-7009

Your Name_____
Campus Address:_____

Hypercurricula

For Saturday, Sept. 22

CENTRAL/ORCHARD HILL FALL FESTIVAL — There will be a concert with five local bands beginning at noon, a road race at 10 a.m., a volleyball tournament and lots of other activities. Location: the basketball courts between Central and Orchard Hill.

For Sunday, Sept. 23

KAPPA-ALPHA-PSI SMOKER — The Brothers of KAPPA-ALPHA-PSI invite all men interested in pledging our Grand Fraternity to a general information session. 12 p.m. Campus Center Room 805.

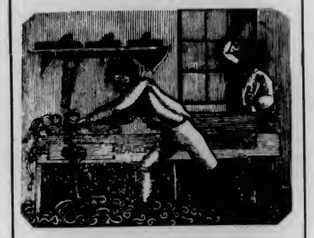
WMLASC MEETING — General meeting of Western Mass. Latin America Solidarity Committee. 6:30 p.m. Campus Center.

AMHERST AREA NEW TESTAMENT CHURCH — Come join us for worship and teaching from God's word. 10:15 a.m. Sunday. Campus Center (check schedule for room number).

ORIENTEERING EVENT — Orienteering is a map hike — using a map and a compass you navigate a course in the woods. Wear old clothes and bring a lunch for afterwards. Beginners welcome. More info: James at 253-9714. 10a.m.-12 p.m. Forest Park, Springfield.

9th Annual

Old Deerfield Craft Fairs



Old Deerfield, Massachusetts

1 · 9 · 8 · 4

Fall · September 22 & 23

The Most Beautiful Craft Fairs in New England

To reach Old Deerfield take Exit 24 (Northbound) or Exit 25 (Southbound) off I-91. Then go 6 miles north on Routes 5 and 10.

EL GRECO PIZZA

460 West St., South Amherst - RT 116

• Hot Oven Grinders • Greek Salads

WE HAVE ONE OF THE BEST PIZZA'S IN THE STATES

• Vegetarian Pizza • Fast Free Delivery and Take Out

253-9239 256-1342

On April 5, 1984, The Amherst Student newspaper proclaimed El Greco Pizza as the best pizza in the Amherst area.

"El Greco won easily among the six panelists. El Greco was proclaimed to have the thicker cheese, spiciest sauce, and thickest crust. El Greco easily outdistanced all of the competition."

COME TRY EL GRECO

AND YOU'LL AGREE WITH THE EXPERTS!

Fast free delivery to Hampshire College, Amherst College, Brittany Manor, Southwood, Riverglade Apartments & limited to South Amherst.
Sorry we can't deliver to UMass Campus.

Coupon
4 FREE CANS OF COKE
with the purchase of a Large Pizza with 2 or more items
1 coupon per pizza
expires 10/15

Coupon
$1.00 OFF
any Large Pizza with 2 or more items
1 coupon per pizza
expures 10/15

Brighten Your Room!!

Now 2 Stores! Amherst Carriage Shops
Northampton · next to Iron Horse

POSTERS Largest Selection Ever

Bamboo BLINDS

BEDSPREADS cover walls, furniture, windows from $7.95

Paper LAMPSHADES

RUGS & MATS colorful, durable

CARDS over 1400 designs

Greatly Expanded SKIRTS & BLOUSES lots of comfortable cotton DRAWSTRING PANTS

Sterling and Gold Filled JEWELRY Earrings, Ear Cuffs, Rings, etc.

CLOTHING SALE
20% - 50% OFF
SELECTED BLOUSES, SHORTS
SKIRTS, DRESSES, T-SHIRTS

CHINESE SHOES Wide Assortment

Mon - Sat 10 - 6
Sunday 12 - 5

THE MERCANTILE
AMHERST CARRIAGE SHOPS
GREAT GIFTS — GREAT PRICES

Birds of a feather flock to Gorman

By RITA MURPHY
Collegian Staff

There's something fowl in Central.

Two University of Massachusetts students yesterday added a new roommate to their Gorman room — George, a parakeet.

The blue and green creature was found perched in a tree outside of Franklin Dining Commons by John Goggins, a sophomore engineering major from Auburn.

After he and friend David McGill, a sophomore from Holden who is now seriously considering becoming a zoology major, found the bird, they tried in vain to find it a home.

"We called the UMass police, but they wouldn't help. We called a local veteranarian, but all he said was 'set it free.' No way were we going to do that. The poor thing looks like it had been out in the cold for three days," Goggins said.

Goggins said he was originally trying to find a new home for the bird but his roommate "has taken him under his wing," and they have decided to keep him, for awhile anyway.

UMass prohibits pets in the residential halls, but Goggins said he has assessed his priorities and has taken a stand.

"I don't want to get anybody in trouble, but if it's a choice between the bird's life or living on this floor, well I guess the radical thing and right thing for me to say is the bird comes first."

Like the bird he has befriended, Goggins is also living in a temporary home. Because he forgot to fill out his housing contract card, he lost his housing assignment in his old dormitory, Baker, and was put in a swing space in Gorman. "I guess there's similarities between me and the bird," he said.

DELANO'S

SEPTEMBER SPECIAL

Twofer One
St. Pauli Girl

plus our original twofers and hors d'oevres

7 days 7 nights

4-6 pm 10-midnight

Proper ID a MUST

57 N. Pleasant St. 253-5141

AmHerst DOUBLE FEATURE $2.50 CINEMA

Friday and Saturday
Entre Nous
Carnal Knowledge

Sunday thru Tuesday
Gunga Din
King Kong

DOWNTOWN AMHERST

Le Bon Soleil TANNING CENTER
264 No. Pleasant St., Amherst
(2nd floor, over Silverscape)

Lie back, relax and get a rich golden suntan in our private, 360° skin friendly Sontegra Suntanning Lounges

Take advantage of our GRAND OPENING SPECIALS

1 FREE VISIT

Call First For Appointment and 6 VISITS for $19

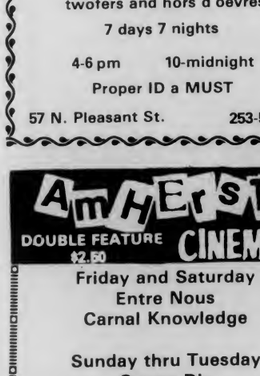
Specials Good 9/14 to 9/21 One Per Customer

Call For Appointment 253-9454

Rent One of Ours

Car
Truck
Passenger Van

North Amherst Motors
Rt. 63 No. Amherst
549-2880



YOUR EDUCATION DOESN'T STOP HERE

Your education doesn't stop with a bachelor's degree. It begins there. Once you enter the world of work, you will gain valuable experience and really discover what it's all about to use what you learned in college.

Take the Air Force for example. As a commissioned officer you'll be handed executive responsibility on your very first job. You'll manage people and complex systems. You'll be expected to perform well, and you'll be paid well, too. It's worth working for.

You can get there through the Air Force ROTC program. In fact, we have a scholarship plan that will net you $100 a month tax free and pay for all tuition, books and lab fees. And that will free you to concentrate on your studies so you can get well prepared for where you're headed.

Check it out. Find out how you can get into a graduate program like the Air Force. It's a great way to serve your country, and possibly, find your formal education extended at Air Force expense as well.

contact:
JAY A. BULLINGTON (413) 545-2437/2451

AIR FORCE ROTC
Gateway to a great way of life.

NOW MORE CONVENIENT THAN EVER

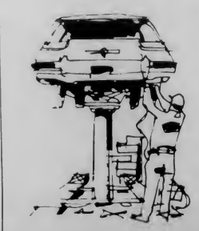
GRAND OPENING

At the junction of Routes 9 and 116

NOW IN HADLEY!

MUFFLERS • BRAKES • EXHAUST
STRUTS • SHOCKS • MORE

TRUST THE MIDAS TOUCH FOR VALUE



FREE

New England Road Map

Just drive in for a free inspection of your vehicle's exhaust, muffler, brakes, struts, or shocks. No appointment necessary: we're ready when you are!

FREE WRITTEN ESTIMATES

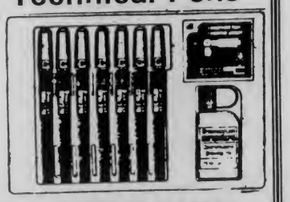
NORTHAMPTON 143 King Street 586-4840

MIDAS®

HADLEY Junction Rtes. 9 & 116 586-9991

Technical Pen day

FREE Pen Cleaning and Demonstration on the use and care of Technical Pens



MONDAY 9/24/84

Offer Limited — COUPON — One to a Customer

This coupon entitles bearer to one free Mars Techniplast Ink Eraser with purchase of one Marsmatic 7-pen Technical Pen Set*

Offer good 9/24 - 9/26/84

OPEN M-F 9-5 Sat 11-4

UNIVERSITY STORE

Campus Center, Univ. of Mass.

BEST HEALTH FITNESS CTR. IN THE VALLEY

1984 Valley Advocate readers poll

"get the best WORKOUT in town!"

(And take a FREE HOT TUB after your first class. Mention this ad.)

KARATE HEALTH FITNESS CENTER, 460 West St Amherst

Call 256-0080

SUPERIOR PIZZA

UMass Students Favorite Pizza!

FAST, FREE DELIVERY

also grinders, salads, dinners

17 Montague Road

North Amherst

549-0626

Do you have the right stuff?

Get your career off to a flying start. Become a Marine aviator. If you're a college freshman, sophomore or junior, you could qualify for our undergraduate Officer Commissioning Program and be guaranteed flight school after graduation. All training is conducted during the summer. There are no on-campus drills. Plus, you receive $100 a month during the school year.

Seniors can qualify for the graduate Officer Commissioning Program and attend training after graduation.

This is an excellent opportunity to prove yourself amongst the best and start off making from $17,000 to $23,000 a year. See if you measure up. Check out the Marine Corps Officer Commissioning Programs.

Marines

We're looking for a few good men.

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian

Founded 1870

Editor in Chief — James P. Shanahan

Managing Editor	John O'Connell	Black Affairs Editor	Yadira Betances
Business Manager	Andrew May	Women's Issues Editor	Rebecca Thatcher
Business Manager	Elizabeth Young	Arts Editor	Christine D. Marini
Production Manager	Mark Roden	Sports Editor	Peter Abraham
Executive Editor	Rita Murphy	Photo Editor	Andrew J. Heller
News Editor	Greg Brown

OPINION

The opinions expressed on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the university unless otherwise noted.

Pageants oppress women

Yadira Betances

The Miss America pageant Saturday proved how much women are still seen as sex symbols in society, and how much struggle has to be done to change this.

The pageant is set up to give the opportunity for beautiful, smart women to represent the country in the Miss Universe pageant, but why aren't men who represent America judged on their appearances as well?

Women should not bear the responsibility of representing their countries on the basis of beauty and intelligence, because their contribution to society is far greater than that of men, and these are overshadowed by the contest.

If someone feels it is fair for women to be judged on the basis of beauty and intelligence, why aren't men also judged on the same qualities?

Take our presidential candidates, for example. What if before the elections they would be judged on their appearance, charm, poise and charisma?

Would that make a difference in their performance?

I don't think so.

By the same token, I don't see why a woman has to be beautiful and smart to be representative.

Why shouldn't it matter what our President looks like, when in reality, he is the real representative of our country?

Why should there be a contest which promotes academic excellence and rekindles sexist ideas of women as sex symbols?

The contest does not only promote sexism, but it also encourages women to use their sexual appeal as a means of obtaining results, as in the case of Vanessa Williams.

Williams, bound by the limitations set by the pageant: a woman must be sexy, but perfect. Williams was erroniously caught in the trap. The contest had to save face, so de-throning Williams was imperative.

Here is where the paradox of the pageant lies.

What if, before giving a scholarship to a male chemistry student, he would have to parade in front of judges (of both sexes) to prove that he was not only smart, but also beautiful?

Contests like the Miss America and Miss Universe pageants do not only eliminate the struggle of women to liberate themselves from sexism, but they also diminish women's existance and equality.

Women have been traditionally seen as brainless beauties, and although the pageant uses academic excellence as one basis for judgment, sex is the predominant factor.

These statements and questions of beauty before intelligence denotes the little appreciation society has placed on the women's struggle, and the high price women must pay to prove their intelligence and existance.

Yadira Betances is a Collegian staff member.

Where is our commitment?

Beatrix Hoffman/ David Martin/ Dana Pierce

Apartheid is South Africa's official system of racial segregation. Only the 4.5 million whites in South Africa have full rights and citizenship. The 21 million blacks cannot vote, buy or sell land, live or work where they choose, or move freely.

The United Nations has declared that apartheid is "reprehensible and repugnant to human dignity...and constitutes a serious impediment to social and economic development."

Although apartheid is abhorrent to many Americans, U.S. companies presently comprise 20 percent of all foreign investments in South Africa. Companies doing business in South Africa profit from and uphold the cruel system of racial inequality that exists there.

In 1977, the University of Massachusetts Board of Trustees voted to divest all UMass holdings from companies involved in South Africa, thus supporting a human rights policy of which the entire University could be proud. Recently, Treasurer Robert Brand sold all University stock holdings in American Hospital Supply, which does business in South Africa. Soon thereafter, the Collegian published an article which stated that "The UMass Board of Trustees has reaffirmed its commitment not to invest in companies who (sic) do business in South Africa."

In actuality, SCERA student researchers obtained information this summer confirming that UMass holds $380,000 worth of stock in six companies with significant capital investment in South Africa.

On August 20th, a coalition of students (the South African Divestment Coalition) sent a memo to University Treasurer Robert Brand detailing the abovementioned findings. In his reply, dated August 20th, Brand informed the SADC that his sources confirmed that only one of the six companies, American Hospital Supply, has operations in South Africa. The Treasurer immediately sold the University's approximately $53,000 worth of stock in AHS on August 23rd. However, Treasurer Brand has yet to sell UMass' stock in any of the five other companies which SCERA and the SADC found do business in South Africa.

According to Brand, the Trustees use only two sources to monitor their 1977 divestment policy:

1. The South African Review Service last published in 1982 by the Investor Responsibility Research Center Inc. (IRRC); and

2. the University's Investment Council, Standish, Ayer and Wood, Inc.

Operating in South Africa, is not sufficiently definitive a source upon which to rely. However, for each of the five companies, the SADC has at least two — and in some cases five — sources which list the Treasurer Brand claims that the University hasn't sold the remaining stock because the SADC's main source of information, the Directory of American Firms company as doing business in racist South Africa either through a subsidiary, an affiliate or through direct capital investment.

The SADC used eight sources of information in its research. Perhaps the University's sources of information are not sufficiently definitive sources upon which to rely. It would seem that even the treasurer thinks the University's sources are unreliable. How else to explain the University's failure to use its only self-proclaimed "definitive source", the 1982 IRRC publication, which contains American Hospital Supply in its list of companies doing business in South Africa, to verify that the University's money was not invested in a company supporting the racist South African Regime?

What is clear throughout these messy proceedings is that the University needs to install a more effective monitoring system to ensure that its money is not invested in companies upholding the tyranical South African government. SCERA should not have to be this monitoring system. Neither should the SADC have to monitor every University stock transaction. The University should use more sources of information to monitor its stockholdings. It also should check these resources more often than it apparently has in the past.

The tragic thing about this matter is that now, even as you read this column, your money is being used through the University to prop up the barbaric South African System of apartheid. To divest the University's money is not enough. The University should make some form of restitution to the 21 million black residents of South Africa. The money from the sold stocks (if they indeed, are sold) should be reinvested in socially responsible companies with any profit from the sale going to the African National Congress, a group of South Africans dedicated to achieving social justice for all South Africans.

To do anything less than restitution would cast doubt on our University's commitment to making ours a safe just world for all peoples.

David Martin, Beatrix Hoffman and Dana Pierce are members of the South Africa Divestment Coalition.

Letters to the Editor

'One-sided attack' needs some balance

I am appalled and angered at the incredible article in the Collegian today. It was an irresponsible, inflammatory, confusing, prejudicial piece of writing.

WMUA features many different types and styles of music, including jazz, reggae, new wave, folk, polka, gospel, blues and others. In the past year, BMCP has changed the focus of its programming, from a diverse "360 degrees" of black music, to an "Urban Contempory" format which, ironically, excludes historical jazz, African, Latino, Jamacian, blues or soul music, all of which is provided by other D.J.'s on WMUA, not involved with BMCP. We feel there is justification for preventing one limited group or style of music from dominating our airtime, at the expense of other, equally important groups, styles and types.

Your paper has been used to present a vicious, one-sided attack on WMUA. Please research the situation before you drag us through the mud again.

Bill Stepchew
WMUA Staff

Editor's note: The reporter stands by her story as being as fair and objective as possible.

Review missed the meaning of Prince

I am writing in regard to Corey Lewis' review of Prince's "Purple Rain" in your September 12 issue. I found it to be shallow and uninsightful, and I feel that the true point of the movie was missed.

First of all, Prince was not meant to be an anti-hero, at least not in the same capacity as Dustin Hoffman in "The Graduate" or Clint Eastwood in the Dirty Harry films. He was merely a lonely soul who sought refuge from the inhuman pressures imposed upon him by losing himself in the music.

Some of the acting in the film was overdone, but it added to the drama of the theme, which I think was ignored in the review.

In order to really enjoy this film, it must be viewed with sensitivity to the subtle changes in mood and scene. If the viewer tries to feel for the characters, and really understands human nature, the movie is really an experience that is not to be missed.

Sarah Chandler-Ward
Bennington College
Bennington, Vt.

Can we afford to follow the path?

Can one recall the feeling evoked upon first hearing of the habit of the lemmings? I can — it was one of great amazement and perplexity. How could it be that animals born to life could mindlessly engage in self-destruction via mass drownings?

Daily I face a similar phenomenon. However, in this case the potential victims are more intimate — and even more incomprehensible. It is you and I who face possible extinction from the unchecked nuclear arms race. Already our quality of life suffers from a gradual but steady erosion due to the widespread anxiety — whether conscious or denied — that existing under such an absurd menace fosters. Too, the expenditure for these armaments augmented by rampant waste, condemns countless citizens to lives of substandard incomes, health care and schools.

Perhaps I shouldn't be stunned by Attorney General Bellotti's characterization of a Nuclear Free Amherst as dangerous. In vintage Orwellian doublethink again, only 'War is peace.'

One can only hope that human potentialities latent within so many of us on campus and in the surrounding region can blossom before such madness deems nuclear exchange the rational choice. Can it be that, like the lemmings, we assume the path of least resistance and follow the leadership of men like Reagan, Weinburger and Schultz?

Our task then is to take the risk of daring to think — and live — peace. It is not less difficult than choosing the status quo. But you may be comforted in knowing that your conscience hasn't been discarded like a spent beer can.

Jay Allain
Northampton

(staff and faculty)
U-MASS MENS BOWLIG LEAGUE

Now Bowling on Tues Nites at 6:15

Looking for two 5-Man Teams or Individuals

—FORM A TEAM —
Join us for a fun filled season
call 584-4830 ask for Bill at N.Hamp Bowl

THE AMHERST DELICATESSEN
In the Carriage Shops, Amherst, since 1975!

On-Campus & Apartment Delivery Available • 549-6314

•Overstuffed Sandwiches •Foot-Long Subs
•Fresh Soups & Salads •Bagels & Lox
•N.Y. Cheesecake

THE AMHERST DELICATESSEN
233 No. Pleasant St., Amherst • 549-6314
Open Mon.-Sat., 9 a.m.-10 p.m. Sun., 9-

Spirit Haus WINES & LIQUORS

DOMESTIC BEER SPECIALS
Rheingold cans..$6.95 case + dep.
Bud loose cans....$10.95 case + dep
Miller & Lite loose cans
.....$10.95 cs + dep
Michelob loose cans
.....$12.50 cs + dep

IMPORTED BEER SPECIALS
Becks Light or Dark
.....$3.95 6 pk + dep
O'Keefe.....$3.50 six pack + dep
Dos Equis.....$3.95 six pack + dep
Holland Brand..$3.95 6 pk + dep

LIQUOR SPECIALS
Kimnoff Vodka 1.75 L.....$8.75
Pott Rum 750 ml.....$5.95

WINE SPECIALS
Wine Coolers 1.75 L.....$8.75
Folonari Soave 750 ml.....$5.95

338 College Street Amherst 253-5384
In Store Wine Tasting Saturday 12:00 - 6:00 pm
not responsible for typographical errors

Bruno's
- Quality Pizza - Subs - 256-0222
FREE DELIVERY
Monday - Saturday - 4 pm - 2 am
Sunday - 4 pm - 1 am

- SALE - SALE - SALE - SALE - SALE - SALE

SPORT Style

SALE - SALE - SALE - SALE - SALE -

Photo by Dwayne Autery Chris C. Lisa M. Lisa O.

Two Tone Hooded Sweatshirt -
25% OFF ONLY $13.46 Reg. $17.95
Assorted Colors
Located in the Campus Center
Open M-F 9-5 Sat 11-4
UNIVERSITY STORE

Black Affairs

BMCP feels it is being phased-out

By YADIRA BETANCES
Collegian Staff

Chris Winslow, Black Mass Communications Project General manager feels the organization is being "phased out" due to cut air time on WMUA.

In reference to past years, where the same conflict has erupted, Winslow said, "this is the greatest reduction in hours."

BMCP was cut sixteen hours from last year's air time, he said.

Ani Benglian, WMUA's General Manager claims the conflict between them and BMCP is not racial, as reported in the Collegian Thursday. She said it is organizational conflict.

She sees the problem as "two organizations working with two main goals."

Benglin said WMUA is an outlet for BMCP and if the Black program does not conform to the stations' rule, the conflict would continue.

Winslow said BMCP has also been regulated on what to play. "We have compromised enough," said Louis Alfred, a BMCP dee jay. "It is a power play to ultimately banquish BMCP."

Benglian said BMCP lacks diversity of black music. "It's not a case of amount, its a case of diversity," she said.

But the problem goes further. Benlians also stated BMCP is not following station procedures. She said the program has violated the 24 hour leway for dee jay replacement.

Although Winslow acknowledges there should be a twenty four hour notice for program changes, he argues if William Scollins, WMUA's program director uses a BMCP slot for dee jay training, then what's fair and what isn't?

"BMCP was incepted because there was no black music before the program," he said.

Winslow does not think WMUA is considered a black station, as Scollins stated in Thursday's Collegian.

He said BMCP adds diversity to the station with its programming.

People receptive to name change

By KIMBERLY BURGE
Collegian Correspondent

The Third World community has responded positively to the name change for the Third World, now New World Theater Series at the University of Massachusetts.

Delphine Quarles, director of the Student Activities Office, likes the name change. "I feel that it is an exciting change and that it doesn't lessen the purpose of the theater." Quarles said the name reflects the diverse cultures of the University community. "I don't feel that it will affect the attendance because the series is so well established and the quality over the past five years has been consistently excellent."

When asked about the community's response to the name change Roberta Uno-Thelwell, the program's director said, "So far, the response has been positive. People have been calling the office, coming by and saying that they really like the new name."

The Theater Series was founded in 1979 to provide a Third world perspective in theatrical work to the University community.

Uno-Thelwell explained some people felt excluded from the group by its former name.

"Our group included Blacks, Hispanics, Asians, and Whites. We are multi-racial. We chose the name New World because it shows the progress the group has made through the years and it represents the change that the world, in general, has gone through."

Shirley Adger, a freshman management major, agrees with the name change. "I like the name New World much better. The name Third World classified minorities as if we were from another planet. Everyone associates the name Third World with minorities. With the name New World, you can't tell who is in the group and everyone is included."

Dwight T. Tavada, academic coordinator for the Minority Engineering Program, disagrees with the name change.

"The name Third World is symbolic because it was specifically developed for blacks and other minority students."

Paul Barrows, director of the Committee for the Collegiate Education of Blacks and Other Minorities (CCEBMS), was unaware of the name change. However, he said the name "Third World" was adequate and needed, providing an artistic presence. The name New World lacks specificity. There's only so much a name can play, but it's not the only definitional part."

Ghanaian master drummer Obo Addy will perform "Jazz/Africa" at the Iron Horse Coffee House on Tuesday at 7 and 10 p.m. The show will feature the group Kukrudu. For ticket reservations please call 584-0610.

Nicaragua: hope for Third World

By YADIRA BETANCES
Collegian Staff

Nicaragua is a symbol of hope for the Third World as seen in their determination to become a sovereign nation, according to two University of Massachusetts students who were there this summer.

Brian Duplisea and Court Cline, social thought and political economy (STEPEC) juniors said their eight week trip was an enlightening experience.

In July 1979 the Nicaraguan people overthrew the U.S. supported dictator, Anastasio Somoza.

The United States has since engaged in a covert war against the revolutionary government, Sandinistas, by providing ex-members of Somoza's National Guard, the Contras, with arms, money and advice.

Both students took the trip to see for themselves the country's situation.

As Americans, they said Nicaraguans were able to differentiate them from their government. Duplisea and Cline said Nicaraguans were "excited to talk and show us around. They want to educate people on what's going on."

"There is a sense of community. Their needs are second to the needs of their neighbors," Cline said.

Duplisea said Americans can't understand the solidarity of Nicaraguans because the American culture is too dependent on individuality.

Clines said this solidarity is more evident among the poor because of their losses and suffering during the Somoza regime.

Cline said his experience gave him a realistic view of the situation in Nicaragua. "You hear about it and see programs that seem distant," but he was able to hear accounts of the increased literacy rate under a five year plan and to see the construction of hospitals during their stay.

Duplisea saw more determination and more tiredness than he expected to see. "I saw what people go there," he said, recalling an account of a man whose grandfather, and father were waging the same war he now wages.

"They all want Nicaragua libre," said Duplisea quoting his friend.

"The war is not beginning, but continuing," Duplisea said. He added there are myths about Nicaragua being like the Soviet Union or Cuba, but he said, "not Nicaragua. They have a long history of fighting imperialism."

Ninety-five percent of the population are Roman Catholics who believe in liberation theology which mandates representational government.

"The destiny of the war is the destiny of the people," Duplisea said.

"They're fighting with determination," Duplisea continued. He said what is most frightening is that Americans don't understand Nicaraguan's determination.

But the struggle for liberation waged by Nicaraguans is supported by many Western Europeans, like the Swedish who are helping with housing development and the French, who are working with communication devices.

"U.S. is isolating itself from its allies," as a power play, he said.

Both men said the government is accessable to the community, and are willing to talk about the problems the country confronts.

The government is also accessible to travelers and there is no restriction on internal travel, Duplisea and Cline said.

Cline said there is also "no limit to political freedom."

The first elections since the 1979 revolution will be held this November. There are seven political parties with six opposing to the Sandinista Liberation National Front (FSLN).

Ninety-seven percent of the eligible population have registered to vote. "They are determined to exercise their right," Cline said.

Cline called the Nicaraguan situation, "a war of atrocity," where seven thousand lives have been lost.

World renowned saxophonist, Archie Shepp will perform tonight at the Iron Horse Coffee House at 8:30. Tickets can be purchased at the door.

Third World History

This is a new series on Black American and Third Worldhistory.

Envy led to the destruction of "The Negro Wall Street," a successful black business district in Tulsa, Oklahoma when the place was bombed from the air after a race riot broke out.

It was one of the worst race riots in American history during the twenties, and Tulsa became the first American city to be bombed from the air. More than 75 persons, mostly blacks, were killed.

Blacks were a tenth of the segregated city's population of 100,000.

On May 30, 1921, a white female elevator operator accused 19 year old Dick Rowland, a black shoeshiner, of attacking her. Rowland was jailed, despite the charge denial.

The Tulsa Tribune ran a sensational account of the incident the next day arousing the public. A white lynch mob gathered at the jail and armed blacks, seeking to protect Rowland, also showed up.

Someone fired a gun, and the riot was on.

Whites invaded the black district, burning, looting and killing. To break up the riot, the police ordered private planes to drop dynamite over the city. The National Guard was called in and martial law was declared.

More than 4000 blacks were arrested and interned in three camps. All blacks were forced to carry ID cards.

The business district was destroyed when railroad tracks were routed through it.

If you can stand the heat...
Get Into Our Kitchen!
Carbur's is looking for people to fill a range of kitchen help positions. Competitive salaries, positions, available immediately, experience and current references a must.
Call Randy or Bill at 586-1978 or stop by Monday thru Friday, 9-11 or 2-4.
C•A•R•B•U•R•S

A powerful solo debut

By JACK BRESNAHAN
Collegian Staff

Peter Wolf
LIGHTS OUT
EMI-American

This is Peter Wolf's answer to cynics and doubters who wondered what he'd do without the J. Geils Band. Some believed that he had reached the end of the road, forced into early retirement. But this album shows that he's able to hold his own.

I know that this was a very important album for Wolf. I spoke with him last fall at a John Lee Hooker concert days after his surprise departure from Geils. He told me that he was "in training" at the time, undoubtedly for this album. (I also noted that he was the only member of J. Geils to come to see their old friend "the Hook", even though the other members live in fairly close proximity). This ability of Wolf's to keep in touch with friends seems to have been beneficial to him. For, on this album, he's got an impressive group of friends who've contributed to make this album successful.

The title song, "Lights Out," will always bring to mind the summer of 1984. In itself it's good, but I'm afraid the radio ran it into the ground. "I Need You Tonight" is a catchy song, if somewhat suggestive. Dancing to it may have certain overtones. "Oo-ee-diddley-bop!" is a kind of street-wise modern mentality song which includes a flowing flute solo, but Wolf goes around the block on the solos, reminiscent of the Geils band. It's too bad that Magic Dick wasn't on this one. He's really the only irreplaceable one. Also included is the mandatory Peter Wolf depressing song. This time it's "Gloomy Sunday." This is sort of a dirge-like show-tune. It's not by Wolf and no one seems to know where it originated. Side One finishes with "Baby Please Don't Go," which features a xylophone solo behind a driving "shoo da doo wha, do do wha." The marching band should play this during the football halftime show.

I heard several people relating to "Crazy" this summer also. Whether they were humming it or just naturally playing the part, the guitar work of Eloit Easton of the Cars is in evidence here. Reggae is a new genre for Wolf for the most part from his Geils years (except "Give it to Me"). But it's here on an instructive (don't you break that) "Poor Girl's Heart." Obviously freedom gives one choice. The Wolf's exploits allow him a comparative and resonant Mick Jagger to sing back-up vocals on "Pretty Lady." I think it's a friendship stint rather than an exploitive commercial one as on the M. Jackson single. It ends with the typical rap of Wolf crying the familiar "Baby!"

Continued on page 11

Pearl Street
TONIGHT
Friday Sept. 21st
STUDENTS OF THE VALLEY UNITE on the biggest and nicest dance floor around the video will entrance while your feet move to dance to the maniacal mix of
D.J. TONY KORD
$1.00 off at the door with a student ID & other positive ID
TOMORROW NIGHT
Saturday Sept. 22nd
Advance in Dance THE GOOD GUYS $5.00 at the door
Red Hot SKA/Rock from Richmond, VA
If you love dancing and the beat bring your feet to Pearl Street tonight
Coming Up: B. Willie Smith Thursday, Oct. 4th
Junior Walker and the Allstars Friday Oct. 26th
Positive ID's required at the door
A.B.C. cards - pictures drivers license
10 PEARL STREET NORTHAMPTON, MA. 413 584-7771

MASS. APPROVED INSPECTION STATION
RADIAL TIRE SALE
P155/80R13
$29.95
•Includes Mounting• plus MA State Tax
North Amherst Tire & Auto Center
Full Service Tire Store
78 Sunderland Rd., No. Amherst, MA
Across from Watroba's Store
549-4704

Campus Coin-Op
107 Sunderland Rd. No. Amherst
next to Campus Auto & Carpenter Bros.
The newest, cleanest, coin-op in the area
Hours: Mon-Fri 8-10
Sat & Sun 8-7
washers: 10 dryers 2 super washers (25 lb. cap.) wash & fold operation, dry cleaning available attendant on duty at all times
Come In And Check Our Everyday Low Prices For Additional savings, use this coupon
50¢ a wash
first 100 customers with this ad
limit one per customer
OFFER GOOD THRU SEPT. 29

C&C LIQUORS
61 Main St., Amherst
FOR FREE DELIVERY OF $15 MINIMUM ORDER, (OFF UMASS CAMPUS)
Dial 253-3091
BUDWEISER
Bar Bottles
12 - oz.
Case of 24
$10.95 plus deposit
BALLANTINE BEER
12 pack 12 oz cans
$3.35 plus Deposit
BECK'S BEER
Light or Dark
6 pack 12 oz bottles
$4.25 plus deposit
VODKA Liter $4.49
ALMADEN MOUNTAIN WINE
1.5 Liter $4.25
CALIFORNIA COOLER
375 ml 4 pack
$3.95

SPECIAL VALUE
99¢
UMASS
Limited Quantity
UMass Plastic 12 oz.
Tankard
Blue - Red - Green
Yellow
Open M-F 9-5
UNIVERSITY STORE

Arts

CINEMASCOOP

by Count Ramin Zahed

It is gettin more difficult to wait for the autumn movies. In the big cities, people are talking about the Jessica Lange Sam Sam Shepard pair-up Country. Sally Field is bagging agreeable reviews for her performance in Places in the Heart. Meanwhile, guess what's opening in our area. Yes, we get to see Cannibalistic Humanoid Underground Dwellers, CHUD for short. Who needs Streep and DeNiro anyway? This new film's title promises so much potential that is enough to keep us going without movies for a decade.

On a musical note, metropolis the Fritz Lang science fiction classic will return to the old silver screen with a new score by Giogio Moroder and songs by Queen, Adam Ant, Bonnie Tyler and Pat benatar. Yikes. Even if you don't like the music, the film is worth the trip to the cozy Pleasant St. Theatre in Northampton.

If you are a nice romantic girl who came to college expecting all the guys to look like Redford and were somewhat disappointed at the selection in your dorm, I believe I have just the thing for you. Instead of suffocating at the Pub, you could see a love story set in Paris. Until September stars Karen Allen whom you might remember from Raiders of the Lost Ark and will premiere today at the Hampshire Mall Cinema.

The death of the innocent Janet Gaynor was one of the sad events of the past week. Miss Gaynor was the first Academy Award winner as best actress for her roles in silent films. Her most memorable movies was the 1937 version of A Star is Born which was considered one of the best of that year.

Rumor has it that Jeremy Iron's latest performance in the partial film adaptation of Proust's Remembrance of Things Past has not impressed critics at all. Personally, I would say Mr. Irons had it coming. O.K., Jeremy was great in Brideshead Revisited and French Lieutenant's Woman, but, he was big time snob with a capital S. He also boasted about his elegant ability to speak French with a perfect accent. Perhaps that is why they loved his film in France.

Weekend Winners: Amherst Cinema tops the list once again with a fantastic double feature-Entre Nous with Carnal Knowledge. They are probably run together because they both make statements about relationships; it is a strange combination nonetheless.

If you enjoy Australian films, you will love My Brilliant Career. This sensitive movie about the eccentric author Miles Franklin has a beautiful score by Schumann and superb photography. My Brilliant Career will be shown on Tuesday in Room 101 at the Campus Center for free.

Local Loser: Love Letters with Jamie Lee Curtis was promoted as being the beginning of a new wave. I guess it should be a pretty pretentious and boring wave. Wait till it is shown on cable and you will agree.

Killer Question: No one got last week's puzzler. It is sweet Jennifer Beals who sill be Sting's bride in Frankenstein. In addition to the state-of-the-art Steve Martin badge, I will give away a beautiful still of Buckaroo Banzai to the first creature who can answer this simple question. Thomas Hulce, who has the leading role in the upcoming Amadeus, appeared in one of the most popular comedies of the seventies. Name that movie. One last tip: don't even consider watching Glitter on TV. The show makes Love Boat lokk like Citizen Kane. See a movie instead.

★ Wolf continued

Continued from page 10

On "Mars Needs Women," he goes into a new kind of sci-fi rock and rhythm which includes narration much like on "No Anchovies Please." He's still got some of that D.J. in him. His loud finale, "Billy Bigtime," is highlighted by the yowling guitar work of Adrian Belew, bearing no resemblance to the Geils sound.

Wolf and co-producer Michael Jonzun have made a powerful and energetic record. The lyrics aren't profound, but this is primarily for dancing. The bottom line is that it rocks and that's why it has succeeded. Get it and it will become part of your daily listening diet.

Love in war

By RENEE BACHER
Collegian Correspondent

ENTRE NOUS
starring Isabelle Huppert, Miou Miou
Directed by Diane Kury

Entre Nous is the poignant portrayal of a friendship between two women that is so powerful it destroys their respective marriages.

There is some controversy as to whether the two women are lovers. This reviewer finds that element to be a nuance of little consequence to the film as a whole.

The film starts rolling at the beginning of World War 2 and the friendship commences at the war's end. Lena and Madelene meet in Lyon where their respective children go to school. Each learns that they have both made emotional sacrifices during the war.

Lena had married her husband, Michel, to escape a Nazi concentration camp. Madelene had married her husband, Costa, after her first true love is killed in a sniper attack. Neither woman is satisfied.

For Lena, life is not impressive nor stimulating enough. She doesn't find her husband's career as an auto mechanic terribly cosmopolitan. Madelene, on the other hand, is not content with her husband's frivilous, unsteady business ventures and seeks stability.

The acquaintance blossoms into a friendship and the women are drawn close together. At first, the husbands are included in their rendez-vous and the relationship has a social ring to it (small dinner parties, picnics in the country...). Later, it appears that the husbands are as incompatible with each other as they are with their own wives. Lena and Madelene form a love to the exclusion of all others and all else. Madelene light-heartedly informs Lena when Lena's husband makes passes at her. Lena steals money from her husband for Madelene to clear a debt. They are two women who share something very unique and special. Entre Nous shows us some of the sacrifices involved in love.

At the close of the film, one of the abandoned husbands utters, Quel gachis ("What a waste"). Entre Nous, I will say, Quel gachis if you don't stop whatever you're doing and run to the Amherst Cinema to see this fabulous flick. It's playing at 7:00 p.m. tonight and tomorrow.

Happy "19th" K.P.
Love, Kelly

安城中國飯店
Amherst Chinese Foods
Best Mandarin Food
62-64 MAIN ST., AMHERST
BEER & WINE LICENSE
Fresh Vegetables from Our Own Farm
CLOSED WEDNESDAY
WE DO NOT USE MSG OR ARTICIAL COLORING
253-7835

amc THEATRES
$2.25 MATINEE & TWILITE SHOW
NT. FARMS 4 584-9153
There time has come!
REVENGE OF THE NERDS
STEVE MARTIN LILY TOMLIN
ALL OF ME
C.H.U.D.
Cannabalistic Humanistic Underground Dwellers
GHOSTBUSTERS
BILL MURRAY DAN AYKROYD
HAMPSHIRE 4 584-7550
CLINT EASTWOOD
TIGHT-ROPE
SMURFS and THE MAGIC FLUTE
THE KARATE KID
EVIL THAT MEN DO
Only once in your life will you meet that one person who changes you forever
UNTIL SEPTEMBER
THE AMC LATE SHOWS!
FRI & SAT at 12:15: SEATS $ 3.50
ROCKY HORROR
DR. BUTCHER
PINK FLOYD THE WALL
DAWN OF THE DEAD

OOPS!
Now's the time to call...
North Amherst Motors
Rt. 63 No. Amherst
549-2880
Expert Repairs & Reconditioning

AMHERST BALLET CENTRE
29 Strong St.
549-1555
Evening classes
10-week courses
starting Oct. 1
Ballet, Jazz, Modern Dance
course fee; $50.00
Registration fee; $2.
Phone to Register

ATKINS FRUIT BOWL
Corner of Rte. 116 & Bay Rd., So. Amherst
Open 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.
HOME BAKED GOODNESS at
ATKINS FRUIT BOWL BAKERY
Where all products are made from scratch on the premises and baked fresh everyday! - Not just frozen, baked off. Only quality ingredients used and no preservatives added.
BIRTHDAY CAKES - DONUTS - COOKIES
PIES - Apple (Our speciality), Pumpkin, Blueberry, Cherry, Pecan, Cream and Meringue Pies
Our Own delicious fillings in a tastey, flakey, crust
MUFFINS, DANISH, ECLAIRS, PIE SQUARES, BROWNIES, CHEESECAKES, CARROT CAKES -
A Full Line of Bakery Products
BREADS - Raisin, White, Rye, etc and a Delicious Variety of Whole grain breads
CLIP COUPON
Coupon - Collegian
2 Cookies FREE
with this coupon
Choose from Atkins own Choc. Chip, Oatmeal Raisin, M & M, Peanut Butter, PB & Choc Chip, Butterscotch
coupon expires 11/15/84
coupon good only Mon-sat
Special 9/21 - 9/27
Boston Cream Pies $3.75
Choc. Buttercream Topping
Bavarian Cream Filling
ON BUS ROUTE between Amherst College and Mt. Holyoke

RUSSELL'S LIQUORS

18 Main St. Downtown Amherst 253-5441

Budweiser 12 oz. cans	$10.95	case + dep.
Miller Lite 12 oz. cans	$10.95	case + dep.
Busch 12 oz. cans	$9.95	case + dep.
Moosehead Beer	$3.99	6 pack + dep.
Ballantine Beer 12/pk cans	$3.49	+ dep.
Vodka or Gin 80°	$8.49	1.75 L
Champagnes	$2.99	+ up 750 ml
Asti Spumante	$3.99	+ up 750 ml

ALL SPECIALS ARE COLD & READY TO GO!!!

Here's an example of one of this weeks specials - A sporty oxford all leather tie, with a rubber lug-sole. Available in navy, taupe & wine only $22.00! Come see! Many other specials!

SHOE BIN

187 n. pleasant st. amherst

The Commuter Area Government has positions open for undergraduates living off campus.

• Work Study Preferred •

→ Advocates ←

→ Office Manager ←

→ Programmer ←

→ Media Technician ←

Positions vary from 10 - 20 hrs. per wk. $3.50 hr.
Application deadline is Monday Sept. 24th
Applications available from:
Commuter Area Government
404 Student Union 545-2145

Earn while you Learn!

the Hungry U Restaurant

FANTASTIC HAPPY HOUR MUNCHIE MENU!

! HAPPY HOUR !

2 for 1 all bottled beer
2 in 1 well drinks
potato skins only $1.99

3 pm - 6 pm, 9 pm till closing
7 days per week
55 University Drive, Amherst 549-5713

PATRICK AND COMPANY PRESENTS

PATRICK & COMPANY
Distinctive Hairstyles
For Men & Women
Elmwood Shops
104 Russell Street
Hadley, Ma. 586-7477

FORMATIONS IN TWEED

Sept. 23
8:00 P.M. $5

Pearl Street

STOP

the Mini Store

Located in the Student Union

There's no need to hurry! Our convenient hours allow you to shop early or late.

Candy	Film	Newspapers
Tobacco	Film Processing	Tote Bags
Cards	Clocks	School Supplies
Calendars	Batteries	Typewriter Ribbons
Cassette Tapes	Electrical Supplies	Glassware
Books	Lamps	Cups
Backpacks	Magazines	Decals
Clothing	Memo Board	Pennants
Gifts	Pens and Pencils	Chips
Cosmetics	Binders	Cookies
Health & Beauty Aids	Notebooks	Popcorn
	Paper	Umbrellas

Many other items available
545-2528

CONVENIENT HOURS
7:30 am - 10 pm Monday-Friday
8:30 am - 10 pm Saturday & Sunday

Bloom County by Berke Breathed

I HAVE CALLED THIS NEWS CONFERENCE TO ANNOUNCE THAT I WILL NOT RELINQUISH MY CROWN.
A YOUNG MAN CAN DO MANY A SILLY THING IN HIS FOOLISH FRATERNITY DAYS. I BELIEVE THE WORLD WILL FORGIVE ME.
THESE TWO REGRETTABLE PHOTOS.
WHAT ABOUT THOSE OTHER FOUR DOZEN?
WHERE?
NATIONAL GEOGRAPHIC
YES, MRS. LUNDQUIST. I'VE SEEN THE PICTURE'S. YES, I GOT THEM RIGHT HERE. HAVE YOU AND THE OTHER PAGEANT OFFICIALS SEEN THEM? NO? I SEE. WHAT'S THAT, MA'AM?...
...DO I THINK THESE PHOTOS DAMAGE THE "AMERICAN VESTIGIAL VIRGIN SAINT" MYTH SURROUNDING PAGEANT WINNERS? WELL...UH...
ZING!
RECKON THEY DO, HORSEFACE. I QUIT.
WOOSH! WOOSH! WOOSH!

Gorde by Gorde

HE HEH! YOU READ BLOOM COUNTY TODAY? MAN, THIS STUFF'S GREAT!
CHECK OUT REAGAN'S LATEST SPEACH NOW THAT'S A LAUGH!
LOL SOB
SPOING
SPRUNCH!
HEY, IT SAYS HERE PRINCE IS GOING ON TOUR IN NOVEMBER OR SO! WILD!
WHO CARES?
DIDN'T YOU SEE HER TWANG!
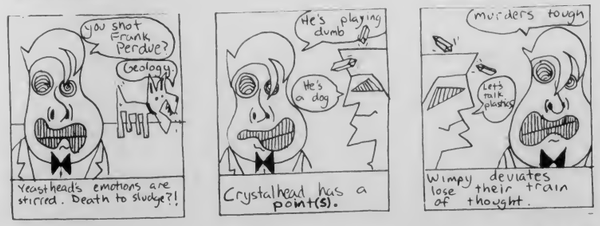
WHO?
I BELIEVE HE WAS REFERING TO THE MEMBER OF THE FEMALE GENDER THAT JUST PASSED US
CONT.

Ultra Mass by E.L.M.

What's Up Sam?
How You doin'
UM Can we do something about the mess and the noise?
Sure Boss
Say Good-bye to the Mess.
Good Show-
Now Say Good-bye to me. I'm Checking out of Kennedy and this job and checking into UMass.
Do What You Have to Do Man.
Kennedy Residents are getting WEIRDER
Every Day,
We now check in on one such resident of that type

Yeasthead Jason Talerman



The Lab by Law

FOUR TICKETS TO GODZILLA VS. THE CHEESEMAN, TWO ADULT AND TWO CHILDREN.
TICKET BOOTH
ARE WE THE ONLY ONES HERE?
ARE THEY UNDER TWELVE? THEY DON'T LOOK UNDER TWELVE.
THEN AGAIN, THEY DON'T LOOK LIKE CHILDREN EITHER. HERE ARE YOUR TICKETS AND GLASSES.
GEE, IN 3-D HE LOOKS ALMOST REAL!

DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE

Edited by Trude Michel Jaffe

ACROSS

1 Vacation spot
5 Plumber's tool
10 Trial
14 Medley
15 Baffling question
16 Great Barrier Island
17 Indicator of trends
19 Algerian port
20 "Norma" composer
21 Have
23 Terminate
24 Gaiety
25 Family member
28 Put on
29 Bridge positions
33 The Name of the Rose author
34 Desire
35 A Message to ——
36 Where Giants play
40 —— Army
41 Concealed
42 Marvin or Majors
43 Smallest
44 —— Baba
45 Bottomless pit
47 Bit of "I Spy"
49 Past
50 Circlet for the head
53 Hot wind of S Europe
57 Unique person
58 Turf accountants, US style
60 Frozen
61 Singer Clooney to friends
62 And others: Lat abbr
63 G-men
64 Improve
65 Tape recording, sometimes

DOWN

1 Lee or Ty
2 Toward shelter
3 Factory
4 Canvassed
5 Use up
6 "It is ——, ever so now": Wylie
7 Ball wood
8 —— line
9 Mistake
10 Overly clever
11 Rasson d' ——
12 Red and Black
13 Browns
18 Like claret
22 Porterhouse, e.g.
24 Certain periodical
25 Transfer of a sort
26 Have ——
27 Italian title
28 —— Moines
30 Like many fish
31 Grows weary
32 Gauses
34 Favorable reply
35 Math abbr
37 Conflicts
38 Pretend
39 Number on a sundial
44 In flower
45 Tourist's stop in India
46 Engaged
48 Native-born Israeli 49 Pointed
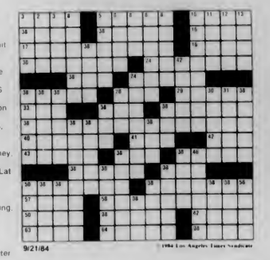
50 Hair style
51 A single time
52 Symbol of slimness
53 Remove rind
54 Whale
55 Study hard
56 Northern capital
59 Chemical ending

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

A	L	A	I	S		A	M	A	N	A		A
B	O	L	E		S	A	V	O	R		U	L
B	L	U	E	S	T	R	E	A	K		P	A
Y	A	M	M	E	R		S	H	A	G		C
			A	A	A		S	N	I	C	K	E
L	O	G	O	T	Y	P	E		S	L	A	M
O	A	R	D	S		T	A	C	A		V	A
I	H	A	D		A	T	T	Y	S		I	G
N	U	N	S		O	D	U	R		U	T	I
M	O	M	O		P	U	S	S	Y	C	A	T
L	E	A	N	E	R	S		S	I	N
A	L	T		H	A	I	G		G	A	S	S
P	I	T		B	R	O	W	N	S	T	U	D
U	S	E	S		L	E	V	E	R		U	V
P	E	R	T		E	N	T	E	R		B	A

9/21/84



9/21/84

© 1984 Los Angeles Times Syndicate

D C Menu

Friday, September 21

LUNCH
Torpedo Grinder
California Quiche

DINNER
Roast Top Round of Beef/ Gravy
Spaghetti/Red Clam Sauce
California Melon Plate

BASICS LUNCH
Summer Salad with Syrian Bread
California Quiche

BASICS DINNER
Potpourri
Hi-Protein Spaghetti/ Red Clam Sauce

Saturday, September 22

LUNCH
Deli Ham on Pumpernickle
Farmer's Omelet

DINNER
Roast Turkey/ Bread Dressing, Gravy, Cranberry Sauce
Cheese Spinach Strudel

BASICS LUNCH
Zucchini Pizza
Farmer's Omelet

BASICS DINNER
Roast Turkey/ Bread Dressing, Gravy, Cranberry Sauce
Cheese Spinach Strudel

Sunday, September 23

LUNCH
Baked Ziti
Hamburg on Roll

DINNER
Stir Fry Beef and Vegetables
Seafood Supreme/ Lemon Wedge

BASICS LUNCH
Bean Burgers
Baked Ziti

BASICS DINNER
Broccoli and Cauliflower Casserole
Seafood Supreme/ Lemon Wedge

Today's weather

Today's weather: mostly warm and sunny, highs near 70. Tonight, cooler, lows in the 40s. Saturday — warm with a chance of afternoon showers.

Ask Lois - coming soon!

Got a problem? Question?

Write to Ask Lois today! Address letters to 113 Campus Center.

JUSTIN RYAN'S

Catch all the Action
This Weekends Lineup

SATURDAY

4:00 Happy Hour with JUST GEORGE
7:30 Boston College vs
North Carolina
Fri & Sat no cover till 9:00

SUNDAY

1:00 Patriots vs Redskins

ALL YOU CAN EAT
SPAGHETTI
$2.99

Rt. 9 Amherst Proper ID

KEGS FOUR SEASONS ICE

WINES/LIQUORS

BEER SPECIALS - BEST PRICES
BUD LIGHT.....cans.....$10.99
BUSCH.....cans.....$8.99
LABATTS.....beer or ale.....$12.99
SCHLITZ.....cans.....$8.99
CARLING BLACK LABEL.....bottles.....$6.99

6-PACK SPECIALS
DAB BEER.....$3.99 STEINHAUSER.....$3.99
GUINESS.....$3.99 MOOSEHEAD.....$3.99

LIQUOR and WINE SPECIALS
VODKA and GIN.....1.75 L.....$7.99
JAMAICA (Blue Mountain)
COFFEE LIQUEUR.....750 ml.....$6.99
BONET CHAMPAGNE(large bottle) 1.5 LOnly $5.99
FALCON CREST WINE NOW AVAILABLE
CHARDONNAY. $12.55 CABERNET/SAUVIGNON. $10.25
CARLO ROSSI.....4 L.....$5.99

WE DELIVER
584-8174
333 Russell Street (Route 9) Hadley, MA 01035
in front of the malls

A giant selection of computer magazines

Run Computer & Electronics Family Computing Microsystems Personal Computing
Byte Microcomputing A+ List PC Hot CoCo Creative Computing K Power
Computer Buyer's Guide Popular Computing 80 Micro PC World Info World Enter IBM PC Update
CAP Computing Shopper Software Supermarket Whole Earth Software Review Commander Abacus
Color Computer High Technology Software Encyclopedia Computing Computels Pc + PC Jr

Other Computing Magazines are also available

OPEN M-F 9-5
SAT 11-4

Located in the Campus Center
UNIVERSITY STORE

Collegians NFL Picks

The comeback begins...sports editor Peter Abraham started his road to recovery last week with a 9-5 record. Scott Hood, Tony Betros and Kevin DeLuca also went 9-5. As for Gerry deSimas...well anyway Hood and DeLuca lead with 18-9 seasonal marks with Betros at 17-10. Abraham and deSimas are at 15-12, closing quickly.

	Peter Abraham (15-12)	Tony Betros (17-10)	Kevin DeLuca (18-9)	Scott Hood (18-9)	Gerry deSimas (15-12)
Houston-Atlanta	Atl	Atl	Atl	Atl	Atl
Rams-Cincinnati	LA	Cin	Cin	LA	LA
Minnesota-Detroit	Det	Det	Minn	Minn	Det
Jets-Buffalo	Jets	Jets	Jets	Jets	Buf
Pittsburg-Cleveland	Pitt	Pitt	Clev	Pitt	Pitt
St. Louis-New Orleans	St. Louis	N.O.	N.O.	St. Louis	St. Louis
Washington-New England	Wash	Wash	N.E.	N.E.	N.E.
Chicago-Seattle	Seattle	Seattle	Chicago	Seattle	Seattle
Indy-Miami	Miami	Miami	Miami	Miami	Miami
Green Bay-Dallas	Dallas	Dallas	G.B.	Dallas	Dallas
Kansas City-Denver	Denver	K.C.	K.C.	K.C.	Denver
Tampa Bay-Giants	NYG	NYG	NYG	NYG	NYG
San Diego-Raiders	L.A.	L.A.	L.A.	L.A.	L.A.

Golf team wins

The University of Massachusetts golf team captured the Yankee Conference Championship Tuesday in Rhode Island as they placed three golfers in the top seven finishers. James Ryan was second with a score of 74, one behind the winner. Brian Fitzgerald finished fourth with a 76 and Charlie Ross was seventh with a score of 77.

Minutemen tennis teams off to a good start

Men and women are improving

By BRIAN QUENZEL
Collegian Correspondent

The University of Massachusetts mens tennis team came storming back from a 4-2 deficit and took all three doubles matches to edge the University of New Hampshire in their first outing of the season last Wednesday.

"The guys were very tough out there," said coach Manny Roberts. "They were playing for the team."

The key match was a thrilling three-set victory by senior co-captain Earl Small and junior Mark Weinstein 7-5,3-6,7-6. Trailing in the final set 4-1, Small and Weinstein fought back to tie the score at four. UNH broke their next service,but the pair fought hard and broke right back.

The match went to 6-6 and it all came down to a twelve point tie-breaker. From there it was all UMass as Small and Weinstein ran off six straight points and completed the comeback with a 7-2 victory.

The tennis team has come back from a lot of adversity this year. Roberts thinks the cancelation and then temporary reinstatement of the program greatly effected the team. "Two or three freshman did go elsewhere," said Roberts,"and we may lose some others. It was bad for the team, bad for the school, and not a good decision by the athletic department as a whole."

The woman's team has faced these same type of obstacles. Coach Ned Norris was not named coach until September seventh, just six days before their first match. This showed as they were soundly beaten by Tufts University 8-1.

But Norris sees a lot of potential in his squad. "They really work hard, which has to please any coach. They have good mental toughness. I've noticed a lot of improvement."

The Minutemen showed these qualities in their next outing as they crushed Clark University 8-1. Top seeded singles players Chris Frazier and Ann Tauger led the way with convincing straight-set wins. Also impressive was the play of both Diana Biagali and Andrea Giordano.

Both teams return to action this Saturday. The men play Boston University at 11:00 a.m. on the Boyden courts and the women face Yale at the NOPE courts at 1:00 p.m.

Jonathan Reid LTD

Manhattan Shirts
Reg. $18.00 to $22.00
NOW $12.00 to $14.99

Jonathan Reid Sweaters
reg. $30.00 and $32.50
NOW $23.99 and $25.99
Fall and Winter Coats
On Sale Now

Hampshire Mall
Rte 9 Hadley

VALLEY
CHURCH OF CHRIST
SUNDAY 10:00 A.M.
PEOPLES INSTITUTE
GOTHIC STREET,
NORTHAMPTON
586-5044

Try The Collegian Classifieds They Work

Complete Auto Enamel Paint Job from $199.95
STOP IN FOR FREE ESTIMATES
North Amherst Motors
Rte. 63, North Amherst
549-2880

PERSONALIZED STYLE HAIRCUTS
$7.00
(with this coupon)
$10.00 with Shampoo and Blow Dry
$11.50 Long Hair
Please Call for an Appointment
Expires 9/30/84
Styles by Deborah
35 University Drive
Amherst, MA 549-5610
FREE CONSULTATIONS

—MOVIE—
DOCTOR STRANGELOVE
TONITE!
Friday, Sept. 21
Student Union Ballroom
5:00 pm - $1.00
7, 9, 11 pm - $1.50
sponsored by:
Union Video Center

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIED

Monday - Thursday 8:45 - 3:45 • Friday 8:45 - 2:30 • Cash in advance • 5 consecutive days 5% discount • 10 consecutive days 10% discount • 15 consecutive days 15% discount • phone number free

ADVERTISING

Advertise FREE in the RIVER VALLEY AD. Advertise items you want to sell or buy. Call 532-9498

APPLE COMPUTER FOR RENT

Apple II available for $250 or best offer for this semester. Pascal is included. Call 256-1841. Ask for Ruthie

AUDIO

Fun with sound by Pres Speakers. For information call Rob at 549-5897 after 5 pm

AUTO FOR SALE

'73 Saab 96 A classic! BO 6-4548/4563

'81 VW Rabbit Covertible, 35 mpg, AM-FM cass stereo, lifetime rustproof, new shocks and exhaust, must sell 788-0000

'73 Buick Classic luxury car beautiful shape must sell 600 or BO 549-1164

Dodge customized Van '77 engine in gd running order cstm int call 549-4692

1970 Chevy Malibu runs well 2 door some rust $150 call 665-3207

1975 Datsun 710 runs well, body fair. $500 584-5884 evenings

1973 Super Beetle exc. cond. in/out. Rebuilt engine, radials, heater, very dependable. $1500 call evens/weekends 586-2192 keep trying

1970 Toyota Corona, good working condition, no snow rust. Interior is not plush! Great transportation! Needs Massachusetts registration. $700 or best offer. Emanuel 549-4600 X 256

ENTERTAINMENT

WICKED AND WILD DJ's audio and visual entertainment for the 80's 584-6712

Rack-A-Disc Rack-A-Video entertainment guaranteed events for Disc Jockeys (Bands and Video). Call 549-7144

VIDEO VIDEO VIDEO VIDEO Rack-A-Video entertainment giant 10 and 15 foot screens for dorms and Greeks "MTV" video music call 549-7144

FOR SALE

SOUNDESIGN STEREO Originally $900. 2 years old. $469 Dresser $40 253-3682

1980 Honda CX500D, helmet & luggage included $1300 call Chris (eves) 665-2445

12 speed Fuji for sale fine running condition $100 549-5456

UMASS SKI CLUB

Be part of the tradition. Information and membership table at Campus Center Concourse Wed-Fri. Special price - join before Oct 1 for $7.00

Terminal & Coupler, must sell $350 call 549-5259

Rocking Chair $25. 10 speed bike $50. Sitting Chair $7. 256-8470 evening

Trek Bicycle Reynolds 531 frame 22 inch Shimano and Campagnolo equipped $350 253-5298

Sm Refrig 3 ft high, 3 shelves, freezer box and meat drawer $100.00 call between 6 and 8 pm 665-7667

Dorm Refrigerator Sears Kenmore taller than rentals call 253-1797 $75.00

Digital Decwriter w/modem and paper. Ideal for Cyber 549-5216

'79 Dodge Omni, A/T, AC, 4 door, many new parts, good condition $2000 or BO 549-0381

FREE PUPPY

Have to get rid of dog. He needs a home Call Jay 256-8802. Leave message

GAIL GIROUX

Call Gail and wish her a Heppy 20! 6-8015 or 8-8231

HAPPY BIRTHDAY SUZANNE

Dear Spike happy 19th birthday (on Sunday) Have a great weekend, go wild! Love, Michael

HELP WANTED

Maintenence person wanted 2 hrs per day, Mon-Fri, mornings. Duties include cleaning office and maintaining equip. Mechanical aptitude and workstudy required. Apply in person 9-4 Mon-Fri at 113 CC (Collegian office)

Attention! Public Relations, Journalists, Graphic Designers. The SGA Communications Office is now hiring. Great opportunity to develop your portfolio! WS and non-WS jobs available. See Kelley Riley in 423 Student Union for application. Deadline is 9/21/84

Homemakers, Home Health Aide positions available immediately. Part time, flexible hours. Free training offered. Call Home Care Services for more information. 586-3896

Work study positions Union Video Center S.U.B. no experience req.

Montreal Weekend Party Nov. 2-4 $68. includes RT transportation from your campus, 2 nights hotel in DT Montreal Welcome Party all taxes and tips drinking age 18 optional Bruins Montreal tickets call today Eric 549-5017

Part-time jobs - perfect for students! Get experience, get paid for political work. Hazardous waste clean up, energy issues, voter education. Mass Fair Share is building a part-time staff in public education and fundraising. Hours 5-10 PM. Flexible schedule $60 - $120/wk. Call 586-8713

Enthusiastic Students to apply Asst. to the Speaker Student Senate. Work on student campus social issues. Experience w/in SGA helpful, but not necessary. 10 hrs/wk. $3.35/hr. For more details call 545-0341. Pick up applications in rm. 420 SUB. Application deadline Oct. 1, 4:00 pm. SGA is an AA/EOE.

The Student Center for Educational Research and Advocacy is hiring undergrads to learn political organizing & student interest research skills. SCERA also has positions for a writer/editor, resource center staff person and for the anti-racism team. 10 hrs/wk. $3.35/hr. Work study & non-work study. Applications at 420 Student Union. Applications due 9/28. SCERA is an AA/EEO employer.

Auditor needed. SGA Treasurer's Office must be able to analyze and apply financial information. 10-15 hrs/wk. $3.35/hr. Workstudy or non-workstudy. Applications in 407 Student Union Building. Deadline September 27 at noon. AA/EOE

Exotic Dancers wanted full or part time 4 to 12 tel 247-5592

Amharst Deli is hiring Delivery Drivers. Hours 4-10 PM Mon-Sat must have own car Apply in person

Newspaper Deliverers needed on campus. No car necessary. Good pay. 7 days a week 1 hour/day. Call evenings 253-7008

part time work available immediately doing lighthousekeeping chores for the elderly in Amherst, Hadley, Northampton and surrounding towns. Flexible hours. Must have reliable transportation and a phone. Honesty and dependability a must. To arrange for an interview call Ginn at Professional Care 584-1030

Delivery Personnel Sweet Tooth needs 10 to 12 energetic drivers. Must be 18 years or over and own reliable car with insurance. Apply in person at rear of 79 S. Pleasant St Amherst Thurs. Fri. 7-8 PM

WMUA seeks secretary with good typing and shorthand skills. 9 hours/wk. Call Ani and leave message 586-7862

GOVERNMENT JOBS

$16,559-$50,553/year. Now hiring. Your area. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. R-9618

Groundfloor opportunity reliable, ambitious salespersons wanted for home party plan. Attractive pay scale. $50 bonus possible 256-8005

Work for your meals as a houseperson. Eat homecooked meals prepared by full time cook. Call Jim H at 549-2150

Superior Pizza now hiring drivers see Chris

INSTRUCTION

Know your car. Basic Automobile Workshop. 28 hours including classroom and shop. Limited enrollment 253-2096

Need help with Calculus or any other Meth courses? Call JoAnn for help 545-0320

LOST

Gold bracelet lost Friday at Pearl Street very sentimental value Reward 549-5345

Lost black weekly planner very important call 546-6229 Jacob

Levi Jean Jacket taken from Pike Monday night. $10 reward no questions asked sentimental value call Cathy at 545-0320

MANICURIST WANTED

Manicurist wanted for new nail salon in Amherst call office 1-283-3837

MOTORCYCLES

1975 Honda CB360T, 16800 miles, new tires, chain, battery last year. $500/BO 549-0437

 OBSERVANT? **

12 speed FUJI, handlebar gear levers, convex rims, steel and brass cluster. Stolen 9/13 Phillips St. Large reward for information or recovery. 549-0792

PERSONALS

Lisa Pike, Congratulations and thanks for the awesome job you did with rush! All your hard work has really showed! We love you! Your Sisters and VIP's of SDT

Girl in the ten jacket. Call me 546-3230 the bus driver

UMMB The Magic is Back! Can you feel it? Upperclassmen: Show them how its really done. NW. Get out your jackhammer.

Frabotta Have the best birthday ever! I went to hear all! Love Robyn

Happy 21er Gretchen get ready for tonight! Love ya' Susie

Happy B-Day Ken Glad we can be part of it love, the weekend women of K Mart and Zeus

Todd Thank you. I think you know how much your being here means to me. Here's to a super weekend. I love you, Pam

ROOMMATE WANTED

Female to share one bedroom in two bedroom Southwood Apt. Call Beth or Cathy at 256-1819

Room available in a four bedroom apt $120.00 per month. On bus line, very big in Riverglade Apts call 256-1326

Female wanted to share a 2 bedroom Townehouse apartment. Tami 546-9740

Mature female wanted to share room in two bedroom Brittany Manor apartment. Call 253-5466

TAG SALE

Front North Village Apt Sat morning 9/22 HH furnitures, clothes, housewares

Sports

Minutemen to battle Holy Cross

Crusaders the challenge of season with powerful offense, good record

By PETER ABRAHAM
Collegian Staff

It's not the best of situations. Playing the fifth-ranked team in Division 1-AA with your best defensive player out and the oddsmakers making you a 19-point underdog.

"Holy Cross is probably the best team we'll play this season as far as overall team ability," said new University of Massachusetts football coach Bob Stull. "So we just have to go in there at Fitton Field at 1:30 and be aggressive, be loose and execute."

It won't be easy to do that against the Crusaders. The Cross are coming off a 19-0 whitewash of a good Rhode Island team and a arguably the second-best team in New England (see Boston College for the first).

Quarterback Peter Muldoon (9 of 15, 144 against URI) and tailback Gil Fennerty (only 58 yards on an injured heel against URI, but 1101 and 15 TDs last season) constitute a powerful offense.

The defense is led by linebacker Don Zelinski (6-2, 230) and free safety Bill McGovern (6-1,195). Senior strong safety Dave Shimshoch had nine tackles against URI with the Cross defense picking off four passes, a challenge indeed for the Minutemen offense.

Junior quarterback Jim Simeone (33 of 68, 290 yards, 0 touchdowns) looked sharp in the final quarter against Lehigh two weeks ago and tailback Frank Fay (34-151, 3 TDs) has looked good, but UMass will need production from its receivers and linemen to score against the Crusaders.

Split end Bob Simeone (12 catches for 132 yards) will line up with either flanker Jim Earle (5-7, 166) or tight end-turned flanker Mike Kelley (6-4, 225). Earle and Kelley will replace injured (hamstring) flanker John Crowley. Tight end Paul Walsh also has seven catches for 59 yards.

Nose guard Peter Tracy is back at school and recovering from torn stomach muscles' suffered against Lehigh. He was defensive player of the week along with steady linebacker Vito (17 unassisted tackles) Perrone, the 6-3, 215 pound terror. Defensive tackle Mike Dwyer will move to the nose and sophomore Mike Kowalski will step into Dwyer's spot. Tracy should return next week.

"Missing a week has its benefits," said Stull. "We had some injured guys get better, but we might've lost the mental edge, but I think we're ready for them, we better be."

The Minutemen's offense has averaged just under four yards a play this season. They are close to 300 yards a game, but have yet to have any scoring from anyone other than Fay or kicker George Papoutsidis (four field goals and four PATs) Perrone also has a fumble recovery TD.

"We'll try out some more of the offense," said Stull. "We're (the coaches) finding out who does what best and how to use them. It's a learning process, but I think we're getting there."

Holy Cross coach Rick Carter, whose team beat UMass 17-0 at Alumni Stadium last season, said that UMass "has developed their offense with the improvement of (Jim) Simeone. They have two games under their belt and they gave us a dog-fight last year."

The Minutemen have been strong against the run this season, letting up only 68 yards. But both Ball State and Lehigh had "no good running backs" according to Stull, and went to the pass more than most teams.

Holy Cross, with the strong-armed Muldoon, will go at UMass' secondary a lot (they've let up 615 yards in two games) but both the quarterback and the speedy Fennerty will carry the ball a lot.

"It's a deceptive stat that the secondary has given up all those yards," said Stull.

"We played two passing teams. Now everybody is saying that Holy Cross will pass a lot on us. They can pass and I'm sure they will, but with the tailback (Fennerty) and the quarterback(Muldoon) they also have a good running attack. They'll be really balanced."

"It'll be a tough game, but a win would boost the whole team before the conference starts," said Stull.

Next week, UMass takes on an improved Northeastern team at home.

"It would be nice to win this one," said Stull. "But we sure have our work cut out for us."

Collegian photo by David P. Deuber

Minuteman tailback Frank Fay gets a block and picks up yardage against Lehigh. UMass faces Holy Cross on Saturday.

UMass - Holy Cross

Where: Fitton Field, Worcester
When: Saturday at 1:30 p.m.
Last year: Holy Cross won, 17-0
Latest line: Holy Cross by 19

Injuries: (UM) NG Peter Tracy (stomach) and (FL) John Crowley (hamstring) will not play. TE Paul Walsh (leg) will play. (HC) FL Bill Cowley (hamstring) will start.

Radio: WMUA-FM (91.1), WTIT-AM (1430) and WSPR-AM (1270) will carry the game.

Football's not all, UMass in for big weekend

By GERRY deSIMAS
Collegian Staff

In other sports action this weekend, the men's soccer team heads to New Brunswick, New Jersey for a four team tournament. The field hockey team travels to Rhode Island,the volleyball team will be in New Britain, Connecticut doing battle at the Southern Connecticut Invitational. men's soccer team heads to New Brunswick, New Jersey for a four team tournament. The field hockey team travesl to Rhode Island,the volleyball team will be in New Britain, Connecticut doing battle at the Southern Connecticut Invitational.

The men's cross country squad hosts Yale Saturday morning at 11:00 a.m., while the women compete in the Rhode Island Invitational. Both tennis teams are in action on Saturday as the men host BU at 11:00 on the Boyden courts, while the women entertain Yale at 1:00 p.m. on the NOPE courts. The rugby team is also in action as the A team travels to Rhode Island for a tournament, while the B,C,and D squads travel to Holy Cross for matches there.

The women's soccer team (2-0), ranked first in New England, face third ranked University of California-Berkeley and 18thranked University of Cal-Santa Barbara on Saturday. Sunday, fifth ranked William and Mary provides the competition.

"We don't want to lose any games," said coach Kalekeni Banda. "We don't want anyone to score on us. We are going in as the team to beat."

The men's soccer team (3-0-1) compete with Rutgers, North Carolina-Greensboro, the reigning Division III national champion, and Lafayette. They have seen the goals in recent games come with a high degree of difficulty, but Coach Jeff Gettler isn't concerned.

"I'm happy the chances we're creating and the shots we're taking," said Gettler. "Championship teams on defense and right now we're doing that job."

The field hockey team is 3-1 and coming off a strong game in which the Minutemen defeated Boston College 4-0. Freshman goalie Lynn Carlson notched her second straight shutout.

"From the beginning we kept them on the defensive. They couldn't use their speed on their (stronger) right side. I was very pleased," noted coach Pam Hixon.

The spikers, 7-5-2 on the season, coming off a four game annihilation of Lowell on Tuesday, hope to finish better than last week's third place finish at the UMass Invitational

"We still have a lot to do and a lot to learn. Everyone has been playing well," said Coach Elaine Sortino.

The women's cross country team is expected to be led by seniors Chris Pratt and Kim Baker.

The men are led by three sophomores, Wayne Levy, Jan Novack, and Paul Stanislawzik. The top finisher at last week's meet at BC, Jay Pannicionne is also expected to finish well.

The UMass A Rugby team (0-1) will face competition from Holy Cross, Southern and Eastern Connecticut, Bridgewater State, Bryant College, and UConn at the URI tournament.

Also contributing to this story were Scott Hood, Ed Hayward, Roger Chapman, Bud Verge, Bryan Quenzel, Alistair Attwood, and Adam Nazimowitz.

Collegian photo by Paul Desmarais

UMass' Peter Geddes (16) dribbles past UNH on Wednesday as Matt Cushing looks on.

Weekend sports at a glance

UMass Schedule:

Today:
Men's Soccer: at Rutgers Invitationals
Saturday:
Football at Holy Cross, 1:30
Volleyball: at Central Conn. Tourney
Women's Soccer: at Cortland State (N.Y.) Tournament
Women's X-Country: at URI Invitationals
Men's X-Country: Yale, 11:00
Field Hockey: at URI
Men's Soccer: at Rutgers Invitationals
Water Polo: BU, at Boyden Pool, 10:00 a.m.
Rugby: at URI Tourney
Men's Tennis: BU, Boyden Courts, 11:00 a.m.
Women's Tennis: Yale, NOPE Courts, 1:00 p.m.
Sunday:
Women's Soccer: at Cortland Tourney

The Massachusetts Daily
Collegian
NEW ENGLAND'S LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY
Volume CXIV, Issue 82 UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AMHERST (545-3500) Monday, September 24, 1984

Collegian photo by Andy Heller

BANDED TOGETHER - The Minutemen Band captivates the crowd at the Holy Cross game Saturday.

SGA judiciary to start trial on by-laws

By BOB BURGESS
Collegian Staff

The Student Government Association (SGA) judicial branch will hold a trial this week to decide whether the Undergraduate Student Senate violated SGA by-laws in nullifying the Southwest Area Government (SWAG) election results last spring.

Government Affairs Committee Chairman Joel Rabinowitz said last week that he filed a request for judicial review of the senate's action because election protest procedures were violated. According to Rabinowitz , the senate acted "illegally" by not filing a formal protest of the elections with governmental affairs and by failing to hear appeals from its coordinating committee.

The senate voted May 3 to invalidate the election of Bill Collins and Arthur Stevenson as SWAG co-presidents after candidates Sharon Jackson and Paula Williams claimed they had been unfairly barred from the ballot.

"There is a certain procedure for protesting elections results," Rabinowitz said. "First a formal protest must be filed, then it goes to the Coordinating Committee, then to the senate, and finally to the judiciary. But the senate just took it up and voted."

Jay Flynn, who will be the advocate for the prosecution, said Friday that the SGA by-laws chapter on election rules is "pretty clear" on how a protest is filed, and that the issue at hand is to establish "a precedent for senate behavior."

"We probably would have nullified the elections too, but nobody came to see us about it," Flynn said.

Senate speaker Chris Sullivan, who will be a member of the defense said the senate, "always tries to do the right thing, and if we made a mistake" the judiciary will rule accordingly.

Behaviorist speaks at UMass

Skinner emphasizes need for change

By DEBORAH ROSS
Collegian Correspondent

B.F. Skinner, the internationally renowned founder of behaviorism contends that "if we are to have a future, human behavior must be changed."

Skinner, who spoke at the Berkshire Conference on Behavior Analysis and Therapy in the Campus Center Saturday asked, "how can people be induced to take the future into account?"

According to Skinner, "the exhaustion of resources, the pollution of the environment, overpopulation and the possibility of a nuclear holocaust" are problems of a new order of magnitude that the world is beginning to face.

The only way to avoid catastrophe, Skinner said, is to change human behavior by "changing its consequences," by "operant conditioning."

The main principle of behaviorism, based on operant conditioning is that behavior is determined by its consequences, Skinner said. By rewarding some behaviors and punishing others, people can be made to behave in certain ways, he added.

Skinner believes "smallness" is required to make conditions of reinforcement effective.

In a small community, conditions of reinforcement can be used to encourage less pollution, limiting the overuse of resources and a greater feeling of love towards fellow beings, Skinner said.

On education, he said teachers who leave students to "discover for themselves" are abandoning their roles. Skinner said students should be taught by "reward and punishment" which would allow them to "learn in less time with less effort."

He said people have become "alienated from the consequences of their behavior."

"People on welfare should work. It harms the recipient if welfare payments are not contingent on positive behavior," Skinner said.

Skinner believes that nursing homes, instead of helping the elderly "make them sick and miserable by helping them too much."

"We can only do good work when they are usefully contingent on behavior," he said.

Collegian photo by Mitch Drantch

Father of Behaviorism B.F. Skinner

Inside

Fundraiser honors renowned novelist's 60th birthday p.3
The problem of drunk driving..... p.5
Football trounced by Holy Cross..... p.12

"The right to be heard does not automatically include the right to be taken seriously."
—Hubert Humphrey

Rally protests the abuse of women

by JULIA MAYCOCK
Collegian Staff

A handful of University of Massachusetts students joined more than 500 demonstrators in a "Take Back the Night" march and rally, protesting violence against women, Friday in Worcester.

"In the time it takes to complete this march and rally, 400 women will be battered and 20 will be raped. That's why we're here," Donna Stewart, a member of women's energy against violence said.

Stewart said society has made an effort to minimize publicity about violence against women for thousands of years. She said police do not keep records on how many women are murdered each year even though 80 percent of homicide victims are women. And the courts do not keep track of the number of women assaulted or raped, she said.

More than 1,000 rapes were reported to eight rape centers in Massachusetts during a six-month period in 1983, she said.

"Women have to stop bearing the brunt of violence in this society. Every second of every day a woman is being violated," Stewart said.

Keynote speaker Judge Lisa A. Richette of Philadelphia told the crowd that women must "hit at the very root of the patriarchal system" and demand respect for themselves.

Richette said that violence against women is ingrained in society since it treats women as slaves.

"When you can't get a slave to do what you want with entreaty, what do you do? You beat them. You beat them," Richette said with a raised fist.

Richette said society accepts violence against women and children in the family along with the collective male fantasy that all women are simply sexual objects.

"The fantasy is that all women want impersonal sex and all they need is to be approached. It is the idea of society as a harem," Judge Richette said.

The rapist lives out the collective fantasy and thinks women enjoy being assaulted, Judge Richette said.

Continued on page 3

Campus Coin-Op
107 Sunderland Rd. No. Amherst
next to Campus Auto & Carpenter Bros.
The newest, cleanest, cool-op in the area
Hours: Mon-Fri 8-10
Sat & Sun 8-7
Come In And Check Our Everyday Low Prices For Additional savings, use this coupon
50¢ a wash
first 100 customers with this ad
limit one per customer
OFFER GOOD THRU SEPT. 29

UTOPIA SPAS
STUDENT SPECIAL
2 FOR 1
or ½ Price
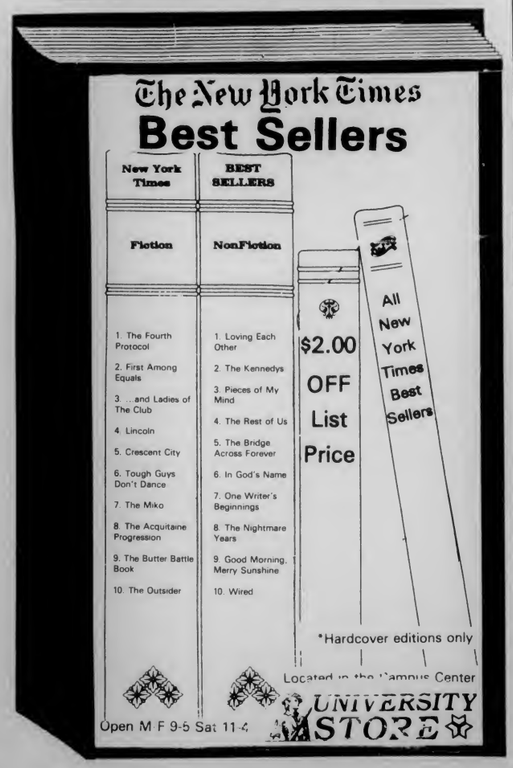
on
1 hour HOT TUB
every Monday and Tuesday
Call for Reservations 253-7727
175 University Drive, Amherst, MA
(next to Stadium Liquors in the Price Chopper Mall)

Complete Auto Enamel Paint Job from $199.95
STOP IN FOR FREE ESTIMATES
North Amherst Motors
Rte. 63, North Amherst
549-2880



Digest
By The Associated Press

Ten years later, racism still exists

BOSTON — Ten years after the first racial fights broke our over busing, blacks are still shut out of many Boston neighborhoods and social activities, city officials and residents say.

While there have been signs of change, the unwritten rules of the city — that blacks don't travel in South Boston and whites don't go to Franklin Park — are the same, they say.

"What's happened is that there is a psychology in Boston that blacks belong in certain areas and they don't belong in others," said Ricardo Millett, a black who heads the Roxbury Multi-Services Center.

Racism, some contend, persists in housing and social discrimination.

Joseph Delgardo, a black aide to Mayor Ray Flynn, said he was turned away from a Back Bay club early this year when he tried to get a table with two friends.

"You've got to deal with 'isms,' racism, on your job. Then you have to deal with the 'isms' in your social life. There is no relief."

Blacks and whites did cite some signs of change in race, particularly the peaceful integration of the Bunker Hill Housing Project in Charlestown and the presence of more blacks and Hispanics in previously all-white neighborhoods of Hyde Park and Roslindale.

Gerry Ferraro criticizes Mass. group

BOSTON — The head of a Massachusetts anti-abortion group says charges that it is part of an organized attack against Dem. vice presidential nominee Geraldine Ferraro are "an act of desperation" by the candidate.

"She's very sensitive on the issue of abortion," said Dr. John Jefferson Davis, chairman of the Massachusetts Citizens for Life. "She wants to elicit sympathy and deflect attention from the issue.

"It sounds to me like this is an act of desperation on her part," he said.

Convict captured

SPRINGFIELD, M.A. — An escapee from the Connecticut State Prison at Somers made the mistake Sunday morning of strolling past detectives at the Springfield police station, who grabbed him.

"My partner, Don LaDue, called my attention to him," said detective Al Correira. "So we just stepped over and made an inquiry, which he failed."

Correira said Luis Gonzalez, 46, of Bridgeport, Conn., was booked on a charge of being a fugitive and was slated for arraignment in district court

Today's Staff

Night Editor Laura Yee
Copy Editor Nancy A. Bukar
Layout Technician Amy Constant
Photo Technician Mitch Drantch
Production Supervisor Peter Soderberg
Production Lisa Arseneault, Dode Levenson, Maria Cahillane, Rob Skelton, David Hazeltine, Wendy Edenfield, Brian Solov

Last Thursday's Collegian incorrectly reported the times of voter registration at the Everywomean's center in Wilder Hall. The correct times are 10-2 p.m. on September 25 and 12-2 pm on October 9.

FUNNYBONES
COCKTAIL LOUNGE
Every Monday is
NICKEL NITE
Every Other Drink Just 5¢
7 - 1 AM
Tuesday is TOM GEHRKE LIVE
and
99¢ Bar Drinks till 11 PM
Wednesday is
PENNY DRAFT NITE
Rt. 9, Hadley

The Nuclear Power Officer Program

OPPORTUNITY unmatched by civilian industry
- a scholarship paying over $27,000 during your junior and senior year (cost for going to school)
- a year of graduate level training in theoretical & applied engineering
- a $24,000 starting salary while in training
- increased salary to $43,000 within four years
- 30 days paid vacation each year
- FREE medical and dental coverage plus moving expenses

If Interested Contact:
Or Talk With Our Representative
At The Career Placement Center On:

Baldwin honored at scholarship fundraiser

By TOM MIDDLETON
Collegian Staff

An exclusive scholarship fundraiser and birthday celebration was held for writer and five college Professor James Baldwin Saturday night at the University of Massachusetts.

The entire Campus Center basement was secured while more than 200 people attended the event which included a cocktail hour, dinner and a jazz band. A $20 minimum donation was requested from the guests, according to Cynthia Packard of the Chancellor's office.

Noted author and actress Maya Angelou, society figure Louise Meriwether, artist Romear Beardan, Chancellor Joseph Duffey, and Amherst College President Peter Pouncey were among the guests.

Baldwin came to the area last fall and has been teaching courses in creative writing, the civil rights movement and the social responsibility of writers.

"My mother taught me, my father taught me, my brother and sisters taught me, life taught me that everything was connected. No matter how you cut it, it was all connected," Baldwin said at the celebration.

"It became obvious very soon" that categories like white and black, "couldn't be real," he said.

Baldwin alternates yearly between teaching at the five colleges and living and writing in Nice, France.

He is a world renowned novelist on such topics as the black family, the black church and Harlem. He has written many books which include "The Fire Next Time," "Go Tell It On The Mountain" and "Notes Of A Native Son."

During the civil rights movement of the 1960s Baldwin worked to help both blacks and whites to understand the problem of racism. In the mid-60s, Baldwin left the United to live in France and later visited Turkey in 1971.

Lerone Bennett, senior editor of Ebony Magazine said, "Mr. James Baldwin is a gift to the black spirit in the sense that in him and through him that spirit became conscious of itself."

"Not only has James Baldwin exposed the literary pretentions of his white contemporaries" who were content to evade problems Bennett said, "he has dared to go for the truth of the thing by dealing with the organic sickness of American society."

The details of the scholarship in Baldwin's name have not yet been worked out but it will be on a rotating basis between all of the five colleges according to University of Massachusetts Chancellor Joseph Duffey.

photo by David Walker

Noted author James Baldwin

Collegian photo by Gloria Rosado

BOPPIN' TO THE BEAT — One of the five bands partake in the Orchard Hill/Central Fall festival which enjoyed Indian summer temperatures and sunny skies this past weekend.

UMass ComStu dept. in top ten says new study

By GLORIA ROSADO
Collegian Correspondent

The Communications Studies department at the University of Massachusetts is ranked ninth in the nation according to a poll by the Southern Illinois University.

The poll was conducted by Richard Vincent and counted faculty publications about broadcasting from 1976 to 1983. W. Barnett Pearce, department chair said, "the high ranking the department has been receiving in recent years is a direct reflection of the quality of our faculty and staff."

"A university's main mission is to research, teach and service. Our department stresses all three and seems to be successful," he said.

"Fifteen years ago our department was relatively new. We started as a service department, supplementing other departments in the University. In terms of peer evaluations we were rated 34. In the last three to four years we now consistently rank in the top ten," said Pearce.

"We hope the higher reputation the department has attained will attract the kind of students we want: competetive, more dedicated and academically stronger," Pearce added.

"Our graduate program and graduate students are excellent, he said. In an annual report issued by the faculty of Social and Behavorial Sciences, the graduate students' research publications are among the best in the country to the point of surpassing publications made by some faculty at other universities," Pearce said.

Majors within the department offer degree in Interpersonal Communication in Rhetoric for communications specialists wishing to attend graduate school, Mass Communications for careers in mass media and Communication Education for a school teacher's certificate in speech communication.

The poll results will be published in the Winter, 1984 Journalism Quarterly.

Women's Forum

Women's Forum is a weekly listing of events relating to women's issues. Notices should be sent to the Women's Issues Editor, care of the Collegian, the Friday before the event.

Tuesday — A planning meeting for the "Not in our Name" women's resistance action to take place in New York City, will be held at 7:15 p.m. at Smith College. Call 545-0254 for details.

The Committee for Equal Rights and Reproductive Freedom will meet at 3 p.m. in the Campus Center. Check the daily schedule at the information desk for the room number.

A reception for women working in student groups will be held in the Women's Leadership Project Office at 5:30 p.m. in 415 Student Union.

"My Brilliant Career", the first film of the Women's Film Festival, will be shown at 7 and 9 p.m. in Campus Center 101. The film is free and open to all.

The Everywomen's Center will hold a voter registration for Amherst residents from 10 to 2 p.m. in the lobby of Wilder Hall.

Wednesday — The Women's Issue Team of SCERA will meet at 4:30 p.m. in the Campus Center. The team is currently addressing the issue of pornography and those interested are encouraged to attend.

The Women's Caucus will hold its first meeting at 5:30 p.m. in 415 Student Union. All women senators are urged to attend.

Graduate Women's Admissions and General Educational Support, WAGES, will hold a brown bag luncheon every Wednesday from noon to 2 p.m. in Campus Center 805. For more information, call Diane Goodman at 545-0883.

Thursday — The Women's Leadership Project will have a meeting at 4 p.m. in Student Union 415. Everyone is welcome.

Friday — A peace camp will be held at the campus pond to commemorate the third anniversary of the Greenham Common Women's Peace Camp in England. The camp is also meant to educate the community about the NATO war games taking place on the East German border. The camp will set up at 10 a.m. All are welcome.

Sunday — Graduate WAGES is sponsoring an apple-picking and potluck luncheon for graduate women. Meet at 10:30 a.m. at Wilder Hall. For more information, call Diane Goodman at 545-0883.

★ Worcester march supports women Continued from page 1

"The anger against a woman victim who dares to report (the rape) is that she is negating and contradicting this male fantasy," Richette said.

Richette stressed the importance of women working together to confront violence in their lives. She said the women's movement is at risk more than ever now because the White House is inhabited by a "charming Western grade B actor and his Marie Antoinette wife."

The judge cautioned against what she called political transvestites. "They look like women but they think like men and they go right along with the patriarchal legal system."

Sister Annette Rafferty, a co-founder of Abby's House, an emergency shelter for battered women, said women must be more outspoken about their repression.

"We need to commmit outselves to saying publicly that we need each other to 'take back' every single day and night, she said."

A bonding and sharing will allow women to "Take Back the Night," Rafferty said, "so let's go for it."

A mile and a half candlelit march followed the rally. Women chanted and sang "Women Unite-Take Back the Night," and "We are gentle angry people, We are singing for our lives."

A coalition of women's groups in Worcester organized the event to address the issue of violence against women through legislation, picketing, letter writing campaigns and community education.

Japanese get a taste of U S schools via UMass

By LYDIA ROBINSON
Collegian Correspondent

The Univeristy of Massachusetts played host to a group of young Japanese professionals Saturday who came to honor William S. Clark, former president of the Massachusetts Agricultural College, founded in 1863, which is now UMass.

The group itinerary also included a visit to poet Emily Dickinson's gravesite at West Cemetery in Amherst.

The visitors are from Hokkaido, part of Japan's northern agricultural region. Every two years, the Hokkaido government and the local community sponsor young professionals to come to the United States for 28 days to observe various businesses.

The 66 professionals' 41 men and 25 women, have careers in government, health, industry, agriculture, community service, fisheries, and education.

"After a tour of Sturbridge Village and Boston, they will travel to Canada, then split up," said UMass program director Gilbert Mottla. "They will internship for a few weeks according to their interests."

UMass has had a long standing relationship with Hokkaido University since Clark established the Sapporo Agricultural College in 1876, now Hokkaido University.

Hokkaido University has had an evolution similar to UMass," Mottla said. "It began as a small agricultural school and grew."

The exchange program was founded in 1968 by the president of Hokkaido University. UMass students may participate in a six week summer program at Hokkaido University and Hokkaido students may spend their junior year here.

During the ceremony, a short speech on Clark was given by Akio Matsue, director of the Hokkaido Center for International Exchange and flowers were placed at the gravesites.

Collegian photo by Mitch Drantch

DOG EAT DOG WORLD — Two canines who wander onto the UMass campus apparently feel the pressure of prospective exams.

Navy Officer

From College Scholarship To Med School Scholarship
From Business Management To Nuclear Engineering

CAREERS AVAILABLE IN

Personnel Management
Accounting
Petroleum Management
Aviation
Ocean Engineering
System Engineering
Logistics Management
Systems Analysis
Financial Management
Medicine
Law
Nursing
Communications
Operations Research
Distribution Management
Subsistence Technology
Computer Systems
Contract Management

TRAVEL RESPONSIBILITY RAPID PROMOTION

Navy Officer Programs
Leo W. O'Brien Federal Building
Albany, NY 12207
Call collect Mon-Thur, 7:30-1:00
(518) 462-6119

NAVY. IT'S NOT JUST A JOB, IT'S AN ADVENTURE.

Hypercurricula...

WHO'S WHO IN AMERICAN COLLEGES — Applications available at Student Senate Office S.U.B. room 420. Jrs. and Srs. only. Applications must be in by Oct. 4, at 4 p.m.

CERRF MEETING — Extremely important meeting — solid semester planning. Tabling Today, too. 5 p.m. at SCERA office.

COUNSELLING COLLECTIVE ORIENTATION — An information session and interviews for the Lesbian Bisexual and Gay Men's Counseling Collective. Women are especially encouraged to apply. 7 p.m. at CC 902.

FIRST MEETING OF VIETNAMESE STUDENT ASSOCIATION — Meeting of Vietnamese Student Association. Welcome to new and old students. 7 p.m. at CC 803.

ANIMAL RIGHTS COALITION — Join us for our first meeting of the semester to discuss our future plans. Newcomers welcome. 7 p.m. at CC 804.

COALITION FOR ENVIRONMENTAL QUALITY — Introductory meeting. Film: Have Our Planet and Eat It Too? Come and share your concerns about our planet. New members welcome. 7 p.m. at CC 901.

The Commuter Area Government has positions open for undergraduates living off campus.

• Work Study Preferred •
→ Advocates ←
→ Office Manager ←
→ Programmer ←
→ Media Technician ←

Positions vary from 10 - 20 hrs. per wk. $3.50 hr.
Application deadline is Monday Sept. 24th
Applications available from:
Commuter Area Government
404 Student Union 545-2145
Earn while you Learn!

RECORD SALE
W.E.A. Records complete line of record and cassette accessories

LP and Cassette
$5.89

sale dates:
9/24 - 10/5

Open M-F 9-5
Sat 11-4
Located in the Campus Center
Limited Quantities

UNIVERSITY STORE

Rent One of Ours
Car
Truck
Passenger Van
North Amherst Motors
Rt. 63 No. Amherst
549-2880

PERSONALIZED STYLE HAIRCUTS
$7.00
(with this coupon)
$10.00 with Shampoo and Blow Dry
$11.50 Long Hair
Please Call for an Appointment
Expires 9/30/84
Styles by Deborah
35 University Drive
Amherst, MA 549-5610
FREE CONSULTATIONS

Now's the time to call...
North Amherst Motors
Rt. 63 No. Amherst
549-2880
Expert Repairs & Reconditioning

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian
Founded 1870

Editor in Chief James P. Shanahan

Managing Editor John O'Connell
Business Manager Andrew May
Business Manager Elizabeth Young
Production Manager Mark Roden
Executive Editor Rita Murphy
News Editor Greg Brown
Black Affairs Editor Yadira Betances
Women's Issues Editor Rebecca Thatcher
Arts Editor Christine D. Marini
Sports Editor Peter Abraham
Photo Editor Andrew J. Heller

OPINION

The opinions expressed on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the university unless otherwise noted.

I'M NOT DOING THIS FOR POLITICAL REASONS, BUT BECAUSE PEOPLE ARE IN TROUBLE...
WHAT WAS THAT NOISE??
MALE COWS, SIR
MOOOOOOO
FARM LOANS & DEBT FORGIVENESS
DON'T TREAD ON IT

All worked up about working out

Elizabeth Luciano

It would not be fair to say that I hated physical exercise when I was in high school. It would be fair to say that I hated any sort of physical movement at all.

"Hate is a very strong word," some bleeding-liberals may be chiding me. Damned right, it's a strong word. It's also entirely appropriate.

It all began at my alma mater, Strathmore Elementary School, where I was (sigh) always the last one chosen to play kickball. There were some very good reasons for that. I never kicked the ball, but skipped over it. First base was farther away than the Promised Land. And I was terrified of the ball, qualifying me for the Dodgeball Hall of Fame.

Things didn't improve at Lloyd Road Middle School, an institution I despised and have not set foot in since ninth-grade graduation. The gym teachers actually made us do "we must increase our bust" exercises in the same room as the boys. That is one of the few exercises of which I am definetely not in need.

We were also forced to play volleyball. My friend, Sharon, figured out a method by which we were "rotated out" for about 90 percent of game time. We could never hit the ball, anyway, and even if we did, it would only break our dragonlady fingernails.

I liked high school better. We got to play softball. The gym teacher instituted a special rule for me; five strikes and I was out. One day my bat met the ball, and it wasn't a foul.

"You pick that up, and I'll kill you," I threatened the pre-pubescent pitcher. He froze. That was the only time I didn't strike out. Every one of my teammates went into cardiac arrest, and the game was called.

With a gruesome past like that, it's a wonder I wasn't scarred for life. I swam laps for my first two years of college, in the interest of health. The water disguised the fact that, unlike Christie Brinkley, I would never model swimsuits on the cover of Sports Illustrated.

Then it happened. My muscles and my self-confidence grew. Following the example set by primitive reptiles, I crawled out of the water, dried off, and took up jogging last May. Most of my friends run, so I had a host of self-appointed coaches.

"Tennis shoes won't support your arches," one said, "buy a pair of running shoes." Okay. She was right, so I blew 30 bucks.

"Put your running shoes in the shower, to soften them," another said. It sounded weird, but he was right. It worked.

"Ignore the pain," another said, "Run anyway."

"Okay," I said, and went a record two miles that night. It was relaxing and, yes actually fun.

I must be crazy, or masochistic, or both.

Elizabeth Luciano is a Collegian Columnist.

Another solution to drunk driving

President Reagan has found a way to be on the right side of an issue and avoid outlay of funds. Any state in the union that does not bring its drinking age to 21 by 1986, Reagan says, will, to qualify for highway maintenance.

The President did not make this rule to stop people from drinking in the privacy of their home. He has other business to attend to. Reagan's attempt to keep the number of drunks to a minimum via a higher drinking age is directed towards drunk drivers.

Minimum drinking ages, however, work in preventing neither domestic drinking nor drunken driving. If a 15 year old wants to, he or she can get a few beers. Anyone who denies that is citing exceptions to the rule. But, putting that aside for a moment, let's assume that drinking ages are effective detterents to drinking:

Dan Miller

Assume the State decides to keep it that way. Because of its lower minimum, in comparison to complying states, Massachusetts will have more drunk drivers. It will also have more potholes for the driver to negotiate, and more bad cliff railings. One can often survive a smash-up. But the chances of survival aren't as good after plunging down a cliff and having one's car burst into flames upon hitting bottom. A bad highway is just one more thing that a drunk driver has to concentrate on. He or she becomes all the more incompetent on the road and potentially more dangerous. It's bad to drive under the influence; but dying or causing a death is generally agreed to be worse than that.

Second, the new regulation seems sweeping and pervasive for a president who spent four years and a campaign extolling government non-interference. Perhaps Reagan feels drunken driving is too urgent for the states to handle alone, and that they need a push in the proper direction. But every state is a little different from the one next to it. State boundaries are not absolutely arbitrary; each state will have a different feeling as to what its drinking age should be.

Keep in mind that drinking is also done with responsibility. Each state should have its say on how it regulates this particular component of its regulations.

Third, raising the drinking age one year in Massachusetts would deter only so many potentially drunk drivers. Anyone with a few silver hairs, a car and a license can become a drunk driver. Many people are over age 20.

If Reagan wishes to keep drunk drivers off the road, and keep the country's roads in good repair, he should offer this deal to the states: If the states will tax ethyl alcohol heavily, then the government will give the states a percentage of the collected state alcohol tax in federal funds-providing the state taxes went directly toward road repair. Thus the states would have their own highway maintenance funding, as well as a thank you from the feds. High prices would keep drinkers from imbibing, because when a person under 21 wants to drink, money talks and morality walks.

Dan Miller is a Collegian Correspondent.

Letters to the Editor

Males are objectified, too

In Yadira Betances' column "Pageants Oppress Women", she states that men who represent this country are not judged on appearance, charm, poise and charisma. It is true that men are not judged on appearance as much as women, but when newspapers are describing Mondale as boring and Reagan as charismatic, does this not say that men are also judged on these qualities?

In the Reagan-Carter TV debates, why did Reagan employ a full-scale make-up artist? Did Kennedy not win the Kennedy-Nixon debates in 1960 due mostly to his youth and charisma? In addition, has the author never heard of Mr. America contests? The men in these are judged solely on appearance. Do we hear of any women or men complaining? Just as beatuy contests suggests that a women's appearance is an indicator of her worth, am I to believe that I am worthless because I am not 250 lbs and 4%bodyfat? Why does the author not complain that these contests are degrading towards men?

Secondly, and most importantly, the author states in reference to women,"their contribution to society is far greater than that of men..." If these are true feelings, then it is the author who is sexist, and I genuinely feel sorry for her. We all know that women have been and still are oppressed in society. Does it make things right to oppress men? Won't pulling men down the hierarchial ladder result in both men and women becoming lower? Will it not be better if women can climb to the top of the ladder (with help if they want it) and share the top with men? Does this sound too idealistic?

Lastly, if these contests are so bad, why do so many women compete in them? As stated in the article, these women are poised and intelligent, and I would assume that they are well aware of social issues. Perhaps these women are "selling out". But is it not their right to do so, to be judged as they please?

To blame all of the evils on men is wrong and is poor driving on the road to equality.

Jeffrey C. Ives
Department of Exercise Science

Some people like scupture

If it has served no other purpose, the sculpture at the Fine Arts Center has brought out the art critic in all of us.

Who is Mary Cresse (Tuesday) to say that she doesn't like the school's latest art display, when she admits she just doesn't like abstract art? I mean, I don't want someone who simply doesn't like jazz telling me that Coltrane was a hack.

Why can't people like Cresse, and all the other "born-again critics," simply admit they don't know what the artist is trying to say? If Cresse wants to see really bad art, she need look no further than to the Tom Haley illustration, which accompanied her column. I may not understand Staccioloi's message, but it is clear to me that Haley was trying to draw the sculpture in question. His picture looks like it was drawn either by a second-grader or it was to be an abstract drawing, which would naturally contradict the point of Cresse's article. In a cartoon (Wednesday), Rosney and Ashby took a swipe at the piece, calling it a "beached Russian sub." Be serious; these guys couldn't even keep the lines on the stairs straight. How can they possibly criticize abstract art when they can't master the technique of the ruler. They shouldn't take out their frustrations on a man saying something they can't comprehend.

I'm not rushing to the defense of the sculpture, as it has yet to say anything to me. Still, I see people observe it and feel it. It obviously says something to them. I don't think the intent of the artist was to please everyone who saw it: No artist can expect that. Like any art, this piece is for the enjoyment of those with the vision to see something in it.

Glenn A. Pierce
Central

the Hungry U Restaurant

check out our happy hour munchie menu daily!

! PIZZA PARTY !
ALL SEMESTER LONG
8 till closing
Monday thru Thursday
buy a large pizza and get a pitcher for only $1.99
Happy Hour 3-6, 9-close 7 days per week
2 in 1 drinks
55 University Drive Amherst 549-5713

PUT US TO THE TEST!

LSAT · GMAT · GRE
MCAT · DAT
GRE PSYCH · GRE BIO
MAT · PCAT · OCAT
VAT · TOEFL · SSAT
PSAT · SAT
ACHIEVEMENTS · ACT

- Permanent Centers open days, evenings, weekends.
- Complete TEST-N-TAPE® facilities.
- Skilled instructors and dedicated, full-time staff.
- Homestudy materials constantly updated by Research Experts.
- Low Hourly Cost.
- Transfer privileges to over 120 locations.

NATIONAL MED BOARDS
MSKP · FMGEMS
FLEX · NOB · NPB
NCB · NCLEX-RN
CGFNS · CPA
SPEED READING
ESL INTENSIVE REVIEW
INTRODUCTION TO LAW SCHOOL

CLASSES FORMING NOW!
LSAT
GRE
GMAT

Stanley H. KAPLAN EDUCATIONAL CENTER
TEST PREPARATION SPECIALISTS SINCE 1938
In New York State: Stanley H. Kaplan Educational Center Ltd.

CALL DAYS, EVENINGS & WEEKENDS:
358 N.Pleasant
549-5780

ON CAMPUS RECRUITING
Office for Cooperative Education

Planning for Challenging Spring Co-ops Begins in October.
The following recruiters will be on campus to interview qualified students for salaried spring positions with their firms:

NAME	DATE	ELIGIBLE MAJORS
IBM/Tarrytown	10/23/84	Acctg., Finance
Disney	10/24/84	HRTA, Leisure Studies
People Express	10/25/84	HRTA, Com Stu, Leisure Studies. Related majors
IBM/Poughkeepsie	10/25/84	Mat., COINS.
Star Market	10/30/84	Food Mktg, Mktg, Mgt.
Sky Chefs	11/6 and 11/7/84	HRTA, Food Science

Students MUST be accepted into the Co-op Program well in advance of the above dates to be eligible for an interview.
Call Us Today Details About These and Other Exciting Opportunities! 545-2579

NURSING: CHECK IT OUT

At New England Deaconess Hospital School of Nursing. Now is the time to apply. You could even start planning your courses to qualify for our two-year advanced placement program.

Just call Joy Erb, recruitment coordinator at (617) 732-8359.

Come join us at our Fall Open House, October 15, 1984, 1-6 p.m. or November 4, 1984, 1-5 p.m.

NEW ENGLAND DEACONESS HOSPITAL SCHOOL OF NURSING
One Autumn Street, Boston, MA 02215
Committed to the concept of equal opportunity in education

CAMPUS GROOMING NEEDS

Barnes Hind WETTING SOLUTION 2 oz.
save $2.00 $2.55

LISTEREX SCRUB 4 oz.
$1.55
save $1.00

DIMENSION SHAMPOO 15 oz.
$1.99
save $1.46

FINESSE HAIR SPRAY 7 oz. aerosol or non-aerosol
$1.95
save $1.44

AQUA-FRESH 4.6 oz.
$1.05
save 34¢

ROLAIDS 75 count bottle regular or wintergreen
$1.44
save 81¢

Archer Kent
sale ends Sept. 30
191 No. Pleasant St.
Amherst
253-3534
open 7 days a week

SPECIAL SPECIAL SPECIAL

STAEDTLER marsmatic700

FOR A LIMITED TIME ONLY!

3 DAY SALE

Marsmatic 700
Technical Pen
Demonstration day and Pen Cleaning
Monday 9/24/84

700 S7 TECHNICAL PEN SET
Line widths 00, 0, 1, 2, 2½, 3, 3½, plus 1 bottle 745 9 Marsmatic drawing ink.

Regular List Price: $68.00

Offer Limited — COUPON — One to a Customer
This coupon entitles bearer to one Free Mars Techniplast Ink Eraser with purchase of one Marsmatic 7-pen technical pen set
Offer good thru 9/24 - 9/26/84

Pen Set priced $5.00 OFF our already low, low price of $29.95

Located in the Campus Center
Open M-F 9-5, Sat 11-4
UNIVERSITY STORE

Arts

Reggae dancin'

By BRADFORD VERTER
Collegian Correspondent

Wednesday was a beautiful night for dancing, and people danced. Black Uhuru and Obo Abby supplied the music. The former have a particular style of reggae, the newly popular 'music with a message'. The latter play jazzy Contemporary African music.

Obo Abby, who has been playing the drums for some 42 of his 46 years, is no stranger to the music scene. He and his brothers were an underground European sensation during the late 60s and early 70s, culminating in their performance at the 1972 Munich Olympics. His new band, formed three years ago in Oregon, plays what seems to be a blend of Salsa and Calypso; a hybrid spawn of Cal Tjader and Harry Belefonte.

Nothing could be further from the truth. Obo's music stems from the folk songs of Ghana—his native land. After hearing the brassy opening number "We Say (We're gonna do it)" and the subsequent "Homesick", perhaps only an ethnomusicologist would guess the true origin of the complex harmonies.

The spirited interchange between the three-man horn section and Obo on his native dandans (the "talking drums" known to linguists) may seem irreconcilable, but with the aid of the guitarist and fellow Ghanian Israel Annoh on drums, they managed to pull it off wonderfully. The music flows as naturally and beautifully as does a gothic cathedral.

Tom, the trumpetist, explains that the brassy patter of the horn section is purposefully imitative of the traditional tatoo of Ghanian drums. It is the same music in a different medium.

Obo Abby's steamy and joyous set was capped by the percussive "Rekpete", which the band played while dancing through the crowd.

A blonde wearing her hair in the closely cropped nu-wave style voiced the typical audience reaction, "I thought they were going to suck, but they were great. It's nice to have a warm up band that's good for a change.

If Obo Abby warmed up the spectators, Black Uhuru set them on fire. The group, who along with Peter Tosh are the most popular reggae band since Bob Marley, executed a very energetic performance to an enthusiastic audience.

They opened up with "Shine I Gal", an upbeat song with space age sythesizer effects replacing the traditional horn section. This was followed by an exciting rendition of "Plastic Smile", during which lead singer Michael Rose—motivated either by the resounding rhythms or the pulsating spectators—removed his elaborate headgear to release his lengthy Rastafari locks.

With the sweet stench of ganja now firmly established in the air, Black Uhuru played their hit "Solidarity", written for them by Stevie Van Zandt. "What's beneath?" Rose asked, "Solidarity," the crowds answered in unison.

Next was "Darkness", followed by "What's Life." The unintelligible lyrics were made clear by Rose's expressive face.

The wonderfully danceable "Spongy Reggae" was followed by the slower, poignant "Abortion." Next was "General" and the upbeat "Gues Who's Comming to Dinner." "We must step as one," Rose sang to the randomly dancing audience.

A cheerful rendition of "Happiness" was followed by their final tune, "Africa", which featured a rocking duet between bassist Robbie Shakespeare and drummer Sly Dunbar. Nary a foot in the house went untapped.

Forced back on stage by the demanding cries of the crowd ("Rastafari," yelled a short, WASPish young man), the band played a throbbing version of "Sinsemillia", which displayed the artistry of Dunbar, Shakespeare and Darriel Thompson on guitar. This was followed by an exciting jam session by the trio, allowing the spectators to bouce rather than dance.

Throughout the final jam, Shakespeare would repeatedly turn his back mysteriously to the audience. After the show he laughingly informed me that his pants had been falling down. His advice to beginners? "Be creative and know your instrument." His reflections on Marley? "Bob was great—very creative."

When asked whether he was concerned that Reggae's message was being sublimated by the music he explained, "When we are on stage we serve the people. We have no other purpose but to please the audience."

Screwball comedy

All of Me
Directed by Carl Reiner
Starring Steve Martin and Lily Tomlin Mountain Farms Theater
by THOMAS HARRINGTON
Collegian Correspondent

When Steve Martin first made his way on to the big screen, the result was The Jerk, a very popular collaboration with director and comedy writer Carl Reiner that was nontheless only mildly funny and beneath both men's best work. The two continued to work as a team, however, slowly improving their output with each film, until, with The Man with Two Brains, it seemed that they were finally on the verge of making a great comedy. Now, with the help of Lily Tomlin, they have done just that in All of Me, a screwball comedy concerning sexual and personal identity.

The plot concerns Roger Cobb (Steve Martin), a dissatisfied lawyer whose richest and most hated client, Edwina Cutwater (Lily Tomlin), plans to return from the dead by implanting her soul into a young woman played by Victoria Tenant. The possession doesn't work of course, and Edwina's soul winds up inside Roger, giving each of them one half control of his body. The rest of the movie consists of their uneasy alliance as they try to find a swami who can put Edwina into her intended recipient. To reveal anymore would spoil things, so suffice it to say that the film follows a time-worn situation formula that can still be wonderful when it has a new idea like this applied to it.

Lily Tomlin has finally created a screen character worthy of her comedy routines. The terminally ill, but haughtily upper class Edwina Cutwater has all the physical mannerisms and personality quirks that make Tomlin's creations (Ernestine the telephone operator and the bag lady, for instance) so memorable. In fact, Tomlin makes Edwina's so distinctivethat even though she makes most of her later appearances as a disembodied voice, I had no trouble picturing her in my mind.

Of course, that wouldn't have happened if Steve Martin's performance as the possessed Roger wasn't so convincing. Martin recreates gesture for gesture, and his half-feminine, half masculine walk through a hotel lobby is as convincing and funny as any special effect in Ghostbusters. More importantly, Martin maintains Roger's character throughout and makes him as sympathetic as he is strange. Roger is as crazy a person as Martin ever played, but this time he has a good reason to be that way.

The supporting cast is quite good, especially Victoria Tenant, and Carl Reiner's direction is his best since Oh God!, but the movie obviously belongs to its two stars. Tomlin and Martin make All of Me a near classic combination of high comedy and physical humor.

The fastest-growing profession in America.

According to the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics, the need for paralegals is about to double.

Now is the time to become a part of this dynamic profession... and there is no finer training available than at Philadelphia's acclaimed Institute for Paralegal Training. After just four months of intensive study, we will find you a job in the city of your choice. We are so confident of the marketability of our graduates that we offer a unique tuition refund plan.

To learn how you can add market value to your college degree, return the coupon or call toll-free: 1-800-222-IPLT.

We'll be on campus October 15, 1984 —
Contact your placement office to arrange for an individual interview or group presentation.

Housing and Financial Aid available
THE INSTITUTE FOR PARALEGAL TRAINING
Approved by the American Bar Association

RUMA
Mail this coupon to:
Institute for Paralegal Training
1926 Arch Street
Philadelphia, PA 19103
Please send a copy of your catalogue.
Name
Address
City State Zip
College Year of grad
Phone (area code) (home)

MASS. APPROVED INSPECTION STATION
RADIAL TIRE SALE
P155/80R13
$29.95
-Includes Mounting- plus MA State Tax
North Amherst Tire & Auto Center
Full Service Tire Store
78 Sunderland Rd., No. Amherst, MA
Across from Wahlobs's Store
549-4704

AMHERST BALLET CENTRE
29 Strong St.
549-1555
Evening classes
10-week courses
starting Oct. 1
Ballet, Jazz, Modern Dance
course fee; $50.00
Registration fee; $2.
Phone to Register

charlie's
Super Daily Happy Hour
All Week 3-6 pm
2 for 1 Jumbo Drinks (any shelf)
reduced prices on pitchers & bottled beer
Free Munchies
Plus 2 for 1 on Jumbo draft & wine

Super Nightly Happy Hour
All Week 9:30-11:30 pm
2 for 1 Jumbo Drinks (any shelf)
2 for 1 on Jumbo draft & wine

OTHER SPECIALS
Tuesday
8-12 pm Pizza and Beer
$5.95 includes pitcher of beer or carafe of wine & cheese pizza
1 Pray Street, Amherst
Open 11 am - 1 am Daily

Sunday
11-3 pm Bloody Mary pitchers $5.95
6-10 pm Pizza & Beer
$5.95 includes a pitcher of beer or carafe of wine and cheese pizza

AMHERST CINEMA
DOUBLE FEATURE $2.50
Monday and Tuesday
Gunga Din
King Kong
DOWNTOWN AMHERST

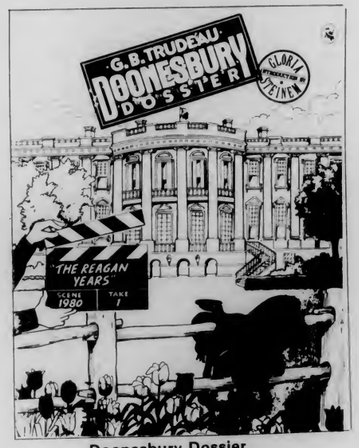
BLUE WALL

CAMPUS CENTER AT UMASS

CALENDAR

MONDAY
9:00 - MONDAY NITE FOOTBALL
- FREE POPCORN WITH BAR PURCHASE -
TUESDAY
8:00 - VIDEO NITE
WEDNESDAY
9:30 - COMEDY NITE
THURSDAY
DANCING WITH SPIKE HENDERSON
FRIDAY
'SOCIAL HOUR' WITH CLIFF MYERS AND DANCING
SATURDAY
8:30 - DRIVIN' WHEEL

BOOK OF THE WEEK
$1.00 OFF



Doonesbury Dossier
The Reagan Years
by G.B. Trudeau

Located in the Campus Center
Open: M-F 9-5; Sat 11-4

UNIVERSITY STORE

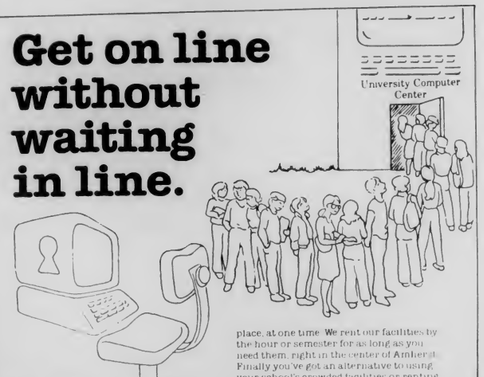
HEALTH & BEAUTY SALE

introducing
DOUBLE MANUFACTURER'S COUPONS
on all Health and Beauty Aids Products

Sale items are also available in the Mini Store
M-F 9-5
Sat 11-4

Located in the Campus Center
UNIVERSITY STORE

Get on line without waiting in line.



"Unbelievable!"

It's not bad enough doing endless hours of homework for your computer courses. To make a tough situation worse you've got to plan on spending precious time standing in line every time you want to get on line. And your odds on getting a print out by the time you need it are about as good as getting seats to a Michael Jackson concert.

That is, of course, unless you do your computer homework at the Computer Access Center.

16 chairs, no waiting!

The Computer Access Center is a unique workspace that offers everything you need to do all of your computer work, in one place, at one time. We rent our facilities by the hour or semester for as long as you need them, right in the center of Amherst. Finally you've got an alternative to using your school's crowded facilities or renting a terminal for the whole semester.

The Access Center has it all. 16 work stations fully equipped with computers and terminals, complete modem systems that allow you to tie in to Cyber VAX or any other mainframe that you have the access code for, on site letter quality and dot matrix printers for instant print outs, and experienced and knowledgeable computer pros always on duty to help you.

Of course, the best part is that at Computer Access Center you don't have to waste precious time standing in line. Now you can plan ahead and reserve time on a terminal that will be waiting just for you.

So what are you waiting for? Call today and see for yourself how easy and inexpensive renting time on a computer can be.

COMPUTER ACCESS CENTER INC.
ON SITE HOURLY/SEMESTER RENTALS 256-1213
79 South Pleasant Street, Amherst, MA (right rear of Peter Pan Terminal building)
Mon -Thurs. 9 am-11 pm, Fri 9 am-6 pm, Sat -Sun 10 am-6 pm

2 FREE HOURS OF COMPUTER TIME!

Call today, mention this ad and use one of our computers for two hours at no cost!

Offer good during business hours Monday through Friday until October 15th.

Bloom County

by Berke Breathed

YES?
INSULT TELEGRAM FOR MISTER STEVE DALLAS!
AHEM... "MISS LAURA NUNBUTZ WISHES TO CONVEY HER MOST INTIMATE FEELINGS ON THE 10TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE TIME YOU STRUNG HER INITIALED, PADDED BIKINI UP YOUR FRATERNITY FLAGPOLE:"
"PPHPFFT!"
THANKS. YOU CAN CHOKE ON THE TIP.
PS.: "PPHPTH! THPTPTH.!"

Underfoot

Joe Bradbury

A DAIQUIRI. BUT SINCE I HAVE NO HANDS I CAN'T DRINK IT...
ALL I CAN DO IS SIT HERE AND HOPE THAT SOMEONE GIVES ME A STRAW...
...BEFORE IT ALL EVAPORATES.

Gorde

by Gorde

AT THE D.C.....
MMM, BOY! MY FAVORITE, D.C. ROAST PORK - "YAAAK!" HEY, WHAT'S BUGGIN' JAKE?
SOME GIRL HE SAW AT THE HATCH
SOME GIRL? NO!!! THE GIRL! THE PERFECT WOMAN! AND I HAVE NO IDEA WHO SHE WAS HARK!! THIS SOUNDS LIKE A JOB FOR.... "FOOF!"
YES, YOU HEARD HIM RIGHT!! "FOOF"
BUT WHO IS "FOOF," YOU ASK? THE LEGENDARY LOVE-GOD OF U.MASS! IS HE GOD OR MORTAL? WE'LL NEVER KNOW. "THE MYTH OF STATE U" WITH THE POWER OF LOVE IN HIS FINGERTIPS. WOMEN DESIRE HIM, MEN ADMIRE HIM. HE IS ALL THAT IS...

The Lab

by Law

Yesthead

Jason Talerman

Doonesbury will return next Monday with all the same characters, in new situations! Here are a few advance panels from G B Trudeau...

SO AFTER MONTHS OF AGONIZING OVER IT, I FINALLY ADMITTED TO MYSELF THAT MY CHOICE OF A CAREER IN BUSINESS HAD BEEN A TERRIBLE, TERRIBLE MISTAKE!
HERE'S HOW IT WOULD GO. WE'D OPEN ON A SHOT OF REAGAN WALKING ON A BEACH. ON A VOICE-OVER, HE'D BE TALKING ABOUT ALL HE'S DONE FOR BLACKS

DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE

Edited by Trude Michel Jaffe

ACROSS
1 Dinner bill
4 Smokers
9 Barber's tool
14 Sioux Indian of Nebraska
15 Lowest deck of a ship
16 Be off
17 Geniality
19 Set foot in 20 Counter tenor
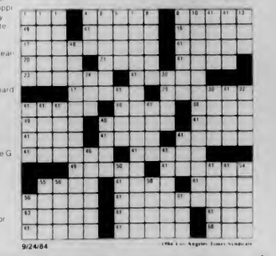
21 Marquis de ——
22 Paradise
23 Most crafty
25 Fearlessness
27 Panache
29 Sky high
33 Sites
36 Bone: Comb form
38 Golf course feature
39 Crosby
40 Established
41 Son of Seth
42 Taro's root
43 Bouquet
44 Wears well
45 Discoverer of the Mississippi
47 Not as many
49 Shore of note
51 Be there!
55 Little ones
57 Shakespearean king
59 Gen. Robert
60 Takes on board
61 Composes oneself
63 Pierre's farewell
64 Uniformity
65 Favorite
66 Gen. George G
67 Big names
68 Speakers pauses

DOWN
1 Costumes for Julius Caesar
2 Coral reef
3 Spoils
4 Sound of vexed surprise
5 Dependable
6 —— mater
7 Loving kindness
8 Spendthrift's outing
9 Dollman
10 Compassionate
11 Assess
12 Household necessity
13 For each
18 Emulates a scout
24 42nd et al
26 Incursion
28 Fill to the brim
30 Charged atoms
31 Abundance
32 Minus
33 Retired
34 Sunday spin
35 —— of the earth
37 Dried out
40 Great blessing
44 Ending with book or ring
46 King of paper
48 More genial
50 Dogs of S America
52 Marry in haste
53 More recent
54 Fender benders
55 Partner of time
56 La Scala solo
58 Actor Alan
60 Theatrical hot dog
62 Grad class members

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

A	D	H	D	C		E	L	A	N		N	E	R	D
B	O	D	E		C	O	C	A		A	R	I	D
E	R	M	I	N	E		C	O	A	T		M	A	D	E
A	M	D			L	E	T		T	U	G	E
M	I	S	S		S			R	E	S	I	D	E
	C	A	V	E	A	T		A	R	E	A
	E	P	E	E		O	R	E	L		R	E	S	T
	I	N	M	E	D	I	A	S	R	E	S
T	R	E	S		D	A	M	P		A	M	O	R
I	A	N		B	U	Y		S	T	R	I	F	E
M	Y	S	T	I	C			F	A	T	M	E	N
		A	M	A	T	E	U	R		A	N	O
E	P	I	C		T	R	A	N	S	P	O	R	T	S
L	O	D	E		O	I	S	E		E	M	C	E	E
F	I	A	T		R	O	E	S		T	A	H	R	S

9/24/84



9/24/84

THINK NEGATIVE!
Join the Collegian Photo Staff.
Experienced photographers with own equipment needed for daily feature and news photography
Recruitment meeting at 7 pm tonight in the Collegian office at CC 113 or call Andy Heller or Larry Bouchie at 545-3500

D-C Menu

LUNCH
Turkey Club Sandwich
Duchess Meat Pie/Gravy

BASICS LUNCH
Falafel Pocket Sandwich
Fiesta Rice and Cheese

DINNER
Veal Parmesan
Pineapple Ham Steak
Italian Garden Plate

BASICS DINNER
Baked Cod with Lemon Wedge
Eggplant Parmigiana

Today's weather

Variable cloudiness with a chance of showers. Temperatures in the mid 70's. Tonight, fair and cooler with temperatures in the 50's.

Ask Lois - coming soon!

Got a problem?
Question?

Write to Ask Lois today!
Address letters to 113 Campus Center.

Then get in on the ground floor in our undergraduate officer commissioning program. You could start planning on a career like the men in this ad have. And also have some great advantages like:

- Earning $100 a month during the school year
- As a freshman or sophomore, you could complete your basic training during two six-week summer sessions and earn more than $1100 during each session
- Juniors earn more than $1900 during one ten-week summer session
- You can take free civilian flying lessons
- You're commissioned upon graduation

If you're looking to move up quickly, look into the Marine Corps undergraduate officer commissioning program. You could start off making more than $17,000 a year.

Want to move up quickly?

We're looking for a few good men.

Marines

See First Lt. Schiffer
in the Campus Center
on Sept. 24 & 25, 10 am to 2 pm or call (collect) at (203) 722-2168

Minuteman sports roundup

The University of Massachusetts rugby team finished third in the Rhode Island tournament, beating Bryant College 16-0 and losing to the University of Connecticut, 6-0.

The UMass cross country teams had a fair weekend. The men tied Yale 28 apiece at home on Saturday. The women finished seventh in an 11-team meet also on Saturday with 177 points. Holy Cross had 33 to win. The men are now 0-1-1 on the season.

The UMass men's tennis team went to an even 1-1 on the season as the Boston University Terriers recorded a 9-0 shutout at home at the Boyden Courts on Saturday.

Collegian correspondents Alastair Atwood and Bryan Quenzel contributed to this story.

★ Tracy

hospitalized.

"The tear is all healed now," Tracy said. "It's a matter of getting my blood count back up. The 6'2" senior received seven pints through transfusions and his body had to make up the rest.

Tracy's weight fell as low as 232 before he started solid foods in the hospital.

"I feel good and I'm ready to go next week," he said. With doctor's approval, the veteran nose guard should start to practice today or Tuesday.

"We have to get our attitude back up," Tracy said. "As a captain I want a tough week of practice — no funny stuff. We have to get back up there."

Number 89 doesn't want to be missing any more games.

Collegian photo by Andy Heller

UMass' Chris Wood makes the interception against Holy Cross on Saturday. UM lost, 35-7.

★ Football

continued from page 12

Statistically, Muldoon was 14 for 21 for 243 yards and two TDs. He won the Eddie Anderson Award for the Most Valuable Player in the UMass-HC game for the third straight season. Tailback Gill Fennerty, although not scoring, rushed for 126 yards. UMass' best rusher was George Barnwell with 66, Frank Fay had 48.

The reasons? There were several. The UMass secondary, in a zone, couldn't contain the Holy Cross receivers as Muldoon threw to the middle all day. Simeone, despite having great protection (he was sacked only once) didn't hit his receivers, and when he did, they often dropped it.

How the AP Top 20 fared

1. Nebraska (3-0-0) defeated UCLA, 42-3
2. Clemson (2-1-0) lost to Georgia, 26-23
3. Texas (1-0-0) did not play
4. Miami (Fla.) (3-2-0) lost to Florida State, 38-3
5. Ohio State (3-0-0) defeated Iowa, 45-26
6. Brigham Young (3-0-0) defeated Hawaii, 18-13
7. Penn State (3-0-0) defeated William&Mary, 56-18
8. UCLA (2-1-0) lost to Nebraska, 42-3
9. Washington (3-0-0) defeated Houston, 35-7
10. Boston College (3-0-0) defeated North Carolina, 52-20
11. Oklahoma (3-0-0) defeated Baylor, 34-15
12. Oklahoma (3-0-0) defeated San Diego State, 19-16
13. SMU (1-0-0) defeated N. Texas State, 24-6
14. Iowa (1-2-0) lost to Ohio State, 45-26
15. Florida State (3-0-0) defeated Miami (Fla.), 38-3
16. Michigan (2-1-0) defeated Wisconsin, 20-14
17. Southern Cal (2-0-0) defeated Arizona State, 6-3
18. West Virginia (3-1-0) lost to Maryland, 20-17
19. Auburn (1-2-0) defeated S. Mississippi, 35-12
20. Georgia (2-0-0) defeated Clemson, 26-23

Field hockey crushes URI for fourth straight victory

By ED HAYWARD
Collegian Staff

Going into her team's game against a rebuilding University of Rhode Island team, Massachusetts field hockey coach Pam Hixon's worry was that her team would get lazy.

Well, unfortunately for URI, Hixon's team did not relax and the Minutemen improved their record to 4-1 as they won Saturday, 7-1.

"It's tough when you go into a game that you know you should win," said Hixon. "A team has a tendency to get mentally lazy and undisciplined. You tend to play down to their level. But you've got to play your own game."

The Minutemen did just that. They played their own aggressive, high scoring game and defeated their fourth straight opponent. UMass thoroughly dominated the game, out-shooting URI by a total of 47-2. UMass was awarded eight penalty corners, URI, only five.

Sophomore Erin Conniff and Freshman Tonia Kennedy had good games, each scoring two goals. Senior Maura Coughlin, junior Christine Kocot, and senior Andrea Muccini tallied one goal apiece. Muccini also had an assist.

Senior Katherine Rowe tended goal for UMass and came one peculiar goal away from notching the team's third straight shut-out.

"We're not sure how they scored their goal," said Hixon. "The ball was deflected off one or two players. Nobody's owning up to it but it was definitely a deflected ball. Somehow it ended up in the net."

"We played well for seventy minutes which was our goal win or lose. We worked on our midfield play and moved some people around. So we had players at positions they aren't normally at. This (game) was a good teaching experience for us," Hixon said.

In their last three games the Minutemen have scored sixteen goals, a production rate Hixon attributes to a pre-season rule change allowing players to shoot from outside the circle surrounding the goal.

UM volleyball 'improving'

NEW BRITAIN, CT. —

Going into this weekend, it looked like the University of Massachusetts volleyball machine was well oiled and on a roll.

Well, yes and no.

No, the spikers didn't win Saturday's Central Connecticut State University Volleyball Tournament. They did place third in the tourney with a 3-2 record, raising their season record to an 8-4 mark.

But, yes, the Minutemen are playing better than they have all season, and that has been awfully good.

"I'm very pleased," said coach Elaine Sortino. "Everyone played super."

The spikers won all three of their matches in straight games. The victims were American International College, 15-8, 15-13, Central Connecticut, 15-11, 15-7, and Eastern Connecticut, 15-6, 15-8.

UMass dropped matches to the University of New Haven 11-15, 9-15, and the tourney champions, Northeastern, 11-15 and 12-15.

"Eastern Conn. was our best match by far," said Sortino. "We served them right off the court and our passing was good."

UMass won their respective pool, putting them into a round-robin final with the top four teams in the tourney. It was there where the spikers lost to New Haven and Northeastern.

UMass returns to the friendlier confines of NOPE on Wednesday to square off against Holy Cross.

★ Men's soccer

continued from page 12

played," said Gettler. "We would have played extremely well to beat them. We played OK, but not at the level to such a quality team."

The goal count for Greensboro could have reached a higher plateau, but UM goalie Don Donahue stopped two consecutive penalty kicks at the 53-minute mark. The first kick came via a hand ball call on UMass in the penalty area, but Donahue was called for moving too early, prompting the second kick.

Greensboro broke through at 61:19 when Andy Mahalko kicked the ball past Donahue from close range off a throw-in. Three minutes later, Ed Rawanski ("the best player in the tournament"— Gettler) dribbled down the right side and from 25 yards out rocketed a leftfooter past Donahue into the upper corner.

Against Rutgers, the Minutemen were missing midfielders Matt Cushing and Tom Uschok to injuries, but still played the host Scarlet Knights to the draw.

"When you can play a great team like Rutgers the way we did without those two guys, you have to be happy," said Gettler.

Besides Manal, center sweeper Mike Runeare was also named to the all-tourney team.

★ Women's soccer

continued from page 12

UCal-Berkley.

"We were just outplayed defensively," Banda said. "There is no way we should have been tying them."

"We have a good team but we have to go out on the soccer field and prove how good we are," he said.

UMass will get another chance Wednesday when they travel to Brown University for a night game against the 10th ranked Bruins.

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIED

Monday - Thursday 8:45 - 3:45 • Friday 8:45 - 2:30 • Cash in advance • 5 consecutive days 5% discount • 10 consecutive days 10% discount • 15 consecutive days 15% discount • phone number free

ADVERTISING

Advertise FREE in the RIVER VALLEY AD. Advertise items you want to sell or buy. Call 532-5498

APARTMENT FOR RENT

2 bedroom apt on bus rt. for rent located in North Amherst. Rent is $385+ call DH Jones 549-3700

APPLE COMPUTER FOR RENT

Apple II available for $250 or best offer for this semester. Pascal is included. Call 256-1841. Ask for Ruthie

AUTO FOR SALE

'73 Saab 96-A classic! BO 6-4548 4563

'73 Buick Classic luxury car beautiful shape, must sell 800 or BO 549-1164

Dodge customized Van '77 engine in good running order camn int call 549-4692

1975 Datsun 710 runs well, body fair $500 584-5884 evenings

1973 Super Beetle exc. cond. in/out Rebuilt engine, radials, heater, very dependable. $1500 call evens/weekends 586-2192 keep trying

1976 Toyota Corona, good working condition, no snow rust. Interior is not plush. Great transportation! Needs Massachusetts registration. $700 or best offer. Emanuel 549-4600 X-258

ENTERTAINMENT

VIDEO VIDEO VIDEO VIDEO Rack A Video entertainment giant 10 and 15 foot screens for dorms and Greeks. "MTV" video music call 549-7144

Rack A Disc Rack A Video entertainment guaranteed events for Disc Jockeys. Bands and Video. Call 549-7144

WICKED AND WILD DJ's audio and visual entertainment for the 80's 584-6712

For the best in dence music call 5 College Sound 586-0245 or 586-7989

UMASS SKI CLUB

Information Meetings Sept. 24, 5:00 pm in Public Health Aud., Sept. 26, 4:00 pm in CC Rm 917 and at 7:00 pm Hamden DC Join now and be part of the tradition!

FOR SALE

SOUNDESIGN STEREO Originally $900. 2 years old $469. Dresser $40. 253-3682

'79 Dodge Omni, A/T, AC, 4 door, many new parts, good condition $2000 or BO 549-0381

TERMINAL & COUPLER. MUST SELL $350 CALL 549-5259

2 Dead Tickets Hartford, Mon. Oct. 15 good seats section 102 458 for pair 253-5507 keep trying

COMPUTER TERMINAL for sale. DEC VT56 with hardcopy option. Like new. Very good buy $475!! 549-8994

Apple II + 48k disc drive, Epson printer, software word processor, DB Visicalc, Pascal, games, $1,150. 586-1421

Bicycle 20" Panasonic 10 speed 25 lbs high tensile tubing $135 549-6180

FOUND

Michele Soltysik your wallet is at the Campus Center lost and found

FREE PUPPY

Have to get rid of dog. He needs a home Call Jay 256-6802. Leave message

GAIL GIROUX

Call Gail and wish her a Heppy 20! 6-8015 or 6-8231

HAPPY BIRTHDAY SUZANNE

Dear Spike, happy 19th birthday (on Sunday)! Have a great weekend, go wild! Love, Michael

HELP WANTED

Homemakers, Home Health Aide positions available immediately. Part time, flexible hours. Free training offered. Call Home Care Services for more information 586-3886

Montreal Weekend Party Nov. 2-4 $68 includes RT transportation from your campus, 3 says 2 nights hotel in DT Montreal Welcome Party all taxes and tips drinking age 18 optional Bruins Montreal tickets call today Eric 549-5017

Part-time jobs - perfect for students! Get experience, get paid for political work. Hazardous waste clean-up, energy issues, voter education. Mass Fair Share a building a part-time staff in public education and fundraising. Hours 5-10 PM. Flexible schedule $60 - $120/wk. Call 586-8713

Enthusiastic Students to apply Asst. to the Speaker/Student Senate Work on student/campus/social issues. Experience w/in SGA helpful, but not necessary. 10 hrs./wk., $3.35/hr. For more details call 545-0341. Pick up applications in rm. 420 SUB Application deadline Oct. 1, 4:00 pm. SGA is an AA/EOE

The Student Center for Educational Research and Advocacy is hiring undergrads to learn political organizing & student interest research skills. SCERA also has positions for a writer/editor, resource center staff person and for the anti-racism team. 10 hrs/wk, $3.35/hr Work study & non work study. Applications at 420 Student Union. Applications due 9/26. SCERA is an AA/EEO employer

Auditor needed. SGA Treasurer's Office must be able to analyze and apply financial information. 10-15 hrs/wk, $3.35/hr. Workstudy or non workstudy. Applications in 407 Student Union Building. Deadline September 27 at noon. AA/EOE

Exotic Dancers wanted full or part time 4 to 12 tel 247-5682

Newspaper Deliverers needed on campus. No car necessary. Good pay. 7 days a week 1 hour/day. Call evenings 253-7009

WMUA seeks secretary with good typing and shorthand skills. 9 hours/wk. Call Ann and leave message 586-7862

Groundfloor opportunity reliable, ambitious salespersons wanted for home party plan. Attractive pay scale. $50 bonus possible 256-8005

Work for your meals as a housepersons. Eat homecooked meals prepared by full-time cook. Call Jim H at 549-2150

AIDE - 3 day week Monday, Wednesday, Friday, to work in educational/vocational program with moderately disabled teenagers. Challenging and inspiring work for the right person. Psych, education experience preferred.

AIDES - Full-time, part-time, for a full range of Special Education Programs in South Hadley/Granby area.

SUBSTITUTES - For programs, High School diploma minimum, experience desirable. $25.00 day.

Send resume and cover letter to Administrator of Special Education 38 Hadley Street, South Hadley, MA 01075 AA/EOE

Artist needed for Southwest Assembly, average 5 hrs/wk. Apply now. 545-0960

Work study position available, for Secretary/Typist of SWAG, 8 hrs/wk. Apply NOW! 545-0960

INSTRUCTION

Know your car. Basic Automobile Workshop. 26 hours including classroom and shop. Limited enrollment 253-2098

LOST

Cap grey Irish Tweed lost Wednesday please return to Mariane 546-6300 or lost and found

Blue wallet around NOPE Keep money, desperately need indentification. Ken 586-6378

MOTORCYCLES

1975 Honda CB360T, 16800 miles, new tires, chain, battery last year $500/BO 549-0437

* OBSERVANT? ****

12 speed FUJI, handlebar gear levers, concave rims, steel and brass cluster. Stolen 9/13 Philips St. Large reward for information or recovery 549-0792

PERSONALS

Attention Everyone: It's Kenny's Birthday call and wish him a happy one! 549-4022

MONTY - You could have given me a ride home anytime all you had to do was ask S-ANNE

How's it going to feel to use proof that's real? A little more secure than being quizzed about birthdays and VA geography but also less challenging! Let's make the best of our last illegal year here. Your fan, I.S

SERVICES

ATTENTION STUDENTS For all your typing and word processing needs - term papers, dissertations, resumes, etc. - call Elite Business Services 783-1732

TYPING Southwest 48 hr notice required. $3/page call Lisa G 3366 after 6 pm

TAG SALE

Front North Village Apt Sat morning 9/22/84 furniture, clothes, housewares

TRAVEL

COUNCIL TRAVEL/CIEE USA's #1 Student Budget Travel Agency. Free Catalog, call (617) 266-1926 or write, 729 Boylston St. Suite 201, Boston, MA 02116

WANTED

Female to share large bedroom in Townehouse call 549-4585

I need a skateboard! Call 546-6322 if you have one to sell or know where I can get one. John

Sports

Officials are needed for intramural football, soccer and frisbee. Contact the intramural office at 545-2693 for more information. Work study and non-work study positions available. Jobs start right away and the rewards are high. Call today!

Purple reign in Worcester, 35-7

Minutemen outplayed on offense and defense, fall to 1-2 on season

By PETER ABRAHAM
Collegian Staff

WORCESTER — Holy Cross ran up 466 yards of total offense on way to crushing an inept University of Massachusetts 35-7 Saturday at Fitton Field in Worcester.

"I'd like to say it's the play calling or that we weren't trying, but it isn't that," said UMass coach Bob Stull. "We just can't execute. We aren't doing the job. I'm not at all pleased with anything we did all day."

UMass, 1-2 on the year, was simply dominated by a much better Crusader team that averaged an imposing 6.56 yard per play.

"It was nice to do pretty much what we wanted," said Crusader coach Rick Carter. "They fought us pretty hard for a while, but once we got in tune it was over."

The tone of the rout was set early when Carter elected to go on a fourth and 11 situation at the Minutemen 30. Chris Wood broke up Peter Muldoon pass intended for flanker Leo Carlin, but the message was there, Holy Cross knew they would score, and score often.

"I decided to go because I felt getting on top early was a big key," said Carter. "We missed it, but I knew there would be other chances."

The chance came at the 13:15 point of the first quarter when Muldoon hit Rick Lane with a 31 yard scoring pass.

The play was set up by some bad UMass play calling and a lousy punt by George Papoutsidis.

After being penalized for 20 yards, UMass found themselves with a first and 30 situation on their own 23. Quarterback Jim Simeone pitched to Duckworth Grange who took a five yard loss after being buried by linebacker Don Zelinski (who had blitzed, expecting a pass.) Grange took a pitch again and gained three yards to set up a third and 32.

Holy Cross dropped six defensive backs to play the pass, and cornerback Jim Boyle broke up Simeone's pass to his brother Bob.

Papoutsidis then shanked a punt to the UM 44. Muldoon passed for 13 yards to flanker Wayne Jackson before his scoring toss.

Another bad punt gave Holy Cross a first down at their own 42 after UMass ran three plays. Muldoon worked downfield to the five before cutting through a gaping hole in the UMass defense to make it 14-0 after Larry Melick's PAT.

In the second quarter, UMass caused a fumble and intercepted two Muldoon passes. But the three possessions after the turnover, the UMass offense gained a total of 10 yards.

For the half, UMass had only four first downs, 72 total yards and Simeone was 2 of 16 for 22 yards.

"I'm surprised we had four first downs" said Stull. "We were awful. I wish I could put it another way. They flat outplayed us."

In the second half, things weren't much better. The Crusaders, now 2-0, scored on a three yard run by Chuck Doyle, a 15 yard interception return by Boyle after a Simeon (11 for 32, 110 yards) pass was badly underthrown.

UMass' only score came against the Cross reserves when freshman fullback Ted Barrett raced left after a reverse for 32 yards with three minutes gone in the final period.

continued on page 11

Collegian photo by Andy Heller

UM freshman Ted Barrett runs for the Minutemen's only touchdown against Holy Cross. UMass lost to Holy Cross, 35-7.

Holy Cross 35, UMass 7

Holy Cross (2-0-0)	7	7	14	7	-	35
UMass (1-2-0)	0	0	0	7	-	7

Scoring:

HC, Lane 31 pass from Muldoon (Melick kick) 7-0
HC, Muldoon 5 run (Melick kick) 14-0
HC, Doyle, 3 run (Melick kick) 21-0
HC, Lane, 15 pass from Muldoon (Melick kick) 28-0
UM, Barrett 32 run (Papoutsidis kick) 28-7
HC, Boyle, 71 interception return (Melick kick)35-7

Statistics:

First downs: HC: 26, UM: 17
Passing: HC: 14-21, 243, UM: 11-32, 110
Rushing: HC: 50-223, UM: 40-177
Possession: HC: 32:30, UM: 27:30
Total Yards: HC: 466, UM: 287
Punting: HC: 2-93 (46.5), UM: 7-282 (40.3)
Avg. gain-per-play: HC: 6.56, UM: 3.99
Penalties: HC: 9-56, UM: 5-46

Tracy 'tortured'

By GERRY deSIMAS
Collegian Staff

WORCESTER — University of Massachusetts football co-captains Peter Tracy and Tom McEvilly strolled to the middle of a worn Fitton Field Saturday afternoon for the coin flip with the Crusader captains.

Nothing fancy or unusual happened except UM's Duckworth Grange bobbled the kickoff and returned the ball to the UMass 17 yard line. But when the UM defense jogged on the field five minutes later, number 89 stood on the sideline and watched.

It was the first game Tracy has missed since he started playing football when he was nine years old (not counting the year Tracy sat out after he transferred from Navy due to NCAA rules.)

"It was torture on the sidelines," Tracy said. And on the field, too, as Tracy's Minuteman teammates were crushed by a 35-7 count.

"The defense had a tough day," Tracy said. "Holy Cross executed well. We weren't wrapping the arms around the players. They ran hard."

Tracy has had a tough time of it as of late. He could have died of the tear of his stomach muscle that he suffered against Lehigh University two weeks ago.

"It was touch and go there for a while," Tracy said. "I lost nine pints of blood (due to internal bleeding) and the body only has 16 pints. My blood pressure fell to 60/40." Normal blood pressure is 120/80.

The bleeding started slowly, Tracy said, but he started to vomit blood and the vomiting made the tear worse. The bleeding did stop on its own, but not before Tracy had to be

continued on page 11

Up and down weekend for UMass soccer at tournaments

•Women stay undefeated

By GERRY deSIMAS
Collegian Staff

CORTLAND, N.Y. — For University of Massachusetts women's soccer team coach Kalekeni Banda, two ties and a win at this weekend's Cortland State Tournament of Champions wasn't enough.

Banda feels the team should have come out with three wins.

"The defense just didn't come through for us in the tournament," Banda said. The second ranked Minutemen blew 2-0 leads against the University of California Berkley and William and Mary and ended up with 2-2 ties in each case.

UMass did triumph over UCal-Santa Barbara 1-0, to stay undefeated at 3-0-2.

"We took plenty of shots," Banda said. "The offense is there. We just don't have enough defense to destroy the other team."

Massachusetts, ranked first in New England, opened the tournament against third ranked UCal-Berkley Saturday, and took a 2-0 lead off goals by freshmen Catherine Spence and Kristen Bowsher.

However, the Golden Bears fought back and tied it up with four minutes to go in the game. UMass outshot California 16-5.

UMass defeated 18th ranked UCal-Santa Barbara also on Saturday, 1-0 on another Bowsher goal. The Minutemen outshot SB 24-5.

"The defense was still off," Banda said. "We kind of played around. We made Santa Barbara look good."

Sunday, UMass took another 2-0 lead over fifth ranked William and Mary on two Jolie DePauw goals. William and Mary made it 2-1 just before the half and tied it up early in the second. UMass, again, outshot the opponent, 30-7.

Paul, again, played in goal and did a very good job, Banda said. Paul also played in the Santa Barbara game. Lisa Ellis played against

continued on page 11

•Men lose one, tie one in NJ

By SCOTT HOOD
Collegian Staff

NEW BRUNSWICK, N.J. —

In soccer, the creation of scoring opportunities is almost as important an objective as scoring goals. Rarely without the former do you achieve the latter. With a goal being a rare occurance, many good opportunities can escape before a team hits paydirt.

For the University of Massachusetts men's soccer team, this soccer axiom came true as they failed to score a goal in two games at the Rutgers Invitational, losing to North Carolina-Greensboro 2-0 on Friday, and tieing Rutgers 0-0 on Saturday. However, they did the job in creating opportunities so well that center-striker Kurt Manal, a freshman, was a unanimous choice for the all-tournament team.

"The guy didn't score a goal, but was still named to the team which says something about the respect the other coaches had for him and the team," said UMass coach Jeff Gettler.

UMass actually outshot UC-Greensboro, 14-13, but two second half goals spelled the difference for the reigning Division III national champions.

"They were certainly the best team we've

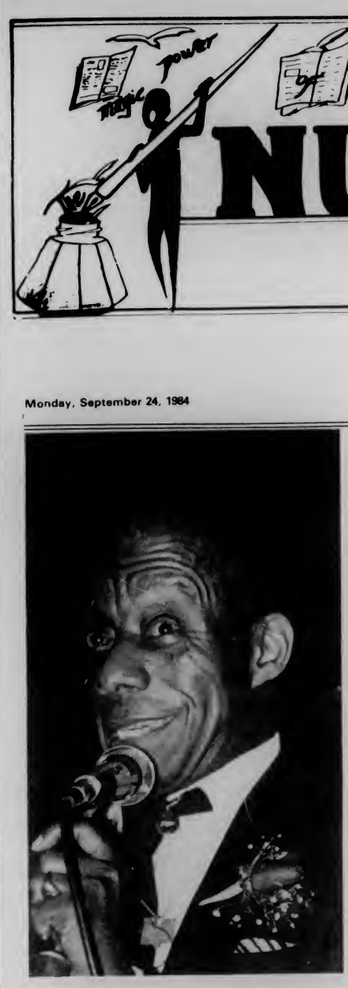
continued on page 11

sports at a glance

UMass Schedule: No sports are scheduled
Inside: complete coverage of all of the weekend's UMass action.

pro scores

NY Mets 6, Montreal 1
Chicago 6, St. Louis 1



NUMMO NEWS

Monday, September 24, 1984 Volume 13 Issue 3

connected with the Collegian for the sole purpose of distribution

James Baldwin delivers message Saturday at a tribute in his honor.

A Tribute to a Living Legend

by Segun Eubanks
Nummo Staff

This past Saturday, the University of Massachusetts was honored with presence of some of the most influential black authors, artists and leaders in America. Their reason for being here was to celebrate the 60th birthday of "a brother, teacher, and friend," "a intellectual giant," "an american original": A tribute to the life of author, playwright and professor, James Arthur Baldwin.

The event was sponsored by UMass Chancellor Joseph Duffey and was attended by such people as Lerone Bennet (author, editor) Maya Angelou (author, poet) Romare Bearden (artist) Dr. Ruth Love (author) Mrs. Baldwin, David Baldwin (mother and brother of James) and many others. The very elegant yet casual atmosphere of the first floor Campus Center provided a backdrop for one of the most exciting evenings in UMass history.

Pat Murphy, the director of 5-college services began the evenings proceedings with the formal announcement that James Baldwin will be back as a 5-college professor in the 1985-86 school year. Baldwin will teach courses in two or three of the 5-college schools and the courses will be available to all 5-college students.

Chancellor Duffey, then announced the formation of a James Baldwin Scholarship Fund which will be available to 5-college students. Donations for the event were contributed to the Scholarship Fund.

Samuel Floyd, Queens College professor and close friend of Baldwin continued the tribute. "James and I have laughed, talked and drank a lot for a quarter of a century," Baldwin has shown America through his writing the plight of the Black man but also "has the courage to change the circumstances." said Floyd.

"James has helped to lead us up the rough side of the mountain. we will always be grateful to James Baldwin," said Maya Angelou in a very poetic speech.

The keynote speech came from Lerone Bennett, author and editor of Ebony magazine. "James Arthur Baldwin of Harlem, of the world has triumphed over the world...This is a celebration of life's victory of a runner who is still in the race, a warrior who's still in the battle of an eagle who is still i n flight," said Bennett in a very moving and exciting oratory. "James Baldwin has transformed the vision of millions who once were blind...He has almost singlehandedly redefined race thinking in this country." Bennet spoke of dealing with the "organic sickness of American society." "We have a tremendous moral responsibility and opportunity here." said Bennett.

The formal tribute continued with short messages from Paul Barrows, Director of CCEBMS, Marily Bou, speaking on behalf of Third World students, and of course Mr. Baldwin.

Baldwin with his gentle manner walked up to the microphone and thanked everyone for joining him in celebrating his 60th birthday. In his soft voice he joked with the crowd, "I will not keep long, now seriously there many, many things I cannot say and many things I do not have the words to say, and many many

Continued on page 2

Lerone Bennett gives a powerful speach in his keynote address honoring author James Baldwin

photo by David Walker

The Controversy Continues: B·M·C·P· vs. W·M·U·A·

by Julian Tynes
Nummo Staff

A major rift has developed between B.M.C.P. and W.M.U.A., over both programming content and air-time. Chris Winslow, B.M.C.P. General Manager and acting Third World Affairs Director says that B.M.C.P. hours have been cut "without any justification." B.M.C.P. member Neil Grant added "that proper procedures were not followed for the allocation of air-time for B.M.C.P. in terms of working with the project on the new air schedule." Winslow also stated "under the constitution they're supposed to work with us."

Many members of B.M.C.P. who have been trying to form a compromise with W.M.U.A. feel the new schedule has been given with a "take it or leave it" attitude. This is evident by the fact that W.M.U.A's original proposal was for 34 hours, and B.M.C.P's was fpr 46. The current schedule calls for 33. This is out of a W.M.U.A. weekly total of 168.

In answering to the charge that B.M.C.P. has not given the station a 24 hour advance notice of a D.J. not being able to fill their slot, Grant says "how are we supposed to give a 24 hour advance notice, if the D.J. calls in 3 hours before his show?" "When this happens we do our best to find someone to fill these slots as quickly as possible."

As for the lack of diversity, all members of the project approached feel that B.M.C.P. definitly adds diversity to W.M.U.A's programming. Winslow says "there are plans being considered within B.M.C.P. for new and different types of programming. Such as more public affairs, black news, B.M.C.P. and sports-talk. With the new schedule it will be difficult to bring about some of these ideas," "but we are going to keep on with our plans."

Ani Benglin W.M.U.A. General Manager refused further comment on the situation.

Lynching: A National Disgrace

Part 2 in a series on the history of the N·A·A·C·P·

by Julian Tynes
Nummo Staff

In 1911, the N.A.A.C.P. launched their initial campaign against lynchings. This campaign against lynchings. This campaign began with an extensive investigation on lynchings in the United States.

The Executive Committee received its first report on a lynching in Livermore, Kentucky. This lynching which occured in April 1911 involved the murder of a white man. The accused was taken to the town's opera house and tied to the stage. An admission fee was charged to those who wanted to witness the lynching and the proceeds were donated to the family of the murdered white man.

The Executive committee appealed to the President of the United States to bring an end to all lynchings in the U.S. A resolution opposing lynchings was sent to the President of the United States, the President of the Senate, and House Judiciaries, and also to the Associated Press. The resolution was delivered by a committee of the Washington branch, which asked the President to send a special message to the Senate and the House in regard to the matter of lynchings. President Taft informed the committee he could do nothing since lynching was not a federal offense and was a matter left entirely up to the states.

In August 1911, Zack Walker a black man from Coatsville, Pennsylvania, was wounded in a fight with a policeman whom he killed. Although he pleaded self-defense, he was taken from the hospital, dragged through the streets by a mob then lynched. After efforts to have the mob indicted failed, the Executive committee hired the Williams J. Burns detective agency to uncover enough evidence for a conviction. The investigation revealed that the district attorney had been involved in protecting the lynchers and the state had decided not to prosecute the case.

As part of the campaign against lynching a lynch map of the United States was kept in the N.A.A.C.P. New York Office, a pin was used to mark each lynching. The lower half of the map was filled with pins.

In the spring of 1916, a lynching occured which sent horror and shock waves througout the United States. The lynching even shocked people not interested in the civil rights of blacks. In Waco, Texas 10,000 men, women and children cheered when Jesse Washington a mentally disabled 19 year old black man was burned alive in the Public Square. Photographs were taken as the events assumed a carnival atmosphere.

The N.A.A.C.P. sent a white investigators to Texas. His findings were published in The Crisis in an 8 page supplement entitled "The Waco Horror." "Washington was dragged through the streets, stabbed, mutilated, and finally burned to death in the presence of a crowd of 10.000... After death what was left of his body was dragged through the streets and parts of it sold as souveniers. His teeth were brought for $5.00 apiece and the chain that had bound 25 cents a link."

In 1916 the N.A.A.C.P. distributed more than 200,000 pieces of literature which pointed out that the U.S.A. was the only civilized country in the world where human beings were publicly burned alive without a trial of any fashion. During 1916, fifty-nine people were killed by mobs. That is more than one a week. In 1917 there were 47 lynchings. It had become so unusual for a law enforcement officer to take action against a lynch mob the N.A.A.C.P. presented a silver cup to Sherriff Eley of Lima, Ohio "for devotion in preventing the lynching of a colored prisoner."

In 1919 Missouri Representative L.C. Dyer introduced a bill designed to make lynching a federal offense. The proposed legilation which was introduced that the request of the N.A.A.C.P. never made it past southern fillibusters in the senate, after passing in the House. In 1918 (the previous year) five men were lynched in one day in Valdosta, Georgia and there were 67 hangings and burnings for the year in the whole country.

Within those thirty years, 3224 men and women had been lynched. In only 19 percent of the cases has rape orother sex offences even been alleged. Although the South justified lynching as a means of "protecting" white women from Black male rapists. Since 1889 only seven states had not had at least one lynching. Ten states had more than 100 a piece, with Georgia topping the list with 386. Most of the lynchings occurred in the southern.

In the study some of the more gruesome lynchings were described. A detailed report of the lynching of Eli Person the Memphis Press stated "15,000 men, women, and children cheered as they poured the gasoline on the ax fiend and struck the match. They fought and screamed and crowded to get a glimpse of him, and the mob closed in as the flames his hand crossed on his chest."

"In another case a mob near Valdosta, Georgia frustrated at not finding the murderer of a plantation owner, lynched three innocent Black men instead. The pregnant wife of one of the three wailed so loud the mob grabbed her and burned her alive too. As the flame enveloped the woman's body her unborn child fell to the ground and was trampled by the crowd.

These cases which were backed up by names, dates, and places were carried in the N.A.A.C.P. booklet on lynching. Some action had to be taken. The N.A.A.C.P. continued to put pressure on the President, Congress and on state politicians to end this national atrocity.

To this day there is still no anti-lynching law in the United States.

EDITORIAL

I am writing this letter to the entire community at UMass, but particularly to Mr. Bill Stephew and Mr. Randy Scollins.

First of all Mr. Stephew and Mr. Scollins have accused BMCP of a lack of diversity in programming. Obviously neither of the two know much at all about Black music nor do they bother to listen to BMCP shows. Maybe they never listened to Lea Loftus' Ecclectric show or Gene Issacs' Reggae show or Chris Winslows' Quiet Touch or my Jazz show or Eon Johns' show or they would clearly find the diversity that they are so desperately searching for.

Ten or fifteen years ago the most popular forms of black music were shown as Soul and Funk. This included James Brown, Aretha Franklin, Parliament, Diana Ross, The Stylistics, ect. This music was also the most frequently played on BMCP, naturally. Today the most popular form of Black music is Urban Contemporary which includes artists such as Run DMC, Grandmaster Flash, Chaka Khan, an d yes even James Brown. This of course, is the most frequently played music by BMCP.

But clearly the racism, bigotry and ignorance that is alive and well at WMUA has clouded these very logical conclusions. Yet Ani Benglian, station manager of WMUA had the naivety to say "Race is not the issue" (Collegian Friday, Sept. 21). I sat in the last WMUA Management Board meeting when Mr. Scallon said BMCP was not diverse, "I want to hear some White Funk." I suppose when Stephew speaks of diversity (Collegian Friday, Sept. 21) he is referring to White Jazz, White African, and White Latino music.

And if you were aound four years ago you would have heard Stephew complaining about too much funk on BMCP. The rap is always the same and the intentions are very clear. If not for the fact that the last WMUA General Manager Carl Lowman did not allow it, these types of manuevers by WMUA would have taken place a year ago.

The real question is whether or not BMCP, The Third World community, and the UMass community as a whole wil allow a few racist, ignorant, narrow-minded individuals to change WMUA into their type of diverse music - all White.

Segun Eubanks

• • • NUMMO STAFF • • •

Segun Eubanks	Editor In Chief
Marilyn G. Bou	Managing Editor
Robert Lynch	Layout Editor
Marc Elliot Giles	Photo Editor
Julian Tynes	Researcher
Lisa Viega	Business Manager
Nina Cordova	Administrative Assistant
Lisa Huff	Typesetter
Judy Russ	Typesetter
David Walker	Photographer

• • • Contributors • • •

Ed Cohen	Photographer
Darlene Jackson	Correspondent
Yadira Betances	Correspondent

Address all letters to the Editor to: Nummo News, New Africa House Room 103

Continued from page 1

things which I have already said."

Baldwin addressed the audience on the importance of everyone taking responsibilites for themselves and the world in which thy live. "you need not civilize me with guns and terror," Baldwin said, "we are talking about a civilization who has the power to blow itself up." Baldwin went on to say, "people are responsible for politics.

The white man brought us here against our will, told us we were uncivilized but not to worry he would civilize us, he does not realize however, that I need not be civilized by people who despise me." said Baldwin. "He (the white man) says he does not want me to break-up his neighborhood, well I would never have had to if he had left mine alone."

The formal tribute ended after Baldwin's elegant speech but the many important messages and strong community sense remained and will remain long after the event is forgotten. Thanks to the James Baldwins, Lerone Bennetts and Maya Angelou's of the world, the messages of peace and love will one day be a reality. Perhaps the feeling was best expressed by Maya Angelou when she said, "we have to have enough love to build bridges and then enough trust to cross them in order to reach each other."

COME WORK FOR NUMMO NEWS

Work-Study positions for reporters available!

Black Uhuru brings excitement to the S.U.B.

by Segun Eubanks
Nummo Staff

Obo Addy makes the music come alive with African rythms.

Jamacian reggae group Black Uhuru and Ghanian Master Drummer Addy brought the cultural sounds and inner feelings of Africa, Jamaica, and Black America to the Student Union Ballroom last Wednesday with two brilliant musical performers.

Obo Addy and his group Kukrudo opened the show with a startling performance of traditional and modern African music. A strong horn section, bass and lead guitars, and an array of African drums came together in unique rythms which many listeners thought similar to jazz.

In a backstage interview Addy said "People say my music sounds like Jazz and it does. This is because Jazz has its roots in African music." He went on to talk about the difficulties of obtaining black musicians and black audiences.

Black Uhuru staged an excellent reggae performance. With lead singer Michael Rose and outstanding musicians. Sly Dunbar, Darryl Thompson, Franklin Bubbler, Sky Juice, and Robbie Shakespere. Black Uhuru proved to be one of the best reggae groups in the music industry.

The only dissappointment was that the tickets were far overpriced and out of the reach of the average student.

Micheal Rose, lead singer of Black Uhuru, urges the audience to participate during the concert last Wednesday at the S·U·B·

photos by David Walker

Alicia Smart performs a solo at the Tribute to James Baldwin, sponsored by Chancellor Duffey.

YVONNE'S PLACE

Monday - Friday
12:30 - 6:30 pm
A sample of treats include:

Fried Chicken
Island Curried Fish
Vegitarian Platter
Fried Rice
Curry

Thursday - Friday
Student Discount Days

Lamb
Shrimp
Beef
Curried Goat
Free Dessert

Basement of the New Africa House
Friday is Soul Food day.
Coffee and Donuts are served daily.
WEST INDIAN COOKING AT ITS BEST!!

SUPPORT YOUR THIRD WORLD ORGANIZATIONS!

ANNOUNCEMENTS

The New WORLD Theater Ensemble is a multi-racial group of 5-college students working together under the auspices of the Fine Arts Center New World Theater. The NWTE provides actors and technicians with performance and production experience. In addition, ensemble members take workshops with visiting artists and select the original productions of the New WORLD Theater. Members of the NWTE have the opportunity to develop their skills in all areas of theater through these workshops and the participation on the plays produced. Last year, the NWTE produced GULLAH! and Do Lord Remember Me in its debut season. All members receive the privilege of attending all New WORLD Theater performances and other selected plays at no cost. Auditions for SHORT EYES by Miguel Pinero, and also a limited number of Ensemble positions are available for male and female actors. We also encourage people with limited experience, who have talent and enthusiasm to apply. The auditions will be held at:

BOWKER AUDITORIUM-
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS
ON MONDAY AND TUESDAY,
SEPTEMBER 24 AND 25
FROM 6 P.M. TO 9 P.M.

CALL BACKS ARE WED.
SEPTEMBER 26 FROM 6 P.M. TO 9 P.M.
FOR INFORMATION, CALL 545-0190

There will be a mandatory meeting for all CCEBMS 1984 Summer students on September 26, at 4:00 p.m. in the New Africa House Library. Please be on time.

CCEBMS

CCEBMS is in need of tutors in ANY subject. All interested individuals applay at CCEBMS, Non-work study and work-study.

CCEBMS students - remember the deadline for tutorial request is Oct. 1st.

EVERYWOMAN'S CENTER at are looking for volunteers and interns to staff the resourceroom at EWC for the fall
University and community woman are encouraged to apply. Interns and volunteers provide information about area services and events, medical and legal referrals, do occasional crisis intervention, and up-date and maintain resource and referral information on many topics of concern to woman

---

SUPPORT FOR GRADUATE WOMAN

WAGES a program at the Everywoman's Center has started a graduate program. Graduate WAGES will address the specific needs of graduate woman through support groups, workshops, speakers, social events, brown-bag lunches, resources and advocacy.
For more information contact Graduate WAGES at EWC, 545-0883

SCERA - An activist organization that won't scare you.

SCERA is a student organization that works with social issues such as sexism, racism and anti-semitism. In addition to this SCERA researchs and conducts campaigns dealing with issues affecting students such as rents and fees, academic affairs, residential issues, ect.

Work-study and non-work study positions are available for students who feel concern about any of these issues and would like to work on them.

Additional information and applications can be obtained at 420 Student Union Bldg weekdays from 8:00 a.m. until 6:00 p.m. They can also be obtained at the offices of CCEBMS, BCP, O.T.W.A. and AHORA. The deadline for applications is September 26.

GREEN PARTY IS COMING TO UMASS

Representatives of the Green Party,the coalition of peace and ecology movements opposing deployment of US missles in Germany will speak on:

THE GREEN PARY AND CURRENT STATUS - OF THE PEACE MOVEMENT IN GERMANY

with speakers:

HILDEGARD VON MEIER, editor of FRIZ, a national peace newspaper, and a major organizer if Women for Peace, and a member of the National Coordination Committee of the West German Peace Movement.

DR. ALBERT STATZ, peace researcher from the Free University of Berlin, and a member of the Green Party's National Peace and Disarmament Committee.

THURSDAY SEPT. 27, 8 P.M. CAMPUS CENTER 174 - 176

sponsored by: S.T.P.E.C, Women's studies, Dept. of Afro-Am, the German Dept, (UMASS); Hampshire College Peace Lecture Series, AFSC Disarmament working group, I.A.S.H.

All women working in student groups are cordially invited to attend a wine and cheese reception, Tuesday,September 25 at 5:30 in the Women's Leadership project, 415 Student Union. For more information please call 545-0254 or stop by.

The Massachusetts Daily — NEW ENGLAND'S LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY

Collegian

Volume CXIV, Issue 82 UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AMHERST (545-3500) Tuesday, September 25, 1984

Collegian photo Derek Roberts

CONCRETE SURFER — UMass student Guy Brooksbank, defying a university edict, skateboards down the Mauro Staccioli sculpture on the Fine Arts Center steps.

Group presses treasurer on S. Africa stock

By RICHARD MARTIN
Collegian STaff

University Treasurer Robert H. Brand has sold the University of Massachusetts stock in one of five companies within the UMass investment portfolio that are suspected of having business ties in South Africa, but a dissatisfied student group is demanding more action.

The five suspected companies — Proctor & Gamble, Foxboro Co., Tektronix, Thomas & Bett, and General Signal Corporation — were named by the South Africa Divestment Coalition (a committee within the authority of the Student Government Association) as having business ties in South Africa. Their net worth as of Tuesday morning is about $330,000.

Of South Africa's 31 million people, 4.5 million whites control the political system in which 23 million blacks have no voice. The United Nations has consistently denied South Africa acceptance into the U.N.

The UMass Board of Trustees adopted a policy in 1977 of not owning any stock in companies who do business in South Africa. By the trustees' authority, Brand is empowered to buy and sell stocks within the University's investment portfolio.

At 2:45 p.m. Monday, Brand received another letter from the students repeating charges originally made on Aug. 20, but this time with what they consider irrefutable sources backing them.

"We've cited all our sources. We've doubled and triple-checked. We feel we have enough for each company and don't see how the accuracy of our findings can be doubted," said Heidi Holland, member of the coalition.

"Hopefully he'll do the socially responsible thing and divest (sell stocks) immediately. Maybe he's still doubting us because we're students. But there's no doubt about the information," Holland said.

Among the sources cited, which Holland said were obtained from UMass libraries, are the Macmillan Press' "Directory of Corporate Affiliations," two corporate directories published by Dun & Bradstreet, "Moody's Industrial Manual," a report from the U.S. Consulate-General in Johannesburg, South Africa, and a list of U.S. businesses in South Africa from the U.S. Department of Commerce.

"At this point the burden of proof that they're not operating in South Africa lies on the treasurer. The coalition has gone beyond the call of duty in researching this for the University," said coalition member David Martin.

Brand released a statement on Friday saying that stock in one of the five companies has been sold. He also said that two of the companies' presidents have sent him letters denying business activities in South Africa. Their stock has not been sold. He had no further comment Monday afternoon.

The Collegian filed a request for the names of the three companies at noon Friday under the Freedom of Information Act. Brand has 10 days, according to the law, to respond to this demand.

Holland said both Proctor & Gamble and General Signal Corporation have subsidiaries in South Africa, and said that they may have been the two companies denying the charges of business activity there. Proctor & Gamble's subsidiary is Norwich Eaton; Leeds & Northrup belongs to General Signal.

"From what I understand, a subsidiary is directly responsible to its parent corporation and any investment in the corporation affects its subsidiaries and other dealings. Therefore, to invest in Proctor & Gamble is also to invest in Norwich & Eaton, and economically support the government's policies," said Holland.

Anti-porn group renews attack on BOG

Cosmoparody removed for economic reasons, says board

By REBECCA THATCHER
Collegian Staff

The removal of Cosmoparody from the University Store solely because it was not selling has left the Board of Governors open to renewed challenges from campus anti-pornography groups.

Cosmoparody was taken off the shelves of the University Store because it cost $3.95 per copy and nobody was buying it, store manager Win Cummings said.

The Board of Governors minutes and a story in Friday's Collegian reported that the magazine was removed because of its offensive nature.

Members of the Ad Hoc Committee on Campus Pornography said the Board of Governors have set a precedent which will weaken the BOG's argument for keeping Playboy, Playgirl and Penthouse in the University Store.

"Last May they denied they had the right to speak for the entire community and set a community standard for decency," said Lisa Trocki, a member of the Ad Hoc Committee on Campus Pornography.

The committee was formed last semester when women and men from various community organizations saw a need to educate the community about the relationship between pornography and violence against women.

The group asked the Board of Governors to request that Playgirl, Playboy and Penthouse be removed from the University Store.

On April 27, 1984, the board voted 18-8 to keep the magazines in the store, leaving the members of the ad hoc committee all the more determined to have them removed.

"I think a lot of women at the University still resent having to walk in the store with pornography in there," said Heidi Holland, an ad hoc committee and women's issues team member.

Board of Governors vice-chairwoman Karina Gray said the board's position had not been weakened because the removal of Cosmoparody had occurred after she had asked the store manager to "consider the content of the magazine."

She said both the Collegian article ("BOG pulls Cosmoparody") and the Board minutes were incorrect in their recording of the action as a Board decision.

She said she asked the store manager to consider the content of the magazine as an individual student and reported the action to the board. She said in order for it to have been a board decision, she would have had to bring the matter to the executive committee and then to a board vote.

"It's a little different from Playboy, Playgirl and Penthouse. It (Cosmoparody) was blatantly derogatory toward women and society in general. One article I saw was on how to seduce a rapist," Gray said.

Store Manager Cummings said, "The only reason the magazine was pulled from the shelves was because it wasn't selling, it was taking up valuable space."

He said there was a big demand for Playgirl, Playboy and Penthouse and Cosmoparody was a "one shot deal — it just came, we didn't order it."

Women's Issues Team member S. E. Chase said she thought the situation could be summarized in economic terms.

"It's a shame when capital takes precedent over human rights," Chase said.

Collegian photo by Pam Madnick

TUNNEL VISION — Four-year-old Tae Woo relaxes at the University of Massachusetts Lab School.

Inside:

Tune void at Union Records Unlimited p.3
Closing the borders to criticism p.5
Who'll be in goal for UM women? p.12

"Today's youth have designer brains."
— Abbie Hoffman, 1984

State Dept. seeks embassy protection

NEW YORK — The State Department disclosed yesterday it is asking Congress to urgently approve another $372 million in emergency funds to improve security at American embassies in the wake of the terrorist bomb that devasted the U.S. Embassy annex in Beirut last week.

John Hughes, the State Department spokesman, said the funds will be used to build and strengthen barricades around embassies, to speed up construction of some new embassies in "high threat areas," to provide armored vehicles and to control public access to certain embassies.

Hughes said the Reagan administration wants the aid approved before the end of the current session of Congress, Oct. 4.

Plans to upgrade security at U.S. embassies was first envisioned in 1979 as a response to mob attacks against U.S. facilities in Pakistan, Iran and Libya. The program called for improving security at 125 sites at a cost of $192 million. Some posts were dropped from the program, which until Monday was expected to cost $145 million.

Hughes announced the aid request after Secretary of State George P. Shultz, attending a United Nations session here, received a report from a team of investigators who probed the devastation of the embassy annex in Beirut and are to make recommendations about how to improve security.

Heading the team was Robert Oakley, the State Department's coordinator for counter-terrorism.

Hughes said the administration has no plans to close its diplomatic posts in Lebanon after the terrorist attack, the third to destroy an American installation in that city in 17 months.

The other blasts destroyed the U.S. Embassy in April 1983 and the U.S. Marine headquarters in October.

Digest

By The Associated Press

AP Laserphoto

Police drag away a protester who tried to block the entrance to a General Electric plant in King of Prussia, Pa. which makes nuclear weapon components. Antinuclear demonstrators were also arrested in Cambridge, Mass.

(See story below right.)

Today's Staff

Night Editor	Ian Polumbaum
Copy Editor	John Yonce
Layout Technician	John O'Connell
Photo Technician	Pam Madnick
Production Supervisor	Ansel Zinter
Production	Peter Forget, BethAnne Moscov, Barbara Crandall, Judy Hayden, Julie Marcinek, Laura Zigman

Dukakis attacks GOP 'bully-boys'

BOSTON — Gov. Michael Dukakis, opening a downtown Mondale-Ferraro political headquarters, spoke out yesterday against the "wise guys and bully-boys" who he says are trying to muzzle the Democratic vice presidential candidate.

"It is very hard for me to believe this is not an organized effort to drown out Walter Mondale and Geraldine Ferraro — and it's not going to work," Dukakis, a staunch supporter of the Democratic national ticket, told a crowd of about 200 volunteers at the new headquarters on Tremont Street.

Mondale and Rep. Ferraro have complained in recent days about a steady drumbeat of heckling and interruptions at their public appearances across the country, suggesting that the disruptions are planned by supporters of the Reagan-Bush Republican ticket.

Frank Conway, co-chair of the Massachusetts Reagan-Bush effort, rejected Dukakis' charge.

"The Reagan-Bush '84 campaign has not organized any of these single-issue groups," he said. "They certainly have the right to demonstrate, but they certainly have no right to interfere with the candidates' right to be heard."

Ms. Ferraro is scheduled to address a large outdoor rally in Boston at noon Wednesday in City Hall Plaza, and her local supporters are bracing for heckling.

Dukakis denounced the Republicans for placing "wise guys and bully-boys" at Democratic campaign events and said they were trying to stifle a full political debate.

"It's not spontaneous," he said of the protests that have dogged Mondale and Ms. Ferraro, but Dukakis provided no specifics on which individuals or groups were responsible.

Police arrest 52 at weapons protest

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. — Nearly 200 protestors, some of them wearing black robes to signify death, joined a worldwide day of arms race demonstrations yesterday and rallied here outside a lab that makes guidance systems for nuclear weapons.

Police arrested 52 of the protestors who gathered in front of the Charles Stark Draper Laboratory, a research facility that designs the guidance systems used in the cruise and MX missiles, and charged them with trespassing.

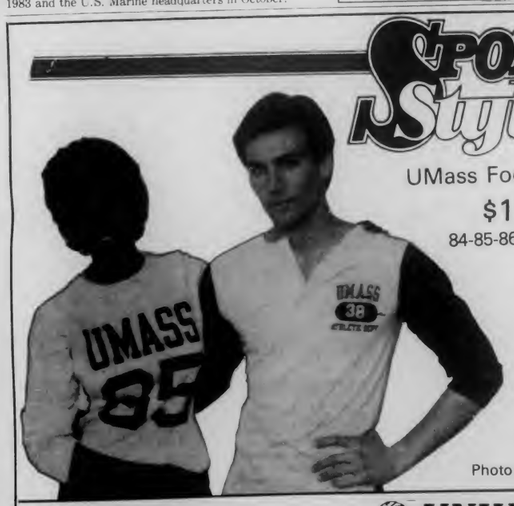
The Cambridge protest coincided with large-scale NATO maneuvers in Europe and demonstrations in Europe and across the nation, organizer Judy Freiwirth said.

Activists marched from Central Square to the Kendall Square lab at 7:30 a.m., then faced 60 riot police who lined the lab's courtyard.

"At least they won't believe now that we like this," demonstrator Lois Hayes said about the lab's work.

No one was injured in the demonstration. "We don't want anybody hurt," Cambridge Police Chief Anthony Paolillo said. "We're not totally opposed to their concerns."

SPORT Style



UMass Football Jersey
$11.50
84-85-86-87 Imprint

UMass Baseball Jersey
$10.95

Josiane M.
John C.
Photo by Dwayne Autery

Open M-F 9-5
Sat 11-4

Located in The Campus Center

UNIVERSITY STORE

MASS. APPROVED INSPECTION STATION
RADIAL TIRE SALE
P155/80R13
$29.95
•Includes Mounting• plus MA State Tax
North Amherst Tire & Auto Center
Full Service Tire Store
78 Sunderland Rd., No. Amherst, MA
Across from Watrobe's Store
549-4704

Rent One of Ours
Car
Truck
Passenger Van
North Amherst Motors
Rt. 63 No. Amherst
549-2880

charlie's
Super Daily Happy Hour
All Week 3-6 pm
2 for 1 Jumbo Drinks (any shelf)
reduced prices on pitchers & bottled beer
Free Munchies
Plus 2 for 1 on Jumbo draft & wine

Super Nightly Happy Hour
All Week 9:30-11:30 pm
2 for 1 Jumbo Drinks (any shelf)
2 for 1 on Jumbo draft & wine

OTHER SPECIALS
Tuesday
8-12 pm Pizza and Beer
$5.95 includes pitcher of beer or carafe of wine & cheese pizza
1 Pray Street, Amherst
Open 11 am - 1 am Daily

Sunday
11-3 pm Bloody Mary pitchers $5.95
6-10 pm Pizza & Beer $5.95 includes a pitcher of beer or carafe of wine and cheese pizza

Do your word processing at
COMPUTER ACCESS CENTER INC.
256-1213
79 S. Pleasant St.
Amherst, MA
See our other ad in this paper.

Collegian photo by Pam Madnick

DON'T BLEAT WITH YOUR MOUTH FULL — Sheep munch out at the Young Stock Barn near Boyden Fields yesterday.

Management, money trouble delays record store opening

By LAURA YEE and LIZ TURNER
Collegian Staff

Budget, personnel and operational problems are delaying the opening of Union Records Unlimited (URU), a student-controlled business (SCB).

For the first time since it opened in 1979, URU currently has no money or employees and has not fulfilled the requirements of the operational plan.

Student Government Association Treasurer John Mooradian said URU cannot find anyone who is interested in the records as well as the business aspect of URU.

SCB's are funded by "liquidation deficits" where money is lended to an organization and paid back through the business' revenues, Joe Sparks, chairman of the SGA budget committee, said.

Sparks attributes URU's problems to lack of student interest and the decline of interest in the market.

"Last year's figures are poor and really telling," he said. "For the end of fiscal year 1984, the amount of the deficit was greater than the amount of money used to sustain student payroll."

"URU was losing 25 percent to every dollar. They would have saved money if URU just paid the students without them working," Sparks said. "We might as well have given the money away to students; we'd have saved money that way," he added.

According to URU financial figures, revenue lost exceeds student payroll by $499.34.

"If people aren't buying records, why should we fund URU? The figures from this past year clearly show there is no market for it," Sparks said.

An employee from the Economic Development Office (EDO) who requested not to be identified said, "we have a very dismal outlook on URU. There's no money to reopen the store and the office may just have the assets (Records) liquidated."

EDO Director Katja Hahn d'Errico declined to comment, except to say it was up to the SGA to work out the problem.

URU has shown its highest revenues during fiscal year 1983, although it has been paying liquidation payments since fiscal year 1982.

According to Kimberly Cohane, former manager of URU during fiscal year 1983, revenues started to decline when the store lost its ticket contract and suffered from low inventory and mismanagement.

"URU's ticket contract served as the means for paying the payroll. Last year, an inventory wasn't taken and therefore records couldn't be reordered," she said. "You can't make money if no one is buying the records you don't have."

Sparks said, "I can't speak for the entire senate but from a financial standpoint, I see no reason in reopening the store."

But Mooradian believes, the chances for URU to reopen are "good, hopefully they (URU) will open in a month."

Collegian photo by Pam Madnick

Due to financial problems, Union Records Unlimited remains dark.

Dalai Lama comes to UMass

The Dalai Lama, religious and national leader of Tibetan Buddhists, will give the keynote address for the Inner Science conference at The University of Massachusetts Fine Arts Center Oct. 3.

The 49-year-old Lama, who was forced into exile in 1959 by the Chinese occupation of Tibet, is on a 44-day tour of the United States.

The conference held at Amherst College, will run for three days starting Oct. 2. The Lama will address all three meetings but only the second will be open to the public. Free tickets will be given in pairs today, tomorrow and Oct. 1 and 2.

The conference topics include psychological theory, cognitive psychology, transcendent insight and tantric psychobiology.

Speaking on universal responsibility, the Dalai Lama said, "We must recognize that all human beings want the same thing we want. This is the way to achieve a true understanding, unfettered by artificial consideration."

Born as Tenzin Gyatso, he was recognized as the Dalai Lama at the age of two. In accordance with Tibetian tradition, he is believed to be the reincarnation of his predecessor, the 13th Dalai Lama.

In 1950, the Lama assumed full political power at the age of 16 when Tibet was threatened by China. Now he resides in Dharmsala, India, the seat of the Tibetan government-in-exile.

Attending the conference will be Professor Bonnie Strickland and Professor Seymour Epstein of the psychology department at the University of Massachusetts. Educators from Harvard University and the University of California will also attend.

— TOM MIDDLETON

Amherst Police to increase traffic regulation enforcement

By PHIL SERAFINO
Collegian Correspondent

Amherst Police say they intend to crack down on motor vehicle violators.

Police Chief, Donald Maia said his force is making a conscious effort to enforce traffic regulations. The force now has one full-time Highway Safety Officer, who concentrates on nabbing errant motorists. This new position stems from the nature of the crimes that usually occur in Amherst, according to Maia.

"I've been a police officer for 26 years. In that time, we've had two murders here, one in 1959 and one in 1967. In that time, we've also had maybe 50 traffic deaths. Where should a police department's activities be" he said.

Maia said that the Highway Safety Officer will be operating on Route 116, Route 9 and Lincoln Avenue this week.

In addition to the Highway Safety Officer, the Amherst police department's Speed and Alcohol Patrol (SAP) operates on weekends. They stopped 64 vehicles last weekend and issued 32 speeding violations, but made no arrests.

Regular patrols did make three arrests over the weekend, two on traffic warrants and only one for driving while intoxicated (DWI). A 21-year-old University of Massachusetts student was arrested Saturday at 11:59 p.m. on South Pleasant Street and charged with DWI.

In other police reports, a 33-year-old Springfield man was arrested Friday by Springfield police for default traffic warrants issued by Amherst police.

A 21-year-old Princeton resident was arrested on North Pleasant Street Sunday on traffic warrants issued by state police in Bourne.

An accident on West Street Friday resulted in a broken leftankle for a Holyoke man when he failed to negotiate a series of steep curves and lost control of his motorcycle. The 1982 Kawasaki fell on his ankle and slid across the road, striking a guardrail before coming to rest. The man was taken to Holyoke Hospital after the 9:49 p.m. accident.

Two Huffy 10-speed bikes, valued at $100 each, were stolen from Village Park Apartments Friday. The theft was reported Saturday.

Student Union art gallery: exhibits on the 'cutting edge'

By DANIEL WHITE
Collegian Correspondent

If your taste runs more towards Dali than DaVinci, the Student Union Art Gallery is for you.

"We like to bring in exhibits that push the concept 'What is art?'" said gallery director Marilyn Copeland.

In addition to being on what she calls the "cutting edge" of art, Copeland likes to have a constant change of shows, often every week.

"We figure our shows are so controversial, we like to get them up and out as soon as possible," she said.

Recent shows have included national and political art, punk art, and video art. Copeland said there will soon be an exhibit on comic book art.

Of the six galleries on campus, the Student Union Gallery is the oldest (it began 20 years ago on the walls of the S.U.B.), and it is the only one that is entirely student run, Copeland said. In addition, it is the only one to deal mainly in student and alumni art.

"We work the other area, the artists who are not on top," Copeland said. These generally fall into three categories: undergraduate art students, graduate art students, and local artists who have been out less than ten years, she said.

"That's what I feel is important about it; it's a community art gallery," she explained.

Marilyn Copeland has a diverse background; she was previously a dress designer, basketmaker, tour guide for winter mountaineering trips, and, most recently, a potter for ten years. She is a graduate student. This is her second year as director of the gallery.

Funding for the gallery comes primarily from the Undergraduate Student Government. However, this year, for the first time, some funding came from the Arts Council in the form of a block grant for all of the campus galleries.

Kayak stolen; Car hits moped

A kayak valued at $830 was stolen over the weekend from The Outing Club's canoe barn, UMass Police said.

A 1972 Pontiac collided with a moped rider at 11:58 a.m. on Friday along Clarkedale Road. The rider was taken to University Health Services for injuries to his feet, left elbow and left knee.

A 1978 Honda Civic had its windsheild on the driver's side shattered Saturday while it was parked in Lot 21 near the Southwest Residential Area. Police estimated damage at $200.

A 12-speed bicycle valued at $160 was stolen from Building 6 in Lincoln Apartments when it was left unattended for 10 minutes.

A knapsack with $48 in cash and goods such as a Sony Walkman and jacket valued at $200 was from an open locker in Boyden Gym Sunday afternoon.

UMass Police arrested two Connecticut men for larceny at 1:39 a.m. Sunday after they took signs and sawhorses in the Campus Center parking garage.

A Ford van used by the athletic department had its rear window and door smashed over the weekend. Damage came to about $75.

A Plymouth Duster's front tires were slashed near parking lot 25. Damage is about $40 per tire.

Two 18-year old UMass students were taken into protective custody by police at 5:29 Su. Police said the men were yelling and screaming in the Southwest Mall near James dormitory.

RICHARD MARTIN

COUPON-COUPON-COUPON

FREE 16 OZ. SODA
with purchase of whole sub.

SAL ADS SUBMARINES TV BLADES
the sub
11 A.M. TO 2 A.M. / 7 DAYS
33 E. PLEASANT ST. AMHERST / 549-5160

The Kick Off
expires 9/30/84

Hypercurricula

VOTER REGISTRATION AT EWC — In order to participate in the November 6th election, you must be registered to vote by October 9, 1984.

As a public service, Everywoman's Center will hold two voter registration sessions for Amherst residents in the lobby of Wilder Hall. These will be held on September 25, 1984 from 10 a.m. — 2 p.m., and October 9, 1984 from noon until 2 p.m. Wilder Hall is located on the east side of Morrill Science Center at UMass and is wheelchair accessible.

For more information please call EWC at 545-0883.

UPC GENERAL MEETING — It's not too late to join! There's still a lot of great concerts coming up. New members always welcome. 6:30 p.m. CC 163.

T'AI CHI CHUAN DEMONSTRATION — Free demonstration of this traditional Chinese exercise practiced for health, relaxation, and vitality. Call 256-1490 for more information. 7:30 p.m. CC 162.

MASSPIRG GENERAL INTEREST MEETING — Join the state's leading student-run, nonpartisan consumer and environmental advocacy group. Projects begin tonight! Refreshments. Bring a friend. Be there or be perpendicular. 545-0199 for more info. 7 p.m. Campus Center 174.

WMLASC GENERAL MEETING — Open to all. Court Cline and Brian Duplisea will give a presentation on the Nicaraguan elections. 6:30 p.m. WMLASC office, 404 S.U.

REPUBLICAN CLUB BUSINESS MEETING — Come help plan future events. Bring ideas. Club members only. 8 p.m. 169 Campus Center.

AURORA PARTNERS INVESTMENT CLUB SPEAKER — Neale Dubkyn, a locally known stock broker, will speak on current investment strategies. Everyone welcome! 7 p.m. SBA 111.

UMASS HISTORY CLUB MEETING — The history club is meeting to make plans for a Sunday, Sept. 30th trip to Old Deerfield to see 17th century American settlers houses. 7:00, Campus Center Room 177.

AMHERST BALLET CENTRE
29 Strong St.
549-1555

Evening classes
10-week courses
starting Oct. 1

Ballet, Jazz, Modern Dance
course fee; $50.00
Registration fee; $2.
Phone to Register

Yellow Sale and SCI-TECH BOOK SALE

On Special Sale Tables located in the Trade Book Dept.

65-90% SAVINGS OFF ORIGINAL PUBLISHED PRICES

Come pick up a stack of high-level scientific and technical books from leading publishers. Our selection ranges through numerous disciplines including physics, chemistry, medicine mathematics, engineering, computers, and more. Your savings range from tremendous 65% to an unbelievable 90%.

THE BEST BARGAIN IN MATHEMATICS

Over 90 of the best books in mathematics At savings of up to 60%

Advanced Mathematical Analysis — Introduction to Algebra — A Course in Universal Algebra — Gauss: A Biographical Study — Algebraic Geometry I — The Science of Programming — Encounter with Mathematics — Mathematical Population Genetics — Applications of Centre Manifold Theory — Deterministic and Stochastic Optimal Control

Sale in Progress

Limited Quantities Available

M-F 9-5
Sat 10-3

Located in the Campus Center
UNIVERSITY STORE

Paul's Shoe Service
Repairs of Men's and Women's Shoes

Put "sole" in your shoes with Vibram and Crepe Soles!

Invisible Soles & Heels
Tennis & Docksider Soles

No. 10, 103 No. Pleasant St., Amherst
(Downstairs)

Shear Delight

Beauty Salon
228 Triangle St.
Amherst

549-1502

COMPLETE HAIRSTYLING FOR MEN and WOMEN

Grand Opening
With This Special

15% Off EVERYTHING!
• Cuts • Perms • Styles • Color
Offer thru 10/6/84 Value to $5.25

Bruno's
- Quality Pizza - Subs - 256-0222
FREE DELIVERY
Monday - Saturday - 4 pm - 2 am
Sunday - 4 pm - 1 am

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian
Founded 1870

Editor in Chief James P. Shanahan

Managing Editor John O'Connell
Business Manager Andrew May
Business Manager Elizabeth Young
Production Manager Mark Roden
Executive Editor Rita Murphy
News Editor Greg Brown
Black Affairs Editor Yadira Betances
Women's Issues Editor Rebecca Thatcher
Arts Editor Christine D. Marini
Sports Editor Peter Abraham
Photo Editor Andrew J. Heller

OPINION

The opinions expressed on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the university unless otherwise noted.

NOW LET'S SEE— WE'LL PUT THE PANTRY BY THE OVEN, THE FRIDGE RIGHT HERE.... OH DEAR, WHERE WILL WE EVER PUT THE ANTI-VEHICLE BARRIERS!?
TOM HALEY Collegian
RONNIE'S KITCHEN DECORATORS INC.
I've just ordered the NEW EDITION OF THE MOST ISLAMIC OF WAR COOKBOOK!

Reagan on US Embassy safety precautions: "Anyone that's ever had their kitchen done over knows that it never gets done as soon as you wish it would."

Free to bee, you and me

Anne McCrory

This column is an open letter to all entomology majors or anyone else who thinks they can help me.

I'm having somewhat of a problem with one of nature's most vindictive species. No, it's not roaches, even though I live in Brittany Manor; spiders have never put me in peril and I don't have enough picnics to let ants get on my case. No, I'm talking about the friend of flowers and the foe of man, the KILLER BEE.

To illustrate my grudge against these tiny but definitely not defenseless creatures, let me explain some of our encounters. One day last week, I was all set to drive to campus when a bee decided to take up residence in my car. Despite coaching, thrashings with an umbrella, a notebook and a hairbrush, the damn thing kept hiding inside the windshield — precipitating, I'm sure, an attack somewhere between South Amherst and campus. Just as I'd decided to take the bus rather than face the bee's unpredictable wrath, my roommate came along with one of those football types; after salvaging the keys I had thrown in the air when another bee began pursuing me, he mercilessly squashed the insect in my car. Though I was a little disturbed over this senseless loss of life — I had sought to remove the bee from my car, not the world — he did, after all, make me look like a fool in front of someone I didn't know. And of the opposite sex, yet.

As if that weren't enough to forever prejudice me against beings perhaps one-thousandth my size, hear this. The little creeps couldn't even let me enjoy one day in the sun unbothered — yesterday, that is. First one bee, then his companions, decided to take pot shots at my head just as the steam that comes out of manholes on campus rendered me defenseless while smoke teared my eyes and the newspaper I was reading went flying around. (These were added nuisances, admittedly, but they worsened the bee situation.) The entourage also took a liking to my can of soda, so I was unable even to relieve my thirst in the threat of militaristic attack. So much for studying outside.

These events, in addition to the frequency with which these creatures pursue me on the Fine Arts Center plaza (they seem to prefer locations without any trees or flowers these days, for some reason) as well as wherever I happen to be, lead me to ponder why they find me so attractive. I have already stopped wearing perfume and never wear green so I cannot be mistaken for a plant, but they are still more persistent for my body than the unattached males after last call at Justin Ryan's. If anyone has any insights into this situation, please let me know.

In the meantime, I console myself with the knowledge that if I remember my ninth grade biology correctly, all bees except the queen die off each year. Maybe, then, their rampages are indicative of their final flings in life — just think what you'll do when it's time — and they are just out to terrorize humans one last time. Whatever their justification, I hope they're enjoying it. And that their cards are up soon.

Anne McCrory is a Collegian staff member.

No import quotas on ideas

Ian Polumbaum

In 1952, when anti-Communist hysteria was at fever pitch, Congress overrode a veto by President Harry Truman and passed the McCarran-Walter Immigration and Nationality Law. Thanks to this law, the State Department can prohibit foreigners from visiting the United States based not only on espionage, criminal records or contagious diseases, but on their ideas.

For three decades the McCarran-Walter act has been invoked periodically to deny visas to international political, scientific, literary and artistic figures critical of the US government. It mandates barring those whom consular officials or the Attorney General believe are "seeking to engage in activities prejudicial to the public interest" or are partial to "the economic, international and governmental doctrines of world Communism."

The Reagan Administration has applied the act especially vigorously. Among those enjoined from entering the country in the past three years are:

— Nino Pasti, a retired NATO general from Italy who has criticized American missile deployments in Europe. He had planned to address anti-nuclear weapons groups in the US.

— Hortensia Bussi de Allende, widow of Chilean President Salvador Allende, who was assassinated when his government fell to a military coup in 1973. She is a member of the World Peace Council, which has been labeled a "Communist front."

— Gabriel Garcia Marquez, Nobel Prize-winning Colombian novelist. Because he once worked for Cuba's official press agency, Marquez has been given only limited visiting privileges since 1971. This year, "for reasons of principle and personal dignity," he decided not to accept the restrictions.

— Guillermo Ungo, an exiled Salvadoran leader; and Tomas Borge, Nicaragua's Minister of the Interior.

To block the free flow of ideas is hypocritical for a government which so stridently condemns this practice in other countries. In the cases of Mr. Ungo and Mr. Borge, the Administration hopes that denied the right to hear first-hand the views of the Salvadoran left and of the Sandinistas, the American public will simply accept the official line that they are enemies of freedom and justice.

In all these cases, the McCarran-Walter Act is a convenient tool for stifling dissent, all the while extolling our country's freedom of expression.

If it is truly needed for national security, then why is it that no other Western democracy has laws which exclude visitors on ideological grounds?

US Rep. Barney Frank (D-Mass.) has proposed repealing the anti-Communist and "detrimental to the public interest" portions of the act. Applicants for visas would then be judged solely on their behavior, not on whether they say things the State Department does not want people to hear.

It would also eliminate untold hassles and humiliation not only for well-known visitors, but for ordinary travelers like two Frenchmen who were interrogated for several hours at the Canadian border because they were carrying a copy of the French Communist Party newspaper.

In a nation which claims to be the vanguard of liberty for the world as well as for its own citizens, it is ironic that this xenophobic vestige of McCarthyism remains on the books.

Ian Polumbaum is a Collegian columnist.

Letters to the Editor

Miss America pageant involves hard work

Yadira Betance's column Friday about Miss America pageants was unbearably ignorant. My advice to her is the next time she writes about something, she should know what she's talking about.

To start off with, Miss America does not go to the Miss Universe Pageant. They are two separate pageants. Where the Miss Universe Pageant is strictly a beauty pageant, the Miss America Pageant is a scholarship pageant involving an intense interview, a talent presentation, as well as poise and appearance. As for the former Miss America, Vannessa Williams, she did not use any sex appeal to win her title, but rather relinquished her crown because of the photos. Sex is not the predominant factor in this pageant, for if Betance's ever met any of the representatives she would find she is intelligent, talented and confident.

I was a local representative in the Miss Massachusetts Pageant last year and hold great pride in it. I put a lot of time into my talent and preparation for the interview. Never once was sex appeal part of my preparation, nor did I ever feel I was being oppressed. A local, state, or national title holder of the Miss America Pageant is an independent woman with poise, confidence, talent and intelligence; A woman who took her talents and used them very wisely.

Lisa Anne Jason
Amherst

The Collegian: a not-so-punctual panacea

I am writing to protest the problems in the circulation of the Collegian. After a morning braving the terrors of algorithms, electric dipole moment, and indeclinable Ukrainian surnames, one needs that wad of grey paper to stare at over lunch, to distract both the mind from thoughts of bestial professors, and the tongue from the taste of the unmentionable monochromatic substances passing over it. Yet whe. do I see when, released from my last morning class, I go in search of this temporary panacea? Nothing but gaping black slots where there should have been stacks of fresh, new-smelling papers. And behind the stand sprawl piles of Collegians dating back to the Civil War, spilling loose copies onto the floor to be trodden on. Now and then some sucker picks one up, naively expecting it to be current. Is it too much to ask that new papers be available by 12:30 p.m.?

Typos, pages of solid ads, and all, it's my paper, right or wrong. Even the Opinion page — though I haven't yet seen any one-sided, myopic, closed-minded editorials by people who are incapable of considering the possibility that they know less than the rest of humanity combined, I expect this uncharacteristic trend to cease once people get back into the swing of things.

Timothy Chrysostom
Sylvan

TONIGHT

KICK OFF LOUNGE

"Everyone Else's Beer Mug Night"

Bring along any other establishments Beer Mug for a

35¢ DRAFT

12 oz. limit

On the Big Screen
CANADA CUP FINALS
Proper ID Required

Corner of Route 9 and University Drive

Unsappy Love Letters

By JON STRYMISH
Collegian Correspondent

LOVE LETTERS
Directed by Amy Jones
Starring Jamie Lee Curtis and James Keach
At the Pleasant Street Theater

Jamie Lee Curtis and Amy Madigan could be young women anywhere discussing boys. One quickly learns that Anna (Curtis) was a big town girl with small town dreams. She has anarchy on her mind but sets out to find a suburban dream lover. This paradox fuels the action of Love Letters.

Oliver Andrew, a 40 year old married pretentious bore, tries to pick her up, and eventually succeeds because he is so sincere. It seems that it is easy for him to be sincere because he is not willing to give anything. Andrew is friendly in a sinister way, but he is the kind of man who has his initials on the wall, and when discussing the difference between paradox and irony tells Curtis that his answer is right and hers is wrong. This, it seems, is easy because her answer was she didn't know. His answer is that paradox is rain and irony is the umbrella.

Anna is forced into her dream and forced to grow up because of the death of her mother and the discovery that her mother had a lover. We are introduced to Anna's mother's lover through a series of unimaginably sappy letters that say things like, "Through you I've known the fullest love of my life", over and over again.

Anna and Oliver (since they are madly in love) are quickly undressed and involved in a series of explicit love scenes that may seem inappropriate to the tone of the movie, but they are done in a far more natural and realistic manner than one would expect.

Fortunately for Love Letters and the audience, director Amy Jones paces the movie so quickly that it stays fun and interesting and never gets sappy, unlike Oliver and old Chesley.

Anna, besides her tragic flaw of needin, a tragic passion, is a passionate woman. In a dream sequence she takes a gun away from her father (who is beating her mother) and kills him. In the dream she is about 6 years old. This dream comes at the end of the movie, but the fire in her eyes and the passion which makes her run can be traced back to her family problems. Anna almost throws herself at Oliver because

Continued on page 7

North American Exchange Opportunities
Join us and learn about:
Canadian Exchange National Student Exchange
University of Puerto Rico Exchanges
Tuesday, September 25, 1984
4-6 PM
804 Campus Center
 Bring a Friend *****

50¢ OFF Maybelline®
MASCARAS
" The Fresh Look "

Sale dates:
9/25 - 10/9

Located in the Campus Center
OPEN M-F 9-5
SAT 11-4
UNIVERSITY STORE

BETA KAPPA PHI FRATERNITY
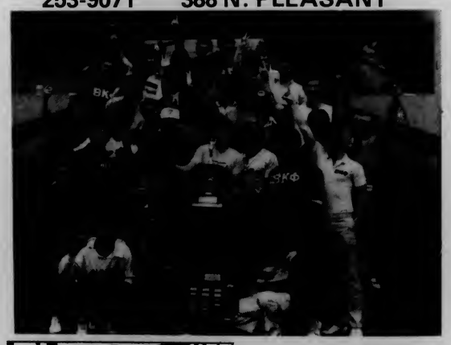
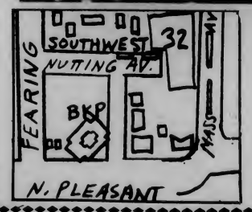
FINAL RUSH, TUES. 9 PM
REFRESHMENTS SERVED.
COME SEE WHAT THE GREEK AREA IS ALL ABOUT.
253-9071 388 N. PLEASANT





- CAMPUS AND GREEK INTRAMURAL CHAMPIONS
- HALFWAY BETWEEN CAMPUS AND TOWN
- ACTIVE SOCIALLY
- MODERN LIVING CONDITIONS

Arts

Muffy tells all

Birnbach's college manual a success

LISA BIRNBACH'S COLLEGE HANDBOOK
by Lisa Birnbach
Ballantine Books, 515 pp.
$9.95

By MARY CRESSE
Collegian Staff

The cover of the 1983-'84 UMass catalog shows a bevy of happy campers circling around a bunch of air balloons on a crisp winter morning.

Upperclassmen, think: when was the last time you saw an air balloon on this campus, much less three of them, or anyone unglowed and bareheaded standing in a bitter Amherst wind and liking it? At dawn, remember. Dawn.

Lisa Birnbach understands. So she wrote her own college catalog. The author of the Preppy Handbook has transcended her homage to Muff and Binky and traveled to hundreds of campuses, seeking all the juicy stuff the booklets won't tell you.

Like how to have a discreet affair with your professor and still get an 'A'. Like how to live it up on Daytona Beach during Spring Break, virginity intact (if such a thing has ever occured...) Or what kind of men and women to avoid in certain dating situations. Or what the school you almost went to is really like.

Lisa Birnbach's College Handbook pegs UMass students as:

•inveterate partiers who love our coke and pot but still consider beer "very important"

•very gay, kind of Greek (separate those two)

•victims of a statewide slur campaign (Awright, Lis! Wanna cocktail?) and •popular among out-of-staters

We're very large, but not huge; we have an increasingly good reputation but we don't make Lisa's superlative list, like, say, U. Texas (Most Swimming Pools in Backyards of Fraternities); Boston University (Most Promiscuous Women); or University of Idaho (Windbreakers Most Popular Article of Clothing).

Now, each school (listed by state, each state having about five entries) has also a two-column blurb followed by a listing of such categories as Political Sentiment, Famous Alumni, Favorite Drinking Game (ours is Hi Bob), etc. Things allowing you to scan the book for hours, figuring out whether your Dad lied about his school being hippie, or whether the girls from Idaho, would willingly shed their windbreakers if they met any Texas guys and where the BU girls fit in — if at all.

So we're not unique. It could be worse. We could go to the University of Wyoming, of all places, where cowboys start drinking at 6 a.m., the MX missile is down the road and "no one seems to care"; on weekends, they "come to class in chaps, and their boots have a lot of shit on them." Really, now.

We complain about the Student Senate and the ulcer-inducing Tuna A La King at the DC, but people there actually go bowling. For fun.

But as acerb as the woman can be, she's also necessarily helpful, throwing in some applicable facts about sex, drugs, professors, money, feminism, homosexuality, sports, drinking, apartment living...all the stuff you'd like to grab your older brother or sister to ask about but can't, because they're not around, not talking...being a total jerk, whatever.

But Lisa won't tell your parents. Promise.

Lisa Birnbach covers the nation's colleges in her new book.

A comic obsession

THE WOMAN IN RED
Directed by and Starring
Gene Wilder
Calvin Theater

By COREY LEWIS
Collegian Correspondent

Gene Wilder's newest film The Woman in Red, is a movie that should not be missed. With Wilder as director, writer, and leading man, the film has his trademark all over it. The entire cast of characters makes the film thoroughly entertaining. The humor is highly sophisticated, the cinematography is extremely well done, and the music composed and performed by Stevie Wonder presents a wonderful soundtrack and is relevant to the film's sincere moments.

What was surprising was the serious theme underneath the film's fast-paced humor. The subject dealt with the male ego and the midlife crisis that waits for all of us. The story involves four central characters; a group of very close knit friends who assume that cheating on their middle-aged wives is all part of their contemporary lifestyles. Gene Wilder (the most naive of the bunch) is the only man in the group that has never cheated on his wife. The thought of cheating had never entered his mind until he met the woman in red.

In trying to contact the woman in red Wilder accidentally reaches a narotic and vengeful Gilda Radner. Radner, who's style in the past jumped out and strangled the audience, is silent for the majority of this role. Radner's pursuit of Wilder brought the audience to a roar.

The woman in red is mostly one big mystery to the fumbling Wilder. He chases his dream girl on everything from horseback to airplanes. She is beautiful, young, and adventerous. The thought of having her comes close to shattering Wilder's family lifestyle. If it were not for the quick and bizarre stories that he and his friends get away with Wilder's family life would be destroyed, and his infatuation with the woman in red would never have amounted to anything.

Wilder and his three friends have a realistic and sincere bond between them. They stick together through all they come across. They parade around town pulling pranks characteristic of a drunken band of twenty year olds, but are far more ingenious. Their care-free lifestyle gets shattered when the biggest womanizer of them all is deserted by his wife. They all pull together to help since the tragedy hits close to home for each man.

The next complication arises when another member of the group has also been exposed as a cheat by his lover. This humiliation takes place in front of the whole group while eating in a crowded public restaurant. His lover makes a scene and dumps all the guy's clothes out in front of the restaurant. The real shocker is that his private life is devulged in front of his friends, and his lover is a man. Once again the friends pull together and the shocking news is immediately forgotten. I have to respect this film for its portrayal of homosexuals. This character is not stereotypically limp-wristed or feminine. The film cleverly introduces this fact and he is treated no differently nor does he act any differently after he is discovered.

The film concludes with Wilder realizing that he is risking his happy home life and that this pretty face is not worth it. After all the lessons that Wilder and his band of outrageous friends have encountered they still do consider the possibility of maturing, but then again the audience is comically lead to believe that this is only an oversight.

A funk Classic

Rick James
REFLECTIONS
Gordy/MCA Records

By FIELDING REINBAUM
Collegian Correspondent

Rick James, master of Punk Funk, has himself one hot disc here. Reflections, a two-part album, is a combination of new releases and funk classics likely to cause a dance floor stampede.

James could not have picked a better opener in "17", his newest smash. The catchy synthesized bass hook sets the tone for James' suggestive lyrics:

She said she read a magazine that said I was a freak,
You'll never know now, little girl, until you take a peek.

Daniel LeMelle's sweet sax lines highlight "Oh What A Night (4 Luv)," a slow soulful number reminiscent of Motown greats; "You Turn Me On," the last of the new cuts, jumps from a Spanish couple's spicy conversation to James' let-it-all-hang-out pleas and back again. A slightly mushy "Fire and Desire" winds down the first side.

The flip side is pure funkin' fun, featuring many of the Stone City Band's biggest hits, including "Bustin' Out", "Mary Jane", "Give It To Me Baby", and, of course, "Superfreak." The horn arrangments really ought to be heard, and there is more than enough beat for the average white male.

Although I am not a fan of "Greatest Hits" albums, an exception must be made here: Reflections packs too much of a punch. Give it a spin, and if you can't find the groove, check your pulse.

★ Love Letters continued

Continued from page 6

she is terrified of ending up trapped in an unhappy marriage like her mother was. The audience will have no trouble understanding Anna's reasons for this.

What makes Love Letters worth watching is Curtis who is both a star and a wonderful actress. Bud Cort, Harold of Harold and Maude, makes an appearance as old time rock and roll DJ who says "music is an obsession." Anna has a choice between two obsessions, music and Oliver: she can only have one. We hope for Music, she hopes for Oliver, and at the end we are satisfied because she has "failed."

Dinner Specials

Tuesday 2 for $8.50
Wednesday meal exchange night
Thursday 2 for $11.00
Friday 2 for $14.95
Saturday 2 for $12.95
or 2 for 14.95

selected menu items for each nite are now available at special prices!

TOP of the CAMPUS
RESTAURANT & LOUNGE
11th Floor • Campus Center • UMass

Paloton Sports
5th Annual Fall BICYCLE SALE
2 Weeks Only Sept. 8-22

Clearance Savings
Up to $100.00
on all makes and models

Paloton Sports
"An Autumn Tradition"

Every Bike we sell now comes with Lifetime Warranty, 30 day Free Tuneup, Brake & Gear Adjustment for 1 year.

$99.95
Royce Union 10 Spd.
• Lugged Frame
• Shimano Rear Cluster
• Solid End Front Fork
Great around campus!

Bikes From $100.00-$200.00

	Now
Raleigh Marathon	$149.95
Peugeot P6	$179.95
Schwinn World	$154.95
Schwinn World Sport	$189.95
Lotus Challenger	$199.95
Ross GT II	$169.95
Raleigh Sportif	$139.95

Save as much as $50.00

Bikes $200-$350.00

	Now
Schwinn Letour 15 spd.	241.95
Schwinn Traveler	219.95
Lotus Unique	329.95
Miyata 210	269.95
Lotus G.P. Luxe	219.95

Just a Few Samples

All Terrain Bikes

	Now
Raleigh Tamarack Reg. 329.00 SALE	279.95
Peugeot Canyon Express Reg. 468.00 SALE	458.00
Lotus Pegasus Reg. 489.00 SALE	439.00
Raleigh R2500 R4500 BMX R5000	$25.00 Off

Bikes $350-$1000.00

	Now
Lotus Supreme (Campagnolo) 995.00	Now $889.95
Lotus Comp. (Campagnolo) 649.00	Now $574.95
Lotus Eclair 409.00	Now $369.95

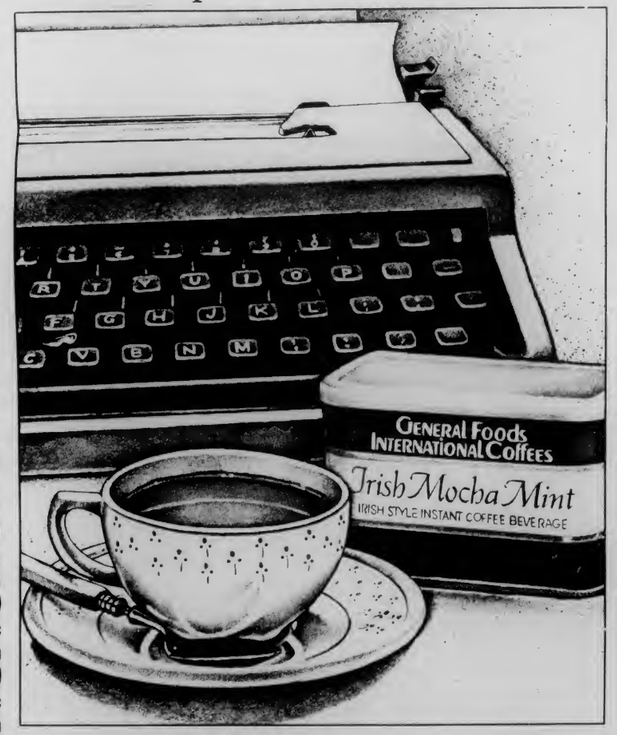
These prices on in stock items only!

Paloton Sports
AMHERST • 1 E. Pleasant Street / 549-6904
NORTHAMPTON • 15 State St. / 584-1016
GREENFIELD • Mohawk Mall / 773-5572
Hours 10-6 Thurs. 10-8 Open Sat. & Sunday Easy Parking All Locations
* Add $4.00 For Mixte and 27" Frames
Ask about our New Guaranteed Lowest Pricing on Parts and Accessories

PERSONALIZED STYLE HAIRCUTS
$7.00 (with this coupon)
$10.00 with Shampoo and Blow Dry
$11.50 Long Hair
Please Call for an Appointment
Expires 9/30/84
Styles by Deborah
55 University Drive
Amherst MA 549-5610
FREE CONSULTATIONS

OOPS!
Now's the time to call...
North Amherst Motors
Rt. 63 No. Amherst
549-2880
Expert Repairs & Reconditioning

How to procrastinate tastefully.



Pour yourself a cup of Irish Mocha Mint. Chocolatey, with a hint of mint, it's a delicious way to postpone the inevitable. And it's just one of seven inspired flavors from General Foods International Coffees.

Available at:
University Store

GENERAL FOODS INTERNATIONAL COFFEES
AS MUCH A TREATING AS A FLAVOR.
©1984 General Foods Corporation

CARROLL TRAVEL
OF AMHERST
Low Fares of the Week
From Hartford, Bradley Field
TO:
TAMPA- $89.00
WASHINGTON DC - $49.00
MIAMI - $89.00
OAKLAND - $148.00
above fees are one way subject to availability & certain restrictions apply
call 256-8931 for details
Located on Cowles Lane off No. Pleasant St.
Amherst

BUENOS DEALS
20% Off Appetizers and Dinner!
Take a break from the books without busting your budget. Present this ad for a 20% discount on appetizers and dinner at GuadalaHARRY'S.
It's HARRY'S way of saying welcome to college students. Make it your way to enjoy the best Mexican food South of the Charles River — at the best prices North of the border!
Buenos deals at GuadalaHARRY'S.
Limit of 2 guests per coupon.
(Offer expires Oct. 19, 1984)
May not be used in conjunction with any other discount or promotion
20 Clinton Street, Boston
next to Quincy Market
720-1190
GuadalaHARRY'S A Great Mexican Place.
©1984 Mexican Foods of America Inc.
9/8/25 UM

Bloom County
by Berke Breathed

SON, YOUR MOTHER TOLD ME THAT, FOR MY BIRTHDAY, YOU WERE BUSY IN HERE TRYING TO ERASE ALL TRACES OF ME FROM THE FILES OF THE I.R.S..
TAP TAP
WOW, AS MUCH AS I APPRECIATE THE GESTURE, I CAN NOT ALLOW-- TAP! CLICK! BEEP!!
BLIP!
EVEN THE BREATHTAKING POLITICAL, PHILOSOPHICAL AND RELIGIOUS IMPLICATIONS OF THIS ARE OVERSHOT BY THE BREATHTAKING IMPLICATIONS OF EXPLAINING THIS TO MOM.

Underfoot
by Joe Bradbury

HEY, CEDRIC, WHAT ARE YOU DOING INSIDE THAT GORILLA COSTUME?
I'M THE MASCOT FOR THE LACROSSE TEAM... LISTEN
GO UMASS! RAH! RAH! RAH!
INSPIRING, BUT THE GAME FINISHED AN HOUR AGO.
ACK!! I'VE GOT FUR IN MY MOUTH

Gorde
by Gorde

SIR, NANGO NEEDS A PSYCHIATRIST NOT A "POOF"
THAT'S POOF-THE ONE AND ONLY MAN WHO CAN HELP HIS POOR SOUL
EEP
POOF-IS-NOT-IN-RIGHT NOW AT-THE-TONE-PLEASE-LEAVE-YOUR...
C'MON, DON'T GIMME THAT POOF, PEEL UP IT'S PINK
BAM BAM BAM
FINK!! HEY, JAKE! WHAT'S UP?
HEY JAKE, YOU LOOK TERRIBLE
HE'S IN LOVE AND HE DOESN'T KNOW WITH WHOP CAN YOU HELP HIM TO WISE AND MIGHTY?
PROBABLY. JAKE ZAMBUKA?
EEP
NO ZAMBUKA? NOW, THAT'S REALLY SICK!

The Lab
by Law

AH VEGEE, BACK FROM THE FILM. DID YOU ENJOY IT?
IT'S WEE-GEE AND NO.
W L, WERE TI E ANIMALS REALLY SCARED?
THEY STILL ARE!
WAGH!
G-D CAN BE A VERY TERRIFYING EXPERIANCE!

Yeasthead
by Jason Talerman

What makes your mind work?
viscosity
motor oil?
Yeastheads mind: a box of sand and a thin beam of light.
What about reflection?
erectile tissue
Nutty, wild, swinging, symbolism!
Hobbies, friends?
I know I have to get a job too cool ...or utterly insane.

Ultra Mass
by E.L.M.

We find the party Animal in his room with a few friends.
You Guys are Dorks! Me Want PIZZA!
Ask Frank Perdue
SURE,
SOME POOF STUFF
DOUGH-Breath
PLOP
AND A Smelly Daiquiri & Snail on Top!
A Little SAUCE
Yummy!
Comic Pizza... open 24 hrs. Free, fast service ... If you want a slice HAUL YOUR LAZY CARCASS OVER HERE!!! and ask for Pantini Animalini
Paid for by U Mass Inventive Food Services

DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE
Edited by Trude Michel Jaffe

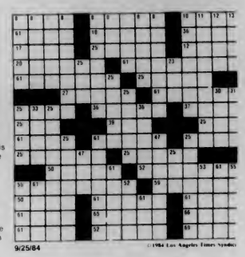
ACROSS
1 Rock group from Sweden
5 Fictional elephant
10 Legal tender
14 Very, in Verdun
15 In solitude
16 Exchange premium
17 Creeks
18 Light-colored
19 Ballot
20 Collect, as condensation
22 Sad
24 Stormy birds?
26 New Zealander
27 Chinese weights
29 Open square in Italian towns
32 Mimics
35 Ignoramus
37 Claim
38 "Le ——d'Or"
39 Call on the range
40 Importune
41 Talk up
43 Tap
45 Scrutinize
46 Helix
48 Entreaties
50 Relating to a pope
52 Autocrats' relatives
56 Traveler's respite
59 Harness ring
60 Journey
61 Harden
63 Shamrock country
64 River near Paris
65 Chart a course
66 Days of ——
67 US citizen
68 Entertains
69 Cinch

DOWN
1 Set ——
2 Former fiancee
3 —— of burden
4 Classifies
5 Talked too much
6 Everybody
7 Time of growth
8 Region in cen Vietnam
9 Official delay and bother
10 Coarse tobacco
11 Hurtful
12 Window part
13 Consecrated
21 Fed. agcy
23 Louis XIV, e.g.
25 Decline
28 Quidnunc
30 Fervor
31 Angel, in France
32 Book of the Bible
33 One of a ship's decks
34 Counterbalance
36 "How ——you!"
42 M*A*S*H role
43 Servile
44 Wavers
45 Fish hawks
47 Gi's address
49 Gynt's mother
51 Slow, in music
53 Beteigeuse's constellation
54 —— cotta
55 Declivitous
56 Portico in old Athens
57 Edge the hedge
58 Parisian byways
62 Soak, as flax

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

T	A	B		S	T	A	G	S		S	T	R
O	T	O		O	R	L	O	P		L	E	A
G	O	D	H	U	M	O	R		E	N	T	E
A	L	T	O		S	A	D	E		E	D	E
S	I	T	E	S	T		N	E	R	V	E
		S	T	N	G		L	E	A	R	I	A
A	R	E	A	S		O	I	S	I		N	E
B	I	N	G		B	A	S	E	D		E	N
E	D	D	O		O	D	O	R		L	A	S
O	E	S	I	T	O		F	E	W	E	R
		O	I	M	A	I	N		A	T	T	E
	T	A	D	I	S		L	E	A	R		E
H	I	T	R	E	S		C	A	L	M	S	D
A	D	I	T	E	O		O	R	D	E	R
M	E	A	D	E		S	T	A	R	I	S

9/25/84



Doonesbury's BACK!
BY G.B. TRUDEAU

Beginning Oct. 1 in this newspaper.

© 1984 G.B. Trudeau/Universal Press Syndicate

D·C· Menu

LUNCH
Shrimp Cantonese
Tacos

BASICS LUNCH
Vegetable Taco
Shrimp Cantonese

DINNER
Barbecued Chicken
Sirloin Strip Steak/
Mushroom Sauce
BREAD AND SPREAD BUFFET

BASICS DINNER
Baked Stuffed Pumpkin
Barbecued Chicken
BREAD AND SPREAD BUFFET

GREAT BIKE GIVEAWAY

WIN A FIRENZE 12 Speed Bike

one bike to be given away

bike is on display in our Sporting Goods Dept.

OFFICIAL CONTEST RULES

1. To enter, complete the official entry form and bring it to the store. Enter as often as you wish by using only original entry forms. Enter by Sept. 27, 1984 to be eligible.
2. The winner will be selected in a random drawing on Sept. 28, 1984.
3. Employees of the University Store and their families are not eligible. Taxes on the prize are the sole responsibility of the winner.

BICYCLE BONUS

Register to win a FIRENZE 12-SPEED BIKE. Fill out the coupon & return it. No purchase required.

NAME

ADDRESS

PHONE

Located in the Campus Center

UNIVERSITY STORE

Open M-F 9-5
Sat 11-4

TUESDAY

RACK-A-VIDEO ENTERTAINMENT

presents

- Giant Ten Foot Screen -

Video Music D·A·N·C·E Party

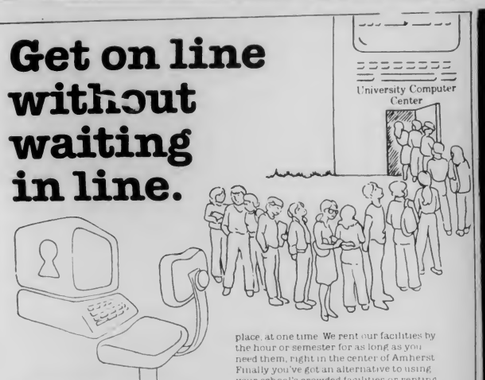
Experience our new menu.

• Latest Video Releases •
• 9 til 1 •

THE PUB

15 E. PLEASANT ST./AMHERST, MA
413-549-1200

Get on line without waiting in line.



"Unbelievable!"

It's not bad enough doing endless hours of homework for your computer courses. To make a tough situation worse you've got to plan on spending precious time standing in line every time you want to get on line. And your odds on getting a print out by the time you need it are about as good as getting seats to a Michael Jackson concert.

That is, of course, unless you do your computer homework at the Computer Access Center.

16 chairs, no waiting!

The Computer Access Center is a unique workspace that offers everything you need to do all of your computer work, in one place, at one time. We rent our facilities by the hour or semester for as long as you need them, right in the center of Amherst. Finally you've got an alternative to using your school's crowded facilities or renting a terminal for the whole semester.

The Access Center has it all. 16 workstations fully equipped with computers and terminals, complete modem systems that allow you to tie in to Cyber VAX or any other mainframe that you have the access code for, on site letter quality and dot matrix printers for instant print outs, and experienced and knowledgeable computer pros always on duty to help you.

Of course, the best part is that at Computer Access Center you don't have to waste precious time standing in line. Now you can plan ahead and reserve time on a terminal that will be waiting just for you.

So what are you waiting for? Call today and see for yourself how easy and inexpensive renting time on a computer can be.

COMPUTER ACCESS CENTER INC.

ON SITE HOURLY/SEMESTER RENTALS 256-1213

79 South Pleasant Street, Amherst MA (in left rear of Peter Pan terminal building)

Mon.-Thurs. 9 am-11 pm, Fri. 9 am-6 pm, Sat. /Sun. 10 am-6 pm

2 FREE HOURS OF COMPUTER TIME!

Call today, mention this ad and use one of our computers for two hours at no cost!

Offer good during business hours Monday through Friday until October 15th.

Know the Score... Read the Sports

BOSTON GLOBE - SPORTING NEWS - N.Y. TIMES

Red Sox, Yankees, UMASS Minutemen, Celtics, Patriots, Bruins, Whalers

Located in the Student Union
Open M-F 7:30 am - 10 pm
Sat - Sun 8:30 - 10 pm
the Mini Store

MOLLY'S

ANTIQUE & VINTAGE CLOTHING
THE CARRIAGE SHOPS
233 NORTH PLEASANT ST. MON-SAT 10-5
AMHERST, MA 01002 413-549-6446

PUT US TO THE TEST!

LSAT · GMAT · GRE
MCAT · DAT
GRE PSYCH · GRE BIO
MAT · PCAT · OCAT
VAT · TOEFL · SSAT
PSAT · SAT
ACHIEVEMENTS · ACT

- Permanent Centers open days, evenings, weekends.
- Complete TEST-N-TAPE® facilities.
- Skilled instructors and dedicated, full-time staff.
- Homestudy materials constantly updated by Research Experts.
- Low Hourly Cost.
- Transfer privileges to over 120 locations.

NATIONAL MED BOARDS
MSKP · FMGEMS
FLEX · NDB · NPB
NCB · NCLEX-RN
CGFNS · CPA
SPEED READING
ESL INTENSIVE REVIEW
INTRODUCTION TO LAW SCHOOL

CLASSES FORMING NOW!
LSAT
GRE
GMAT

Stanley H. KAPLAN EDUCATIONAL CENTER
TEST PREPARATION SPECIALISTS SINCE 1938
In New York State: Stanley H. Kaplan Educational Center Ltd.

CALL DAYS, EVENINGS & WEEKENDS:
358 N.Pleasant
549-5780

HUGHES

THE JOURNEY HAS BEGUN

An impressive technological journey began over three decades ago at Hughes Aircraft Company. Today, with more than 90 diverse technologies ranging from sub-micron electronics to large-scale systems, you'll find Hughes people forging new discoveries, new futures.

Become part of the Hughes tradition of technological firsts, if your degree is in Electrical, Mechanical, Manufacturing or Industrial Engineering, Computer Science, Physics, Electronics Technology.

Requirements may vary. Check with your placement office about Hughes company-wide opportunities at any one of 12 Southern California locations and Tucson, Arizona.

Or contact Hughes Corporate College Relations Dept. NC, Bldg. C2/B178, P.O. Box 1042, El Segundo, CA 90245. Equal Opportunity Employer. Proof of U.S. Citizenship Required.

Hughes representatives will be on campus October 9
See your placement office for an appointment.

HUGHES AIRCRAFT COMPANY

"★★★½★. Everything is brilliant." Kathleen Carroll, N.Y. DAILY NEWS

"An exceptional work. With her stubbornness and sincerity she reminded me of a young Katharine Hepburn." Rex Reed

"Judy Davis is the gutsiest young woman to win our hearts since Katharine Hepburn." Judith Crist

ANALYSIS FILM RELEASING CORPORATION

September 25, Campus Center 101
7 and 9 PM Free
Sponsored by the Women's Leadership Project and the SGA.

DELTA ZETA
Sorority
11 Phillips Street
OPEN RUSH
Tuesday Sept. 25
7:00 - 8:00
All University Women Welcome
Call Delta Zeta
253-9916

ON CAMPUS

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIED

Monday - Thursday 8:45 - 3:45 • Friday 8:45 - 2:30 • Cash in advance • 5 consecutive days 5% discount
• 10 consecutive days 10% discount • 15 consecutive days 15% discount • phone number free

ADVERTISING

Advertise FREE in the RIVER VALLEY AD. Advertise items you want to sell or buy. Call 532-9498

APARTMENT FOR RENT

2 bedroom apt on bus rt. for rent located in North Amherst. Rent is $386+ call DH Jones 549-3700

APPLE COMPUTER FOR RENT

Apple II available for $250 or best offer for this semester. Pascal is included. Call 256-1841. Ask for Ruthie

AUTO FOR SALE

Dodge customized Van '77 engine in gd running order, carm int call 549-4892

1976 Datsun 710 runs well, body fair. $500 584-5884 evenings

1973 Super Beetle exc. cond. in/out. Rebuilt engine, radials, heater, very dependable. $1500 call evans./weekends 586-2192 keep trying

1971 Chevelle Malibu runs good needs some body work. $400.00 call 549-1629

74 Mustang excellent condition 73000m $1100 call 549-4716

1974 Toyota Corolla Wagon - runs. $150 call 256-1421

BOLTWOOD PROJECT

The last recruitment meeting is this Wednesday, 7:00 pm in CC Rm. 917 credit available. Come find out more!

ENTERTAINMENT

VIDEO VIDEO VIDEO VIDEO Rack-A-Video entertainment giant 10 and 15 foot screens for dorms and Greeks. "MTV" video music call 549-7144

WICKED AND WILD DJ's audio and visual entertainment for the 80's 584-6712

For the best in dance music call 5 College Sound 586-0240 or 586-7689

UMASS SKI CLUB

Information Meetings - Sept. 24, 5:00 pm in Public Health Aud., Sept. 26, 4:00 pm in CC Rm. 917 and at 7:00 pm Hamden DC. Join now and be part of the tradition!

MASSPIRG

General Interest Meeting on Tuesday, 9/25 7 pm CC 174. No Booze! Projects start tonight: water quality in Amherst, hazardous waste, voter registration and more! It's fun, so come! Refreshments

Rack-A-Diac Rack-A-Video entertainment guaranteed events for Disc Jockeys, Bands and Video. Call 549-7144

FOR RENT

Refrigerator Rental 2 cubic ft R & P Package Store free delivery 253-9742

1 bdrm in Puffton starting Nov 1 $318 per month. call 549-4716

One and two bedroom apts. On bus route cats okay. All utilities included. Wmsburg 268-3624 584-3095

FOR SALE

'79 Dodge Omni. A/T, AC, 4 door, many new parts, good condition $2000 or BO 549-0381

TERMINAL & COUPLER. MUST SELL $360 CALL 548-8269

2 Deed Tickets Hartford, Mon. Oct. 15 good seats section 102 464 for pair 253-5607 keep trying

COMPUTER TERMINAL for sale. DEC VT55 with handicap option. Like new. Very good buy. $475! 548-8994

Apple II +, 48k, disc drive, Epson printer, software, word processor, DB, Vaicalc, Pascal, games, $1,150, 586-1421

Bicycle 20" Penseonic 10 speed 25 lbs high tensile tubing $135. 549-8180

Brand new 3000 series RAL speakers never used totally crankable $300 or best offer 549-8351

FOUND

Michele Soltysik your wallet is at the Campus Center lost and found

Girls YMCA Jacket Orchard Hill area can be claimed at Fisher Lab or call 545-2258 ask for Ron

Found ladies watch in Grad Tower 9/19 call 6-8602

HAPPY BIRTHDAY

Nancy, Susan & Jane Hey Guys, what can I say late as usual but it's the thought that counts. Go wild! This year is going to be great! I love ya all, The Slob

HELP WANTED

Montreal Weekend Party Nov. 2-4 $68 includes RT transportation from your campus, 3 says 2 nights hotel in DT Montreal. Welcome Party all taxes and tips drinking age 18 optional. Bruins Montreal tickets call today. Eric 549-5017

Part-time jobs - perfect for students! Get experience, get paid... for political work. Hazardous waste clean-up, energy issues, voter education. Mass Fair Share is building a part-time staff in public education and fundraising. Hours 5-10 PM. Flexible schedule $60 - $120/wk. Call 586-8713

Enthusiastic Students to apply Asst. to the Speaker/Student Senate. Work on student/campus/social issues. Experience w/in SGA helpful, but not necessary. 10 hrs./wk., $3.35/hr. For more details call 545-0341. Pick-up applications in rm. 420 SUB. Application deadline Oct. 1, 4:00 pm. SGA is an AA/EOE

The Student Center for Educational Research and Advocacy is hiring undergrads to learn political organizing & student-interest research skills. SCERA also has positions for a writer/editor, resource center staff person and for the anti-racism team. 10 hrs./wk, $3.35/hr. Work study & non-work study. Applications at 420 Student Union. Applications due 9/26. SCERA is an AA/EO employer

Auditor needed. SGA Treasurer's Office must be able to analyze and apply financial information. 10-15 hrs./wk. $3.35/hr. Workstudy or non-workstudy. Applications in 407 Student Union Building. Deadline September 27 at noon. AA/EOE

Exotic Dancers wanted full or part time 4 to 12 hr 247-5682

Newspaper Deliverers needed on campus. No car necessary. Good pay. 7 days a week 1 hour/day. Call evenings 253-7008

Groundfloor opportunity, reliable, ambitious salespersons wanted for home party plan. Attractive pay scale. $50 bonus possible 256-8005

Work for your meals as a housepersons. Eat homecooked meals prepared by full time cook. Call Jim H at 545-2150

AIDE 3 day week. Monday, Wednesday, Friday, to work in educational/vocational program with moderately disabled teenagers. Challenging and inspiring work for the right person. Psych. education experience preferred

AIDES Full-time, part-time, for a full range of Special Education Programs in South Hadley/Granby area

SUBSTITUTES - For programs, High School diploma minimum, experience desirable. $25.00 day

Send resume and cover letter to Administrator of Special Education 36 Hadley Street, South Hadley, MA 01075 AA/EOE

Artist needed for Southwest Assembly, average 5 hrs/wk. Apply now. 545-0960

Work study position available for Secretary/Typist of SWAG, 8 hrs/wk. Apply NOW! 545-0960

GOVERNMENT JOBS $16,559 - $50,553/year. Now hiring. Your area. Call 1-805-687-6000 ext. R-9616

INSTRUCTION

Know your car. Basic Automobile Workshop. 28 hours including classroom and shop. Limited enrollment 253-2098

I am looking for a Spanish Tutor who would be willing to work with me one night a week for 2 hours ($5 an hour) and tutor me in Conversation Spanish. Please call 253-9414 ask for Dare

IT'S BUDDY'S B-DAY!

Bud - You're 25 yrs. and 17 months today! Happy birthday! Love from Sunny Sow Deerfield from Jenny and the Reemers

LOST

Cap gray Irish Tweed lost Wednesday please return to Mariane 546-6300 or lost and found

Blue wallet around NOPE. Keep money, desperately need indentification. Ken 586-6378

Reward $25 for information resulting in return of stolen mobile parking decal #20020, need license plate # and make of car displaying this decal. 584-6670 eves

MOTORCYCLES

1975 Honda CB360T 16800 miles, recent tuneup, new tires, chain, battery last year. $475/BO 549-0437

PERSONALS

Bill, Rocky, Dorenn, Joe, Kathe, and the Human Hot Fudge Sundae Queen: Get psyched for Tuesday - the MASSPIRG General Interest Meeting! We've worked hard and I'm proud of you! Love, Teresa

Happy 20th Birthday Lis! Now you'll have to retire your fixed ID! Go bonkers Love Kara

Charlie Money: Happy 20th Pumpkin! Now we can go out and show this state how to dance! Lots & lots of it, XOXOMB

Jenny, Sara, Suzanne, Donna, Tia, and everybody who made this weekend great (especially Tuck) Thanx! Love Kim

DO YOU WANT YOUR YEARBOOK?
Support the INDEX or you will not have one!
Stop by 103 CC or call 545-0848
Let the SGA know your opinion!

CONTACT LENSES REPLACED Most brands $20. 425 Dr Spencer University Drive 256-8561

Don & Neil - 3rd short Mackimmie we'd like to get to know you better interested? two girls from Mackimmie

RABBIT

Free dwarf bunny, very cute, quiet, and litter trained. He needs a good home. Call, after 4:00, 546-5366

SERVICES

ATTENTION STUDENTS For all your typing and word processing needs — term papers, dissertations, resumes, etc. — call Elite Business Services 783-1732

TYPING - Southwest - 48 hr notice required. $3/page call Lisa 6-8366 after 6 pm

TRAVEL

COUNCIL TRAVEL/CIEE USA's #1 Student/Budget Travel Agency. Free Catalog, call (617) 266-1926 or write, 729 Boylston St. Suite 201, Boston, MA 02118

WANTED

Female to share large bedroom in Townehouse call 549-4686

I need a skateboard! Call 546-6322 if you have one to sell or know where I can get one, John

Sports

There will be a meeting for anyone interested in being a manager for the UM men's basketball team on Wednesday in the second floor conference room in Boyden Gym at 7 p.m. Call 545-2610 for more information.

Tough decision

One's good, the other's better
Banda to pick a starter soon

Sophomore Lisa Ellis is competing with...

...Jeanne Paul to start in goal for UMass.

Sophomore goalies Ellis and Paul fight it out

By GERRY deSIMAS
Collegian Staff

Lisa Ellis and Jeanne Paul have a lot of things in common.. They're both in the same major, physical education, are scheduled to graduate in the same year, 1987, are roomates and very good friends.

They both also want the same thing. To be the staring goalkeeper for the second ranked University of Massachusetts women's soccer team.

But, both don't want this to ruin their friendship. "We try not discuss it," Ellis said. "We don't take our soccer home with us."

Paul said, "We discussed it before school started. Our friendship is more important than soccer or whose starting. It doesn't pass into the room."

The two split two Minutemen victories over Plymouth State (5-0) and 19th ranked Keene State (2-0) with each goalie playing a half in each game. Ellis has made six saves, Paul three.

"I'm not thrilled with spliting games," Paul said. "It's easier to come in at the start of the game. I rather see us play a whole game."

That was coach Kalenkeni Banda's plan for last weekend's Cortland Tournament, when UMass faced three Top 20 teams, the University of California Berkley, ranked third, Williiam and Mary (5th) and UCal Santa Barbara (18th).

Ellis played in UMass' 2-2 tie with UCal-Berkley while Paul anchored a 1-0 win over UCal-Santa Barbara and a 2-2 tie against William and Mary.

"This tournament will give us a indicator who has the talent to play," Banda said." I would like to keep the same goalie in there to have some continuity. Both of them have to prove it, someone has to shine.

"Ability wise, they are very close. We're looking for a game player. One that will go out and win some games for us," he said.

The Minutewomen, ranked first in New England, face 10th ranked Brown Wednesday night in Providence.

Last year, Ellis started the season as the number one goalie but was replaced by Paul in the NCAA tournament, as UMass took third place.

Sports Information photos

Lisa Ellis, poised in goal, wants to start for the UM women's soccer team.

"It really is a difficult choice for Banda to make," said teammate Sue Bird. "You get used to hearing a goalie behind you. Switching could get to be a disadvantage."

"They have both gotten along well since the beginning of last year as freshmen," said Bird. "I was amazed. I thought there would be a lot of competition."

There is.

"If he (Banda) feels that Jeanne should start over me, fine. It will make me want to work harder to beat her out and get the starting position," said Ellis.

Paul notes, "Whatever happens on the field, we'll still be friends off of it." She also said she would work harder if not chosen to start.

"It is the best position on the field. You have a lot of responsibility if you can do it and do it well. You know the team is counting on you," said Paul.

"It's nice to pull through for them," she said.

And pulling through for the Minuteman is an opportunity that both women want to do on a regular basis.

The sports editor and UM football have problems

Peter Abraham

The University of Massachusetts football team, in the words of their head coach on Saturday, not me, was "just plain awful" against Holy Cross on Saturday.

So far they've beaten Ball State, a Division 1 school in the nation this season. The outlook, with powerful BU, UNH, URI and Connecticut on the schedule, is not rosy.

So why am I a marked man?

Saturday night I went to Justin Ryan's to watch Boston College finish off its slaughter of North Carolina. While sitting at a table in the Kickoff Lounge, my friend Nancy came up to me and whispered, "there's so and so (a football player), he's pretty pissed about what you've been writing about the team. He doesn't like you."

The player in question is considered small at 6-1, 260. Lucky me, and I'm sure he's not alone in his murderous thoughts.

But what am I supposed to do? The coach tells me, in no uncertain terms, "We're not doing the job, the players aren't executing." The statistics show that the offense is scoring 15.2 points a-game, the defense is allowing 22. The opposition goes on fourth an 11 at UMass' 30, "because we knew we'd score anyway," according to their coach.

Johnny Most I ain't. I'm not about to glorify UMass simply because I'm the editor of the school sports section. Read the Hampshire Daily Gazette. Their editor wrote a story entitled "'UM needs better players" yesterday. Hell, I'm lenient.

I'd like nothing better than to see UMass win all the rest of its games win the Yankee Conference and reach the Division 1-AA playoffs. That wil not happen. In basketball, the same holds true. I'm rooting for the Minuteman, but when I sit behind a typewriter I have to be truthful.

So give me a break, not literally, would ya guys?

On the basketball scene, forward Skip Connors, a senior, has left school for the fabled Scotland Pro League according to sources in Boyden The 6'8, 195 pounder from Southboro transferred from Manhattan College and after a solid 1981-82 season, saw little playing time.

Way to go Ho. Horace Neysmith is featured on the front of the Minutemen basketball schedule card. The co-captain along with Donald Russell looks pretty impressive.

The reverse side reveals that Holy Cross is no longer on the schedule. Non league opponents include New Hampshire, UConn, University of Hartford, BU, and Northeastern. In December, UM travels to Nashville (home of junior center Tom Emerson) for the Music City Classic against Vanderbilt, Clemson and Columbia.

The three point line should be well within the range of freshman guard Matt Ryan this season. The 6-4 off guard from Long Island has impressed the Boyden pick-up crowd with his shooting touch from the perimeter.

Where have you gone Solly Hemus?

Hail to the Redskins despite the early season setbacks

John Nolan

I don't mean to ruin anyone's Superbowl party, but contrary to public opinion, I don't think the season is quite over for the Washington Redskins. For the past few weeks, my Redskins and people like myself have been showered with criticism as to the team's poor performance on the field.

Yes, their token pass defense has been laughable, and yes, the team has lacked intensity. But keep in mind, the season is young. Underneath their recent slump is the same winning ballclub struggling to break loose. The same ballclub that has won 35 of its last 40 games, including a ring of its own.

Why do I like Washington? Simple. When I was seven my family returned from Japan to D.C. At that age, I'd never heard of any other team except the Cowboys, but on my block no one liked the Cowboys. Fearing physical beatings, I opted for the Redskins.

Washington is still led by last season's MVP Joe Theisman and John (National Rifle Association) Riggins. Sports broadcasters have suggested that Theisman, 35, is entering the decline of his career and that Riggins already has. I disagree. In fact, in the coming weeks, look for a rejuvinated Riggins and the Theisman of old. Theisman recently decided to put an end to his press catching remarks and concentrate on his profession. Good idea. I just hope interviews aren't a prerequisite to a successful quarterback.

Big questions for the team from Capitol Hill are pass defense, the age of "the Hogs" and whether Riggins' legs can last.

The only remedy for the Mack truck leak in the secondary is for head coach Joe Gibbs to pull everyone off the line of scrimmage and put them in the end zone. The "Hogs" are still moving the defensive line back, but with their increasing age, the coaching staff might have to look for some new piglets. Riggins too, is aging, but like every season he's starting slow. By mid-season I'm sure he'll be bruising some unlucky free safety forced to tackle him in the secondary.

No doubt the 'Skins have problems. Unlike much of the league however, the problems only run skin deep.

As seen against the Patriots on Sunday, the Redskins demonstrated their ability to control both lines of scrimmage. For not only was football's Red Sox unable to move the ball on offense, but their defense is still probably out at Sullivan stadium hauling in the tents they erected.

As per game plan, Washington simply fed the ball to Riggins, allowing him to eat up 140 yards rushing plus most of the clock. It's no wonder the Patriots couldn't put points on the board.

I'm confident that come the New Year, my team will return to glory.

Sports at a glance

UMass Schedule:
There are no sports scheduled for today.

pro scores

Cubs clinch!
Chi. 4, Pitt. 3

The Massachusetts Daily NEW ENGLAND'S LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY

Collegian

Volume CXIV, Issue 82 UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AMHERST (545-3500) Wednesday, September 26, 1984

PGA, others may lose funds; senate votes tonight

By BOB BURGESS
Collegian Staff

In direct contradiction to campus and student government policies on discrimination, the University of Massachusetts-Amherst Student Government Association's (SGA) Budget Committee passed a motion Sunday barring fund distribution to sexual preference groups.

The motion, which would cut funding from the Student Activities Trust Fund (SATF) to the People's Gay Alliance, the Lesbian Union, and other groups, is expected to be voted down tonight by the Undergraduate Student Senate.

Budget Committee chairman Joseph Sparks, who was the dissenting member at Sunday's meeting, said yesterday the senate "will no doubt rescind" the action.

The original motion, according to a statement issued by Sparks Monday, failed before the full four member body. But due to the absence of one of the members during a reconsideration of the vote, it passed 2 to 1.

Both the SGA and the UMass-Amherst campus have policies forbidding discrimination based on sexual preference.

As recently as last spring during Gay/Lesbian Awareness week, Chancellor Joseph D. Duffey said the university would not "tolerate" discrimination based on sexual preference. Duffey had the university policy changed to inlude that stand.

Sylvan area vice-president and SGA Budget committee member Michael Oduro, who sponsored the motion, said yesterday that he "knows of a lot of groups that should be funded", and feels sexual preference groups are not among them.

"My argument is that there are academic groups that could be getting this money," Oduro said. "Why don't we use the SATF money for university-wide purposes, rather than for those who represent a very small part of this campus."

Oduro suggested that groups such as the Accounting Association the Anthropology Club and Communications Club receive some SATF funds.

PGA member David Carney said that gays and lesbians "are students like everyone else, trying to graduate,and remain a part of everything at this institution."

"I would like to stress," Carney said, "That this is an embarrassment to student government because they are supposed to be working for the whole student body".

The PGA, since its inception 15 years ago, has been a recognized student organization, and has received funding from the SATF.

Budget Committee member Al Loomer said he voted to bar SATF funding to sexual preference groups because he felt these organizations "should be self-supporting, autonomous bodies".

"The people I've talked to do not want to support funding to groups which do not support them," Loomer said.

This is, to PGA's Carney, one of the problems which his group encounters "when dealing with ignorance and social myth."

photo by Kathy Jordan

KING FROG — A frog sits on a magazine photo of Seattle, Washington, towering over the skyline, Tuesday at the Campus Pond.

Students required to pay health fee

By SEAN CASEY
Collegian Staff

The director of University Health Services (UHS) said that all students must pay for the Supplemental Health Benefits plan to ensure that students have insurance for off-campus hospitalization, Tuesday night before the graduate Student Senate.

Dr David Kraft said that before the new requirements, between seven and ten percent of UMass students had no hospitalization insurance other than the University's required basic health plan. The Basic Plan covers only hospitalization and referrals done at Health services, Kraft said.

The Supplemental fee can be waived if students turn in a waiver form stating that they have other hospital insurance, Kraft said. Graduates carrying less than five credits and undergraduates with less than six are also exempt.

The policy was approved at the Board of Trustees' June meeting and was announced to students in their University bills.

Kraft said a communications mixup resulted in most graduated students' not finding out about the fee until they arrived at school.

Kraft said that early figures would indicate that Supplemental rate among students is running at about 40½ roughly the same as it was before the requirement.

The Supplemental Benefits plan covers students throughout the year. The total cost of the supplemental ($135 per year) and UMass mandatory health fee ($93 per semester) comes to $321. This covers 80 percent of off-campus hospitalization costs and full pharmacy and ambulance costs.

According to Kraft, last year's plan for Blue Cross/Blue Shield subscribers cost $680 a year and did not include pharmacy and ambulance costs.

Kraft said that the fees for the Supplemental plan are put into a fund which may not be used to pay any other bills at UHS. Any surplus from the fund is used to lower the cost of the plan next year, or battle inflation. The fund is also insured in case it should ever run out in "an exceptionally bad year" Kraft added.

Kraft added that costs for a comparable Supplemental health plan at Amherst or Hampshire Colleges costs $160 and $200 per year respectively, compared to UMass' $135.

Demand high for campus parking space

By KATHY HART
Collegian Correspondent

The demand for parking space in the central area of campus, including the Campus Center garage, is far greater than the supply, a parking office official said yesterday.

"The problem is everyone wants to park right in the central area of campus and there just aren't enough spots to go around," James Lee, parking coordinator, said.

"There is no easy answer as long as more people keep bringing up there cars and expecting to get a spot in the central part of campus," Lee said.

There are 950 spots in the Campus Center garage and 450 spots are reserved and sold to students by the month or semester.

One hundred students waited in line at 8 a.m. Monday to purchase a monthly sticker to park in the basement of the garage, Lee said.

"No one wants to park in P-lot and have to walk a mile to get to the Campus Center when there are closer places to park," said Amy Reichard, a senior Communications major.

Lee said many parking spaces are available in the peripheral lots (P-lots) located near Alumni Stadium.

P-lots were developed about ten years ago to limit parking in the central area of campus, Lee said. People were to park their cars in P-lot and use the bus shuttles to campus, but campus policy on this issue hasn't been adhered to, Lee said.

Last week, the Campus Center garage was full by 11 a.m. each day, Lee said.

"I'm angry because I paid for a sticker to park in the garage and had to be turned away because the garage was full," senior Nancy Freedman said.

Lee said the garage was unusually crowded last week due to a conference.

"There was a large conference. I don't know who the group was but they took over the garage," he said.

Lee said it is standard procedure for a large conference to notify the parking office in advance. Last week the office wasn't notified and people showed up parking in the garage, Lee said.

"Measures are being taken to assure that it doesn't happen again," Lee said.

Inside

Man to walk over 11,000 miles..... pg 3

An insulting SGA motion..... pg 5

Men's and women's soccer in action. pg 12

"What though youth gave love and roses, Age still leaves us friends and wine."
—Thomas More

UM studies year-long walk around U.S.

By JOEL COFFIDIS
Collegian Correspondent

Researchers at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst and the UMass Medical Center in Worcester are studying the effects of an 11,600 mile walk around the United States on one man.

Robert Sweetgall, 36, of Newark N.J., is the subject of the study. He is walking about 32 miles each day, and will do so for the next year. He began his trek in Newark on Sept. 7.

"We're using the latest technology that science can provide for extensive testing," said Dr. Robert Katch, chairman of the exercise science department at UMass, Amherst.

"The exercise science department is officially joined (in this project) with the medical school at Worcester," Katch said.

The school is studying the medical aspects of the walk, while the exercise science department is working with the physiological aspects, he said.

Sweetgall is walking the equivalent of the perimeter of the United States, 11,620 miles.

"We monitored him prior to his start. He was out of shape," Katch said.

Sweetgall will stop his walking at intervals and come back to Worcester for testing.

Continued on page 3

World and National News

Moscow calls proposal 'groundless'

AP Laserphoto

Konstatin Chernenko

MOSCOW (AP)-The official Soviet news agency, Tass, on Tuesday rejected Prediident Reagan's assurances of a U.S. desire for arms cuts as "absolutely groundless," and the top Kremlin leader charged the White House has no real desire for better ties with Moscow.

"The president tried to present in a somewhat modified form the self-same policy aimed at further aggravating international tension, achieving military superiority and interfering in the internal affairs of other states," Tass said.

The Tass report and a speech by Soviet President Konstantin U. Chernenko made clear the Soviets are not retreating on major East-West disputes, despite milder U.S. rhetoric and Reagan's scheduled meeting Friday with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

In a speech to the jubilee meeting of the 50-year-old Writers Union, Chernenko renewed charges the Reagan administration is responsible for what the Kremlin calls an increased nuclear war threat.

Chernenko, in his first major speech since last spring, also charged that Washington is conducting psychological warfare against the Soviet Union. He also exhorted Soviet writers to join the "ideological struggle" and issued new warnings that those who "blacken" the image of the state won't be tolerated.

"The grim truth of the present international situation is such that the nuclear threat is, regrettably, great. One cannot hide from it nor turn it into a joke," Chernenko said in a possible reference to Reagan's much-publicized quip about bombing the Soviet Union.

Ferraro 'boosts' Boston today

BOSTON (AP) - With leaflets, sound trucks and telephone calls, local Democrats put our the word on Tuesday: Geraldine is coming to town.

Needing no further introduction in this Democratic stronghold, Rep. Geraldine Ferraro was expected to draw an enormous throng at City Hall Plaza in downtown Boston when she addresses an open-air rally at noon today.

"Her presence here today should boost the ticket here in Massachusetts," said James Borsey, press secretary to Gov. Michael S. Dukakis.

"Since Massachusetts went into President Reagan's column in 1980, we don't take the state for granted. Every little bit helps."

Dukakis, who is not a candidate for anything this year, will share the podium with Ferraro on Wednesday as the leader of the state's Democratic party and an enthusiastic booster of the Mondale-Ferraro ticket.

Dukakis and his wife, Kitty, also plan to greet the New York congresswoman at Logan International Airport when she arrives at mid-morning. Plans call for Ferraro to make a quick visit to an industrial training center in south Boston, where she will talk with former welfare recipients who have found paying work in the private sector through Dukakis' Employment and Training Choices program.

"It's a good, solid Democratic program that works," said Betsy Houghteling of the state Division of Employment Security.

Drug, alcohol use brings strict action

QUINCY, Mass. (AP) - Students using drugs, or drinking on school time should be hit with strict disciplinary measures that send "a strong message" against drug and alcohol use, state educators were told Tuesday.

The recommendation was made by a special study committee in a report to the Governor's Statewide Anti-Crime Council, and was presented to the state Board of Education at its monthly meeting here. The committee was made up of professionals in health, drug, education and law enforcements fields.

The report recommended that every school develop a drug and alcohol abuse disciplinary code that is seperate from school rules governing other behavior, and have the code in place by next September.

At the junction of Routes 9 and 116

NOW IN HADLEY!

MUFFLERS • BRAKES • EXHAUST
STRUTS • SHOCKS • MORE

TRUST THE MIDAS TOUCH FOR VALUE

FREE

New England Road Map

Just drive in for a free inspection of your vehicle's exhaust, muffler, brakes, struts, or shocks. No appointment necessary: we're ready when you are!

FREE WRITTEN ESTIMATES

NORTHAMPTON
143 King Street
586-4840

MIDAS®

HADLEY
Junction Rtes.
9 & 116
586-9991

AP Laserphoto

ON FIRE — Mass killer Charle Manson was doused with a flammable liquid and set afire Tuesday by a fellow inmate, who Manson threatened over religious beliefs, prison officials said.

Today's Staff

Night Editor	Gerry deSimas
Copy Editor	Taara Eden Hoffman
Layout Technician	Peter Soderberg
Photo Technician	Paul Desmarais
Production Supervisor	Peter Soderberg
Production	Karen Darr, Dode Levenson, Chris Meagher, Fran Weinberg, Lynn Nigro, David Hazeltine, Mike Christ, Mark Roden,

ROSH HASHONA
Services

Wed. Evening	7:30
Thur. Morning	10:00
Thur. Evening	6:30
Fri. Morning	10:00
Fri Evening	6:30
Shabbat Morning	10:00

All Services followed by Festive Holiday Meals

Chabad House
30 North Hadley Road
opposite Whitmore next to Southwest at U-Mass 253-9040

Rosh Hashanah, the Jewish New Year begins at sundown

By RONDA APPLEBAUM
Collegian Staff

The Jewish holiday Rosh Hashana, which marks the beginning of the Jewish New Year, begins today at sundown.

Rosh Hashana is the first day in the 'Ten Days of Repentance.' During the repentance days, Jews reflect on the "wrong" they have done the past year.

Rosh Hashana and Yom Kippur, the Day of Judgement (Oct. 5) are the holiest days in the Jewish calender.

On Rosh Hashana the "shofar", a ram's horn, is blown as part of the religious service. Rabbi Saul Perlmutter of UMass's B'nai Brith Hillel said that there are several reasons why the shofar is blown.

One is because of the story in the Old Testament where Abraham was going to sacrifice his son, Issac. Just as he was about to sacrifice him, a ram got caught by its horns in a bush. Abraham sacrificed the ram, which was a sign from God, and spared his son.

The ram's horn has become a symbol of Abraham's faithfullness and is a reminder that God doesn't want human sacrifice, Perlmutter said.

For people who have had disagreement over the past year, the Days of Repentance are a time in which they make up so that they can begin the new year with a clean slate.

Yom Kippur is the last day of repentance. Jews observe it by fasting and attending religious services.

"There are approximately 3100 Jewish undergrads on campus, maybe even more," Rabbi Perlmutter said.

Religious services will take place in the Student Union Ballroom, today through Friday. There will be a Rosh Hashana service today at 7:00 pm. Services will also be held on Thursday at 10:am and 7:00 pm.

On Friday October 5, Kol Nidre services will take place at 7:00 p.m. Yom Kippur services will take place on Saturday October 6, at 10 a.m. At 3 p.m. there will be a discussion and reading of the Book of Jonah. Ne'ilah, the closing service, will take place at 5:30 p.m. A Shabbat Shuva service will be held on Friday September 28 at 7:00 p.m. in Dukes room of the SUB.

Collegian photo by Paul Desmarais

ALL AT ONCE NOW — Geoffrey Feldman finds juggling an interesting way to enjoy Tuesday afternoon's sunshine.

PVTA bus collides with car; Amherst sees other crashes

Amherst police reported that a PVTA bus and a car driven by an Amherst woman collided on College Street Monday morning.

No one was injured and no citations were issued.

The woman's car sustained minor damage after striking the bus, which had just pulled out of Amherst College.

Two University of Massachusetts students were injured in an accident at North Pleasant and Hallock Streets Monday night, police said. They were treated for minor cuts at Cooley-Dickinson Hospital in Northampton and released.

A Sunderland man refused medical treatment for cuts and bruises after he lost control of his motorcycle at Chestnut and Cottage Streets early Tuesday morning, police said.

An accident on Meadow Street, Monday resulted in minor injuries to a Northampton man after his car hit another vehicle driven by a 20-year-old Cambridge woman, police said. The woman was cited for not possessing a license and failure to use care in starting, police said. The man was treated and released from Cooley-Dickinson Hospital.

A camera, checkbook, and a small amount of cash were reported stolen Monday from a woman's purse on North Pleasant Street, police said.

A Huffy bicycle valued at $80 was stolen from a Lincoln Avenue home Monday, police said.

-PHIL SERAFINO

Collegian photo by Paul Desmarais

ATTENTIVE — Mike Kalin, right, listens to instructor Darrence Hill with keen interest in the basement of the New Africa House Tuesday afternoon.

Program supplies companions

Area college students are finding that they can really make a difference in a young person's life through the Companion Program in Amherst.

The program is currently under the direction of Maria Spears. It began in 1975 in response to a need for children and adolescents to have a one-to-one relationship with adults outside of their families and school environments.

Volunteers are students and adults, 18 or older, living in the surrounding area. The participants are people between the ages of 3 and 22, the majority from single-parent homes.

The program requires volunteers to commit themselves for a minimum of nine months. Volunteers meet with their companions for three to five hours, once or twice a week.

Susan Connell, a member of the Companion Program staff, said, "We try to match the volunteers with companions that we think would be most compatible. Right now, there are about twenty-six matches. We are looking to match about ten more."

She said that after a match has been made, the program staff keep monthly contact, by phone or meetings, with the volunteers and the parents involved

Students benefit from the program as well as their companions. It gives them the opportunity to establish a relationship with someone outside of their school environment and it serves as a break from the pressures of studying and classes, Connell said.

Parents or students who are interested in finding out more should contact Susan Connell at the Companion Program, located at the Bangs Community Center in Amherst.

-PAMELA SEAVEY

NEWSLINES...

Anti-Nuke film shown by Freeze Voter '84

The political action arm of the National Campaign for a Bilateral Nuclear Weapons Freeze, will be sponsoring the free showing of the controversial Academy award-winning film If You Love This Planet on Thursday, Sept. 27, at 7:30 p.m.

Freeze Voter '84 is a coalition dedicated to the election of a pro-freeze President and Congress. The group has already been instrumental in nominating the democratic Congressional candidates, Ed Markey, Chet Atkins, and Gerry Studds, all advocates of a nuclear Freeze, according to Eric Johnson, the coordinator for Western Ma. Freeze Voter '84.

The Reagan Administration labeled this film as foreign propoganda, but was ultimately unsuccessful in its attempts to prohibit its showing in the United States, Johnson said.

The film features Dr. Helen Caldicott, peace activist and author of Missile Envy and Nuclear Madness. Caldicott is former president of Physicians for Social Responsibility, a group advocating a nuclear freeze.

The film will be shown at the Unitarian Society on 220 Main Street, Northampton.

-TAARA EDEN HOFFMAN

EWC needs interns

The Everywoman's center in Wilder Hall needs interns.

Areas needing interns include resource/referal, budget, against violence against women, counseling, public relations/outreach, wages, working women's and Third World women's programs.

People interested in developing skills in these areas should call the Everywoman's center at 545-0883.

Training or Practicum credits are offered through the University and other area colleges.

Greenfield moose on the loose

GREENFIELD, Mass. (AP)-A wayward moose found wandering along Interstate 91 north of the Greenfield rotary woke up in the woods Tuesday with a wicked headache.

"He's one sick moose this morning," said state Natural Resource Officer Thomas P. Ricardi, who put the moose to sleep with a tranquilizer dart late Monday night and then rode with him in an open truck to a release point about five miles away off Route 2 in Shelburne.

State wildlife officials believe the moose is the same one seen in the area several times since Sept. 10 in Bernardston, about 10 miles north of Greenfield.

Ricardi speculated that the moose strayed far from home, probably Maine which has a stable moose population, because it might have ear mites, which can disorient the animals, or that it might just be young and restless.

Ricardi estimated that the moose was a 2 year old an adolescent in moose terms and weighed about 800 pounds.

The moose was first reported to Greenfield police at 7:15 p.m. Monday by a caller who said the animal was headed toward the rotary.

For more than two hours, police and natural resource officers stalked the moose along the dense brush between I - 91 and a road just north of the rotary.

Continued from page 1

"We're going to be measuring him eight times during his walk," Katch said. Sweetgall will have his metabolism tested, as well as his physical abilities, Katch said.

"Sweetgall will be given a physical exam, x-rays of his feet, monitoring of his lungs and heart and testing on the treadmill for two hours," Katch said.

After testing at UMass Medical Center on Oct. 12, Sweetgall will come to Amherst for testing on his body fat content and strength, Katch said.

"We're going to be measuring him eight times during his walk," Katch said. Sweetgall will have his metabolism tested, as well as his physical abilities, Katch said.

"Sweetgall will be given a physical exam, x-rays of his feet, monitoring of his lungs and heart and testing on the treadmill for two hours," Katch said.

After testing at UMass Medical Center on Oct. 12, Sweetgall will come to Amherst for testing on his body fat content and strength, Katch said.

"We're going to take high-speed motion pictures of him," Katch said. "He is going to take 20 million steps," he added.

Sweetgall, a former chemical engineer for Dupont, quit his job to promote fitness.

"He's being sponsored by Rockport Shoes and Gore-Tex, which makes athletic clothing," Katch said.

The study on Sweetgall's walk will take a year to complete he said.

Letters to the Editor

We have nothing to lose but out apathy

Saturday, I participated in a peace march in Boston and as I think over the days events I can't help but contrast the power of commitment that the marchers exhibited with the political apathy present at UMass. Political apathy is a dangerous thing and we must not be foolish enough to let it get the better of us. There are many who do not become involved because they feel underqualified to judge adequately the political stances of each candidate on all the issues. But, each of us does not have to know everything about every issue to get involved. Rather, each of us must find out as much as we are able and then each must contribute in some way, however large or small, to our democratic process. We must take the time to care about the world around us and ourselves. The presidential elections are a perfect opportunity to do this.

We are not asked to know, only to care and to try to know. If we don't do this we will lose, because of our own apathy, the privileges which we hold so dear.

David Nauss
Central

BOG not responsible for magazine removal

The Collegian article yesterday concerning the Board of Governors needs clarification. On September 14, in conversation with Winn Cummings, manager of the University Store, the subject of the magazine Cosmoparody arose. As a concerned citizen, not a BOG representative, I asked Mr. Cummings if he was familiar with the magazine. Mr. Cummings replied that he had not yet examined it, but he would over the weekend. Removal of the magazine was not requested.

On the following Monday, Cosmoparody was removed from the University Store, according to Mr. Cummings, based upon an economic and space rational. The content of the magazine was not the issue. This does not set a precedent in reference to the pornography issue addressed by the Board last semester. It is impossible to associate the Board of Governors with the removal of this magazine as of no formal proposal had been requested.

Karen-Karina Gray
Amherst

EYE ON THE BALL
EYE ON THE BALL
EYE ON THE BALL
EYE ON THE BALL
YOU'RE NOT KEEPING YOUR EYE ON THE BALL, MR MONDALE. NOW LET'S TRY IT AGAIN...'

UMass Students have their deadlines too

In the last few weeks, the meaning of Financial Aid(Services especially), has eluded me. I have heard and have experienced first hand situations such as this: getting a "...this is you third notice..." in the mail, when I had never received the first two. Finding out that the reason the Pell Grant wasn't processed was because tax forms weren't received. Of course that may have been because they never asked me for them. BUT, in fact a form for this WAS filed, only my mother signed the wrong line before she left for New Jersey. When we gave it to the person behind the counter I asked the clerk if it was correct and they said yes and accepted it.

Now for some questions: Shouldn't the clerk have realized that the form was incorrect? Granted, They actually had to read two lines before they could have known this, but none the less, it should have been a possibility. But today, I was told the reason for this was because, "We deal with so many different forms..." No doubt. But, we the students do as well, yet WE are expected to do them correctly. The University sets its deadlines (March for F.A. forms) and we must t meet those. But students have deadlines too, rent, food, and utility bills, would it be appropriate for the University to try to meet these deadlines for the STUDENTS?

When does the University receive F.A. from the government ? Is any interest made on this money until it is actually meted out ? I ask this because I don't see any effort by the Financial Duress Services to expedite the allocation of funds to students. The University works at a fever pitch in August to keep their files updated, so they may properly credit their accounts for tuition, etc... But somehow, the momentum seems to come to a grinding halt as soon as classes beging. But lo, a solution: while they hold up you aid, they WILL allow you to take out a short term loan, on which they receive interest. Swell, huh ? Usually, the watchdog for this office might have tried to deal with these problems, but they can't at the moment — they're defunct.

Linda Garofalo
Amherst

UPC PRODUCTIONS Presents
Tix on sale Monday Sept. 24
R.E.M.
Monday Oct. 15
F.A.C. UMass
Students $7.50 & $8.50
General Public $9.50 & $10.50
UMass ID required with student ticket.
Tickets Still Available
Tickets on sale at Fine Arts Center, Springfield Civic Center and Stop & Shop locations in Northampton, Holyoke, Greenfield and Pittsfield. No cans, bottles, or recording devices

Rent One of Ours
Car
Truck
Passenger Van
North Amherst Motors
Rt. 63 No. Amherst
549-2880

charlie's
Super Daily Happy Hour
All Week 3-6 pm
2 for 1 Jumbo Drinks (any shelf)
reduced prices on pitchers & bottled beer
Free Munchies
Plus 2 for 1 on Jumbo draft & wine
Super Nightly Happy Hour
All Week 9:30-11:30 pm
2 for 1 Jumbo Drinks (any shelf)
2 for 1 on Jumbo draft & wine
OTHER SPECIALS
Tuesday
8-12 pm Pizza and Beer
$5.95 includes pitcher of beer or carafe of wine & cheese pizza
1 Pray Street, Amherst
Open 11 am - 1 am Daily
Sunday
11-3 pm
Bloody Mary pitchers
$5.95
6-10 pm
Pizza & Beer
$5.95 includes a pitcher of beer or carafe of wine and cheese pizza

Campus Coin-Op
107 Sunderland Rd. No. Amherst
next to Campus Auto & Carpenter Bros.
The newest, cleanest, coin-op in the area
Hours: Mon-Fri 8-10
Sat & Sun 8-7
Come In And Check Our Everyday Low Prices For Additional savings, use this coupon.
50¢ a wash
first 100 customers with this ad
limit one per customer
OFFER GOOD THRU SEPT. 29

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian
Founded 1870
Editor in Chief James P. Shanahan

Managing Editor John O'Connell
Business Manager Andrew May
Business Manager Elizabeth Young
Production Manager Mark Roden
Executive Editor Rita Murphy
News Editor Greg Brown
Black Affairs Editor Yadira Betances
Women's Issues Editor Rebecca Thatcher
Arts Editor Christine D. Marini
Sports Editor Peter Abraham
Photo Editor Andrew J. Heller

OPINION

The opinions expressed on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the university unless otherwise noted

Decision time for the SGA

Insulting to us all

Most major university student governments are made up of progressive, open-minded individuals with visions of tomorrow. But some are burdened with student leaders who continually revert back to the narrow beliefs which belong with yesterday.

Tonight, the Undergraduate Student Senate is scheduled to vote on a motion which if passed will set this institution back 30 years.

On the agenda is a motion calling for the barring of SGA funding for "religious groups, athletic groups, academic groups, groups catering to a specific residential area, Recognized Student Organizations which are not registered, and sexual preference groups."

We feel that this motion is one of the most absurd ones the undergraduate senate has taken up in recent memory. The very fact that it is on the agenda is an insult to those groups mentioned, but it is particularly offensive to homosexuals and bisexuals, specifically members of the People's Gay Alliance and Lesbian Union.

For fiscal year 1985 the PGA and Lesbian Union were budgeted $2,316.16 and $472.20 respectively.

The overriding issue here is not one of homosexuality. The issue is whether or not an individual or group can be discriminated against solely on the basis of their sexual preference.

The motion before the SGA is against current University policy, and if passed by the senate should be nullified by the administration.

The motion was approved by a majority vote of the SGA Budget committee. That committee, with only four active members at present, passed the motion by a two-to-one margin with one member absent from the vote.

The motion was presented by Mike Oduro, an SGA senator from MacNamara and vice-president of the Sylvan Area Government, and Al Loomer who is not a senator.

Joseph Sparks, chair of the Budget Committee opposed the motion.

Tonight when the SGA takes up this motion the senate should not even do it justice by discussing it at all before voting it down. The SGA should go even further and apologize to the entire UMass community on behalf of one of its committees. We can and we should expect nothing less.

Unsigned editorials reflect the majority opinion of the Collegian Board of Editors.

For the sake of our tradition

David Linehan

The prospect of a class graduating with no 1985 yearbook is frightening. Although the past record of the Index has been tainted with mismanagement, the fate of this student publication should not be to whither in disgrace. This year's staff is in the spotlight, and is being held accountable.

No one realizes this more than the editor of the Index, Cindy Orlowski. Following last week's Senate meeting, in which the Senate had to adjourn before they could address the Index issue because of lack of quorum, she was quoted in the Collegian as saying "Past editors of the yearbook have not taken their responsibilities seriously, and we're being held responsible." Her attitude is supported by the fact that this year's staff has not yet missed a deadline.

The Undergraduate Student Senate holds the fate of the Index. The Index should be given one more chance, but this additional breath of life should carry some stipulations. A specially appointed Senate task force could be designed to look into the problems that plague the Index.

Perhaps the student senate, before burying this University's yearbook while its vital signs show promise of a healthful recovery, should try to nurture the Index back to a sound existence. I feel that a conscientious effort on the part of the student senate should be made to help the Index operation run more efficiently.

For the sake of tradition, and also for the integrity of this University, the Student Senate should vote to save the Index.

This column written by Collegian correspondent Dave Linehan also reflects the majority opinion of the Collegian Board of Editors.

Happy Rosh Hashanah

At dusk tonight, Rosh Hashanah, the Jewish New Year begins.

To all members of the UMass community, we say Happy Rosh Hashanah.

Jewish tradition has it that Adam and Eve were created on Rosh Hashanah, which in Hebrew means "head of the year."

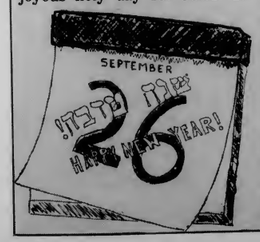
Rosh Hashanah lasts two days and is both a solemn and joyous holy day for Jews. It begins 10 of the most important days of the Jewish religion, cultimating with Yom Kippur on October 6.

Last year, Jewish students were able to enjoy the celebration of the two holidays with their families through the efforts of the UMass Faculty Senate, which voted to delayed the opening of school one week.

This year many who were home last year will be unable to spend the holidays with their families, increasing the need for fellow students, faculty and administrators to be supportive and respectful of members of the Jewish community.

May the next 10 days be a joyful time for the Jewish community.

Unsigned editorials reflect the majority of the Collegian Board of Editors.



Letters to the Editor

The issue is funding, not homosexuality

On Sunday, the Budget's Committee passed a motion that blocks the use of the student activities fee by sexual preference groups. The supporting members believe that sexual preference groups do not represent the general student population. We believe sexual preference groups fall under the same category as religious, athletic and academic groups which the SGA will not fund because they cater to a minority of students. We beleive sexual preference clubs should be autonomous bodies of representation. They should be self supporting. We do not oppose the existence of these clubs but we believe they can support themselves. The general student population should not be forced to fund them. We encourage the autonomous existence of sexual preference groups.

We ask for your support on this issue. You have a voice on where your $96 is spent. Please attend the student senate meeting tonight at 7 p.m.

Michael Oduro
Alfred Loomer

Problem is organizational goals, not main ones

In the Collegian article Friday I feel that I have been used as a token WMUA spokesperson for the sake of journalistic "objectivity". Not only had my lengthy interview with the Collegian reporter been condensed into nothing but meaningless, inaccurate quotes, it also failed to show, with equity, the proverbial "other side of the coin".

Rather than reemphasize the points made in the letters by other WMUA staff members, I wish to clarify an incorrect quote which I was held responsible for.

The Collegian reporter asked me what I saw as the problem between WMUA and BMCP, and my response to that question was that the conflict was a result of differing organizational goals, not that "BMCP and WMUA are working with two main goals".

Ani Benglian
WMUA General Manager

All letters must be signed and include the writer's address and telephone number, which will not be published. Please type double spaced at 67 characters per line. Due to space limitations and the volume of mail, we regret we are unable to acknowledge unpublished letters. All letters are subject to editing for clarity and length.

★ Bangles

L.A.'s Bangles

tional copies of the record did make it to college radio stations before Faculty Products folded, creating a buzz abut the band in underground music circles. The buzz got louder, and the band persevered, landing a major label recording contract with CBS's Columbia Records earlier this year.

The resulting album, All Over the Place, is brilliant. "What we're aiming for is a combination of sweet vocals kind of like the Mamas and Papas, and gritty music like the Seeds meet the Yardbirds; hard-edged pop with a lot of high end; modern radio music.", says Michael in a piece from Musician magazine. "I love that Revolver guitar sound" says lead guitarist Vicki Peterson, who, along with Susanna Hoffs, is respnsible for that sound.

Except for two tracks, All Over the Place contains original tunes penned by Vicki and Susanna. Hoffs explains,"Our songs are listenable stuff. It's basically rock'n roll using classic drums." The drums belong to Debbi Peterson, Vicki's sister who plays strictly skins, "No electronics." All the Bangles share vocal respnsibilities with "main voice" credits listed next to the songs just like on old Beatle records. The overall effect of the vocal harmonizing is like a female Beatles, whose songs, along with the Byrds and others, the girls used to cover before they started gaining confidence in their own songwriting abilities. The first EP represents the earlier stages of the band, and none of the songs quite stand up next to the material on All Over the Place. The music on this record is so captivating and the singing just so damn infectious that I haven't even really listened to what they're singing about yet. I'll have to remember to do that next time.

The two cover versions on the LP are the Merry-Go-Round's "Live!" and former Soft Boy/current wave Kimberly Rew's "Goin' Down To Liverpool" (although true believers will want to know that the first single culled from the album: "Hero Takes A Fall" has a non-LP B-side of the Grass Roots' "Where were You When I Needed You"). The Bangles' renditions of these songs are faithful to the charm of the originals but at the same time spiked with the distinctive Bangle "jangle and a secret ingredient that makes me drop what I'm doing and turn the volume up every time. The new Bangles records should be heard not just on college radio, but on commercial radio (AM and FM), on juke boxes, dance floors, blasting out of dorm windows,...all over the place.

artslines

This week at the Student Union Art Gallery, you can see 5 Other Painters by the M.F.A. candidates. The exhibition will be running through September 28th. Also on Thursday September 27th and Friday September 28th, Judy O'Connor and David Atherton will perform Signs of Life/Kinetic Body Sculpture. The performance will be held outside the gallery from 12-2 p.m. on both days.

Tickets are now on sale at the Fine Arts Center box office for Swan Lake performed by the Houston Ballet under the artistic direction of Ben Stevenson. Swan Lake will be performed on Tuesday, October 9th at 8 p.m.

Playwrites alert! Holyoke Community College's Drama Department produces a series of original one-act plays every year, and is currently seeking script submissions. Anyone interested in submitting an original script for possible production in February 1985 should do so before December 1, 1984 to Leslie Phillips, Humanities Division, Holyoke Community College, 303 Homestead Ave., Holyoke, Mass., 01040.

The Huston Ballet's production of Swan Lake opens the Fine Arts Center's '84-'85 season on October 9. For more information see Artslines.

BOLTWOOD PROJECT
Volunteers needed for programs with developmentally disabled adults.
Valuable Experience.
CREDIT AVAILABLE
LAST MEETING
Tonight
Wed. 9/26 - 7 pm
in Campus Center Room 917

the Hungry U Restaurant

check out our happy hour munchie menu daily!

WEDNESDAY IS PASTA NIGHT for only $4.25
includes spaghetti with a choice of homemade meatballs, sausage, fresh egg, sauteed mushrooms, or broccoli served with salad or soup, bread and butter, and a glass of wine.
Happy Hour 3-6, 9-close 7 days per week
2 in 1 drinks
55 University Drive, Amherst 549-5713

The
GREEN PARTY IS COMING TO UMASS!
Representatives of the Green Party, the coalition of peace & ecology movements opposing deployment of US missiles in Germany will speak on:
THE GREEN PARTY & CURRENT STATUS OF THE PEACE MOVEMENT IN GERMANY
with speakers:
HILDEGARD VON MEIER
editor of FRIZ, a national peace newspaper, and a major organizer of Women for Peace.
EVA QUISTORP
editor of the book WOMEN FOR PEACE, and a member of the National Coordination Committee of the West German Peace Movement.
DR. ALBERT STATZ
peace researcher from the Free University of Berlin, and a member of the Green Party's National Peace & Disarmament Committee.
THURSDAY SEPT. 27, 8 PM
CAMPUS CENTER 174-176
SPONSORED BY:
STPEC, Women's Studies, Dept. of AfroAm, the German Sept (UMASS); Hampshire College Peace Lecture Series, AFSC Disarmament working group, I.A.S.H., West European Studies Program

Complete Auto Enamel Paint Job from $199.95
STOP IN FOR FREE ESTIMATES
North Amherst Motors
Rte. 63, North Amherst
549-2880

Elco the Dressmakers FACTORY STORE
10% Off All Fall Merchandise - Day Of Show Only cordially invites you to the presentation of our FALL FASHION SHOW
featuring the latest collection of Fall Designer Dresses and Sportswear
Saturday, September 29, at 12:00 Noon
532 Main St.
Holyoke, MA
534-3767
Mon-Sat 10:00-4:00
Free Admission
Door Prizes
Wine and Cheese
Directions: 91 S to Exit 17
Dwight Street to Main
Take Rt on Main
3 lights, store on left

Arts

Trailers
by Andy Gordon

Hi. No, I'm not back. But I figured this is a terrific way to keep in touch my UMass friends and maybe offend a whole new generation of student at the same time. Last semester I wrote that the last four weeks of college were going to fly by. They did. The whole four years flew by. It feels like only yesterday that I had my arms interlocked with strange kids from New Jersey in ridiculous orientation games. While I eventually came to afford freshmen the same amount of respect I would, say, a clod of dirt, I have to say I envy them. Freshman year was and always will be the greatest year of my life.

But enough of that syrup. I've got a ton of movie news now that I'm not writing about film anymore; but doesn't that just figure. I live in West Hollywood now. After graduation I loaded up the old bucket and drove cross-country. It's a great big magnificent country we've got. Actually it's mostly flat and boring, but it's worth the drive just to be able to grit your teeth and say, "yep, it's a great big magnificent country we've got." It really irritates people. Anyhow, movie news is all you get here. Local newspapers run like "Reagan to send missiles to Libya" on page three and "Bruckheimer signs three picture deal with Paramount" on page one. Senile old ladies sitting on lawn chairs in the street can tell you who's directing the Beat Street sequel.

So what's new? A lot of film production is going on in foreign countries. In England Franc Roddam (Quadrophenia) is shooting The Bride, an update of the Frankenstein classic, starring, oddly enough, Sting and Jennifer Beals. Slick director Ridley Scott (Alien, Blade Runner, that weird Apple Computer commercial) is also there shooting a flick called Legend, starring Tom Cruise and Tim Curry. In Canada, the goddess Daryl Hannah is starring as a prehistoric superwoman in The Clan of the Cave Bear, adapted by John Sayles. Hemingway's The Sun Also Rises is before cameras in France. It stars Jane Seymour and Robert Carradine. In Japan, Koji Hashimoto is doing a remake of Godzilla and in Italy they're making a flick called Chewingum, which nobody told them is two words. Joe Don Baker is making another Walking Tall picture in Malta called Final Justice. Rumor has it it was a Dirty Harry script Eastwood didn't like. Spain has Donald Sutherland and Ruth Gordon in a mystery called Trouble at the Royal Rose; Jodie Foster and John Lithgow become Mesmerized in New Zealand; and Chuck Norris takes on 800 extras in white bathrobes in Battle Rage, shooting in the Phillipines. But the worst of the bunch has got to be a low-budget flick shooting in Argentina. Formerly titled Prison Dancer the title has been changed to Jail Breakin.

For some time I've held the television industry in very low esteem, swearing I'd sell insurance before I'd ever demean myself to work in T.V. Well hey, I was just kidding. Really. Since moving out here I've taken up with a great production company, who make a bunch of youth-oriented shows (the best known of which is probably the cable music-video show Night Tracks). I'm working specifically on a new show called KIDS INCORPORATED, which I honestly think is a terrific show. Financed by M.G.M., it's a Fame-like musical series about a group of kids in a rock band. As production assistant, I spend at least twelve hours a day on the set; actually a series of huge, cool sets. The nightclub set has a dozen or so video games which I'm going to go blind playing. It's a great time but hanging around with kids all day I have to remind myself I'm a grow-up. I took a bird on some little girl because took my turn on Spy Hunter when I called first. The show airs in Boston on Saturdays at 7 p.m. but I don't know yet if it goes to the happy valley. If not, in October the Collegian will have to charter busses and field-trip it to Beantown to watch an episode titled "Selling Out," written by this former staffer. Ironic title or what?

It's a bizarre experience having a script produced; marked by two things: 1) Lots of money for everything. "Oh you changed a word on page twenty, here's another 500." And 2) total disrespect for the integrity of the script. Writers often care for their work as the would a newborn child. Well to carry that analogy to the next step, the studio guys come in and say, "Oh what a lovely child, here, let us chop off its arms and legs." I watched my genuinely warm and funny script go through nine revisions and come out moronic bordering on pointless. I shouldn't complain, I've got my check; so fuck me if I can't take a joke.

One of the stars of Kids, Inc, Stacy Ferguson. Is this little girl cute or what?

Not the Go Gos

The Bangles
All Over The Place
Columbia Records 1984

By JAMES B. NEILL
Collegian Correspondent

The fact that LA's Bangles are an all female band has subjected them to frequent comparisons to the Go-Gos. For the record, the Bangles sound very little like the Go-Gos, nor will they ever pose for the cover of Rolling Stone in their underwear.

As the Bangs, they released their first single, "Getting Out of Hand" on their homemade record label Down Kiddie Records. Rodney Bingenheimer, KROQ DJ in L.A. picked up on the single helping to establish it as a minor hit, and more importantly, bringing the band (now called the Bangles out of courtesy to another "Bangs") to the attention of The English Beat, who asked them to play support on their 1982 U.S. Tour. That tour included a date here at UMass where the girls played to an unappreciative English Beat crowd who welcomed them to our school with cries of "Show us your tits!"

"Some of the crowds were hostile since we were unknown and women, but we won 'em over," says Michael Steele, bassist and newst Bangle (replacing Annette Zilinkas.) The tour coincided with the release of their first EP on the Faculty Products label. "The oddest thing," Michael continues," is that we couldn't bind our record anywhere. Turns out Faculty went bankrupt the week our record came out!" Fortunately, promo-

Continued on page 6

TONIGHT
JUSTIN RYAN'S
The Meeting Place
Ladies "Dynasty Night" Special
Free Buffet and 25¢ Drinks 8-10
GROLSCH NIGHT
75¢ Bottled Beer
Shirts & Prizes 7-11
$1.00 Well Drinks for everyone till 11:00

REQUIRED READING

家酒園南湖
Hunan Garden
Restaurant
MANDARIN/SZECHUEN CUISINE

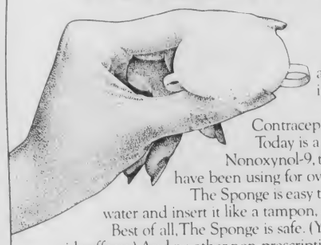
The Best Chinese Food
Try Our New
Luncheon Specials From $2.25 served 11 a.m.-3 p.m.
and
New Buffet & Sunday Brunch ALL YOU CAN EAT $5.25
Buffet Served 5-8 Mon.-Thurs.
Brunch Served Sunday 11:30-3
Children under 10 $3.00

1) Beef with Fresh Mushrooms
2) Chicken Fingers
3) Chicken Wings
4) Chinese BBQ Pork
5) Broccoli in Oyster Sauce
6) Sweet & Sour Chicken
7) Pan Fried Rice
8) Pan Fried Noodles with Chicken
9) Pan Fried Ravioli
10) Hot & Sour Soup

Luncheon Specials & Take-out Service
Full Cocktail Menu
Sun.-Thurs. 11:30 a.m.-10 p.m.
Fri. & Sat. 11:30 a.m.-11 p.m.

10 Belchertown Road
at Rte. 9, Amherst
256-0252

IN 1960, THE PILL GAVE WOMEN A NEW FREEDOM.
IN 1984, THE SPONGE GIVES WOMEN A NEW CHOICE.



It's been a long time. Twenty-four years, and there hasn't been a sensible new option in birth control.

Until Today.™ Today, the 24-hour Contraceptive Sponge.

Today is a soft, comfortable sponge that contains Nonoxynol-9, the same effective spermicide women have been using for over 20 years.

The Sponge is easy to use. You just moisten it thoroughly with water and insert it like a tampon, and it works for a full 24 hours.

Best of all, The Sponge is safe. (You don't have to worry about hormonal side effects.) And no other non-prescription vaginal contraceptive has been proven more effective.* It's been through seven years of extensive testing, and over 17 million Sponges have been sold.

Of course, you don't need a prescription for The Sponge. It can be found at your local drug store and at selected supermarkets. In the 3-pack or convenient 12-pack.

And the Today Sponge is the only contraceptive that comes with someone to talk to: our 24-hour Today TalkLine. If you have any questions, or you're just wondering if The Sponge is right for you, visit your student health center or give us a call at 800-223-2329. (In California, 800-222-2329.)

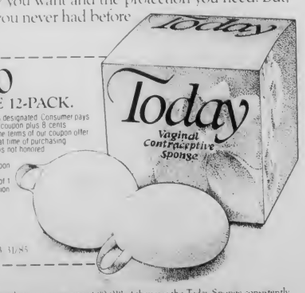
Finally, you have the spontaneity you want and the protection you need. But, best of all, you have another choice you never had before.

Until Today.

SAVE $1.00
ON TWO 3-PACKS OR ONE 12-PACK.
Consumer: limit one coupon per purchase. Good only on products designated. Consumer pays sales tax. To Retailer: We will reimburse you the face value of this coupon plus 8 cents handling provided that you and the consumer have complied with the terms of our coupon offer. This coupon is good only when redeemed by you from a consumer at time of purchasing the specified product. Any other use constitutes fraud. Redemptions not honored through brokers or other outside agencies. Invoices showing your purchase of sufficient stock to cover all coupons must be shown upon request. Void if prohibited, taxed or restricted. This coupon is non-transferable, non-assignable, non-reproducible. Cash value 1/20th of 1¢. Offer good only in U.S.A. Redeem by mailing to: VLI Corporation P.O. Box 4154 Clinton Iowa 52734.

51366 100140

Offer Expires 3/31/85



*Clinical tests have concluded that women can expect an annual effectiveness rate of 89-91% if they use the Today Sponge consistently and according to label instructions. © 1984 VLI Corp. Today and The Sponge are trademarks of VLI Corp.

Hypercurricula

S.H.A.B. Student Health Advisory Board will hold its second meeting. For interested students it is not to late to join. Come and see what S.H.A.B. is all about. 5:30 p.m. University Health Services Rm. 302.

RUN FOR RITTER ORGANIZATIONAL MEETING A short meeting to organize the 1985 race. All proceeds from the race are donated to Fr. Ritter's Covenant House, and international child care agency. 6:00 p.m. Newman Center Classroom.

ROSH HASHANA SERVICES — Services will be held on Wednesday, Sept. 26 at 7:00 p.m. in the S.U. Ballroom, followed by a kiddush. Shana Tova!

INCREASE YOUR AWARENESS of current events. Come to the Peacemaker's meeting and learn how to become an active participant in public education on today's issues.4 p.m., SUB 428.

STUDENT CHAPTER WILDLIFE SOCIETY MEETING Mark Noepel, our V.P., will present a slide program on the Mt. Greylock State Reservation in western Mass. 7:00 p.m. Rm. 312 Holdsworth Hall.

THE INTERNATIONAL MEDITATION SOCIETY is sponsoring a free introductory lecture on the Transcendental Meditation Program on Wednesday, Sept. 26 at 7:30. The lecture will be held at UMass Campus Center Rm. 911-15 and is open to the public. Come find out why over a million Americans are practicing the TM technique daily. For more information, please call 549-5335.

RETURNED STUDENTS FROM STUDY ABROAD There will be an informal get-together for students returning from study abroad. Refreshments. 4-5 p.m. 239 Whitmore, Internat. Prog. office.

SUPPORT FOR GRADUATE WOMEN The Women's Admission and General Education Support (WAGES) Program at Everywoman's Center has a new component called Graduate WAGES. This program will address the specific needs of graduate women through support groups, workshops, speakers, social events, resources and advocacy. As part of its programing, Graduate WAGES will be sponsoring a series of Brown-bag lunches, which will run until December 12, 1984. The informal lunches will be held every Wednesday from noon until 2 p.m. in Campus Center room 805-809, and there will be occasional speakers. For more information about any Graduate WAGES program, contact Diane Goodman at Everywoman's Center by calling 545-0883.

ARMENIAN STUDENTS ORGANIZATION meeting to discuss language class and picnic. 7:30 Campus Center Rm. 803.

BIOCHEMISTRY MAJORS MEETING Important meeting for all Biochemistry Majors will be held Wednesday, September 26th at 7:30 p.m. in Room 1634, Graduate Research Tower C. Refreshments.

PGA COMING OUT/RAP GROUP To discuss and share on issues related to being gay/lesbian/bisexual. 7:30 p.m., PGA office, 413 Student Union.

ISRAELI FOLKDANCING There will be NO Israeli folkdancing on Wednesday, Sept. 26th. (Next meeting time is Wednesday, Oct. 3.)

PGA SOCIAL/COFFEE HOUSE Middle-of-the-week social get-together. Sociability and relaxation for gays/lesbians/bisexuals. Refreshments. 3-5:30 p.m. Check Campus Center schedule for room number.

AMHERST BALLET CENTRE
29 Strong St.
549-1555

Evening classes
10-week courses
starting Oct. 1

Ballet, Jazz, Modern Dance
course fee; $50.00
Registration fee; $2.
Phone to Register

Now's the time to call...
North Amherst Motors
Rt. 63 No. Amherst
549-2880
Expert Repairs & Reconditioning

Seniors - Juniors
Thinking about Graduate School?
Why? If? When? How?
Come in for help
Pre-Graduate Advising Office
CASIAC - Machmer E-27C
For appointments call 545-2191

Black Affairs

JS conference to discuss recruitment

By JOHN YONCE and YADIRA A. BETANCES
Collegian Staff

A seminar attempting to define goals to encourage minority participation in journalism from the high school level to the newsroom level will be held at the University of Massachusetts starting today.

Editors and writers from several nationally known newspapers are scheduled to address the seminar, including Thomas Winship, editor of The Boston Globe,, and Angela Dodson, a New York Times copy editor.

The seminar is sponsored by the American Society of News paper editors and the Journalism and the Afro-American Studies departments at UMass.

James Boylan, chairman of the Journalism Studies department at UMass said the ASNE set a goal of reaching an appropriate level of minority in journalism, but there hasn't been much progress since 1968.

He said there has been substantial obstacles in entering the field, and although editors have a "desire to do better, they don't know how."

Boylan said the conference will be a "frank disicussion" between guests and editors to discuss problems of recruitment and to find solutions.

There's been a lot of interest in why minorities have been slow to enter and stay in the profession," Boylan said.

Organizers of the conference hope it will better educate editors on the recruitment problem and to encourage a more active recruiting process and education and career development, Boylan said

This is the first seminar of its type held at UMass, according to Boylan. The seminar is also the first regional seminar in a series held around the nation. UMass was selected for this seminar, Boylan said, for its location and its "strong journalism program".

Registration is from 4-6 p.m. Wednesday for the seminar, which ends with a mini-job fair Friday from 2-5 p.m.

Sweet Honey in the Rock, a quintet of Black women singers will perform at Green Hall at Smith College on Sunday at 3 p.m.

Sweet Honey, last seen in the Pioneer Valley February of 1982, is nationally known for their committment to using music as a tool effect change.

They are also known as some of the few women singing acapella and as one of the few groups still singing the call-and response music that provided the basis for almost all Afro-American sounds.

Tickets for the concert are $7 general admission, $9 contributing and $5 over 60/6-14, and are available in Northampton at Country Comfort, Guild Art Center, Amherst: Food for Thought Books, For the Record (Faces), Every woman's Center (UMass); Greenfield World Eye Books; Springfield: Main Music; Brattleboro, Maple Leaf Music; Hartford: Reader's Feast Bookstore/Cafe; Pittsfield Women's Services Center

Commentary

By KIMBERLY BURGE
Collegian Correspondant

As a member of the Black community at the University of Massachusetts, I feel that the loss of hours of the Black programming on WMUA is a kick in the head!

There are very few radio stations in the Amherst area which serve the minority community. The Black Mass Communications Project (BMCP) is the only place where black people can turn to listen to the kind of music that we want to hear.

Now they are slowly being phased out by WMUA for "lack of diversity". I suppose reggae, funk, jazz, blues, and gospel all sound the same, just like all black people look the same, right?

I have two questions to ask WMUA. First, what is urban contemporary music. According to them it's singers like Chaka Khan. Funny, I always thought that she was a rhythm and blues singer. Not only are they trying to phase us out, but they're even trying to re-name our music!

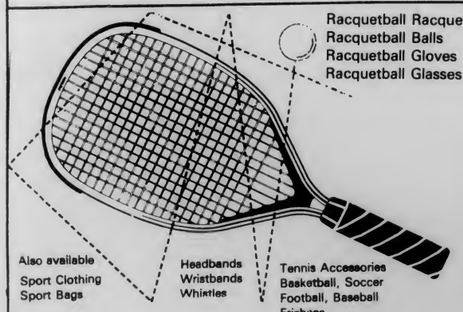
Second question, What is "white" funk? I read in a recent issue of the Collegian that someone on the staff wanted to hear some "white" funk. That makes two of us because I never heard of it! In fact, I seriously doubt that it even exists!

WMUA contends that we can tune into other stations to hear our kind of music. Wrong! We cannot tune into other stations because we cannot receive any of the other college stations (WTCC, WAIC, WSCB) because their frequencies don't range this far and many of the commercial stations play a very limited amount of black music.

I feel that the decision to not let BMCP disc jockeys play jazz music is totally ridiculous! After all, jazz is truly the music of black America and most Black music is based upon its roots! What I find even more ridiculous is the fact that blues is in a separate category. Blues is part of the name of our music, you know rhythm and blues. Therefore, wouldn't it make more sense to include it with BMCP's format?

The sooner WMUA gets off their high horse and start trying to work with the members of BMCP instead of against them, the sooner this conflict will be resolved.

SPORT EQUIPMENT



Racquetball Racquets
Racquetball Balls
Racquetball Gloves
Racquetball Glasses

Also available
Sport Clothing
Sport Bags

Headbands
Wristbands
Whistles

Tennis Accessories
Basketball, Soccer
Football, Baseball
Frisbees,
Swimming Accessories

Open M-F 9-5
Sat 11-4

UNIVERSITY STORE

Brings you only the best in hair fashion. From long locks to short takes to the most innovative fashion statement. Enjoy choosing what works best for you.

JOHN DELLARIA SALONS
26 Main Street, Amherst MA 253-9293

"Bellini" streamlines the menswear look to suit a woman. This smooth, all leather oxford comes in grey, taupe, natural, black and navy.
SHOE BIN
187 n. pleasant st amherst

Come Out and See (or compete in) the LIP-SYNC CONTEST
Tonite At
Changes
$500. in Cash Prizes to be awarded over the next 5 weeks!
- Along With -
"CLASSICS NIGHT"
The Most Popular Dance Music from the last 5 years!
D.J. Mike Kane
and
75¢ BAR DRINKS UNTIL 12
No Cover
Changes, Rt. 9, Amherst 256-8284

AMHERST CINEMA
DOUBLE FEATURE $2.50
Wednesday thru Saturday
An Affair to Remember with Cary Grant
Desk Set
with Hepburn and Tracy
DOWNTOWN AMHERST

MASS. APPROVED INSPECTION STATION
RADIAL TIRE SALE
P155/80R13
$29.95
•Includes Mounting• plus MA State Tax
North Amherst Tire & Auto Center
"Full Service Tire Store"
78 Sunderland Rd. No. Amherst, MA
Across from Waltrobe's Store
549-4704

PERSONALIZED STYLE HAIRCUTS
$7.00
(with this coupon)
$10.00 with Shampoo and Blow Dry
$11.50 Long Hair
Please Call for an Appointment
Expires 9/30/84
Styles by Deborah
55 University Drive
Amherst, MA 549-5610
FREE CONSULTATIONS

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIED

Monday - Thursday 8:45 - 3:45 • Friday 8:45 - 2:30 • Cash in advance • 5 consecutive days 5% discount
• 10 consecutive days 10% discount • 15 consecutive days 15% discount • phone number free

ADVERTISING

Advertise FREE in the RIVER VALLEY AD Advertise items you want to sell or buy. Call 532-9496

APPLE COMPUTER FOR RENT

Apple II available for $250 or best offer for this semester. Pascal is included. Call 256-1941. Ask for Ruthie.

AUTO FOR SALE

Dodge customized Van 77 engine in gd running order catm int call 549-4692

1975 Datsun 710 runs well, body fair $500 584-5894 evenings

1973 Super Beetle exc. cond. in/out. Rebuilt engine, radiels, heater, very dependable $1500 call evens/weekends 586-2192 keep trying

1971 Chevelle Malibu runs good needs some body work $400.00 call 549-1629

74 Mustang excellent condition 73000m $1100 call 549-4718

1974 Toyota Corolla Wagon runs $150. call 256-1421

BOLTWOOD PROJECT

The last recruitment meeting is this Wednesday 7:00 pm in CC Rm 917 credit available. Come find out more!

ENTERTAINMENT

VIDEO VIDEO VIDEO VIDEO Rack-A Video entertainment gem! 10 and 15 foot screens for dorms and Greeks "MTV" video music call 549-7144

Rack-A-Diac Rack-A-Video entertainment guaranteed events for Diac Jockeys Bands and Video. Call 549-7144

WICKED AND WILD DJ's audio and visual entertainment for the 80's 584-6712

For the best in dance music call 5 College Sound 586-0245 or 586-7689

UMASS SKI CLUB

Information Meetings Sept. 24, 5:00 pm in Public Health Aud. Sept. 26, 4:00 pm in CC Rm 917 and at 7:00 pm Herndon DC Join now and be part of the tradition!

Eckenkar presents: Ancient Science of Soul Travel seminar series IV 9/26 & 10/3 @ 9 PM Hampshire College Franklin Patterson Bldg. East lecture hall

FOR RENT

Refrigerator Rental 2 cubic ft R & P Package Store free delivery 253-9742

1 bdrm in Puffton starting Nov 1 $318 per month, call 549-4716

One and two bedroom apts. On bus route cats okay. All utilities included Wmsburg 268-3624 584-3095

2 bedrooms in S.br house Oct 1 thru Aug 85 on bus rt Echo Hill rent 186 + ask for Jay 253-9824 eves, weekends

FOR SALE

2 Dead Tickets Hartford, Mon. Oct. 15 good seats section 102 458 for pair 253-5507 keep trying

COMPUTER TERMINAL for sale. DEC VT56 with hardcopy option. Like new. Very good buy. $475! 549-8984

Bicycle 20" Panasonic 10 speed 25 lbs high tensile tubing $135. 549-6180

Brand new 3000 series RAL speakers never used totally crankable $300 or best offer 549-6361

Show good taste with a quality screen printed BEER LOVER'S T-Shirt. Molson, Moosehead, St. Pauli Girl, or Kronenbourg $7.50 plus $1.50 shipping and handling. Satisfaction guaranteed. Include size. BEER LOVER'S GRAPHICS, 8 Clanon Court, Newark, DE 19713

Refrigerator, dorm size, $50/BO; kitchen table, formica top, $20/BO; call 256-0983, keep trying

Bicycle Columbia woman's 3 speed good condition $65 or BO 549-7571

Moped brand new only 500 mi excellent condition 253-9418 Brian eve.

FOUND

Girls YMCA Jacket Orchard Hill area can be claimed at Fisher Lab or call 545-2258 ask for Ron

Found ladies watch in Grad Tower 9/19 call 6-6502

HELP WANTED

Part-time jobs perfect for students! Get experience, get paid! for political work. Hazardous waste clean-up, energy issues, voter education. Mass Fair Share is building a part-time staff in public education and fundraising. Hours 5-10 PM. Flexible schedule $60 - $120/wk Call 586-8713

Enthusiastic Students to apply Asst. to the Speaker/Student Senate. Work on student/campus/social issues. Experience w/in SGA helpful, but not necessary. 10 hrs./wk. $3.35/hr. For more details call 545-0341. Pick-up applications in rm. 420 SUB. Application deadline Oct. 1, 4:00 pm. SGA is an AA/EOE.

The Student Center for Educational Research and Advocacy is hiring undergrads to learn political organizing, & student interest research skills. SCERA also has positions for a writer/editor, resource center staff person and for the anti racism team. 10 hrs/wk. $3.35/hr Work study & non-work study. Applications at 420 Student Union. Applications due 9/28. SCERA is an AA/EEO employer

Auditor needed, SGA Treasurer's Office must be able to analyze and apply financial information. 10-15 hrs/wk. $3.35/hr. Workstudy or non-workstudy. Applications in 407 Student Union Building Deadline September 27 at noon. AA/EOE

Exotic Dancers wanted full or part time 4 to 12 tel 247-5682

Newspaper Deliverers needed on campus. No car necessary. Good pay. 7 days a week 1 hour/day. Call evenings 253-7009

Groundfloor opportunity reliable, ambitious salespersons wanted for home party plan. Attractive pay scale. $50 bonus possible 256-8005

AIDE 3-day week, Monday, Wednesday, Friday, to work in educational/vocational program with moderately disabled teenagers. Challenging and inspiring work for the right person. Psych. education experience preferred.

AIDES Full-time, part-time, for a full range of Special Education Programs in South Hadley/Granby area.

SUBSTITUTES For programs. High School diploma minimum, experience desirable, $25.00 day.

Send resumes and cover letter to Administrator of Special Education 36 Hadley Street, South Hadley, MA 01075 AA/EOE

Artist needed for Southwest Assembly, average 5 hrs/wk. Apply now. 545-0960

Work-study position available, for Secretary/Typist of SWAG, 8 hrs/wk. Apply NOW! 545-0960

Drivers wanted at Pinocchio's #6 7/hr. Apply in person for details. 1177 N. Pleasant.

Part-time Bartender and waitresses wanted evenings and weekends. Apply in person Northampton Bowl.

INSTRUCTION

Know your car. Basic Automobile Workshop. 28 hours including classroom and shop. Limited enrollment 253-2098

I am looking for a Spanish Tutor who would be willing to work with me one night a week for 2 hours ($5 an hour) and tutor me in Conversation Spanish. Please call 253-9414 ask for Dara

IOTA GAMMA UPSILON

Invites all University Women to Open Rush! Oct. 1st Bar-B-Que 5 PM call 256-8874 for more info.

LOST

Cap gray Irish Tweed lost Wednesday please return to Mariane 546-6300 or lost and found

Reward $25. for information resulting in return of stolen mobile parking decal #20020; need license plate # and make of car displaying this decal. 584-8570 eves

$100.00 Reward Stolen Kayak, yellow with UMOC # serial No. WEM08303983 NOA call 549-0148

MOTORCYCLES

1975 Honda CB360T 16800 miles, recent tuneup, new tires, chain, battery last year. $475./BO 549-0437

PERSONALS

DO YOU WANT YOUR YEARBOOK? Support the INDEX or you will not have one!

Stop by 103 CC or call 546-0848
Let the SGA know your opinion!

Patrick I love you so much. Thank you for always being there even though you are far away. !Someday! Love, Tracy

Congratulations Lynne and Erin! A new addition to the Doyle family. Megan will sure have alot of Auntie! Love, "Us"

To the guy in the yellow and white rugby: 1st Barsies Friday night! so what if you aren't on the swimteam. I still think you're cool!! Lets meet again?! From the girl in white pants and beige sweater P.S. Answer through the personals

Kathy Moynihan Have a great 21st! We love you. Mary Claire, Janet, Linda, and Stacey

HAPPY BIRTHDAY CHARLIE GREELY

RABBIT

Free dwarf bunny, very cute, quiet, and litter trained. He needs a good home. Call after 4:00. 546-5366

$60 REWARD

Blue Icelandic Wool Sweater. Hand knit. Lost 9/18 on campus. Restore my faith in humanity. Call 6-4809/ 5-2034/ 6-4800

ROOMMATE WANTED

One masterbedroom in house: private bath, want two people $147/month each NOA call 549-0148

SERVICES

ATTENTION STUDENTS For all your typing and word processing needs ... term papers, dissertations, resumes, etc. ... call Elite Business Services 783-1732

TYPING Southwest 48 hr notice required, $3./page call Lisa 6-8366 after 6 pm

TRAVEL

Montreal Weekend Party Nov 2-4 $68. includes R/T transportation from your campus, 3 days 2 nights hotel in DT Montreal welcome party all taxes and tips drinking age is 18 optional Bruins Montreal tickets call today Eric 549-5017

WANTED

Female to share large bedroom in Townehouse call 549-4695

WANTED TO RENT

Looking for apartment: Townehouse, Brandywine, Puffton area beginning Spring 85 semester. Will pay generously to take over lease. Call 546-8758 or 546-8487

Bloom County by Berke Breathed

MOTHER, I'M AFRAID THAT I'VE "BLIPPED" DAD OUT OF EXISTENCE.
WHEN I ERASED HIS FILE FROM THE I.R.S. COMPUTER BANKS, I SEEM TO HAVE "ERASED" HIM ALTOGETHER. MOTHER, DO YOU REALIZE WHAT THIS MEANS?
IT MEANS THAT, AS A SOCIETY, WE'VE FINALLY TRAVED THE LAST VESTIGES OF OUR HUMANITY FOR A SET OF GOVERNMENTAL NUMBERS! WE'VE BEEN TRIVIALIZED BY A RUNAWAY BUREAUCRACY! WE'RE ALL JUST MAGNETIC INK!!
STILL WITH ME, MOM?
WHO'S GOING TO SLICE THE STUPID TURKEY?

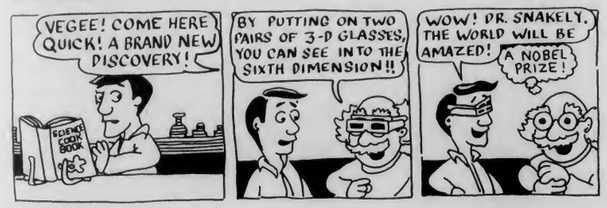
Underfoot by Joe Bradbury

HEY! MY APPLICATION TO UMASS GOT ACCEPTED!
GREAT!...I THINK
AND I GOT A SPORTS SCHOLARSHIP
WHAT... YOU?!
WELL, WHERE IT SAID "SPECIAL CONSIDERATIONS" I WROTE " athletic" INSTEAD OF "DYSLEXIC"

Gorde by Gorde

OKAY, JAKE-WHAT'S THIS WONDER GIRL OF YOURS LOOK LIKE
UH... TALL BLOND
5,000 GIRLS ON CAMPUS COULD FIT THAT DESCRIPTION, YOU JERK!!! YOU KNOW HER!!!
HEY, I GET AROUND! WHAT CAN I SAY
YOU KNOW HER?
WHOA! EASY, JAKE! EASY!
?
LOOK, I THINK I KNOW HER SHE'LL BE AT THIS LOCATION
GAK!
ENOUGH!! YEH, I KNOW HER

The Lab by Law



VEGEE! COME HERE QUICK! A BRAND NEW DISCOVERY!
SCIENCE FAIR BOOK
BY PUTTING ON TWO PAIRS OF 3-D GLASSES, YOU CAN SEE INTO THE SIXTH DIMENSION!!
WOW! DR. SNAKELY, THE WORLD WILL BE AMAZED!
A NOBEL PRIZE!

Yeasthead Jason Talerman

Ultra Mass by E.L.M.

This is Johnny Scoop a Freelance, liberal reporter for the Collegian.
If you haven't heard about the very nasty events happening in Southwest let's take a look at it now
It seems the infamous Party Animal has butchered several comic strip characters, drank all fraternities in the area out of house and home, destroyed the dance floor at Justin Ryan's and perpetrated many panty raids...
Here's a guest artist's sketch of the Animal on top of Kennedy
PARTY ANIMAL
KENNEDY
WINDOWS
This reporter has heard the rumors that there was a superhero in Southwest. If so the question is.
Where is ULTRA MASS! Now!

DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE

Edited by Trude Michel Jaffe

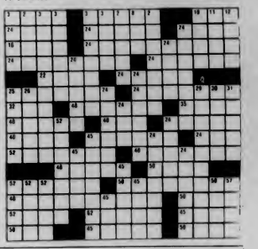
ACROSS
1 Sound from the nest
5 Inner circle group
10 City SSE of Belgrade
13 Wings
14 Island in the Firth of Clyde
15 Partner of call
16 Form of Elizabeth
17 Failed to attend
19 Principal street
21 Atlantic beach
22 Moon goddess
23 Of bees
25 Atlantic beach
28 Pacific beach
32 Brit. dance org.
33 Members of the clergy
35 Black, in Paris
36 Greeted the day
38 Scuttle
39 Forwards
40 "—— but the brave..."
41 Actor Mitchum
43 Compass point
44 Baker, at times
46 French painter and family
48 Slip of the pen
50 Growl
51 Spanish ——
54 Atlantic beach
58 Almost all
60 —— Fein
61 Der —— Adenauer
62 Commotions
63 Author Bagnold
64 Place
65 British guns
66 NCO's

DOWN
1 Atlantic beach
2 Famed pen name
3 Simple
4 Gallery or buttpr
5 Chestnut: Sp.
6 Comedian Johnson
7 Broadway offering
8 Bolger
9 Hatfields and McCoys, for example
10 Salamander
11 Ending with myth or poet
12 One of the Hebrides
15 Without exception
18 Pair
20 Sound in the night
24 Groups of lions
25 Quaffed
26 Biblical brother
27 Loathes
29 Unproductive
30 Verbal contraction
31 Soho steeds
34 Short haircut
37 Path of a cruise ship
39 Smarted
41 Breakfast, lunch and dinner
42 Go backwards
45 June VIPs
47 Increases
49 Dodge
51 "——, poor Yorick"
52 Vex
53 Women's rights advocate Lucretia
55 Do a Tuesday chore
56 Monogram features, Abbr.
57 Conjunctions
59 Pungent

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

A	B	B	A		S	A	B	A	R		C	A	S	H
T	R	E	S		A	L	O	N	E		A	G	I	O
R	I	A	S		B	L	O	N	D		P	O	L	L
A	S	S	O	R	T		M	A	T	R	O	N	L	Y
P	E	R	I	E	S		M	A	J	O	R
			T	A	E	L	S		P	I	A	Z	Z	A
A	P	E	S		D	U	N	G	E		T	I	E	N
C	O	O		M	O	D			N	A	G
T	O	U	T		S	P	O	I	V	I	T		O	G	L	E
S	P	I	R	A	L		P	I	E	A	S
		P	A	P	A		D	E	S	P	O	T	S
S	T	O	P	O	V	E	R		E	T	R	I	E	T
T	R	I	P		E	N	U	R	E		E	L	I	E
O	I	S	E		S	I	T	E	S		T	O	R	E
A	M	E	N		H	O	S	T	S		S	N	A	P

9/26/84



Doonesbury's BACK!

BY G.B. TRUDEAU

Beginning Oct. 1 in this newspaper.

© 1984 G.B. Trudeau/Universal Press Syndicate

D·C· Menu

LUNCH
Country Broil Sandwich
Royal Zucchini Beef
Parmesan

BASICS LUNCH
The Salad Sandwich
Carrot, Broccoli, Cauliflower Quiche

DINNER
Beef Stew
Mushroom-Pepperoni Pizza

BASICS DINNER
Sauteed Tofu and Snow Peas
Mushroom Pizza

Sports

Women booters take on Brown

By GERRY deSIMAS
Collegian Staff

University of Massachusetts women's soccer coach Kalekeni Banda hopes that the Minutemen have learned some lessons from last weekend's Cortland State tournament.

In the tournament, UMass learned the value of good defense as they saw 2-0 leads disappear in two games and result in 2-2 ties.

"We learned a good lesson," Banda said. "We have some good offense but we need to understand that we have to switch gears and think defense."

Massachusetts faces Brown, 10th ranked nationally and ranked third in New England, tonight at 7 pm at Stevenson Field in Providence.

"We are a better team than we were last year," Banda said. "But we haven't proved it yet on the field."

UMass, dropped to third in the country but is still ranked first in New England over UConn and Brown. North Carolina and UConn rank ahead of the Minutemen in the national poll.

UMass tied California-Berkley and William and Mary 2-2 last weekend. "We were waiting for them to make mistakes instead of going at them and forcing them to make a mistake," Banda said.

"There is no need to panic," he added.

The Minutemen, 3-0-2, face an undefeated Bruin team that is led by sophomore Lynn Marinello with six goals. Feshmar. Rae Steiger has scored three goals for Brown, who has defeated Holy Cross (3-0), UNH (3-0) and Yale (5-0). All are unranked.

"Brown is always solid and clever," Banda said. "They are well-coached and have an experienced team. We had a close game with them last year in the playoffs.

UMass outshot Brown 10-9 and won 1-0 in the NCAA quarter-finals.

Freshman Jolie DePauw leads UMass with five goals, one assist for 11 points. Kristen Bowsher had added three goals while senior co-captain Lori Stukes has added two goals.

Banda said he would announce today who his starting goalie would be. Sophomores Jeanne Paul and Lisa Ellis are competing for the starting slot.

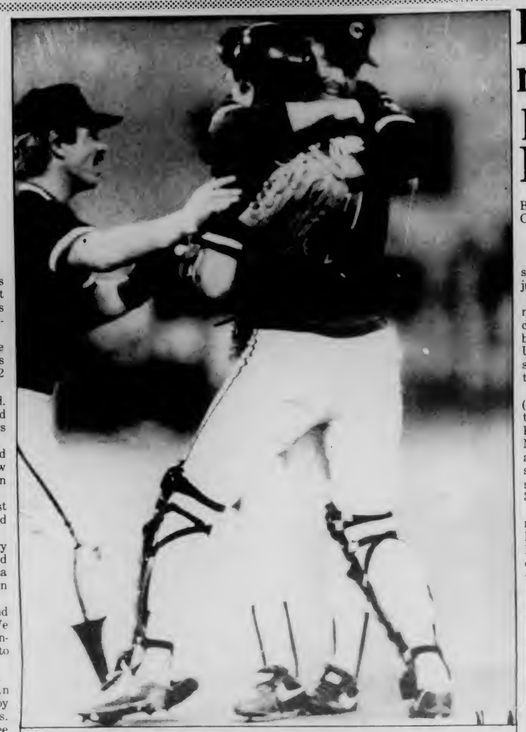
"We'll go with one goalie as long as she can go," Banda said. "We'll try it and see how it works."

UMass will also be shooting for Banda's first win in Providence. The Minutemen have never won there in Banda's five years as coach.

"We have to make sure we don't let the teams have a second chance. We want to keep the upper hand."

UMass vs. Brown

When: today at 7:00 pm.
Where: Stevenson Field, Providence
Records: UM: 3-0-2, B: 3-0-0
Injuries: UM and B: none
Last season: UMass, 3-0 over Brown



It's been a long time...

AP Laserphoto

Chicago cubs pitcher Rick Sutcliffe, right, is hugged by catcher Jody Davis as third baseman Ron Cey moves in after the Cubs beat the Pirates 4-1 to clinch the National League East Championship.

Improving men face powerful Providence

By SCOTT HOOD
Collegian Staff

When a coach and his team scans their schedule in the pre-season, some games just seem to jump right off the paper.

For the University of Massachusetts men's soccer team, such games typically include Boston University, whom UMass blanked 1-0 ealier this season, and the University of Connecticut, the best known squad in New England and the 1981 National Champions.

Today's opponent, Providence College (3:30 p.m. at Providence), also belongs into the category of long-awaited rivals. The Friars, presently 4-0, are the defending New England champions, and this week are the number two ranked team in the six-state region. UMass, unranked before the season, is currently fourth with a slate of 3-1-2.

However, to achieve their unblemished record, the Friars have beaten up on four Division II schools, including Assumption, Bryant, Iona, and Manhattan. But such exercises are commonplace for Providence, who played only six Division I opponents in 1983, including UConn, who they beat prompting their top status, and UMass, who fell 1-0.

For the Minutemen, coach Jeff Gettler is optimistic this year will produce a different result, noting PC's weak schedule.

"We're going to be the best team they've played yet," said the third year coach. "And hopefully they won't be prepared for that, whereas we've played three quality teams (BU, Rutgers, and North Carolina-Grensboro). So, we're more than prepared to play a team like Providence."

The Friars employ a quick strike attack that virtually ignores the midfielders and is perfectly suited for their small field (100 yards x 60; as opposed to Boyden's size of 120 x 75). Long passes from the fullbacks and booming punts from the goalie are the prime methods used to get the ball to the forward line.

In other words, they go for the bomb on every down.

UM plans to counter this strategy by starting three forwards, three midfielders and four fullbacks as opposed to the usual 2-4-4 alignment.

"We don't want our midfielders caught in the middle when the ball's going over back all the time," said Gettler. By playing that third forward, it should, by theory, give us more of an offensive attack. Also, there's no sense putting a lot of your players to midfield if they're going to bypass them."

Another reason for the new alignment is that two starting midfielders, Matt Cushing and Tom Uschok, are hurting. Uschok will probably play, but Cushing's status is questionable.

Minutemen's revenge : Spikers host Holy Cross

By ROGER CHAPMAN
Collegian Staff

Consistency and intensity.

This has been a familiar tune for the University of Massachusetts volleyball team. The spikers, 8-4 on the season, face Holy Cross tonight at 7 p.m. at NOPE.

The Minutemen hope to continue producing the consistency and intensity that has made them one of the top Division II teams in the Northeast.

UMass is coming off a so-so weekend at the Central Connecticut State volleyball tournament where they took third, notching a 3-2 record.

"If we can serve and pass as well as we did over the weekend, we should be okay," coach Elaine Sortino said.

"If we can serve and pass as well as we did over the weekend, we should be okay," coach Elaine Sortino said.

"We have been playing pretty well, but we still have work to do," Sortino said.

No one player stands out on this club. The Minutemen have used almost everyone this season and everyone has contributed.

"Everyone is playing well," said Sortino. "Patti and Susie Grant are setting good matches and Marcy (Guiliotis) and Sarah (Ryan) are playing well in the middle."

Sortino was quick to praise the progress of Guiliotis, a freshman.

"A lot of pressure was put on her," said Sortino. "But she had really come along, both, in her hitting and her blocking."

The spikers have also been getting a lot of offense from junior Sally Maher and Annie Ringrose. The big hitter, through this season has been Maher.

"Sally hits about 60 percent of the balls, usually," Sortino said.

But with the play Ringrose, Ryan, and Guiliotis, and junior Leslie Smith have been exhibiting, that could change, Sortino said.

Massachusetts will also be counting on the serves and defense of Mickey Barys, Tina Morello, and Debbie Cole, who has been a sparkplug for UMass all season.

Sortino's game plan won't change from the previous matches.

"Serve, pass and play defense. That's all we have to do, but we have to do it well," said Sortino.

Game time is scheduled for 7 p.m.

UMass vs. Providence

When: Today at 3:30
Where: at Providence College
Records: UM: 3-1-2, PC: 4-0-0
Injuries: UM: Midfielder Matt Cushing is questionable, midfielder Tom Suchok is probable. PC: none.

Houk resigns from Red Sox

BOSTON (AP) Ralph Houk, the dean of major league baseball managers, retired Tuesday after four years as field boss of the Boston Red Sox.

Houk, who turned 65 last month, announced he was stepping down at a news conference just two hours before a game with the Toronto Blue Jays. "I don't think it comes as any surprise. I've made the decision to retire from managing," Houk said. "It's been a real tough decision to make because I've enjoyed it the four years I've been here.

But, he added, "I'm getting to the age it gets tougher every year to travel... It's getting harder on my family."

sports at a glance

UMass Schedule:
Women's Soccer: at Brown, 7 pm.
Men's Soccer: at Providence, 3:30 pm.
Volleyball: Holy Cross, 7 pm at NOPE Gym

pro scores

White Sox 8, Twins 1
Yankees 6, Baltimore 5
Boston 14, Toronto 5
Royals 6, Angels 5 (12)

The Massachusetts Daily
NEW ENGLAND'S LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY

Collegian

Volume CXIV, Issue 18 UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AMHERST (545-3500) Thursday, September 27, 1984

Collegian photo by Michelle Segall

TUBA TUNES-Todd Campbell, a 1986 music major, Five College Orchestra and Jazz Ensemble member, practices in the Old Chapel Wednesday.

Student Senate vetoes funding ineligibilities

By BOB BURGESS
Collegian Staff

A controversial motion which would have barred funding to "sexual preference" groups was voted down last night in the Undergraduate Student Senate after about an hour of debate.

During the vote discussion, Senate speaker Chris Sullivan called many senators out of order, including budget committee member Michael Oduro, co-sponsor of the original motion to stop funding from the Student Activities Trust Frund (SATF) to the People's Gay Alliance (PGA), the Lesbian Union (LU), and a gay awareness counseling group.

Oduro briefly explained his reasons why these groups should not receive money, saying that as a student, he is at the university to "get an education, and if we support sexual preference groups, we should also support academic groups." Orduro said Tuesday these groups included the Accounting Association and the Communications Club. Sullivan responded that academic groups "usually come together for a specific reason other than to educate" and that the SATF supports gay/lesbian awareness groups because they counsel and sponsor workshops designed to educate both homosexuals and heterosexuals." PGA and Lesbian Union have been funded for 15 years.

Before the senate vote to "rescind and expunge" the Budget Committee action, Oduro made a motion calling for a referendum which would make this issue open to the entire student body.

Sullivan overturned the proposal because "it may be seen as a form of harassment" by PGA and LU.

PGA member Dave CArney addressed the senate and received two standing ovations, the second after he said that in the "last three days, 15 years of work by gay and lesbian groups have been taken out of out hands and held open for public debate."

"Let us not have this SGA be party to such overwhelming ignorance"-Stacey Roth, a Brown House student senator

Stacy Roth, a senator from Brown, said that gays and lesbians "represent a real and necessary part of the campus community and the international community," and urged the senate to vote down the motion. "Let us not have this SGA be party to such overwhelming ignorance," she said.

Oduro told the senate that he is not prejudiced towards gays, but that other groups should receive funds if sexual preference groups are to continue receiving SATF money. "I'm not prejudice, because being black I know a lot about prejudice," Oduro said.

Carney said that he believed the motion was "born of ignorance, and proposes more than a cut in funding- it presents a barrier to so-called 'sexual preference groups.'"

Provost O'Brien encourages 'university-wide' discussion

By ANNE MCCRORY
Collegian Staff

Administrative stability, communication, a sense of direction and movement.

Such are the concerns of University of Massachusetts staff and faculty in regard to the new provost and first executive vice chancellor, Richard O'Brien, who has spent his three weeks on campus meeting with community members.

Coming from the University of Rochester, a private school where bureaucracy is more "centralized," O'Brien will spend his first semester getting to know the people and policies that make up the University before contemplating any changes in the spring.

"I see a degree of optimism and buoyancy about the place," he said in an interview yesterday. "The Legislature has taken a greater interest in higher education, the faculty has some very distinguished people and the student-body is getting better every year. This is not one of the (best) state universities in the country and there's no reason it shouldn't be- there's a spirit and willingness on every level."

O'Brien is the first permanent administrator to fill the position of provost since Loren Baritz formally vacated that office in June, of 1983. His appointment follows two searches and the installation of two acting provosts.

O'Brien's duties as provost, the chief academic officer on campus, include overseeing all programs, faculty promotions, and resource allocations among the University's eight colleges.

Executive vice chancellor is a new title with more authority than accompanied the former vice chancellor for academic affairs title and gives O'Brien responsibility for all internal affairs.

Collegian photo by Michelle Segall

Provost Richard O'Brien

INDEX recieves grant and loan from Student Senators

By BOB BURGESS
Collegian Staff

The Undergraduate Student Senate last night unanimously approved a combination grant/loan to the University of Massachusetts yearbook staff after guarantees were made by the Index editor-in-chief that the loan portion would be repaid, and undistributed editions sold.

The approval to grant $10,000 and to loan another $10,000 to the Index staff puts to rest an issue which has been before the senate since last spring, when it was announced that the 1984-85 Student Government Association (SGA) budget allocated only $16,000 for the yearbook. The editor-in-chief at that time, Kevin Fachetti, had requested a total of $36,000.

The $20,000 approved by the senate last night will come from the SGA's emergency deficit liquidation account.

Index's new editor, Cindy Orlowski, said she was "excited" by the vote because it gives her staff necessary money to begin work on the 1985 edition.

Last night, in front of the senate, Orlowski outlined her plan to sell 1982-84 Index copies.

"We plan to begin selling the '82 and '83 editions at the football game this Saturday. The '82 book will be $3 and the '83 will be $4.' Orlowski explained that the editions of Index from '82-84 will be on sale next week at a table in the Campus Center. She said the '84 book, which will cost $6 is expected to arrive Monday.

Orlowski said she hopes the sales of about 6,000 unsold yearbooks will help pay back the SGA loan.

Budget Committee chairman Joseph Sparks said last night he is "skeptical" about Index's ability to pay back the loan because so many copies remain unsold. "To me, the whole idea of a yearbook is to have it come out when you graduate...what good is it coming out in September or October?"Sparks said.

According to Orlowski, the 1982 Index came out in April 1983, the 1983 edition was ready two weeks ago, and the '84 edition will arrive on Monday.

Inside:

Newspapers lack minority reporters.....p.3
William Spain on the need to vote.....p.6
Soccer smites Providence with goal.....p.12

"The ultimate measure of a man is not where he stands in moments of comfort and convenience, but where he stands at times of challenge and controversy."
-Martin Luther King, Jr.

EXCITING 1984
MINUTEMAN FOOTBALL
Saturday, September 29th
Beautiful Alumni Stadium
1:30 P.M. Kickoff

UMASS vs.
NORTHEASTERN HUSKIES

NORTHEASTERN HUSKIES
This contest with our intra-state foe should be hard fought from the opening kick-off. When Coach Pawlak brings the Huskies to Amherst, a sensational afternoon of football is in store for the teams and fans. You'll want to be there to catch all the action.

Fun • Color • Excitment
• Outstanding Collegiate Football
• The Powerful and Entertaining
Marching Band!
A Great Tailgate!
Great Entertainment

Purchase Tickets at the UMass Athletic Office or at the Stadium on game day:
Reserved tickets. . .$6.
Unreserved. . .$5.
Children (14 & under). . .$3.
Call Ticket Office for Group Rates
(413) 545-0810
UMass Student with valid ID - no charge

THE CHEESE SHOP
79 Main St.,
Amherst, MA 01002
413-253-3442
* Over 150 imported cheeses
* Over 20 selected types of coffee beans
* Bulk teas
* Freshly baked croissants & pastries
* Fresh pasta
* Party trays
* SPECIAL *
French Roast Beans $4.99 lb
Fresh Peanut Butter 99¢ lb
New York Cheddar $4.19 lb
Coffee tasting Saturday 10 am to 1 pm
Hours: Daily 9:30-6:00; Sunday 9:00-1:00

OOPS!
Now's the time to call...
North Amherst Motors
Rt. 63 No. Amherst
549-2880
Expert Repairs & Reconditioning

AMHERST BALLET CENTRE
29 Strong St.
549-1555
Evening classes
10-week courses
starting Oct. 1
Ballet, Jazz, Modern Dance
course fee; $50.00
Registration fee; $2.
Phone to Register

GRAMPY'S
CORNER STORE

Free Ice!
With this ad and purchase of
ANY CASE of BEER!
OFFER GOOD THROUGH OCT. 14
Got the munchies?
• Fresh Sandwiches & Pastries
• N.Y.-Style Deli
Steamed Hot Dogs
2/89

Columbo Yogurt
3/99

Rt. 116, Sunderland (Next to Bub's Bar·B·Que)
·Mobil· OPEN 24 HOURS

Today is Edward
W.
Millette III's
(TED) Birthday
Please give him a call and wish him a Happy Birthday
253-7985

FUNNYBONES
Tonight! 7-1 AM
99¢ Schnapps Shots
12 kinds to choose from including new Choco-mint, Strawberry, Apple and Dr. McGillicuddy's
****
Come Play
Crazy Georges'
Trivia Contest
for Drinks and Laughs
RT. 9, HADLEY

Collegian photo by Michelle Segall
LINEMEN-Gary Wood and Stan Skarupski of Goodless Electric Co., Springfield, replacing a broken electric line Wednesday.

Media lacks minorities

By JOHN O'CONNELL
Collegian Staff

The lack of black and minority journalists limits the scope of reporting in even the best American newspapers, and as a result the public is not fully informed of events around the world or in their own neighborhoods, a Pulitzer Prize-winning editor said in a speech in the Campus Center last night.

Les Payne, national editor of Newsday and a national and international reporter for that newspaper, made the keynote address for the conference "Finding Minority Journalists For the 1990s" that continues through tomorrow in the Campus Center.

"Journalism is lagging behind other fields," in minority hiring and promotion, Payne said. "It is vital that these numbers be increased in order to save journalism."

Blacks and other minorities are the greatest influence on American music, many of the nation's greatest athletes are blacks, and blacks and minorities are elected into political leadership roles at an increasing rate. Yet there are no black reporters or editors on two-thirds of American newspapers, Payne said.

As a result, journalism "fulfills by and large the white American's right to know," and neglects the rest of the population, Payne said.

Payne, who won a Pulitzer Prize for his series "The Heroin Trail" in the early 70s, and who was nominated for another Pulitzer for his 1978 reports from the black Soweto slums in South Africa, said American journalism is "in very dire straits in terms of domestic reporting," and suffers from a "woeful lack of accurate reporting...from abroad."

Of the more than 170 foreign correspondents fielded by the New York Times, the Los Angeles Times and the Wall Street Journal, none are black, Payne said.

In Third World countries, these white reporters are sealed off "from what's going on so the American public doesn't know what's going on," he said. And black neighborhoods in New York City don't get covered because white reporters "sit around city halls talking to each other" instead of going out into the community, he said.

Thirty to 40 editors, publishers, reporters and journalism professors from the northeast are expected to attend the conference. Students from the area and from Howard University will also come for the conference and the job fair on Friday, said James Boylan, director of the journalism program at UMass.

The conference is sponsored by the UMass journalism and Afro-American studies programs and the American Society of Newspaper Editors Minorities Committee.

Carl Morris, ASNE minority affairs director, said the conference is the first of eight to be held at colleges around the country. The conferences are part of an ASNE program "of having minorities... in the newsroom equivalent to their percentage in the United States population by the year 2000," Morris said.

Minority groups are expected to make up 20 percent of the U.S. population by 2000, Morris said, and today only 5.8 percent of reporters and editors are from minority groups.

Book refund complaints still a problem at Textbook Annex

By BILL LEMANSKI
Collegian Correspondent

The rush for purchasing books at the University of Massachusetts Textbook Annex is over and according to its manager, student complaints were minor in comparison to previous semesters.

Annex manager Dean Scudder said it has been "the best semester we've had in terms of public service."

As usual, however, there were some students that had complaints about the refund policy.

"It stinks," said Andrew Maxfield, a sophomore communications studies major when asked to comment on the refund policy.

§"you can't get a refund unless you drop the course. That's unfair," Maxfield said.

He said he believes that most students are on a tight budget and they are paying for an education, too, therefore the university should allow them to refund the new texts.

The average student spent approximately $125 on books this semester, according to Dadmun and Rita Lindemann, another employee at the annex.

Managers estimated that on a busy day about 10,000 students purchase books. Technical books such as chemical or electrical engineering texts are the most expensive and English paperbacks are the cheapest.

The refund policy states that books with incorrect titles may be returned within seven calendar days of the first day of classes. After that, incorrect titles may be returned within 48 hours of purchase providing the book is new and unmarked. Also, textbooks from dropped courses may be returned during September. Returns must be made within 48 hours of dropping a course, and students must present a receipt and a copy of their drop form dated and validated by the registrar.

§Refunds on a textbook cannot ne made unless the register receipt accompanies the book, according to the refund policy.

§Finally, students should not remove used price labels. The refund policy states that used books without a label are not returnable.

§"The biggest hassle is when students write in new textbooks," said Lindemann. She said that publishers won't take these books back. She stresses the fact that books must be brought back early enough so that the annex can resell them. "My roomate borrowed the book," is a common excuse, said Lindemann, however the annex must stick to its policy.

§Alha Otero, a senior economics major said, "I neen a note from the professor in order to get my refund."

Otero had purchased a book while on the waiting list for a class. She ended up not getting into the class, so she needed a refund.

Students don't read the refund policy carefully enough," said Mark Dadmun, a 20-year-old chemical engineering major and an employee at the annex. He said that a refund policy is given with every receipt.

UMass students arrested at protest

BY JEANETTE DeFORGE
Collegian Staff

Three University of Massachusetts students were arrested Monday during a protest outside the Charles Stark Draper Laboratory, a research facility that designs the guidance systems used in the cruise and MX missiles.

The students, Jonathan Spaulding, 20, Carolyn Frimpter, 20, and Dylan McCormich, 19, were arraigned Tuesday. They pleaded guilty to charges of trespassing and were each given a choice of a $65 fine or 25 hours of community service. The three studentschose to do the community service.

"We will probably work on the (burnt) peach pagoda in Leverett," said Spaulding, a Soviet Studies major.

Nearly 200 protestors met at the Cambridge Post Office and held a press conference Monday. Protestors walked to Draper Lab and set up a legal picket on the sidewalk to protest nuclear weapons.

"We were part of a support group," said Randi Saslow, a CASIAC major, who was not arrested, "Every affinity group has one person who does not get arrested. These people offer support, hold the protesters' valuables and offer bail money."

"I feel that unless drastic action is taken, our species will kill each other. Getting arrested is such a small matter compared to the human race committing suicide," said Frimpter, a public health major. "There were 60 riot policemen in formation with billy clubs. It was very intimidating," Frimpter said.

The protestors set up a legal picket on the main road outside Draper Lab, Spaulding said. At 8:15 a.m. people participated in a "die-in" where people lay down and refused to move. They did not take part in the initial die-in but when police started to make a line and push people back into the legal area (outside the courtyard), the group joined in the civil disobedience, Spaulding said.

"They picked us up and carried us over to the paddy wagon," said Frimpter. "Part of the statement was not to walk," said Saslow.

The police were very intimidating, but they were gentle," said Frimpter. There were no injuries, no instances of police brutality, said Spaulding. "We felt that it (the protest) was successful," he said.

Collegian photo by Paul Desmarais
MAKING NEW FRIENDS-Preschoolers Angela, left, and Mary get acquainted Tuesday by the Campus pond.

Institute to offer school workshops

By JIM AVERILL
Collegian Staff

The Equity Institute of Amherst, a human relations consulting firm, will offer workshops on homophobia and heterosexism in high schools statewide beginning Oct. 25.

The institute's co-director, Dr. Joan Lester, said the workshops are being offered in reponse to requests from more than 30 high schools in Massachusetts and Connecticut.

The institute is a non-profit organization of consultants, psychologist and educators that offers workshops on human relations. They received a $5,000 grant from the Windham Foundation of Washington, D.C. to offer the workshops.

Dr. Carole Johnson, the other co-director of the institute, oonceived and wrote the grant, which calls for workshops that will "Help make teachers more aware of the subtle and blatant forms of heterosexism and homophobia, and to give them successful strategies for intervention," said Lester.

Homophobia is the fear or hatred of gays and lesbians and the resultant stereotypes, Lester said. Heterosexism is the institutional or personal oppression of gays and lesbians, she added.

The workshops, which will be free to Massachusetts teachers and guidance counselors, will be conducted by Dr. Lester and Cooper Thompson, a consultant from Boston.

Thompson is a national expert on adolescent sex roles, particularly male roles, and he holds a master's degree in social work.

Homosexuality in high schools has been a taboo subject but a significant portion of these students are homosexual, Dr. Lester said. A Kinsey report placed the estimate at 10 to 20 percent.

TONIGHT

JUSTIN RYAN'S
The Meeting Place

The Party Never Stops!

BEAT THE CLOCK

7-9 50¢ Drinks

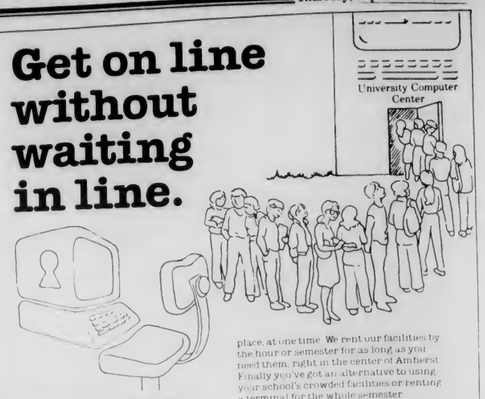
9-10 75¢ Drinks

10-11 1.25¢ Drinks

Try our Pub Menu

served till 12:00

Get on line without waiting in line.



"Unbelievable!"

It's not bad enough doing endless hours of homework for your computer courses. To make a tough situation worse you've got to plan on spending precious time standing in line every time you want to get on line. And your odds on getting a print out by the time you need it are about as good as getting seats to a Michael Jackson concert.

That is, of course, unless you do your computer homework at the Computer Access Center.

16 chairs, no waiting!

The Computer Access Center is a unique workspace that offers everything you need to do all of your computer work in one place, at one time. We rent our facilities by the hour or semester for as long as you need them. Right in the center of Amherst. Finally you've got an alternative to using your school's crowded facilities or renting a terminal for the whole semester.

The Access Center has it all: 16 work stations fully equipped with computers and terminals, complete modem systems that allow you to tie in to Cyber, VAX or any other mainframe that you have the access code for, on site letter quality and dot matrix printers for instant print-outs, and experienced and knowledgeable computer pros always on duty to help you.

Of course, the best part is that at Computer Access Center you don't have to waste precious time standing in line. Now you can plan ahead and reserve time on a terminal that will be waiting just for you.

So what are you waiting for? Call today and see for yourself how easy and inexpensive renting time on a computer can be.

COMPUTER ACCESS CENTER INC.

ON SITE HOURLY/SEMESTER RENTALS 256-1213

79 South Pleasant Street, Amherst, MA (in left rear of Peter Pan terminal building)

Mon.-Thurs. 9 am-11 pm, Fri. 9 am-6 pm, Sat.-Sun. 10 am-6 pm

2 FREE HOURS OF COMPUTER TIME!

Call today, mention this ad and use one of our computers for two hours at no cost!

Offer good during business hours Monday through Friday until October 15th

Check Out the Party Tonite at

Changes

From 7 PM til 12 AM

- FREE Hamburgers, Hot Dogs & Munchies until 12:00 AM
- Ladies arriving before 10 pm receive

2 for 1 mixed drinks until 12:00 AM

NO COVER

- Available for Private Parties

Rt. 9, Amherst 256-8284

GIVE US TIME TO REPAY YOUR LOAN.

If you've gone to college on a National Direct Student Loan, a Guaranteed Student Loan or a Federally Insured Student Loan made after October 1, 1975, and your loan is not in default, here's a way to get your loan repaid.

Use the Army's Loan Repayment program. Each year you serve on active duty reduces your indebtedness by one-third or $1,500, whichever amount is greater. In a three-year enlistment, you eliminate your debt.

Additionally, you could learn a valuable skill and take advantage of many other Army opportunities. If you have the time, we have the money.

Check it out with your Army Recruiter.

Call your Northampton Recruiters
241 King St, Northampton
584-2157

ARMY. BE ALL YOU CAN BE.

'Attention'

A Back to School Special

College Drug offers you a back to school special!
With Any $35.00 Purchase the Cosmetic Counter offers a Full Makeover with our Professional Cosmetician
Belinda of Boston

COLLEGE DRUG
9-5 weekdays/ 9-6 Sat./ 9-3 Sun.
4 MAIN STREET AMHERST Phone 253-7523

Offer good only from Sept. 1 - Sept. 30, 1984

★provost

While Chancellor Joseph D. Duffey will continue to have final authority over all campus affairs, the executive vice chancellor's role will enable Duffey to spend more time on external affairs, O'Brien said. These duties include meeting with the trustees, regents and state legislators.

O'Brien said he feels his academic background, in contrast with Duffey's administrative one, will aid his role as faculty spokesman in the administration. He stressed communication, "trying to personalize a system that can be very impersonal," as one of his primary goals. "If we're lazy about it, we run into the habit of being bureaucrats," he said.

Among the University issues with which O'Brien has become familiar, he said he sees the general education proposal now before the faculty senate as "very much a step in the right direction" for the university's future. The proposal replaces the current B,C,D and E core requirements with coursework in three categories: "social world," "biological world" and "analytical reasoning."

The new provost is concerned "about a system that overspecializes at the undergraduate level" and said he believes in "a broad based education." He also commended the faculty and student input from various colleges on the proposal: "I'm surprised and pleased this type of discussion goes on university-wide."

Of the changes required to implement the new course structure, O'Brien said some areas, particularly the mathematics or quantitative reasoning division, would require more restructuring than others.

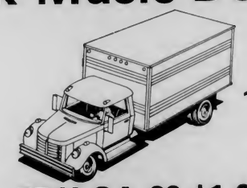
"I don't think it's going to mean a whole reworking of the system-some areas (will need) some reallocation of funds, but not on a gigantic scale," he said.

adirondack music

"THE STEREO PROFESSIONALS"
15 East Pleasant St.
Amherst, MA 01002
(413) 253-3100

Adirondack Music Does It Again

OPEN THURS & FRIDAY TILL 9 PM



Be Early

TDK SA 90 $1.99
Maxell UDXLII C-90 $1.99

We Bought Out The Leftover and Demo Inventory Tech HiFi, Orange CT Warehouse and we have a truckload of great stereo and video deals to pass on to you!!!

AR Speakers at up to 40% and more off
(like AR 28B for $199.95 pr)
JVC Receivers and Cassette Decks from $79.95
Akai Receivers and Cassette Decks from $99.95
Marantz Receivers from $99.95
Pioneer Receivers and Turntables from $69.95
Technics Turntable from $59.00
Technics SA 211 Receiver 20 w/channel $75.00
Onkyo Receivers and Cassette Decks at ⅓ off and more
Teac Cassette Decks at ⅓ off and more
19" Color TV's from $199.95
13" Color TV's from $189.95
19" Color Remote from $259.95
JVC VCR's from $399.95
Panasonic VCR's from $329.95

All Quantities Limited
Items Subject to Prior Sale

We also bought a bunch of car stereos in with this deal
Clarion Pioneer Jensen and much, much more

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian
Founded 1870
Editor in Chief James P. Shanahan

Managing Editor John O'Connell
Business Manager Andrew May
Business Manager Elizabeth Young
Production Manager Mark Roden
Executive Editor Rita Murphy
News Editor Greg Brown
Black Affairs Editor Yadira Betances
Women's Issues Editor Rebecca Thatcher
Arts Editor Christine D. Marini
Sports Editor Peter Abraham
Photo Editor Andrew J. Heller

OPINION

The opinions expressed on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the university unless otherwise noted.

Land reform hurts economy

Peter Dow

A major problem in El Salvador today, besides the guerrilla war against the Salvadorans, continues to be the "land reform" package supported by the United States. The creation of this economic policy came from the Carter Administration, and specifically from Ambassador Robert White.

In principle, the land reform was meant to create a large landowning population with a stake in preserving democracy and private ownership. This attempt was indeed a noble one; to attain "social equity" and economic justice through private ownership is nothing to be argued against. But the land reform, however fine on paper, has been a disaster in reality. Some action must be taken if the Salvadorans are to repair the great damage land reform has inflicted on their agricultural economy.

In 1979, the land reform program set out to break up the 194 large Salvadoran farms into a larger number of" cooperatives." Since 1980, these large, and in many cases very efficient, farms have been converted into 317 cooperatives with over 31,000 members. Yet there is still no evidence to prove that each member actually owns his own plot. Tenant farmers have received property titles along with their 17 acres of land, but the government stipulates that they are not allowed to sell their "property" for at least 30 years (How can you truly own something if you can't sell it when you want to?). Furthermore, the titles the tenants received are not clear titles until the former landowners are duly compensated. Since the Salvadoran government has been concentrating much of its financial resources to fight the communist guerrillas it has been hard-pressed to pay all the landowners. Naturally, this has generated much discontent. The violence that is not created by the guerrillas often originates from these uncompensated landowners, many of whom are not wealthy. The American media labels this "right-wing" violence.

Not only has land reform created widespread civil strife, but it also has been a disaster for El Salvador's agricultural economy. From some Salvadoran industry figures for the period of 1978-1983, we can see these detrimental effects: coffee production has decreased 50 percent; sugar production has lost 43 percent; cotton production is down 65 percent; and milk production is off 50 percent. One of the factors that has contributed to the drastic drop in milk production is that ranchers, fearing that the government would seize their property, have slaughtered their herds or have driven them into Guatemala.

The 317 cooperative farms are also performing very badly, because the farms are operated not by the farmers but by bureaucrats who are largely incompetent concerning agricultural production. A report earlier this year by the Inspector General of the U.S. Agency for International Development (AID) said that the new cooperatives "had massive capital debt, no working capital, large tracts of land that were nonproductive, substantially larger labor forces than needed to operate the units, and weak management." The figures also support this claim; the AID report estimates the total debt of the farms as a result of the land reform program is $400 million; and total crop tonnage production from the land reform sector has fallen 19.8 percent since the program's implementation.

Indeed, El Salvador's agricultural sector was progressing well before land reform and guerrilla violence. The overall economy (agricultural and industrial) was growing at a real annual rate of about 5.5 percent through the 1960s and 1970s. El Salvador had realized that, with Central America's most crowded population, it was too small to hand out a farm to everyone. So El Salvador began industrializing rapidly, providing jobs for rural people and developing a strong middle class. But all this growth and progress has since been stopped. In short, what would be best for individual growth and for the general population in El Salvador is a good dose of capitalism, instead of this over-socialized "land reform" which was crammed down their throats but the U.S. Congress.

The new skateboarding revolution is here

"Hey, I'm Joe Skateboard. How do you do? I cruise around and my image evokes memories of past crazy antics way back then, when so-and-so did who-knows-what to what's-his-name..."

Skateboards for basic transportation; they are relatively cheap and people who ride them would show for it-they would be more physically fit and coordinated. Faster movement means less time wasted. The economy is bound to benefit.

This natinal movement will breed at the traditional progressive microcosmic sites: the college campuses, California, and the Pioneer Valley.

This is how it all affects me: I am able to glide from my central Amherst residency clear down to the Baybanks X-press 24. From there it's smooth sailing past all the sororities and frats right into the Fine Arts Center, where it's posted, "No Skateboarding" (or roller skates, either).

A relaxing slalom past the Campus Pond at there I am at the Student Union; traveling time: seven minutes.

The time I save in a day is measurable. The war and tear on my shoes, the annoyance of time-consuming bureaucratic hassles, made unbearable by the long walks betweenoffices.

The new revolution has been sparked. Dig out those old transportation devices. Rip down those idiotic signs. Roll proudly out into the bright of day and say, "the time has come."

The time has come.

Rob Skelton is a Collegian Correspondent.

Meese lacking integrity

John Gilman

Last week, Jacob A. Stein, the independent counsel investigating the conduct of Edwin Meese, issued his report. Commenting on the limitations of the investigation, which only explored whether or not there was sufficient evidence to prosecute Meese, Stein's inquiry determined that no federal law had been violated. While the investigation concluded that Meese's conduct had not been criminal, the independent counsel refused to comment on "the propriety or ethics" of the Attorney General nominee. That will be left for the Senate Judiciary Committee's hearing on the Meese nomination, when and if Ronald Reagan is re-elected. The Judiciary Committee should reject the Meese nomination.

After the independent counsel's report was released, President Reagan declared his intention to resubmit Meese's nomination, commenting that "it's always gratifying when the honor of a just man is vindicated." This being the fourth year of the Reagan presidency, we have all become accustomed to Reagan's questionable grasp of factual detail, so it is not too surprising to hear him speak of a just man's name being cleared. The facts say otherwise.

While the investigation found insufficent evidence to prosecute Meese, the picture of Meese's integrity and competence that emerges from the report is far from flattering. On the subject of the interest-free $15,000 loan made to Meese's wife, Ursula, by Edwin Thomas, (who was later appointed to a federal post) which Meese failed to report on financial disclosure forms for 1981 and 1982, the counsel accepted Meese's claim that the omission was "inadvertent." The investigation's decision revolved around the apparent absence of a motive to conceal the loan. However, Stuart Taylor, Jr., interviewing Stein reported Stein's view of "the inherent implausibility that Mr. Meese could have failed to recall such a large loan," as well as "Mr. Thomas's assertion that he had remined Mr. Meese about the loan a short time before Mr. Meese filed a financial disclosure form." Stein also cited "the lack of attention he (Meese) devoted to his financial disclosure forms." The evidence clearly points to a willful omission of the loan, as well as a cavalier attitude towards the law on the part of Meese. The fact that there was found to be insufficient evidence to prosecute should not be construed as an exoneration of Meese's conduct.

Throughout the investigation, Stein continually accepted the statements of those involved, drawing different conclusions that what logic seemed to point to. For example, Meese received $60,000 in loans from John McKean in 1981.McKean was later offered a position on the Postal Service Board of Governors. The investigation found no evidence of wrongdoing. Then there were the loans made to Meese by the Great American First Savings Bank. By coincidence, four officials from the bank received federal positions. It seems highly improbable that the services rendered to Meese played no part in these appointments.

Regardless of whether or not there was ample evidence in each instance of improper conduct to prosecute Meese, it is quite clear that the man is unfit for the post of Attorney General. Hopefully, January will see a senile Ronald Reagan retiring to his California ranch, and someone of higher repute being nominated to be Attorney General. In the event that this does not happen, the Senate must not foresake its Constitutional duty to review federal appointments, and keep those who are unqualified from attaining such important positions. Ethically, Edwin Meese is unfit to hold any position of power.

John Gilman is a Collegian columnist.

Calling all voters

William Spain

America is back. The economy is booming. Our armed forces are receiving the level of attention and respect that they have been missing for so long. A rebirth of dedication to God is building throughout the land. People are finally returning to the old ways of family and morality. These things have brought us to the threshold of an exciting new period of national development. Only anatheistic doomsaying communist would disagree.

Now that I have been dismissed as a fool by the radicals and have written the words that put the Reagan Youth into a patriotic trance,it is time to get down to business. I would like to address those apolitical people and undecided voters who are still reading. The rest of you can just put the paper down, o.k.? Besides, you all probably have a class to go to or something.

First of all, vote. It's fun, it's easy, and it gives you a great excuse to use all day on November sixth. Also, if you don't you lose your right to complain for at least four years. How is that for an incentive? Remember- you only have until October ninth to register. It doesn't matter if you live in Eastern Mass., you can still vote here if you are a student at the Zoo or any of the other fine educational institutions in the Pioneer Valley. Tell your friends.

Vote blind if you have to, but it is always best to learn at least a little about the candidates and issues at hand. You may regret your decision later if you don't. For instance, if you are an ecologically-minded person, you would do well to take note of the fact that most major environmental organizations have endorsed one of the presidential contenders. I won't tell you which one. Look it up.

Perhaps you have heard about the Supreme Court. There is a very good chance that the next president will get to appoint four new justices. In case you didn't know, that governing body can have more impact on our personal lives than anyy other in our political system. Those guys get to interpret our Constitution, they cannot be removed from office except by a lengthy and complicated impeachment process, and they have been known to live practically forever. If you feel strongly (one way or the other) about abortion, you will want to look closely at Ronnie and Fritz and how they stand on that question. That is only one of the important things the Court decides.

So come on and jump on the bandwagon. You might even enjoy exercising your rights. Presidential politics can be great entertainment. I guarantee that the debates will be every bit as engrossing as Monday Night Football. The big difference is that there is so much more at stake. Believe it or not, it isn't all just a bunch of bullshit. Here's a good way to make the election even more interesting- place a few bets on it. Me, I'm taking Mondale and the points.

HIGH NOTES
Singing Telegram & Balloon Delivery Service
FOR A GOOD TIME:
balloons, belly dancers & costume supplies
masks, wigs & make up
visit our store 2nd floor - Carriage Shops, Amherst
or call - 549-1430

THE BAMBOO HUT IS BACK IN NORTHAMPTON!
MANY SEAFOOD DISHES
DAILY LUNCHES $2.80 & up including Sunday
11:30 a.m.-10 p.m. Sunday-Thursday
11:30-11:00 p.m. Friday & Saturday
TAKE OUT SERVICE
586-8687 586-8688
84 Pleasant St., NORTHAMPTON
CHINESE & POLYNESIAN FOOD

COMIC BOOKS SCIENCE FICTION
FUNTASY FANTASY
18 Main St. Amherst, MA
A NEW SHOP FOR YOU!

Rent One of Ours
Car
Truck
Passenger Van
North Amherst Motors
Rt. 63 No. Amherst
549-2880

PERSONALIZED STYLE HAIRCUTS
$7.00 (with this coupon)
$10.00 with Shampoo and Blow Dry
$11.50 Long Hair
Please Call for an Appointment
Expires 9/30/84
Styles by Deborah
55 University Drive
Amherst, MA 549-5610
FREE CONSULTATIONS

MASS. APPROVED INSPECTION STATION
RADIAL TIRE SALE
P155/80R13
$29.95
-Includes Mounting- plus MA State Tax
North Amherst Tire & Auto Center
"Full Service Tire Store"
78 Sunderland Rd., No. Amherst, MA
Across from Walrobe's Store
549-4704

JAZZ BRUNCH
featuring New Moments
Sunday, Sept. 30 1 pm - 3 pm
Hamlin House basement FREE
sponsored by East Side Arts Council
Hamlin House Council
& Residential Education East
Coffee, Tea, Bagels, Donuts

PIZZA-RAMA
Our Specialties Are
Delicious Pizzas
Hot Oven Grinders
Spaghetti
Shells
Ravioli
Manicotti
Eggplant
FREE DELIVERY!
CALL 253-3808
256-0115
Any Large Pizza 3 FREE SODAS (cans) when you place your order please tell us you have coupons
Any Med. Pizza 2 FREE SODAS (cans) when you place your order please tell us you have coupons
Any Small Pizza 1 FREE SODA (can) when you place your order please tell us you have coupons

The GREEN PARTY IS COMING TO UMASS!
Representatives of the Green Party, the coalition of peace & ecology movements opposing deployment of US missiles in Germany will speak on:
THE GREEN PARTY & CURRENT STATUS OF THE PEACE MOVEMENT IN GERMANY
with speakers:
HILDEGARD VON MEIER
editor of FRIZ, a national peace newspaper, and a major organizer of Women for Peace.
EVA QUISTORP
editor of the book WOMEN FOR PEACE, and a member of the National Coordination Committee of the West German Peace Movement.
DR. ALBERT STATZ
peace researcher from the Free University of Berlin, and a member of the Green Party's National Peace & Disarmament Committee.
THURSDAY SEPT. 27, 8 PM
CAMPUS CENTER 174-176
SPONSORED BY:
STPEC, Women's Studies, Dept. of AfroAm, the German Sept (UMASS); Hampshire College Peace Lecture Series, AFSC Disarmament working group, I.A.S.H., West European Studies Program

"Keep the Summer Alive"
CAPE COD at THE PUB
with Cape Cod's #1
"D.J. GARY TITUS"
of PUFFERBELLIES and CAPE 104
- Special this Thursday Night -
Official "Miller" Painters Hats
to the first 75 people
after 9:00 PM
• Miller Posters • • Miller key chains •
Experience our new menu.
Miller High Life Beer
THE PUB
15 E. PLEASANT ST. AMHERST MA
413-549-1200

ATTENTION: LADIES

Discover The Area's Plushest New Club

Aerobics Asylum

- Continous aerobics and calisthenics classes
- Area's largest exercise floor over 3500 sq. ft.
- HOT BUBBLY WHIRLPOOL
- DESERT DRY SAUNA
- Spacious locker facilities
- Elegant vanity area
- Private changing rooms & showers

Certified Instructors — Open 7 Days a week

OPENING NOW
IN HAMP PLAZA, NORTHAMPTON

Flexible Programs
For Flexible Student Schedules
Call 586-7503

Join Us for Dinner & Dancing!

Friday - 'Wishing Well Night'
75¢ Well Drinks!!
3pm - Close

Grace Zvaglio
Pianist / Singer
8:30 - 12:30

Saturday - Dance to "Touch and Go"
2.00 Cover - Diners Free
8:30 - 12:30

TOP of the CAMPUS
RESTAURANT & LOUNGE
11th Floor • Campus Center • UMass

We have a number for every question

CALL IDB 545-1555 OR TIPS 5-1540

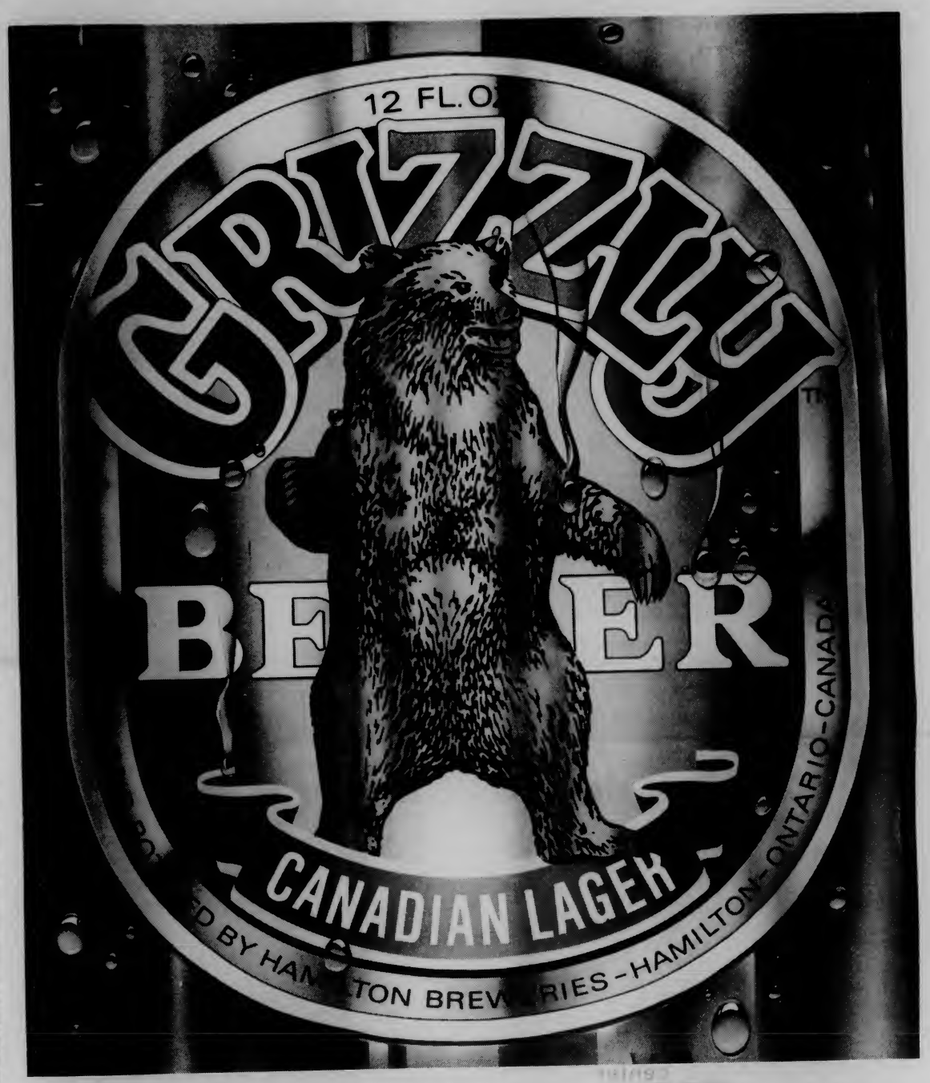
1010 BCP bilingual collegiate program	1509 Concert Information
1302 Pass-fail option	1532 The Weather
1310 National student exchange program	1515 The Daily Events.
1410 Every woman's center	1504 Fine Arts Center
1435 Tutors and tutorials
2425 University ombudsman
2681 Lecture notes	and much more
2688 Communications skills center
2355 Student activities office
1558 Greek system

Information Data Bank
Taped Information Phone Service
A Service of the Dean of Students Office

idb tips



Canada's Bear of Beers is here!

Down from the North Woods of Canada comes
Grizzly Beer. Not just another Canadian beer, but a rare breed of brew.
An authentic Canadian lager—naturally aged, so it's remarkably smooth. With a flavor no other Canadian beer can stand up to. The bear of beers is here!

GRIZZLY™
CANADA'S BEAR OF BEERS
Imported by Van Munching & Co., Inc., New York, N.Y.

We Save You More Than Time

MOOSEHEAD BEER
6 pack, 12 oz. bottles
$3.99
plus deposit
By the case
$12.99

BLACK LABEL BEER
24/12 oz. cans
$7.49 case
plus deposit

FREE
Football Action Coin
with purchase of 22 oz.
Slurpee

Coke, Diet Coke Tab
2 liter bottle
$1.19
plus deposit

Garelick
ORANGE JUICE
$1.39
½ gal.

DORITOS
Nacho Cheese Flavor
12 oz. bag
$1.89

BURRITO
10 oz.
99¢
each

HAM DINGER SANDWICH
$1.69

FREEDOM 7 ELEVEN
Open 24 Hours a Day, 7 Days a Week
at 116 Amherst Road, Sunderland, Mass.
Prices good thru September 30, 1984

THE
PEER EDUCATOR/COLLOQUIUM PROGRAM
Presents
FALL 84 COLLOQUIUM
Teach a Colloq — Evening/Weekend Classes — Take a Colloq
Deadline for Colloq Proposals:
Wed. Oct. 3, 1984
Colloqia are pass/no record one credit courses
For More Info Contact:
Colloquium Offices -
EAST: Brett House, Hills North 5-0422
SOUTHWEST: John Adams Lobby 5-2803

Sensational Sale!
on
New and Used Mopeds Available from $100.00 - $250.00

Catch a PED while you can!!
Call NOW
ask for Jack 549-6797

Everyone's talking about...

A great place to eat with friends...

Breakfast served anytime, have a delicious deli sandwich for lunch — Dinners served all nite.

Open 24 hours on Weekends
'til 3 a.m. Sun.-Thurs.

Good Food, Great Prices, Attentive Service

To complement our menu we are now offering beer and wine till midnight.

Sun.-Thurs. 6 a.m.-3 a.m.
Fri. & Sat. 24 Hrs.
Next to Super Stop & Shop Campus Travel Center
Rte. 9, Hadley/Amherst
256-6666

James H. McManus eating place

SENIOR CITIZENS DISCOUNTS 2-8 P.M. 20% ALL OTHER TIMES 10% Does not apply to specials.

Fine Arts Center Concert Hall
UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AT AMHERST

Houston Ballet
SWAN LAKE
with the Houston Ballet Orchestra
TUESDAY, OCT 9, 8PM
TICKETS: $13, $11, $9

BOSTON CHAMBER MUSIC SOCIETY
SATURDAY, OCT 13, 8PM
TICKETS: $5

DUKE ELLINGTON'S
SOPHISTICATED LADIES
National Broadway Touring Company Production
SUNDAY, OCT 14, 3PM, 8PM
TICKETS: $23.50, $20.50, $18.50

DIZZY GILLESPIE
WEDNESDAY, OCT 17, 8PM
TICKETS: $11, $9, $7

Five College Students Half-Price Tickets available at Fine Arts Center Box Office, Springfield Civic Center, and DATATIX Outlets
Call (413) 545-2511 or 1-800-243-4842
VISA

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIED

Monday - Thursday 8:45 - 3:45 • Friday 8:45 - 2:30 • Cash in advance • 5 consecutive days 5% discount • 10 consecutive days 10% discount • 15 consecutive days 15% discount • phone number free

ADVERTISING

Advertise FREE in the RIVER VALLEY AD. Advertise items you want to sell or buy. Call 532-9498

APPLE COMPUTER FOR RENT

Apple II available for $250 or best offer for the semester. Pascal is included. Call 256-1841. Ask for Ruthie

AUTO FOR SALE

Dodge customized Van '77 engine in gd running order catm int call 549-4682

1973 Super Beetle exc. cond. in/out. Rebuilt engine, radials, heater, very dependable. $1500 call evens/weekends 586-2192 keep trying

74 Mustang excellent condition 73000m $1100 call 549-4716

1974 Toyota Corolla Wagon - runs $150 call 256-1421

74 Volks Bus runs good, good floors $600 or BO 546-5703

73 Malibu good engine no body rust call 549-4354 late eves $800 or BO must sell

BITH and KITH

The girls with the biggest mouths on campus. Have an incredible weekend and come back ready to stay!! I love you guys! Love, The Load

BOLTWOOD PROJECT

The last recruitment meeting is this Wednesday 7:00 pm in CC Rm 917 credit available. Come find out more!

BOSTON - SHAWN S

Were you there the night of the blackout? If you know anyone on Shawn's Softball Team - call Barb 549-5163

COUCH WANTED!!

Looking for a small couch in good condition. Please call 546-8894

ENTERTAINMENT

VIDEO VIDEO VIDEO VIDEO Rock A Video entertainment giant 10 and 15 foot screens for dorms and Greeks. "MTV" video music call 549-7144

Rock A Disc Rock A Video entertainment guaranteed events for Disc Jockeys, Bands and Video. Call 549-7144

WICKED AND WILD DJ's audio and visual entertainment for the 80's 584-6712

For the best in dance music call 5 College Sound 586-0245 or 586-7689

FOR RENT

Refrigerator Rental 2 cubic ft R & P Package Store free delivery 253-9742

1 bdrm in Puffton sterling Nov 1 $318 per month call 549-4716

One and two bedroom apts. On bus route cats okay. All utilities included. Wmsburg 268-3624 584-3095

2 bedrooms in 6 br house Oct 1 thru Aug 86 on bus rt Echo Hill rent 185 + ask for Jay 253-9824 eves. weekends

FOR SALE

2 Deed Tickets Hartford, Mon. Oct. 15 good seats section 102 464 for pair 253-5607 keep trying

COMPUTER TERMINAL for sale DEC VT56 with hardcopy option. Like new. Very good buy. $475!! 549-6994

Bicycle 20" Panasonic 10 speed 25 lbs high tensile tubing $135. 549-6180

Brand new 3000 series RAL speakers never used totally crankable $300 or best offer 549-6351

Bicycle Columbia women's 3 speed good condition $65 or BO 549-7571

Moped brand new only 500 mi excellent condition 253-9418 Brian eve

Hide a bed sofa $250, table $10, single bed $35, stereo $45, 549-6876

FOUND

Found: Ring to claim send sketch to 208 N Leverett Rd. Leverett MA

HELP WANTED

Part time jobs perfect for students! Get experience, get paid for political work. Hazardous waste clean-up, energy issues, voter education. Mass Fair Share is building a part time staff in public education and fundraising. Hours 5-10 PM. Flexible schedule $60 - $120 wk. Call 586-8713

Enthusiastic Students to apply Asst. to the Speaker/Student Senate. Work on student/campus/social issues. Experience w/in SGA helpful, but not necessary. 10 hrs./wk. $3.35/hr. For more details call 545-0341. Pick up applications in rm. 420 SUB. Application deadline Oct. 1, 4:00 pm. SGA is an AA/EOE.

Exotic Dancers wanted full or part time 4 to 12 hr/ 247-5582

Newspaper Deliverers needed on campus. No car necessary. Good pay, 7 days a week 1 hour/day. Call evenings 253-7009

Groundfloor opportunity reliable, ambitious salespersons wanted for home party plan. Attractive pay scale. $50 bonus possible 256-8005

Drivers wanted at Pinocchio's. $6 7/hr. Apply in person for details. 1177 N. Pleasant.

Part-time Bartender and waitresses wanted evenings and weekends. Apply in person Northampton Bowl.

Sweet Tooth needs drivers part-time must be over 18 years and own reliable car with insurance apply in person at rear of 79 S Pleasant St Amherst 7-8 pm Thurs and Friday or 10-12 pm Saturday. 256-8102

INSTRUCTION

Know your car Basic Automobile Workshop. 28 hours including classroom and shop. Limited enrollment 253-2098

IOTA GAMMA UPSILON

Invites all University Women to Open Rush! Oct. 1st Bar-B-Que 5 PM call 256-0874 for more info.

LOST

$100.00 Reward Stolen Kayak yellow with UMOC # serial No. WEM50830983 NOA call 549-0148

A purple canvas bag initials T.M. outside Brittany call Mark 256-6415 nights 536-6705 no questions asked

MOTORCYCLES

1976 Honda CB360T 16800 miles recent tuneup, new tires, chain, battery last year. $475/BO 549-0437

1977 Suzuki 750 12000 miles clean and fast new parts $800/BO 253-9015

PERSONALS

To the guy in the yellow and white rugby: (at Bersee Friday night) - so what if you aren't on the swimteam - I still think you're cool!! Lets meet again!! From the girl in white pants and beige sweater P.S. Answer through the personals

Undergraduate Business Club Members Social Hour/Meeting Monday, Oct. 1 @ 6:30 Campus Center room TBA (check UBC Board in SOM)

Lori Happy Belated Birthday. We have to go out Saturday and celebrate it call me and we'll make plans Mari

RABBIT

Free dwarf bunny, very cute, quiet, and litter trained. He needs a good home. Call after 4:00, 546-9366

$60. REWARD

Blue Icelandic Wool Sweater. Hand-knit. Lost 9/18 on campus. Restore my faith in humanity. Call 6-4808/5-2034/6-4800

ROOMMATE WANTED

One masterbedroom in house private bath want two people $147/month each plus heat two miles from campus 253-9892

Wanted one female roommate to share two bedroom Lantern Ct apts call Deb at 665-4157 ASAP

SERVICES

ATTENTION STUDENTS For all your typing and word processing needs — term papers, dissertations, resumes, etc — call Elite Business Services 783-1732

TYPING - Southwest - 48 hr notice required. $3/page call Lisa 6-8366 after 6 pm

TARA BHAVNANI

Get psyched for Slaterhood! You are the best Little Sister. I love you - Schmecky

TODD RULES

To our favorite Collegian photographer. Happy B-day we love you!! The Meter Maids

TRAVEL

Montreal Weekend Party Nov 2-4 $68. includes RT transportation from your campus, 3 days 2 nights hotel in DT Montreal welcome party all taxes and tips drinking age is 18 optional Bruins Montreal tickets call today Eric 549-5017

WANTED

Female to share large bedroom in Townehouse call 549-4685

Trade motorcycle for music equipment Suzuki GN400X value $500 bass or PA 533-0601 Dave

WANTED TO RENT

Looking for apartment: Townehouse, Brandywine, Puffton areas beginning Spring 86 semester. Will pay generously to take over lease. Call 546-9756 or 546-9467

Sports

Soccer teams win one, lose one in RI

● Women suffer first loss at Brown

By GERRY DE SIMAS
Collegian Staff

PROVIDENCE,R.I.-- Brown's Lynn Marinello capitalized on a defensive mistake and led the Bruins to a 1-0 upset win over the University of Massachjusetts women's soccer teawm last night at Stevenson field.

Marinello intercepted a Jeanne Paul pass intended for Laurie Stuks in front of the UMaqss goal and lofted a shot under the crossbar at the 15:20 mark of the first half.

The Bruins made the lead stand up, frustrating the MInutemen defenders with a tough, physical ballgame.

"We felt UMass was very young with six freshmen, so we felt that if we could stay with them in the first 25 minutes, we would be in the game," said Brown head coach Phil Pinecince.

UMass started off slow in the first half as Brown dominated early. But in the latter stages of the first half and in the second half, UMass created more opportunities for themselves.

"In the second half, they really took it to us. They're a tough team, said Pincince.

UMass outshot Brown 27-12 during the entire game. They had their chances in the second half, but they just couldn't put the ball in the net.

"We gave up a goal and started pressing," said UMass head coach Kalekini Banda. "We were trying to force it."

UMass almost succeeded in scoring many times. Freshman Carolyn Micheel had several good opportunities, including one shot in front ot the net, which she put over the top crossbar. Jamie Watson also made some key offensive plays.

But the breaks bounced with the Bruins.

"We shut down DePauw (Julie) and Bowser (Kristine). They are big guns," Pinecince said.

"We are not young anymore. We didn't play young in the second half," said Banda. "We played better this time against a better team."

Brown, now 4-0, has never lost to UMass in Providence. The Bruins came into the game ranked third in New England and 9th nationally. The Minutemen suffered their first loss of the season, their record falling to 3-1-2.

Brown's goalie Kathy Kostie led the shutout, registering 21 saves. She was helped on defense by Teresa Abrahamson, the Bruin co-captain.

The next two games for UMass will be at home. The Minutemen, 3rd ranked in the nation and number one in New England, will play Vermont College on Satruday at 2 p.m. and Colorado College on Sunday. GAme time is at 11 a.m.

● Men score late to win one over PC

By SCOTT HOOD
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts men's soccer team stands on the threshold of cracking the top three rated teams in New England in the next polls by virtue of a stunning 2-1 victory Wednesday over the second ranked Providence Friars in Providence.

UMass, which wasn't even ranked among the top ten teams in the region in pre-season polls, was the fourth ranked team coming into yesterday's game. The win raises the Minutemen's record to 4-1-2.

The winning goal was scored by John Shannon with 2:35 remaining in regulation. That broke a 1-1 tie that was created by earlier goals in the second half by Providence's All New England forward John Farren and UMass' Andy Bing. The two teams played a scoreless first half.

Farren got the Friars on the board first at th 58 minute mark. Seven minutes later Bing tied the score, setting the scene for Shannon's heroics. On both UMass goals they caught the Providence sweeper back in the offensive zone and moved the ball out quickly, creating man-advantage situations.

"I'm pleased. We showed great heart and poise in rallying back from the deficit," said UMass coach Jeff Gettler.

"We followed the game plan perfectly. We wanted to take advantage of their tendency to move the sweeper back up. In the first half we played well. In the first twenty minutes of the second half we didn't play so well and they controlled play. After that we came back."

Although Shannon's goal technically won the game, UMass chances for victory were enhanced greatly when Don Donahue made a superb diving stop on a Providence shot with the Friars up, 1-0. Shortly thereafter, Bing scored, tying the game. From then on, the momentum belonged to the Minutemen.

Although they failed to score, the Minutemen dominated play in the first half, creating many more scoring opportunities than the Friars, which, as expected struck to a strategy of feeding the ball to the forward line by long passes from the back line and long punts from the goalie.

There was more good news for the Minutmen yesterday. Matt Cushing, who suffered a hamstring pull the day before the Rutgers Invitational, played well in limited action.

As usual,the fullback line was superb in front of Donahue. Mike Rudd, Matt Dowd, and Mike Runeare hibited the Friar attack to a minimum, especially in the first half.

UMass travels to the University of Vermont on Saturday to take on the Catamounts. A crucial game with the third-ranked Yale Eli is scheduled for Oct. 3 in New Haven, Connecticut.

Volleyball romps over outclassed Holy Cross in 3 straight

By Roger Chapman
Collegian Staff

You'd think that a coach's formula for a winning team would consist of a lot of technical mumbo-jumbo that only the coach and a dictionary would understand. The truth is, the best strategies are the most simple, and the University of Massachusetts volleyball team executed head coach Elaine Sortino's strategy of serving, passing, and good defense almost flawlessly as the spikers handed Holy Cross a 15-8, 15-3, 15-9 shellacking at NOPE last night before a good sized-crowd.

"I'm very pleased with our overall performance," said Sortino."We really served tough."

'Served tough' is an understatement at best. The Minutemen connected on all but two serves throughout the entire match, most of those coming from the hands of Mickey Barys, Debbie Cole, and Patti Grant.

After a sluggish start, the Minutemen jumped out to a 6-1 lead behind the hitting of Sally Maher and the serving of Grant. UMass miscues allowed the Crusaders to close to 6-5, but UMass increased its lead to 9-5 thanks to two Barys service aces and an Annie Ringrose kill.

Again, Holy Cross came back drawing to a 9-8 count. The game then became the Maher-Grant show as Grant served and Maher hit the spikers to a 15-8 win. The spikers connected on 100 percent of their serves in game one.

Game two proved to be the same story, as the Minutemen breezed to a 15-3 blowout win. Again serving was the story as Debbie Cole and Grant served UMass to a 7-0 lead.

Holy Cross made a brief run to make it 7-3, but UMass responded with a run of their own, scoring eight straight points. The rally was throttled by Maher, who, on the night conveted 18 of 20 crushes leading UMass offensively.

UMass fell behind, 5-1 in game three. But, again, Minutemen serving proved to be the difference. The spikers converted on all but one serve as the sweep was complete, 15-9.

"Our serving never gave Holy Cross a chance to get in to their offense," said Sortino. "We were real consistent on our transitions."

The spikers raised their season record to 9-4 going into this weekend's UMass Classic Volleyball Tournament.

Collegian photo by Andy Heller

Sophomore Mickey Barys (12) and freshman Marcy Guiliotis form an impenetrable wall over Cristina Fierres of Holy Cross in leading the volleyball team to a convincing victory in three straight games.

Sports Log

Tony Betros

Just a few thoughts...

It took 39 years and a lot of heartache, but the Chicago Cubs finally won their division. Rick Sutcliffe, 16-1 since coming to the N.L., nailed it down Monday night. Now their next opponent will be the San Diego Padres, surprises themselves. It should make for a very interesting playoff... It's hard to believe that the last time the Cubbies won it, Truman was president and we were just winding down WW II (the big one). To get an idea of what the Cub fans have been through, just ask the Physical Plant to replace a light bulb in your room-- yes, its been that long.

Lets give a Fenway farewell for Ralph Houk, who steps down as coach of the BoSox. Here is a 65 year old baseball man who still doesn't know anything about a bunt or a hit-and-run. He was, however, adept at one skill, he could signal a touchdown with the best of them... Even Houk couldn't have helped the Pats last Sunday against the Redskins as New England only accumulated 17 yards rushing.

Jet end Mark Gastineau, while awaiting sentencing, showed up to practice in a $156,000 Rolls Royce Cornische Convertible. Remember that Gastineau was involved in an altercation at Studio 54 when he lost in arm wrestling... But what a machine that must have been. I wonder if Gastineau could find a place in the Campus Center Garage.

I mean how would a Lot 31 sticker look on that car?

A young man who may very soon afford a car like that is B.C.'s Doug Flutie. What a performance against North Carolina, 6 TD passes on Saturday night. The Heisman looks golden for him but we'll have to wait and see on his pro career. He could be a superstar or a nobody after a year or two. But right now, he's really turning a lot of heads... We are seeing college football games galore on TV with the new ruling. Everywhere you turn, there's a different game on. I think the same person who thought of that also has stock in M*A*S*H syndication.

Speaking of TV, MTV had as its guest VJ, get this wrestling champ Hulk Hogan. This included an interview with Cindi Lauper. I wonder if the Hulkster has a future at 60 minutes... What would be better is to get Hulk to appear on Sports Talk, you know, the hit radio show that's sweeping the country. It's on WMUA, Thursday at 6 p.m. The air waves will never be the same.

No more need be said, for now.

sports at a glance

UMass Schedule:
Field Hockey: at Providence, 3:30
Women's Tennis: vs. Smith College at NOPE Courts

pro scores

NY Mets 7, Philadephia 1
California 2, Kansas City 1
Chicago 9, Minnesota 3
Toronto 8, Boston 4

The Massachusetts Daily NEW ENGLAND'S LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY

Collegian

Volume CXV, Issue 18 UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AMHERST (545-3500) Friday, September 28, 1984

Collegian Photo by Brian K. Gonye

A CLOUD'S SILVER LINING -- Judith O'Connor performs in a Kinetic Body Sculpture yesterday outside the Student Union Gallery. The sculpture will be presented again 12 to 2 p.m. today.

Study planned for building of sports center

By ANNE McCRORY
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts Building Authority will study the feasibility of a $15 to $18 million sports and convocation center beginning this fall, the dean of the School of Physical Education announced yesterday.

Dean David Bischoff said the study will examine locations, design plans, cost estimates, and means of financing for a structure to seat up to 12,000 people. If the project is approved by the University Board of Trustees, student fees will be raised to partially fund the construction, which is not expected to be completed for six years. State funds would also be used.

"If we undertake (the building), student fees will undoubtably be involved, partially at least," Bischoff said. "But it is unlikely any students currently here would be hit with a fee increase because of the time needed to complete the project , he said.

The facility will be used for basketball games, concerts, graduation ceremonies and hockey games if an ice rink is included, he said. The study will also evaluate implanting turf and lighting at Alumni Stadium, which is now used only six times a year.

The project will proceed on the "fastest possible track" but will not be completed "before five or six years," Bischoff said.

"But we're very optimistic about that. Those of you who know how much we need a place to bring together our students for a number of functions know it's worth waiting for."

The largest indoor sports facility on campus now is the Curry Hicks Cage, which seats 4,200. That building is scheduled to undergo $2.5 million in renovations this fall and would continue to be used for gatherings if the larger facility is built.

Rep. James Collins, D-Amherst, said he was in the process of reworking the language of the $3 million appropriated in last year's capital outlay budget to build any ice rink so that it can be used to renovate other campus buildings. The trustees will make bonding and finance arrangements with the UMRA, he said.

UMass has not had a hockey team for more than a decade. Last fall a group of alumni lobbied Collins and other legislators for money to build a rink and revive the hockey program, and the state then appropriated the $3 million.

"State funding will continue and increase for our academic buildings," Collins said. Some money may be used to expand University Health Services, he added.

The state feels UMass-Amherst "should be the gemstone for its entire educational system" and the construction of a large facility would be a "resource to the community" and help improve the University's image and sports teams, Collins said.

"We feel the entire project is a very hopeful one," Bischoff said.

Charges against student senate are dismissed

By TOM MIDDLETON
Collegian Staff

Governmental Affairs Committee Chairman Joel Rabinowtz, will appeal last night's unanimous Student Supreme Court Decision dismissing the case he brought against the Undergraduate Student Senate.

In his request for judicial review, Rabinowitz charged that the senate acted illegally when it invalidated last May's Southwest Area presidential elections by not filing a formal protest and by failing to hear from its coordinating committee.

The senate voted to nullify the election of Bill Collins and Arthur Stevenson to the office of Southwest Area Co-Presidents,after students Sharon Jackson and Paula Williams said they were unfairly barredfrom the ballot.

Student Attorney General Susan Gladwyn requested that the case be dismissed on the grounds that, " Nowhere in the allegation is there a reference to a violation of a specific rule or regulation.

" Clearly, the petition as written has failed to provide the respondent with adequate information to the preparation of a proper defense," she said.

According to Gladwin, the only regulation cited by the prosecution was " Chapter 10 of the Senate's By-Laws." "This general reference is to a document which governs many aspects of the Student Gonernment Association's election process," she said.

Representing Joel Rabinowitz, Senator Jay Flynn said, "We're appealing the dismissal and the procedure of the dismissal. We were not given a chance to give a rebuttal, " he said.

According to Roye, Flynn must file an appeal form then three new judges will be chosen to decide if the appeal is valid. If they decide it is valid, a request for judicial review will be resubmitted and a new trial will be arranged.

Dukakis proclaims Oct. 5 AHORA day

Tribute to Hispanic service

By YADIRA A. BETANCES
Collegian Staff

BOSTON-- Massachusetts Gov. Michael S. Dukakis signed a proclamation yesterday designating Oct. 5 as AHORA anniversary day at the University of Massachusetts.

AHORA the Latin American student organization, is celebrating its 12 years of service to the Latin American student community. These services have included recruitment and retention of Latin American students of UMass, the founding of the Bilingual Collegiate Program, cultural, educational and political events designed for cultural awareness and upliftment.

"AHORA is an action word meaning now," Linda Velasquez, the group's coordinator, told the governor. She explained that the name was extracted from an outcry resulting from little community action in helping the group obtain funding to establish support programs for Latin American students at UMass.

AHORA'S board of directors was welcomed to the State House by Hispanic leaders including Jose C. Masso, the deputy director and Hispanic liasion in the Governors's Office of Community Services, and Mayra Rodriguez-Howard, director of the Hispanic Committee for Community Affairs Office.

Rodriguez-Howard said opganizations like AHORA make the Latin American presence "felt" in the Commonwealth.

In regard to the proclamation, Rodriguez-Howard said, "It is important to understand AHORA's efforts and that the governor realizes what they are doing."

She said AHORA is a good model which dispells myths about the stereotypical Latin American as portrayed by the media and society.

"It's a pride to Hispanics. It's saying something is working."

Although the governor meets with groups like AHORA weekly to sign such proclamations, Masso said, "it will come back to him."

Masso said that bringing groups like AHORA to the governor's attention shows "positive factors within the Latino community."

These contributions are not only an example to the Latin-American community, but also to the community at large, Masso said.

It is and example for Latinos that will serve to set future goals," he said.

Velasquez said the proclamation is a step in the right direction. She said AHORA will now get the recognition and respect it deserves.

Proclaiming its anniversary day will also recognize the "seriousness and commitment by past members to better their lives and that of others."

"It is a symbol of the strength of the organization and its good reputation. It is a good name not only to AHORA, but to UMass for having a student organization of that kind," said Edwin Cancel, a group member.

Inside:

Gromyko addresses UN.....p. 2

Editors discuss minority hiring.....p. 5

Cinemascoop.....p. 9

"Too much of a good thing can be wonderful"
— Mae West

World and National News

Senate defense plan stalls MX

WASHINGTON (AP)-

The Senate yesterday sent President Reagan a compromise defense plan that will boost Pentagon spending by about 5 percent in the fiscal year beginning on Monday, but cuts deeply into his array of strategic programs, including the MX nuclear missile.

The voice vote, following House approval a day earlier, completed legislative action on a defense authorization bill which had tied Congress in knots since the two chambers passed vastly different versions in June.

But Reagan's retreat on the MX a week ago broke the log-jam and sparked a compromise package which resolved more than 1,200 differences over the huge defense budget, accounting for more than one-third of federal spending.

Technically, the authorization bill calls for spending of $297 billion in fiscal 1985. But as part of an agreement with House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., and Senate Majority Leader Howard Baker Jr., R-Tenn., a companion spending bill, which actually provides the money, will be capped at $292.9 billion.

That represents a cut of more than $20 billion form the $313.4 billion budget submitted by Reagan early in the year, and less than half of the "real"- or inflation-adjusted-increase he proposed.

Gromyko attacks policies, U.S. trust in UN speech

UNITED NATIONS (AP)-

Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko of the Soviet Union delivered a stinging public retort yesterday to President Reagan's conciliatory overtures, calling for "concrete deeds rather than verbal assurances" from the White House.

He said U.S. policymakers "have a great deal to do if they want their words... to be trusted."

Gromyko, who is to meet with Reagan at the White House today, devoted most of his 75-minute speech before the United Nations General Assembly to sharp attacks on "absurd" American policies increasing the threat of war.

However, he left the door open for improved relations.

"The Soviet Union believes it is precisely concrete deeds rather than verbal assurances that can lead to normalizing the situation in our relations with the U.S. The U.S.S.R. will not be found wanting. Every American family should know that the Soviet Union wants peace and only peace with the U.S.," the 75-year-old foreign minister said.

Secretary of State George P. Shultz, who listened impassively from the second-row bank of seats assigned to the U.S. delegation, said as he left the hall that he did not like the speech.

Gromyko later met with Democratic presidential candidate Walter F. Mondale.

Mondale said they talked mostly about arms control issues but touched on human rights, the Middle East, Central America and Southeast Asia.

Gromyko was not available for questions. But the Soviet news agency Tass quoted him as saying Mondale had sugested some ideas that,"should they materialize in Washington's policy, would open up certain possibilities for bringing the positions of the two powers closer and for subsequent agreements on arms limitations and disarmament, above all in the field of nuclear weapons."

UPC PRODUCTIONS Presents

Tix on sale Monday Sept. 24

R.E.M.

Monday Oct. 15

F.A.C. UMass

Students $7.50 & $8.50

General Public $9.50 & $10.50 Tickets Still Available

UMass ID required with student ticket.

Tickets on sale at Fine Arts Center, Springfield Civic Center and Stop & Shop locations in Northampton, Holyoke, Greenfield and Pittsfield. No cash, checks or recording devices.

Today's Staff

Night Editor — Anne McCrory
Copy Editor — Bob Burgess
Layout Technician — Ansel Zinter
Photo Technician — Brian Gonye
Production Supervisor — Conor Plunkett
Production — Lisa Arseneault, Julie Slater, Andrew Held, Jeff Collins, Deborah A. Rugg, Lisa Horan

安城中國飯店

Amherst Chinese Foods

Best Mandarin Food

62-64 MAIN ST., AMHERST

BEER & WINE LICENSE

Fresh Vegetables from Our Own Farm

CLOSED WEDNESDAY

WE DO NOT USE MSG OR ARTICIAL COLORING

253-7835

Amherst Flics presents

JAWS

Fri, Sat, Sun

8:00, 10:00 $1.50 admission

PHI - SIGMA - KAPPA

Little Sisters Rush Party

Friday Sept. 28th 10:00 PM

All University Women Invited

Free Refreshments Served

entertainment provided by Bryan Jerome

special guest appearance by Jeff Campbell

* non-alcohol beverages will be served

Welcome! National Student Exchange Students!

There will be a welcome to UMASS and welcome home Happy Hour at The Pub for all of you that are here on exchange, UMASS students returning from exchange, and any others interested! Please stop in and:

Meet new friends!

Find out about the NSE Club and sign up for it!

Enjoy some munchies!

Enjoy some liquid refreshments!

(Mass. legal drinking age is 20. Bring I.D.)

Date: Monday, October 1, 1984 Time: after 7 until 9 p.m.

Place: The Pub in Amherst (located behind Carriage shops in town)

HOPE TO SEE YOU ALL THERE!!!!

Spirit Haus

DOMESTIC BEER SPECIALS

Rheingold cans..$7.65 case + dep.
Bud loose cans....$10.95 case + dep
Miller & Lite loose cans .....$10.95 cs + dep
Michelob loose cans .....$12.50 cs + dep

IMPORTED BEER SPECIALS

Becks Light or Dark .....$3.95 6 pk + dep
O'Keefe.....$3.50 six pack + dep
Dos Equis.....$3.95 six pack + dep
Holland Brand..$3.95 6 pk + dep

LIQUOR SPECIALS

Kimnoff Vodka 1.75 L....$8.75
Pott Rum 750 ml.....$5.95

WINE SPECIALS

Wine Coolers 4 pk.....$3.95
Folonari Soave 1.5.....$4.29

338 College Street Amherst 253-5384

In Store Wine Tasting Saturday 12:00 - 6:00 pm

not responsible for typographical errors

the Hungry U Restaurant

FANTASTIC HAPPY HOUR MUNCHIE MENU!

! HAPPY HOUR !

2 for 1 all bottled beer

2 in 1 well drinks

potato skins only $1.99

3 pm - 6 pm, 9 pm till closing

7 days per week

55 University Drive, Amherst 549-5713

West German party fears "battlefield"

By IAN POLUMBAUM
Colleian Staff

West Germany must adopt "foreign policy of our own to combat the arms race and rising East-West tensions, three representatives of that country's Green Party said last night at the University of Masschusetts.

Albert Statz, a professor at the Free University of West Berlin and member of the party's National Peace and Disarmament Committee, said the Greens stood for "a Germany which is more autonomous...which reflects our real security needs."

To an audience of about 200 which overflowed a Campus Center meeting room, Statz said that his compatriots fear the Soviet Union, but that based on studies of the present military balance, "the feeling that the USSR is going to cross the border and conquer Western Europe is not a very realistic one."

More worrisome, he said, was the deployment of American first-strike nuclear missiles on the Continent and a "confrontative" US military strategy which links the European theatre with conflicts in other parts of the world. "We are in (great) danger even if war begins in the Third World," he said. "We are the battlefield."

The Green party began in 1979 as a coalition of enviromentalists, trade unions, women's groups, and members of several existing parties opposed to the deployment of medium-range Pershing II and cruise missiles in Western Europe. But Green representative Eva Quistorp said that party grew out of "a growing democratic opposition...an anti-fascist tradition" that has existed in Germany since 1945.

Representative Hildegard von Meier, like Quistorp also a member of the international group Women for Peace, said it was a myth that the peace movement is anti-American: "The peace movement really represents the democratic part of America...the democratic tradition."

Statz added, "We need your help (in)a common discussion...to formulate a strategy.

"We don't have a solution. We have a debate," he said.

Members of Germany's Green Party in the Campus Center last night, seated left to right: Hildegard von Meier, UMass Lecturer Bill Strickland, Eva Quistorp, Albert Statz.

BOG locates new offices for groups

By JOHN VINCENT
Collegian Staff

After an hour of debate, the Campus Center Board of Governors last night found new offices for three student groups.

The Off-Campus Housing Office will move into room 423A of the Student Union Building, where the Student Government Association (SGA) Communications Office is presently located. The SGA Communications Office will move into room 304 of the Student Union Building, now occupied by two Recognized Student Organizations (RSOs).

The RSOs, fraternity Alpha Phi Omega and sorority Gamma Sigma Sigma, have been guaranteed space in the Student Union Building, most likely in the Key Functions Office.

The University administration forced the Off-Campus Housing Office out of its office in Hasbrouk, effective next Monday, to make room for new computer terminals.

The SGA Communications Office recently bought an AM veritype typesetter, which needs good ventilation so it can be used. Their office did not have proper ventilation.

Board of Governors' chairman Bob Abele said the board's executive committee had looked at the space needs of different groups and the benefit to students each group offers and came up with the Alpha Phi Omega and Gamma Sigma Sigma office as the odd man out. When the deadline for moving the Off-Campus Housing Office approached, the executive committee decided to draw up the move proposal.

Michael Wall, president of Alpha Phi Omega, and Joan MacDonald, president of Gamma Sigma Sigma, said they were upset with the lack of consideration for RSO groups in general. They said the board did not plan well for the space move.

Wall said they were given only one hour and 15 minutes notice that they were being considered for a move but could defend their claim to their office space at the meeting.

Collegian Photo by Brian K. Gonye

AS THE BELL TOLLS – Michael Mastrolotaro, left and Bruce Bliven of Landmark Rigging Inc. work on steeple renovations yesterday afternoon at South Congregational Church in South Amherst.

Details given on interests in S. Africa

By RICHARD MARTIN
Collegian Staff

University Treasurer Robert H. Brand yesterday released documents showing the University of Massachusetts sold its 2,466 shares of stock in General Signal Corporation Sept. 17 because of that company's business activities in South Africa.

Earlier this week, Brand said he had sold stock in one company in response to a student group's complaints that the firm did business in South Africa, but he had refused to name that company and others under investigation for the same reason.

The UMass Board of Trustees in 1977 ordered divestment of University stockholdings in any company that does business in South Africa, where a white minority rules an apartheid system and the black majority has no political rights.

Brand also released letters from the presidents of the Foxboro Co., Thomas & Betts, and Proctor & Gamble in which they denied that their businesses operate in South Africa. Brand has yet to get a reply from the fifth company, Tektronix,which is under investigation by his office and suspected of operating in South Africa.

UMass' shares in General Signal, when sold, were valued at $119,896.92. A University student group, the South African Divestment Coalition,(SADC), says UMass still owns shares in four companies who operate in South Africa (Foxboro, Thomas & Betts, Proctor & Gamble, Tektronix) in direct contradiction to the divestment policy. As of Thursday afternoon that stock was worth $207,826 according to the New York Stock Exchange.

In reply to Brand's letter, which asked if his company did business in South Africa, General Signal Corporation President David T. Kimball said,"I believe most American companies doing business in South Africa have contributed more to the change in apartheid than any other force.

"Pioneering efforts in equal pay, non-segregation, equal opportunities have made massive changes. Abdicating the market to those who aren't so motivated will prove a great dis-service to your legitimate cause," Kimball said.

Members of the SADC said they had yet to hear from Brand on whether he had acted on the new information given to him Monday, in which the students charged that the four remaining companies are still doing business in South Africa.

Coalition member Debbie Piltch said Kimball's argument is "often" used to justify the existence of investiture in South Africa and in turn it justifies racism and a status quo.

Amherst hosts Amnesty meeting tomorrow

By WILLIAM COLLINS
Collegian Correspondant

Amnesty International will hold a conference at Amherst College tomorrow to help students interested in forming campus chapters.

Amnesty International is a group that searches out and tries to correct human rights violations, specifically those of prisoners.

The agency has over 250,000 volunteer members worldwide, including 13,000 in the United States. It is made up of campus groups and a urgent action network.

The conference is a regional meeting for members of Amnesty International Campus Groups, sponsored by the Amherst College chapter. From 9a.m. to 6 p.m., the conference will include workshops on fundraising, a slide show on the medical aspects of torture, and two films.

One event, the slide show and presentation on the medical aspects of torture, will be open to the public. It is scheduled fro 11:30 a.m. in Chapen 201 at Amherst College.

Far East program receives grant

The undersecretary of the US Department of Education will present a $40,000 grant to the University of Massachusetts School of Management today to fund an internship program for 10 graduate students in the People's Republic of China.

Undersecretary Edward M. Elmendorf will present the award to the director of the Masters of Business Administration degree program, Bertil Liander. Liander said it is the second consecutive year the school has received the grant from the nationwide competition in which 23 grants were awarded last year.

The program will allow 10 students to travel in Japan, China, Hong Kong, and Singapore,while studying U.S.-China trade. Liander accompanied the group this past summer, and Management Department head Arthur Carlisle will go next summer, he said.

Police report $9,000 jewel theft

An Amherst resident reported $9,000 worth of jewelry missing from her house Monday. Police believe the theft took place sometime between August 25 and August 28.

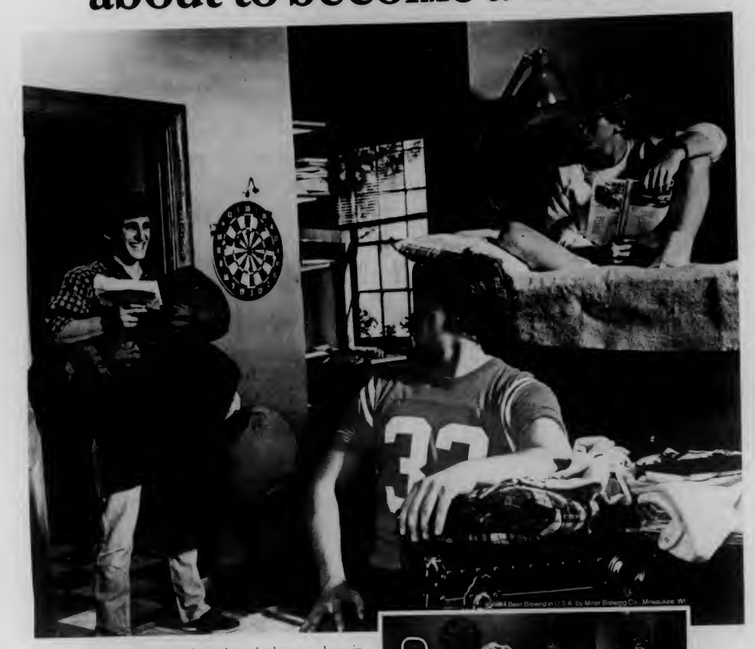
Police said the theft was not reported earlier bessuse the victim had a suspect and was going to resolve the matter privately. The suspect was found not to be responsible, however, and the incident was reported to the police.

Springfield police arrested a 22-year-old man Monday on a warrant issued in Amherst for indecent assault and battery on a child under 14. The arrest stems from an incident last April involving a 7-year-old female Amherst resident.

Police have been investigating the matter since September 17,when the girl's parents notified them of the assault. The suspect is being held on $500 bail, pending arraignment in Hampshire District Court.

—Phil Serafino

To every roommate about to become a friend.



Right now, about the only thing you have in common is the same room. But you and those strangers who moved in with you are going to crack a lot of books and burn a lot of midnight oil together.

You're going to discover the people behind the nametags, the ones inside the roommates. And who knows? Before the term is over, your roommates may very well turn out to be good friends.

To each of you we say, let it be Löwenbräu.

Löwenbräu. Here's to good friends.

LEARN TO FLY 665-2577

YOUR OWN AIRPLANE FOR ONE THIRD OF THE NORMAL COST WITH THE COLLEGIATE FLYING CLUB (UMASS R.S.O. FREE BUS TO AIRPORT IN NORTHAMPTON.) CESSNA 150 GROUND SCHOOL STARTING

Rent One of Ours

Car
Truck
Passenger Van

North Amherst Motors
Rt. 63 No. Amherst
549-2880

amc THEATRES
$2.25 MATINEE & TWILITE SHOW
MT. FARMS I 584-0153

Their time has come!
REVENGE OF THE NERDS
Fri at 10:30 @ 12:25, 7:30, 9:55
Sat at 12:30 @ 5:30 @ 12:25, 7:30, 9:55
Sun at 12:15 @ 4:30 @ 12:25, 5:30, 8:30

STEVE MARTIN LILY TOMLIN
ALL OF ME
Fri at 5:15 @ 12:25, 7:15, 9:40
Sat at 12:15 @ 5:15 @ 12:25, 7:15, 9:40
PG Sun at 12:30 @ 4:15 @ 12:25, 6:15, 8:15

It's Casual
The Wild Life
Fri at 5:15 @ 12:25, 7:30, 9:55
Sat at 12:30 @ 5:15 @ 12:25, 7:30, 9:40
PG Sun at 12:15 @ 4:15 @ 12:25, 6:15, 8:15

GHOSTBUSTERS
BILL MURRAY DAN AYKROYD
Fri at 5:00 @ 12:25, 7:15, 9:30
Sat at 12:15 @ 5:30 @ 12:25, 7:15, 9:30
PG Sun at 11:45 @ 4:00 @ 12:25, 6:00, 8:30

HAMPSHIRE 584-7556
CHARLES BRONSON
The Evil That Men Do
Fri at 5:00 @ 12:25, 7:30, 9:55
Sat at 12:15 @ 5:30 @ 12:25, 7:30, 9:55
R Sun at 1:45, 5:45 @ 12:25, 6:15, 8:15

SMURFS AND THE MAGIC FLUTE | KARATE KID
Fri at 4:30, 10:15 @ 12:25, 7:00, 9:30
Sat at 12:30 @ 12:25, 4:30 @ 12:25, 7:00, 9:30
Sun at 1:30 @ 12:25, 3:15 @ 12:25, 5:45, 8:15

Irreconcilable Differences
Fri at 4:45 @ 12:25, 7:15, 9:40
PG Sat at 12:00 @ 4:45 @ 12:25, 7:15, 9:40
Sun at 11:00 @ 3:15 @ 12:25, 5:45, 8:15

UNTIL SEPTEMBER
THE amc LATE SHOWS!
FRI & SAT at 12:15 SEATS $ 3.50
ROCKY HORROR | PINK FLOYD THE WALL
AC/DC LET THERE BE ROCK | SCANNERS

Here's an exciting texture statement of smooth and snakeskin leather on a 1 inch heel by "Jazz" available in grey, black, wine, red, brown.

SHOE BIN
187 n. pleasant st. amherst

Sensational Sale!
on
New and Used Mopeds
Available from $100.00 - $250.00

Catch a PED while you can!!
Call NOW
ask for Jack 549-6797

Black Affairs

Minority recruitment efforts start with everyone

By LAURA YEE
Collegian Staff

Perspectives on goals in employment, recruiting and improving minority hiring in the newsroom were discussed in the second day of the American Society Newspaper Editor's Northeast regional seminar on "Minorities in the Newsroom: Finding Minority Journalists for the 1990's" at the University of Massachusetts.

In response to "Goals for Minority Employment on Newspapers" James L. Medoff from Harvard University told a group of about 50 editors, reporters, professors, adminstrators and students that the Boston Globe is keeping their commitment made to a group of Black ministers last year in hiring more minorities to the newspapers staff.

Although figures of blacks compared to whites in the newsroom is "still way below the national level, things are getting better," Medoff said.

In 1979, only 59 out 2,595 employees at the Globe were minorities compared to the 1983 figures of 127 out of 2,589, Medoff said.

On "Recruiting Minorities for Professional Education," Chester Davis, professor of Afro-American Studies at UMass said the entering number of minorities to college "are beginning to shrink because fees are going up."

"Money is drying up in various places. This hurts the poorest minorities that are the hardest hit," Davis said. "A lot has to happen on the University level. Pressure needs to be put on the University admissions."

All of the speakers on "How to Improve Minority Hiring in the Newsroom" agreed networking must be established through high schools, and college graduates to open doors for potentially qualified blacks and minorities.

Margy McCay, assistant personnel manager at the Associated Press said the AP is beginning to increase the numbers of blacks in the newsroom by offering internships to blacks and minorities.

"Most people don't work for the AP right out of school. There is a two year minimum experience required," McCay said. "We attend conferences, recruiting fairs and we work with a clearing house that works with minority banks," she said. "It's not an easy thing to do and it takes time, money and commitment."

David Squires, a Newsday copy editor, commented that white staffers should understand the historical aspect of hiring minorities.

"In 1968, the Kerner Commission, which investigated the causes of the '68 riots, gave a mandate to the press that they should not allow these problems (of rioting blacks) to go unnoticed," Squires said.

"It's still the responsiblity of all staff to know why a Black had been hired when their qualified friends were turned down for the job," Squires said, "Ten years after that, in 1978, the percentage of minority staff on newspapers had only risen to two percent."

Vicki Ogden, an assistant managing editor for the Middlesex News, agreed, noting that new black staff must also be aware of the context in which they were hired, and of the prejudice that may be there.

"We too think one of the ways to improve minority hiring is to try to get them young and train them," Irving Kravsow, associate editor at the Hartford Courant said.

Addie Rimmer, a Black recruiter for the Wall Street Journal, questioned whether newspapers were using their own minority staff to help in the recruitment process.

"I think we should be utilizing a resource that's already there," Rimmer said.

But Charles Moses, a Newsday reporter, said this question was "a double-edged sword. In a lot of cases, black recruiters are brought in (then left alone) and this black person in left holding the bag in making judgements that may be subjective."

7-ELEVEN We Save You More Than Time

MOOSEHEAD BEER
6 pack, 12 oz. bottles
$3.99 plus deposit
By the case
$12.99

BLACK LABEL BEER
24/12 oz. cans
$7.49 case plus deposit

FREE
Football Action Coin
with purchase of 22 oz.
Slurpee

Coke, Diet Coke Tab
2 liter bottle
$1.19 plus deposit

Garelick ORANGE JUICE
$1.39
½ gal.

DORITOS
Nacho Cheese Flavor
12 oz. bag
$1.89

BURRITO
10 oz.
99¢ each

HAM DINGER SANDWICH
$1.69

FREEDOM 7-ELEVEN
Open 24 Hours a Day, 7 Days a Week
at 116 Amherst Road, Sunderland, Mass.
Prices good thru September 30, 1984

AMHERST BALLET CENTRE
29 Strong St.
549-1555

Evening classes
10-week courses
starting Oct. 1

Ballet, Jazz, Modern Dance

course fee; $50.00
Registration fee; $2.
Phone to Register

PERSONALIZED STYLE HAIRCUTS
$7.00
(with this coupon)
$10.00 with Shampoo and Blow Dry
$11.50 Long Hair
Please Call for an Appointment
Expires 9/30/84
Styles by Deborah
05 University Drive
Amherst, MA 549-5610
FREE CONSULTATIONS

AMHERST CINEMA
DOUBLE FEATURE $2.50
Friday and Saturday
An Affair to Remember with Cary Grant
Desk Set with Hepburn and Tracy
Sunday thru Tuesday
Two Cary Grant Movies!
Bringing Up Baby with Katherine Hepburn
I was a Male War Bride with Ann Sheridan
DOWNTOWN AMHERST

Student Chapter #524
Music Educator's National Conference
presents

THE BIRDS
Directed by Alfred Hitchcock
Friday, September 28
5:00 show $1.25
7:00, 9:00, 11:00 shows $1.75
Bezanson Recital Hall
Fine Arts Center
AND

FUNNY GIRL
Starring Barbra Streisand
Saturday, September 29
5:00 show $1.00
7:00, 9:00, 11:00 shows $1.50
Bezanson Recital Hall
Fine Arts Center

Letters to the Editor

Hypocrisy in Student Senate Decision

The Undergraduate Senate is made up of hypocritical idiots: The Senate, last year whole-heartedly endorsed the formation of the Jewish Caucus. The Jewish Caucus was formed in response to anti-Semitic actions in the Senate and at the University.

The insensitive clods who made up our alledged student representative body have pulled off one of their worst actions in recent months. The senate has some chutzpah to hold a meeting on the first night of Rosh Hashanah, one of the holiest days in the Jewish faith.

This action is not only offensive to the Jewish community, it is also offensive to the groups that the senate supposedly represents.

I hope you (the senators) feel good aboout what you have done. An apology just won't suffice.

Michael Altneu
Former SGA Senator and Former Orchard Hill Area Gov't. Pres.

The facts and only the facts, please

After reading the "commentary" in the Black affairs section of Wednesday's Collegian by Kimberly Burge, I have a few questions and comments.

Should I assume that from the response to the "lack of diversity" claim cited in this article that it is meant that "black music"is "reggae, funk, jazz, blues and gospel?" If so, I would like to point out that WMUA's present format includes: six hours of reggae, four hours of gospel,nine hours of blues, 19 hours of jazz and 26 hours of urban contemporary programming for a total of 64 hours out of a possible 168 weekly hours.

This is more than 33 percent of WMUA's total airtime. BMCP has 34 of these 64 hours for over 20 percent of WMUA's airtime.

For a community as diverse as that which WMUA broadcasts to, I feel that a radio station with a commitment to serve this community, as WMUA does with its programming including Israeli music, polka music, latino music, classical music, progressive alternative new music, country and bluegrass, soul, oldies, theater radio, comedy, news, sports, public affairs and funk, jazz, blues and gospel, has offered a suitable amount of "Black music": 64 out of 168 hours weekly for the black community!

I also feel that at 34 hours weekly, more than any other single group at WMUA, BMCP is hardly being phased out.

Burge, these figures do not lie. Next time you choose to assail WMUA I suggest you study the facts more carefully. We have.

William R. Scollins III
Charles A. Durham
WMUA Staff

But where is the other side of the story

As someone who is at least vaguely familiar with the topic of land reform in El Salvador, I feel it is my obligation to counter what I see as the deliberate campaign of misinformation that is being wagedxxy Peter Dow in his weekly column on the situation in Central America. I was previously amazed by Dow's partisan presentation on Nicaragua which he attempted to present as a factual account (he certainly had enough numbers) to set the record straight. I cannot systematically answer each point he has made in (yesterday's) column, but I would like to illustrate the type of presentation I think represents Dow's manipulative style.

His comments on the effects of the formation of cooperatives in El Salvador are a clear example. He says coffee, sugar, cotton, and milk production all went down as a direct result of the land reform, but in the period he is writing about it is not entirely clear that the reform is to blame for the massive disruption of the economy. The increasingly intensive violence linked to revolution, which has been the effect of the unification of the revolutionary forces (and more importantly the massive influx of military aid to the government from our own), would be a more revealing explanation for the entire situation.

This is a totally inadequate response to the entire article, but there are so many points which are open to debate included in his piece that it wouldbe a task too great for me to tackle in this short space, to put it mildly.

I challenge Dow to let me present the other side of the story.

Todd Little

AN IBM PCXT COMPUTER
WITH $1000 WORTH OF PRINTER
& WORD PROCESSING SOFTWARE
FOR $4095???
Not exactly. But if it weren't for the label you couldn't tell the difference!!!

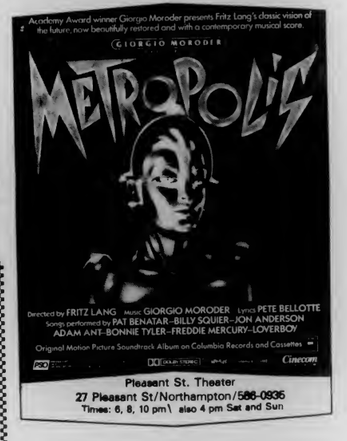
corona
The Compatible Company

- Desk Top or Portable
- High Resolution Monitor
- Graphics Capability
- 256000 character memory
- 4 free expansion slots
- 10 million character drive storage
- DOS 2.0 'PC Tutor', GW Basic, and 'Multimate' word processing
- includes Panasonic KX1091 Printer

MC VISA

228 Triangle St.
Amherst
Mon-Sat 10-6

Sale Ends October 13
Computer Works
549-7133



Academy Award winner Giorgio Moroder presents Fritz Lang's classic vision of the future, now beautifully restored and with a contemporary musical score.
GIORGIO MORODER
METROPOLIS
Directed by FRITZ LANG Music: GIORGIO MORODER Lyrics: PETE BELLOTTE
Songs performed by PAT BENATAR–BILLY SQUIER–JON ANDERSON
ADAM ANT–BONNIE TYLER–FREDDIE MERCURY–LOVERBOY
Original Motion Picture Soundtrack Album on Columbia Records and Cassettes Cinecom

Pleasant St. Theater
27 Pleasant St/Northampton/586-0936
Times: 6, 8, 10 pm\ also 4 pm Sat and Sun

SUNDAY BRUNCH
The entire regular menu and dinners are also available during Sunday Brunch.

MIMOSA
Freshly squeezed orange juice and champagne
1.95

KIR
Chablis and Cassis
1.95

BLOODY MARY
Eight ingredients make this a great one
1.95

CHAMPAGNE
By the glass
1.95

ORANGE AND GRAPEFRUIT JUICE
Freshly squeezed.
By the glass.
.95
Half carafe
1.95
Full carafe
3.75

EGGS BENEDICT
Poached eggs on english muffins with canadian bacon and topped with hollandaise sauce. Served with fresh fruit.
4.25

EGGS COMMODORE
Poached eggs on english muffins with sausage patties and topped with hollandaise sauce. Served with fresh fruit.
4.25

EGGS SARDOU
Poached eggs on english muffins covered with creamed spinach and artichokes and topped with hollandaise sauce. Served with fresh fruit.
4.50

CROISSANT & FRUIT
A croissant stuffed with ham and topped with a cheddar cheese and almond sauce. Served with fresh fruit and a poppy seed dressing.
4.25

KID'S PANCAKES
(12 and under)
.99

CRABMEAT FRITTATA
Crabmeat zucchini mushrooms onions with eggs baked and sprinkled with grated parmesan. Served with fresh fruit.
4.95

SUNDAY BRUNCH AT THE PUB...
Better than Breakfast in Bed.
From Eggs Benedict to Crabmeat Frittata
The best reason for getting out of bed is our terrific new Sunday Brunch. Four food-filled fun-filled hours every Sunday. 11am-3pm Experience our new menu.
THE PUB

15 E. Pleasant St.
Amherst, MA
413-549-1200

THE TRADITIONAL
Eggs to Order. Two eggs fried scrambled or poached with bacon and sausage links home fries toast or english muffin.
3.25

FRENCH TOAST
Served with bacon and sausage links warm syrup and fresh fruit
3.25

QUICHE OF THE DAY
Served with fresh fruit and a warm croissant

HAM AND CHEDDAR QUICHE
Served with fresh fruit and a warm croissant
3.95

SPINACH AND MUSHROOM QUICHE
Served with fresh fruit and a warm croissant
3.95

LOBSTER QUICHE
Served with fresh fruit and a warm croissant
4.95

OMELETTES
Create your own three egg omelette from a selection of fillings: ham, peppers, onions, mushrooms, cheese, bacon, tomatoes. Served with hash browns and a warm croissant.
3.95

DELANO'S

SEPTEMBER
SPECIAL
Twofer One
St. Pauli Girl
OCTOBER SPECIAL
Twofer One Heineken
plus our original
twofers and hors d'oevres
7 days 7 nights
4-6 pm 10-midnight
Proper ID a MUST
57 N. Pleasant St. 253-5141

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian
Founded 1870

Editor in Chief James P. Shanahan

Managing Editor John O'Connell
Business Manager Andrew May
Business Manager Elizabeth Young
Production Manager Mark Roden
Executive Editor Rita Murphy
News Editor Greg Brown
Black Affairs Editor Yadira Betances
Women's Issues Editor Rebecca Thatcher
Arts Editor Christine D. Manni
Sports Editor Peter Abraham
Photo Editor Andrew J. Heller

OPINION

The opinions expressed on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the university unless otherwise noted

Happy Birthday

The birthday party begins tomorrow and we're all invited.

The University of Massachusetts Bilingual Collegiate Program celebrates its 10th anniversary beginning tomorrow. In honor of the event, Massachusetts Governor Michael S. Dukakis has proclaimed next week Bilingual Education Week here and throughout the Commonwealth.

BCP and AHORA help students in the bilingual communities of Massachusetts and New England to gain acceptance to the University and to successfully complete their college education.

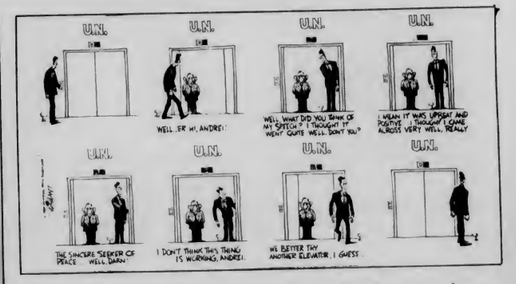
There are 460 participants in the program this year. They receive help with job placement, financial aid, academic and personal counseling through BCP.

Bilingual Education Week will include a reception for BCP students, an exhibit of prints from Puerto Rico, a BCP students art exhibit, music and dance performances, an award ceremony hosted by AHORA, a student organization active in promoting social and cultural events for Hispanic students, and the week will conclude with a Gala Celebration next Saturday in the Campus Center Auditorium.

Many groups and individuals will participate in celebrating BCP and AHORA's birthday and they should be proud of their efforts thus far. We as a community should show our appreciation to them and especially to BCP for 10 years of dedicated and needed service to UMass by participating in as many events as possible.

The BCP has been growing strong for 10 years and AHORA for 12, may they both continue to grow and have many more birthdays.

Unsigned editorials reflect the majority opinion of the Collegian Board of Editors.



U.N.
WELL, ER MR. ANDRE!
WELL, WHAT DID YOU THINK OF MY SPEECH? I THOUGHT IT WENT QUITE WELL, DON'T YOU?
I MEAN IT WAS UPBEAT AND POSITIVE... THOUGHT HOME ACROSS VERY WELL, REALLY
THE SINCERE SEEKER OF PEACE... WELL, DAMN
I DON'T THINK THEY THINK IT'S WORKING, ANDRE!
WE BETTER TRY ANOTHER ELEVATOR. I GUESS.

Another kind of celebration

Rob Skelton

This weeekend there will be a commemoration by local women at the campus pond for the three years of peaceful protest at Greenham Common in England.

I remember Greenham Common also, but in a different light, most likely, than the participants in the local rally.

I was dropped off outside the airbase on a blistery day earlier this year. My friend (female) and I had planned on joining the group at Greenham for a while to show our support, talk to the people and find out what was going on.

Greenham isn't much of a place, but it does have a common, and that is why legally the protesters have a right to be there. Politically, though,it is a hotbed, much to the dismay of the British establishment, local residents and government alike.

Greenham Common on January 17,1984,was dismal. I don't know what I was expecting to find, but what I saw dismayed me. The place was a mess. The bitter wind cut across the countryside, and litter was scattered everywhere, evidence of past rallies never quite cleaned up afterward.

Bleak was a word for it; for the uniformed, emotionless soldiers on one side of the barbwire-topped triple-fences to the ragtag group of women protesting on the other. A glorious encampment it was not.

We approached a group of women assembled near a campfire. They seemed wrapped up in a very important conversation,hardly noticing our presence. We explored this area known as the "main camp ", and learned that there were six other camps, one on every entrance to the airbase.

We also learned that, because I was not female, Iwas not welcome to camp at Greenham that night. I was, however, encouraged to go to the nearest "mixed camp", about 50 miles away. Great.

I felt somewhat put off by this reaction to my precence. Perhaps it was good for me to experience some sexism, but what kind of lesson is that?

A young woman who had been at the camp almost two years put it this way, " Women want to have this as their protest; they organize it, participate in it, live it, and share solidarity. This is a place where women can come and feel comfortable; not have to worry about anything."

Somehow I felt as though I was in Northhampton. Not the English town due north of the airbase, but the heavily feminist-separatist-populated Pioneer Valley town that I had come to love, but occasionally had bad dreams about.

Well, I'm not one to overstay my welcome, so my friend and I waited under a leaky bus shelter as the drizzle came down. We watched as busloads of American service families exited the base to go on outings.

We watched as the ragtag protesters went about preparing the camp for another bout with the weather, with the guards, with the establishment.

We talked to a woman who was going into town to wash up and do laundry. " At this point, many of us stay inside the shelters all day.The mood swings are very intense; it's not easy," she said.

Women came up to pump water. The peace campers pay the county rates and have a fight to draw water from the supply.

" People sabotage our means of survival," one woman told us as she secretly turned on the water flow.

Others told us of hooligans on motorbikes tearing the camp up, throwing excrement into shelters and worse. The living is not easy.

They do, however,have immense media coverage. Apparently Paul and Linda McCartney sent a hamper full of goods to Greenham Common just after New Year.

The British press, dominated by the thinkers who dominate Parliament, is for the most part unsympathetic to the Greenham Women.

American media, when they do report on camps like Greenham,are generally sympathetic.

For many, a pilgrimage to Greenham Common is a must. For us it was a bust. We met a woman from Edmonton, Alberta, on exchange for a year at Oxford. She had come for a visit and found it "interesting".

January is rough, even if you have a house. That this peace encampment has comtinued for three years is remarkable. The zeal of the participants is apparent when I echo one woman's sentiments: "The message here is to inform. Let the people know that we are observing the happenings, and should trouble occur, they will here it from us long before the 'official' line comes through."

Even the righteous critics cannot deny the commitment with which this camp has endured. To the local gatherers: celebrate, meditate, and give thanks that you were not at Greenham in January.

Rob Skelton is a Collegian correspondent

The struggle rages on

Bob Brigham

Many people perceive gay men and lesbians as very vocal and militant. These people also wonder what the fuss is about, and why people of a fonosexual orientation need to come out about their sexuality. After all, what consenting adults want to do in their own bedrooms is private and not really anyone else's business.

All that is true. Sexuality can be a very awkward issue to organize around. Can you imagine a group of men and women sitting around in a room with the tacit understanding that each is gay or lesbian, and wondering what they want to do about it? When I was first coming out, I found this very embarassing.

But sex is a political issue in this society. As long as an employer can look me in the eye and say, " You're gay, you're fired," or an apartment owner can say, " You're gay, you can't rent here, " sex and sexual orientation will be political.

Federal and state governments continue to legislate American's sexual behavior. In many states, anything but face-to-face heterosexual intercourse is illegal. Of course, it is impossible to police, enforce, and prosecute violations of this law, but don't you find it galling that some governmental body wants to tell you who you can sleep with and what kinds of intimacy are permissable? This is repressive not only to gay men and lesbians, but also to bisexuals and heterosexuals.

For gay men and lesbians, the most political action we can take in our everyday lives is to openly admit to being gay. It has been said that it every gay person came out, laws and attitudes would change overnight. Everyone either knows someone who is gay, or has had a homosexual experience of homosexual feelings at some time in their lives. Many non-gays have become allies and supporters after having come to terms with their gay friends,relatives, or occasional gay feelings.

One of the goals of gay fights advocates is to pass laws that prevent discrimination on the bases of sexual preference in nousing,employment, and services. Another is to educate the public about issues of gay and lesbian oppression and about what it means to grow up gay or lesbian in this society. When these are accomplished,maybe the day will come when I can hug or kiss a male friend in public without fear of attack.

I want to be able to walk into a nightclub,*any*nightclub, and dance with my male friends without causing a minor riot. I want adolescents who are exploring their sexuality to feel good about their sexual selves, regardless of whether they turn out to be gay or lisbian, bisexual, or straight. I want gay men and lesbians to be treated as equals by our heterosexual counterparts.

And if you step back about 20 years or so, and substitute the word "black " for gay of lesbian in this paragraph,you'll see that this is another human rights struggle. The same. Yet different.

Bob Brigham is a Collegian Correspondent

All letters must be signed and include the writer's address and telephone number, which will not be published. Please type double spaced at 67 characters per line. Due to space limitations and the volume of mail, we regret we are unable to acknowledge unpublished letters. All letters are subject to editing for clarity and length.

KEGS FOUR SEASONS ICE

WINES/LIQUORS

BEER SPECIALS - BEST PRICES

ROLLING ROCK.....12 oz btl.....$9.99 cs
MICHELOB.....12 oz cans.....$11.99 cs
MILLER.....12 oz cans.....$10.99 cs
GRIZZLY.....12 oz btl.....$13.50 cs
GENESSEE CREAM ALE....12 oz btl....$2.99 cs

6-PACK SPECIALS

GUINESS.....$3.99 DAB BEER.....$3.99
GRIZZLY.....$3.50 MOOSEHEAD.....$3.99

LIQUOR and WINE SPECIALS

COLOMA COLUMBIAN
COFFEE LIQUOR..750 ml..$3.00 with $8 rebate
VODKA and GIN.....1.75 L.....$7.99
POPOV VODKA.....1.75 L.....$9.99
BONET CHAMPAGNE(large bottle) 1.5 LOnly $5.99
PURPOM FRENCH CIDER.....750 ml.....$2.69
GRAN SPUMANTE.....750 ml.....$4.99

WE DELIVER
584-8174
333 Russell Street (Route 9) Hadley, MA 01035
in front of the malls

Bruno's

- Quality Pizza - Subs - 256-0222
FREE DELIVERY
Monday - Saturday - 4 pm - 2 am
Sunday - 4 pm - 1 am

Bicycles, Backpacking, Camping Equipment

End of Summer Sale

New-Used Univega, Nishiki, MotoBecane 10-speed bikes $50-$300
New-Used White Stag and Eureka Tents $35-$200
New-Used collapsible pack frames $6
New-Used Peter Storm and other rain gear $6-$25
New bicycle panniers $23
New-Used bike and hockey helmets $7-$30
Misc. Camping and Biking Equipment
Sale will be at Route 47 Flea Market in Hadley, Sept 30th
Take Rt. 47 south from Rt 9 about 2 miles on the right
All Sales Final Cash Only
Questions - call Student Hosteling Program 369-4633

Arts

CINEMASCOOP
by Count Ramin Zahed

Last night, I had a most pleasant dream. In this dream, I was mercilessly drowning the young Drew Barrymore of E.T. fame in a huge container of green Dining Commons bug juice. I woke up feeling extremely healthy and gratified.

I often think about Drew. In my darkest nightmares, I see her married to rotten Ricky Shroeder. She will then mother more obnoxious child actors who will continue to haunt moviegoers for centuries and centuries. I wish I knew what happened to the wide-eyed innocence of young children on the screen. Calvin Klein probably knows.

Drew's latest starring role is in Irreconcilable Differences which opens today at the Hampshire Mall Cinema. She is a ten-year-old girl who has sued her parents for divorce. Though she loves them both, she suggests to a sympathetic judge, "...if I'm not going to be totally nuts when I grow up, I'd better get out of this family while I still have a chance." Cute, viciously cute. It gets worse. Shelley Long of Cheers fame and Ryan O'Neal of Farrah Falsette fame are the parents. Frankly, I wouldn't dare see this movie. E.T. should have taken little Drew back to his far-away planet.

If you are in to seeing something even faster than Fast Times at Ridgemont High, you are most welcome to see The Wild Life. Starring Christopher Penn (Sean's brother) and Randy Quaid (Dennis's brother), this movie is about a group of students who experience 'the hottest summer' of their lives. Mt. Farm Cinemas will begin sizzling today.

Well, those were the two movies premiering this Friday. The situation would be pretty sad if it wasn't for Metropolis. This 1926 gem of a movie has special effects that put our high tech flics to shame. The plot was so captivating that I even stopped worrying about Drew. Leave that keg and go to the Pleasant St. Theatre tonight.

It is nice to know that Gene Wilder and Gilda Radner are happily married and enjoying their honeymoon in the south of France. Let's just keep our fingers crossed that they stay childless. All we need is a child actress who looks like Gene and sounds like Gilda.

Crescendo Productions and the Smith College Women's Resource Center present Sweet Honey in the Rock at 3 p.m this Sunday in Greene Hall at Smith. For ticket information call Crescendo at 584-2637.

UPC Productions presents R.E.M. with the dB's on Monday, October 15th at 8 p.m. at UMass. Tickets are on sale now at the UMass Fine Arts Center box office and local Stop-n-Shop locations.

My editor informed me that in the October issue of Vanity Fair, there is an excellent story on Sam Shepard and Jessica Lange with many cool/hip/we-hate-Hollywood pictures of the beautiful couple. Now, these stars should be allowed to have as many kids as they would like to. At least, their kids will know how to act.

Weekend Winners: Raggae music fans should all boogie their way to the Academy of Music in Northampton. The Harder They Come, starring Jimmy Cliff, can be considered a Jamaican classic. Good luck with the Northampton bus. It is usually packed with intoxicated individuals coming back from Smith.

Cary Grant is the charmer once again in the Amherst Cinema double feature this Sunday. Bringing Up Baby is running with I Was a Male War Bride: sweet nostalgia to the core.

Killer Question; Jerry Stern, Geary Gravel, and Tom Harrington were the lucky winners last week. Yes, Thomas Hulce was the nice kid in Animal House. Here is the killer this week; Who is the ultimate-cool Mr. Bowie involved with in his latest project? Put your thinking turbans on and you shall win a funny Revenge of the Nerds chart. Don't forget to watch the Smurfs every Saturday morning.

One Final Scoop; This week the gods have been smiling at us. The Off Campus Housing Office is giving away free passes to the national premiere of Places In The Heart Monday thru Wednesday. Robert Benton (Kramer vs. Kramer) directs this excellent movie about the depression. Ex-flying nun Sally Field is said to be really shining in this film. The first 400 people will be able to see the premiere on Wednesday at the Hampshire Mall.
Don't forget -- pick up your passes at either WMUA or the Off Campus Housing Office, 115 Hasbrouk.

"A knock-your-socks off, fantastically frightening and lusciously gory monster movie."
LIFE MAGAZINE

An American Werewolf in London
Date: Fri, Sept. 28
Time: 5 - 7 - 9 - 11
Adm: $1.50; $1.00 @ 5
Eng. East Aud.
R

No Needles
No Pain
No Hair
New Reflections Hair Removal
Present this ad for
20% Off
your first 15 min. visit
For free consultation call Cathy 568-8371
NEW REFLECTIONS
8 Bridge Street, Northampton, MA

ATKINS FRUIT BOWL
Corner of Rte. 116 & Bay Rd., So. Amherst
Telephone 253-9528
OPEN 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.
PICK YOUR OWN
Come & Join in the 1984 Apple Harvest
Sat.-Sun. 10-5
PUMPKINS
Sunday Only 10-5
CORTLAND APPLES
IN AMHERST:
Go to the Fruit Bowl for orchard location.
IN BELCHERTOWN:
A Double Treat!! You can enjoy the beautiful setting of our young orchards over-looking the Quabbin Reservoir. DIRECTIONS: Take Rte 9 East at the intersection of Rte. 9 & 202 in Belchertown, travel approx. 2 miles to Sabin St. on your right — watch for signs! Travel up Sabin St. about 1 mile to first farm with yellow barn, take left up hill & follow signs Right from our Amherst Pumpkin Patch!
$1.00 each
Stop at the Fruit Bowl for field location.
OPEN 7 DAYS A WEEK

PIZZA-RAMA
Our Specialties Are
Delicious Pizzas
Hot Oven Grinders
Spaghetti
Shells
Ravioli
Manicotti
Eggplant
FREE DELIVERY!
CALL 253-3808
256-0115
Any Large Pizza 3 FREE SODAS (cans) when you place your order please tell us you have coupons
Any Med. Pizza 2 FREE SODAS (cans) when you place your order please tell us you have coupons
Any Small Pizza 1 FREE SODA (can) when you place your order please tell us you have coupons

RUSSELL'S LIQUORS
18 Main St. Downtown Amherst 253-5441
Budweiser 12 oz. cans. $10.95 case + dep.
Miller Lite 12 oz. cans. $10.95 case + dep.
St. Pauli Girl $4.25 6/pk + dep.
Becks light or dark $4.25 6/pk + dep.
Ballantine Beer $3.49 12/pk + dep.
Vodka or Gin 80° $8.49 1.75 L
Champagnes $2.99 + up 750 ml
Schnapps 60° $5.99 L
ALL SPECIALS ARE COLD & READY TO GO!!!

DANCE THE WEEKEND AWAY
Changes
(newly remodeled and under new management)
NON-STOP DANCE MUSIC from 8 pm - 1 am
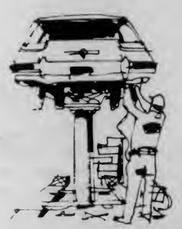
Friday and Saturday
Mixed Drinks - 99¢
til 10 PM
2 Drafts for - 99¢
Changes Rt. 9 Amherst 256-8284
Proper Identification Required

Brighten Your Room!!
Now 2 Stores! Amherst Carriage Shops
Northampton - next to Iron Horse
POSTERS Largest Selection Ever
Bamboo BLINDS
BEDSPREADS cover walls, furniture, windows from $7.95
Paper LAMPSHADES
RUGS & MATS colorful, durable Greatly Expanded
CARDS over 1400 designs
SKIRTS & BLOUSES lots of comfortable cotton
Sterling and Gold Filled JEWELRY Earrings, Ear Cuffs, Rings, etc.
DRAWSTRING PANTS
CLOTHING SALE
20% - 50% OFF
SELECTED BLOUSES, SHORTS
SKIRTS, DRESSES, T-SHIRTS
CHINESE SHOES
Wide Assortment
Mon - Sat 10 - 6
Sunday 12 - 5
THE MERCANTILE
AMHERST CARRIAGE SHOPS
GREAT GIFTS — GREAT PRICES

NOW MORE CONVENIENT THAN EVER
MIDAS WARRANTY CERTIFICATE
GRAND OPENING
At the junction of Routes 9 and 116
NOW IN HADLEY!
MUFFLERS • BRAKES • EXHAUST
STRUTS • SHOCKS • MORE
TRUST THE MIDAS TOUCH FOR VALUE



FREE
New England Road Map
Just drive in for a free inspection of your vehicle's exhaust, muffler, brakes, struts, or shocks. No appointment necessary: we're ready when you are!

FREE WRITTEN ESTIMATES
NORTHAMPTON 143 King Street 586-4840
MIDAS
HADLEY Junction Rtes 9 & 116 586-9991

Hypercurricula

"Hypercurricula," a listing of events held at the University of Massachusetts and surrounding area, is published daily in the Collegian. Events are listed the day before they take place except Monday which will carry Monday's and Tuesday's events. Friday will carry Saturday and Sunday.

ROSH HASHANA SERVICES — Services will be held on Friday, Sept. 28 at 10:00 in the S.U. Ballroom

T.G.I.F. — Join us for fellowship,songs and instruction in God's word. 7:01 in Campus Center 803. Campus Crusade for Christ.

For Sunday, Sept. 30

AMHERST AREA NEW TESTAMENT CHURCH — Come join us for worship and teaching from God's word.Campus Center (check schedule for room number.)

Oh my gosh, have you read the Collegian lately?

CENTRAL AREA ELECTION
Nomination Papers for position of Treasurer are now available in Baker B-30
Deadline to drop off applications
Thurs. Oct. 4, 1984
4 pm in Baker B-30
Elections will be held Oct. 11 at Franklin Dining Commons

Support the Muscular Dystrophy Association at Hampshire Mall MDA DAY
Saturday, Sept. 29th
11:00 - 4:00 PM
fun filled events in cafe square:
• clowns
• magic show at 2:00 pm
• balloons
• auction
• aerobic marathon (JC Penney lot)
• 110 ft. giant sub by Subway
• Friendly ice cream sundaes
Hampshire Mall
. . . where you'll find Steigers, JC Penney, K-Mart, and over 70 fine shops and restaurants
Route 9, Hadley
Monday thru Saturday 10 AM - 9:30 PM/Sunday 12 PM - 5 PM

Pearl Street
TONIGHT
Friday 28th Sept.
your last chance to dance with TONY KORD
some fun a bop a bye bye
TOMORROW NIGHT
Saturday 29th Sept.
KISS 108 FM have just discovered Andrew Wolfe
he plays here every Saturday Night
Come over and find out why.
Coming soon: B. WILLIE SMITH on Oct. 4th
Oct. 26th JUNIOR WALKER and the ALLSTARS
AIR CONDITIONED
Pos. ID's required at the door
A.B.C. cards - picture drivers license
10 PEARL STREET NORTHAMPTON, MA. 413 584-7771

C&C LIQUORS

61 Main St., Amherst
FOR FREE DELIVERY OF $15 MINIMUM ORDER. (OFF UMASS CAMPUS)
Dial 253-3091
10% Senior Discounts Except on Specials

Miller
Bud
Miller Lite
Case 24 loose cans
$10.95 plus deposit

Kronenbourg
Lt and Dk 6 pk
$3.99 + dep

Steinhauser
6 pk
$4.25 + dep

All Specials In-Store Cash Prices
Hurry! Prices Good Thru Sept. 29

Grolsch
6 pk $4.25
+ dep

Soave
1.5 liter
$3.99

Friday Afternoon at Mikes

A HAPPY HOUR YOU CAN LIVE WITH FOOD - ALL YOU CAN CARRY FOR $1.

MIKE'S WESTVIEW CAFE

Eggplant Parmesan
Sausages
Beef Stroganoff
Cold Cuts
Salads
Swedish Meatballs
Marinated Chicken
Beef Ribs
Chicken Caccitore
Spanish Rice
and more
tax and tip included

La Cazuela

THE MEXICAN RESTAURANT AT RAHAR'S

Relax and enjoy distinctive Mexican Food and drink, carefully prepared and served in a graceful atmosphere evocative of the American Southwest.

Try La Cazuela soon, in downtown Northampton.

Lunch & Dinner, Tuesday through Saturday
Dinner, Sunday — Closed Monday

586-0400
7 OLD SOUTH STREET • NORTHAMPTON

the Mastery of Madras

Deep hues and bright clear tones are interwoven in the subtle intracacies of authentic hand-woven India Madras. Each plaid is meticulously matched with the precise attention to detail that is the hallmark of every Sero-tailored shirt. The fabric is expressly imported for Sero, the craftsmanship is pure American.

SERO®

House of Walsh

32 Main St., Amherst 253-3361 Mon.-Sat. 9-5:30

STOP

the Mini Store

Located in the Student Union

There's no need to hurry! Our convenient hours allow you to shop early or late.

Candy
Tobacco
Cards
Calendars
Cassette Tapes
Books
Backpacks
Clothing
Gifts
Cosmetics
Health & Beauty Aids
Film
Film Processing
Clocks
Batteries
Electrical Supplies
Lamps
Magazines
Memo Board
Pens and Pencils
Binders
Notebooks
Paper
Newspapers
Tote Bags
School Supplies
Typewriter Ribbons
Glassware
Cups
Decals
Pennants
Chips
Cookies
Popcorn
Umbrellas

Many other items available
545-2528

CONVENIENT HOURS
7:30 am - 10 pm Monday-Friday
8:30 am - 10 pm Saturday & Sunday

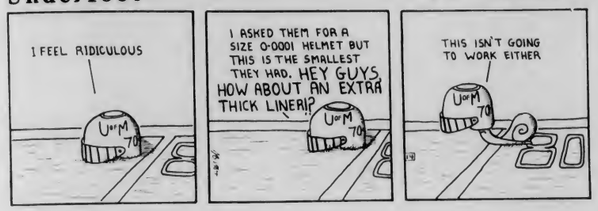
Bloom County

by Berke Breathed

I'M TELLING YOU, MOTHER, DAD DISAPPEARED WHEN I ERASED ALL HIS GOVERNMENT FILES. IT'S AN EXISTENTIAL MATTER... NOT A TECHNICAL ONE!
OH, JUST LET ME AT THAT DUMB COMPUTER OF YOURS...
SO WHADDYA DO ?! PUSH A FEW BUTTONS? YANK A FEW LEVERS? FIRST YOU "LOG IN," RIGHT?
BANG! BANG! BANG! BANG!
HOWARD? HOWARD? YOU COME OUT OF THERE RIGHT NOW!!
...1 CUP CHIVES STIR, SIMMER, AND SERVE WITH NOODLES

Underfoot

by Joe Bradbury



I FEEL RIDICULOUS
I ASKED THEM FOR A SIZE 0-0001 HELMET BUT THIS IS THE SMALLEST THEY HAD. HEY GUYS HOW ABOUT AN EXTRA THICK LINER?
THIS ISN'T GOING TO WORK EITHER

Gorde

by Gorde

THE QUEST CONTINUES AT.. A TAILGATE PARTY?
HEY, AT LEAST WE'LL GET SOME BEERS!
LATER...
NO LUCK, HUH
HOW'D YOU GUESS?
AAIEE
POOR MANGO, FOREVER SEARCHING FOR HIS DREAM GIRL. I WONDER WHAT HE'S THINKING RIGHT NOW?
NO MORE TAILGATES! NO MORE BEER! WHY DOESN'T SOMEONE TELL ME THESE THINGS!
LOOK, GOING ON "HAT BUS?!?
PVTA

The Lab

by Law

HELLO? CBS? YES WE CALLED YOU ABOUT THE NEW GLASSES. YOUR NOT INTERESTED? WHAT? GOOD BYE!
WELL DR. SNAKELY, ONLY ONE NEWSPAPER WAS INTERESTED AND THEY SAID THEY'D BE RIGHT OVER!
HOW TO BE RICH
IT'S THE "NATIONAL EXPIREROR."
MY FAVORITE!
HOW TO BE RICH

Yeasthead

by Jason Talerman

Ultra Mass

by E.L.M.

Hi, can we talk?
GROWL
THAT'S GOOD
ROAR
Watch as I throw this vile person at 3 times the
HERE I COME TO SAVE THE DAY!
POW
STRICTLY not the move cheese-neck!
velocity of sound with minor wind turbulence but much injury...

DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE

Edited by Trude Michel Jaffe

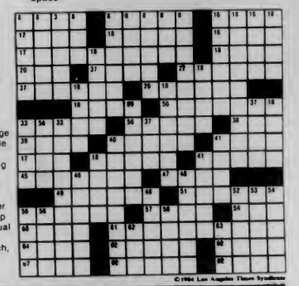
ACROSS
1 Carried away
5 King Hassan's capital
10 B-G link
14 Forest ox
15 Clean the slate
16 Smiling Mona
17 Station house figure
19 European wine region
20 Consumed
21 Part of a suit
22 Person
24 Gear for 61 Across
26 E.B. White's Charlotte, e.g.
28 South American monkey
30 Former
33 Consumer's friend
36 "—— pray"
38 El ——
39 Western Indians
40 Rail birds
41 Normandy town
42 Young one
43 Be parsimonious
44 Old-style sweeper
45 Kind of TV show
47 Great Barrier island
49 Is unable to
51 Stop
55 Knighted
57 White with age
Cockney style
59 —— Fail
60 Seed covering
61 Part of the street scene
64 Ramble
65 Ten percenter
66 The sweetsop
67 Race individual
68 Softens
69 Sandy stretch, in Devon

DOWN
1 Highway patrol device
2 "West Side ——" name
3 Assumed an attitude
4 Faint sound
5 Student's option, sometimes
6 Planetary path parts
7 Thai coins
8 Ibsen character
9 End
10 Shade of red
11 City areas
12 This, to Pedro
13 Break down
18 To have, in Le Havre
23 Horatian works
25 Natives' Suffix
27 Maine product
29 Panay port
31 Greek island
32 Biblical land
33 Cashews
34 Above
35 Hammer or Spade
37 White tailed bird
40 Resist change
41 Scorch
43 —— qua non
44 Aquamarine or emerald
46 Bingo participant
48 Clairvoyants' cards
50 Clan symbol
52 Uplift
53 Street sound
54 Cup, in Cannes
55 Poi ingredient
56 One of the Ages
58 British composer
62 —— Khan
63 Scoundrel

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

P	E	E	P		C	A	D	R	E		N	I	S
A	L	A	E		A	R	R	A	N		B	E	C	K
L	I	S	A		S	T	A	Y	E	D	A	W	A	Y
M	A	I	N	S	T	E	M		M	Y	R	T	L	E
			L	U	N	A		A	P	I	A	N
D	A	Y	T	O	N	A		R	E	D	O	N	D	O
R	A	D		R	A	B	B	I	S		N	O	I	R
A	R	O	S	E		H	O	D		S	E	N	D	S
N	O	N	E		R	O	B	E	R	T		E	N	E
K	I	N	E	A	D	E	R		S	E	V	R	A	T	S
			L	A	P	S	E	S		G	N	A	R
A	R	M	A	D	A		V	I	R	G	I	N	I	A
L	I	O	N	S		S	H	A	R	E		S	I	N	N
A	L	T	E		T	O	O	O	S		E	N	I	D
S	E	T			S	T	E	N	S		S	G	T	S

9/27/84



© 1984 Los Angeles Times Syndicate

Returning Monday

D.C. Menu

LUNCH
Tuna Grinder
Macaroni and Cheese

BASICS LUNCH
Bulgar and Bean Salad
Macaroni and Cheese

DINNER
Meatloaf/Gravy
N.E. Style Scrod with HerbCrumb Topping
Egg Salad Plate with Crackers

BASICS DINNER
Creamed Vegetable Croquettes with Sauce
N.E. Style Scrod with Herb Crumb Topping

Typesetters needed

Positions now open for typesetters, see Mark Roden or call the Collegian at 545-3500

If you can type 40-50 wpm we will train

Todays Weather

Today's weather: Cloudy and raw with a chance of light rain or drizzle, highs in the 50s. Cloudy with drizzle possible tonight, lows in the 40s. Saturday, mostly cloudy and cool, highs in the 50s.

NEVER FORGETS™

The Elephant is here!

Now you can buy your Elephant Memory Systems® diskettes locally.

You've seen this elephant before and you know the name means quality diskettes that "never forget". Now we've got the Elephant — and that means you've got the convenience of buying your PC supplies locally.

We carry a complete line of Elephant brand 5¼" diskettes, which are compatible with just about every PC on the market.

Don't trust your valuable information to just any diskette. Elephant Memory Systems® diskettes are thoroughly tested to give you the highest quality and reliability possible. The Elephant "never forgets".

Take advantage of the convenience of buying Elephant brand computer supplies here. Stop in today.

Located in the Campus Center
M-F 9-5

UNIVERSITY STORE

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIED

Monday - Thursday 8:45 - 3:45 • Friday 8:45 - 2:30 • Cash in advance • 5 consecutive days 5% discount • 10 consecutive days 10% discount • 15 consecutive days 15% discount • phone number free

ADVERTISING

Advertise FREE in the RIVER VALLEY AD. Advertise items you want to sell or buy. Call 532-9466

AUTO FOR SALE

Dodge customized Van '77 engine in gd running order cstm int call 549-4692

'74 Mustang excellent condition 73000m $1100 call 549-4718

'73 Malibu good engine no body rust call 549-4354 late eves $650 or BO must sell

1978 Chevrolet Malibu station wagon body and engine in great shape runs great good mpg new cooling system and more $1700 call 546-9866

BOLTWOOD PROJECT

The last recruitment meeting is the Wednesday 7:00 pm in CC Rm 917 credit available. Come find out more!

BOSTON - SHAWN'S

Were you there the night of the blackout? If you know anyone on Shawn's Softball Team - call Barb 549-5163

COUCH WANTED!!

Looking for a small couch in good condition. Please call 546-8894

ENTERTAINMENT

VIDEO VIDEO VIDEO VIDEO Rock-A-Video entertainment giant 10 and 15 foot screens for dorms and Greeks "MTV" video music call 549-7144

Rock-A-Disc Rock-A-Video entertainment guaranteed events for Disc Jockeys, Bands and Video. Call 549-7144

WICKED AND WILD DJ's audio and visual entertainment for the 80's 584-6712

For the best in dance music call 5 College Sound 586-0745 or 536 7699

FOR RENT

Refrigerator Rental 2 cubic ft R & P Package Store free delivery 253-9742

1 bdrm In Puffton starting Nov 1 $318 per month. call 549-4716

One and two bedroom apts. On bus route cats okay. All utilities included. Wmsburg 268-3624 584-3095

2 bedrooms in S.Br house Oct 1 thru Aug 86 on bus rt Echo Hill rent 185 + ask for Jay 253-9824 eves, weekends

U Mass Fraternity has one opening available for boarder. Home cooked meals, heat, atmosphere conducive to studying. $285/mo. call 548-0482, ask for Markus

FOR SALE

COMPUTER TERMINAL for sale DEC VT55 with hardcopy option. Like new Very good buy. $475!! 549-8994

Bicycle 26" Panasonic 10 speed 25 lbs high tensile tubing $135. 549-8180

Brand new 3000 series RAL speakers never used totally crankable $300 or best offer 549-6351

Moped brand new only 500 mi excellent condition 253-9418 fr-eyn eve.

Hide-a-bed sofa $, ch, table $10, single bed $35, stereo $45 549 -78

Used Holiton Trun ret for sale. Good condition $100 or best offer call 549-7787

FOUND

Found: Ring to claim send sketch to 208 N. Leverett Rd. Leverett MA

HAPPY BIRTHDAY KAREN

Big E---Happy 20th Birthday!! Enjoy your legality while it lasts. Have a fun-tastic weekend. Love, Michael P.S. I know, I'm crazy.

HELP WANTED

Part-time jobs - perfect for students! Get experience, get paid for political work. Hazardous waste clean-up, energy issues, voter education. Mass Fair Share is building a part-time staff in public education and fun-draising. Hours 5-10 PM. Flexible schedule $80 - $120/wk. Call 586-8713

Enthusiastic Students to apply Asst. to the Speaker/Student Senate. Work on student/campus/social issues. Experience w/in SGA helpful, but not necessary. 10 hrs /wk., $3.35/hr. For more details call 545-0341. Pick-up applications in rm. 420 SUB. Application deadline Oct. 1, 4:00 pm. SGA is an AA/EOE.

Exotic Dancers wanted full or part time 4 to 12 tel 247-5582.

Newspaper Deliverers needed on campus. No car necessary. Good pay. 7 days a week 1 hour/day. Call evenings 253-7009

Drivers wanted at Pinocchio's. $6.-7/hr. Apply in person fro m-sale. 1177 N. Pleasant.

Part-time bartender and waitresses wanted evenings and weekends. Apply in person Northampton Bowl.

Sweet Tooth needs drivers part-time must be over 18 years and own reliable car with insurance apply in person at rear of 79 S Pleasant St Amherst 7-8 pm Thurs and Friday or 10-12 pm Saturday 256-8102

Retail Sales positions full and part time Advanced Video 28 North King St. Northampton 586-8501

GOVERNMENT JOBS $16,559-$50,553/year. Now hiring. Your area. Call 1-805-687-6000 Ext R-9616

Peapts a Market is looking for new collective members for fall '84. We need hard workers, people with ability to maintain a strong commitment and willingness to work beyond floor hours. These are musts. Experience with marketing, advertising, and managing helpful. Work 10 + hours per week at $3.65 per hour. Applications available at People's Market, located at rear of the Student Union. Women, people of color, handicapped, gay, lesbian, and older students are encouraged to apply.

Weekend position available 22 hours per week, starting pay $4.84/hour with Services for Community Living a small innovative Human Service Agency. No experience necessary. Valuable training provided. Call in Holyoke 1-538-8178

INSTRUCTION

Know your car. Basic Automobile Workshop. 28 hours including classroom and shop. Limited enrollment 253-2098

IOTA GAMMA UPSILON

Invites all University Women to Open Rush!! Oct. 1st Bar-B-Que 5 PM call 256-8874 for more info.

LOST

A purple canvas bag Initials T.M. outside Brittany call Mark 256-8415 nights 536-8706 no questions asked!

MOTORCYCLES

1975 Honda CB360T 18800 miles, recent tuneup, new tires, chain, battery last year. $475/BO 546-0437

1977 Suzuki 750 12000 miles clean and fast, new parts $600/BO 253-9015

Yamaha 750 6000 mi very cheap I need money for Europe 527-1230

PERSONALS

Undergraduate Business Club Members Social Hour/Meeting Monday, Oct. 1 @ 6:30 Campus Center room TBA (check UBC Board in SOM)

ILSA - Happy 8 Day! 3 great years, the best yet to come. You're the best. Love, JoAnn Happy B Day Dimuka love T. Topeeka lets go crazy!!!

Happy, (belated) Birthday Brucie-Kins Love, Chimychanga

Hi Matt, excuse me, HI Mat

The Christian Science Organization is gearing up for fall. Organizational Meeting on Tuesday, October 2 at 4:30, apt. B-8 North Village. Christian Science Monitor table Thursday in Campus Center, volunteers needed, call 549-8876

Hey Ugly Happy Birthday! Love always Amy

Sue Agin - Happy 20th Birthday! Hope it is great!! Love, Lisa, Stacey & Robin

To Orchard Bill - Happy 20th...Sparky! Relax and enjoy - you deserve it! LOve, Mary

Linda 301 JFK: Don't worry, I didn't forget about you. Love, The I-Man

Lisa Fejnor Happy 20th! Have a great time this weekend! Love, (Mom) Mikelle

CONTACT LENSES REPLACED Most brands $20. - $25. Dr Spencer University Drive 256-8561

Congratuations
Sigma Kappa Pledges
Betsy
Kelly
Kristele
Lisa R.
Lisa W.
Michelle
Tammi
Love, the Sisters of Sigma Kappa

PROFESSIONAL TYPING SERVICE

Papers, Cases, Dissertations, Theses, on-campus, low rates guaranteed acceptance Nancy 584-7924

RABBIT

Free dwarf bunny, very cute, quiet, and litter trained. He needs a good home. Call, after 4:00, 546-9366

ROOMMATE WANTED

One masterbedroom in house private bath went two people $147/month each plus heat two miles from campus 253-9692

Wanted one female roommate to share two bedroom Lantern Ct apts call Deb at 665-4157 ASAP

SERVICES

ATTENTION STUDENTS For all your typing and word processing needs -- term papers, dissertations, resumes, etc -- call Elite Business Services 783-1732

TRAVEL

Montreal Weekend Party Nov 2-4 $68, includes RT transportation from your campus, 3 days 2 nights hotel in DT Montreal welcome party all taxes and tips drinking age is 18 optional Bruins Montreal tickets call today Eric 549-6017

WANTED

Female to share large bedroom in Townehouses call 549-4888

Trade motorcycle for music equipment Suzuki GN400X value $800 bass or PA 533-0801 Dave

WANTED TO RENT

Looking for apartment: Townehouse, Brandywine, Puffton areas beginning Spring 85 semester. Will pay generously to take over lease. Call 546-5750 or 546-9487

Collegian's NFL picks

It was quite an impressive week for the Collegian writers. Peter Abraham posted the best record so far with an 11-3 slate. He remains two games behind Scott Hood, who ended up with a 10-4 mark. Tony Betros also finished at 10-4 with Kevin DeLuca and Gerry deSimas each going at 9-5. Betros and DeLuca are at one game in back of Hood and deSimas finds life in the cellar enjoyable.

	Peter Abraham (26-15)	Tony Betros (27-14)	Kevin DeLuca (27-14)	Scott Hood (28-13)	Gerry deSimas (24-17)
Atlanta-San Fran	SF	SF	SF	SF	SF
Buffalo-Indy	Buff	Indy	Buff	Indy	Buff
Cleveland-Kansas City	KC	KC	KC	KC	Clev
Dallas-Chicago	Dall	Dall	Chic	Dall	Dall
Detroit-SD	SD	SD	SD	SD	SD
Green Bay-Tampa Bay	GB	GB	GB	GB	GB
Raiders-Denver	LA	LA	LA	LA	LA
Miami-St. Louis	St. Louis	Miami	Miami	Miami	Miami
New England-Jets	NE	Jets	Jets	Jets	Jets
New Orleans-Houston	NO	NO	NO	NO	NO
Giants-Rams	LA	NYG	NYG	LA	NYG
Philadelphia-Washington	Wash	Wash	Wash	Wash	Wash
Seattle-Minnesota	Seat	Seat	Minn	Minn	Seat
Cincinnati-Pittsburgh	Pitt	Pitt	Pitt	Pitt	Cin

MASS. APPROVED INSPECTION STATION
RADIAL TIRE SALE
P155/80R13
$29.95
•Includes Mounting• plus MA State Tax
North Amherst Tire & Auto Center
"Full Service Tire Store"
78 Sunderland Rd., No. Amherst, MA
Across from Watroba's Store
549-4704

Maxwell rejects Celtics

BOSTON (AP) - Cedric Maxwell, a forward and free agent, has rejected a contract offer from the Boston Celtics and will not be at the National Basketball Association team's training camp when it opens Friday.

"We made our offer, they chose not to accept it," said Jan Volk, general manager of the Celtics. "As of right now, there are no further talks scheduled."

Maxwell's agent, Ron Grinker, and Red Auerbach, Celtics president, have discussed a contract for months.

"This morning I got the news that what Red offered Tuesday would be his final offer, and there would be no more coming," Grinker said Wednesday. "I had a two-hour conversation with Max about it, and we agreed that those figures are not acceptable." Grinker said that he hoped it was not the final offer, but "the next time I'll be available, because of the Jewish holiday, will be Friday night after sundown, so Cedric will definitely not be in camp Friday." Under league rules, unsigned players cannot attend training camps. Gerald Henderson, a guard and also a free agent, also may be missing from the defending NBA champions' camp. He, too, is unsigned.

★ soccer

continued from page 16

and Northeastern University, who should be ranked number 1 in the Associated Press Northeast Volleyball poll that will come out next week.

The spikers will be in a pool with Central Connecticut State, Fairleigh Dickinson University, and Colgate University. UMass faces Central Conn. at 7:20 p.m. and FDU at 8:40 p.m. The spikers will conclude pool play tomorrow morning at 9 a.m. against Colgate.

Coach Dave Kumlin takes both the men and the women crew teams across the state to compete in the Textile River Regatta at Lowell this Sunday at noon.

In other UMass action, the Rugby team is at Babson, the men's cross country team hosts Dartmouth, the women's harriers head to the Rutgers Invitationals, the women's tennis team hosts New Hampshire at NOPE courts at 1 p.m. and the water polo team is at Fordham. All are on Saturday.

In national rankings: The field hockey team sits at seventh in the country with the women's soccer team (see story) are at third in the latest national poll.

[Collegian staff members Ed Hayward, Roger Chapman, John Nolan and Alastair Atwood contributed to this story.]

Women's soccer has battle with Vermont and Colorado

By GERRY deSIMAS
Collegian Staff

Even though the University of Massachusetts women's soccer team was ranked third in the nation, tops in New England, coach Kalekeni Banda said that his team "has not proved it yet on the field."

Wednesday night against Brown, the Minutemen didn't look like the top ranked team in New England as they absorbed a 1-0 setback, their first of the year.

This weekend, the UMass will get two chances to get the kinks out of their game as they host two Top 20 teams in their home openers at Boyden Field.

UMass faces seventh ranked (nationally) Vermont in the Minutemen's first home outing Saturday at 2 p.m. Eleventh ranked Colorado College provides the opposition Sunday at 11 a.m.

The Bruin defense did a good job in shutting down UMass' two leading scorers, freshman Julie DePauw and Kristen Bowsher. Both have scored five goals for the Minutemen this year.

Goalie Jeanne Paul played well, except for the one mistake that resulted in a Bruin goal. Freshmen Carolyn Micheel and Chris Taggart played well. Micheel had several good scoring opportunities, a few off of lofting passes by Jamie Watson.

Vermont has been on a tear defeating Boston College 2-1 in overtime and Cortland State 2-1. Stephanie Crames and Amy Shorey have each scored two goals and lead the team.

The Catamounts strength is their defense. Goalie Paula LaMotes has given up just two goals all year and stopped 31 BC shots. Colorado College, who made the NCAA playoffs in 1982, is currently unbeaten at 4-0. This will mark the first meeting of Colorado and UMass.

Women's soccer

When: Saturday 2 p.m. (vs. Vermont), Sunday 11 a.m. (vs. Colorado College)
Where: Boyden Field
Records: UM: 3-1-2, UVM: 4-0-1, Colorado: 4-0-0
Last Season: UMass defeated Vermont, 2-1. Umass did not play Colorado College.
Rankings: UMass; 3. Vermont; 7. Colorado College: 11

PUT YOUR NAME ON THE SKILL TRAINING YOU WANT. WE'LL GUARANTEE IT.

The Army has over three hundred skills to train in—many of them technical and many with civilian job applications. With the Delayed Entry Program, you choose your skill training before you join, and it's guaranteed for you. Then you don't start until the training becomes available for you.

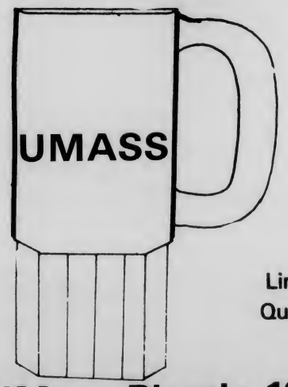
When you enter Active duty, you'll earn good pay, and since the Army pays for your food, housing, and medical expenses, you pocket most of the pay.

Reserve your position in Army skill training. Call your local Recruiter.

Call your Northampton Recruiters
241 King St, Northampton
584-2157

ARMY. BE ALL YOU CAN BE.

SPECIAL VALUE
99¢



Limited Quantity

UMass Plastic 12 oz. Tankard
Blue - Red - Green Yellow

Open M-F 9-5

UNIVERSITY STORE

Sports

UM "ready to win" vs. NU

Minutemen need "to execute and get their game in gear"- Stull

By PETER ABRAHAM
Collegian Staff

University of Massachusetts football coach Bob Stull raised a few eyebrows at the New England College Football Writers luncheon in Boston this week when he told the media, "We have a drug problem at UMass."

"We were drug all over the field at Holy Cross," said Stull, who then, with tongue still firmly planted in cheek, offered Boston College quarterback Doug Flutie $45 (all the money in his wallet) and the use of a state car to play for UMass since the Eagles are off for two weeks.

A comedian Stull isn't, but he is a football coach and in that capacity for UMass he hasn't had much to kid about.

His secondary has given up 858 yards in three games, his quarterback has averaged 44 percent in pass completions, and, maybe worst of all, his team will be playing at Northeastern team Saturday (1:30 at Alumni Stadium) that is coming off an emotional 34-33 defeat of Bucknell.

"I figured, most people figured, that we'd be 1-2 at this point, and we are," said Stull. "We beat a team everyone felt we should've lost to (Ball State) and lost to a team we should've beaten (Lehigh). So I can't really complain. But there are a few things we could be doing better."

The Minutemen's offense, after an impressive outing against Ball State (26 points) has looked terrible since.

"We need to execute our plays. It isn't Jimmy's (quarterback Jim Simeone) fault. The receivers are running incorrect routes or simply dropping the ball. It's a new offense and we aren't adjusting well right now," said Stull.

Stull indicated that against the Huskies, 1-1, UMass will run the ball more often to avoid the second and long situations caused by an incomplete pass.

"We'll be looking to George Barnwell (47 carries, 200 yards this season) to establish our running game," said Stull. He has the ability to break a long gain at any time."

"Our attitude's been pretty good," said Stull. "We had a good practice. Peter Tracy (NG) is back from his injury along with Vince Reppert (OG) so we've healed pretty well from Holy Cross and I think we're ready."

Northeastern beat UMass 31-14 last season and lead by former UMass assistant Paul Pawlack, they look to give the Minutemen a battle.

"Based on what I've seen so far, I feel that we're going to have to work really hard on defense," said Pawlack. They (UMass) show a lot of offensive sets and throw the ball a lot."

NU has junior tailback Gary Benoit (117 yards vs. Bucknell) and fullback Mark Curtin (three TD's against Bucknell) and Stull figures they will run a lot on his defense.

Collegian photo by Andy Heller

Holy Cross' Gill Fennerty (4) eludes the UMass defense last Saturday at Holy Cross. UM faces Northeastern at home tomorrow.

"I expect them to run, but we've been pretty good against the run this year (only 291 yards in the three games) so I'm confident."

Defensively Tracy, linebacker Vito Perrone (29 tackles and 13 unassisted tackles), linebacker Mike Favreau (28 tackles) and linebacker Dave Cavanaugh have been impressive.

The offensive line has been anchored by Don Day and co-captain Tom McEvilly. Bob Greaney will start for an injured Mike Briggs at right tackle. "In the first half against Holy Cross we had four first downs," said Stull. "Then in the second half we gained 217 yards by running a lot. If we can successfully keep this up, the line making the blocks and the backs hitting quickly, we'll do pretty well against Northeastern."

"If we establish the run, then hopefully the passing attack that's supposed to be a possession attack but hasn't been, will begin to get on track and we can move the ball well," said Stull.

"All I want to do is do things better than we have been, if we do that we'll be alright."

UMass vs. Northeastern

Where: Alumni Stadium
When: Saturday, 1:30 p.m.
Last Season: Northeastern defeated UMass, 31-14
The Latest Line: UMass by 10½
Injuries: UM: Mike Briggs (OT), leg, is out. Vince Reppert (OG), knee, will start. John Crowley (FL), hamstring, will play. Peter Tracy (NG), stomach, will start. Mike Favreau (LB), virus, will start. NU: Mike Howes (WR), hamstring, will start.
The Series: 7-7-1
Radio: WMUA-FM (91.1), WTTT-AM, (1430), WSPR-AM (1270), WEBC-AM (1420).
Last Week: UMass lost to Holy Cross, 35-7, Northeastern defeated Bucknell, 34-33.
Next Week: UMass at URI, Northeastern host Lehigh.

Surprising (4-1-2) men's soccer plays Vermont

By SCOTT HOOD
Collegian Staff

Out to prove that Wednesday's 2-1 victory over Providence College was no fluke and hopefully, to improve on their number four ranking, the University of Massachusetts men's soccer team travels to Burlington, Vermont Saturday to take on the University of Vermont Catamounts at 1:30.

UMass, 4-1-2, is out to avenge a 3-1 loss last year to Vermont, which this week is unranked among New England Division 1 schools. The Cats, 4-10-1 in 1983, has 19 lettermen returning from last season, including top scorer Steve Ellis and MVP Dave Grose.

Vermont head coach Paul Reinhardt, the National Coach of the Year in 1975, his first season in Burlington, has a career record of 73-50-14.

Also returning for Vermont is Francois Borel, an All-New England player in 1982, who scored nine goals in 13 games for the Cats that year. Despite sitting out 1983 following knee surgery, he was invited to tryout for the Olympic team. Following this game the Minutemen travel to New Haven, Conn. on Wednesday to take on Yale, the third-ranked team in New England.

After three games on the road the University of Massachusetts Field Hockey team returns to take on Springfield College tomorrow. The Minutemen are currently ranked eighth nationally and have a record of five wins and one loss.

"Springfield should be a difficult test," said UMass coach Pam Hixon. "They are much better that they have been in the past. They have been doing well against some tough teams. They lead most of their game against the University of Connecticut (ranked second nationally) even though they lost eventually. They're a deceptive team that could beat any given team on any given day." Freshman Tonia Kennedy and senior Pam Moryl lead UMass scorers with five goals apiece. Junior Megan Donnelly follows closely with four goals.

The University of Massachusetts volleyball team, fresh from Wednesday's pounding of Holy Cross, are now preparing for the UMass Volleyball Classic Tournament today and tomorrow at Boyden Gymnasium.

The twelve team tourney gets underway at 6 p.m., and will continue all day Saturday with the finals being held at 4 p.m. Teams participating include Holy Cross, Cornell University, the University of New Haven,

continued on page 15

Field hockey cruises: Providence falls 3-0

ED HAYWARD
Collegian Staff

In a sporting contest a team's chances of winning improve immensely when it gives its opponents fewer opportunities to accumulate points. For an excellent example of this fact one need only look as far as the University of Massachusetts field hockey team.

In yesterday's game against Providence College, the Minutemen took twenty-one shots. P.C. took zero. Zero shots resulted in zero opportunitues to score. Thus UMass won 3-0 for its fourth straight victory after an opening game defeat.

"We were able to play by our game plan," said Hixon. "We forced them to play our style of game and that was our goal. That's been the way for us this season. We've forced our opponents to play our game."

UMass did all of its offensive damage in the first half. Freshman Tonia Kennedy scored two goals, one coming on a break away, the other off a rebound. Senior Pam Moryl scored the other goal, also off a rebound.

Kennedy's performance was particularly pleasing to Hixon. "You never know with freshmen, sometimes they pan out. I was hoping Tonia would have this kind of year. She's very aggressive and a strong plus. She's the kind that likes to make things happen," said Hixon.

Defensively, UMass goalie Lynn Carlson spent the day watching midfielders and defenders keep P.C. forwards out of shooting distance. "The midfielders make it happen," said Hixon. "That's why we've been shutting down our opponents."

sports at a glance

UMass schedule:
Today: Volleyball: UMass Classic, Boyden Gym, 6 p.m.
Saturday: Football: Northeastern, Alumni Stadium, 1:30 p.m.
Men's Soccer: at Vermont, 3 p.m.
Women's Soccer: Vermont, Boyden Fields, 2 p.m.
Volleyball: UMass Classic, Boyden Gym, 9 a.m.

SGA Senate elections today; see story p.3

The Massachusetts Daily NEW ENGLAND'S LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY

Collegian

Volume CXIV, Issue 19 UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AMHERST (545-3500) Monday, October 1, 1984

Collegian photo by Paul Desmarais

CAMP FOR PEACE — Students hold their own peace camp to celebrate the third anniversary of the Greenham Common Women's Peace Camp in England.

PEACE CAMPS

• Peace camp set up, protests militarism

By REBECCA THATCHER
Collegian Staff

University of Massachusetts students organized a peace camp at the campus pond Friday to celebrate the third anniversary of the Greenham Common Women's peace camp in England and to protest the ongoing NATO war games at the East-West German border, according to the organizers.

The group also wanted to protest the worldwide transfer of funds from human needs to the military, and to "pay tribute" to the strength and determination of the European peace movement," one of the organizers said.

Participants hung banners urging the withdrawal of U.S. forces from El Salvador and nuclear disarmament which said, "Take the deadly toys away from the boys." The participants played drums, sang, and discussed "the U.S. path toward war" with passing students.

About 30 people participated during the day, and 20 camped out during the night. The event was organized by the Radical Student Union.

Union member Beatrix Hoffman said the peace camp was a great success.

"The number of people who participated or just stopped by was an indication of the incresed concern over the chance of war in the near future."

Hoffman said students from the UMass Peacemakers, the Western Massachusetts Latin American Solidarity Committee, anarchists, and people with no group affiliation participated.

Dan Parsignalot, who originally gave his name as Dan R. Kist, said he was there to raise student awareness of the danger of nuclear annihilation.

"I think it's too late, but if you are not part of the solution, you are part of the problem," he said. "If voting changed anything, they would make it illegal."

Hoffman said the camp was organized as an alterntive to the recruiting efforts of the Reserve Officers Training Corps. "They were recruiting for the war and we are recruiting for peace and justice," she said.

• Greenham woman gives aid, speaks out

By REBECCA THATCHER
Collegian Staff

American students are complacent about nuclear weapons because they are uninformed about their government's actions overseas, according to a Greenham Common Woman who helped organize the peace camp Friday.

"They don't have cruise missiles on their doorsteps," Fiona Macaulay, a graduate student in Women's Studies, from England who has been in the United States for a month said.

After graduating from Oxford University, Macauly spent the summer at the Greenham Common Women's Peace Camp. The camp has been established outside the Royal Air Force base at Greenham Common for the past three years.

Up to 200 women have camped in tents, huts, and survival bags ouside the British air force base year-round to protest the storage of Pershing II missiles and prevent those missiles from becoming operational.

Macaulay explained that in order for the cruise missiles to be licensed by NATO, they have to complete a certain amount of "successful outings" in trucks.

She said women have formed human blockades at the exits to prevent those outings from being successful.

Macaulay said life at the peace camp was a very empowering experience."

"It is a completely non-hierarchical lifestyle--there are no leaders," she said.

Most of the women are vegetarians because "only through developing that respect for life on earth can we get rid of the type of society that needs to have cruise missiles," she said.

The Greenham Common Camp is busy, she said. Women spend time going to solicitors as a consequence for various "actions." They also fund-raise, write letters, and speak with reporters.

Daily evictions are also part of life but " the women keep coming back and in three years the government has not been able to dislodge them," she said.

Sign stealers may soon be 'radioactivated'

By IAN POLUMBAUM
Collegian Staff

University of Massachusetts Police reported Friday that the perpetrators of a prank discovered last week at the Southwest Residential Area may have risked exposure to a radioactive gas.

An exit sign that was removed from Prince dormitory contained tritium, a radioactive isotope of hydrogen, police said. Chief Robert Joyce said officials noticed the sign missing during a fire drill last Wednesday and reported it to the Nuclear Regulatory Commission the next day.

Tritium is used to light some exit signs so they can be seen at night in the event of a power failure. When intact, these signs are not dangerous, but if the tubes inside containing the gas are broken, "persons inhaling the tritium for prolonged periods could receive some radiation exposure"according to a statement released Friday by the Nuclear Regulatory Commission.

Police said the missing sign was the only one of its kind on the UMass campus and was installed three years ago with tamper-proof screws. University officials have interviewed maintenance and dormitory personnel and searched Prince House, room by room, in an unsuccessful attempt to locate it.

Joyce said the sign is approximately eight inches high by twelve inches wide, and one inch thick, with red EXIT letters on both sides and a magenta and yellow sticker that reads "Caution: radioactive material."

The UMass Radiation Safety Office asks that anyone with information call 545-2682.

Senate cancels a porno vote

By TOM MIDDLETON
Collegian Staff

A referendum on the issue of pornography being sold at the University of Massachusetts store was postponed last night indefinitely be the Governmental Affairs Committee Chairman Joel Rabinowitz.

Undergraduate Student Senate member Stacey Roach filed for a court injunction to stop the referendum on the grounds that Rabinowitz did not submit the question to the senate prior to general senate elections. Chapter One of the senate by-laws state that referenda are "subject to majority consent of the Senate."

Last April, the senate passed a motion to hold the referendum at the general senate elections to be held today and tomorrow.

In a statement read to the court, Rabinowitz agreed with the injunction.

"Although I see the wording of the referendum in question as fair," he said, "I feel that it would be a dangerous precedent" if the wording were not approved by the senate.

Rabinowitz then requested that the injunction be dropped because "judicial action would be unnecessary and redundant."

Roach said that because the referendum was to occur early in the semester it would "leave no room for any educational outreach" to students.

Rabinowitz said the questions were partially completed but there was "no (Governmental Affairs Committee) quorum when they were written."

Dakin Ferris who represented Roach at the trial said the lack of a referendum is "due to his (Rabinowitz's) not fulfilling his constitutional or by-law obligations."

The senate will set a date for the referendum to be held following a recommendation from the Governmental Affairs Committee, according to Chris Sullivan, Senate Speaker.

On April 18, the senate voted to remove Playboy, Playgirl, and *Penthouse*from the University Store. However, the senate did not have the authority to force the removal. Store Manager Win Cummings said he would consider removal only if a referendum showed that more than 90 percent of the students favor it.

Those in favor of removing pornography from the store argue that it promotes violence against women. Opponents of removal argue that it would be in conflict with the First Amendment guaranteeing freedom of the press.

Inside:

Earn 12 credits and professional experience... p.3
Sounds of a boy named Slim.. ..... p.7
Football edges Northeastern..... p.12

"Happiness makes up in height for what it lacks in length."
—Robert Frost

N. Korea assists flooded S.Korea

PANMUNJOM, KOREA -
In a rare atmosphere of harmony, communist North Korea on Sunday completed an unprecedented overland delivery of relief supplies for flood victims in pro-Western South Korea.
During two days of transport that began Saturday, a North Korean truck convoy delivered 7,200 tons of rice, 540,000 yards of cloth and 759 cartons of medical supplies at unloading depots in Taesong-dong, just south of the truce border village of Panmunjon.
The South Korean Red Cross secretary-general, Cho Chulhwa, and the North Korean Red Cross delegate, Baek Nam Jun, thanked each other for a successful completion of the land delivery.
They exchanged documents acknowledging the delivery and receipt of the supplies and parted, pledging to meet again soon for more contacts aimed at reconciliation. Cho also said he hoped the South could repay with similar aid in the future in case of a natural disaster in the North.
It was the first aid to cross the border between the two, long antagonistic sides since the partition of the peninsula at the end of World War II. North Korea invaded South Korea in 1950, and a cease-fire accepted in 1953 established a three-mile wide demilitarized zone across the peninsula near the 38th parallel with Panmunjon as the truce village.
Kingsley Seevaratnam of Sri Lanka, head of the Asia-Pacific department of the League of Red Cross Societies based in Geneva, Switzerland, observed the delivery Sunday and said he was impressed by the close cooperation between the two sides. He said he expected that spirit to continue.
But an atmosphere of wariness did hang over the operation. South Korea rejected North Korea's request to transport the goods by truck all the way to Seoul, and its immigration officers subjected truck drivers to rigorous identity checks and the goods to lengthy inspections at the unloading points.

UTOPIA SPAS
Student Special
2 FOR 1
or ½ PRICE
on
1 hour HOT TUB
every Monday and Tuesday
call for Reservations 253-7727
175 University Drive, Amherst, Mass
(next to Stadium Liquors in the Price Chopper Mall)

ALL U-WOMEN ARE INVITED TO OPEN RUSH at EΔT
Tues. Fashion Show 6:30
Dessert and Party
Wed. Dinner, Sundae Party 5:00
Thurs. Surprise Party
For more info: 545-0527 Lisa Pike
409 N. Pleasant
Come to find out how exciting
Sorority life can be!

BUENOS DEALS
20% Off Appetizers and Dinner!
Take a break from the books without busting your budget. Present this ad for a 20% discount on appetizers and dinner at GuadalaHARRY'S.
It's HARRY'S way of saying welcome to college students. Make it your way to enjoy the best Mexican food South of the Charles River – at the best prices North of the border!
Buenos deals at GuadalaHARRY's.
Limit of 2 guests per coupon. (Offer expires Oct. 19, 1984)
May not be used in conjunction with any other discount or promotion
20 Clinton Street, Boston
next to Quincy Market
720-1190
GuadalaHARRY'S A Great Mexican Place
©1984 Mexican Foods of America, Inc.
10/1 UM

Digest

By The Associated Press

More attacks on abortion clinics

ATLANTA — In a presidential election year marked by an emotional debate on abortion, abortion clinics around the country increasingly are being bombed and set afire in the night.
The National Abortion Federation reports 19 attacks on abortion clinics or pregnancy counseling centers so far this year, compared with four last year and three in 1982.
Several abortion rights activists have blamed anti-abortionists for stirring up an atmosphere of hate, and one predicts "a religious war" if the attacks aren't stopped.
Leading anti-abortionists, however, deny any involvement in the violence and say it's hurting, not helping, their crusade.
Police say some of the attacks appear to be connected. On Sept. 7, two Houston clinics were firebombed. The next day, arsonists attempted to set fire to a third facility there.
"In Houston — any investigator would say it sounds like the same person" or else quite a coincidence, said David Troy, a top arson investigator with the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms.
But the bureau, he said has "yet to indicate a national conspiracy."
The bureau is investigating attacks in Virginia, Maryland, Delaware, Florida, Georgia and California and at the National Abortion Federation's offices in Washington, Troy said.

Today's Staff

Night Editor Laura Yee
Copy Editor Nancy A. Bukar
Layout Tecnician Amy Constant
Photo Technician Paul Desmarais
Production supervisor Peter Soderberg
Production Dode B. Levenson, Maria Cahillane, Brian Solov, Rob Skelton, Wendy Edenfield, Mark Roden, Derek the driver

Senate delayed on civil rights measure

WASHINGTON — Senators took a breather yesterday from an increasingly bitter tug-of-war over civil rights legislation that has stalled action on an emergency money bill to keep most of the federal government solvent.
The impasse made it impossible for congress to meet a midnight Sunday deadline — the end of the 1984 fiscal year — for enacting the omnibus spending bill and raised doubts about whether lawmakers can stick to their plan to adjourn for the year by the end of this week.
The omnibus bill is needed to provide most government agencies with about $476 billion for the new fiscal year. Only four of 13 necessary appropriations for fiscal 1985 have been signed into law.
To avert a shutdown of departments and agencies, the Senate took time out from a procedural snarl on Saturday to pass by voice vote a simple two-day extension of the deadline. The House is expected to go along Monday.
The White House office of Management and Budget previously told government offices that all employees should report for work as scheduled on Monday.

Phony graduate discovered at BU

BOSTON — He wasn't a Boston University graduate, but his resume said he was. And the university's career placement center circulated it. Now, the man is under arrest-because another university checked his resume.
"This is definitely a precedent and we will prosecute any other cases," said university police Capt. Steven M. Devlin about the arrest of Ehteshamul Haque, 30, of Cambridge.
Devlin said Haque used the university's Martin Luther King Jr. placement center to send phony resumes and that he altered college documents to several universities where he applied for teaching jobs.
Hasque's resume said he had a graduate degree in computer science from Boston University and had earned a perfect 4.0 grade point average.
The ruse was discovered when a university where he applied checked with the Boston University registrar. Records showed Haque was not a graduate.
John Gibbons, an assistant Suffolk County district attorney, said a pretrial conference is scheduled in Boston Municipal Court October 11.
An 1893 statue sets a $1,000 fine, a year in prison or both as the penalty for pretending to be a college graduate or to hold a college degree.

METROPOLIS
Pleasant St. Theatre
77 Pleasant St. Northampton
Times 6, 8, 10 pm pay-4 pm on Sat and Sun

BOOK SALE
20% OFF
Regular Price
on All Books
Mon-Sat Oct 1-6
VALLEY BOOKSHOP
Carriage Shops
Downtown Amherst
HOURS:
10:30-5:00
Mon-Sat
Sun 12:00-4:00

MASS APPROVED INSPECTION STATION
RADIAL TIRE SALE
P155/80R13
$29.95
•Includes Mounting• plus MA State Tax
North Amherst Tire & Auto Center
Full Service Tire Store
78 Sunderland Rd., No. Amherst, MA
Across from Wahoba's Store
549-4704

TELEPHONES and accessories

Pulse Dialing
Last # Redial
In-use Light
Mute Control
Modular Plug
On-Off Ringer
Automatic Hold
Wall Mount Ability
Ivory Finish
SPECIAL PRICE! 8.95
SX7400
Holder Included
Limited Quantity
No Rainchecks
Other phones available

A full line of accessories available
Located in the Campus Center
Open Mon-Fri 9-5
Sat 10-3
UNIVERSITY STORE

Collegian photo by Paul Desmarais

VROOOM! — Not a biker's convention but a designated spot across from Hasbrouck Laboratory for visiting motorcycles.

Bilingual education programs help students

By YADIRA A. BETANCES
Collegian Staff

A reading of Governor Michael Dukakis's proclamation and speakers reiterating the history of the Bilingual Collegiate Program (BCP) at the University of Massachusetts highlighted the opening night of the week-long celebration. Saturday at the Campus Center.
Dukakis has designated Sept. 30 to Oct. 6 as Bilingual Education Week at the University of Massachusetts and throughout the Commonwealth to recognize the Bilingual Collegiate Program's efforts in assisting bilingual students the opportunity to enter and complete degree programs at UMass.
BCP is an academic support service providing personal, academic and financial aid counseling for bilingual students.
"I am excited. The celebration is ten years of progress." BCP has grown from 45 students in 1974 to 460, and there are 37 students who have asked to become part of the BCP because they want to share the pool of talent" at the program, Dr. Benjamin Rodriguez, BCP's director since its inception in 1984.
The program, he said is "the greatest investment the University has made to this day."

"...the greatest investment the University has made to this day."

Rodriguez said people doubted whether the program would survive giving it one year to dismantle. But since then, he said the program has met its requirements and "is here today, here to stay and here to grow."
Timothy Barret, assistant superintendent of the Holyoke school system said the success growth of BCP is parallel to the bilingual education in the United States.
Barret said Bilingual education programs have improved graduation rates and matriculation in college. The drop out rate of high school and college students has decreased along with an increase in test scores, he added.

"Education is a means of achieving economic independence and integration in society," and bilingual education is the same..."

"Education is a means of achieving economic independence and integration in society," and bilingual education is the same, he said.
"Barrett said BCP's efforts to provide education for bilingual minorities makes the university, "a richer place for students to grow and learn in."
"BCP is a resource for students to enter the University community. It is a strong base for students of diverse languages to study," he said.
Dr. Gloria DeGuevera, director of educational access and outreach at UMass and mistress of ceremonies said she felt like a mother who "contemplates her child celebrating a birthday. A child who had demonstrated growth and a lot of maturity."
"Pride is a theme of this occasion, Dennis Madson, vice chancellor for student affairs, said.
"The concurring theme will be commitment to meet the challenges ahead," he said.
BCP expanded in 1976 to encompass other bilingual minorities.
BCP has approximately graduated 400 students in their ten year history. Ninety-seven percent are either working or enrolled in graduate school.

Women's Forum

Women's Forum is a weekly listing of events relating to women's issues. Notices should be sent to the Women's Issues Editor, care of the Collegian, the Friday before the event.

Monday — The Committee for Equal Rights and Reproductive Freedom will meet at 5 p.m. in room 901 Campus Center. The film Matters So Fundamental will be shown, and Reproductive Rights Awareness Night will be organized. All are welcome.
Tuesday — The Smith College Project on Women and Social Change invites you to hear Marjorie Lansing speak on "Women and Politics: The Gender Gap and the 1984 Election" at 8 pm in Sealye Hall, Smith College, room 10. For more information, call 584-2700, x 3591
The Everywoman's Center is sponsoring a Building Confidence Workshop from 6:30 to 9 p.m. Call 545-0883 for the location.
Wednesday — The Everywoman's center is sponsoring an Open House from 4 to 6 p.m. at the EWC. All those interested are encouraged to attend.
The Women's Issues Team of the Student Center for Educational Research and Advocacy (SCERA) will meet at 4 p.m. at the SCERA office. Check Campus Center daily schedule.

Interns gain experience

By KATHLEEN LEARY
Collegian Correspondent

More than 600 University of Massachusetts students have received practical experience in their fields of study through the internships program this past year.
The Office of Internships provides access to a wide variety of internships available in every major at more than 2,500 sites throughout the United States and overseas.
Students can earn up to 15 credits and can intern during intersession, summer break, or in place of semester at school. According to Assistant Program Coordinator Ann Teschler, more than 4,000 students have been successfully placed in the program since 1976.
The office sheedules daily planning sessions that supply students with internship listings, connects them with a faculty sponsor, and provides a peer-counseling advisor. These advisors, many of whom have also participated in the program, are available throughout the duration of the internship to deal with any questions or problems a student may have.
Mike Rosenthal, a psychology major, interned last semester at the U.S. Senate Office in Washington under Sen. Bill Bradley (D-New Jersey). Rosenthal made contributions to legislation such as the Radioactive Waste Transportation Act and wrote several speeches for the senator. He also worked as a legislative assistant.
Dianne Dickey, a consumer economics major and an advisor in the program, interned last summer as a mediator involved in desputes between consumers and businesses at the Federal Trade Commission in Boston.
Mike Mullaney, currently a Communications Studies major, interned at WNEB, a Worcester radio station. Mullaney, who went participated in the program because, "I knew what I wanted to do, I just didn't know where," eventually wrote and produced his own commercials.

Competitive student senate elections expected

By LARRY BOUCHIE
Collegian Staff

Student Senate Speaker Chris Sullivan predicts a higher student voter turnout for today's senate elections, than last year, due mainly to the higher number of contested positions.
Sullivan said a total of 122 students filed nomination papers for the 110 available senate seats.
"There are more people running for the senate this year than in a long time," Sullivan said.
Sullivan also said that 22 seats have more than one student running for them, as opposed to last year "when we only had five or six contested seats."
"I think we're going to get a higher (voter) turnout (this year) because of those contested seats," Sullivan said.
Last year, only about 1,500 out of almost 20,000 eligible undergraduate students voted in the senate elections.
In order to be placed on the ballots, interested students were required to file nomination papers with 25 signatures from their constituency. Nomination papers were made available about two weeks ago, and had to be returned to the senate office by last Friday, Sullivan said.
Polling tables will be located at the University's dining commons during meal times today and tommorrow. There will also be a table at the Hatch and the Newman Center until 6:30 p.m., Sullivan said.
"We should have the election results Tuesday night," Sullivan said.
Sullivan said there were only a few scattered seats that no one filed nomination papers for, as compared to last year when almost one-quarter of the available senate seats had no candidates.

Legal Services concerned about need for fence at field

By KATHY HART
Collegian Correspondent

The Legal Service Office (LSO) at the University of Massachusetts said they are worried about the lack of a fence around the Old Sunderland Road softball field in North Amherst.
According to Michael Pill, senior staff attorney at LSO, the town of Amherst has failed to erect a fence at the field located just before Amherst Towing. A woman whose frontwindshield was smashed by a baseball hit from the field this past summer is seeking action to ensure the safety of others.
"We believe a real danger exists for potential serious injury or death, and we hope it will not require such a tragedy to persuade the town to help protect the community's residents," Pill said.
Pill said the woman whose car was hit is a client of LSO. The woman was not injured Pill said but the car was damaged. The town's insurance company refused to compensate the client, he added.
"The town's insurance company has evaded their responsibility in not compensating our client," Pill said.
Pill has brought the issue to the Board of Selectmen, who refused to comment.
"It is a tragedy--the Selectmen are playing weasel-games and failing to look out for the public. Someone is going to get killed and then they won't be able to weasel anymore," Pill said.
Town Attorney Robert Ritchie said there has been general concern and responsiveness from the town.
"We are responding to the issue, and precaution are being taken, he said. "We are working on it."
"I'm glad they're responding to the issue and working on it, but what we need is action, soon, before someone is killed," said Daniel Avery, legal assistant to Michael Pill.

Become a part of the 1984-85 Distribution Pride
19,000 Daily!

(1) U.Mass campus

All 5 dining commons
Campus Center (2 drops)
Student Union Building
Graduate Research Tower
Engineering East
Engineering Lab
School of Business
Whitmore (2 drops)
Bartlett
Monson
South College
Boyden
New Africa House
Newman Center
Herter
Thompson Hall
Fine Arts Center
Hasbrouck

(2) Amherst

Baybank
Food Basket
Classe Cafe
Pub
Charlies
Hampshire Bank
Sub
Russells
Auggies
Louis
Taco Villa
Delanos
C & C Liquors
Baskin Robbins
Amherst Deli
Changes
Spirit Haus

(3) Hadley

Funny Bones
Stadium Liquors
Price Chopper
Stop & Shop
Jiff Laundry
The Mall (2 drops)
Cumberland Farms
Carburs
Pops Package
T Js

(4) Northampton

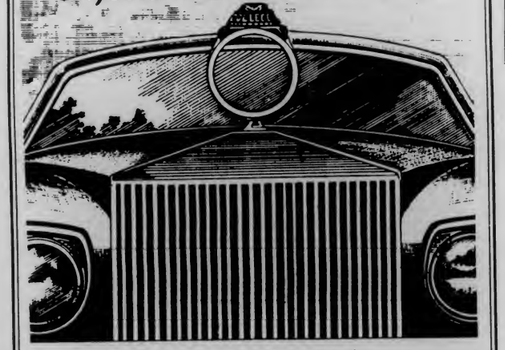
Fitzwillys
Taco Villa
Smith College
Store 24
Price Chopper
Lizottes
Woman Frye Books
Serios Drugs
The Subway
Jim Dandy
Hampshire Package Stores Inc.
Stop & Shop
Brooks Drugs
Fay's Drugs

(5) Sunderland/N. Amherst

Seven Eleven
Watrobas
Cumberland Farms
Pinochios
Daisys
Hastings
Amherst College
Hampshire College
Mt. Holyoke College

★Call 545-3500★

Biggest Sale of the Year!
$25 OFF
ON JOSTENS GOLD COLLEGE RINGS.



See your Jostens representative.
Date: Oct. 1, 2 - Mon, Tue
Place: Outside Univ. Store
Deposit: $15.00
Time 10-3:30 pm
Get A $25 Rebate On Your Jostens Gold College Ring
UNIVERSITY STORE

Hypercurricula

CERRF MEETING — help organize for Reproductive Awareness Night and view film "Matters So Fundamental." All Welcome. 5 p.m. Campus Center 901

COALITION FOR ENVIRONMENTAL QUALITY — CEQ general meeting. If you're concerned about our environment and would like to work on prjects which increase awarenss on environmental issues than come and share your ideas and energy with others. 7 p.m. CEQ office Rm. 306 SUB.

CENTER FOR ECONOMICS TUTORING AND ADVISING — Now open in Thompson Hall Rm. 822. Free tutoring for Economics 103, 104, 303, 304, and 311, Monday-Thursday, 1-5 pm. Thompson 822

RESUME/INTERVIEW TECHNIQUE WORKSHOPS — Resume workshop every Monday at 4 p.m. Interview workshops every Tuesday at 4 p.m. Both held in Room 102 Hampshire House. Sonsored by University Placement Service. 4 p.m., 102 Hampshire House.

Keep Your Summer
UTOPIA SPAS
TAN
Unlimited Visits
for 30 Days
+ a Bonus
½ Hour Hot Tub for 2
All this for just $49.99
Call Now for Reservations
253-7727
Offer Good Until 10/15

FUNNYBONES Cocktail Lounge
Every Monday 7-1
NICKLE NITE!
EVERY OTHER DRINK JUST 5¢
Party with Crazy George in our Main Lounge and watch Monday Night Football in our Pub.
RT. 9 HADLEY (across from Mt. Farms Mall)

the Hungry U Restaurant

FANTASTIC HAPPY HOUR MUNCHIE MENU!
! HAPPY HOUR !
2 for 1 all bottled beer
2 in 1 well drinks
potato skins only $1.99
3 pm - 6 pm, 9 pm till closing
7 days per week
55 University Drive, Amherst 549-5713

Graduate Study in Public Policy

The LBJ School of Public Affairs at The University of Texas at Austin emphasizes public policy analysis, interdisciplinary research and summer internships in government agencies in its graduate programs:

— Master's Degree in Public Affairs
— Joint Degrees Program with the UT Law School
— Joint Degrees Program with the UT College of Engineering
— Joint Degrees Program with the UT Graduate School of Business

Financial aid and fellowships are available based on merit or need.

MEET WITH A REPRESENTATIVE AT University of Massachusetts-Amherst
Career Placement
October 3, 1984
9:00 a.m. - 12:00 noon

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian
Founded 1870
Editor in Chief James P. Shanahan

Managing Editor John O'Connell
Business Manager Andrew May
Business Manager Elizabeth Young
Production Manager Mark Roden
Executive Editor Rita Murphy
News Editor Greg Brown
Black Affairs Editor Yadira Betances
Women's Issues Editor Rebecca Thatcher
Arts Editor Christine D. Marini
Sports Editor Peter Abraham
Photo Editor Andrew J. Heller

OPINION

The opinions expressed on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the university unless otherwise noted

Polls show public prefers a candy-coated leader

Andrew M. Paven

The latest from the ever-fascinating, yet ever-fallible weathervane of the American public, the public opinion poll, is that President Reagan is very popular among those same people that voted for Gary Hart in the primaries; the young and well-educated.

I don't know why I'm surprised by that. A quick glance at the weathervane last spring would have told me which way the wind was going to be blowing this fall. It did; I just didn't believe it.

Theories about Reagan's popularity are as numerous as theories about Mondale's problems; many are probably right: Mondale's too cautious; Mondale's too bland; Reagan's a leader; Reagan's a good actor; young voters have only known two presidents, Carter and Reagan.

But I have a theory about this connection Reagan has with the young that I have not read of before--it's just not very scientific.

Walter Mondale is a good man by all accounts--a perfect father figure. He was interviewed by Roger Mudd, on NBC's Summer Sunday U.S.A., the week before last, and talked of going with his father to pick out the switch with which he would be punished for his boyhood indiscretion--lying and bragging were the worst. He said that after he'd been whipped, he and his father would talk about why he had been punished; and he would understand.

Well, okay, switches don't fit into my model of fatherly perfection either, but they did in the Minnesota of Mondale's youth. Wrote Sydney Blumenthal in the Aug. 6 issue of The New Republic. "The dominant religion is Lutheranism, which stresses ritual, authority, and social obligation."

Walter Mondale is a man who wants you to eat your peas; he's your father, telling you as a child that even though you don't like your peas, they'll do wonderfully good things once inside of you.

Walter Mondale has, this fall, been campaigning on the premise that Americans will eat their peas if he can just explain why it will be good for them: "Whoever is inaugurated in January, the American public will have to pay Mr. Reagan's bills...Taxes will go up...Let's tell the truth. Mr. Reagan will raise taxes and so will I. He won't tell you, I just did."

Mondale says that Reagan is the type of guy that won't talk about making you eat your peas; he'll sneak up on you just before you go to bed some night and force them down your throat. Mondale, on the other hand, wil help you pick out the peas that you must eat--just as his father did with him--and you'll feel better for it.

That's the way Mondale would like the public to view Ronald Reagan but, given Reagan's popularity among the young, it's clear that's not the direction from which our youthful, demographic winds are blowing.

We young don't see Reagan as some malevolent cold-warrior, with rouge that was left over from Hellcats of the Navy on his cheeks. No way.

Reagan's everyone's Gramps.

Just when ma and dad aren't going to let you leave the table 'til you eat your peas, there's Gramps, like the cavalry in any good "B" movie, to save the day.

Gramps takes you out for ice cream; he bounces you on his knee, and tells you stories; he takes you to the ballpark. He usually isn't the one to make you eat your peas. That happens after gramps drops you off and goes home.

With less than two months to go before the election, gramps Reagan is fat and away ahead of Father-knows-best-Mondale. Most of us would rather have a double scoop of chocolate with jimmies, than a nice hot bowl of peas.

But presidents aren't grandfathers; and countries, like children, cannot live on ice cream alone.

Sure, there are those who'll tell you that Reagan's popular because he conquered Grenada. Or 'showed them our resolve' in Lebanon. Or because with the help of a friendly Federal Reserve Board, he managed to let the air out of the nation's economy, as with a balloon, and is now able to take credit for blowing it back up again. Sure, there are those who will tell you all those things. They'll be the ones in front of you at Baskin-Robbins, ordering a double-scoop of chocolate, with jimmies.

Part of the process of maturity is realizing when your parents were right. If you don't eat your peas, you at least have to eat your broccolli.

Walter Mondale may be peas or broccolli to Reagan's hot fudge. But which one will keep you healthier in the long run?

Andrew Paven is a Collegian Columnist.

The spirit of the past lives

Joseph McCormack

Recently there has been a string of editorials in newspapers, condemning the college set of today for their seemingly apathetic stance on social change. The "great" protestors of the 60s look upon the new college generation as a pack of preprofessionals, soon to be part of the problem rather than source of solution. Abby Hoffman, who once said "Don't trust anyone over thirty," said recently that he now believes the opposite is true. They seem to think that the spirit of protest is dead on college campuses.

Last semester the conning tower of a Russian submarine appeared in the center of the campus pond. This visual protest to the arms race stirred little student support. When the submarine was destroyed a couple of nights later by vandals, it became a hot topic of conversation. Many students approved of the destruction as a protest against the rumour that whomever built the sub had done it for his graduate thesis. Others felt that the student body does not have enough direct influence on that issue to warrant effort.

When fatigue-clad demonstrators broke up a discussion on Nicaragua by staging a mock battle, no positive support was generated. The general concensus was that the action was childish and irresponsible. Nicaragua does not hold the same threats to our generation as Vietnam held for the students of the 60s. Until Reagan escalates his Central American presence to actual battle conditions, protests won't be very widely supported.

On the other hand, issues that are perceived by the students as changable by their efforts and initiatives are welcomed. Even those opposed to the orientation of these protests recognize their legitimacy. Many may have disagreed with picketing the University Store over pornography, but few doubted that the effort was sincere and the goal was attainable.

It seems that protest has been taken from the "radicals" and brought down to a more personal level. The papers are filled with classic examples of personal protest; A man who disagreed with a $1,000 fine paid the fine by crumpling 1,000 dollar bills and stuffing them in a sack. Students often pay local pizza parlors with huge lumps of change to protest prices or late deliveries. The personal protestor realizes that most "enemies" are hurt best in the wallet. Strikes work. Boycotts work. Pickets work. Money talks, but money denied screams.

Here is an example of the personal protest:

Like most students who have a car at UMass, D.T. is hostile to the parking fine/towing system here. One day D.T. parked his car at Boyden parking lot. He grabbed a handful of change from the glove compartment and got out of the car. When he was putting change in the meter, he noticed a meter maid coming down the hill. On a sudden burst of inspiration he rushed up and down the rows putting change in every expired meter. For the cost of less than a dollar, D.T. had lodged his protest and slowed down the system for a half hour or so.

The answer to the aging 60s critics is simple. The spirit of protest is still strong on the nation's campuses, the students simply don't make a point of advertising it on national TV.

Letters to the Editor

A need to address the real issue at hand

We are outraged at the hypocrisy evident in the Board of Governor's decision to ban the magazine Cosmoparody from the University Store. Last semester the BOG refused to recommend the removal of Playboy, Playgirl and Penthouse magazines after a struggle with students concerned about the pornography on campus.

In last week's Collegian, Vice Chair of the BOG, Karen Karina Gray said, "I think it's (Cosmoparody) trash. I'm so glad that magazine got pulled out. This shows student work in action. The magazine wasn't selling anyway..." Obviously the BOG is more concerned with the profit margin of the University Store than with the objectification and oppression of women.

If this is an effort to appease those who fought against pornography last semester, we hope the BOG realizes that it has just scratched the surface of this issue.

Now that the Board has shown its willingness to take a stand on offensive material for sale in the University Store, we hope that they will reconsider their decision of last semester and address that real issue: the fact that these material are insulting and degrading to women.

Martha Nelson, Lisa Trocki, Dianne Arico, S.E. Chase, Heidi Holland, Beatrix Hoffman, Kathy Kiely, Elsa Elliott.

Random Notes

Student voters can make a difference in '84

October 9 is the last day to register to vote in the Presidential and Congressional elections. Starting Monday, October 1, UMass students will be able to register at various places around campus.

Students could be a decisive force in the 1984 elections if enough register. Ronald Reagan won by only 3,000 votes in Massachusetts in 1980; many times that number were unregistered voters. This year's election will bring many important issues to the forefront of political debate. Students have a responsibility to speak their minds on issues that affect them, and one way to do it is to vote on November 6.

Issues of this election affecting students include financial aid, federal education assistance, abortion legislation, drinking ages, and the nuclear arms race. While neither canidate may be ideal, the 1984 election will be a turning point for many of the issues mentioned above.

Also, on Monday and Tuesday students will have an opportunity to vote in the SGA Senate elections. The Senate makes many decisions affecting student life on campus; thus this is another extremely important election in which all students should take part. On-campus students vote in the dining commons of their residential area; commuters vote in front of the Hatch. The coming weeks will enable students to participate in essential decision-making which affects all of us. We must let our voices be heard.

Rick Patrick is the SGA co-president, and Beatrix Hoffman is a UMass student.

Letters Policy

All letters must be signed and include the writer's address and telephone number, which will not be published. Please type double spaced at 67 characters per line. Due to space limitations and the volume of mail, we regret we are unable to acknowledge unpublished letters. All letters are subject to editing for clarity and length.

BACK SCHOOL 101

Prerequisite:
Back pain & a referral from your UHS provider

This 6 session program (classes one week apart) includes information on exercise, some anatomy, massage, treatment options, posture tips, pain relief methods and relaxation

DATES: Tuesdays, October 9, 16, 23, 30 & November 6 • December 4

TIME: 6:30—8:30

PLACE: University Health Center

• Please advise your UHS provider for the proper referral

Call UHS Health Education for Information and Registration: 549-2671, ext. 181

HELP WANTED
BREAKFAST and LUNCH SHIFTS
Apply
HADLEY BURGER KING
RT 9

LEARN TO FLY
665-2577
YOUR OWN AIRPLANE FOR ONE THIRD OF THE NORMAL COST WITH THE COLLEGIATE FLYING CLUB (UMASS R.S.O.)
FREE BUS TO AIRPORT IN NORTHAMPTON. CREDIT ON GROUND SCHOOL AVAILABLE

THE PEER EDUCATOR/COLLOQUIUM PROGRAM
Presents
FALL 84 COLLOQUIUM
Teach a Colloq
Evening/Weekend Classes
Take a Colloq
Deadline for Colloq Proposals: Wed. Oct. 3, 1984
Colloqia are pass/no record one credit courses
For More Info Contact:
Colloquium Offices -
EAST: Brett House, Hills North 5-0422
SOUTHWEST: John Adams Lobby 5-2803

IOTA GAMMA UPSILION
invites all university women to OPEN RUSH!

DATES:
Oct. 1-5 pm Bar-B-Que
Oct. 3-7 pm Round Robin
Oct. 4-5 pm Dinner
406 N. Pleasant St.
256-6879

Welcome! National Student Exchange Students!

There will be a welcome to UMASS and welcome home Happy Hour at The Pub for all of you that are here on exchange, UMASS students returning from exchange, and any others interested! Please stop in and:

Meet new friends!
Find out about the NSE Club and sign up for it!
Enjoy some munchies!
Enjoy some liquid refreshments!
(Mass. legal drinking age is 20. Bring I.D.)

Date: Monday, October 1, 1984 Time: after 7 until 9 p.m.
Place: The Pub in Amherst (located behind Carriage shops in town)

HOPE TO SEE YOU ALL THERE!!!!

HEALTH & BEAUTY SALE

Introducing DOUBLE MANUFACTURER'S COUPONS on all Health and Beauty Aids Products

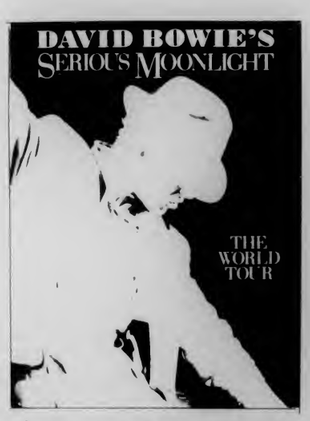
Sale items are also available in the Mini Store
M-F 9-5
Sat 11-4

Located in the Campus Center
UNIVERSITY STORE

BOOK OF THE WEEK
$2.00 OFF



David Bowie's Serious Moonlight
The World Tour

Open: M-F 9-5

UNIVERSITY STORE
Located in the Campus Center

Arts

D.C.-style rock

Root Boy Slim live in the Valley and on record

Dog Secrets
Root Boy Slim
Congressional Records

By JACK BRESNAHAN
Collegian Staff

Root Boy Slim and his band played the Rusty Nail recently. This singer of bizarre songs wasn't exactly crooning, and the music could be described as a fusion of funk-rock-reggae-funk. In reviewing them, I realized that there wasn't really anyone to compare them to.

Their gig was a stark contrast for the band who played the previous night at R.P.I. in Troy N.Y. before an audience of 5,000. The attendance at the Nail was meager; there was enough room on the dance floor for gymnasts to do their entire floor exercise. But Root Boy and crew didn't let that affect their collective mood ring. They are out promoting their new album, Dog Secrets, and showed that they are very well rehearsed as well as a lot of fun.

They started off with "Tough Luck," and then into "W.W.III" from their previous record. Next came a very unconventional song, "So Young, So Hip, So Lame," kind of an apocalyptic folk song. Some of the lyrics of these first songs were indistinguishable because the saxaphon tended to drown them out. Apparently the band hadn't time enough for sound check, but they eventually corrected the problem. "I'm just a prisoner of my own voice," said Root Boy before "I Want It Now." I'd say it was somewhat like Tom Waits or at times like Zappa. He thanked DuPont on "Inflatable Doll," ("she never makes me take out the garbage.") This new tune really captures the essence of Root Boy. Being from ground zero, Washington D.C., they claim to be the only existing pro-nuke band. This idea is expressed in "21st Century Man," /"The future is bleak/ We look to the past/ We lived it up/ Before the big blast." He may be a '87 graduate from Yale, but you won't find Root Boy protesting any more. This boy is pure Ivy League stuff, prefering Wild Turkey to martinis.

Root Boy Slim's new album Dog Secrets

On "Liquor Store Holdup In Space," he goes for a sci-fi robbery in which the lyrics and the concept are truly bizarre. From there came "Motel of Love," and "Singles Bar." "My Wig Fell Off," featured a wailing sax by Ron Holloway and long instrumentation in which the band was tremendous. They also did "Don't Tell Your Mother," which is a particularly nasty song, with the lyrics contained within the new album. The show ended with "Boogy Till You Puke," done in a boogying fervor. Root Boy did mention that he did feel a little queasy after eating at Bub's BBQ. It was genuinely humorous to hear this tune, the band's calling card. They did an extended version of it, including a great guitar-tied into the synthesizer--solo.

Another song worth mentioning from the new Dog Secrets is "Cowboy Out In The Sun Too Long." This is a realistic spoof of Ronny Reagan, drawing on his past acting/cowboy career and his present acting/cowboy/president career. "We won the West/ I helped I guess/ Then they put me and Mommy out to graze/ We got distressed/ With those cheap shots in the local press/ So Nancy and I came back to save the day." I suggest Root Boy send this one the Democratic Presidential nominee so he'll have a solid theme song. Root Boy is the eyes and ears of Washington D.C.

Next show to catch at the Nail; October 15 — John Lee Hooker!

Brattleboro's Newest Night Club

Cheers Calendar
OCTOBER 1984

Sunday	Monday	Tuesday	Wednesday	Thursday	Friday	Saturday
	CLOSED	2 DJ MUSIC No Cover	3 Happy Hour All Nite DJ Music No Cover	4 SCREW NIGHT DJ MUSIC No Cover	5 EARLY WARNING	6
7 PERSONAL ADS		9 DJ MUSIC No Cover	10 Happy Hour All Nite DJ Music No Cover	11 SCREW NIGHT DJ MUSIC No Cover	12 AFTER HOURS	13
14 COLT 45		16 DJ MUSIC No Cover	17 Happy Hour All Nite DJ Music No Cover	18 SCREW NIGHT DJ MUSIC No Cover	19 HEAD FIRST	20
21 NO RESPECT		23 DJ MUSIC No Cover	24 Happy Hour All Nite DJ Music No Cover	25 SCREW NIGHT DJ MUSIC No Cover	26 SING SING	27
28 SING SING	29	30 DJ MUSIC No Cover	31 CHEERS HALLOWEEN PARTY! LIVE MUSIC BY "LOCOMOTION" $100 First Prize for Best Costume

Landmark Hill Putney Road Brattleboro, Vermont (802) 257-1778

Positive Photo ID's Required

Directions: Take Brattleboro Exit 3 off I-91. Bear right at lights by HoJo's. Go ½ mile on Rte. 5 South. Take first left just past Perkins Home Center. Turn left at top of hill.

Cut and Save this!

AMHERST CINEMA
DOUBLE FEATURE $2.50
Monday and Tuesday
A Cary Grant Double Feature
Bringing Up Baby
with Katherine Hepburn
I Was a Male War Bride with Ann Sheridan
DOWNTOWN AMHERST

Rent One of Ours
Car
Truck
Passenger Van
North Amherst Motors
Rt. 63 No. Amherst
549-2880

Now's the time to call...
North Amherst Motors
Rt. 63 No. Amherst
549-2880
Expert Repairs & Reconditioning

STOP YOUR ALCOHOL PROBLEM ...

The Student Opportunity Program (STOP) offers five weeks of education and group support to students whose alcohol related behavior is causing problems.

If you are concerned about how drinking is affecting your studies, work, relationships and/or health, and would like more information about STOP call:

The Alcohol Education Program
Division of Health Education
University Health Services
549-2671 Ext. 181

STOP BEGINS...
Monday, Oct. 22, 1984
6-7:30p.m./Room 302-UHS

charlie's

Super Daily Happy Hour
All Week 3-6 pm
2 for 1 Jumbo Drinks (any shelf)
reduced prices on pitchers & bottled beer
Free Munchies
Plus 2 for 1 on Jumbo draft & wine

Super Nightly Happy Hour
All Week 9:30-11:30 pm
2 for 1 Jumbo Drinks (any shelf)
or
2 for 1 on Jumbo draft & wine

OTHER SPECIALS

Tuesday
8-12 pm Pizza and Beer
$5.95 includes pitcher of beer or carafe of wine & cheese pizza

Sunday
11-3 pm Bloody Mary pitchers $5.95
6-10 pm Pizza & Beer $5.95 includes a pitcher of beer or carafe of wine and cheese pizza

1 Pray Street, Amherst
Open 11 am - 1 am Daily

DOMINO'S PIZZA
HELP WANTED

Earn $5-$7 an hour delivering pizzas. Must have own reliable car, willing to work nights and weekends, and be at least 18 years old. Apply in person after 4 pm

Now taking applications for full and part time positions. Must be at least 18. Apply in person.

RT 9, HADLEY

The future revisited

Metropolis
Directed by Fritz Lang
At the Pleasant Street Theater

By GINA M. RUVIDO
Collegian Correspondent

"I experience with my eyes and never, or only rarely, with my ears--to my constant regret." — Fritz Lang

The silent film Metropolis, which was originally released in 1926 and has recently been reconstructed and adapted by Giorgio Moroder, is testimony to Fritz Lang's affinity for the "visual" in a futuristic and imaginative world. Moroder, the two-time Academy Award wining composer of such films as "Midnight Express" and "Flashdance" has succeeded in piecing together missing parts of the original film which had previously been shortened for its original American release.

The plot of Metropolis unfolds in the year 2026, in a Dickensian "best of times, worst of times." Workers inhabit the Underground city, far below the ground level of Metropolis, and it is there that they operate in a mechanical fashion, laboring endlessly over machines day after day. The mayor of Metropolis, Frederson, chooses to turn the other cheek on the workers' plight, but his son Freder is rudely awakened one day to their toil and strife.

The workers begin to organize a rebellion under the peaceful yet powerful direction of a woman named Maria, who subsequently falls in love with Freder. However, in the darkness looms the crazed maniac scientist Rotwang, who kidnaps Maria and transforms her body into that of a robot he has created in an incredible display of modern day coloring added to the already imaginative original version.

Metropolis creates for the viewer its own rhythm and visual music through the repetitive motions of the characters and the camera. The score by Moroder is dull and unnecessary for this film which pulses with life, "silently" in a modern world.

More than anything else, Metropolis works because the style and the story complement each other perfectly. The surprisingly modernistic special effects boost the smooth narrative of the film in a manner rarely seen in contemporary cinema. Like wine, Metropolis can only get better with age.

Oh my gosh, have you read the Collegian lately?

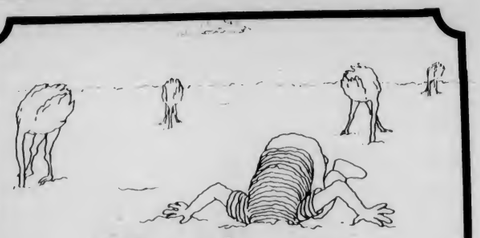
Styles by Deborah
FREE HAIRCUT with any perm $30.
65 University Drive Amherst
by appointment 549-5610
expires 10/30/84
valid with this coupon
STYLE CUTS only $7.00

STUDENT TELEPHONE DIRECTORIES

- AVAILABLE FOR DISTRIBUTION IN MID-OCTOBER
- WATCH "COLLEGIAN" FOR EXACT DATE
- INCLUDES SPRING 1984 DEAN'S LIST

Information Data Bank
Taped Information
Phone Service
A Service of the Dean of Students Office
idb tips



Heads up.
Register and Vote.

OCT. 1	WORCESTER DC	4:30 pm - 6:30 pm
OCT. 2	CAMPUS CENTER	10:00 am - 2:00 pm
OCT. 2	FRANKLIN DC	4:30 pm - 6:30 pm
OCT. 3	CAMPUS CENTER	10:00 am - 2:00 pm
OCT. 3	BERKSHIRE DC	4:30 pm - 6:30 pm
OCT. 4	HAMPSHIRE DC	4:30 pm - 6:30 pm
OCT. 9	CAMPUS CENTER	10:00 am - 12:30 pm

UMASS BIG VOTE '84

MASSPIRG SCERA SGA Third World Affairs Student Senate Frontlash MASSPIRG Northeast Area Gov't Peacemakers Public Policy Radical Student Union SCERA SGA Presidents Office SSAM Third World Affairs UMass College Republican Club

SYMPOSIUM ON INNER SCIENCE AND WORLD PEACE

Keynote Address:
His Holiness the Fourteenth Dalai Lama, Tenzin Gyatso
Topic: A Universal Humanitarian Approach to World Peace

Panelists:

Fern L. Johnson, Ph.D., is Associate Provost for Undergraduate Education, University of Massachusetts at Amherst, and Associate Professor, Department of Communication Studies.
Topic: Feminist Perspectives on Peace

Robert Thurman, Ph.D., is Associate Professor of Religion, Amherst College, President of the American Institute of Buddhist Studies, and author of The Holy Teaching of Vimalakirti, and Tsong Khapa's Speech of Gold: Reason and Enlightenment in the Central Philosophy of Tibet.
Topic: Inner Science and Our Survival

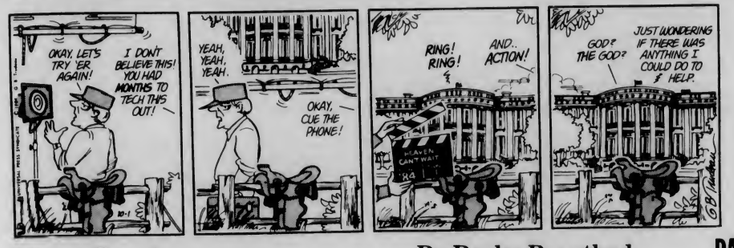
Frances Vaughan, Ph.D., is Professor of Psychology at the California Institute of Transpersonal Psychology, past president of the Association for Transpersonal Psychology, author of Awakening Intuition, co-editor Beyond Ego.
Topic: Transpersonal Perspectives on World Peace

Roger N. Walsh, M.D., Ph.D., is on the faculty of the Department of Psychiatry and Human Behavior of the California College of Medicine of the University of California, Irvine. Author of Staying Alive: The Psychology of Human Survival and Towards an Ecology of the Brain, co-editor of Beyond Health and Normality and Beyond Ego.
Topic: The Psychology of Human Survival

Sign Language Interpreted
ADMISSION BY TICKET
Tickets available at Fine Arts Center Box Office
University of Massachusetts
Remaining Tickets
On October 3 @ 1:30 p.m.
For more information call
Fine Arts Center Box Office
(413) 545-2511

Fine Arts Center Concert Hall
University of Massachusetts at Amherst
October 3, 1984, 7:30 p.m.

Doonsbury — By Garry Trudeau



OKAY, LET'S TRY 'ER AGAIN!
I DON'T BELIEVE THIS! YOU HAD MONTHS TO TECH THIS OUT!
YEAH, YEAH, YEAH.
OKAY, CUE THE PHONE!
RING! RING!
AND... ACTION!
GOD? THE GOD?
JUST WONDERING IF THERE WAS ANYTHING I COULD DO TO HELP.

Todays Weather

Chance of rain, heavy at times and windy with highs in the 50's. Rainy and chilly tonight, blanket weather. Tomorrow, more rain likely and continued cool.

Bloom County — By Berke Breathed

GOOD EVENING. THIS IS "EYEWITNESS NEWS."
FACED WITH A SKYROCKETING POPULATION OF ROAMING, RAVENOUS "MINI-CAM" NEWS CREWS TRYING TO FEED OFF TOO LITTLE NEWS, THE DEPT. OF THE INTERIOR TODAY ANNOUNCED A "THINNING" PROGRAM.
STARTING TONIGHT, ANY "MINI-CAM" CREWS FOUND LOOSE WILL BE CLUBBED, SKINNED AND THEIR INTERNAL ORGANS SOLD AS APHRODISIACS IN CHINA.
YOU'LL UNDERSTAND IF WE WON'T BE BRINGING YOU ANY FILM OF THE HUNT...
OH ABSOLUTELY!

DAILY CROSSWORD PUZZLE

Edited by Trude Michel Jaffe

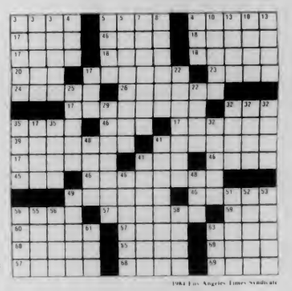
ACROSS
1 Stage luminary
5 Dodecanese island
9 Sailor's vigil
14 Aesop character
15 —— even keel
16 Snake River country
17 Wild goat of the Alps
18 Mine entrance
19 Former republic now a state
20 Sindbad's transport
21 Porcupine quills
23 Meerschaum
24 Australian marsupial
26 Check
28 Elective
30 Spigot
33 An Arnaz
36 German con junction
37 Stately dance
39 Take piece dence over
41 1933 Kern operetta
42 Malayan dagger
43 Prickly seed case Var.
44 Shorebird
45 Place to go in lilac time
46 Accomplished
49 Lucky piece
50 Hoosier poet
54 Type of horse
57 Soothing ointment
59 Pub specialty
60 Representative abroad
62 Harvest yield
63 Ship's prow
64 Academic
65 Canterbury's county
66 Zenith
67 Ex-bishop of Paris
68 Group meeting Abbr.
69 Fuze

DOWN
1 Evade
2 Forbidden by tradition
3 Betel palm
4 King of Carnival
5 Shampoo
6 Artist's need
7 Part of a steam engine
8 Medic
9 Drollery
10 Skilled
11 Part of the street scene
12 Guy
13 Nylons
21 Weaken
22 New York or San Diego
25 River at Saint-Nazaire
27 Piece of marble
29 Melodious
30 Village NW of Dublin
31 Oppositionist
32 Chime
33 Tie up at the marina
34 Seine tributary
35 Pot-au-feu
38 "Rigoletto" composer
40 Artificial gold alloy
41 Noisy quarrels
43 Basswood
47 Groups of tourists
48 Long-winged sea eagle
49 American chameleon
51 Door fastening
52 Kind of gum resin
53 Red Sea country
54 Pastoral pipe
55 Fairy tale start
56 Shakespeare's river
58 Chooses
61 Certainly
63 Observed

ANSWER TO PREVIOUS PUZZLE

B	E	L	L		I	F	I	N	I		R	I	S	K	S
F	R	E	I		D	I	O	R		O	N	T	A	P
I	R	O	N	H	O	R	S	E		A	H	O	M	E
N	O	R	T	E		S	E	N	D	S	A	W	A	Y
G	R	A	I	N	S			S	E	A	T	S
		E	N	O	W			L	E	T	S	O	N
R	E	D	R	A	D	I	S	H		R	E	T	R	O
O	D	A			S	E	R	A	C			R	E	O
L	E	T	G	O		N	A	T	I	V	E	S	O	N
E	L	A	I	N	E			S	T	E	M
			R	E	N	T	A		E	O	U	C	E	S
L	E	N	D	L	E	A	S	E		A	L	U	L	A
O	C	A	L	A		S	H	I	P	Y	A	R	D	S
D	O	Z	E	N		T	I	E	N	A		T	I	E	S
	E	L	I	S	E		E	R	S	T		E	E	R	Y

10/1/84



UMass Zone — By Mark Rollins

HI... MY NAME IS VIC, AND THIS IS MY PET SLUG, "STING."
SORRY WE'RE A BIT LATE THIS YEAR.
I GOT MY NICKNAME BECAUSE I LIKE THE POLICE... AND "STING" IS THE LEAD SINGER'S NAME....
RECENTLY, OTHERS HAVE ATTEMPTED TO USE ME IN THEIR COMICS....
ALTHOUGH WE KNOW WHERE THEY ENDED UP.

Gorde — by Gorde

LOOK! GOING ON THAT BUS! IT'S HER! I'D KNOW THOSE LEGS ANYWHERE!
SAY, ISN'T THAT...
NO WAIT! DON'T GO!
RUTA
RROOOOOOM
PANT PANT
I LOVE YOU!!
GONE
ERR.
..THIS IS A BIT EMBARRASING. I'LL SEE YOU GUYS LATER
HA HA, HAVE I GOT A PHONE CALL TO MAKE

Yeasthead — by E.L.M.

The Lab — by Law

I DON'T KNOW ED, DO YOU THINK ARE READERS WILL BELIEVE THIS STORY?
I ADMIT, SIX DIMENSIONAL GLASSES ARE INCREDIBLE, BUT I WOULDN'T WANT TO MISS A STORY LIKE THIS!
EDITOR
RIGHT! LET'S GET IN OUR FLYING SAUCER AND ZIP ON OVER THERE!

D.C. Menu

LUNCH
Chili Corn Chip Bake
Open Face Ham and Swiss Sandwich

DINNER
Oriental Stew
Fish Fry with Tartar Sauce
Fruit Plate with Orange Bread

BASICS LUNCH
Garden Chili
Cheese, Lettuce and Tomato Sandwich

BASICS DINNER
Baked Cod with Lemon Wedge
Eggplant Parmigiana

CAN YOU TYPE?
WANT CASH?
We will train responsible people with GOOD typing skills on our new typesetting machines. This is a marketable skill to have and could lead to summer positions making well over 7 dollars per hour. For an application and more information stop by the Collegian leave a note or speak with Dode Levenson

The New York Times
Best Sellers

New York Times	BEST SELLERS
Fiction	NonFiction
1. The Fourth Protocol	1. Loving Each Other
2. First Among Equals	2. Pieces of My Mind
3. "...And Ladies of the Club"	3. The Kennedys, An American Dream
4. Tough Guys Don't Dance	4. The Bridge Across Forever
5. Lincoln	5. The Rest of Us
6. Crescent City	6. Wired
7. The Miko	7. The Nightmare Years
8. The Butter Battle Book	8. The Fire From Within
9. The Aquitaine Progression	9. Good Morning, Merry Sunshine
10. The Outsider	10. One Writer's Beginnings

$2.00 OFF List Price
All New York Times Best Sellers
*Hardcover editions only
Located in the Campus Center
UNIVERSITY STORE
Open M-F 9-5

TALK TO DRAPER
Wednesday, October 10, 1984
University of Massachusetts/Amherst
BS/MS/PhD Candidates — join some of the nation's most respected and inventive people at developing innovative and fascinating new technologies. As a leading hands-on "working laboratory" in Technology Square, we offer a unique environment for your career to grow and develop. Positions are currently available for candidates in Electrical Engineering, Mechanical Engineering, Computer Science, Manufacturing Systems, and Robotics Automation in the following areas:
- Control Systems Design
- Software Development/ Evaluation
- Analog/Digital Design Engineering
- Spacecraft Dynamics
- Underwater Exploration Systems
- Structural Engineering
- Manufacturing Systems
- Robotics/Automation
- Guidance and Navigation Analysis
- Electronic System Engineering
- Optics
- Instrumentation System Development

We employ over 1800 top quality people — we need 70 more. If you're looking for a state-of-the-art professional challenge — we want to talk to you.
INFORMATIONAL GROUP MEETING*
INTERVIEW SCHEDULE
Details available at your Placement Office. We are an equal opportunity/affirmative action employer, M/F. U.S. Citizenship required.
The Charles Stark Draper Laboratory, Inc.

Get on line without waiting in line.
University Computer Center
"Unbelievable!"
It's not bad enough being stalled in lines of homework for your computer courses. To make a tough situation worse you've got to plan on spending precious time standing in line every time you want to get on line. And your odds on getting a print out by the time you need it are about as good as getting seats to a Michael Jackson concert.
That is, of course, unless you do your computer homework at the Computer Access Center.
16 chairs, no waiting!
The Computer Access Center is a unique workspace that offers everything you need to do all of your computer work in one place at the time. We rent the facilities the best of semester for as little as you need them right in the center of Amherst. Finally you've got an alternative to using your school's crowded facilities or renting a terminal for the whole semester.
The Access Center has it all. 16 work stations fully equipped with computers and terminals, complete modem systems that allow you to tie in to Cyber VAX or any other mainframe that you have the access code for, on-site letter quality and dot matrix printers for instant print outs, and experienced and knowledgeable computer pros always on duty to help you.
Of course, the best part is that at Computer Access Center you don't have to waste precious time standing in line. Now you can plan ahead and reserve time on a terminal that will be waiting just for you.
So what are you waiting for? Call today and see for yourself how easy and inexpensive renting time on a computer can be.
COMPUTER ACCESS CENTER INC.
ON SITE HOURLY/SEMESTER RENTALS 256-1213
79 South Pleasant Street, Amherst, MA (in left rear of Peter Pan terminal building)
Mon.-Thurs. 9 am-11 pm, Fri. 9 am-6 pm, Sat.-Sun. 10 am-6 pm
2 FREE HOURS OF COMPUTER TIME!
Call today, mention this ad and use one of our computers for two hours at no cost!
Offer good during business hours Monday through Friday until October 15th

LET YOUR VOICE BE HEARD
VOTE IN THE SGA STUDENT ELECTIONS
OCTOBER 1 and 2
POLLING PLACES:
Worcester:
Northeast, Sylvan 11-2 and 4:30-6:30
Franklin:
Central, Orchard Hill 11-2 and 4:30-7
Hampshire:
Crampton, Coolidge, Emerson, James, Kennedy, Melville, Prince, Thoreau 11-2 and4:30-7
Berkshire:
Cance, JA, JQA, Mackimmie, Moore, Patterson, Pierpont, Washington 11-2 and 4:30-7
Hatch:
Greeks, Commuters 10-3

Men's soccer continues on, Vermont falls 4-0

By SCOTT HOOD
Collegian Staff

The University of Massachusetts men's soccer team exploded for four goals within an 18-minute span in the second half as they shut out the University of Vermont, 4-0, Saturday afternoon in Burlington, Vermont.

Freshman Kurt Manal broke the scoreless tie with his sixth goal of the season at the 18-minute mark. Seven minutes later, Andy Bing netted his second goal of the season with Manal registering the assist.

Five minutes after Bing's goal, Paul Cerafino hit the back of the net, giving the Minutemen a 3-0 lead. Bob Trajkovski, a junior forward, finished off the rampage with a goal at the 86-minute mark.

The Minutemen and the Catamounts exchanged scoring opportunities in the first half but UMass goalie Don Donahue and Vermont goalie Steve Nedde were up to the task, turning every shot away.

"We didn't play well in the first half," said UMass head coach Jeff Gettler. "Their keeper was great. He made several big saves, including stopping two breakaways. Don (Donahue) kept us in the game in the first half."

After the first 15 minutes, UMass started to dominate play, a trend that continued throughout the contest. In all, the Minutemen outshot Vermont 18-4. Donahue made only two saves, both in the first half.

UMass kept up the pressure at the beginning of the second half, but were frustrated numerous times before Manal finally broke through.

"It was just a matter of time," said gettler. "After we scored the first one, the floodgates opened."

As usual, the defensive line, including Mike Rudd ("he played his best game of the year" — Gettler), Matthew Dowd, Mike Runeare, and Paul Ricard totally dominated Vermont's forward line. UMass has only allowed four goals through their first eight games with Donahue chalking up five saves.

Going into the game, UMass was the number four ranked team in New England. But with their recent victory swing and UConn losing to Harvard last Wednesday, The Minutemen's chances of moving up in the polls looks good.

Umass 3, Northeastern 0

UMass (2-1-0)	0	0	3	0	-	3
Northeastern (1-2-0)	0	0	0	0	-	0

Scoring: UM: Papoutsidis, 30 yard FG
Attendance: 8,633
Statistics:
First Downs: UM: 13, Northeastern: 19
Rushing Yards: UM: 211, NU: 238
Passing Yards: UM: 59, NU: 64
Total Yards: UM: 270, NU: 302
Return Yards: UM: 46, NU: 25
Fumbles-Lost: UM 2-1, NU:2-1
Penalties: UM: 11-82, NU: 7-73
Punting: UM: 9-35.0, NU: 8-32.5
Third Downs: UM: 5-17, NU: 5-15
Sacks: UM: 2-15, NU: 3-13
Possession: UM: 27:45, NU: 32:15
Individual Statistics:
Passing: UM: J. Simeone, 5-17-1-0-59, NU: M. Sweeney, 5-19-3-64
Rushing: UM: G. Barnwell, 20-121, F. Fay, 12-65, J. Simeone, 1-(-3), D. Grange: 6-29. NU: M. Sweeney, 13-68, M. Curtin, 15-46, G. Benoit, 11-41
Receiving: UM: B. Simeone, 2-27, G. Barnwell, 2-18, F. Fay, 1-14. NU: J. Cunningham, 2-30.

Spikers split over weekend in UMass Classic at Boyden

By JOHN NOLAN
Collegian Correspondent

In volleyball, consistency brings success. Without it, a team can only hope for a break. Such was the case for the University of Massachusetts volleyball team as they dropped two of four matches this past weekend in the UMass Volleyball Classic Tournament held at Boyden.

Considered a good bet to finish in the top four out of the twelve participating teams, UMass dropped two consecutive matches on Saturday as they were eliminated in the quarterfinals.

As expected, the team got off to a good start Friday evening with wins over Central Connecticut State (15-12, 15-10) and Fairleigh-Dickinson (15-4, 15-2). But even though UMass had no trouble putting Fairleigh-Dickinson away, they struggled against Central Connecticut.

"I thought we played a smart match against FDU, but we had a hard time against Central Connecticut," said coach Elaine Sortino. "They were tough."

Still, going into Saturday's match against Colgate, UMass was unbeaten. They quickly lost that status however, as they were unable to hold leads in either game. Several UMass opportunities fell short as a tight Colgate defense continually made the big save.

"Basically, we needed to maintain more consistency," said Sortino. "We jumped out to a big lead in game two, but scored only one point after that."

Springfield College was their next opponent in the quarterfinals of the elimination bracket. Springfield was touted as a scrappy team, their strength in their outside hitting. But with their captain sitting out with an injury, a semi-final rematch with Colgate looked promising. Hlowever, Saturday was not a good day for the UMass spikers.

Springfield jumped out to big leads in both games as a sluggish UMass offense was unable to find a groove. It was quickly apparent that Springfield's desire to win was aided by a lack of intensity exhibited by UMass. "We keyed on their big hitter (Sally Maher), and that psyched us up," said Springfield coach, Tom Hay. Springfield continually bottled up the middle which forced UMass to set to the outside. So after two quick games (12-15, 9-15), UMass was out of the tournament.

UMass crew teams successful

By JOHN NOLAN
Collegian Correspondent

The Crew teams of the University of Massachusetts rowed their way to victory over participating Division II opponents yesterday at the Textile River Regatta in Lowell. The Regatta consisted of 12 participating Dvision I and II schools.

The men's crew began the day be defeating all their Divisions II opponents and settling for fourth behind Brown, the defending National Champions, BU, and Columbia.

The big story was, however, the second place finish logged by the women's team. In a race won by MIT, the women managed to defeat the rest of its chief competition provided mainly from Simmons College and Colgate.

"Beating Simmons (fifth in last year's nationals) is a big step for us because it's given us a chance to see how far we've progressed," said co-captain Lisa Davidson. "It was really nice to see the squad come around."

The University of Massachusetts water polo team continued its fine play Saturday at the Fordham University Tournament, as the Minutemen defeated a solid St. Francis team 16-10 before dropping a 9-7 decision to Fordham.

UMass took the upper hand early in their St. Francis game by taking a 7-1 advantage in the first quarter. Sophomore Mike Hoover and Senior Paul McNeil continued to lead the scoring attack for the Minutemen be combining for six goals in the game.

At Babson, the University of Massachusetts Rugby team marched to a strong 21-7 victory as Englishman Keith Kelly and Stephan Rutherford led the squad. Kelly, recently brought up from the "(" squad proved to be the force of the match as he scored five points and assisted on a three point try by Rutherford.

(Also contributing to this story were staff members Mike Levine and Alistaire Attwood.)

★ football

Continued from page 12

Tandler picked up the ball, avoided three Huskies determined to bury him, and managed a six yard kick (from the line of scrimmage) to the NU 40.

"All I had on my mind was picking it up and kicking it," said Tandler. "I waited for this chance and I made the most of it I could. I'm just glad to contribute to a win."

Northeastern was finished off for good when Chris Wood recovered a Sweeney fumble (after being introduced to Tracy's forearm) at the NU 44.

Statistically, Simeone was five of 17 for 59 yards. Platek had two interceptions, Fay ran for 65 yards and then there was the defense.

The linebacking corps of Vito Perrone, Dave Cavanaugh, Todd Comeau and Mike Favreau combined for 16 unassisted tackles and an impressive 31 assists. They also had three sacks. It was UMass' first shutout since 1982.

The previously riddled UMass secondary allowed only 64 yards in the air (Sweeney was only five of 19).

"Our offense stunk. I'm not sure what to do about their play, but hey, we won and that's all that anyone will remember," said Stull.

FOOTBALL NOTES: In other Yankee Converence games on Saturday the University of New Hampshire defeated Dartmouth 38-10 but lost tailback Andre Garron, the nation's leading rusher, for the season with a knee injury and URI beat Brown 34-13. Holy Cross slipped by a pesky Harvard 24-14 in Cambridge.

Jim Tandler was orignally recruited by former head coach Bob Pickett as a quarterback, was made a split end and has since, according to Stull, been convereted to a defense back. His record-shattering punt went almost 65 yards in the air before rolling to the NU 9. On another play he made the defensive stop after a punt with a solid open-field tackle. The punting chores seem to be in good hands.

Northeastern is Bob Buonopane, the team's leading receiver, went down in the first series of plays with cracked ribs. The game was a rough one as evidenced by numerous unsportsmanlike conduct penalties. "It was war, no doubt about that," said Stull.

How the AP Top 20 fared

1. Nebraska (3-1), lost to Syracuse 17-9
2. Texas (2-0), beat Penn State 28-3
3. Ohio State (4-0), beat Minnesota 35-22
4. Penn State (3-1), lost to Texas 28-3
5. Boston College (3-0), did not play
6. Washington (4-0), beat Miami (Ohio) 53-7
7. Oklahoma (4-0), beat Kansas State 24-6
8. Brigham Young (4-0), did not play
9. Florida State (4-0), beat Temple 44-27
10. Oklahoma State (4-0), beat Tulsa 31-7
11. Southern Methodist (3-0), beat Texas Christian 26-17
12. Georgia (2-1), lost to South Carolina 17-10
13. Clemson (2-2), lost to Georgia Tech 28-21
14. Michigan (3-1), beat Indiana 14-6
15. Southern California (2-1), lost to Louisiana State 23-3
16. Miami, Fla. (4-2), beat Rice 38-3
17. UCLA (3-1), beat Colorado 33-16
18. Georgia Tech (3-0), beat Clemson 28-21
19. Notre Dame (3-1), beat Missouri 16-14
20. Auburn (2-2), beat Tennessee 29-10

COLLEGIAN CLASSIFIED

Monday - Thursday 8:45 - 3:45 • Friday 8:45 - 2:30 • Cash in advance • 5 consecutive days 5% discount • 10 consecutive days 10% discount • 15 consecutive days 15% discount • phone number free

ADVERTISING
Advertise FREE in the RIVER VALLEY AD. Sell those items you want to sell or buy. Call 532-9498

AUTO FOR SALE
Dodge customized Van '77 engine in gd running order, carm int call 549-4682
73 Malibu good engine no body rust call 548-4354 late eves $800 or BO must sell
1978 Chevrolet Malibu station wagon body and engine in great shape runs great good mpg new cooling system and more $1700 call 546-9668
Honda 78 Civic hatchback, 2 door, 4 speed, runs well, good body $1500. Call 536-2159 after 5 PM

ENTERTAINMENT
VIDEO VIDEO VIDEO VIDEO Rock A Video entertainment giant 10 and 15 foot screens for dorms and Greeks. "MTV" video music call 549-7144
Rock A Disc Rock A-Video entertainment guaranteed events for Disc Jockeys, Bands and Video. Call 549-7144
WICKED AND WILD DJ's audio and visual entertainment for the 80's 584-8712

Two Rush tickets Oct 3rd Centrum ex cellent floor seats $40 for both 323-4829

FOR RENT
Refrigerator Rental 2 cubic ft R & R Package Store free delivery 253-9742
One and two bedroom apts On bus route cats okay. All utilities included Wmsburg 268-3624 584-3095

FOR SALE
Brand new 3000 series RAL speakers never used totally cranable $300 or best of fer 549-6351
Moped brand new only 500 mi excellent condition 253-9418 Brian eve
Used Holton Trumpet for sale Good condition $100 or best offer call 549-7787
Ski Boots Nordica mens 9½ 3 seasons new 546-9667 $50

GUITAR AMP FOR SALE
Roland 60 watts, equalizer, overdrive, reverb $300 or BO must sell, call Bob at 546-8805

HELP WANTED
Drivers wanted at Pinocchio's $6.7/hr. Apply in person for details 1177 N. Pleasant
Retail Sales positions full and part time Advanced Video 26 North King St. Northhampton 586-6501
People's Market is looking for new collective members for fall '84. We need hard workers, people with ability to maintain a strong commitment and willingness to work beyond floor hours. These are musts. Experience with marketing, advertising, and managing helpful. Work 10+ hours per week at $3.65 per hour. Applications available at People's Market, located at rear of the Student Union. Women, people of color, handicapped, gay, lesbian, and older students are encouraged to apply
Weekend position available 22 hours per week, starting pay $4.64/hour with Services for Community Living a small Innovative Human Service Agency. No experience necessary. Valuable training provided. Call in Holyoke 1-538-8176

INSTRUCTION
Know your car. Basic Automobile Workshop 28 hours including classroom and shop. Limited enrollment 253-2088

LOST
A purple cervex bag initials T M outside Brittany call Mark 256-6415 nights 536-6705 no questions asked!
Dorm key on lion medallion $5 reward for info. Please call 546-5394 (339 Moore)
$200 Reward for return of two chains and ring left in Boyden Gym please call 546-5001

MOTORCYCLES
Yamaha 750 6000 mi very cheap I need money for Europe 527-1230

PROFESSIONAL TYPING SERVICE
Papers, Cases, Dissertations, Theses on-campus low rates guaranteed accep tence Nancy 584-7924

ROOMMATE WANTED
2 bdrm newl Nonsmoker, on bus route ⅓ of 475$ call Peter 253-7871 keep trying!
Wanted one female roommate to share two bedroom Lantern Ct apts call Deb at 665-4157 ASAP

PERSONALS
Undergreduate Business Club Members Socie! Hour/Meeting Monday, Oct. 1 @ 8:30 Campus Center room TBA (check UBC Board in SOM)
The Christian Science Organization is gearing up for fall. Organizational Meeting on Tuesday, October 2 at 4:30, apt. B-8 North Village. Christian Science Monitor table Thursday in Campus Center, volunteers needed, call 549-6876
Jane Marie, you really do know. I think you're just afraid. Take a chance on an unknown. It could be totally excellent. Love JB
Is it true you can buy jeeps for $44 through the U.S. government? Get the facts today! Call 1-312-742-1142 ext 5651 A
CONTACT LENSES REPLACED Most brands. $20 - $25. Dr Spencer University Drive 256-8561
Drinking getting you down? Tired of hangovers? Call University Health Services (545-2671, X181) for information about the Student Opportunity Program (STOP)

TRAVEL
Montreal Weekend Party Nov 2-4 $68. includes RT transportation from your campus, 3 days 2 nights hotel in DT Montreal welcome party all taxes and tips drinking age is 18 optional Bruins Montreal tickets call today Eric 549-5017
COUNCIL TRAVEL/CIEE USA's #1 Student/Budget Travel Agency. Free catalog, call (617) 266-1926 or write, 729 Boylston St. Suite 201, Boston, MA 02116

WANTED
Female to share large bedroom in Townshouse call 549-4086
Trade motorcycle for music equipment Suzuki GN400X value $600 bass or PA 533-0601 Dave

WANTED TO RENT
Looking for apartment Townehouse, Brandywine, Puffton area beginning Spring 85 semester. Will pay generously to take over lease Call 546-9758 or 546-8487

Sports

Today is the final day for all intramural ice hockey and cross country entries. Contact the Intramural office at 545-0022. Or go to the Intramural office in Boyden, room 215. Badminton singles are due by Thursday.

Silent but deadly, UMass wins 3-0

Papoutsidis boots FG as offense stalls, defense pounds NU

By PETER ABRAHAM
Collegian Staff

Peter Tracy had heard enough.

"Before the game Tom (McEvilly) and I, as team captains, decided that there would be no talking at the pre-game meal or in the locker room, it was time to get serious about what we were doing," said Tracy, who's big enough to back up his wishes.

The Minutemen, at least the defense, showed Northeastern how serious they were, defeating the Huskies 3-0 Saturday at Alumni Stadium.

"It was the toughest 3-0 game you'll ever see," said Tracy, who played in his first game since returning from a stomach injury. "It was physical, emotional and just plain tough. We proved a lot to ourselves."

Barefooted junior George Papoutsidis booted a 30 yard field goal midway through the third period to give UMass the edge in a game coach Bob Stull called, "the worst display of offensive football I've ever seen."

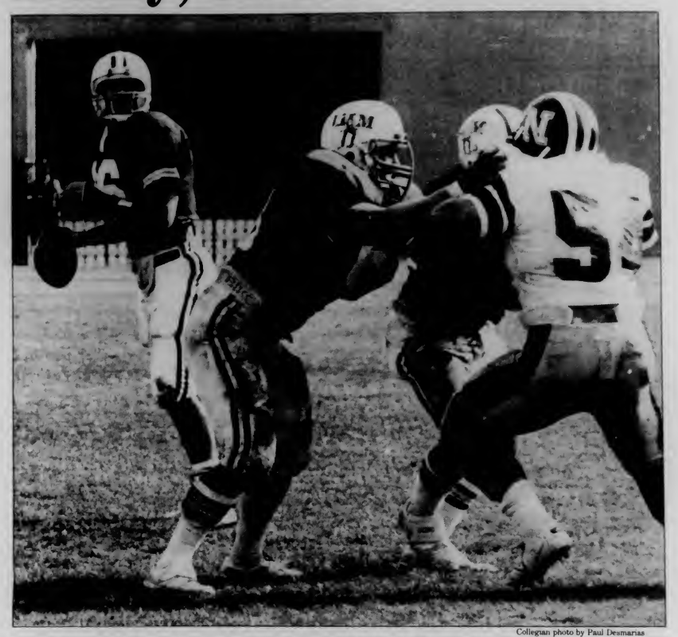
"It was mind-boggling the amount of mistakes (six turnovers and 18 penalties) both teams made," said Stull. "Thank God for the job the defense did, they played great, but offensively every man made mistakes, showed no concentration and a lack of poise. We tried replacing players and the subs made the same errors, it was awful."

The first half saw both NU, now 1-2, and UMass, 2-2, pick up nine first downs and a little over 100 yards apiece on offense. UMass moved to the Northeastern 34 yard line in its first possession as tailback George (121 yards) Barnwell carried the ball six times. Papoutsidis punted it away after quarterback Jim Simeone couldn't hook up with fullback Frank Fay on a third and 10.

UMass, in their second possession, moved to the Husky 14 before Simeone's pass to the endzone was picked off by Northeastern defensive back Bob Koban at the goal line.

The second quarter was a similar display of ineptness by both teams. Northeastern advanced as far as the UMass 39 before strong safety Paul Platek intercepted quarterback's Mike Sweeney's pass. The 8,633 watching were probably sorry they weren't watching Keith Jackson instead.

In the third quarter, Barnwell broke loose with a run of 51 yards, UMass' longest of the season, down to the Northeastern eight. He carried it to the seven in the next play before an illegal procedure penalty, an incomplete pass and a dropped pass by tight end Paul Walsh in the end zone forced Papoutsidis out to the field where he easily booted a 30 yarder with 7:47 to go.



Collegian photo by Paul Desmarais

UMass quarterback Jim Simeone looks downfield as center Ken Runge makes the block on Northeastern's Ray Querey. UMass beat NU, 3-0.

"At the time I figured there would be a lot more points scored," said "Papo." "But I didn't win the game, the defense did. Give them all the credit."

The field goal came only minutes after Northeastern's Geoff Hart attempt went wide to the left from 50 yards away.

In the final period the only action came from freshman punter Jim Tandler of UMass. Tanlder, in his first game kicking, nailed a UMass record 74 yarder to the NU eight after replacing Papoutsidis in the second quarter. He also had boots of 53 and 39 yards and in maybe his best effort avoided near disaster when a high snap sailed over his head with under three minutes left.

Continued on page 11

Women's Soccer romps

Switches pay off for UM

By GERRY deSIMAS
Collegian Staff

The competition was expected to be a little tougher. After all, when you face the seventh ranked team in the country (Vermont) and the 11th ranked team (Colorado College), you don't expect 5-0 and 3-0 scores.

But after re-positioning four players, the third ranked University of Massachusetts women's soccer team romped in wins over Vermont, 5-0 on Saturday, and a 3-0 win over Colorado College Sunday at Boyden.

"We finally started playing," coach Kalekeni Banda said after Sunday's win. "The team is comfortable with switches. Everybody feels good about them."

Senior co-captain Lori Stukes was moved to the sweeper back while freshman Chris Schmitt took Stukes stopper back position. Chris Taggart, the other senior co-captain, was moved up to forward while Kristen Bowsher was moved to the midfield.

"The leadership is there and it is paying off," Banda said. "It was missing the first five games."

Taggart had two goals and an assist on the weekend. Monica Seta and Jolie DePauw also scored two goals while Jamie Watson, and Carolyn Micheel also added scores.

The Minutemen, now 5-1-2, teed off against the Catamounts. UMass outshot Vermont 25-0.

"The girls were mad. Brown got us a little frustrated. I told them that if they scored first, we would go crazy and we did."

Scores by DePauw, Watson and Taggart gave UMass a 3-0 lead at the half. Micheel and Seta added goals in the second half. Goalie Jeanne Paul didn't touch the ball.

Colorado College's eastern swing ended on a sour note. The Tigers lost to Boston College and UConn 1-0 on Thursday and Friday.

After some heavy UMass pressure, DePauw finally snuck a roller by Tiger keeper Robyn Waltz, who made 17 saves. Seta and Taggart's marks in the second half put the Tigers away.

"We just played bad against an excellent team and you can't do that with Kenny's (Banda) group," Colorado coach Dang Pibulvech said. "It was a well-played game."

"Massachusetts probably has the second best talent in the country, behind Carolina (top ranked UNC). The only difference is that Carolina's players are seniors and Kenny's players are freshmen," he said. Pibulvech coached Central Florida to two runner-up spots in the NCAA tourney in 1981 and 1982.

Praise notwithstanding, the Minutemen offense looked the best it has this season and Banda was pleased with the play of both offense and defense.

And that's a good thing to know with the Connecticut Minutemen hoedown on Wednesday night.

Second ranked UConn won't fail to live up to their reputation.

Seventh-ranked stickers edge Springfield, 1-0

By ED HAYWARD
Collegian Staff

"It wasn't the prettiest game we've ever played, but we dominated them," said UMass coach Pam Hixon of her team's first contest at home in almost two weeks.

"We were a little sluggish, a little slow. But I expected a tough game, this team has improved a lot from last year," said Hixon referring to Springfield, now 5-4 on the year.

Kennedy's goal came midway through the first period. From then on, UMass shots sailed every which way but in.

Springfield goalie Maggie Brown saved seventeen of UMass' twenty-six shots (nine went wide) several of which were screaming line drives off the sticks of Megan Donnelly, Judiy Morgan, and Kennedy.

Kennedy could be seen pestering Brown all day as the aggressive forward spearheaded the Minuteman attack, took seven shots and drew six of the seventeen penalty corners awarded to UMass throughout the game. Penalty corners are awarded when a player is fouled within the circle surrounding the opponents goal.

Springfield took only five shots and wasn't awarded a single penalty corner during the game. Such low numbers in these categories attest to the ability and strength of the UMass defensive crew lead by Donnelly and Andrea Muccini.

Throughout the game they continually turned away whatever offensive threat Springfield could present. Much to the likin of Umass goalie Lynn Carlson, a freshmen, who notched her third shut-out of the season.

"The defense works really well together," said Carlson. "They're good at marking the circle (playing man-to-man defense within the ten yard circle surrounding the goal) and they're very tough when it comes to getting a shot off."

Commenting on her team's lack of productivity, Hixon said, "Teams have days like that. You just have to hope you'll get the goals you need and hang on."

sports at a glance

UMass schedule: there are no games scheduled for today. See inside for weekend results.

Pro Scores

American League		National League
Cleveland 7,	Minnesota 4	Pittsburgh 2,	Philadelphia 0, 1st game
New York 9,	Detroit 2	Pittsburgh 7,	Philadelphia 2, 2nd game
Milwaukee 4,	Toronto 0	Montreal 5,	New York 4
Baltimore 5,	Boston 3	Atlanta 4,	San Diego 3
California 1,	Texas 0
Oakland 8,	Kansas City 2

NUMMO NEWS

Monday, October 1, 1984 Volume 13 Issue 4

connected with the Collegian for the sole purpose of distribution

BCP:The Celebration Begins

by Marilyn Bou
Nummo Staff

The Bilingual Collegiate Program (BCP) along with the student organization AHORA, kicked off their week long birthday party at the University of Massachusetts/Amherst. The BCP is now ten years old while the AHORA organization is twelve. The celebration began with an opening night ceremony on the tenth floor of the Campus Center featuring a number of keynote speeches. The mistress of Ceremony was Dr. Gloria DeGuevera, Director of the Educational Access and Outreach at UMass, who welcomed everyone to the evenings festivities and thanked all participants for coming.

Dr. Benjamin Rodriguez the Director of BCP since its inception in 1974, took a trip down memory lane. "I remember when this program was nothing more than a dream. All we had for an office was a box at the New Africa House."

Dean Field said to me, Ben, I wonder how this is going to work." BCP now resides in Wilder Hall where there is a full staff along with services catering to one of the most diverse population on this campus.

Dr. Denis Madson, vice chancellor for student affairs said, "A year ago at the Graduation celebration, the predominant theme was pride for the BCP, now I see the Continued Commitment as the theme for an orginization which has made higher education a reality for many minorities."

Dr. Gloria DeGuevera leads the singing of Happy Birthday at the BCP/AHORA 10th Anniversary Celebration.

photo by David Walker

Carlos Gonzales, a keynote speaker, is a BCP/University alumnus. He played a very active role while at UMass as a member fo the Student Government Association, President of AHORA, Director of Spanish Programming at WMUA, D.J. for Concepto Latino, and Resident Assistant. During his speech, Gonzalez told the audience, "It is very scary being on a campus of this size. When you first arrive, you look around hoping to find a friendly face but it is difficult when everyone around you is doing their own searching. This is one major reason for the BCP, for it not only provides academic services, it also playes the role of an extended family."

Governor Dukakis has officially declared the week of September 30 through October 6 Bilingual Education Week at the University and throughout the state of Massachusetts. The proclamation was read by Dr. Larry Benedict, Dean of Academic Support Services at the UMass.

Timothy Barret the Assistant Superintendent of the Holyoke School System, was the Guest Speaker. "Bilingual education began in this country as early as the 18th century, it has had ups and downs, but has proven the importance of its existence." The BCP has made this campus and surrounding communities richer places. It provides an opportunity for people of diverse cultures to educate one another of these cultures," said Barret.

The evening ended with a dance in the Campus Center Auditorium, and began a week long celebration of the past struggles and future success of an evergrowing population on the University of Massachusetts campus.

Sports Feature : A Tribute To A Champion

by Julian Tynes
Nummo Staff

One of the most important sports stories in the last month is the story of Muhammad Ali being admitted to Columba Presbyterian Medical Center for Symptoms of Parkinson's Syndrome.

Ali, the former three time Heavyweight Champion of the World, had been afflicted in recent years with slurred speech and a halting gait. People from all over the world expressed concern over his health and well being. Ali, one of the most favored althlete in the history of sports has a popularity that transcends boxing, because of both his religion, and his now famous stand on the Vietnam war.

Ali, born Cassius Marcellus Clay was an Olympic Gold Medalist in the Light Heavyweight Division in 1960. He quickly established a reputation as the fastest and most agile fighter to ever grace the Heavyweight Division. Imagine, a man 6 feet 3 inches and 220 pounds, moving with the grace and speed of a Sugar Ray Leonard and the power of a Joe Louis. Ali was so much better than other heavyweights, he often predicted the round in which he would knock his opponent out, making statements like "they all must fall in the round I call." He also brought showmanship to boxing by giving his opponents nicknames such as "The Bear" [Sonny Liston] " The Rabbit" [Floyd Patterson] and " The Acorn" [Earnie Shavers].

In 1964, Ali defeated Liston in the eight rounds to win the Heavyweight Championship of the World. During that year, he also converted to Islam and informed the public he was now to be referred to as Muhammad Ali. This became a controversy as many journalists and some of his opponents insisted on calling him Cassius Clay.

In April of 1967 Ali made the decision that elevated him above sports and into an international figure. He refused induction into the United States Army on religious ground, and because of this, he was tried, convicted and sentenced to five years in prison. He was also stripped of his boxing licences and his heavyweight championship.

For more than three years, In the prime of Ali's athletic career, he was not allowed to use his superb boxing skills professionally. Then after numerous appeals, his case was reviewd before the Supreme Court and he won his case 8-0 with one absention.

Ali who had become a symbol to oppressed people all over the world returned to boxing in 1970, and retained his championship in "the motherland" Kinshasha, Zaire in 1974, using a new tactic the "rope a dope." Ali defending his championship,fought all over the globe in such diverse places as Koala Lampur, San Juan, Tokyo, and fighting his most famous opponent Joe Frazier, in the Phillipines in "The Thrilla in Manila." He continued to fight in spite of advice to retire and in Febrruary, 1978 he lost his title to Leon Spinks. In September of that year he regained the championship to become the only heavyweight to be a three time champion. He then retired from boxing. However, he tried to come back twice and was defeated by two fighters he would have destroyed in his prime, Larry Holmes and Trevor Berbick.

Ali has met world leaders such as Leonid Brezhnev

Continued on page 2

Roving Reporter

by David Walker

Do you feel BMCP plays a diversity of Black Music, Why or Why Not?

Orlando Vales:

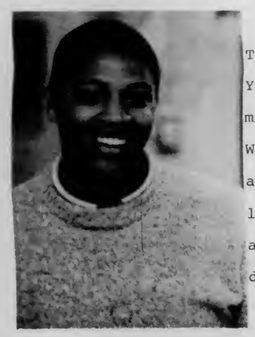
Yes, BMCP plays music from quite a number of years ago to present, with a range that extends from jazz,funk and blues to regaee; that's diversity.

Susan Tissnes:

Yes, Even with severly limited air time, BMCP still manages to play a wide variety of black music for its listeners hearing pleasure.

Scott Stern:

Yes, There is diversity which comes about through D.J.'s individual style. Each individual brings to the community their own stlye, but sometimes those styles overlap.



Theo Moore:

Yes, I think they play as diverse music as their time schedule allows. With more time will come more diversity and variety. BMCP should cater directly to its immediate listing audience and their needs and wants, which it does.

Green Party Visits UMass

by Segun Eubanks
Nummo Staff

The Green Party is, "An ongoing process of bringing groups together. A productive and creative process in which conflict and confusion are not considered negative....A people's movement that is needed everywhere," said Eva Quistorp, editor of the book "Women for Peace" and member of The Green Party. Members of the Green Party, a political, activist party in West Germany particpated in a panel disscussior last Thursdsayon the current status of the peace movement in Germany.

The Green Party is a coalition of peace and ecology groups opposing the deployment of US missiles in Germany. The Party began in 1979 as a coalition of environmentalists, trade unions, womens groups, and other organizations with the goal of stopping US deployment of the cruise and Pershing II missiles on German soil. The Party is, however, involved in many other military and environmental issues such as the build-up of conventional weapons, Acid rain and women's rights. "If we concentrate only on missiles," said Dr. Albert Statz, peace researcher from the Free University of Berlin and a member of the Green Party, "we will lose perspective of the overall arms build-up in Europe."

Statz said there is a fear of the Soviet Union, although "communist fear" as portrayed in the US is not realistic. The other fears of the Green Party according to Statz are nuclear and conventional weapons and "our friends in America". There must be critism of US and NATO policy, said Statz, because the combined components of nuclear and conventional weapons means that any military strategy for war would result in the destruction of Germany.

Moderator William Strickland, professor and historian at UMass, said that the situation in Germany is very important to the Third World people. With over 340,000 American soldiers in West Germany, many of whom are black, said Strickland, a so-called "Limited Nuclear War" in Europe would cost the lives not only of Europeans but of the American soldiers. Strickland also said that the Green Party's non-violent protest and building of coalitions can be at least superficially paralled to Martin Luther King's Civil Rights movement and Jesse Jackson's Rainbow Coalition, respectively. Finally, Strickland noted that Black Americans have the right and responsibilty to be responsibility to be knowledgable about all issues that effect them, and nuclear war effects all, black and white.

ALI

Continued from page 1

of the Soviet Union, Queen Elizabeth of Britian, and was appointed as a roving ambassador by President Jimmy Carter. As a roving ambassador, he inspired millions of people.

During his stay in the hospital, information was released on his condition. While Ali does not have Parkinson's disease, he does have symptoms which resemble the disease. His condition is not degenerative. At the present time his condition is being treated with various medications. Let us all take a minute and pray for the champ's continued recovery and give thanks for the thrills and sportsmanship he has provided through the years.

Thanks alot Dorothy Johnson -

Love NUMMO

Celebrate With BCP/AHORA

Dukakis gives the community a Birthday Present

This year the Bilingual Colliegiate Program and AHORA are celebrating ten years of service to bilingual students at the University of Massachusetts. As part of the celebration a number of educational and cultural events are being held. BCP and AHORA invites ALL students and friends to participate and celebrate with us. The following is a schedule of events, including places and times. Tickets are available at the BCP office in Wilder Hall, UMass.

AHORA PRESENTS RUBEN BLADES IN CONCERT

Friday, October 5, 1984
Fine Arts Center Concert Hall

The Commonwealth of Massachusetts

By His Excellency
MICHAEL S. DUKAKIS
Governor
A PROCLAMATION
1984

WHEREAS: The Bilingual Collegiate Program at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst, the flagship campus of the Commonwealth's system of public higher education, has today completed ten years of success in assisting Massachusetts' bilingual minorities to enter and complete degree programs at the University; and

WHEREAS: The Bilingual Collegiate Program has complied an enviable record of achievement in this effort, providing a broad spectrum of services to assist Spanish-speaking and other bilingual minorities in taking full advantage of the Unitersity's many resources and in obtaining the finest possible college education; and

WHEREAS: The Bilingual Collegiate Program has cooperated successfully, with commendable results, with state and local organizations, including the Massachusetts Department of Education, the Office of Bilingual Education, and local school systems; and

WHEREAS: The Bilingual Collegiate Program has encompassed not only the academic area but has rendered vital service to many hundreds of individuals in the areas of financial aid coordination and personal counseling; and

WHEREAS: The Bilingual Collegiate Program, through its intensive recruitment and training of bilingual professionals, has been a key factor in ensuring compliance, successful implementation and continuity of the first Bilingual Law in the nation, mandated by the Massachusetts State Legislature in 1972; and

WHEREAS: The Bilingual Collegiate Program's service to the University and to the Commonwealth is deserving of the highest recognition and commendation;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, MICHAEL S. DUKAKIS, Governor of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, do hereby proclaim the week of September 30 to October 6, 1984, as

BILINGUAL EDUCATION WEEK

at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst and throughout the Commonwealth.

Given at the Executive Chamber in Boston, this thirtieth day of August, one thousand nine hundred and eighty-four, and of the Independence of the United States of America, the two hundred and ninth.

By His Excellency the Governor

MICHAEL S. DUKAKIS

MICHAEL JOSEPH CONNOLLY
Secretary of the Commonwealth

GOD SAVE THE COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS

PRINTS FROM PUERTO RICO ART EXIBIT

Sunday, September 30 to Saturday, October 6, 1984
Student Union Gallery

The exibition presents different art work of contemporary Puerto Rican Artists. Some of the prints will be for sale.

BCP STUDENT ART EXHIBIT

Wednesday, October 3 to Sunday, October14, 1984
Wheeler Residence Hall Gallery

October 3 OPEN HOUSE- Meet the student artists.
7:00 - 9:00 p.m. Wine and Cheese.

The Gallery will be open for viewing from Sunday Oct. 7 to Sunday Oct. 14 from 7:00 to 11:00 p.m.

BCP student artists participating:
Orlando Cardona
Americo Rebelo Jr.
Maria Leandres-Phelan
Luis Melendez
Jose Luis Pedraza
Ruth Arroyo
Miriam Torres

BCP/AHORA AWARDS NIGHT

Thursday, October 4, 1984 7p.m.
Student Union Ballroom

Presentation of awards to alumni and others who have been instrumental in the past ten years of the BCP.

GALA CELEBRATION

Saturday, October 6, 1984 5:00p.m to 1:00a.m.
Campus Center Auditorium

5pm to 7pm: Buffet dinner

7:30pm: Keynote speaker, Dr. Cleveland Donald, Associate to the Chancellor, University of Massachusetts.

Entertainment: Sorobei, Taller de Artey Cultura; Vietnamese Students Assoc. and Rancho Folclorico-Encantos de Portugal.

Dance to follow: music by Juventud '77

Prices: $12.00 per person (includes buffet)
$20.00 per couple (includes buffet)
FREE to students with ID (after 7:30 only)
Cash Bar

ANNOUNCEMENTS

AUGUSTUS SAVAGE GALLERY

The Augustus Savage Gallery, located in the New Africa House will be featuring the SU. NU. FU. Blue Series from September 28 thru October 1st. The gallery is open from 10 a.m.- 4 p.m. Monday thru Friday. There will be a lecture by Napoleon Jones Hendrson, the artist, at 3 p.m. Friday October 5th, with a reception to follow at 7:00 p.m.

"My work in it's essence is spiritual; meaningful. This is how I feel while embracing my fibers as they fold into their images. I do not make "Art"; rather I am participating in ritual, a ritual as important to the Afrikan man as it was to his Creator. We must be about the business of expressing what is beautiful: ourselves." - Napoleon Jones Henderdon.

NEW WORLD THEATER

The New World Theater (formerly Third World Theater) of UMass begins it tenth season of unique theater programming depicting Asian, Hispanic, Black and Native American experiences. The season opens on Saturday, October 13th, with the production of "Love To All, Lorraine" at Bowker Auditorium at 8 p.m. Tickets are available by reservation from the Fine Arts Center Box Office (545-2511), or at the door. Free childcare will be provided by phoning in a reservation one week prior to the performance at 545-0190

SOPHISTICATED LADIES

The National Broadway Touring Company brings Duke Ellington's "Sophisticated Ladies" to the Fine Arts Center at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst on Sunday, October 14 for two performances. The matinee performance which was originally scheduled for 2 p.m. has been changed to a 3 p.m. curtain time. The evening performance will be at 8 p.m.

Tickets are available at the Fine Arts Center Box Office, at DATATIX outlets, and at the Springfield Civic Center.

Most CCEBMS tutor requests have been filled and may be picked up now!!! All persons who requested a tutor, see your CCEBMS Advisor now!!!

McCoy Tyner Trio at the Iron Horse

20 Center St., Northampton, 584-0610. Reservations 7 and 10 p.m. $9.50 Thursday, October 4th.

WORK-STUDY POSITIONS

Work-study position available for an office manager for Third World Caucus. Working 19 hrs/weekly at $3.35/hr. If you are interested please contact the Office of Third World Affairs, 308 Student Union, or call 545-2517. Deadline is October 3, 1984.

PEOPLES MARKET

Peoples Market is hiring. We need hard workers with strong commitments 10+ hrs. per week $3.65 an hour. Applications available at People's Market located at the rear of the Student Union Building. A member of Affirmative Action we are an equal opportunity employer.

The Cape Verdean Student Alliance will have a meeting Thursday, at 5:00 in the New Africa House. Guest person Ray Allavera, from the Embassy of Cape Verde, will discuss the future development and growth of the C.V.S.A. New Members are welcomed

WAGES a program at the Everywoman's Center has started a graduate program. Graduate WAGES will address the specific needs of graduate woman through support groups, workshops, speakers, social events, brown-bag lunches, resources and advocacy.
For more information contact Graduate WAGES at EWC, 545-0883

COME WORK FOR NUMMO NEWS

Work-Study positions for reporters available!

• • • NUMMO STAFF • • •

Segun Eubanks	Editor In Chief
Marilyn G. Bou	Managing Editor
Robert Lynch	Layout Editor
Marc Elliot Giles	Photo Editor
Julian Tynes	Researcher
Lisa Viega	Business Manager
Nina Cordova	Administrative Assistant
Lisa Huff	Typesetter
Judy Russ	Typesetter
David Walker	Photographer

• • • Contributors • • •

Ed Cohen	Photographer
Darlene Jackson	Correspondent
Yadira Betances	Correspondent

Address all letters to the Editor to: Nummo News, New Africa House Room 103

The Massachusetts Daily NEW ENGLAND'S LARGEST COLLEGE DAILY

Collegian

Volume CXIV, Issue 20 UNIVERSITY OF MASSACHUSETTS AMHERST (545-3500) Tuesday, October 2, 1984

Economic gender gap wide in Mass.

By DEBORAH ROSS
Collegian Correspondent

Massachusetts women are in a state of "economic crisis," according to Florence Frank, the Amherst representative for the Governors Advisory Committee on Women's Issues.

The committee will present this message to Governor Michael Dukakis in a report next month.

Dukakis set up the Governor's Advisory Committee on Women's Issues in July 1983 to ensure that he was fully "advised of those issues that impair women."

The committee, composed of 30 women from all parts of the state, held a public hearing in March and April this year in Springfield, New Bedford, Worcester, Lawrence and Boston. Women were invited to testify so that the committee could determine which issues most affect the women of Massachusetts.

Frank said that although jobs, violence, health and housing were defined as major problem areas, "overriding and underlying all of these issues is the fact that women are in economic crisis."

She said "over 60 percent of the women who testified at the hearings were concerned with employment; this is the issue we have to work on the most."

A draft of the report makes clear that the following are the major findings of the committee:

— Four out of seven poor families in Massachusetts are headed by females.

— Half of all female-headed families with children under 18 years are poor.

— Two thirds of all female-headed families with children under six years are poor.

— Women are concentrated in low paying jobs with few opportunities for advancement.

— Women earn 61 cents for every dollar men earn.

— The weekly income for female-headed families is $274 as compared to $426 for male-headed families.

— Four out of ten black families have incomes under $10,000, and half of all Hispanic families have incomes less than this.

The committee will recommend to Governor Dukakis that employers be encouraged to train women for higher paying, less traditional jobs. Recommendations include rewarding for achieving high participation rates from women with children, for making efforts to reach the welfare population, and for realizing the need for bilingual training.

Better day-care facilities and the upgrading of those jobs now held by women will also be advocated by the committee.

Frank said "the Committee has only been in force for a year and we haven't yet given Dukakis our report from the hearings yet. We're going to bring it out in a month and present it to him."

When asked if she thought the recommendations would be heeded, Frank said, "I don't know if the Governor is going to pay attention. I assume that he is."

Photo by Jeff Turk

GRAY DAY — UMass students trudge their way through yesterday's rain.

Speakers say Cuba survives in spite of U.S. aggression

By DAVID FERRIS
Collegian Correspondent

The U.S. feels threatened by Cuba because Cuba is seen as a "shining example" of a Latin American nation that has thrived in spite of U.S. hostilities, said Irma McClaurin-Allen, an assistant dean and teacher at the University of Massachusetts, human services worker and Jean Caiani in a joint lecture on Cuba Sunday.

The lecture was given at Grace Episcopal Church in Amherst by the two women, who have both travelled extensively in Cuba.

For people in Nicaragua and El Salvado to see the Cuban example, "to understand that the social conditions can be radically different than what they are- that is what scares the Reagan Administration," said Caiani, who has travelled in Central America as well as in Cuba.

According to Allen, since the revolution in 1959 Cuba has made great progress in its health care and child care programs as well as in its educational system.

"Over the past twenty years or so Cuba has managed to maintain itself in spite of being attacked and being threatened by one of the most powerful countries (the U.S.)," said Allen.

As of 1961, the U.S. had implemented a complete trade embargo against Cuba, Allen said. Prior to the revolution, the U.S. had guaranteed Cuba a market for its sugar production, making Cuba extremely economically dependent on the U.S., she said.

"What Cuba has always been fighting for is a sense as a nation, for identity, for a right to self-determination," Allen said.

"Having land in which one can determine its destiny--that's what is at stake for Nicaragua and El Salvador. Cuba has done this without our (U.S.) support."

In response to a question about Cuba's ties with the Soviet Union, Allen said, "They are not puppets. Their sovereignty is very important to them."

"Cubans would say that they appreciate the Soviet Union's support," said Caiani. However, she added, "There is a feeling of resentment that we would think them foolish enough to allow themselves to be a satellite to the Soviet Union."

After a long history of U.S. domination prior to the revolution, Cuba "probably would not substitute one form of domination for another," said Allen.

Smith to improve sports facilities

By ILENE MORRIS
Collegian Correspondent

Smith College will upgrade its athletic facilities at a total cost of about $5 million, according to Assistant Director of Public Relations Mary Callahan.

The first part of a three-part plan includes the construction of 12 outdoor tennis courts. These courts currently under construction are estimated to cost $320,000, said Callahan. The second part is a new building with a 200-meter track and space and equipment for track and field events. The estimated cost is $4 million. The third part, still under consideration would include further development of athletic fields, a 400-meter synthetic surface track, a lacrosse field and a general upgrading of other fields, she said.

"We will be raising money from alumni and funds from the college," said Ann Shanahan, the Director of Public Relations at Smith College.

"Athletics are increasingly important to the students; it's important to have the best possible facilities," she said.

The college's outdoor fields are also being improved, Callahan said. A system to drain water from the fields into the Mill River must still be approved by the Northampton Conservation Commission, she said.

"The position of the property requires the commission to become involved," the commission's senior planner Latty Smith

Continued to p.3

Task force : Amherst must treat its water

By CHRIS POON
Collegian Correspondent

The Amherst Water Quality Task Force has proposed building $3 million water treatment plant to solve the town's water problems, Stan Ziomek, Amherst superintendent of Public Works, said last week.

Without a treatment plant, residents in Amherst, Hadley, Belchertown and Pelham may continue to taste chlorine in the water, Ziomek said.

Inadequate treatment of one of Amherst's largest water supplies has adversely affected the quality of water distributed in the 30-square-mile service area, said James Smith, Amherst town engineer. There is no routine filtration or pH adjustment of the water coming from the Atkins Reservoir, he said.

Instead, a heavy dose of chlorine is added to treat the discoloration and the organic material found in the water, Smith said.

By state law, each water distribution system requires a trace of chlorine to keep the water healthy. But because the water from the Atkins Reservoir is not regularly treated, a heavier dose must be added to compensate for the poor quality of the water, Smith said.

"The Water Quality Task Force completed its study this past summer and recommended to the Board of Selectmen that it was in the town's best interest to build a water treatment plant," Ziomek said. He added that the town will decide whether or not to appropriate over $3 million for the plant during the next fiscal year.

Smith said the proposed plant would be capable of adding chemicals to the water to lessen the need for heavy chlorination. It would also filter out much of the decaying organic material that causes the strange taste in the water.

"The water from Atkins Reservoir is piped into the Cushman area of Amherst and chlorinated there," Smith said. "Cushman residents often can taste the chlorine as a result of the heavy chlorination," he said.

"When the organic material in the water consumes the chlorine, low levels of trihalomethanes (THMs) are formed," said Tom Zajicek, professor of chemistry at the University of Massachusetts. He said the low levels of THMs formed are allegedly carcinogenic.

"It's a Catch-22 situation," Zajicek said. "There has to be enough chlorine in the water for bacterial control, but as a result, there are other by-products formed," he said.

In addition to the water's taste and color problems, Smith said Amherst water tends to be soft or acidic. "Soft water is aggressive and eats at pipes so we have to raise the pH level to make it harder," he said.

Smith said the operations at the proposed plant would be similar to those of the Centennial Water Treatment Plant in Pelham.

"The water from three reservoirs flows in through the Centennial plant," Smith said. "The raw water is then filtered and pH adjusted and comes out as a finished product," he said. It then enters the supply system and mixes with the water from other local sources, including the untreated water from Atkins Reservoir.

Inside:

More rats smelled in Reagan's cabinet..... p.2

Police encounter dental difficulties..... p.3

Banish Homecoming Queen to the Past..... p.5

"Don't let the stars get in your eyes. They'll burn your head right off."

—Mother Jones

China shows new weapons

PEKING (AP) — China unveiled a homemade arsenal of nuclear and conventional weapons, including three-stage inter-continental ballistic missiles not shown in public here before, at a lavish national day parade Monday.

"It was a very impressive display of equipment," said a Western military observer. "It demonstrates a pretty good capacity in terms of standards of manufacturing."

Military attaches had their cameras whirring as ICBMs, an Exocet-type missile, an Israeli-like tank gun and new artillery filed through Tiananmen Square in a two-hour pageant celebrating the 35th anniversary of the People's Republic of China.

Normally, even invited military delegations fail to see China's latest weaponry.

Most impressive were the strategic missiles, including two squat submarine-launched missiles for China's first nuclear submarines.

Also on view were three medium-range CSS-2 ballistic missiles, three CSS-3 intermediate-range ballistic missiles, and three CSS-4 intercontinental ballistic missiles, painted red and white and towed three stages.

Digest

By The Associated Press

AP Laserphoto

Greg Dougan (left) of Washington D.C. tries to break police line outside American Public Transit Association Convention in Washington yesterday. Demonstration was held by disabled persons to protest the lack of handicapped accessability on public transportation. Police made several arrests.

Labor Secretary Donovan faces financial fraud charge

WASHINGTON — Administration sources said yesterday that Labor Secretary Raymond J. Donovan has been indicted by a county grand jury in New York in connection with a subway project by the construction company he formerly served as executive vice president.

Six officials of the Schiavone Construction Co. of Secaucus N.J., were also named in the 137-count indictment, one source said. The source spoke on condition he not be identified.

Labor Department and White House spokesmen declined to comment on the matter.

The source said Donovan was flying to Houston on Monday to make a series of speeches when the indictment was handed up.

"The secretary was notified by telephone during an airport stopover" in Atlanta, and immmediately headed back to Washington, this source said. He said the secretary planned to meet with his attorney, Dean Burch.

In Biloxi, Miss., traveling with President Reagan, White House deputy press secretary Peter Roussel said, "We have not received any information or been informed" about the indictment.

The grand jury in the Bronx was investigating charges that the Schiavone Co. falsified records in a federally funded subway project in New York.

Donovan, who was a part-owner as well as executive vice president of the construction company before he joined the Reagan Cabinet in 1981, had been investigated for nearly a year by a special prosecutior in 1982.

In two separate 1982 reports on allegations that Donovan, as a construction executive, had ties to organized crime figures, special prosecutor Leon Silverman concluded there was "insufficient credible evidence" on which to prosecute the secretary.

Today's Staff

Night Editor Ian Polumbaum
Copy Editor John Yonce
Layout Tecnician Bruce Andrew
Photo Technician Pam Madnick
Production Supervisor Ansel Zinter
Production Kate Davenport, Maria Cahillane, Bethanne Moskov, Mark Roden, Judy Hayden, Pete Soderberg, Peter Forget, Barbara Crandall, Derek the driver

ALL U-WOMEN ARE INVITED TO OPEN RUSH at SIGMA DELTA TAU
Tues. Fashion Show 6:30
Dessert and Party
Wed. Dinner, Sundae Party 5:00
Thurs. Surprise Party
409 N. Pleasant
For more info: 545-0527 Lisa Pike
Come to find out how exciting Sorority life can be!

OOPS!
Now's the time to call...
North Amherst Motors
Rt. 63 No. Amherst
549-2880
Expert Repairs & Reconditioning

Shear Delight

Beauty Salon
228 Triangle St.
Amherst
549-1502
COMPLETE HAIRSTYLING FOR MEN and WOMEN
Grand Opening
With This Special
Hours: Tues-Sat 9:00-5:30
Walk Ins Welcome
15% Off EVERYTHING!
• Cuts • Perms • Styles • Color
Offer thru 10/6/84 Value to $5.25

TONIGHT! FUNNYBONES Cocktail Lounge
JIM HENRY LIVE!
and 99¢ BAR DRINKS till 11 pm
A Great Time Never Cost Less!
RT. 9 HADLEY (across from Mt. Farms Mall)

COUPON-COUPON-COUPON
FREE 16 OZ. SODA
with purchase of whole sub.

SALADS SUBMARINES ENTREES
the sub
11 A.M. TO 2 A.M. / 7 DAYS
33 E. PLEASANT ST., AMHERST / 549-5100
The Kick Off
expires 10/12/84

PILOT PRECISE ROLLING BALL PENS. NOW WE GIVE YOU A CHOICE.

If you love fine writing, now you can choose between two Precise Rolling Ball pens that write so fine yet flow so smoothly you'll wonder how we made it possible.
It's only The Precise that allows you to write beautifully in either fine point or extra fine point.
The price? It's even finer. Only $1.19 each.
PILOT PRECISE ROLLING BALL PENS. 2 OF THE FINER THINGS IN LIFE.
PILOT precise Rolling Ball

Duke is back-nothing's sacred, nobody's safe

By JOHN YONCE
Collegian Staff

Mike's dropped out of business school and gone into advertising, Mark's working for National Public Radio at the White House, and Duke has founded a medical college in Haiti.

They, and the rest of the Doonesbury crowd, after more than a year's absence, are back.

When Garry Trudeau announced that in January 1983 he would temporarily cease writing the Pulitzer Prize-winning comic strip, he said, "My characters are understandably confused and out of sorts. It's time to give them some $20 haircuts, graduate them and move them out into the larger world of grown-up concerns."

We will now discover just how well Trudeau has used his time off to move his characters into the mid-'80s.

One can also expect, with the comic returning just in time for the presidential campaign, to see Trudeau's viewpoint of what's really going on in politics.

Reaction to the return of the cartoon has been varied.

Former President Gerald R. Ford said, "There are only three major vehicles to keep us informed as to what's going on in Washington: the electronic media, the print media and Doonesbury--not necessarily in that order."

"Now that Doonesbury's back, I wish I could take a sabbatical myself."
—UMass Chancellor Joseph D. Duffey

Doonesbury may serve as more than a view of just the national political scene, however.

University of Massachusetts Chancellor Joseph D. Duffey said the comic is his "guide to understanding the ways of the faculty and staff of the University.

"Now that Doonesbury's back, I wish I could take a sabbatical myself," Duffey said.

The impact of Doonesbury on the political scene is uncertain, said Jean Elshtain, professor of political science at UMass.

"There's a way in which Trudeau brings political trauma to both established political figures and dissidents," she said. "Everyone gets knocked, and yet he (Trudeau) acknowledges serious issues."

"It's good we have another cartoon in the Collegian other than by University (student) cartoonists," said Ray Ledoux, a sophomore communications studies major.

Sheila Manning, a sophomore economics major said she thought "there might be a lot of competition between Bloom County and Doonesbury. It should be interesting."

"I don't feel too strongly one way or the other," said Myles Gordon, a senior journalistic studies /english major.

When Doonesbury debuted in 1970, it appeared in 28 newspapers. When Trudeau stopped writing it in 1983, the comic was carried in 726 papers to an estimated readership of 60 million.

The only comic strip ever to win a Pulitzer Prize, Doonesbury has been the basis of a best-selling anthology, an award-winning television special, and a hit single from a Broadway musical.

Collegian photo by Pam Madnick

DRAMA IN THE WORKS — Exchange Student Nicola Sawicki (left) and theater major Janine Brunnell assemble part of the set for Eugene O'Neill's "Desire Under the Elms", which opens at the Rand Theater Oct. 11. For more information call the Fine Arts Center box office at 545-3511.

Umass offers a corridor for everyone

By CARYN BOWERS
Collegian Correspondent

Special interest corridors at the University of Massachusetts are offering different experiences in dormitory living to students.

"It's basically a group of very concerned, active students," says Thea Costine, assistant housing assignment coordinator of resident assistants (RA).

"Special interest corridors meet the specific needs, academic pursuits, and general interests of those students who live there," Costine said.

The special interest corridors include a Fine Arts and Music hall, Social Awareness corridor, Hearing Impaired, and Older Students' hall.

Peter Kolbert, a resident and R.A. of the Social Awareness corridor on the third floor of Brett House said " the corridor is a place for people with open minds, or a place for people to open their minds."

"Diverse lifestyles are not ignored here. They are accepted and understood," said Lisa Horvitz, the other R.A. on the Social Awareness floor.

The corridor for the hearing-impaired, which is on the second floor of Thoreau, is equipped with a teletypewriter, which enables deaf students to use the telephone by typing their messages instead of talking.

All lounges and three rooms on the floor have strobe lights to alert deaf students during fire emergencies. One room has a red light which make deaf students aware that someone is knocking.

As of next semester, all students living on the hearing impaired corridor must be able to use sign language.

The older students corridor is located in the basement of Wheeler. "The structure is beneficial, for there is less noise," explains Rema Pai, resident director for Wheeler/Gorman cluster.

The number of older students actually living on this corridor has decreased over the past few years. This is because older students are unaware of the floor, or they choose to live off campus, Pai said.

"I think older students need support, and the level of acceptance is greater among people close in age," Pai said.

Collegian photo by Michelle Segui

Local resident enjoys the view.

Man bites officer but fails to escape; busy time for SAP

By PHIL SERAFINO
Collegian Correspondent

A 21-year-old Easthampton man bit an Amherst police officer who was trying to arrest him Friday night, police said.

The man was arrested for stealing $20 from pocketbooks in the employee lounge at Judie's Restaurant. Police received reports of the thefts at 6:30 p.m. Friday and broadcast a description of the suspect. He was seen on Amherst College property later that evening, arrested and charged with larceny from a building, larceny under $100, and assault and battery on a police officer.

Amherst police arrested seven men for driving while intoxicated (DWI) over the weekend. A 44-year-old Leverett man was stopped Friday night on Sunderland Road by the Speed and Alcohol Patrol and charged with DWI after a citizen observed him driving erratically and called the police.

The SAP also arrested a 29-year-old Acton man at 11 p.m. Friday on Route 63 after he was observed travelling at a high rate of speed. He was also charged with DWI.

An Easthampton man was booked early Sunday morning after SAP officers observed his vehicle crossing the center line on University Drive. He was charged with failure to keep to the right and DWI.

A 23-year-old Falmouth man was charged with DWI and speeding Saturday morning on University Drive, a 20-year-old Amherst resident was arrested at East Pleasant and Triangle Saturday morning for DWI, and a 19-year-old Brookline man was arrested after police responded to a disturbance call at Justin Ryan's and found him driving through the parking lot.

A 20-year-old University of Massachusetts student from West Roxbury was arrested early Sunday morning on North Pleasant Street and charged with DWI.

In other police reports, two Brookline residents, one 21 and the other 19, stopped traffic on University Drive Saturday night when they engaged in a fistfight in the middle of the street. Police responding to the disturbance call tried to break up the fight, but the men refused to stop fighting, so police arrested both of them and charged them with being disorderly persons. Police said the men are brothers.

A Pioneer Valley Transit Authority bus driver called police Friday afternoon after a 20-year-old Amherst man refused to get off the bus. Police arrested him and charged him with being a disorderly person.

The British are coming Thurs.

The University of Massachusetts Debate Union and the Department of Communication Studies will be hosting an international debate exchange. Two debaters from Great Britain will be debating against two representatives from UMass on October 4th at 8 p.m. in the Campus Center room 168. The topic is "Resolved: That censorship is necessary for a free society."

British debaters are known for their wit and verbal dexterity, and these attributes often produce an exciting, stimulating and lively exchange of views. This debate is open to the public and is free of charge.

★ Smith

Continued p.1

said. The state requires the Mill river to be part of a 100 year flood plan. "It is a precaution for a storm that could occur every 100 years," he said

The first two parts of the project are expected to be finished by Fall 1986 and once plans are approved for the third part it is expected to be finished by late spring, said Callahan.

UMass Transit Service
presents the
Fall Training Program for Bus Driving jobs.
100 applications will be given out on Thurs. Oct. 4th at 7:00 pm in CC 917
You Must:
- have 3+ semesters remaining at UM
- be at least 18 yrs old
- Have had a license for a year
Bring proof of your class year (no ID's) to the meeting for further info, call 545-0056
women/minorities/older students encouraged to apply
UMTS is AA/EO employer

UTOPIA SPAS
Student Special
2 FOR 1
or ½ PRICE
on
1 hour HOT TUB
every Monday and Tuesday
call for Reservations 253-7727
175 University Drive, Amherst, Mass
(next to Stadium Liquors in the Price Chopper Mall)

HELP WANTED
BREAKFAST
and
LUNCH
SHIFTS
Apply
HADLEY
BURGER KING
RT 9

BOOK
SALE
20% OFF
Regular Price
on All Books
Mon-Sat Oct 1-6
VALLEY
BOOKSHOP
Carriage Shops
Downtown Amherst
HOURS:
10:30-5:00
Mon-Sat
Sun 12:00-4:00

Bruno's
- Quality Pizza - Subs - 256-0222
FREE DELIVERY
Monday - Saturday - 4 pm - 2 am
Sunday - 4 pm - 1 am

PERSONAL LIFE ISSUES WORKSHOPS
FALL 1984
The Mental Health Division offers one-session educational workshops to help students increase skills needed to deal with common issues. The following workshops are available this Fall:
EXAM ALERT: Learning and Practicing Time and Stress Management Skills
LIFE AT UMASS: Coming to School, Problems and Prospects
SO YOU'VE GOT THE BLUES: Understanding and Managing Depressed Feelings
SPEAKING UP: Learning and Practicing Assertiveness Skills
INTIMACY, RISK, & COMPROMISE: Forming and Maintaining Relationships
LOSS & MOURNING: Understanding and Working through Grief
FOOD & FEELINGS: Relating Patterns of Eating to Emotions and Values
CRISIS INTERVENTION: Dealing with People in Distress
Workshops are available to groups of eight or more students, free-of-charge. For information or to request a workshop, please call 545-2337

Rent One of Ours
Car
Truck
Passenger Van
North Amherst Motors
Rt. 63 No. Amherst
549-2880

Become a part of the 1984-85 Distribution Pride
19,000 Daily!

(1) U.Mass campus
All 5 dining commons
Campus Center (2 drops)
Student Union Building
Graduate Research Tower
Engineering East
Engineering Lab
School of Business
Whitmore (2 drops)
Bartlett
Monson
South College
Boyden
New Africa House
Newman Center
Herter
Thompson Hall
Fine Arts Center
Hasbrouck

(2) Amherst
Baybank
Food Basket
Classe Cafe
Pub
Charlies
Hampshire Bank
Sub
Russells
Auggies
Louis
Taco Villa
Delanos
C & C Liquors
Baskin Robbins
Amherst Deli
Changes
Spirit Haus

(3) Hadley
Funny Bones
Stadium Liquors
Price Chopper
Stop & Shop
Jiff Laundry
The Mall (2 drops)
Cumberland Farms
Carburs
Pops Package
T Js

(4) Northampton
Fitzwillys
Taco Villa
Smith College
Store 24
Price Chopper
Lizottes
Woman Frye Books
Serios Drugs
The Subway
Jim Dandy
Hampshire Package Stores Inc.
Stop & Shop
Brooks Drugs
Fay's Drugs

(5) Sunderland/N. Amherst
Seven Eleven
Watrobas
Cumberland Farms
Pinochios
Daisys
Hastings
Amherst College
Hampshire College
Mt. Holyoke College
★Call 545-3500★

Heads up.
Register and Vote.

OCT. 1	WORCESTER DC	4:30 pm - 6:30 pm
OCT. 2	CAMPUS CENTER	10:00 am - 2:00 pm
OCT. 2	FRANKLIN DC	4:30 pm - 6:30 pm
OCT. 3	CAMPUS CENTER	10:00 am - 2:00 pm
OCT. 3	BERKSHIRE DC	4:30 pm - 6:30 pm
OCT. 4	HAMPSHIRE DC	4:30 pm - 6:30 pm
OCT. 9	CAMPUS CENTER	10:00 am - 12:30 pm

UMASS BIG VOTE '84
MASSPIRG SCERA SGA Third World Affairs Student Senate Frontlash MASSPIRG Northeast Area Gov't Peacemakers Public Policy Radical Student Union SCERA SGA Presidents Office SSAM Third World Affairs UMass College Republican Club

The Massachusetts Daily Collegian
Founded 1870
Editor in Chief James P. Shanahan

Managing Editor	John O'Connell	Black Affairs Editor	Yadira Betances
Business Manager	Andrew May	Women's Issues Editor	Rebecca Thatcher
Business Manager	Elizabeth Young	Arts Editor	Christine D. Marini
Production Manager	Mark Roden	Sports Editor	Peter Abraham
Executive Editor	Rita Murphy	Photo Editor	Andrew J. Heller
News Editor	Greg Brown

OPINION

The opinions expressed on this page are those of the individual writer or cartoonist and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Collegian or the university unless otherwise noted.

Traditions die hard

Rita Murphy

Tradition is more than an overused cliche, it is an excuse. And like most excuses it is not good enough.

Some excuse archaic beliefs which weren't good enough then and aren't good enough now by saying tradition is too strong to break the ties with the past.

Alpha Phi Omega, a national service fraternity, is one of many groups which believes actions in the past warrant the same actions in the present. Yesterday they had a table on the Campus Center Concourse, promoting a homecoming queen contest, or what they call a Royalty Contest.

The Royalty Contest has been around for about 20 years, give or take a few, according to Omega's secretary Andy Shelto.

"It's tradition, it's not sexist, it's not demeaning to women, no one is exploiting them. The money we raise is all going to charity, it's all for a good cause," Shelto said.

Based on past homecoming queen promotions, Shelto estimated about $200 will be raised for charity, specifically the Amherst Survival Center and Hampshire Hospice.

The intent of Alpha Phi Omega is good. Both organizations need money. The Amherst Bulletin reported last week that the Survival Center was in dire need of funds to keep it going. Alpha Phi Omega should be commended for lending a hand to these groups. It is not the end that is in question, rather, it is the means which is questionable.

For a penny anyone could cast a vote for one of the 10 women whose picture was hanging above the table. Unlike other contests, such as the Miss America pageant, the women were judged solely on their looks, or rather on how they photograph.

"It's more of a campaign than anything else. One girl was walking around today going up to people and asking for votes. The girls all choose their own photographs, we don't. "They're there of their own free will. We didn't force anyone to enter the contest. They choose to," Shelto said.

People don't choose to be oppressed. They are put in that position because of society's reluctance to let go of the beliefs of the past. A hundred years ago it was a widely-held belief that slavery was right. Fifty years ago it was a widely-held belief that women belonged in the kitchen. Thirty years ago it was a widely-held belief that no one would ever walk on the moon.

We have walked on the moon. We have done away with slavery. We have taken the barriers from the kitchen and have opened the doors. We have put the traditions of the past with our yesterdays, let us hope Alpha Phi Omega has the courage and foresight to do the same.

Rita Murphy is a Collegian columnist.

Gate watchers of peace

Stephen Erickson

Women keep watch over the gates of Greenham Cruise Missile Base. Dust blows against their little tents in the warm, dry English summer, as they lie in the sun or talk with one another in what little shade they have. Behind them rises the barbed wire fence, stretching around the perimeter of the base. Many of the women have crew cuts, wear unusual jewelry, and are clad in simple, yet colorful clothing. They greet each other with hugs and kisses as a stern-faced, clean-cut R.A.F. guard looks on from inside the gate. Such is the scene that greets the visitor to the U.S. Cruise Missile Base at Greenham Common, England.

Although not representing the mainstream of the peace movement in Europe, individuals such as the women at Greenham are the die-hard nucleus. Some have watched over these gates for years; others show up periodically to lend their support. They maintain their humble, if not desperate, existence through the charity of supporters throughout Britain.

These women stay where there were once massive demonstrations, in hopes of reviving the British peace movement. Even among many former activists, however, malise has set in, as the permanence of the missiles seems a reality.

Of all the nuclear arms protests in Western Europe, Greenham Common has attracted special attention because it is also a feminist movement. When asked why this was an entirely female encampment, one reply was that a multi-sexed group was tried, but that the men and women didn't get along. One wonders how they can expect nations with conflicting idealogies to co-exit if a relatively small group of people with a common cause cannot. Many of the protesters declared women to be more peaceful than men. Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher, who leads the party that is deploying the missiles in Britain, was described as a "woman doing a man's job." The ironic thing is that a male chauvinist might agree, considering cooking and cleaning more appropriate for women than leading a government.

In the eyes of some of these peace activists there is an anger of the sort that can start wars. Much of this bitterness is directed toward men. Women at some of the gates refuse to speak with the opposite sex.

The women vary in their political outlooks. Those camped there full-time are the most extreme. They describe themselves as everything from Marxists to anarchists, and generally they present little in the way of rational argument. One described the Soviet system as a "caring" one, and the United States as "the most evil power in the world." Women who had lived away from Greenham had better grips on reality and presented arguments that were more rational.

The women protesters have no monopoly on ignorance with regards to issues surrounding the Cruise Missiles. A group of three guards didn't know what the term "second strike capability" meant. It is strange and frightening that people can guard weapons of such destructive capability without knowing about them.

A visit to Greenham Common can be an education in political extremism, emotionalism, and apathy. It is not a place to go to feel good about the world.

The disarmament movement is greater in some countries than others. Great Britain, solidly behind its conservative prime minister, tends to lean in favor of deployment and deterrence. Germany is a different story. The subject of nuclear war is still a dominant one in the Federal Republic, and a widespread anxiety about its prospects continues. It is partially a generational issue, as protestors tend to be young, but the peace movement can boast support from all age groups and income strata. Germany is frightened, and it seems that the U.S. has done little to calm those fears. In particular, they are scared of President Reagan and his rhetoric and consider him almost as likely to start a war as the Soviets.

Even within the West German military, which has a conscription, there is dissent against the Euromissiles. One German, who just finished two years stationed at the NATO headquarters, became appalled and frightened with the realization that NATO troops were actually training to fight a nuclear war. This otherwise fairly conservative German does not trust the leadership of the United States and opposes further deployment. Acknowledging the presence of the missiles, this young German said, "Yes, these missiles are here, but if they try to deploy any more, there may be some kind of revolution."

In the meantime, the disarmament movement shows some signs of waning. Nevertheless, many Europeans now seem to feel more threatened by the weapons that are supposed to protect them, than from the threats for which they were deployed.

Stephen C. Erickson is a Collegian columnist.

Random Notes

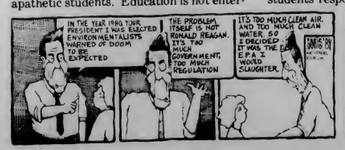
Listen, learn and above all, stop complaining

I would like to address this letter to the people responsible for the Course and Teacher Evaluation handbook that has recently been distributed and to all those undergraduates who may believe that this is a fair and constructive method of evaluating and choosing courses. I was once a liberal-minded individual who believed that this was the student's "right," that they should be allowed this way of communicating their criticisms and opinions, in an enlightened manner, to their fellow students.

However, at this point I do not see why a professor or TA should have to put up with the humiliation of being publicly lambasted by a minority (or is it a majority?) of apathetic students. Education is not entertainment, nor is it magic, each instructor is a specialist in his or her field who is being paid to share his or her knowledge with the students. The instructor is merely a resource, the responsibility of learning is totally up to the students. When I read comments such as " the course moved too slowly" (Why are you in it?), "the instructor was confusing" (Why don't you ask a question?), or "papers were graded fairly" (Why, just because you received a good grade?), I get the feeling that some students are missing the point of being at a university.

This guide represents the illusion of democracy that is rampant in our society. It is unfair (in my case, two out of 60 students responded–a real Gallup poll), irresponsible (look at the nature of the comments) and, above all, useless (published one week after the end of add/drop). If students really believe that this is their right, they should also realize that with rights come responsibilities, in this case to themselves, to their fellow students, and to their instructors. Why don't we stop complaining about our rights, realize that we are indeed extremely privileged to be here, listen to our professors, and learn.

Kevin Dwyer, TA
Dept. of French & Italian



IN THE YEAR 1981 NOW PRESIDENT LANG ELECTED ENVIRONMENTALISTS WARNED OF DOOM TO BE EXPECTED
THE PROBLEM ITSELF IS NOT RONALD REAGAN. IT'S TOO MUCH ENVIRONMENT, TOO MUCH REGULATION
IT'S TOO MUCH CLEAN AIR AND TOO MUCH CLEAN WATER. SO I DECIDED IT WAS THE E.P.A.'S WORLD SLAUGHTER.

WITH THE HELP OF ANNE BURFORD AND SECRETARY WATT, RITA LAVELLE AND THE REST OF THE LOT, I'VE SOLD NATIONAL FORESTS FOR THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS, AND NOW THERE'RE TOXIC DUMPS WHERE THERE WERE ONCE ONLY FLOWERS.
FOR YEARS YOU'VE BEEN PUZZLED ABOUT WHAT CAUSES CANCER. NOW JUST LOOK IN YOUR WATER AND YOU MAY FIND THE ANSWER.
SO IF YOU SHOULD FIND YOURSELF CHOKING AND WHEEZING AT LEAST NOW YOU KNOW, YOU CAN SEE WHAT YOU'RE BREATHING.

For the sake of the children, don't litter

To the UMass Community:

We are children of the Pioneer Valley who enjoy using the Southwest maze. People have been littering the maze with bottles and trash. We can't have fun or run in it because it's too dangerous. Adults won't let us go there because they feel it's too hazardous with all the broken glass around.

We think the UMass Physical Plant could help us by picking up the bottles and litter and by putting up a barrel with a sign saying "PLEASE PUT YOUR BOTTLES HERE." If this could be done we will be allowed to play there again safely. Thank you.

Greg Dame, Alan Bernat, Hector Brown, Mike Rovelli, Jason Cohen.

P.S. While you're at it, could you please put up a bridge there and stock the stream with more frogs? Thanx.

Letters Policy

All letters must be signed and include the writer's address and telephone number, which will not be published. Please type double spaced at 67 characters per line. Due to space limitations and the volume of mail, we regret we are unable to acknowledge unpublished letters. All letters are subject to editing for clarity and length.

CAN YOU TYPE?
WANT CASH?
We will train responsible people with GOOD typing skills on our new typesetting machines.
This is a marketable skill to have and could lead to summer positions making well over 7 dollars per hour.
For an application and more information stop by the Collegian leave a note or speak with Dode Levenson

Hypercurricula

ALPHA ZETA GENERAL MEETING — Tonight in Stockbridge 311. All members urged to attend. Support your organization. 6:30 p.m.

INVESTMENT CLUB MEETING — New proposals will be noted on and money wil be collected for the New York Trip. SOM 111 at 7 p.m.

UPC GENERAL MEETING — The upcoming concerts will be discussed. Come get involved! New members always welcome. Watch UPC showcase for meeting location. 6:30 p.m.

LUNCH WITH THE RABBI — Informal conversation every Tuesday at 12:00 noon with Saul Perlmutter, Hillel rabbi. Bagels provided. Guest speaker Oct. 2nd: Carmen Almeida-Smith, "Growing Up as a Native American and a Jew." Suffolk (301) S.U.B.

WORKSHOP: APPLYING TO PSYCHOLOGY GRADUATE PROGRAMS — Dr. Richard Halgin will conduct a workshop on how, when, where to apply to graduate school in psychology. All psychology majors cordially invited. 4 p.m. Tobin 304.

